NOTIONS, &c., &c.,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.
Corner Main and 7th St's. Feb., 9, 1871. 1y.

Huestis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, 71.

ATTENTION!
Special Notice.
I hereby notify all those knowing themselves indebted to me by note or book account, to call and
SETTLE UP IMMEDIATELY!
It is expected that all will attend to this matter without delay, and save trouble and Costs.
J. H. F. HOLLINGER,
Feb. 23, '70.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

For
Fresh and Fine Family
Groceries and Provisions,
GO TO
JNO. BUTT
One door north of Post Office.
AND
B 4 U
BUY
T
AND SUGAR,
EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES,
AND BE CONVINCED THAT
BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH
IS TRUE ECONOMY.
Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.
So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
☞ TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine. for sacramental and medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES,
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST.
FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

Another Great Reduction
Congress Has
Reduced the Duty of All
GOOD IN GOLD!
AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:
On Coffee per pound, - - 2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound, - - 15c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound - - 11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound - 21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb, 10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound 30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound 15c in Gold
We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:
Best Rio Coffee, 20c | Old Government Java 28c
2d Best quality 16c | Best Roasted Coffee, 25c
TEAS.
Young Hyson, 80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial 80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder 100, 120 best 135
Oolong, 75, 90, best 110
Japan, 75, 90, best 110
SUGAR.
Good Brown per lb, 8c | Best Peper, 25cts.
Choice New Orleans, 10c | Alspice, 20cts.
do Zantee Currants 12c | Nutmegs, $1.15
do Turkish Pounes 12c | Cloves, 35cts.
NUTS, Candies.
Paper Shell Almonds, per lb, 28c
Hard Shell per lb. 18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil 15c
Stick Candy, per lb 25c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb. 30c
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds 25c
FRUITS.
Best Layer Raisins per lb 15c or 7 lbs for $100
Seedless Sultanas, " 20c
Zante Currants, 12; 8 1-2 lbs 1.00
Citron, " 55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb. 45
DRIED FRUITS
Apples, per lb. 8c
Peaches per lb. 12½c
Cherries, per lb. 12 1-2c
California Perrs, per lb. 16c
WINE in bottles
Sherry, per bottle,
Port, "
Madeira "
California " Whiskey " 30c and
LIQUORS
Whisky, Rye or Bourbon, 90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon, 1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon 1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon, 1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbom, 2.50
Gin or Brandy, 1 50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp. 1.75
Sherry Wine, imp. 1.75
California Wine, 75
MISCELLANEOUS
Soap, per bar,
Rice, per pound,
Dime box Matches,
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.
Best Navy Tobacco "
Good Navy Tobacco "
Smoking Tobacco, "
CHOICE HAVANNA CI $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX
FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.
SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL
BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20
FISH TRADE OPENED.
Our Coustomers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.
White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new, $6,00 | No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts, $2
" " in kitts, 1,75 | Lake Herring, per bbl, 2,
Trout " per bbl, 4,00 | Herring, each,
Pickerel " per bbl, 4,00 | Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish, 2,00 | White Fish, per lb,
All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guaraantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.
At the FRUIT HOUSE.

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisions,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE.
Highest Price given for Produce,
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.
Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.
Feb. 24 1y T. B. TOTTEN

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to be on time. [illegible]

Now is the Time to Subscribe.
This is the Paper for the Ladies.
Great Inducements Offered
Every Subscriber Receives a Valuable Gift worth from 50 cents to $100.
This is no Lottery!
Woodburn's Journal
A SIXTEEN PAGE PAPER
HANDSOMELY ILLUSTRATED
FULL OF GOOD STORIES.
ONLY $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE
EVERY ONE HUNDREDTH SUBSCRIBER RECEIVES $100 IN GREENBACKS.
We have already received over 15,000 subscribers for this valuable illustrated story paper, and every one has received valuable prizes, ranging from 50 cents upward. We are receiving from fifty to one hundred subscribers daily.
Get up Clubs for the JOURNAL.
CLUB RATES.
Single subscribers
Every ten subscribers
Every twenty subscribers
The prizes are sent as soon as you subscribe. The following is a list of the largest prizes: gifts of one hundred dollars each, in green backs, twenty gifts of fifty dollars each; organs, sewing machines, 300 gold and silver watches, gold and silver chains, solid and double-plated silver, photograph albums, jewelry, &c.
We will send you a full list of prizes when you become a subscriber to our valuable paper.
Address J. WOODBURN & Co.
[illegible]

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—An iron merchant named James B. Jones, of Allegheny City, Pa., has left for parts unknown, taking with him moneys amounting to $25,000. He has a wife, an industrious woman, who assisted no little in accumulating the sum her husband got off with.

—New York Fenians are investigating into the expenditures and receipts of the Brotherhood, in order to learn what has become of the funds.

—The Pennsylvania State Legislature has been compelled to suspend business on account of most of the officers being summoned to attend court at Philadelphia as witnesses in the case of William Burr.

—A New York dispatch says Surrogate Hutchings has filed the decree in the contested will case of Charles Fox, who left all his real and personal estate to assist in paying the national debt. The will is admitted to probate. The United States is to receive the personal property, and his heirs the real estate.

The West.

—A man named Carlan was shot recently, at an eating-house on the levee, in Omaha, by a masked man. A person by the name of Guire has been arrested for the act. Carlan died. Both were hotel runners.

—Mining excitement at Salt Lake is on the increase. Trains go west daily loaded with treasure-seekers. New silver ledges are discovered almost daily.

—Thomas Preble, son of the senior partner in the firm of Preble & Fisher, New Richmond, Ohio, was caught, on Wednesday, by belt attached to a planing machine and carried around with such velocity that his legs and arms were threshed into shreds, and the man almost instantly killed.

—The widow of the late Horace Hawes, of San Francisco, will contest his will, and the deed to the foundation of the Mount Eagle University, made just before his death, on the ground of insanity. The will gives her $2,500, but provides that in case she contested she should get nothing. The estate is valued at $1,000,000.

—The trial of Dennis Gunn, the murderer of Edward Murphy, was concluded at San Francisco, Cal., on the 24th. It was shown that, on the 31st of December, Gunn received an anonymous letter telling him that his sister, fifteen years of age, had been debauched by Murphy, who was notorious for seduction, having three wives living. Gunn charged his sister with the fact, and she acknowledged it. He then took a pistol, went out on the street, and, finding Murphy, shot him down. The defense proved Murphy's character as very bad; that he had boasted of seducing Miss Gunn, under promise of marriage: and that Gunn's character was good. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty, after being out a few minutes, the whole audience joining in cheers which could not be repressed.

The South.

—Thomas Hart Clay, the second son of Henry Clay, died at his residence near Lexington, Ky., on Saturday night last. He was a graduate of Transylvania University, and, it is said, of West Point.

—Chief Justice McClure, who has been on trial before the Senate of Arkansas at Little Rock, has been acquitted.

—A man named Wm. Albert alias Skinney Toe, well known to the police, was found dead in a stone quarry in the northern part of St. Louis, Thursday. It is supposed he was murdered and thrown into the quarry, but nothing definite is known.

—Another murder has grown out of the assassination of Deputy United States Collector Jenkins, at New Madrid, Mo., some time ago. It appears that Thomas Gray and Edward Newson got into a dispute at New Madrid, on Friday last, about the murder of Jenkins, in which several other parties participated, and two shots were fired. One of Gray's ears was punctured. About 10 o'clock that night, Gray was shot while standing on the porch of his house by some unknown persons. Newson, being suspected, gave himself up. He denies any connection with the assassination.

—For some weeks bad feeling has existed between the proprietors of the Memphis Daily Sun and the members of the Typographical Union, growing out of a strike. The printers published a small paper called the Moon, making personal attacks on the proprietor and attaches, to which the Sun responded. On Friday afternoon, as W. A. McClay, the proprietor of the Sun, was passing through the park for the purpose, as he states, of asking protection for himself and his office from the Recorder, he was attacked by Henry White and Henry Mook, the latter the Secretary of the Typographical Union, who opened fire on him with revolvers. McClay fired once, but was shot through the thigh, and injured slightly on the top of the head. They then closed on him, and beat him with their pistols until the keeper of the park came to his assistance. They waived examination, and gave bail for their appearance in the Criminal Court, to answer the charge of assault with intent to commit murder in the first degree.

—Grady, the murderer of Mrs. Falkner, was hung at Washington on Friday. The President refused to reprieve him, notwithstanding the strong pressure brought to bear on him. About two hundred people witnessed the execution.

Foreign.

—It is reported that the people of Paris have assassinated Gen. Raphael.

—The bullion in the Bank of France has been removed to Versailles, and all unissued notes have been destroyed.

—During the night of the 22d, the insurgent Nationals endeavored to surprise the Eleventh Battallion occupying the Place de la Bourse, but were unsuccessful. It is announced that the Nationals at Lyons only await the arrival of a delegation from Paris to form a central committee on the plan of that at present operating in Paris. Menotti Garibaldi, it is reported, now commands the Montmartre insurgents. A Paris journal says Count von Bismarck has informed Thiers that the Germans will occupy Paris on Sunday, unless by that time Thiers is master of the situation.

—Wednesday evening a large number of unarmed persons reached the Rue de la Paix, the entrance to Place Vendome, and appealed to the sentries to give way to their passage into the districts occupied by the insurgent National Guards. The request was refused by the sentries. The demonstrators thereupon unfurled a color. The Nationals threatened to bayonet the flag-bearer, and the crowd at once commenced to retire. Baron Nathan then seized the flag, and exhorted the crowd to advance against the illegal force occupying the place. The order was obeyed, when the Nationals occupying the place beat their drums and fired into the air. The crowd retreated too slowly, and three ranks of the Nationals filed out from the main body and fired. There was a terrible scene for five minutes, and then the crowd broke into a terror-stricken retreat. At least thirty persons were killed and wounded by the fire of the Guards. Baron Nathan received two shots in the chest. The Nationals in the Place Vendome have since been reinforced and are orderly.

There has been no further bloodshed. [illegible] is gloomy and excitement intense. The Nationals under orders of the Central Republican Committee, have occupied Fort Vincennes unopposed, the garrison fraternizing with them as soon as they appeared. Troops in several arrondissements are organizing in the interest of order. Deputy Clemenciar has incurred the hostility of the insurgents, and been expelled from the office of Mayor. Gen. Cluseret installed himself as Minister of War. The insurgent Official Journal announces the nomination of Lullier as General of the Nationals. Gen. Chanzy is still held prisoner by the insurgents. The Bourse is deserted.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

In the Senate, on the 21st, the amendment by the House to the Senate concurrent resolution for a joint committee for investigation on the South was considered and laid aside at the expiration of the morning hour. ——A bill placing $350,000 at the disposal of the Secretary of War for the enlargement of the military depot at Fort Leavenworth was reported.——Hill presented a memorial from John C. Bryant, a leading Republican elector of Georgia, protesting against the admission of Foster Blodgett, as Senator from that State, and making grave charges affecting that gentleman's personal integrity. Ordered printed.——Hamilton (Texas) declined an appointment upon the Committees on Disabilities and Revolutionary Claims. He was excused.——Anthony's resolution then came up, and after a few remarks by Anthony, Scott obtained the floor, and was about to address the Senate at length, when he yielded, at the suggestion of several Senators, to fix the time for talking on the resolution. ——After an informal discussion, Thurman remarked that it was evident that no agreement could be made, and moved to take up the House resolution for adjournment. Hamlin thought this the wisest thing that could be done, and gave notice that he would, on Thursday, move an amendment for final adjournment on Monday next.——After further discussion, Thurman withdrew his motion, and it was agreed to take a vote upon Anthony's resolution to-morrow (Wednesday) at 2 o'clock.——Without further debate, Sawyer then took the floor and moved as an amendment to the pending resolution the consideration at the present session of the general amnesty bill lately reported from the Committee on Disabilities.——Without concluding debate the Senate, at six o'clock, adjourned.

In the House, on the 21st, quite a discussion took place in regard to changing the minutes relative to consolidating the navy yards, but the motion to change did not prevail, and so the journal remains unaltered. ——Blair introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of State to pay the holders of certificates of award moneys paid by the Republic of Venezuela in settlement of claims. Brooks said as there was a great deal of dispute about the matter, the resolution ought not to be passed without consideration. There was no further action on the subject.——Stevenson moved that the House adjourn, which, at 1:30 o'clock, was agreed to.

In the Senate, on the 22d, the House resolution for final adjournment to-morrow (Thursday) was brought up. Hamlin moved an amendment to fix the adjournment for Thursday, March 30. Morton hoped the resolution would not be adopted in any form. In order to feel the sense of the Senate, he moved to lay the whole subject on the table. Carried—yeas, 30; nays, 23.——The resolution specifying certain legislation as the exclusive business of the present session was taken up, the question being upon the amendment to provide for legislation on the South. The general amnesty proposition of Sawyer being temporarily withdrawn, after a warm debate the Senate proceeded to a vote, the question being first taken on Sherman's pending amendment to provide for legislation upon the South at the present session, which was agreed to—yeas, 31; nays, 18. Thurman moved to lay the resolution on the table. Lost by a party vote—yeas, 12; nays, 38. Trumbull moved to further amend the resolution by including the bill from the House repealing the duty on coal. The question recurring on Trumbull's amendment, Robertson moved that the amendment to the pending resolution include the House bill, abolishing the duty on salt. Agreed to. Vickers moved to amend by adding the House bill abolishing the duty on tea and coffee. Agreed to. Casserly moved as an amendment, the House bill to repeal the income tax. Rejected—yeas, 27; nays, 28, the Vice-President voting in the negative.——The Senate then voted on and rejected by 23 to 35, Trumbull's amendment to consider the House bill to abolish the duty on coal, as amended, by adding the bills for the abolition of the duty on salt, tea and coffee.——Sumner moved to include in the proposed legislation his supplementary civil rights bill. Objected to.——Sawyer moved the general amnesty bill. Lost—21 against 31.——Anthony's resolution was then agreed to—yeas, 36; nays, 18—in the following form:

Resolved, That the Senate will consider at the present session only the deficiency appropriation bill, the concurrent resolution for a joint committee for investigation upon the South, and the resolution now pending instructing the Committee on Judiciary to report a bill or bills that will enable the President and the Courts of the United States to execute the laws of said States, and the report that may be made by the Committee on Judiciary on the subject.

The Senate then proceeded to consider Sherman's resolution.——After debate, the Senate, at 5 o'clock, after an Executive session, adjourned.

The session of the House was very brief and unimportant. A few new members were admitted to seats, a short debate had upon adjournment, and the House adjourned until to-morrow.

In the Senate, on the 23d, Sumner read a series of resolutions protesting against the President employing the navy on the Dominican coast, in order to prevent any opposition to the annexation scheme.—— Scott then used up the remainder of the session in a speech on the Ku-Klux outrages. ——A special message from the President was received, read, and ordered to be laid on the table and printed.——At 5:40, after an Executive session, the Senate adjourned.

The House, after considerable discussion, passed a resolution asking the Senate to permit it to adjourn without a day on Monday, the 27th.——A bill providing for the re-issue of National bank notes was laid on the table.——The Senate bill authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Arkansas river at Little Rock was passed.——A message was received from the President, recommending such legislation as, in the judgment of Congress, shall effectually secure the life, liberty and property, and the enforcement of law in all parts of the United States. It was referred to a select committee of nine, after which the House adjourned until the 27th.

In the Senate, on the 24th, the Vice-President laid before that body the resolution received from the House for the final adjournment of that body, with the concurrence of the Senate, on Monday next. On motion of Edmunds, the resolution was tabled by a viva voce vote.——Sumner gave notice of his intention to address the Senate on the 27th inst., on the San Domingo question. ——The regular business being Sherman's resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to prepare a bill to suppress Ku-Klux disorders, Cole moved to postpone its consideration in order to proceed with the pending deficiency appropriation bill. Sherman demanded the yeas and nays on the motion, and Cole's motion was adopted, 26 to 22.——The deficiency appropriation bill was then taken up. Numerous amendments were made, and without disposing of the bill, the Senate, at 5:30, after a brief Executive session, adjourned till to-morrow.

The Little Corporal for April is received, and is as bright and attractive as ever. Among the articles worthy of special mention is "How Statues are Made," by Frances E. Willard; "Girls of the Far North," by Susan Coolidge; "Birds and their Ways," by Parizade E. Hatheway; and stories by Lucia Chase Bell, Mrs. E. E. Prentiss, and other well-known writers. In the line of Poetry, there are "April Showers," by the Editor, Emily Huntington Miller; "Getting Up Stairs," by Helen L. Bostwick; "How the Poem is Born," by Joel Benton. The April number begins a new quarter and the publisher announces that subscriptions may begin with this number, though back numbers can always be supplied. Terms $1.50 a year. Sample number, with Premium List, free. Address the publisher, John E. Miller, Chicago.

A man in Cincinnati has invented a piano that is played by the feet. It has sixty-eight keys, which are cubical blocks of wood, and each one strikes a chord of four notes. He puts on slippers to play with, and while he makes his piano go with his feet, he plays the flute with his mouth and fingers. The effect is described as remarkable. The new mechanism can easily be attached to any ordinary piano.

Who Insure Their Lives.

From the Milwaukee [illegible].

Life insurance has become so general in New York that it is rare to find a man of family, or one having anybody dependent upon him, who has not taken out a policy. The following are a few of the most prominent merchants in New York who are insured for amounts ranging from $50,000 to $250,000:

Francis Skiddy	$250,000	Alonzo Taylor	$100,000
F. B. Roberts	200,000	C. L. North	65,000
Alex. Barrett	200,000	A. Cochran	82,000
Horace Greeley	150,000	W. Fullerton	75,000
R. A. Buck	150,000	Hon. Ben Wood	65,000
E. D. A. C. McCoy	145,000	Robert Tannahill	60,000
A. B. Cornell	125,000	J. Wheelwright	60,000
August Belknap	125,000	L. [illegible]	60,000
John Sniffen	125,000	J. B. Cornell	50,000
J. W. Duryea	125,000	J. W. Cornell	50,000
Elisha Sniffen	125,000	[illegible]	50,000
A. T. Stewart	100,000	C. L. Morton	50,000
J. S. Thomas	100,000	W. F. Hall	50,000
Dr. Brandreth	100,000	E. R. Rudd	50,000
William Foster	100,000	Jas. Jankus	50,000
H. W. Beecher	100,000	Andrew Campbell	50,000
Cyrus W. Field	100,000	William M. Tweed	50,000
Henry B. Hyde	100,000	Philip [illegible]	50,000
[illegible]	100,000	J. D. [illegible]	50,000
[illegible]	100,000	C. Delmonico	50,000
E. B. Sutton	100,000	David S. Ogden	50,000
Homer Morgan	100,000	B. D. Woodworth	50,000
Warren Ward	100,000	J. M. Coburn	50,000
C. H. Kalbfleisch	100,000	R. W. Mallett	50,000

Why do these solid and successful business men, who have proved their financial skill and good judgment by practical results, invest so largely in life insurance? Because experience has taught them its value in guarding against dangers to which all men are liable—the danger of losing accumulated wealth by some stroke of misfortune, and the danger of dying suddenly with affairs so conditioned that no other hand can carry them to a profitable issue.

But if such men feel and acknowledge the vast advantages of life insurance, how much more strongly do these benefits commend themselves to those of moderate means, and even still more to that larger number whose fortunes are in the future, whose loved ones are dependent entirely upon the continuance of the health and life of the head of the family.

Can any insurable man be said to have provided for his family, who has left them to the risk of poverty in the event of his death?

Life insurance is a Savings Bank which secures to every man who avails himself of its beneficent aid, that he shall leave an inheritance proportioned to his productive power, whether he dies to-morrow or lives to exercise that productive energy for a long life time. No other institution does or can do this. There is no other way in which a young man starting out in life can be sure of leaving his family provided for at his death. Of every hundred who attempt to leave an inheritance from the successes of business, not five succeed. No man has the right to expose a tenderly nurtured and dearly loved family with no protection but the small chances, practically much less than five in a hundred, that he will be one of the successful ones.

Within a very short time a well-known gentleman has suddenly died, while in the midst of full health and apparent success, by an accident. The gentleman's success depended upon carrying through certain matters which he had in hand. His estate is bankrupt. Thanks to his wise and loving forethought, his widow and children are provided for by the proceeds of his life policies. Not long since Gen. B. of our army, calling upon a friend to get his pay for the coming month cashed, was invited by that friend to insure his life. He was in splendid health, and always needing all his money, he thought he could not afford it. But, said his friend, I will pay the first premium and you may repay me when convenient. No, he felt no fear. In three days from that time it was too late, he was dead and his widow destitute.

Every one admits the advantages, the blessings conferred by life insurance, but they complain that they cannot afford the expense and so try to excuse themselves to their consciences for what they already know to be a neglect of duty. But it is not true of any young man in health and with the possession of his faculties, who is fit to have any responsibilities at all, that he cannot insure for something. He may perhaps not be able to insure for a large sum, but certainly he can for a small one. How few men of twenty-five there are who do not spend for unnecessary luxuries, more than twenty-five cents a day; yet that amount will insure a man of that age for more than $6,000 in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, which is one of the best and most desirable institutions to be found in this or any other country. The success of this company has been truly notable. Its growth is healthy as well as gigantic. Its policies are not large, but are held by those who need such protection the most and who are also the safest and best risks to be associated with. The "Northwestern" is a purely mutual company, in which all the members are partners and all are equally interested in having healthy associates and in having the risks well scattered. All these things are important elements of strength. One of the most vital points about a life insurance company is that of expenses. Large expenses undermine a company, but with small expenses, carefully selected risks, and large interest on investments, the very best results are obtained.

The conspicuous economy practiced by the management of the "Northwestern," is best shown by the "Spectator Life Chart for 1871," which gives the ratio of actual expenses for the year 1870 of sixty-nine life companies of the United States. The ratio is for all working expenses of the companies, including death losses, and of the entire list, but three have a lower ratio than the "Northwestern." This table gives the ratios thus:

Mutual Life of New York	24.07
Economical Mutual	26.76
Charter Oak	26.99
Northwestern	27.80

Being a Western company, they are able safely to lend money on strong security at ten per cent. interest, while they keep a reserve calculated at four per cent. interest. A sum of money invested for 50 years at ten per cent. compound interest will yield more than six times the amount it would produce at six per cent., and nearly five times as much as at eight per cent. Another essential point is that an insurance company shall be well managed; and in this respect no better can be found, and the remarkable growth of the society is doubtless largely owing to the general confidence felt by the people in the managers.

The total amount of losses paid since the organization in 1859 to Jan. 1, 1871, is $1,692,856.30, of which $477,058.11 was paid during the year 1870.

Its total income for 1870 was $3,670,370.07, and its interest receipts were $460,797.36. During the year it loaned on real estate security worth two to five times the amount loaned, $1,400,000.00, at ten per cent. interest. Its assets are nine million dollars. Whatever surplus remains after the expenses and losses of the year are paid, and a sufficient amount reserved to meet all future liabilities, calculated with interest at four per cent., is returned to the policy-holders. This return of surplus, commonly called the dividend, is distributed to each member according to the amount which he has furnished toward making it. This is believed to be strictly equitable, and is the plan adopted by most of the oldest and best companies. A note will be taken for a portion of the premium, or in other words, the company will loan a portion of their assets to their own members, such loan being fully secured by the surrender value of the policy. This is a very good investment for the company and perfectly safe, and oftentimes it is an advantage to the insured. It enables the insurer to obtain a larger amount than his cash payment would alone procure, and if he dies early his family gain by it. If, on the other hand, he lives long and becomes able to pay back the loan, supposing that it is not canceled by returns of surplus, he can do so. There are many persons who need a large insurance at the beginning, and for them the note is an accommodation.

Take it all in all, there is no company which offers greater advantages than this Giant of the West, and we advise everybody to examine carefully its publications, where all the information is given which can only be hinted at in our present space.

It is a great mistake to suppose that the cause of rheumatism, neuralgia or gout exists where the pain is experienced. The source of these diseases is generally urea in the blood, and it is one of the special properties of Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters to neutralize this deposit, while it renovates the relaxed kidneys and thus prevents them from permitting a portion of their secretion to escape through improper channels. Torpidity of the stomach has also much to do with the vitiation of the blood, and upon this organ the Bitters act directly as a stimulant and invigorant.

The purest and sweetest Cod-Liver Oil in the world is Hazard & Caswell's, made on the sea-shore, from fresh, selected livers, by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in market.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

The Weather—Business—The Wheat Market—Building—The Wholesale Trade—John V. Farwell & Co.—J. W. Griswold & Co.—Gage Brothers & Co.—The Legislature.

Chicago, March 28, 1871.—Cool weather the past week, notwithstanding a heavy thunder shower, Wednesday night, has retarded vegetation, and kept back bud and blossom. Still the season is much earlier than last year. We have pansies flowered in the open air, and early peas are just creeping into the light.

BUSINESS

is becoming quite active, and the prospects of an increased trade are improving. Prices of most classes of goods rule a little lower than last year.

THE WHEAT MARKET

has been a little excited, No. 2 fresh bringing $1.27, and sales for the last half of April making $1.28¼, which show confidence in a rising market.

MONEY

is abundant, the demand for it waiting the opening of navigation.

BUILDING.

From the reports of our city architects, contracts have been made for building, the present season, to the amount of over three million dollars.

THE WHOLESALE TRADE

is more active than the retail trade, and merchants from the whole Northwest are making our streets, hotels and stores lively with their presence. Spring styles are beginning to make their appearance. But the liveliest locality I have yet seen is in the great wholesale dry goods house of whose salesmen, clerks and employes make a good sized regiment, perform their duties with the promptness and efficiency of a disciplined army, and well represent the leading house of the West.

JOHN V. FARWELL & CO.,

J. W. GRISWOLD & CO., 48 AND 50 WABASH AVENUE, are now opening the largest and most fashionable stock of spring cloaks, cloakings, trimmings, laces, and especially ladies' suits, ever offered the trade of the Northwest. They lead in matters of taste, and distance all competitors in the wholesale cloak trade.

The largest wholesale millinery house in this city, devoted exclusively to the sale of Head Gear, is the firm of

GAGE BROTHERS & CO.,

Importers, Manufacturers and Jobbers of Millinery Goods, 78 Lake street, UP STAIRS, celebrated all over the Northwest for their large, well-selected and fashionable stock, always fresh and attractive, and of the latest styles. Other millinery houses swell the amount of their sales, by keeping departments for notions and furnishing goods, but this house sells, of Head Gear alone, three quarters of a million dollars' worth a year. They are large manufacturers, having, in addition to their manufactory of hats and hat frames, of which I wrote last year, a hundred girls at work making cactus, hair and fancy braid hats, which enable them to supply jobbers, at Eastern manufacturers' prices, and to offer unusual inducements to retail dealers.

The milliners of the Northwest will here find the most desirable goods for their trade, of every conceivable fashionable style, at the lowest prices. Gage Brothers & Co. are authority in matters of fashion and taste, and what they cannot supply the trade in the millinery line is scarcely worth looking for. They are among the most substantial and responsible houses in this city, and have built up an immense trade in Head Apparel, by using their abundant means, in the most sagacious manner, to produce and procure the best goods at the lowest prices, by courtesy, urbanity, promptness in filling orders, and by giving their customers the benefit of their capital, skill and experience.

THE LEGISLATURE

has been invited to hold its adjourned session in this city and declined. People are beginning to lose faith in Legislatures generally, and in this one in particular. It began its sessions with good promises and inspired sanguine hopes, but its performances, thus far, have not met the public expectation.

There is nothing new in amusements or in daily city life.

B.

Message from the President.

The following message from the President was sent to Congress on the 23d inst.:

Whereas, it is provided in the Constitution of the United States that the United States shall protect every State in this Union on application to the Legislature, or the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, against domestic violence; and whereas, it is provided in the laws of the United States that in all cases of insurrection in any State, or of obstruction to the laws thereof, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, on the application of the Legislature of such State, or the Executive when the Legislature cannot be convened, to call forth the militia of any State or States, or employ such part of the land or naval forces as shall be necessary for the purpose of suppressing such insurrections, or causing the laws to be duly executed; and, whereas, I have received information that combinations of armed men, unauthorized by law, are now disturbing the peace and safety of the citizens of the State of South Carolina, and committing acts of violence in said State of the character and to the extent of which render the power of the State and its officers unequal to the task of protecting life and property and securing public order therein; and, whereas, the Legislature of said State is not now in session, and cannot be convened in time to meet the present emergency, and the Executive of said State has therefore made application to me for such part of the military force of the United States as may be necessary and adequate to protect said State, and the citizens thereof against domestic violence hereinbefore mentioned, and enforce the due execution of the laws; and, whereas, the laws of the United States require that whenever it may be necessary in the judgment of the President to use military force for the purpose aforesaid, he shall forthwith by proclamation command such insurgents to disperse and retire peacefully to their respective abodes within a limited time: now, therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, do hereby command the persons composing the unlawful combinations aforesaid to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes within twenty days from this State. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, on the 24th of March, in the year of our Lord 1871, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-fifth.

(Signed) U. S. Grant.

By the President.

Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State.

Golden Words for the Young.

It is safer for me to abstain than to drink. If I should indulge in drink, I am afraid I should not stop at the line which many call temperance, but should become a slave to the habit, and with others of stronger nerve and firmer purposes go down to a drunkard's grave. If I indulge, I am not safe. If I abstain, my child will not be cursed with a drunken father. We talk of the dignity of human nature, and of relying upon our self-respect for security; but there is no degradation so low that a man will not sink into, and no crime so hellish that he will not commit when he is drunk. There is nothing so base, so impure, so mean, so dishonest, so corrupt that a man will not do when under the law of sin—of appetite. Safety is to be found in not yielding ourselves to that law.

But if it could be proved conclusively to my own mind that I could drink and never be injured, yet with my views on the subject it would be my duty to abstain. I could not be certain but others, seeing me drink, might be influenced to drink also; and being unable to stop, pass on in the path of the drunkard. My example would, in that case, be evil; but I ask, am I my brother's keeper? Yes, I am responsible for my influence, and lest it shall be evil, I am under a high moral and religious obligation to deny myself that which may not injure me, but will injure him. If I neither taste nor touch, nor handle, nor countenance, then my example will not lead others to become drunkards.—Gov. Buckingham.

The stupid drug clerk mania would appear to be in the ascendant just now. The account of a clerk giving a man belladonna for pennyroyal is another instance of the extent to which these mistakes are reaching. There is only one cure to stop a repetition of them, and that is by the sure and speedy punishment of the offenders, making an example which will be a warning that must effect some good.

The Ten Sieges of Paris.

From the London Times.

Though the French have made Paris the largest and strongest fortress in the world, they profess to regard the idea of its being besieged as simply barbarous; yet there is no capital which has so often provoked and undergone attack. The first mention of Paris in history records an investment. Fifty years before Christ it was the stronghold of the Gauls. Labienus, the most able of Cæsar's Generals, in that year marched an army against the rebellious place, and after crossing the Seine, forced the insurgents to evacuate it. Before retreating, Vercingetorix, the chief of the Gauls, burned what there was of a city. But the site was too eligible not to invite the building of a new town. Like Berlin, Paris originally was confined to an island formed by a river, and surrounded by inaccessible swamps. No sooner had the Germans conquered France than Chlodwig, the leader of the invading tribe, reconstructed ancient Lutetia, and made it the center of the new empire. During the time his descendants held sway in France it remained their principal fortress. When their authority began to decline, the defense of Paris against a foreign enemy gave such prestige to one of their Generals as to enable him to usurp the throne of the decaying dynasty. Nearly 900 years after Christ, Charles le Gros, a degenerate scion of Charlemagne, found himself attacked at Paris by the Normans. A helpless imbecile, he had no choice but to make his peace with the predatory bands, no matter at what cost. On the occasion of a second raid, however, Paris gallantly held out for a whole year, under the command of Count Otto, one of the King's nobles. So great was the renown Otto acquired by this feat of arms, that on Charles' death in 888, the Frankish nobility elected him their King. A nephew of this Otto was Hugh Capet, the ancestor of the Bourbons.

In the meantime, the German conquerors of France, comparatively few in number, had become absorbed by the subject of nationality, and every now and then had a brush with the old country from whence they had proceeded. In 978, when the German Emperor Otto II. was celebrating the Festival of St. John at Aix-la-Chapelle, it was surprised by King Lothair, of France, at the head of an army of 30,000 men. The German Emperor returned the compliment, and having crossed the frontier on the 1st of October, marched straight upon Paris, overcoming all resistance in his way. Before winter set in he stood at the foot of Montmartre, and invested the city. Very much like the Moltke of our day, he had to detail a portion of his army to ward off the hosts attempting the rescue of the beleaguered place, but, unlike what seems to be reserved for Paris in the present instance, he was abliged to withdraw without effecting his object. Winter and disease decimating his troops, he eventually returned the way by which he came. There is an old story that, before leaving, the Germans assembled on Montmartre and sang a Te Deum with so vast an energy of lungs that all Paris re-echoed the sound. Why they should have offered up their thanks in this boisterous manner when foiled in their efforts, is a riddle unsolved to this day.

The strength of the place having thus been proved by experience, King Philip Augustus, at the beginning of the thirteenth century, extended its fortifications, adding several hundred towers to the walls. King Charles, in the latter part of the fourteenth century, surrounded the new suburbs with a fresh enceinte, built a citadel called the Bastille, and constructed a fort on the isle of St. Louis. Notwithstanding these new defenses, the English took Paris after the battle of Agincourt, 1420. The Maid of Orleans, attempting to recapture Paris, 1429, was repulsed by the English, who, however, seven years later, were obliged to march out, owing to the gallantry of Dunois le Batard Royal.

King Henry IV. was the next to assail the devoted capital. As he was a Protestant, it would not recognize his authority. Having defeated the Catholic League at Ivry, March 17, 1590, he approached Paris in forced marches, and, occupying Corbeil, Lagny, and Creil, cut off provisions, then chiefly received by the river. He next planted his guns on Montmartae, and from this dominant position left the Parisians—his naughty children, as he jokingly called them—to choose between bread and bombs. Not less obstinate then than they are now, 16,000 of the inhabitants died of hunger before the town opened negotiation with the King. Just in the nick of time, however, the Spaniards, who assisted the Catholic League, sent General Farnese with a large army from Belgium to the rescue. Henry was compelled to raise the siege, and only entered Paris four years later, when he had embraced Catholicism, and then he was welcomed with the greatest elthusiasm.

France now rapidly increased in power. Paris remained more than two hundred years unvisited by an invading army. In the reign of Louis XIV. the mere idea of the foreigner venturing into the heart of France had come to appear so preposterous as to lead to the razing of the old fortifications. Louis XV. in 1726 again encircled the city with a wall, which, however, was not intended to serve a military purpose. As an open town, Paris underwent the storms of the Revolution. When, in 1814, the allied armies arrived in front of it, to avenge the deeds of Napoleon I., a few redoubts, hastily thrown up, were all the impediments in their way. Twenty-five thousand regulars, under Marmont and Mortier, and 15,000 National Guards, with 150 guns, held the place for a day against 40,000 Prussians and Russians. When Montmartre had been taken by storm, and the Cossacks and Uhlans were swarming La Chapelle and La Villette, the proud capital surrendered. On March 31, Frederick William III. of Prussia, the father of William I. of the present day, and Alexander I. of Russia, made their way into the city.

The following year witnessed the repitition of the feat. On the 2d of July, 1815, the Prussians, under Blucher, took Montrouge and Issay by storm, while Wellington forced his way into the northern and eastern suburbs. On the 7th of July the English and Prussian Guards once more trod the Boulevards.

A wash composed of lime, salt and fine sand or wood ashes, put on in the ordinary way of whitewashing, renders the roof fifty per cent. more secure against taking fire from falling cinders, in case of fire in the vicinty. It pays the expense a hundred fold in its preserving influence against the effects of the weather. The older and more weatherbeaten the shingles, the more benefit derived. Such shingles generally become more or less warped, rough and cracked; application of the wash, by wetting the upper surface, restores them at once to their original or first form, thereby closing up the space between the shingles; and the lime and sand, by filling up the cracks and pores in the shingle itself, prevent its warping.

The streets of New Orleans were covered on Thursday morning of last week with a yellow powder resembling sulphur, which somewhat alarmed the superstitious. The city papers explain that the powder was nothing more than the pollen of the flowers of trees of the forest, all now in full bloom, and which, especially under the influence of high wind, become diffused in the upper regions, and was borne down by the rain.

A Strange Pair—The Spotted Boy and His Serpent Brother.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

There is on exhibition in this city a most remarkable freak of nature. To those who delight in eccentricities of this character the history of the boy snake couple, found two or three years since in the wilds of Africa, would be exceedingly interesting. When seven years of age he was captured in company with a boa constrictr, which is supposed to have charmed the young specimen of the genus homo from the parental hearthstone. There is a remarkable likeness between the boy and the snake in respect to color, each bearing the same flesh marks, and the affection which made them companions in their native jungles continues to this time. By their keeper they are said to be inseparable. The alternate nut brown and cream spots which mark the one are identical in the other. The larynx in the boy, as in the snake, is wanting, and consequently each is as dumb as an oyster; at least they remain to this day as reticent of their origin as the most politic President in the United States could wish.

The nine stroke of our evening town clocks consigns them to the same couch, and, winding their young and tender forms about each other, they go to sleep to dream of mother and home, far from the land in which their young infancy was rocked.

The boy is as impartial a compromise between the pure Caucasian and the genuine African as a Congressional reconstruction committee could wish, and the singularity of his appearance increases the interest excited by his mysterious origin and the outer nature of his social affinities.

The Boston Journal says: "The observations taken on Mount Washington during the past winter have established one important fact, that the periods of intense cold are felt at the high altitude from twelve to twenty-four hours sooner than they are in the country below. Careful observations are made at Hanover, N. H., to be compared with those on the mountains, and others are made at points nearer Mount Washington, at Gorham, Whitefield, Lunenburg, Vt., etc., either in connection with the expedition or for the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. A comparison of all the observations will probably disclose other meteorological facts than the one referred to above."

The Markets.

CHICAGO.
Beeves—Choice	$6.12½	a 6.50
Prime	5.70	a 6.00
Fair Grades	5.30	a 5.62½
Stock Cattle—Common	3.58	a 5.37½
Inferior	2.25	a 3.25
Hogs—Live	6.90	a 7.60
Sheep—Live—Good to Choice	6.37½	a 6.50
Butter—Choice	.23	a .26
Eggs—Fresh	.22	a .23
Flour—White Winter Extra	8.00	a 10.00
Spring Extra	6.21	a 6.50
Grain—Corn—No. 2	.53⅜	a .53½
Barley—No. 2, new	.79	a .79½
Oats—No. 2	.49¾	a .50¼
Rye—No. 2	.90	a .91
Wheat—Spring, No. 1, new	....	a 1.29
No. 2, new	1.26½	a 1.28
Lard	....	a .12½
Pork—Mess	20.25	a 21.27½
NEW YORK.
Cotton—Middling	....	a .14½
Flour—Extra Western	7.35	a 7.50
Wheat—No. 1 Spring, new	1.60	a 1.60½
Rye—Western	....	a 1.13½
Barley—State	....	a 1.12
Corn—Mixed Western	85	a .88
Oats—Western	68	a .70
Pork—Mess	21.50	a 21.75
Lard	.12½	a .12¾
CINCINNATI.
Flour—Family	$6.50	a 6.75
Wheat—Red	1.37	a 1.38
Corn—Mixed	....	a .57
Oats	.50	a .52
Rye—No. 1	1.03	a 1.05
Barley—Fall	.80	a .90
Lard	.11⅞	a .12
Pork—Mess	20.75	a 21.00
ST. LOUIS.
Flour—XX	$6.25	a 6.50
Wheat—No. 2 Red	1.50	a 1.52
Corn—Mixed	.51	a [illegible]
Oats—Mixed	.50	a .51
Rye	....	a .95
Barley	.90	a 1.00
Pork—Mess	20.75	a 21.00
Lard	.12¼	a .12½
MILWAUKEE.
Flour—Spring Extra	$5.87½	a 6.00
Wheat—Spring No. 1	....	a 1.30
No. 2	....	a 1.27½
Corn—New Mixed	....	a .60
Oats—No. 2	....	a .56
Rye—No. 1	....	a .78
Barley—No. 2	....	a .78
TOLEDO.
Wheat—Amber	....	a 1.46
Red	....	a 1.45
Corn—High Mixed	....	a .63
Low Mixed	....	a .61¾
Oats—Michigan	....	a .57
Clover Seed—	....	a 6.50

MOST WONDERFUL CURE OF SCROFULA.

Donnelsville, Clarke Co., Ohio, January 10th, 1871.

Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.:

Dear Sirs—I have sold some of Dr. S. A. Weaver's Canker and Salt Rheum Syrup, from my store, and I think it the best medicine I ever sold, but my object in now writing you is to make known to you the results of its use in my own home. My daughter has been afflicted with scrofula for three years. A lady Doctress, who has a great reputation in treating such diseases in this section of the State, doctored her for some fifteen months, but seemed to do the girl no good. I was then advised to try Dr. Rose, of Dayton, who has a great reputation in curing such diseases. He had her under treatment for about sixteen months, and could not effect a cure. I attended the State Fair at Springfield last fall, accompanied by my family. I there met a gentleman, who, seeing my daughter so sorely afflicted, advised me to procure Dr. Weaver's Syrup and Cerate, that they would cure her.

My daughter then could not see at all, her eyes being blinded by the humors; her mouth and jaws badly affected; she had two ulcerated sores, one on her hip and one on her arm. From the ulcer on her arm several pieces of bone had been taken out. Up to this time I had not spent less than $100 in medicines for her, and with it all she got no better, but when she had taken the third bottle of Weaver's Syrup she commenced to get better. She has now used since October eight bottles of Syrup. Her eyes are entirely restored to sight, and the sores are healed up. I think a little more of the Syrup will restore her sound and well.

I write you of this cure, and want you to make it known, that others similarly afflicted will learn of the medicine to cure them. I think any one afflicted with Scrofula can save large doctor bills, and get cured by the use of Dr. Weaver's Syrup and Cerate. I think it will cure scrofula and old running sores, if anything known will.

Any person who knew the condition of my daughter will testify that Weaver's Syrup and Cerate cured her, and any person who wants to inquire further about the cure can write to me, and I will satisfy them that Dr. Weaver's Syrup and Cerate cured that disease which baffled the skill of physicians, and that no other remedy would cure. I repeat that you cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Weaver's medicine, to make them known to such as are afflicted with any scrofulous diseases. With much gratitude I remain,

Yours truly,
JOHN MOUK,
Merchant, Donnelsville Clarke Co., Ohio.

Most certainly the above letter is strong and convincing proof of the merits of Dr. Weaver's Syrup and Cerate.

The Most Effective Blood Purifier of the Nineteenth Century.

☞ FOR SALE BY ALL MEDICINE DEALERS.

J. N. HARRIS & CO., Proprietors, Cincinnati, O.

For sale by FULLER, FINCH & FULLER, Chicago; GREENE & BUTTON, Milwaukee; RICHARDSON & CO., St. Louis; McCULLOCH, McCORD & CO., La Crosse; NOYES BROTHERS, Saint Paul.

Danger Ahead.

A single spark may kindle a flame that will consume a city, and small ailments neglected, may end in fatal disorders. Bearing this fact in mind, let the first symptoms of debility or nervous prostration be met promptly with invigorating treatment. Foremost among the vegetable tonics of the age stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and whenever the vital powers seem to languish, or there is any reason to suspect that the animal functions essential to the sustentation and purification of the body are imperfectly performed this invaluable invigorant and antiseptic should at once be resorted to. Indigestion always produces weakness of the bodily powers. Sometimes it happens that the appetite demands more food than the stomach can digest; though not more, perhaps, than is required to keep up the full strength of the frame. The object under such circumstances, is to increase the digestive capacity of the assimilating organ, so as to make it equal to the duty imposed upon it by the appetite, and capable of supplying the building material of the system as fast as it is required. This object is fully accomplished by the use of the Bitters. They tone and gently stimulate the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, and the result is that the solvent is mingled with the food in sufficient quantity to convert all its nourishing particles into pure and wholesome element. If, on the other hand, there is a deficiency of appetite, without any corresponding deficiency of digestive power, the effect of the tonic is to stimulate a desire for food. In nineteen cases out of twenty, headache, nausea, nervousness, fainting-fits, spasms, and, indeed, most of the casual aches and pains to which humanity is subject, proceed primarily from indigestion complicated with biliousness; and for both these complaints Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are recommended as a speedy and certain remedy.

50 CENTS—THE WEEKLY WISCONSIN, The Great Story Paper, containing all of the thrilling story entitled Black Sheep, by Edmund Yates, continuing four months, commencing April 12. The best and cheapest weekly paper printed. Terms, $1.50 per year; 50 cents four months. Address CRAMER, AIKENS & CRAMER, Milwaukee, Wis.

RICH, RARE AND RACY READING. Wit, humor, fun. Sent free. Address Banner, Hinsdale, N.H.

GEO. WOODS' ORGANS.

SEE THEM! HEAR THEM!

New styles now ready. For Circulars containing NEW MUSIC, free, apply to Agents, Music Dealers, or GEO. WOODS & CO., Boston.

COOK'S EXTRA.

1000 PER CENT. SURE PROFIT everywhere, with an article of the highest respectability and in universal demand. Confidential particulars and paying sample sent prepaid for $1. Satisfaction guaranteed. Address M. J. COOK, A. M., M. D., 346 West 46th St., New York.—Also,

COAL OR WOOD.

At only ¼ to ⅓ market cost, warranted, both in burning and in buying, by using Cook's Fuel Saver, easily adapted to any stove or range. Price $1. Sent prepaid. Protected by law. Both for $1.50; 3 of either for $2; 10 for $5. Receipts insured both ways. Cut this out, as you may never see such a chance again.

NO SUIT, NO SALE!

4-TON HAY SCALES, $75.00.

Platform 11 ft. x 7 ft. Send for Free Price List No. 32.

EDWARD F. JONES,
Binghamton, New York.

FOR

HAND AND MACHINE SEWING,

J. & P. COATS'

BEST

SIX-CORD IN ALL NUMBERS,

From No. 8 to No. 100 inclusive.

FOR SALE BY

All Dealers in Dry Goods and Notions.

DO NOT DESPAIR

Young men suffering from nervous debility, seminal weakness, premature decay, if you want a sure cure send a stamp and learn how to do it. Try us, and do not send to quack doctors. "Pretended fellow-sufferers," with their bogus "self-cures," and other frauds and humbugs, avoid them. We have no drugs or patent poisons to sell. Address C. MACKEY, 25 Centre Street, New York.

Choice S. S. Books.

Ten volumes of the New $500 Prize Stories, "abounding in freshness, individuality, magnetism, and character," are now ready. It is the opinion of the Examining Committee (Rev. Drs. Lincoln, Day and Rankin), that this new prize series will be even more favorably received than the original $500 prize series, which (consisting of eight volumes) was issued during 1869 and '70, and hailed in every part of the country as something especially excellent. A leading religious journal said: "Their appearance marks a new era in the history of juvenile literature." Both series have received the highest commendation from eminent divines and the most prominent religious papers of the country. Every Sunday-school should have them.

NEW PRIZE SERIES.

Short Comings. | Building Stones.
Lute Falconer. | Trifles.
The Judge's Sons. | Flowers by the Prison.
Hester's Happy Summer. | The Trapper's Niece.
One Year of My Life. | Susie's Spectacles.

ORIGINAL $500 PRIZE STORIES.

Andy Luttrell. | May Bell.
Shining Hours. | Aunt Mattie.
Master and Pupil. | Contradictions.
Sabrina Hackett. | Light from the Cross.

FIVE NEW BOOKS.

The Homespun Library.

5 large 16 mo. vols., 1355 pages; price $1 per vol.

Blue-Eyed Jimmy; or, The Good Boy.
Johnny Jones; or, The Bad Boy.
Ruthie Shaw; or, The Good Girl.
Nettie Nesmith; or, The Bad Girl.
Much Fruit.

Each book has three handsome illustrations from original designs by Billings and Close. "Charming Books and will do good," is the verdict of all who read them.

Ten new books by able Authors in press.

D. LOTHROP & CO., Publishers, Boston.
G. T. DAY & CO., Dover, N. H. Catalogue free.

$4 A LINE,

for an ADVERTISEMENT in

400 NEWSPAPERS.

Where Cuts are used, only six required for the Whole List.

For lists, estimates, and further particulars, address either

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER UNION,
13 Park Row, N. Y.
CHICAGO NEWSPAPER UNION,
Chicago, Ill.
NORTHWESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION,
Milwaukee, Wis.

WE'LL TRUST YOU.

The largest lot of Evergreens, Grape Vines, Trees, Roses, &c., ever offered for $25, on 6 months' credit. Send at once for "Assorted List." D. F. HOLMAN & CO., 113 Clark st., Chicago.

AGENTS WANTED. BRINGING IN SHEAVES. by Rev. A. B. Earle, the well known preacher, whose services are in unparalleled demand from Maine to California. This book is a great success, North and South, having already gone through many editions of 2000 and two of 1,000 copies each. Commissions [illegible]. For terms, etc., address

JAMES H. EARLE,
[illegible] Washington St., Boston, Mass.

VINEGAR MAKING—THE VERY BEST Vinegar made from Wine, Sorghum, Cider or Molasses, at a cost of only ten to five cents a gallon. Any Farmer, Farmer's Boy, or any one else, can make $500 a year in leisure moments. No apparatus needed. Full and explicit directions, easily understood by any one, sent free, closely sealed, for only 50 cents. Address VT. VINEGAR WORKS, Brattleboro, Vt.

PERFUMERY

For the largest assortment and best terms, call upon or address

C. B. WOODWORTH & SON,
Rochester, N. Y.
N. Y. Office, 235 Broadway.

NEWSPAPER

ADVERTISING.

A Book of 125 closely printed pages, lately issued, contains a list of the best American Advertising Mediums, giving the names, circulations, and full particulars concerning the leading Daily and Weekly Political and Family Newspapers, together with all those having large circulations, published in the interest of Religion, Agriculture, Literature, &c., &c. Every Advertiser and every person who contemplates becoming such, will find this book of great value. Mailed free to any address on receipt of 25 cents. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Publishers, No. 40 Park Row, New York.

The Pittsburgh (Pa.) Leader, in its issue of May 29, 1870, says: "The firm of G. P. Rowell & Co., which issues this interesting and valuable book, is the largest and best Advertising Agency in the United States, and we can cheerfully recommend it to the attention of those who desire to advertise their business scientifically and systematically in such a way: that is so to secure the largest amount of publicity for the least expenditure of money."

DIALOGUES, SPEAKERS, etc.—Do you want "Speaking Books?" We have 10 kinds, 100 pages in each, 10 cents each; Dialogues, 8 kinds, 10 cents each; 10 Speakers, &c. (all different), at 30 cents each; others at all prices. We supply Medical, Masonic, Law, Theological and Scientific Books, and send them by Mail, prepaid. We have made this our specialty for ten years. Sheet Music, Instruments, Notions, Novelties, &c., in fact anything you want, you can get by sending stamp for catalogue, &c., to HUNTER & CO., Booksellers, Hinsdale, N. H.

HUNTING, Trapping and Fishing. All about it. Sent Free. Address "Hunter," Hinsdale, N.H.

$50,000 CASH given to purchasers of Excelsior Meat and Vegetable Chopper. Just the thing wanted in every family. Price $3.50. One ticket with each Chopper. One gift of $20,000, and 400 gifts of $50 each. Address ARTISAN MANUFACTURING CO., 515 West 24th St., New York.

READ "Convent Life Unveiled," by Edith O'Gorman. Price, $1.50. Sold by all booksellers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by CONN. PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

NEW AND IMPROVED—1871.

PAGE'S PORTABLE PUMP AND GRADUATING Sprinkler. Efficient as a "Fire Annihilator," and one-tenth the cost. Unequalled for watering Hot Beds, Greenhouse Plants, &c., and for applying liquids to destroy insects on plants, vines, and fruit trees. Sizes, styles, and prices to suit customers. Discount to clubs and agents. Send stamp for circulars. N. PAGE, Jr., Danvers, Mass.

SEND STAMP FOR ILLUSTRATED CIRCULAR [illegible]

TO THE WORKING CLASS.—We are now prepared to furnish all classes with constant employment at home, the whole of the time or for the spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Persons of either sex easily earn from 50c to $5 per evening, and a proportional sum by devoting their whole time to the business. Boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. That all who see this notice may send their address, and test the business, we make this unparalleled offer: To such as are not well satisfied, we will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing. For particulars, a valuable sample, which will do to commence work on, and a copy of The People's Literary Companion—one of the largest and best family newspapers published—all sent free by mail. Reader, if you want permanent, profitable work, address E. C. ALLEN & CO., Augusta, Maine.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE · FREE FROM ALCOHOL · PURELY · DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA · EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

They are not a vile FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

The Sun.

CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.

The Dollar Weekly Sun.

A Newspaper of the Present Times. Intended for People Now on Earth.

Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.

Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR, of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.

THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.

A pre-eminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.

TERMS TO CLUBS.

THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Four Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Eight Dollars.
Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Fifteen Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-three Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-five Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Fifty Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Sixty Dollars.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Eight Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club). Sixteen Dollars.

SEND YOUR MONEY

In Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address

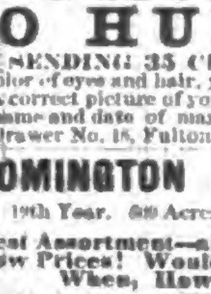
I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, Sun office, New York.

REDUCTION OF PRICES
TO CONFORM TO
REDUCTION OF DUTIES.
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS,
BY GETTING UP CLUBS.

Send for our new Price List, and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers, and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 and 33 Vesey Street,
P. O. Box —— NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.



THEA-NECTAR
IS A PURE
BLACK TEA,
with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., 8 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5503. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.

By sending 35 cents, with age, height, color of eyes and hair, you will receive, by return mail, a correct picture of your future husband or wife, with name and date of marriage. Address W. FOX, P. O. Drawer No. 18, Fultonville, New York.

BLOOMINGTON NURSERY, ILL.

19th Year. 600 Acres. 13 Greenhouses.

Largest Assortment—all sizes. Best Stock! Low Prices! Would you know What, When, How to Plant!

Fruit, Shade, Evergreen Trees; Root Grafts, Seedlings, Osage Plants; Apple Seed, Early Rose Potatoes; Shrubs; Roses, Greenhouse and Garden Plants, &c., &c.

FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SEEDS

Finest, Best Collection—sorts and Quality.

Send 10 cents for New, Illustrated, Descriptive Catalogue—90 pages. Send stamp, each, for Catalogue of Seeds, with plain directions—64 pages; Bedding and Garden Plants—32 pages, and Wholesale Price List—24 pages. Address

F. K. PHOENIX, Bloomington, Illinois.

VINEGAR.—How made in 10 hours, without drugs. Particulars 10 cents. F. SAGE, Cromwell, Conn.

THE YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE, Granville, Ohio, has an honorable history of forty years; a location unsurpassed for health and beauty; teaches all the branches of preparatory and full collegiate course, Painting, French and German; has a Normal Class, and makes a specialty of music, with the loan of new instruments, embracing the Organ, with pedal bass—a very rare feature. It is a lovely home. Terms moderate, with aid for the needy. The spring term will begin April 3d, 1871. Rev. D. Shepardson, President.

$5 TO $10 PER DAY.—MEN, WOMEN, BOYS and GIRLS who engage in our new business make from $5 to $10 per day in their own localities. Full particulars and instructions sent free by mail. Those in need of permanent, profitable work, should address at once. George Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

GENUINE NORWAY OATS, Chester County Mammoth Corn and Alsike Clover. Sample packages sent free to all Farmers; also a copy of the American Stock Journal, by inclosing stamp to N. P. BOYER & CO., Parkersburg, Chester county, Pa.

$5,000 REWARD

for a superior article. $5 to $10 per day and no risk. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to introduce our new 7-strand White Wire-Rope Clothes Line, which will last for ever. Don't miss the chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Co., 75 William St., N. Y., or to Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

VOL. I. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 6, 1871. NO. 14.

THE AUBURN COURIER,

Published Every Thursday,

—BY—

T. C. MAYS;

Editor and Proprietor.

OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

One year.....$2.00
Six months.....1.00
Three months.....50

JOHN W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 3-30

D. D. MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office over J. Abright's Jewelry Store, corner of Main and Eighth streets, in front of the Court House. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR

Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,

No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. THOS. D. GROSS, C. P.
JNO. W. RICKEL, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
C. WYLAND, N. G.
S. L. YANDES, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind.

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lafferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON and ACCOUCHEUR. At your service professionally. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office and residence, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

A Tragic Scene.

A sad scene occurred at Calvary Cemetery on Thursday afternoon, the occasion being the burial of the father and mother of four little children residing in Henry street, in this city. The weather was so inclement that the friends who accompanied the remains decided to let the children remain in the carriages; but their earnest pleadings, with tearful eyes, to see their mother's grave could not be resisted, and their wish was granted. Both coffins were carried to the grave, and the youngest little girl, who seemed to be unconscious of what was transpiring, caressed the coffin of the mother with childish simplicity, uttering the most endearing terms of "Poor mamma," "Nice mamma," "Will mamma come home," etc. The older sister took the little prattler by the hand, and brought her to the other side of the grave. As the grave digger lowered the mother's coffin to its final resting-place, and threw the first shovel of clay, the children simultaneously let one piercing cry, which echoed over the church-yard, bringing tears to the eyes of all present. Many of the men, unable to gaze on the sad scene, turned and walked away. It was with difficulty the children were persuaded to leave the grave; and as they were about to depart, the little ones, following the example of the oldest, knelt down on the new-made grave, and offered up prayers to their Creator for the spiritual welfare of the father and mother whom death had deprived them of in one day.—New York World, March 29th.

THE tin plate trade of Great Britain, for the first time, has been subjected to an inquiry in reference to its statistics. In 1869, there were 164 mills in operation, of which 99 mills, owned by 26 firms, made returns, showing that these 99 mills had manufactured 1,165,878 boxes, of which 866,985 were tin plate and 298,891 were of terne plate. The actual weight was 54,314 tons. Considering that the entire 164 mills yielded the same proportionate quantity as the 99 reported mills, the product of 1869 can be placed at 1,912,337 boxes of tin plate, weighing 603,338 pounds. According to these returns, it is considered that the mills must only have worked three-quarter time. Another calculation deducts from the 164 mills 14 known to be stopping and to be engaged in making black plate, leaving 150 mills, turning out, it is estimated, 350 boxes a week for 48 weeks in the year, and giving 2,520,000 boxes as the entire product of 1869.

ON the trip of Drs. Howe and Wheelwright to the interior of San Domingo, the Alcalde of a little village called on them, and seeing a traveling flask in Dr. Wheelwright's pocket, invited them to come and take a drink with him. Arrived at the house, he produced glasses and water, and then tapping the doctor on the pocket, softly murmured, "Rum, rum." And so the party took a drink with the Alcalde.

The Return of the Birds.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

I hear, from many a little throat,
A warble interrupted long;
I hear the robin's flute-like note,
The blue bird's slender song.

Brown meadows and the russet hill,
Not yet the haunt of grazing herds,
And thickets by the glimmering rill
Are all alive with birds.

O Choir of Spring, why come so soon?
On leafless grove and herbless lawn
Warm lie the yellow beams of noon;
Yet winter is not gone.

For frost shall sheet the pools again;
Again the blustering East shall blow,
Whirl a white tempest through the glen,
And load the pines with snow.

Yet, haply, from the region where,
Waked by an earlier spring than here,
The blossomed wild-plum scents the air,
Ye come in haste and fear.

For there is heard the bugle-blast,
The booming gun, the jarring drum,
And on their chargers, spurring fast,
Armed warriors go and come.

There mighty hosts have pitched the camp
In valleys that were yours till then,
And Earth has shuddered to the tramp
Of half a million men.

In groves where once we used to sing,
In orchards where you had your birth,
A thousand glittering axes swing
To smite the trees to earth.

Ye love the fields by ploughmen trod;
But there, when sprouts the beechen spray,
The soldier only breaks the rod
To hide the slain away.

Stay, then, beneath our ruder sky;
Heed not the storm of clouds rising black,
Nor yelling winds that with them fly!
Nor let them fright you back,—

Back to the stifling battle-cloud,
To burning towns that blot the day,
And trains of mounting dust that shroud
The armies on their way.

Stay, for a tint of green shall creep
Soon o'er the orchard's grassy floor,
And from its bed the crocus peep
Beside the housewife's door.

Here build and dread no harmless sound,
To scare you from the sheltering tree,
Than winds that stir the branches round
And murmur of the bee.

And we will pray, that, ere again
The flowers of autumn bloom and die,
Our generals and their strong-armed men
May lay their weapons by.

Then may ye warble, unafraid,
Where hands, that wear the fetter now
Free as your wings shall ply the spade,
And guide the peaceful plow.

Then, as our conquering hosts return,
What shouts of jubilee shall break
From placid vale and mountain stern
And shore of mighty lake!

And midland plain and ocean strand
Shall thunder: "Glory to the brave,
Peace to the torn and bleeding land,
And freedom to the slave!"

A DAY AS A HACKMAN.

"Heigh ho, McGreer! What in the world are you swearing about so furiously?" I asked, entering the livery stable of the above named person, amid a volley of oaths that might have shocked his Satanic majesty.

"Oh! good morning," replied the man; "excuse me, Mr. Morris. I was talking rather too strong, perhaps; but the fact is, I am in a desperate strait! You see, Mr. Elmore's horses are both sick, and he wants me to let him have my best span and coach immediately. Well, the dapples are the best, and, to my eye, better than his own; but there's not a man belonging to my stables dare drive them but Cary, and he is down with the fever. The other horses are all out or engaged, and I don't know what the –"

"There, there," said I, "no oaths. I have nothing on hand, and really believe I should like to play hackman for a day in New York."

"Surely, Mr. Morris, you are joking," ejaculated the man, in amazement.

"No; I am in earnest," for the idea was so novel, that I, a lover of adventure, became every moment more determined to try it.

"I am in earnest, Mr. McGreer, say no more about it. You know I can manage anything. Just have them hitched up, and give me the livery coat and hat. Now, leave me in the office for a moment—but stop! don't let the men know who I am, and by the way—I almost forgot it—have our team sent around in about an hour."

Left alone, I proceeded to alter my appearance as much as possible, assuming the habiliments of a driver. I made a first-rate Irishman of the higher grade. The metamorphosis was scarcely completed when Mr. McGreer entered.

"Mr. Mor—"

"Michael, ye mane," I interrupted; "sure there's no reason that I should be cheated out of a name." We both laughed, and I received congratulations upon making a good son of Erin.

Stepping out of the office, I mounted the box, gathered up the reins, and was off. The horses were unusually gay, but I had them in good trim by the time I stopped before Mr. Elmore's residence. It may be well to state, Grace Elmore was not the least inducement for assuming my present position. All winter she had been a dream-idol of mine, or rather half a one, for I could not really decide which I preferred, Grace or Maude de Morris, a young French lady, who was spending the winter in New York with her parents. Both were bewitching, and I embraced every opportunity of being with either.

Springing from the box, I rang the bell, and presently assisted Miss Elmore and her two friends into the carriage.

The day was warm for March, and the four windows were open—Grace sitting on the seat nearest me.

"Round the pleasant streets, driver. Anywhere for a ride," she said.

We started, and for a quarter of an hour the ladies' chit-chat was of no account to me, when suddenly Miss Fanny exclaimed:

"By the way, Grace, rumor says you you are engaged to George Morris, and the solitaire on your fore-finger appears to confirm it."

"Rumor honors me," was the reply.

"Now, Grace," chimed in the third lady, "stop your nonsense, and tell us candidly, are you engaged?"

"Well, I am arraigned before a court for some terrible crime, and commanded to answer, guilty or not guilty?—is that it?" was the half laughing, half annoyed response.

"No," replied the third lady, "only to gratify friendly curiosity."

"Well, the truth is, I am not at liberty to say all I wish; but this much I will acknowledge—the ring you mentioned did once belong to George Morris."

Was there ever such an abominable falsehood told, every word of which is true? I thought angrily, as I heard the comments upon my money, person, parents, etc. That girl has led them to suppose that we are engaged, and there is a ring to prove it—a ring she took from me in sport, a few evenings since, and which I intended to recover upon our next meeting. Well, there is one thing certain, Grace Elmore will never be my wife. I could not trust such a schemer. My resolution was strengthened when I heard her say in confidential undertone, to the one lady, Miss Fannie having left at her own house:

"I have, of course, no feelings in the matter, only a school girl's love; but I think that George would make a most desirable husband, while his wealth, with my own, will place us above any change of fortune. Then he is very handsome, and I have decided to take him. I don't know that I could do much better."

"Pity I have not arrived at a similar conclusion," was my mental sarcasm.

Just then she called affectionately, "home, driver."

Willingly did I place her on the carriage steps and turn towards the stables.

"By Jove! I wish I could have as good a chance to try Maude de Morris," I ejaculated, as I drove up to my station. McGreer was waiting for me. There was a gray-haired gentleman with him, but McGreer stepped aside and asked me if I objected to going further, at the same time overpowering me with thanks, and saying if the horses were cooled down he could give them to some one else.

"No, no," I replied quickly, for I was desirous of learning more of humanity, "I will keep my place for the present; send me where you choose." Turning to the gentleman, McGreer bowed and said, "Mr. Lancey, this carriage is at your disposal."

In Mr. Lancey I recognized a worthy merchant, though not well known in higher circles, his means placing him only with those who were in very good circumstances.

"Where?" I asked, as he entered the carriage.

"To —— street, north side."

A quiet, easy little place it proved to be—a three-story brick, new and handsome, though lacking elegance. Here the gentleman alighted, returning in a short time, accompanied by a young girl of, I should judge, some nineteen years, whom he addressed as Maggie. Her rich brown hair was curled neatly at the back of her head, and the soft, violet looking, hazel eyes were the most enchanting that ever met my gaze. Peering from under my hat, I noted every article of dress of the neatly robed little fairy. "Drive to the Park," was the gentleman's direction, as I again took up the reins.

I listened eagerly for every sound within, feeling half ashamed of the part I was playing, though too deeply interested in the lady to desist.

Presently a clear and sweet voice asked:

"Well, father dear, what have you to say that you require such strict privacy?"

"My child, I—I fear you are not brave enough to hear it! Oh! merciful Heaven, if I could only spare my darling!"

An eager, loving voice replied:

"Father! father! surely one so young and strong, with such deep love for you, can bear a great deal; and sorrow will not be so heavy when shared with me. Now that mother has no power to comfort you except through memory, let me take her precious place as best I can. Tell me all, father, I am stronger than you think."

Then followed a long explanation, which may be summed up in a very few words. Their voices were often drowned in the outer bustle, but I heard sufficient to understand that Mr. Lancey, who was doing a very heavy business, had, several months previous, taken a partner, who proved to be an inveterate speculator, and, without the knowledge of Mr. Lancey, had involved the firm to the amount of several thousand dollars. The investments could amount to nothing in less than a year; meanwhile debts previously incurred fell due and were pressed by creditors. Mr. Lancey ended by saying:

"Unless I get some assistance between this and Monday night, Tuesday night will find us penniless. Oh, my child! if I could but save you! How can you bear such a change!"

And I heard the heavy sobs of that strong man come thick and fast. There were a few drops in my own eyes, for I could not see the horses for a moment. I fancied loving arms around his neck, and a pale soft cheek against his own, as the words I had to lean down to catch came in a clear, brave voice from the noblest heart that beat 'neath Heaven:

"Father, do not think of me; all that I have is yours, and many private articles will bring considerable. Do not shrink from selling everything to pay an honest debt. I can bear all things so that love is left. Surely, I may not complain if it all be taken, if Heaven leaves me my father. Do your best and trust me for all the assistance in my power. I can bear all things so long as love is left."

Much followed, but this was all I cared to hear, and by the time we drove up before the neat house in —— street, I fairly worshipped the brown haired angel who resided there.

For the last fifteen minutes I had been contriving a plan to assist them. In my pocket was a check for three hundred dollars, drawn that morning for the purpose of settling a small account.

My name was on it in full, and as I opened the carriage door I cast it to the wind, which took it to the pavement. At first neither noticed it, and I feared that I had been foiled, but just as I was mounting the box, Maggie picked it up, and turned hurriedly to her father. I drove off wondering how it would end.

Reaching the stables, I threw the reins to the hostler, and entering the office, told McGreer the horses could be driven by a baby; disposed of my masquerade, and went home, not to dream of Grace and Maude, as usual, but of the noble woman who "could bear all things, so long as love was left."

The next morning I saw in the Herald a notice which read as follows:

"If Mr. George T. Morris will call at No. 4 North —— street, he will recover lost property."

It was just what I wanted, and about ten o'clock I called at the place above named, receiving the check from my queen, together with an explanation of how it came into her possession. I asked if her father was at home. He was not.

Would she give me his place of business?

"Certainly."

Taking a card from the stand, she traced neatly the address, and bowing, I left her to seek the merchant.

"Mr. Lancey, I am George Morris. Will you grant me a private interview?"

"With pleasure."

Seated in the inner office, I told him all the last day's proceedings that concerned himself, offering any pecuniary assistance he might permit me to render. After some urging on my part, he accepted, and grasping my hand, thanked me again for saving his child, saying Heaven would repay me.

And it has, most munificently; for not six months passed ere Maggie Lancey possessed the solitaire which Grace Elmore had worn so proudly and falsely. I have secured the greatest treasure earth can give—a woman who "can bear all things, so long as love is left."

Now two hazel eyes are peering over my shoulder, while a happy voice exclaims:

"Why, George, you foolish old darling, no one will be interested in that but yourself."

Is my little wife correct?

The Triumphs of Old Age.

From the Methodist.

What is happening to the old men? According to all established precedents they should retire, give themselves to contemplation, and leave the busy affairs of life to a younger race. That may have been the practice in ancient times, but in our day they hold fast to work, and rule the world right royally. Von Moltke, quite juvenile at seventy, plans and executes such a campaign as modern ages have never witnessed; his sovereign, tough as oak at seventy-four, roughs it on the field as jauntily as a young lieutenant.

Von Roon, the Prussian War Minister, older than either General or King, directs from Berlin the marshaling of hosts and gathering of supplies. Nor are these wonders confined to the German side of the controversy. Thiers, at seventy-five, flits with the vivacity of a boy from one camp to the other, is a negotiator of peace, and the executive head of the French Government. Of his associates, Dufaure, the Minister of Justice, is seventy-three; Guizot, King Louis Philippe's ex-minister, though past eighty, writes books with as much precision and force as when he occupied a professor's chair.

In England, where men are reckoned young till they are past fifty, splendid examples of vigorous old age have not been wanting. Palmerston, Lyndhurst and Brougham, octogenarians all of them, led public opinion in Great Britain to the end of their days, and died in the harness. It is said of the first of the three, that after a field night in the House of Commons, he would be seen at daylight walking home at a pace which a young man could hardly equal. Thomas Carlyle, over seventy, abates nothing of his intellectual vigor; while Lord John Russell, though creeping toward eighty, still attends the Upper House of Parliament. Our own country, too, furnishes as striking instances of hearty old age.

Stewart, Drew and Vanderbilt, the money kings of this city, are old men, as the years are counted, but still hold firmly in their grasp the great interests which they control. The grave has just closed over Dr. Skinner, who nearly half a century ago was famous as a preacher, and of whom it may be said that to the last "his eye waxed not dim, nor did his strength abate."

Physiologists tell us that with a greater prevalence of the knowledge of the laws of health the world may expect an increase of the average duration of human life. Are we already reaping the fruit of this better knowledge, in the promulgation of the vigor of the human species? The cases we have given are not of old age enfeebled, retired, and barely tolerated, but of age still bearing the armor, militant, triumphant. One could almost persuade himself that the golden era is near, and that these splendid examples are the first tokens of its approach.

An Interior Town of San Domingo.

The town of Bain, in the interior of San Domingo, is thus described by a recent visitor:

The white element prevails in Bain, as the colored does in San Christobal. Mons. Grand-Girard, a French citizen, entertained us in French style, and with hearty French politeness. The Puebla has about 2,000 inhabitants, and the Commune about 6,000. There are two Catholic Churches, to whom all the population belong, with the exception of one Protestant and one Jew. They have two schools, and about fifteen per cent. of the population can read and write. We met with more intelligence and refinement here than at any other place we have seen on the island, the city of Santo Domingo not excepted. Several copies of a paper published at Santiago are taken, and that paper has a contributor here. The entire population are enthusiastic on the subject of annexation. Not a man is known to be opposed to it. The annual product of the Commune are about 10,000 quintals of sugar, 20,000 of coffee, 28,000 of cotton, 500 of cocoa, 100 of tobacco, 12,000 tons of dyewoods, 10,000 of mahogany, 10,000 of lignum-vitæ, 400 quintals of lignum-vitæ gum, 600 of wax, and 4 of tortoise-shell. They have about 10,000 head of cattle, 24,000 sheep and goats, and 6,000 horses and asses. There are two mines of salt, one of coal, and one of gold, all within three leagues. We saw a fine specimen of the coal, but, as the owner was absent, we did not visit the mines. T. E. Baehr, a very intelligent German, has started a cotton plantation here. He is now harvesting his first crop, which is a success.

THE failures in the United States during 1870, it is reported, amounted to 3,551, involving liabilities of $88,242,000, against failures during 1869 amounting to 2,799, involving liabilities of $75,054,000. The failures in New York city and Brooklyn in 1870 amounted to 430, involving liabilities of $20,573,000, against failures during 1869 amounting to 418, involving liabilities of $21,370,000. The failures in Pennsylvania during 1870 amounted to 418, involving liabilities of $10,982,000, against failures during 1868 amounting to 306, involving liabilities of $7,844,000. The amount of liabilities assigned to the failures in the principal States of the United States during 1870 amounted as follows: Ohio, failures 266, liabilities $7,956,000; Massachusetts, failures 267, liabilities $7,598,000; Illinois, failures 214, liabilities $5,919,000; New York (excepting the cities of New York and Brooklyn), failures 388, liabilities $5,692,000; Michigan, failures 168, liabilities $3,277,000; California, failures 60, liabilities $2,423,000. The inferences derived from the full table of statistics are not considered as satisfactory, inasmuch as an increase of twenty-five per cent. in failures, as compared with 1869, and thirty-three per cent., as compared with 1868, it is asserted, indicates a discouraging want of success.

AN EDITOR down East thus speaks of a contemporary: "He is too lazy to earn a meal, and too mean to enjoy one. He was never generous but once, and that was when he gave the itch to his apprentice. So much for his goodness of heart. Of his industry the public may better judge when we state that the only day he ever worked was the day he mistook castor oil for honey."

FRANCE.

The Indemnity Due to Germany—The Means of Payment.

The Paris correspondent of the London Economist writes: "We know nothing certain yet of what the Government intends to do with respect to the payment of the indemnity to Germany. It is strongly urged from different quarters to raise the whole amount at once, at any cost and anyhow, so as to get the invader out of the country as quickly as possible. The bankers and manufacturers of Lyons, among the latter M. Arles Dufour, are particularly energetic in making this recommendation; and the argument is, that as long as the territory is occupied, and as long as a succession of loans may be impending, there will not exist that confidence which is indispensable for commercial operations. They add, too, that in the parts of France not invaded there is a mass of money, the savings of preceding years, and that the holders of it will be more disposed to invest it while under the emotion produced by the disasters of the country, than they will be in a year or two. But there are people of authority in financial matters who point out that it would be unwise for France to drain herself of all she has, when she needs capital to repair losses and set her industries going again; and that by a little delay she would be able to raise many millions (francs) by selling forests, crown lands, palaces, etc., and might also, if she succeeds in establishing a Government presenting chances of stability, obtain greater assistance in foreign markets than is for the moment to be hoped for. Whether the decision come to be for total payment at once or for payment in installments, it is certain that a loan of some kind must be raised without any delay. One of a milliard (£40,000,000), or a milliard and a half, appears to be generally considered absolutely indispensable, and regard being had to existing circumstances and the price of the rentes at the Bourse, it is thought that about six per cent. will have to be offered for it. The expectation is that it will be offered for public subscription, as loans were in the time of the Empire, but that the co-operation of the markets of London and Amsterdam will be solicited. * * * There is nothing in the treaty of peace to show that the five milliards exacted by Prussia are to be reduced by the portion of national debt of France appertaining to Alsace and Lorraine, by the value of the railways in those provinces which belong to a private company, or by the amount of war contributions levied in different parts. Neither has the Government announced that any deduction is to be made on these scores, and the assumption is that it could certainly not have maintained silence on matters of such importance if it had anything pleasant to communicate. It is even said that Count Bismarck demanded seven milliards with deductions, and when M. Thiers protested against such an amount he named and insisted on five without abatement. But, in spite of all this, people find it difficult to believe that when the definitive treaty of peace comes to be settled, a deduction in accordance with established usage, and with what was effected when Austria ceded Lombardy and Venetia to Italy, will not be made for the debt, whatever may be done with respect to the war contributions. As regards the railways, the conviction is that the French Government will not be left to indemnify the Eastern Company. To have to do so would be a serious aggravation of the burden cast on it."

General Items.

SPRING opens very favorably in the South, and planters entertain hopes of having large crops.

A WASHINGTON bar tender testified that he had whisky which he retailed at ten dollars a glass, or thirty dollars a bottle.

IT is estimated that 225,000,000 cubic feet of earthy matter are deposited annually by the Mississippi, at the Southwest Pass, in the Gulf.

OF 1,765 students of the Leipsic University at the beginning of the war, 600 entered the field within three months after the commencement of hostilities.

STATISTICS at the Census Bureau show that of the population of Pittsburgh, Pa., 49,642 are foreign, and of them 19,495 are Germans, 19,025 Irish, 4,621 English, 1,500 Welsh, 1,255 Scotch, 1,137 French, and 379 Swiss. A most appropriate site for a new tower of Babel.

THE hen fever is unmistakably beginning to rage in the country again quite severely. At an auction sale of fancy poultry at New York, Thursday, a trio of light Brahmas brought $25; another trio sold for $40, and eggs from choice fowls brought from $2 to $5 per dozen. And these prices are called "low."

THE United States consumes more than five times as much coffee per capita as Great Britain, and twice as much as France. Holland, Norway and Belgium are the only countries which consume a greater amount per capita. The consumption of coffee has doubled in most countries during the last twenty years.

THERE are premonitory symptoms of a rush of European travel the coming summer, and fashionable bridal tours will take that direction, and we shall have numberless letters written thence from the track of war. The Cunard line is to have an extra weekly steamer, and two new and elegant ships will be put upon the German line.

A CASE of remarkable preservation of a lake vessel from decay, the timber of which it is constructed proving still sound after fifteen years of service, is explained upon the theory that the timber was completely water-soaked before being used, and that during the period it remained in the water the sap was removed, so that when thoroughly dried the wood became literally as hard as a bone.

THE Pall Mall Gazette, the model of correctness of diction and accuracy of expression, in describing an Alpine accident, says of some guides who escaped that "the rope snapped just below them, and a couple of eminent members of the club, an earnest American, three guides and four porters were hurried into eternity, carrying with them rope ladders, ice-axes and provisions."

LADIES! You will receive valuable information by addressing Dr. Louis Magendie, 52 Vesey street, New York city.

A BRUSSELS correspondent estimates that 30,000 Parisians now reside in that city, which is consequently much crowded, causing unusually high rents and rates of living.

TUNICS are much worn as overskirts, and are a darker shade than the dress.

Something for the Little Folks.

A CHAPTER OF WONDERS.

BY OLIVE THORNE.

Little people have been delighted with fairy stories ever since fairies were thought of; but I can tell you something far more wonderful than your fairy stories, and true, besides, which makes it more interesting.

If you think small people two or three inches high are amusing, what would you think of a little creature so small as barely to be seen by the naked eye; so small, indeed, that he and thousands of others have plenty of room to live, and grow, and travel around in a tiny puddle of water? And what sort of a house would you think such an atom of a thing could build? What if I should tell you that he can build a brick house; that he selects from the water in which he lives the necessary materials, shapes them in a mould which he has in his body, and piles up a regular house for himself? You can hardly believe it, but it is perfectly true.

What do you think of creatures so tiny that a whole family can live in the cavities in a grain of sand? To your eye, a grain of sand looks perfectly round; but these dots of creatures find comfortable caves to live in. How do you suppose they like to be mixed up with water and other things, and walled up in a stone wall? It's as bad to them as to be shut up in an enchanted palace, and worse, for no disenchanting words will let them out.

The world of wonders opened to us by the microscope is stranger than all the tales of giant, genii, and enchantment you ever heard. Think, if you can, of atoms so small that whole colonies can live in one drop of water, and swim around as freely as whales in the ocean; and that it would take many millions of them together to be as large as the head of a pin. Imagine these specks of life swimming around in the water, chasing other creatures smaller than themselves for food. They're almost too small to think of. You would never think of looking for beauty in these little creatures, but they are exquisitely formed and colored. Many, not so large as the head of a pin, are as perfect and beautiful as a flower, and just as nicely adapted to their life in every particular as a human being is to his.

Many creatures in the sea look so much like flowers that in olden times they were supposed to be flowers; but, studied by the help of the microscope, they are seen to be animals, though as beautiful in color and shape as the loveliest flowers that grow. One kind is called the sea-lily, and there are anemones, daisies, and other flower names. But each one is a hungry little animal, waving around in the water, not to look pretty, but to catch something to eat, to stuff into the eager mouths they always have.

How do you suppose the sponge you have to use with your slate at school spent his time when he was alive, before he was torn from his home for your use? Do you see the little, very little hills on him, each one of which has a hole in it? Well, he spent his time in drawing in the water through the other tiny holes all over him, and after he had snatched all that was good to eat, spiriting it out again through these little volcanoes. Why, he made a regular fountain down there at the bottom of the sea. I wouldn't be surprised if your father wears some pieces of sponge for shirt-studs and sleeve-buttons. You ask him if he wears the fashionable "moss agates," and if he does, you just tell him it is nothing but flint, with pieces of sponge turned to stone in it.

If you've ever been to the mountains—and I hope you have—you remember seeing piles and piles of immense rocks. Many of these rocks are made entirely of the shells of some of these sea-atoms, each one no larger round than one of your hairs, but as beautiful as the large sea-shells you have seen so carefully preserved.

These curiosities of the sea take the most wonderful shapes you ever thought of. Some families look like a basket of flowers, as large as a peach basket. Every stem of the basket is a house, in the shape of a long tube, and the flowers are only the lovely little animals' heads stuck out of their houses. Another kind is called the feather star, and looks exactly like a star made of lovely rose-colored plumes. Nothing can be more beautiful than this little star waving around in the water. Then there's the sea-moss. To the eye it seems a mere film of moss on some old stone; but under the microscope it turns out to be a perfect forest of little trees of various colors, and the trees are made of live creatures, throwing their arms around for food.

Do you wonder what all these mites were made for? You may be sure that each one has his use, however humble. The wise men have decided that these creatures are scavengers. They eat decaying animal and vegetable matter that would be very hurtful if not disposed of. These scavengers are food for larger atoms; and those, in turn, are food for fishes; and fishes are food for men. Nothing is lost.

But don't think the wonders are all in the sea. The insect world has marvels as great as the sea. Take the eggs of moths and butterflies—tiny things, not so big as the head of a pin. Why, birds' eggs can't compare with them for beauty! In color, especially, they are exquisitely changeable. One egg is covered with hexagonal figures—hexagonal, you know, is six-sided—and each corner is a tiny raised button. It is a beautiful blue and white, changeable. Another egg looks like a ripe orange; another like a beautiful round shell; some are oval, with perfectly regular figures all over; others transparent, like glass, so the little curled-up worm can be seen inside. Some have beautifully-made covers, with hinges, so that the tiny creature has only to open his door to get out.

But if the eggs are interesting, the butterflies, moths, and insects are quite as much so. There's one moth with a regular finger at the end of his antenna, or feeler. Then the tongue of a butterfly is most exquisitely made to dip into flowers, being a perfect tube, through which he can suck the sweets as easily as you can suck lemonade through a straw. Butterflies' wings are covered with feathers, lapping over each other like shingles on a roof. Naturalists can take off these feathers one by one, and examine them in their microscopes.

Then there's a tiny fly which infests gooseberry-bushes, called the saw-fly. Why, that atom of a creature has as perfect a saw as was ever cut out of steel—yes, a pair of them, and a convenient sheath for them in his own body, where he puts them when he don't want to use them.

Perhaps you know that the honey-bee has a nice pocket in his hind legs, where he puts the bee-bread he wants to carry home.

Possibly you have heard that each of your hairs is a hollow tube, with a root like an onion, and that no two animals' hairs are alike; some have scales like a fish, and others have different marks.

I don't know how long I could talk of the wonders in the animal world, but this is enough for the present.

Little Women.

Dr. Dio Lewis gives the reason for the preference for little women among men. He says: Formerly women were slaves to the passions of men. In modern times they have, among our better classes, risen a little above that, and have become the pets and toys of men. Now, a pet or a toy, say a black and tan, is valuable in proportion to its diminutiveness. A man selecting a wife that he intends to dress in silks and laces, with trinkets hung in her ears, rings on her fingers, and little ornaments stuck all over her, who is to sit in his parlor while he is absent on business, to dress and redress herself several times a day, to be ready to receive him, all corseted, besilked, bejewled, and bescented when he shall come from his office; a man who selects a wife as a pet, a toy, is very likely to have the same sort of preference for a petite wife that he has for a petite black and tan. This is the source of preference for little women.

Humorous.

A FIRM FRIEND—an obstinate Quaker.

THE man who works with a will—the probate judge.

AN unavoidable breach of the piece—the stock of a gun.

HAVE the elements the right to brew a storm without a license?

WHY is dough like the sun? Because when it rises it is light.

HENS are not strata in winter—that is, they are not regular layers.

A BROOKLYN shoemaker is in favor of giving women their rights—and their "lefts," too.

SPURGEON thinks some ministers would make good martyrs: they are so dry they would burn well.

SELF-MADE man, examining a school, of which he is manager—"Now, boy, what's the capital of 'Olland?" Boy—"An H, sir."

A BACHELOR suggests that in most marriages considerable "soft soap," with a strong lie, is used, and the whole operation ends in shaving.

"MY DAUGHTER, I want you to stop talking; you must wait until you are spoken to." "Ma," answered the child, "if every one were to wait until they were spoken to, how could any one talk?"

A YOUNG MAN, in a recitation in geography, informed the astonished teacher that "the mammoth caravan in Kentucky is the greatest living curiosity, and has been exploded ten miles from its mouth."

BUSS, a kiss; rebus, kiss again; pluribus, to kiss irrespective of sex; sillybus, to kiss the hand instead of the lips; blunderbus, to kiss the wrong person; omnibus, to kiss all promiscuously; erebus, to kiss in the dark.

"WHAT is the annual corn crop of Kentucky?" asked a foreign tourist of a Kentuckian. "I can't exactly say," replied the Kentuckian; "but I know it's enough to make all the whisky we want, besides what is wasted for bread."

AN IRISHMAN, with a heavy bundle on his shoulders, riding on the front of a horse-car, was asked why he did not set his bundle on the platform. He replied: "Be jabers, the horses have enough to drag me; I'll carry the bundle."

A Scene in the Senate Chamber.

Just prior to the conclusion of Mr. Davis' remarks in the United States Senate, on Thursday, March 30, an incident of an unusual character occurred, which excited considerable comment in the galleries and upon the floor. Representative B. F. Butler, of Massachusetts, who was occupying a seat by Senator Thurman, immediately adjoining that of the Senator from Kentucky, had for some time been intently observing Davis as he proceeded. The latter, apparently growing restive and disconcerted under the steady gaze of the Massachusetts member, and, speaking with his usual warmth and earnestness, suddenly faced that gentleman, and, continuing his Ku-Klux stories, said: "These fictitious charges are originated by parties to affect the coming elections. The Legislatures to be chosen are to elect one-third of the members of this Senate, and it is with a view to using this political capital for these diabolical and devilish ends that these vile and slanderous stories of outrages emanate from the brains of political scoundrels and ruffians." Mr. Davis took his seat, and, observing that Butler's scrutiny was continued, wheeled his chair around so as to meet the latter's gaze more defiantly. The two gentlemen then sat stolidly staring, or rather glaring, at each other, to the amusement of the galleries, and the evident disquietude of the Senators around, who seemed to fear a personal collision might ensue. Mr. Stevenson, the colleague of Mr. Davis, had, meanwhile, taken the floor; but the attention of the greater part of the Senate was engrossed by the seeming bellicose appearance of the two gentlemen, who still eyed each other with no very approving glances. After full a minute spent in this way, Davis rose from his chair, and, addressing Butler, was heard to say by the Senators near him: "What do you mean by attempting to browbeat me in that way? You are a damned scoundrel, sir!" Adding, after a pause: "Yes, sir, I repeat it—you are a damned scoundrel, sir!" At this juncture, Mr. Wilson, in compliance with a request made to him privately by Mr. Casserly, came from his seat, on the other side of the chamber, and interposed to prevent a continuance of the scene. Davis then resumed his seat, and Butler, after looking in another direction for a few moments, rose and went over to the Republican side, and shortly after left the chamber. It is reported that, when addressed by Davis, Butler replied: "I don't know you, sir; I don't care for you, and I don't want to speak to you." It is also reported that, prior to this occurrence, and while Davis was delivering his speech, Senator Bayard, sitting near him, suggested to him to free himself from the annoyance of Butler's scrutiny by an appeal to the Vice-President; but Davis replied that he did not need the protection of the Senate—that he would take care of himself.

RATES OF ADVERTISING

	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	2 m.	3 m.	6 m.
1 Square.....	1.00	1.50	2.00	2.50	4.00	5.00	8.00
2 Squares...	2.00	2.50	4.50	5.50	8.00	10.00	14.00
3 Squares.....	3.00	5.00	6.50	7.00	10.00	13.00	16.00
4 Squares.....	4.00	6.50	8.00	12.00	16.00	20.00	24.00
¼ Column.	6.00	9.00	11.00	13.00	17.00	20.00	30.00
½ Column.	10.00	15.00	18.00	20.00	27.00	32.00	42.00
1 Column....	15.00	22.00	25.00	30.00	42.00	50.00	70.00

Ten lines of Nonpareil to constitute a Square.

Business Cards, $5 per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertio cents each additional insertion.

Fashion Notes for Ladies

THE Argyle-Campbell plaid is all t rage in London.

TINTED and crested stationery is vogue among Gotham's fair.

ALL shades of brown and tan co will be fashionable for spring suits.

BLACK SILK, trimmed with white tul is much worn in half mourning, for e ning dress.

PLEATINGS of white tulle, headed wi black lace, are handsome trimmings f party dresses.

BLACK and white, mixed or striped, artistically blended, will be the sty for dresses, wraps, etc.

GRENADINE ruffles will be used on si dresses, headed with a tucking of t material of the dress.

WATERED calicoes are in vogue, most of the spring goods have whi grounds with bouquets of flowers.

WALKING skirts barely touch t ground. Demi-trains are worn in v iting, and full trains in evening co tume.

BONNETS are rated indispensable f dress occasions by the upper ten, ha bing only worn in demi-toilet.

AMONG suit materials shown for sprin is a wiry cotton and wool mixture call English mohair. It is in all the gra brown and ecru shades, with old-fas ioned lilac, spring green, clear, lig blue, and bright rose-colors.

THE most fashionable materials f wedding dresses are white satin duche (a frosted brocade) and white gros gra with a satin finish. The first requir very little trimming; the latter is ways ornamented with plain satin, folds or braids, and lace.

GRAY dresses, trimmed with brow are considered most fashionable. Ruff and narrow flounces will be the summ trimming on dresses. A linen cloa with large, loose sleeves, will be worn cover up the dress in traveling.

THE New York Mail says: "Pla hair is rapidly becoming the fashio How sorry we are for the unfortuna girls who have ruined their front ha by a long course of hot iron and crim ing pins. We wonder if false front such as old ladies used to wear, will b adopted to hide deficiencies?"

GIRLS, you don't need more than o visiting dress. That is the dictum the best Washington society. Mr Rogers, the lovely young daughter Secretary Fish, wears but one suit whe she visits (which is whenever she is no receiving with Mrs. Fish), and is un versally admired. The very beautif wife of an attache of a certain foreig legation has worn a very conspicuou dress to numerous parties this winter and many other examples of courag and economy might be cited.

The Old Fort--A Natural Wonder.

Cheyenne Correspondent Louisville Commercial.

The Natural Fort, as it is called, situated about fifteen miles south o Cheyenne, on the old stage road lead ing to Denver, verging a little to th west of south. This fort is very peculia in its formation, and difficult to de scribe so as to give a correct idea of it appearance. I should say it was orig nally a hill of sandstone, and that th elements had moulded it into its pre ent shape. It is almost circular i form, with a level open area in the cen ter of about forty-five or fifty yards i diameter. This is entirely closed by sandstone wall, except on one side where there is an opening several yard wide, which gives free access to the in terior, and represents the sally-port This wall varies from fifteen to fifty fee in height, I should say. I did no measure it.

The wall upon the western side i probably ten or fifteen feet thick, per haps more at the base. Upon the east ern side the wall is much higher an thicker. We clambered upon the sid of this part, and went over it. Th whole top was honey-combed and cu into chambers, with wall rising up, so a to conceal us from the plains, or ever the area within, were concealmen sought, and these walls were agai pierced as though for loop-holes, o windows. Some of these places woul accommodate five or six men, whe they would have a most admirable poin for defense, sheltered almost entirel from an enemy's attack; others woul accommodate four or six times as many and, I think, defensible positions coul have been found on every side, so tha the "fort" could, in the hands of a fe resolute men, be protected against man times their number.

A little to the east, distant about 10 yards, there is another formation some what similar, much smaller. The inte rior is but a few yards in extent. Th approach to it is through a narro crevice, just large enough for a ma to pass, while the walls of the pa sage are about fifteen or twenty fe high.

The walls of this, like the larger for are cut up into little chambers and r cesses. Through it they might be d fended. The interior had a bed o sand, beaten from the side of the wall as fine as any sea sand.

Both of these forts are wonderful, works of nature, in their defensibl characteristics; also, as monuments the power of the elements.

A lone ranchman had put his cab down beside the larger fortification, an built his stable within the area; he ha also made a gateway in the "sally-port, and thus had a yard for his stock small expense.

How a Chicago Man was Robbed.

The Alton Telegraph says that o Tuesday night last James Schatter, German, living in Chicago, arrived that place on the train from St. Loui He had with him two carpet-sacks, an an overcoat strapped upon one of them When he got off the train at the dep he inquired for a German boardin house. An unknown man standing b heard the inquiry, and told him h would show him a German hotel, at th same time offering to carry the baggag Mr. Schatter's left side and arm we partially paralyzed, and he gladly accep ed the assistance. The two starte down Front street. Suddenly the ma who was carrying the carpet-sacks b gan to walk so fast that the other cou not keep up, and on being asked wait, started off at a run with the baggag and disappeared. The victim hunted over the town for thief and baggag but found them not, and he then l for Chicago. Since then the carpet sac have been found, and Mr. Schatter c have them on application to the Alt authorities.

WHEN are barrels like whipped pri fighters? When they are badly hung

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN IND......APRIL 6, 1871

Another Victory!!

GRANT REPUDIATED AT ST. LOUIS!

CONNECTICUT FOR ENGLISH.

GIVE US MORE PEACE.

NEW YORK, April 5.—An associated press dispatch from Hartford at 2 o'clock this morning, says that English has 10 majority with a probability of 40 more if Staford gave Jewell 104 instead of 144 as reported.

THE World says we have really lost nothing although Governor English's majority is reduced to a small figure. He saves his office by the skin of his teeth. If the negroes votes had been excluded his majority would have been double what it was last year when Connecticut negroes did not vote.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—The Times says: "For the first time in over ten years the city of St. Louis, lately disfranchised disowered, elects a Democratic Mayor; the name of General Grant repudiated by a signal majority, the policy of his administration, the great principles which he has abandoned and betrayed have been triumphantly vindicated in the city of the West. The voice of St. Louis is the voice of Missouri."

WHEN, after the election of Lincoln, Seward boasted in the Senate that the Mongrel party would "now take possession of the citadel," Senator Hammond, of South Carolina, replied as follows:

"The Democratic party surrender the country without a stain upon her honer, boundless in her prosperity, incalculable in her strength. We have kept the Government conservative to the great purpose of government. We have placed her and kept her upon the Constitution; and that, sir, has been the cause of your peace and prosperity. Time will show what you will make of her; but no time can diminish our glory, or your responsibility."

The Manufacturers of Southern Outrages.

The Washington dispatch to the Louisville Ledger gives some interesting facts in regard to the persons who have gotten up the stories in regard to Southern outrages, to be used on Congress to justify extreme measures to subject the Southern States to millitary tyranny. The correspondent says the administration appears in a most unenviable light in connection with the Outrage Committee investigation. Judge Thomas Settle, of North Carolina, was one of swiftest and most unscrupulous witnesses against the character of his own people. It now turns out that Settle did not testify without a motive. His testimony given, he is at once rewarded by Grant's making him Minister to Peru. Another case, still more revolting, is that of a Radical witness named Bergen. This wretch was in command of Holden's militia, and is the same who tortured three respectable citizens—hanging them up by the neck in order to make them confess themselves guilty of the crime of murder, and also inculpate others in the crime. The persons thus tortured were arrested without a warrant, and no evidence whatever was adduced against them. This villian, guilty of these diabolical crimes, has just been nominated by the President as United States Consul at Pernambuco. The Senate has not yet acted on the nomination. Bergen is nominated as from North Corolina, but is a fugitive from justice of that State. Kirk, another of Holden's Radical brigands, is to have six thousand dollars of the public money, Brownlow having brought in a bill for the purpose.

A party that is impelled to resort to such agencies to perpetuate its rule, must be in the last throes of dissolution.

THE Senate refuse to act upon the House bill repealing the duty upon coal and salt, in which the people have a direct and practical interest, and devote its time to KuKluxism for this sole object of making partisan capital, not to promote peace, order and unity in the Southern States. As a sample of the hyfalution in the Senate we refer to the remarks of Senator Nye, of Nevada, who gravely assured that body that their were forty thousand KuKlux in North Carolina and that he had received a carefully prepared statement by a citizen of Tennessee that there had been fifty thousand murders committed in the South since the war. He might just as well said five hundred thousand. Such kind of stuff is put afloat for partizan purposes, and with the hope of influencing the coming elections, when the statements are known to be destitute of even the semblance of truth. The real condition of affairs in the South, owing to the infamous corruptions of carpet-bag rule, is purposely withheld by the Radical leaders. In North Carolina alone, under what is termed a Republican Government, the State debt has been increased over twenty millions since the termination of the war, some eight or ten millions of bonds declared unconstitutional, by the Suprem Court are not included in the amount we have named. Is it any wonder there is discontent among the people, when they are brought to the verge of bankruptcy by the extravagance and corruption of the carpet bag rulers? If the government of North Carolina had been restored to her own people there would have been a differnt state of affairs. Prudence and economy instead of recklessness and extravagance would have characterized the administration of the State and local governments. What would the people of Indiana think, and how would they feel, if citizens from other States had got possession of the State Government and in six years increased the State indebtedness over twenty millions? These facts the Radical prints withhold from the people and report the most incredible stories about KuKluxism. The people can no longer be deceived by such claptrap, gotten up solely to meet party exigencies, and to perpetutate party rule.

Ben Wade and Mr. Greely are recommended for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency, on the ground that there need be no trouble about "swearing them in." It is confidently believed they would be able to do it themselves.

A Proposed New Departure.

We published elsewhere a declaration of principles and purposes, to which are attached the names of a considerable number of citizens, from whom we are accustomed to hear in connection with the public affairs, and have been known as active and influential members in good standing of the Republican party. They are organized under the name of "The Central Republican Association of Hamilton County." The first meeting of these gentlemen was held about two weeks ago. The expression of their views now presented to the public was drafted by a committee composed of Judge Matthews. Judge Hoadly, General Burnett, George, R. Sage, Esq, and Hon. Fred. Hassaurek.

The formal organization of this association was perfected on Thursday, the 20th instant, Judge Stanley Matthews President, Judge George Hoadly Chairman of the Executive Committee, General H. L. Barnett, Hon. Fred. Hassaurek and Lelis E. Mills, Esq, a committee to nominate the remaining officers and report at a meeting to be held on Saturday next. A public meeting is to be held at an early day, and movements to establish similar organizations are on foot.

A glance at the list of names will convince those familiar with the political movements and the actors therein, in this neighborhood, that the gentleman of the Central Republican antecedants, while all of Republican association, are not, in the strictest sense, party men. Almost all of them have at some time vindicated their independence of the absolutism of party.

They are largely of that element that sides with the Republican organization, not because they believed it sacred or infallible, but because in choosing between evils they accept the least. It is upon this element precisely that the Republican party depends for the margin of force that gives it success. There fore politicians who look upon the movement that this organization indicates as inconsequential are mistaken. There is a movement, and it signifies much.

Without going into a critical examination of the platform that the Central Republican organization has proclaimed, we have to say that the general proposition laid down with the appearance of absolute assurance of their exact propriety—certainly in the most precise and sweeping terms—seem to us to need qualification. As declarations of abstract doctrine, a shade overdone with the view of claiming public attention by startling those who would conserve abuses rather than disorganize the Republican party they may serve a good purpose, but in the hot work day business of practical administration, these sharply defined precepts would need cautious modifications. Public attention will no doubt be very seriously distracted to this movement; and in the agitation that will arise upon general discussion of the programme of the proposed reform and regeneration of the Republication party, we imagine that the more thoughtful of those who are concerned in taking this initiative will find the only compensation for their investment that they have expected to realize.—Cin Com.

Mark Twain on Women.

Human intelligence can not estimate what we owe to woman, sir. She sows on our buttons. She ropes us in at the church fairs; she confides in us; she sells us whatever she can find out about the little private affairs of the neighbors; she gives us good advice, and plenty of it; she gives us a piece of her mind, sometimes, and sometimes all of it. In all the relations of life, sir, it is but a just and grateful tribute to say of her that she is a "brick."

Wheresoever you place women, sir, in whatsoever position or estate, she is an ornament to that place she occupies, and a treasure to the world. Look at the noble names of history: Look at Desdemona! Look at Lucretia Borgia! Look at Joice Heth! Look at Mother Eve! I repeat sir, look at the illustrious names of history! Look at Widow Macreet! Look at Lucy Stone! Look at Elizabath Cady Stanton! Look at George Francis Train! And, sir I say it with bowed head and deepest veneration, look at the mother of Washington! She raised a boy that could not tell a lie—could not lie. But he never had a chance. It might have been different if he had belonged to a Newspaper Correspondents' Club.

(Mark looked around placidly upon his excited audience and resumed.)

I repeat, sir, that in whatever position you place woman, she is a ornament to society and a treasure to the world. As a sweetheart she has few equals, and no superior. As a wealthy grandmother with an incurable distemper, she is precious. As a wetnurse she has no equal among men. What, sir, would the people of the earth be without woman? They would be scarce, sir, almighty scarce. Then let us give her our support, our encouragement, sympathy—ourselves, if we get a chance.

George Washington as a "Pap",

A writer in the Cincinnati Commercial, who has been examining the portraits at the State House, at Indianapolis, has discovered a striking resemblance between Col. Posey, the first Governor of Indiana, and General George Washington, the "Father of his Country;" and relates the following antecedents of Governor Posey:

"The history of the matter, suceintly stated, runs about in this ways. Mount Vernon estate. The then Colonel George Washington was married to Mrs. Curtis in 1878, (with whom he had no children). About 1854 Mrs. Posey was left a widow by the death of her husband. Washington then a young man, frequently hunted and fished on the estate, and sometimes, when belated, accepted or sought the hospitalities of Mrs. Posey's house, who is represented as a lady of very considerable personal attractions. At what time or how it came about that the relations between these two assumed a more intimate character than those of hostess and guest is, of course, unknown; but it is certain that some two years after the death of her husband—she in the interim having remained feme sole—a son was born to her, who grew up to be that same youth whose potrait adorns the walls of the Governor's room in Indianapolis. It is also certain that Washington (greatly to his credit as a just and equitable man, if our theory be correct) always to the death maifested a warm and friendly interest in the fortunes of this young man. He charged himself with his maintenance and education, and when he arrived at a proper age he was for a time a member of the military family of the General in the field, and subsequently, by his influence, was made the Governor of the Territory of Indiana. These circumstances of themselves would make a strong case in support of the truth of our assertion, but there are other items of evidence of weight of authority than these. The family of Colonel Posey were in possession of four or five likenesses of Washington, taken at different periods of his life, given to him as souvenirs of an intimate regard. Washington kept up a correspondence with him of the most confidential character, sometimes addressing him as "My Dear Son." These letters are or were very recently in existence, and in the possession of a gentleman of this State."

And now comes Mrs Vandevoort, an old lady 65 years of age, who, claims to be a relative of Madame Jumel, whose will is being contested in a New York court, and declares upon oath that George W. Browne is a son of Madame Jumel (Eliza Bowne) by Gen. George Washington.

Question—Who was Geo. W. Bowne's father?

Answer—The question you put to me is singular question to ask me; the saying is, that every fool knows his mother, but only a wise child knows his father; I can tell you who they said was his father; my mother said that in Rhode Island they said Uriah Bowne was his father; my mother said Gen. George Washington was the father—I mean General Washington; I suppose Gen. Washingthon then lived at the white house, or possiblly somewhere in Pennsylvana; mother said Reuben Ballou was a major in the army, and used to carry dispatches; he had a young horse that used to jump fences and threw him and hurt him very badly; she said when Reuben lay vey low the General came a great deal to see him; Bestey Browne (Mime. Junel) lived there at the time, helping Mrs. Ballou do her work; this was in the Charles Street House, Providence, R. I., were Maj. Ballou lay low that Washington came to see him; mother never said where Washington lived or where he staid at the time; I heard it said he was going through Rhode Island and came several times to see Maj. Ballou, and took dinner and tea there several times; mother said this was in the revolution.

Several places have claimed the champion mean man, but Canaan, Conn., can take the belt. A man there, who employs his father in his work-shop, lost a child, and naturally the grandfather of the child wished to attend the funeral. The son permitted the old man to go to the grave, and when he got home docked the poor fellow half a day lost time.

THE Marion Chronicle says that Tom. St. John, did not say that the entire late Legislature "had'nt as much brains as a sapsucker"—as was stated in this paper some time since—but only some members. We make the correction; but we presume Tom referred to the majority in that body, as a matter of course.—Indianian.

Yes, a majority of the thirty-four cowards who resigned.

Peter's Musical Monthly for April is to hand, and puts us in mind of the honest old farmer who once attended a show. He listened with delight to the performance until about half through, when, suddenly jumping up, he made his way to the doorkeeper and handed the astonished functionary a bright half dollar, which was politely refused, on the plea that he had already paid for his admittance, when the old man rejoined: "Look a'here mister, I've had mor'n fifty cents worth of fun already, and I'm too honest to take more'n I've paid for, so if you don't take that 'ere half dollar I'm going out, cause you cant make a thief of me noways."

On the old man's principle, people who buy Peter's Musical Monthly should renew their subcriptions every month, as the publisher gives in each issue nearly $5 worth of good music, and charges but thirty cents a number, or $3 a year for it. Address J. L. PETERS, Broadway N. Y.

BRAINARD'S MUSICAL WORLD.—The April number of this popular musical monthly is on our table, filled to overflowing with beautiful new music and interesting reading. It issued from the extensive music publishing house of S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O., at the low price of $1.00 per annum. Specimen copies, with full catalogue of music and music books will be sent free to any address during the present month. Address S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O.

New Advertisements.

An Ordinance

To plank sidewalks: Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the incorporated town of Auburn, DeKalb County, state of Indiana, that it shall be the duty of all owners or part owners of lots or part of lots, lying on or adjoining the north side of tenth [10th] street, between Jackson street and the western limits of the western addition to said town, to plank so much of the sidewalk as lies fronting their said lots or part of lots with a walk, six [6] feet in width, of good and sound plank, not less than one and a half inches in thickness nor more than eight [8] inches in width, placed on three [3] stringers laid lengthwise, 3 by 5 inches.

All timber to be of oak or pine. Said walks are to be planked by the first day of June '871.

Done at their meeting April 3d 1871

Attest ALBERT ROBBINS, Town Clerk.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

AND GENERAL

MANUFACTURE of CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the Circuit Court, August term, 1871,

William L. Humphries, } Complaint for Divorce.
vs
Emeline Humphries, }

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, Emeline Humphries is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless she be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in her absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of Said Court affixed at Auburn, this 30th day of March A. D. 1871.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administratrix of the Estate of Charles Ahrnes, late of DeKalb County, deceased.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

MARY AHRNES, Administratrix.

April 3d, 1871.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that William Lessig Administrator of the estate of Hugh Shreve deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court. [illegible]

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana Executor of the Estate of Isaac Frank late of DeKalb County deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 13, '71. WM. LESSIG, Executor.

SUPPORT home mechanics, home mills home labor, home merchants, home press, home artisans, home everything and person as near as posible, in order to do your part in supporting and building up your every day neighbor, place, county and State. Also patronize those who patronize you: mechanics—who do not fail through your papers to keep their business before the people. It shows business—it shows a liberal spirit—it means to live and let live. When you find the latter kind of business men you find men who will trade liberally with you, looking to both sides of the trade instead of one. Try it friends, and see if we are not in the main right.

A NEW LIFE PRESERVER.—A young man out West snatched a kiss from the lips of a pretty girl, and in so doing pulled her head forward in time to save it from being struck by a heavy piece of timber which fell from an uper floor, and which would have dashed her brains out. The felow is so jubilant over the idea furnished by this circumstance, that he is going to hire a man to go ahead of him, and put up heavy beams, saw logs, etc., at convenient places, by the aid of which he will experiment on the life of every pretty girl he comes across. If the thing works all right, he intends to have it patented and sold as a "life-preserver."

NOTICE to HEIRS OF Petition to Sell Real Estate.

STATE OF INDIANA }
DeKalb County. }

NOTICE is hereby given that John McCurdy, executor of the will of Thomas Enterline, deceased, has filed his petition to sell the Real Estate of the decedent, his personal being sufficient to pay his debts, and that said petition will be heard at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas of said county.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Auburn, Ind., March 30, '71.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Alonzo Lockwood is Plaintiff and James Crummy, Mary Crummy, Nathan Tarney and Louisa Tarney are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of two hundred and ten dollars and twenty cents, with interest on said decree and costs I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Lots number three (3) and four (4) in Toppings' addition to the town of Corunna, except the following discribed part of lot number four [4], commencing at the north west corner of lot number four [4] thence south thirty-two feet [32,] thence east twenty feet [20] thence north thirty-two feet [32] thence west twenty feet [20] to the place of begining, in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
PHILO LOCKWOOD, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D 1871. $7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein John Ralston is Plaintiff and Michael Dunn Castello is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of fifty-four dollars and eighty cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Town lot number twenty one in Ralston's addition to the town of Auburn, DeKalb County Ind.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
J. W. RICKEL, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D. 1871. $6.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein James Griswold is Plaintiff and John Moore is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of fifty-one dollars and ninty cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Lot number one hundred and fifty-two [152] in the western addition to the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgement, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisment laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
JN. R. I. BAER, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D. 1871. $6.75.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein John R. Moody is Plaintiff and Solomon Butler and William S. Bames are Defendants, required me to make the sum of four hundred and Seventy-one dollars and fifty cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

The South west quarter of the North west quarter of Section Thirty-four [34] North of Range Twelve [12] East in DeKalb County.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree interests and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
D. D. MOODY, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Indiana, March 29th A. D. 1871, $7.00

Sheriff's Sale.

BY virtue of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on between the hours of 10 o'clock A. M., and 4 o'clock P. M., of said day, at the door of the Court House in Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Saturday the 15th day of April A. D. 1871

The East half of the South east quarter of Section three [3] Township thirty-three [33] North of range thirteen [13] East, containing eighty [80] acres of land, the same being designated and turned out by Defendant Woolsey as his property to satisfy this writ.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Execution interests and costs, then on failure to realize the full amount of judgment, interest and costs, I will at the same time and place expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate.

Taken as the property of Jotham Woolsey Principal and S W. Ralston, Secretary at the suit of Gilbert McFarlan.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
by LYMAN CHIDSEY, Dep'y
MOODY & PETERSON, Attorney for Plaintiff.

March 20th A. D. 1871, $6.75.

STATE OF INDIANA }
DeKalb County }

In the Common Pleas Court, May Term, 1871,

Nelson B. Blair }
vs. } Complaint No. 37.
Oliver P. Greenwood }
Hugh Brown. }

Now comes the plaintiff, by McBride & Morlan, his Attorneys and files their complaint herein together with an affidavit that said Defendant, Hugh Brown is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of May, A. D. 1871, at the Court House, in Auburn, in said county, and State and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name, and the Seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 21st day of Mar., A. D. 1871.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poisons. Any one can use it. One sent by mail for $1. Address MAGIC COMB CO. Springfield, Mass. 3m.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 8 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh..	1,35 A. M.	7,10 A. M.	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Rochester...	2,42 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Alliance.....	5,05 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Orrville.....	6,54 "	1,52 P. M.	4,45 "	8,38 "
Mansfield....	9,03 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
A.	9,35 "	5,0? "	7,25 "	11,00 "
Crestline..... L.	10,05 "	5,55 A. M.	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest.....	11,27 "	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima.....	12,26 P. "	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne..	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth....	4,50 "	2,25 P. M.	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago.....	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago.....	5,50 A. M	9,00 A. M.	5.15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth....	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,55 A. M.
Ft. Wayne..	12,50 P. M	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima.......	3,25 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest.......	4,43 "	5,08 "	2,43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	4,20 "	8,55 "
Crestline....	6,00 A. M.	6,50 "	4,30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield....	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville.....	9,15 "	9,06 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance.....	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M
Rochester...	2,35 P. M.	12,55 A. M.	11,06 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh..	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2, daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Monday, Nov. 28th 1870. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING SOUTH.	MIXED.	EXPRESS.
Jackson, leave,........	6:10 A. M.	1:10 P. M.
Jonesville,............	8:40 "	2:25 "
Angola,...............	11:05 "	4:03 "
Waterloo,.............	12:13 P. M.	4:48 "
Auburn,..............	12:37 "	5:05 "
Fort Wayne, arrive....	1:55 "	6:10 "
GOING NORTH.
Fort Wayne leave........	8:00 A. M.	5:00 P. M.
Auburn,..............	9:17 "	6:06 "
Waterloo..............	9:47 "	6:22 "
Angola...............	11:05 "	7:07 "
Jonesville..............	1:40 "	8:48 "
Jackson, arrive.........	3:10 "	10:10 "

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

G. T. ABBEY, Agent Waterloo.

Land for Sale

In DeKalb County

$5 TO $8 Per ACRE.

Address B. D. SKINNER,
Fort Wayne Ind.,

Mar. 30, '71. 1m.

30.000 Cords OF STAVE BOLTS, WANTED IMMEDIATELY.

The highest cash price paid at the Stave Factory of C. BEUGNOT & Co., west of Railroad and north of Depot.

AUBURN, IND.

Brahma Pootra

Eggs & Male Birds FOR SALE!

From fine care premium stock.—Warranted pure, $1,00 per dozen.

Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop In Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS Carriages, CUTTERS, Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line, should give him a call at his shop on, Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. ED. BLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS

G. L. SEGNER, Agent.
Waterloo, Ind.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,

Oats,

Corn,

Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Building Material,

Agricultural Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Tools, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIRING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23, 1871.

Root & Company

IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana.

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will do themselves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silks New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS!

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1y

HEADQUARTERS

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments.

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

CREDIT BUSINESS

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account to come and settle, as he is determined to collect outstanding debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ

Feb. 21 1y.

Auburn Courier.

OFFICIAL PAPER of THE COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

A FINE rain fell Monday morning.

SHADE TREES should be planted in front of every residence in town.

A WEEK from next Monday is the last day for paying taxes.

THE Post-office was removed last Monday to the building just south of Mr. Lanning's residence, on Main street.

THE appalling fact is announced that our young ladies will have to choose between twenty different styles of spring hats.

THE grape vine telegraph, via. Waterloo, through their committee, advise us again that the Baltimore & Ohio Extension R. R. will be located through Defiance, Auburn, etc.

AT the teachers examination last Saturday, some twenty-two teachers made application for licenses to teach. We understand only one was rejected.

POETRY.—We call attention to a fine poetical production in another column, written by young lady of our county. Come again, Bessie.

A one-legged man in tights, about half tight, walked the tight rope across Main street, last Mondy afternoon. The performance was novel, but not particularly edifying.—Elkhart Review.

A DOCTOR TAYLOR, now residing at Elkhart, is said to be the possessor of six wives Is our neighboring town following in the footsteps of the illustrious Brigham?

THE County Commissioners meet in special session next Monday, together with the Assessors of the different townspips, as a Board of equalization.

MOOVING.—Quite a munber of our citizens changed their base of operation from one house to another. The first week in April generally brings many changes of this character.

LAMP EXPLOSION.—A lamp exploded last evening, in Ralston's store, and was making good headway to burn up the building when discovered. It was, however, quickly extinguished.

IT is remarked as a peculiar fact of the year 1871 that there has been and will be a full moon during the first week of each of the first seven months, and during the last week of the last six months.

ESTRAY.—From the residence of the subscriber, a medium sized Cow, light red color, a few white hairs in forehead and rump Anyone giving information or returning her will be liberally rewarded.

G. C. RALSTON.

A New England railroad engineer, whose life was providentially saved from a stray bullet by a Bible in his breast pocket, is thanking Providence now that he wasn't "foolin' away his time" in reading the good book when that bullet came around.

A LADY meeting a young girl who had formerly been in her service, asked, "Where do you live now, Mary?" "Please ma'am, I don't live now, I'm married," was the reply. There is, perhaps, a symptom of divorce in that remark.

ED. PIATT, ESQ., the accomplished and gentlemanly "hotelist," formerly of Waterloo, in company with a gentleman from Kendallville, has rented the hotel at Edgerton, Ohio, and with new improvements and facilities now offer first class accommodations to the traveling public. Success to them.

IT having been discovered—we did'nt discover it—that the wearing of a garter below the knee spoils the shape of the calf, three-fourths of the women now wear them above the knee, and the balance have their stocking held up by means of tape around the waist. This has been told to us a secret, and we can keep a secert.

NOTICE.—Samuel Lauferty, Esq., our popular and enterprising dry goods merchant, will leave on the 15th of this month for the east, to purchase a new stock of goods. He earnestly requests those in arrears with him to call and settle their accounts prior to that time, in order that he can purchase a stock larger and superior to any that has ever before been brought to this market.

AN exchange says that while "the papers are warning the people against the use of poisonous colored candies now in use, they should also warn the young men against another luxury, that of kissing young ladies who have such beautiful red cheeks—'painted up to nature, but not by nature.". Wonder if that editor was ever caught? If not how does he know whereof he is writing?

THE best place to get clothing, in Fort Wayne, is at M. E. Woodward's, on Calhoun street opposite the Court House. He does not advertise as a "Cheap House," and then ask two prices, but gives you a good article, at moderate figures. He has the latest assortment in the city and can make you a suit to order on short notice, and in a style that cannot be excelled. If you want to deal with responsible parties, go to Woodward's.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can now sell you Clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Bock, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

EVERY merchant who does business without advertising does himself an individual financial injury, for he virtually ignores the enterprising wide-awake spirit of the age, and says to the people, "I don't want your patronage" The people have become so used to measuring a man's liberality and business enterprise by the length of his newspaper advertisement, that they utterly repudiate the individual who has not enough business "get up" to hang out his sign in the papers.

PERSONAL denunciation and defamation of character in connection with the discussions of general and local matters should be discountenanced and frowned down by the public. It demoralizes the minds of the rising generation, and degrades journalism. —Valparaiso Messenger.

We agree with the above and have now in our mind's eye, several journals who are doing their utmost to defame each other.—Hold, gentlemen. Let us have peace.

A GOOD movement, and one which from personal observation, we are prepared to assert, comes not too soon is the erection of a good fence around the old cemetry. A neat new fence, the removal of unsightly stumps and encroaching undergrowth, will change the place from an eye sore and a reproach to an ornament. The condition of some of our graveyards is enough to cause the departed to turn ghost and visit our neglect upon us in wrath, if there is any human nature about a ghost's composition.

An Item of Fact.

Boldly he spoke and well;
And on deaf ears it fell;
Vain was his loudest yell;
Volleyed and thundered until at last the audience aroused from its slumbering and caring nothing for the windy speech of the orator, jumped up from their seats and marched straight into C. S. Hare's boot and shoe store, in the brick block, where they found every variety of these articles in great profusion. A new stock has just been received, and those wanting cheap boots and shoes of the very latest styles should go to C. S. Hare's.

PERSONAL.—Col. Chas. Jones, of Ohio, an extensive foundry operator, gave us a call last Tuesday. Mr Jones is perhaps as well posted in the foundry interests, as any man in the Buckeye State, and from his varied experience and attention to this line of manufactuers is rapidly amassing a fortune.

He says Auburn would be one of the finest points west for the location of a foundry and intimated that he would not hesitate a moment to embark in the business here if it were possible for him to arrange matters, so as to free him from other engagements.

SENTENCED TO BE HUNG.—After a fair and and impartial trial, the unanimous verdict of all the ladies who have examined the splendid stock of wall paper at Davenport's drug store is that it ought to be hung. It is too nice to remain rolled up, and when so much beauty and neatness can be obtained for so small an amount, every housekeeper should beautify their houses by having the walls nicely papered. Window curtains of all styles and varieties. Go and see them.

SPLENDID.—One of the finest and most reliable institutions in Fort Wayne, is the Dry Goods Emporium of Messrs C. Orff & Co. They have just received a very extensive stock of superb goods. The enterprise displayed by Messrs. Orff & Co., is truly commendable, and when we consider the straightforward, honorable manner in which they transact business we do not wonder at their popularity. Their stock is complete, embracing the most fashionable articles of dress goods, and a full line of everything known to the trade.

We saw at their store the other day one of the finest displays of millinery goods ever brought to the west. Bonnets, Flowers, Ribbons, and everything else in profusion. Go and see the grand sight.

A Tramp Around Town.

Having noticed considerable bustle and activity among our mechanics and laborers since the pleasant weather set in, we conceived the idea of paying them a visit in order to see what good they were accomplishing, and we briefly give the following as the result of our discoveries.

RECENTLY COMPLETED:

Going north on Main street, we noticed a neat story and a half frame, recently completed by Mr. A. Foltz, while next to him was Mr. J. Otto, snugly located in a two story frame, with wings, handsomely painted and quite attractive. E. Kuhlman on the south, has just completed another of the same size and style, further south is another new frame, story and a half, owned by C. Schull. R. Burniston has also moved into his new home, a two story frame, which includes about all the new residences erected on the north end of this street.

Proceeding southward we next discover a substantial dwelling, owned by H. Wartensleben two stories, with wing, and just opposite F. Boehringer's one and a half story frame which has just been completed. From here we go west and find that J. Bramer and Mrs. Anthrop have each erected a good frame, one and a half stories, besides other minor buildings, and J. Ashley a residence and blacksmith shop, on Jackson street.—J. Walborn and Geo. Gestenslager have followed closely in their wake with two other fine buildings, same style, while J. W. Rickel and J. Beuret are now occupying their substantial dwellings. The frame work for the residence of Mr. Martin is already in position and will soon be completed.

OTHER IMPROVMENTS

A. J. Carmer has just completed a fine woodhouse, and erected a new fence around his premises. D. D. Moody a barn and fence, W. H. Dills, sidewalk and fence, J. M. Robbins barn and fence, J. R. Lanning barn and fence, J. Walborn. C. C. Shaffer, Mrs. Buss, Mrs. Strickland, B. L Williams, M. L. Duck, Gross and Dills, T. B. Totten, John Brandon, E. Weaver, S. Lauferty, G. Plum, G. McFarland, R. Elson, and many others have made thorough and important improvements, which would require too much space to itemize.

CONTEMPLATED AND NOT COMPLETED.

A new brick business block, by Smith & Hare, two stories, south of the brick block. a three story brick, north of the Court House by Mr. Ensley, a frame by J. Schaffer, same by Mr. Shearer, R. B. Showers, J. Lamback, R. Elson, Jacob Walborn, J. Johnsen, C. M. Brown, J. Link, J. E. Shilling, and barns fences and sidewalks by J. Lobmiller, G. C. Ralston, C. Klotz, and many others.

This is but a meagre description of what we saw in one brief tour around the suburbs yet it is sufficient to convince the reader, that the citizens of Auburn mean business, and intend to build up a beautiful town of no inconsiderable dimensions. The mania for building is infectious and has spread everywhere until every locality is receiving new touches that will be creditable alike to the citizens and place. Let there be no cessation in the "glorious work of constrection," until we have added many new features, and become a populous and thriving county seat.

Sixty one Pound Tumor Removed From A Lady.

Mrs. D. W. Harris, of Harris township, has for some time been afflicted with an ovarian tumor, which so increased in size as to endanger her life, and on Friday last after consultation it was determined to remove it.—The operation was performed by Dr. D. Meeker of Laporte, assisted by his son Dr. L. Meeker and also Dr. Fletcher of this city. The patient was placed under the influence of chloroform and the tumor was removed from the cavity of the abdomen without causing her any pain in the least. The weight of the tumor was sixty-one pounds. At last accounts the patient was doing well. —South Bend Register.

THE North Eastern Indiana Methodist Episcopal Conference will be held at Huntington, on the 12th of April. Rev. C. W. Lynch having remained with us three years, will be transferred to some other field of labor, as three years is the limit, according to the rules of the Conference, that a minister can remain in one place. Rev. Lynch has made many friends during his sojourn among us, and he is very highly respected by the entire community.—Kendallville Standard.

THE EEL RIVER RAILROAD.

As was announced in our last, a meeting in the interest of the above road was held at the Court House, last Saturday afternoon, at which a large number of the best citizens of this place and vicinity appeared.

President Collins of this road, was introduced, who addressed the meeting at length, giving a fair, plain statement of the precise condition of things along the line. He stated that as the Union Construction Company of Iowa had failed to comply with their contract, there was still an excellent opportunity left which if promptly taken advantage of, would insure the final completion of the road. Since the failure of this company be with many others interested, in this line, had been canvassing the subject carefully and using every exertion and influence to obtain means elsewhere for its construction. They had finally succeeded in securing a reliable firm of Michigan, Messrs. Buell Quirk & Co., men who individually represent enough wealth to more than build the road, who proposed to undertake the job, providing the officers of the road would guarantee them four thousand dollars per mile.

Mr. Collins stated he had been over part of the line and intended to visit the other portion in order to tell the people who wanted the Eel River road constructed, what was necessary to be done in order to effect this end. This was his object to-day to let the citizens of DeKalb County know the true condition of affairs, and then give the only remedy applicable in the care. This new construction firm wanted a guarantee of so much a mile and the President and Directors were willing to give it, if the people would endorse them to such an extent that in case of failure they would not be ruined financially.

It was proposed then under the existing circumstances, to return the subscription already made to those who had subscribed and then have each subcriber give his note for what amount of subscription he was able to give, one half of which note would be payable when the road was built from Butler to the west line of the county, and the other half say in one year after. This would give time for its construction, whereas under the present arrangement and condition of things, the road would have to be built by the first of January next, and the subscription already made is based upon this condition, President Collins thinks the road could be finished from Auburn to Manchester west by that time but no more.—Now the question is, are our citizens sufficiently awake to the importance of this road to give their individual notes for an increased Subscription of $25,000, on longer time and expressly on the condition that the road must first be built from Butler to the west line of the county before a cent was to be paid? This is the question to be answered and that promptly, as time is growing short and something must be done immediately, or the road from Columbia City to Logansport would pass into the hands of Pitts. Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railroad, thus cutting off the last chance of building the entire line.

In conclusion Mr. Collins stated that a guarantee of this kind would surely Secure the completion of the road, and that work would be resumed on the whole line west as soon as this was obtained, and the part from Butler here prepared and completed at the earliest practical moment.

W. H. Hubbel, Esq., being called on stated that he had been along the line, from Butler to Adrian and Saline and found the three organizations between those places hard at work in perfecting their plans for the completion of the line under their control. Contracts have already been let and work has commenced, at the east end, so that its construction to Butler, was now regarded as a fixed fact.

W. H. Dills, Esq., thought that the condition of the new subscription were much easier than the original one and thought that by a proper effort that amount of subscription could be raised.

Mr. Collins said he would guarantee the road if DeKalb County would do this much.

A vote was then taken expressive of the feeling of the meeting on the subject of the new subscription, and there was not a dissenting voice against the proposition to do all in their power to secure this amount, after which the meeting ajourned.

The prospects for the construction of the road are brighter to-day than ever before, and all that is required is a determination upon our part to give it every assistance in our power, and that without delay. If we ever wish to enjoy the benefits that this road will bring, now is our time to work. Let one determined and united effort be made in its favor, and we are sure to enjoy the benefits of another important line of railroad.

IMPORTANT MEETING.

A meeting to take into consideration several matters pertaining to the interest of this place and vicinity, was held at the Court House last Saturday evening. T. D. Gross, Esq., was appointed Chairman and T. C. Mays, Secretary.

Mr. Dills called attention to the condition of the Court House Square, and other matters of equal importance to our town. The object of the meeting was a free interchange of opinions as to various improvements and such means as would bring about the desired result. Mr. Ensley endorsed the views already presented and was anxious to see the town improved and beautified, suggesting several matters for the consideration of the meeting. Mr. Widney followed with several other suggestions of equal importance. The dredging of Cedar Creek was of paramount importance to the place, and the draining of several swamps adjacent, an actual necessity.

Mr. Little spoke of the want of homes for the accommodation of Merchants, Mechanics and Laborers, for which daily applications are being made.

Dr. Ford gave his views in regard to several improvements, his remarks bearing especially upon the planting of trees in the Court House Square. Mr. Widney suggested the passage of an ordiance, by the town Board making it an offense, punishable by fine, for any one to injure trees or shrubbery in said square.

Mr. Gross strongly endorsed the suggestion. On motion the chair appointed a commitee of eleven for general purposes, as follows: W. H. Dills, J. P. Widney, W. W. Griswold, Jacob Stamets, C. Sheets, L. Engman, John L. Davis, John Brandon, S. W. Sprott, J. H. Ford and C. S. Hare.

On motion a committee of three was appointed to confer with the Board of Trustees in regard to the planting of trees in the Court House Square. The chair appointed Geo. Ensley, Samuel Lauferty and Henry Ford.

Adjourned to meet Saturday, April 15th.

Thus it will be seen that a step in the right direction has at last been taken and we are in a fair way now to remedy and remove some of the evils that beset us as a town.

A spirit of enterprise has at last been developed and something is going to be done. Let every citizen give the movement his cordial support, so that it may acccomplish as much good as possible.

The above committee of eleven is requested to meet at W. H. Dills' office, to-morrow Friday, evening.

For the Courier.

SPRING.

BY [illegible]

Winter is ending, gay spring time is blending
Her skies with a lovlier hue,
Dame nature is changing her robes and arranging
The green neath the canopy blue,
The god of day flinging his soft rays, and bringing Wild flowers from hillside and dell,
Silvery notes ringing, from songsters that's singing
To winter a song of farewell.

Tulips unfolding, half open buds holding
To catch the bright sunshine and showers
Violets are blending their colors, low bending,
Most humble of all natures flowers,
Lilies unclosing, bright color disclosing,
Waft perfume upon the cool breeze,
Round each flower blowing, sunshine glowing,
Is heard the low hum of the bees.

The brook toward the ocean, with unceasing motion,
Has burst from its fetters unbound,
While against the rock dashing, its tiny spray splashing,
Makes valley and forest resound,
Days are grown longer, twilight much stronger
With sunset of splendor untold,
Casting a shadow, on hillside and meadow,
But tinging the forest with gold.

Stars have grown dimmer, less dazzling their glimmer,
Yet none of their beauty is gone,
And in their pale beaming the dewdrops are gleaming
Like casket of gems on the lawn,
When rosy morn breaking, the birds all awaking,
Each join in a silvery strain,
All nature is smiling, and naught is reviling,
Gay spring time is with us again.

Richland, March 27, 1871.

Correspondence.

SEDAN.

The Methodist and Lutheran congregations under the management of Rev. Brown and Leathers have been worshiping together for the last three weeks, and as the result of their efforts about sixteen persons have been annexed to these churches. Rev. Mr. Bender, of the U. B. Church commenced a series of meeting at Showers' Corners, last Sabbath. The Churches of this place organized a Sabbath School, last Sabbath, by electing Joseph A. Jones, Supt.; Wm. Park, Asst.; Henry Shultz Sec'y.; George Haines Librarian; G. B. Monroe Treas; H. A. Haines Chorister.

BUTLER.

THE schools of Butler commenced with an attendance of one hundred and seventy pupils, Miss. Maggie Duncan, one of our most promising teachers, has charge of the Grammar School, while Mrs. Snively conducts the primary and intermediate combined.

IT is a matter of regret that Mr. C. P. Houser who has qualified himself for teaching and become so popular, should have left the profession, although a more stable employment.

THE efforts of a teacher are generally received thanklessly, and few follow the work for any number of years. This is not right, the instructor as well as the instructed, need encouragement.

IN Germany teachers are highly regarded and he is most respected, who demands most study and attention, while America passes him silently and makes him most popular who tells most and requires of pupils the least.

MOVING and removing, going out of business and entering into partnerships, selling real estate, and preparing to build, proceed rapidly, and if the citizens of Butler do not grow rich they certainly do not lack energy and perseverance.

THE Post Office has been removed from the corner store of Strauss' to the building farther South, formerly occupied by Sheldon as a drug store; the druggist having gone into the new store owned by S. Rogers. A number of families are preparing to move to other points while more than an equal number are coming to town. It is pleasant to the well-wisher of our county towns to see the evidence of growth and energy, shown by purchasers of real estate, building homes and business houses, formation of partnership, encouraging the taste for reading by the provision of a reading room supplied with many of the latest papers, periodicals and magazines, and by appreciation and substantial aid promoting the interest of the community in maintaining efficient shools for their children.

THE road leveler has been at work and the old ruts have been filled so that the streets are again in a fair condition.

TRADE in some classes of merchandise is brisk and to quite an extent without competition.

THE egg business claims a prominence hitherto unawarded. Young & Bros. took in not less than 500 dozen, one day last week What becomes of the great excess which daily find their way eastward? Few will complain, here at home, of their abundance and cheapness.

REV. BARNEY, of this place has removed to Kentucky, and Rev. Watkins intends to find another field of labor soon. A change of religious teachers evidently awaits our church goers.

FISHER BROS., have this week established a new furniture store, in the room formerly occupied by Dr. Hoopengardner as a drug store. Life insurance agents continue to do a good business and the contingencies of the future are pretty well provided for by the people of this community. This business has assumed vast proportion, it controls an immense capital and its agents are found by twos and threes.

THE votaries of field sports have resumed their favorite pastime and the game of base ball is played with the same vigor as when a novelty.

W. H. M.

SPENCERVILLE.

We made a brief visit to this place, so beautifully situated in the valley of the St. Joe, last Friday, and were pleased to notice many features of merit both in the town and vicinity. The first thing we noticed as we entered was the fine brick school house, in the west part of the town, a structure that speaks volumes for the educational enterprise of the inhabitants. It is two stories high, and rooms for the usual departments of a well regulated school.

We are glad to note that our neighbors take such a great interest in the cause of education.

In this vicinity is the large steam saw mill, of Mr. Bowman at which thousands of feet of lumber are sawed daily to meet the demand made by the citizens surrounding. The business portion of the place will compare with more pretentious places, and we were attracted by the general business air which the place put on. Our friend, Sol. Barney had a store full of country folks, supplying themselves with articles of daily consumption. Sol keeps a good stock of first class goods and does the honors with infinite politeness. We are sorry to say, however, that notwithstanding all the usual comforts and luxuries they enjoy, there is one that they do not seem to appreciate, but which forces itself upon them, to their great disgust, and that is horsethieves. These pestiferous creatures have become a burden no longer to be borne and consequently silent con- [illegible] are in vogue. We witnessed a meeting of a club called "Regulators," who have organized with a full determination to exterminate every mother's son of these encroachers upon the public peace, and from the general expression that each one wore, we can safely assert that if ever one of them chaps get into their clutches he's a goner.—That fellow in the jail, who was sent up from there, a few days ago may thank his stars he ain't in the neighborhood.

TOWN LOTS.—In the several additions that have recently been made by different individuals owning land on the outskirts of the town, but very few of the lots remain unsold, and so great is the demand that several other land holders adjoining contemplate other additions to meet the growing wants of the place. George Kuhlman, Esq., has but recently finished a plat of the twenty acres, laid out in lots, in the north-west part of town, and yet half of them are already disposed of. We were over these lots yesterday, and find them finely located in the most desirable part of the town. They lie in an elevated position on a ridge that commands a view of the whole town, and will certainly make most beautiful sites for residences. Buildings have been erected on a few of those already sold and the very best class of our citizens are rapidly taking up the remaining ones. These lots are so laid out that each one sides with either an alley or street, making it easy of egress or ingress to any part of them. This is a great advantage and adds one third to the value of the property. The lots are large, and free from obstructions, and can be purchased on easy terms, and we regard them as the most available property in the place. Those wanting to purchase a good home at reasonable rates, should apply soon. The plat can can be seen at Mr. E. Kuhlman's. who will give all information concering them.

Proceedings of Town Board.

Regular session, April 3d, 1871.

The Board of Trustees, met at the office of W. H. Dills. Present, Messrs. Hollopeter Altenburg and Lowry, Trustees. Absent J. H. Ford, President, and Albert Robbins, Clerk. Upon motion A. L. Hollopeter was chosen President pro tem, and Jno. L. Davis Clerk pro tem.

On motion Messrs. Jno. L. Davis, A. L. Hollopeter and Whedon W. Griswold, were appointed School Trustees for the term of two years.

Joseph Rainier now here presents his bill for labor on streets, 21 days at $1.50 per day $31.50. On motion the bill was allowed, and an order directed to be issued on the Treasurer for the amount.

Isaac Roth presents his bill for five dollars for labor on streets, which was allowed and the clerk directed to draw an order on the Treasurer for the amount.

On motion W. H. Dills was allowed ten dollars for office rent and services as legal adviser.

On motion Joseph Rainier was allowed twenty-five dollars for services in constructing sidewalk to Railroad Depot.

On motion the sum of fifty dollars, is here by appropriated, by the Board, for the purpose of procuring trees to ornament the Court House Square. Messrs. W. A. Lowry, Geo. Ensley and H. W. Ford were appointed a committee to procure and plant said trees.

It was ordained by the Board that a side walk shall be built on the north side of 10th street, between Jackson st. and the western limits of the western addition to said town.

Ordered by the Board that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Auburn COURIER. Adjourned.

JNO. L. DAVIS, Clerk pro tem.

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chrome lithographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lowe than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississppi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and trafic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph. Leavenworh, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, "to take the Burlington Route."

MARRIAGES.

SPOONER—FORD—On Tuesday last, April 4th, 1871, by the Rev. Mr. Ward, Dr. J. SPOONER and Miss MARY E. FORD, all of this county.

The occasion of celebrating this event was a delightful one, auguring a blissful and prosperous future for the newly wedded pair. In the midst of their joy they did not forget the COURIER establishment, as a bountious supply of luscious cake on our table fully attests. In returning our thanks we wish our excellent young Doctor and his beautiful and accomplished bride, a life long and full of the sweets of bliss and happiness, and a realization of their fondest hopes in the great battle of life.

DEETY—SMITH—On the 2d day of April, 1871, by George W. Row, Esq., JOHN DEETY to HANNAH SMITH, Both of Fairfield, DeKalb County Ind.

CHRISTOPHLE—HOOK—On Sunday, March 26, 1871, at the residence of Chas. L. Thomas, Justice of the Peace, ADAM CHRISTOPHLE to Miss. CAROLINE HOOK both of Stafford Township, DeKalb County Ind.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	128 @ 130
" Red	1.12
Oats	45
Rye	1.00
Corn	50
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	15@20
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	03c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

TARIFF OFF!

Owing to the fact that Congress has

Reduced the Tariff

ON

Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc,

The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at

SMITH & HARE'S.

As we do business only on the

Cash System

We are enabled to sell

GROCERIES

AND

PROVISIONS

LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,

Cheaper than any other house in the county.

All we ask is to give us a trial.

SMITH & HARE.

Corner Main and 7th St's. Feb., 9, 1871. 1y.

Huestis & Hamilton

WHOLESALE

GROCERS

NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

March 9, '71.

ATTENTION!

Special Notice.

I hereby notify all those knowing themselves indebted to me by note or book account, to call and

SETTLE UP IMMEDIATELY!

It is expected that all will attend to this matter without delay, and save trouble and Costs.

J. H. F. HOLLINGER,

Feb. 23, '70.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DOORS, BLINDS,

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Balusters & Brackets

North of the Canal,

West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

For

Fresh and Fine Family

Groceries and

Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

AND SUGAR,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES,

AND BE CONVINCED THAT

BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH

IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

F. E. Davenport,

DEALER IN

Drugs & Medicines

School Books, Stationery,

WALL PAPER,

FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.

BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.

TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.

Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.

Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.

Prescriptions carefully Compounded. 1y

ALL PERSONS

Being afflicted with disease of the Eye, Ear, Nose, mouth, throat, Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arrising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint, Should apply in person or by letter to Dr. B. GARD. Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 666, Fort Wayne Ind Jan 3 tf

NORTHERN INDI'A.

HEADQUARTERS FOR

BOOTS & SHOES!

WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT

Wholesale and Retail!

BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES

DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.

WE KEEP ALL THE

LATEST STYLES in the MARKET

OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We

Buy First-Class Goods!

and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We

Are the Only House

In the City who make it a business to manufacture

MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'

Home Made Boots!

GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF

BOOTS & SHOES

Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST., FORT WAYNE INDIANA.

MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

Now is the Time to Subscribe.

This is the Paper for the Ladies.

Great Inducements Offered

Every Subscriber Receives a Valuable Gift worth from 50 cents to $100.

This is no Lottery!

Woodburn's Journal

A SIXTEEN PAGE PAPER.

HANSOMELY ILLUSTRATED.

FULL OF GOOD STORIES.

ONLY $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

EVERY ONE HUNDREDTH SUBSCRIBER RECEIVES $100 IN GREENBACKS.

We have already received over 15,00 subscribers for this valuable illustrated story paper, and every one has received valuable prizes, ranging from 50 cents upward. We are receiving from fifty to one hundred subscribers daily.

Get up Clubs for the JOURNAL.

CLUB RATES.

Single subscribers - - - - - $1 00
Every ten subscribers - - - - - [illegible]
Every twenty subscribers - - - - - 30

The prizes are sent as soon as you subscribe. The following is a list of the largest prizes: Ten gifts of one hundred dollars each, in green backs, twenty gifts of fifty dollars each; organs sewing machines, 200 gold and silver watches, gold guard and vest chains, solid and double-plated silver-ware photograph albums, jewelry, &c.

We will send you a full list of prizes when you become a subscriber to our valuable paper.

Address, J. WOODBURN & Co., Lock Box 40 Bellefontaine, Ohio.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries,

Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expect to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. H. McINTOSH

O. T. CLARK & CO.,

WATERLOO, INDIANA,

Have on exhibition a large line of

Black and Colored Alpacas.

OUR BRAND THE

Queen's Own,

We claim in point of Brilliancy, Shade, Weight, Quality and Price are Superior to any in Market, being of one Uniform make, and the Heaviest imported, and especially suited to the Winter Trade.

We invite an examination of our Fall stock of

Dress Goods, Tapestry Brussels, Sheeting,
Silk Warp, Ext. Sup. Ingrains, Cotton Yarn,
Lyons Poplins, Kidder, Carpet Warp
Silks, Hemp, Batting,
Shawls, Cotton, Tickings,
Brilliantine, Carpets, Bags,

A full line, one yard wide domestic

Flannel

Shirting, Red, White and Pressed

which we offer to the Fall trade, cheap for cash or ready pay.

Waterloo, Ind., Oct. 22, 1870. 2-44

Come and See Me!

Having been in the Boot & Shoe busines here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots & Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

—OF—

BUTLER, INDIANA

Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of

HARD WARE!

Ever brought to this county—among which may be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

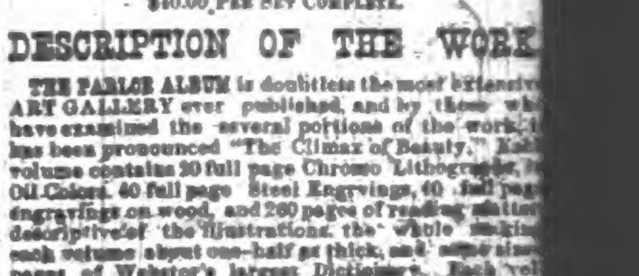
Chains and Belting

Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.

GEO. HENSLER.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND



SALE STABLE

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.

March 4, '71.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or

$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same size pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 8 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 25 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, we we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of [illegible] cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address.

American Publishing Co.

RUTLAND VT.

THE AUBURN COURIER,
Published Every Thursday,
T. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

[illegible]
Six months........ 1.00
Three months........ .50

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

VOL. I. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1871. NO. 15.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

1 Square....	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 Squares...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
3 Squares...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
4 Squares...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
¼ Column...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ Column...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
1 Column...	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Ten lines of Nonpariel to constitute a Square.

Business Cards, $5 per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each additional insertion.

JOHN W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 3-30

D. D. MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office over J. Abright's Jewelry Store, corner of Main and Eighth streets, in front of the Court House. 3-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR

Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,

No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-26

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. THOS. D. GROSS, C. P.
JNO. W. RICKEL, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
C. WYLAND, N. G.
S. L. YANDES, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. BUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind.

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON and ACCOUCHEUR. At your service professionally. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office and residence, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

The Trick of a Yankee Blacksmith.

A Connecticut paper has this story: Some time ago a gawky-looking individual entered a blacksmith shop in a country town in this State and applied for a job in a voice in perfect keeping with the stupidity of his physiognomy. His awkward, ungainly and uncouth personal appearance impressed the smithies with the idea that they saw before them an object of prospective merriment. So they quizzingly asked him if he could do all sorts of forging. Upon his answering affirmatively, the "boss," winking at the workmen, handed him a bar of cast-iron, and told him to try his hand at forging some horse shoes. The greeny, in his persevering efforts to make the treacherous metal stick, afforded much amusement to the other smiths.

When dinner-time came, the greenhorn had not made much headway towards constructing a shoe, but he kept at work until the last man had gone to dinner, then suddenly dropping the bar of cast-iron, he made directly for one of the other forges and selected the best pair of tongs he could find, and in an incredibly short space of time, he had converted the jaws of the tongs into a perfect horse shoe. Then he slipped along to the next forge and repeated the trick, and thus he left his compliments to the three forges. When the blacksmith and his "jours" returned from dinner, they found the verdant looking fellow astride of an anvil, with a mournful, disconsolate, woe-begone countenance comical to behold. He was greeted with a boisterous shout of laughter, coupled with the inquiry:

"How do you get along making horse shoes? Ain't sorry you learnt the trade, are you?"

The object of their jest replied:

"I've got along purty well; I've knocked out three shoes, all 'cept cutting off the spurs." Then he held the tongs, or, rather, what were once tongs, before their astonished gaze. As the idea dawned on the minds of the disciples of Vulcan their lengthened and ludicrous visages were interesting to behold. Like the profane man, who, when the "hind-board" of his cart came out as he was driving up hill with a load of apples and scattered his cargo along the road, so it was with them—swearing couldn't do justice to their feelings. It turned out that the verdant looking chap was "boss blacksmith" in a New Haven shop, and was considered one of the best workmen in the country.

For Dyspepsia.

Indigestion, depression of spirits, and general debility in their various forms; also, as a preventive against fever and ague, and other intermittent fevers, the "Ferro-Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya," made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic, and as a tonic for patients recovering from fever or other sickness, it has no equal.

An Ember-Picture.

BY JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL.

How strange are the freaks of memory!
  The lessons of life we forget,
While a trifle, a trick of color,
  In the wonderful web is set—

Set by same mordant of fancy,
  And, despite the wear and tear
Of time and distance or trouble,
  Insists on its right to be there.

A chance had brought us together;
  Our talk was of matters of course;
We were nothing, one to the other,
  But a short half hour's resource.

We spoke of French acting and actors,
  And their easy natural way—
Of the weather, for it was raining,
  As we drove home from the play.

We debated the social nothings
  Men take such pains to discuss;
The thunderous rumors of battle
  Were silent the while for us.

Arrived at her door, we left her
  With drippingly hurried adieu,
And our wheels went crunching the gravel
  Of the oak-darkened avenue.

As we drove through the shadow
  The candle she held in the door,
From rain-varnished tree-trunk to tree-trunk,
  Flashed fainter, and flashed no more—

Flashed fainter and wholly faded
  Before we had passed the wood;
But the light of the face behind it
  Went with me and stayed for good.

The vision of scarce a moment,
  And hardly marked at the time,
It comes unbidden to haunt me,
  Like a scrap of ballad-rhyme.

Had she beauty? Well, not what they call so;
  You may find a thousand as fair,
And yet there's her face in my memory,
  With no special right to be there.

As I sit sometimes in the twilight,
  And call back to life in the coals,
Old faces and hopes and fancies
  Long buried—good rest to their souls—

Her face shines out in the embers;
  I see her holding the light,
And hear the crunch of the gravel
  And the sweep of the rain that night.

'Tis a face that can never grow older,
  That never can part with its gleam;
'Tis a gracious possession forever,
  For what is it all but a dream?
—Atlantic Monthly.

THE UNFASHIONABLE FURS.

A Story with a Moral.

"Now, father, I'll thank you for that five hundred dollars; you promised to give it to me this morning."

"Yes, child, but I have not so much here now; ride down to my office at twelve, and you shall have the money. I expect some tenants to pay their quarter's rent to-day, and I can make up the sum for you by that time."

"Five hundred, and not a dollar less—and you may as well say six hundred," said the gay, laughing girl. She knew her father's fond indulgence.

"Oh! extravagant!" exclaimed he. But whatever of reproof the remark implied, it was completely nullified by the caress given at the same time.

"Five hundred dollars too much for a set of furs! No, indeed. Why, Clara Morgan's cost eight hundred, and mother thinks these she selected for me very cheap."

The man of business smiled upon his darling daughter, then left his elegant and comfortable home for the cheerless office in Wall street. At noon, Alice was there too. Springing lightly from the carriage, she tripped up stairs, and was at Mr. Durand's desk just as a young female turned to go out. Having received the six hundred dollars, Alice left immediately, and was soon seen at Smith's Bazar, chatting gaily with a young friend whom she met there. Both were looking at the handsome cape and muff which Mrs. Durand had fixed upon the day before. They were beautiful indeed, and the young ladies, having exhausted the usual vocabulary in praising them, turned to look at others. Just then a hollow, suppressed cough close by her caused Alice to turn, as a young girl passed on her way to the sewing room. Thither, too, a few moments after, she went also, to see if a dress she had making there was finished. The superintendent of work had it in her hand, and was reprimanding some one for coming so late.

"I am sorry to disappoint you, Miss Durand," she said, seeing that young lady approach; "but Jane Lester, who is embroidering your dress, did not get here until just now, and it is not yet finished." Then turning, she said: "Here, Jane, you must work fast, and make up for lost time."

As the girl took the garment she coughed again. Oh, that dismal sound! It touched the heart of Alice; for she recognized in Jane Lester the one that passed her in the office and show room. She looked at her a moment and thought, 'It is by the labor of such as she that my father's rents are paid, and I obtain the money to lavish on costly clothes.' She went up to the girl, who by this time was diligently at work, and said in a kind, low tone:

"Don't hurry at all; I am not the least in need of the dress."

"Thank you, m'am, but I will soon have it done. If I am not at work on this, it will be on something else."

"But why do you work at all? With that cough you ought not to come out in such weather as this."

"What would become of us—of father, I mean, and the children—if I were idle?"

"Do you have to support them?" asked Alice, with eager curiosity.

"Not when father is well, but he has been sick all winter, and I paid out the last of his earning this morning; so I must try and earn more than ever." Again that cough!

"Well, if that is the case you must consult a doctor, and do something for yourself, or you will be unable ro work at all."

Jane shook her head sadly. "No, indeed; we cannot afford a doctor for father, and I couldn't think of such a thing for myself."

There was a moment's pause, then Alice spoke. "Give me your address, and I will see a kind physician who will not charge you anything; but he must prescribe for both, and you must follow his directions."

"Never mind me, Miss; I'm not so bad as you think, and will be better in a little while. I cough more than usual this morning, from having walked so fast."

Miss Durand returned to the store more thoughtful than when she entered it. She did not go near the five hundred dollar furs, but took a set at one-half the price, and departed, leaving her friend and clerk astonished at her sudden change of taste.

Great was the indignation of her fashionable mother when she learned the result of her daughter's shopping.

"Why, that's not the set I chose!" said she, when the boxes were opened.

"I know it, mother, but then I preferred these."

"You have a strange taste, I must confess. Anybody can get stone-martin."

"Then I shall be a la mode," replied the daughter with a smile.

"Yes, with the vulgar herd," said the lady scornfully.

"These are pretty, equally comfortable, and did not cost near as much as the sable," answered Alice in extenuation. But her mother was not to be mollified.

"What have you to do with the cost? Didn't your father give you enough today for the other?"

"Yes, mamma, and more too."

"How Clara Morgan will laugh when she sees those old-fashioned things; and well she may."

"I care not for that; I shall enjoy mine none the less for seeing her with more costly ones."

To avoid further remonstrances Alice retired to the library, and addressed a note to Dr. Weston, the family physician. She begged him to call that evening at No. 14 Ann street, and prescribe for the two inviduals there. Enclosed was a hundred bill, from which she wished him to deduct his fee, and appropriate the remainder to the necessaries of the family.

There was also a request for him to keep the matter a secret. He understood and appreciated this, for more than once he had been the almoner of Miss Durand's bounty, and he would not abuse her confidence.

A few days after the dress came home. It was neatly made, and beautifully embroidered. As Alice examined the graceful design and elaborate needlework, she thought of the trembling fingers that wrought it.

Yielding to the impulse of her heart, she set out immediately for the residence of Mr. Lester. Something told her that she would find Jane at home; and sure enough, she had become so much worse that it was impossible for her to leave the house, yet she was trying to sew, that the family might not starve. The doctor had found Jane and her father exceedingly ill; but as they were in a comfortable house, barely furnished with necessaries it is true, for not a superfluous article was there, he feared to wound their pride by offering more than his professional services. It is needless to say he returned the money sent by Alice on the first opportunity. Alice, to whom the contrast between her own luxurious home and the cheerless apartment she was in, suggested real poverty, while the feeble efforts of Jane to continue to work confirmed that something more was needed.

"This, surely, is disobedience to the doctor's orders," she said, gently taking the work from the invalid.

"Now you must not plead necessity," she continued, "for here is a reply in advance to that argument," and she slipped her purse into Jane's trembling hand.

No words of thanks fell from the poor girl's quivering lips for the generous aid so delicately given; but her glistening eyes and silent pressure of the hand that bestowed it told her gratitude.

Many visits after this did the child of luxury and wealth make to the sick girl, whom neither her loving care nor physician's skill could save. Gradually she paled away, very gradually her strength failed, but her heart grew stronger all the while—strong to endure the sundering of sweet ties that bound her to the earth—strong to meet the terrors of death so near. Her father was recovering, so the meek daughter was resigned, since the little ones would have him to provide for them.

Alice was returning home from visiting the Lester family one day, and had just emerged from a cross street into Broadway, when a gaily decorated sleigh passed, filled with ladies and gentlemen of her acquaintance. She did not observe them, Clara Morgan caught sight of her, and said to a young man at her side:

"Well, if there isn't Alice Durand coming out of Ann street, and on foot, too! What in the world can she be doing there?"

"Not visiting any of her friends, I imagine," said Mr. Benton.

"There is no knowing; she takes very curious freaks sometimes. Only think of her purchasing a cheap set of furs, when to my certain knowledge her mother wanted her to have some like mine."

"She certainly could afford the most fashionable and expensive."

"Of course; and that's what makes it appear so strange."

It seemed somewhat strange to George Benton too, for he had heard the circumstance of the purchase from his sister, who was with Alice at the time; but still he believed that she must have a good motive for the act—Miss Durand did not act unreasonably. So thought he, "She has been to see some poor one in Ann street where only poor families live—that is fact number two," and he began to make deductions, yet reserved the final inference to be drawn from further premises. Fact number three was furnished not long after. It was in this wise. He was at a large party, and searching through the crowded rooms for Alice, whom he presumed to be there, his attention was arrested by the conversation of two young ladies.

"How provoking! That's always the way with these needle women; they think nothing of disappointing us. I would never employ her again if I were you."

"Nor shall I. Jane Lester has done her last work for me," said the speaker, no other than Clara Morgan.

"Yes, Miss Lester has done her last work of that kind. Your are quite right, Miss Clara."

They both started; it was Dr. Weston who spoke. He had heard their heartless remarks, and there was unusual seriousness in his tone.

"Why, what do you know of her?" asked one of them.

"That she is very ill, and will not recover. Indeed, I think she would have been in her grave before now, but for the kindest of care."

"I am glad she is so fortunate," said Miss Morgan, with a sense of relief. "It is not every one in her situation that can afford a good nurse."

"Nor could she but for the goodness of one in similar circumstances to yours."

"Indeed! but you do not mean that any one of our circle is exercising such uncalled for condescension?"

"I do mean that there is one young lady of my acquaintance, of 'our circle,' that can both devise and perform generous deeds, however lowly the object."

"Of whom are you speaking, doctor?" now inquired Mr. Benton, who had been an observant listener.

"I must mention no names," replied Dr. Weston, with a smile. "She would not thank me for making known her private charities."

"Yet you have actually done it," said one of the young ladies.

"I have commended the actions without giving to the actor the notoriety she would shun; and, let me add, my dear girls, her conduct is worthy of imitation."

"It is plain to be seen some one is to be canonized as a saint, or sister of mercy, to say the least," said Clara, as the doctor passed on.

"It must be Alice," mused George Benton; "I know of no other to whom Dr. Weston's words can apply, and I half suspect it is some charitable mission that keeps her from here to-night."

It was a spring morning in April that Jane Lester's couch had been drawn to the window, that she might share in the sweet influences of that glorious morning. She lay there, calmly thinking of the present and the future, when Alice Durand entered the room.

To her kind inquiries how she had passed the night, and how she felt this morning, Jane replied,

"Oh, comfortably, quite comfortably; much pain, but patience to bear it; little sleep, but many pleasant thoughts."

"I have brought you some of the first spring flowers from our garden; are they not beautiful?"

"They are, indeed. I thank you for them, and oh! how much for the flowers of peace and hope with which your kindness has cheered my pathway."

"Think not of that, dear girl," said Alice with much feeling; "I have been far happier for the little I have done than it could possibly render you."

"I will tax your kindness with but one more request; it is, that your ather will permit us to remain in this house until I am gone. You know, that next week we should move, as father must take a smaller building now."

"That is all arranged; he will not move at all, but stay here free of rent; and I will come sometimes to see the children. They shall not want."

"God bless you—he will bless you. But they will not be long dependent on your charity; as soon as my father is able—"

"Call it not charity; it is only help which the stronger should give the weaker in time of need."

A look of grateful satisfaction overspread Jane's pale face. She clasped her hands, closed her eyes a moment, as if in silent prayer, then whispered, 'Now, will you read to me?'

Alice had already taken from her pocket the little Bible whose precious contents had long been the sewing girl's solace, and which she had requested Miss Durand to keep as a memorial of her.

"Is there any particular chapter you would like to hear?" she asked.

"This morning reminds me of the Resurrection; read, if you please, the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians."

Alice complied, and while she was reading that sublime doctrine of a future life, Mr. Lester and children had quietly entered the room. When she came to the words, 'O death, where is thy sting! O grave, where is thy victory,' the dying gire repeated after her those exulting words with such an energy as to cause all to turn their attention to her. And lo! with that triumphant exclamation on her lips, the breath left her mortal body! Her freed spirit had "put on immortality."

The first of May came. Jane Lester's father and bereaved sisters remained in the same dwelling; she whose only anxiety had been for them, was removed to her heavenly mansion.

Her last days on earth had been rendered comfortable and happy, by her whose still active and self-denying benevolence continued to relieve the sufferings of many who yet remained in our midst—to impress, as it were, the hearts of those who have means, with the God-given truth, that "It is more blessed to give than receive."

Reading and Study.—There is such a thing as reading too much. If you would grow, mentally, you must study. Says a recent writer, speaking on this subject:

"Perhaps no people in the world read so much as the American people do; but what is the character of the literature they read? The details of criminal trials and gross licentiousness, 'sensational' and exciting news, extravagant stories and romances; and the incidents of prize fights, base-ball games, and firemen's riots, are read with avidity, but literature of a high order is neglected, and the most profound treatises upon scientific, artistic, moral, and useful subjects are allowed to grow dusty on the shelves of libraries and book stores. Every sailor may learn navigation; every carpenter and mason may become an architect; and every machinist a civil engineer; but the number who have mental energy, and determination to strive to learn, is comparatively small. The fault is mainly in their early training, which has failed to develop a taste for learning, industrious habits, and a manly ambition to gain the respect and confidence of the community by persevering efforts to improve in things of real value."

An Orator Taken In.—Mr. Thomas Gill, the veteran newspaper reporter, who died in Boston a week or two ago, in his lifetime was very fond of a joke, and possessed a keen sense of humor. The Washington Chronicle gives an amusing instance of his drollery. The Hon. Robert Rantoul, Jr., was delivering to an immense audience an oration at a celebration on Bunker Hill, in the course of which he described, with great pathos and effect, the famous battle which had occurred on the very spot where they were assembled. As he resumed his seat, Gill, who was seated near him, carelessly remarked, "My father was in that battle." Rantoul immediately sprang to his feet and announced this fact, whereupon there were vehement calls from the crowd for the son of the Revolutionary hero. Mr. Gill modestly rose, and, after acknowledging the vociferous cheers which greeted him, quietly informed his hearers that it was true his father was in the battle of Bunker Hill, but—he was fighting on the other side!" The scene that followed beggared description. Mr. Gill was an Englishman by birth, and one of the first professional reporters who came to America.

Veterinary Surgeons all over the country are reccommending Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the following trouble in horses:—Loss of appetite, roughness of the hair, stoppage of bowels or water, thick water, coughs and colds, swelling of the glands, worms, horse ail, thick wind, and heaves.

A Prudent man is like a pin; his head prevents him from going too far.

Wit and Wisdom.

"Miss, will you take my arm?" asked an old bachelor. "La! yes, and you, too," said the young lady. "Can't only spare the arm, Miss," hastily replied the bachelor. "Then," said Miss, "I can't take it, as my motto is to go the whole hog, or none at all."

Mrs. Partington being in doubt as to whether it was a caterpillar or a capillery attraction young Mr. Jones talked about so wonderfully, consulted "Walker," and concluded it didn't matter which it was, as capillary meant resembling hairs, and she knew catterpillars were hairy and have an attraction to leaves.

"Papa, ought a teacher to flog me for what I didn't do?"

"Certainly not, my boy," replied the father.

"Well," said the little fellow, "he did to-day, when I didn't do my sum."

Nurse. "I cannot allow butter and jam, too, on your bread, Master Alfred. It is very extravagant."

Master Alfred. "It can be extravagant, Mary, if the same piece of bread does for both."

The father of Dorabella recently found that little girl's chubby little hands full of the blossoms of a beautiful rose tree, on which he had bestowed great care. "My dear," said he, "didn't I tell you not to pick one of those flowers without leave?" "Yes, papa," said Dorabella," but all these had leaves."

An artist, showing his pictures to a customer, received the following short retort: "Well, I don't think much of this," holding up the picture before him. "Don't think much of it? Why, that's a very rare print—a very rare print, indeed sir!" "Rare? I've no doubt it is rare—it certainly is not well done."

An ingenious wife in Des Moines cured her husband of snoring thus:—She had a guttapercha tube, with two cup shaped ends; one she put over his nose and mouth, and the other over his ear. He consumed his own noise as a stove does its smoke, and woke up instanter.

Our little four year old remarked to her mamma on going to bed, "I am not afraid of the dark."

"No, of course you are not," replied her mamma, "for it can't hurt you."

"But, mamma, I was a little afraid once, when I went in the pantry in the dark to get a cookey."

"What were you afraid of?" asked her mamma.

"I was afraid I couldn't find the cookies."

Beer or Bricks.—There is a way of putting things that is very forcible and convincing. Here is a good instance. Mr. Taylor, of Birmingham, Eng., the founder of freehold land societies, in an address to workingmen said:

"I persuade a man to keep sober. I tell him that, with every quart, he consumes twenty-five bricks. I show him how, in the course of two years, at one quart a day, he swallows as many bricks as would make a nice cottage. My old grandfather died when nearly a hundred years old. He lived in one house nearly eighty years, and at the time of his death he had not so much as a brick or a chimney-pot, although he had paid rent all his life. Now, had he belonged to a building society, his grandson might have been better off than he is. I have said that a quart of ale is equal to twenty-five bricks, and a paper of tobacco is the mortar to lay them with. There they are, the twenty-five bricks and the mortar, going from many a man's pocket over the public-house counter every day. Such men will never be freeholders. In Birmingham we have bought freehold land at the rate of 1s. 1d. per yard—two quarts of ale and a paper of tobacco exactly! I remember, some time ago, telling the coal-heavers and the limestone quarrymen, in a meeting at Dudley, that every quart of ale was equal to half-a-yard of freehold land. One man got up at the far end of the room and said: 'What is that you say, mister?' I replied: 'Why, my dear fellow, with every quart of ale you drink you swallow half-a-yard of land.' 'Well then,' said he, 'I have swallowed many a field in my time.'"

A New Disease Among Horses.—We find the following in Coleman's Rural World:

Our attention has been called to a new disease that has broken out quite extensively among horses in this city and vicinity. Its indications are a small eschar on the heel about the size of a five-cent piece. It sits into the foot much like a sit-fast. There is but little inflammation, pain or lameness. The tissue decays with great rapidity, so much so that the diseased surface will be three inches in diameter and one or two inches deep in forty-eight hours. The hoof will slough off and the entire foot will ultimately drop away.

Scores of horses and mules have been affected by the disease.

Its nature and origin was for some time unknown; but careful microscopic observation demonstrates its origin to be parasites. They seem somewhat allied to Trichina, and may be introduced to the tissue by the manure, as it is always the heels that are affected.

Diluted carbolic acid has been used with great success. We present this matter to our readers, so as to put them on their guard, and it will be well to have carbolic acid at hand, it is easy and safe in its application and not apt to injure if not used too strong. A drachm of acid to a pint of pure water, will be about the right strength.

Gold in California Not Exhausted.—For some years the public have been gradually familiarized with the idea that the gold yield of California was likely to become less and less, so that in a generation or so the ore would be exhausted. The splendid productiveness of California in other things besides the precious metals was, fairly enough, counted upon as a compensation for this. But if the gold is really going to "give out," there are few signs of it at present. So far, at least, as the deposits of the San Francisco Branch Mint are an evidence, the yield is actually and largely increasing. These deposits for the first eight months of 1870 have been: Of gold, 719,211 ounces, against 532,686 ounces in 1868, and 398,031 ounces in 1867. The silver deposits in the same time have been 209,104 ounces, against 99,661 ounces for last year. This is inverting the usual experience of auriferous districts in favor of a State which must certainly, in material prospects, be considered the most fortunate in the world.

Death will stop all income; provide for the change by insuring in The Mutual Life Insurance Company of Chicago.

The San Domingo Message.

From the Chicago Times.

From the Uriah Heep like tone of Grant's message on the projected San Domingo swindle, it might be inferred that he had never attempted to play the bully. He speaks differently now than he did at the time he ordered Chandler, and Morton, and the Jacobins in the Senate who were obedient to the bidding of those two worthies, to strike down Sumner, and make proclamation that the social relations of Senators with the President would determine the formation of Senate Committees. "I am unable," sounds strangely from the mouth of the President, who a few short weeks ago played the bully, and was insolent because he supposed himself to be strong.

No public man in this country has ever made a more humiliating retreat, or prostrated himself in greater self-abasement before his adversaries, than Grant, in his message to the Senate on Wednesday. Why is it that he is now so deferential toward the wishes of the people? When he began the war on Sumner, he said, and the men in Congress "wearing the San Domingo collar" echoed his statement, that annexation was an administration measure, and that those opposing it, whether in Congress or not, were opposing the administration. He assumed that it was the duty of the Republican party to sustain the Administration, and commenced in earnest upon the task of driving Sumner, Schurz, and other Republican Senators, who would not take his yoke upon themselves out of the party.

Now he says he will have nothing more to do with the scheme for annexation, and will entertain "no personal solicitude upon the subject." If the acquisition of the island is a matter of such grave national concern as his course on the question would indicate, it is his duty to employ all honorable means to carry the measure. He not only gives notice that he washes his hands of it, but takes care to assure the Senate that he now cares nothing about it.

It seemed of so much consequence to him a few weeks ago that he was willing to run the risk of dividing the Republican party on the question. We have had several men-of-war cruising about Samana for two years past; have menaced Hayti with war if she presumed to meddle with San Domingo; have fitted out the Tennessee at great expense, and sent her off with a Commission on board to examine and report; have had heated discussions in Congress and in the public press; and the question has been made one of more prominence than any other the Administration has taken upon itself to engineer, and now it is the evident desire of Grant that it should be quietly suffered to die.

When the Commission was ordered, there was great haste to get the Tennessee ready for sea and send her off, so that an examination might be made and a report laid before Congress during the present session. The Senators "wearing the San Domingo collar" said they intended to hold the Senate together until the reception of the report. The President now tells Congress that he does not wish any action on the subject during the present session. Postponement is death to annexation, and he advises postponement.

Even should delay and discussion not increase the hostility to annexation in this country, what may not transpire to defeat the project in San Domingo and elsewhere? There are only a hundred and fifty thousand negroes on the island, and, if we may credit what Grant has said, the eyes of the world are on the Dominicans, and all nations are ready to "gobble" them. Spain wants them; Bismarck wants them; Hayti is hungry for them; Cabral intends to establish himself as ruler over them; and Baez, unsupported by the United States, must go down. So the Commissioners say.

Is there not danger in delay? In the course of a year, surrounded by such adverse influences, may not San Domingo slip from our grasp? Yet Grant says he feels no "personal solicitude" about the matter.

This is a strange statement to make. There is that rich island, with its 22,000 square miles of territory and its 150,000 of amiable and intelligent "niggers," with mines of iron, copper, salt and gold, twenty different varieties of tropical fruits, pine, oak and mahogany trees, long and short grasses, uplands and lowlands, dry lands and wet lands, short rivers and large bays, and offering, around Samana, the best opening for real estate speculations of any now before the public, and the President not only says he feels no solicitude about the question, but advises action, or rather non-action, by which the island will be lost to us.

How shall we account for this indifference? Grant, in his message, says he is honest, and has been honest all the time, in dealing with the San Domingo scheme. Grant, in his message, says, in an indirect way, that he is a patriot and a true American. Can a patriot feel indifferent when such vast advantages are offered to his country as are above enumerated, and there is good reason to fear they may be lost?

Enlarging the Army in Order to Renominate Grant.

While a good many people will be ready to assert that Gen. Butler is neither a wise statesman nor a cautious politician, few will deny that he carries a clear head on his shoulders and usually speaks his mind with freedom. He therefore distinctly sees what General Grant is after in the Ku-Klux bill which he is urging upon Congress, and what is necessary to give effect to its provisions; and, if we are to credit the Tribune, General Butler is prepared to make an effort to so amend the measure as to afford the President ample means for exercising the tremendous power which this unprecedented bill confers upon him.

According to the Tribune, Gen. Butler thinks "that such portion of the regular army as could be spared from duty in the Indian country would be too small to be of much service in enforcing the provisions of the bill." In this opinion Butler is certainly correct. If we are to have an armed force in every county and considerable town in the South, where some carpet-bagger or nervous negro can be found to report to Gen. Grant that there now exists or is likely to occur a breach of the peace, then our present army is not half large enough. If, whenever an assault and battery breaks out in that section of the Union between the white man and a colored man, with a show of pistols on either side; or wherever there is a small row in a liquor saloon in which a carpet-bagger gets the worst of it; or a set of thieves, disguised in long white robes, get up a midnight raid to steal horses snd frighten the colored element; we say if all portions of the South where such scenes occur are to be put under martial law, and the President is, according to this bill, to employ the land and naval forces to execute his decrees, and arrest and bring to prison and to trial all those whom he wishes to get out of the way, then it is undeniable that those forces, and especially the army, must be very largely increased.

Apparently believing that Gen. Grant is right in declaring that a new rebellion has broken out at the South, Gen. Butler is for putting into immediate operation the martial machinery whereby we crushed the old rebellion, by so amending the pending bill as to authorize Gen. Grant "to call out and organize such number of the volunteers who served in the late war as he may deem necessary for such purpose, according to the provisions of the act of July 22, 1861." If this is really the intention of Gen. Butler, then he is apparently bent upon supporting Gen. Grant in his purpose, under the pretext of putting down a rebellion which exists only in his proclamation, to get control of the Southern States so that he may compel the Republican party therein to send delegates to the National Convention who are in favor of his renomination to the Presidency.

So much for the intents of Grant and Butler. That this Ku-Klux legislation will finish Grant nobody can see more plainly than Butler. How much Butler would mourn over such a result is not so clear; and whether he would prove nimble enough to avoid the recoil of the gun which he helped to load, must remain an unsolved problem until the killed and wounded are picked up.

But is the country ready to enter upon this "dance of blood?" And how will Mr. Boutwell's funding scheme prosper with the necessity of raising and maintaining an addition to the army of twenty thousand new troops.—N. Y. Sun.

Diseases and their Remedies.

We find the following in the American Stock Journal:

Bots or Colic in Horses.—Fill an ordinary junk bottle half full of molasses; then fill with sweet milk; shake well, and drench; follow the above, in about an hour, with a bottle of strong sage tea, made of our ordinary garden sage; next day give the horse a feed of rough rice, and the next day the dead bots will come out with the rice. My theory is that, the milk and molasses being sweeter than blood, the bots turn loose to eat it. The sage tea will kill them, and it is the only thing I ever heard of that will do it, without injury to the horse. The rice will cut out the dead bots better than salts; in fact, if you will give horses a feed of rough rice every two weeks, I do not think there is the least danger from bots; at least, such is my experience. As proof of what I have written, get two sage leaves, dip them in hot water, lay one down, put a lively bot on it, then cover him with the other, and he will die instantly. Sage tea I have also found very beneficial in colic, and is perfectly harmless, if it does no good.

Abortion in Cows.—Arrest of the nutrition of the fœtus from weakness or low feeding on the part of the cow, or from the occurrence of a state of fever or inflammation, which checks the secretion for the nourishment of the calf, as it does all others in the body, sometimes causes premature expulsion of the progeny. Bad odors have proved equally noxious. Thus, a few years ago, abortion was banished from a farm in this county by draining a pool of liquid manure. The draining of wet or marshy lands, and the removal of stagnant pools containing decomposed organic matter, from which the cows were accustomed to drink, have equally put a stop to it. Some cases have been traced to the fœtid discharges from unhealthy wounds, and others to the close, stifling air of the cow-house, loaded with putrid emanations from the lungs, skin, dung and urine of the cows. Remove the cause, and the cows will cease to abort.

Murrain in Cattle.—Common smartweed, prepared as follows: Take what can be pressed with the hand into a common pail or bucket; put this to one or one-half bucket of water; boil briskly one hour; strain clear. Take a syringe holding one and a half gallons, and inject into the bowels, blood-warm, by the rectum. With me this is a certain cure, and seldom more than one injection is required. My syringe is of tin, and, with the follower, cost $2.50.

Hog Cholera.—Dissolve thoroughly one pound of copperas in three gallons of warm water, and apply the wash about milk warm to the affected animal, by dipping into the solution or rubbing upon it until the skin is thoroughly wet. Whenever the skin of hog begins to look rough and scaly or of a dark red color, apply the wash immediately. Don't wait until the more alarming symptoms (vomiting and purging) set in. Apply the wash every day until the scales are removed.

Black Teeth in Hogs.—Black teeth in hogs' jaws seems to be diseased or partially rotten, and to act in some way or other, just as injurious upon the hog's appetite and health, as the toothache does upon the human body. Whether the black teeth in a hog's jaw, ache and render him feverish and fretful, and disposed to lose his appetite and his flesh, and get poor and stay poor, I am not prepared to say, but as toothache has a strong tendency to produce this result in man, it is fair to presume that such teeth in hogs will ache and produce the same effect in the case of hogs and other domestic animals that they do in man. We would advise you to remove them. This is the best, and perhaps the only cure for the black tooth disease in hogs. And it surely is not any more "cruel" to have such teeth extracted from or knocked out of a hog's jaw, than it is to have our own or children's rotten and aching teeth pulled out of our or their heads by a regular dentist, or by any other person who can do it for us.

Coughs and Colds are often overlooked. A continuance for any length of time causes irritation of the Lungs or some chronic Throat Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are offered with the fullest confidence in their efficacy, giving almost invariably sure and immediate relief.

Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered, which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true "Brown's Bronichal Troches." Sold everywhere.

Small faults indulged are little thieves that let in greater.

The Trailing Arbutus.

Oh! lovely bud of earliest spring,
Thou precious, fragrant, tiny thing,
  Of rare and modest worth!
Hidden beneath the dark brown leaves,
Their dusky mantle scarce conceals
  The flower of humble birth.

Where winter snows had lingered long,
And days were cold and winds were strong
  I've sought the hillside steep,
Where spruce and laurel love to grow,
Wearied but hopeful, for I know
  My favorite's safe retreat.

Gem of the forest! How can I
Set forth thy charms to passers-by
  Who idly wander on,
Unmindful that in deep repose,
A blossom sweeter than the rose,
  It's perfume sheds alone.

Oh! seek not 'mid the giddy throng,
That dazzles as it moves along,
  For her whose virtues claim
The sweet reward of charming most,
The chosen few, whose hearts can trust
  The child unknown to fame.

Sylvia's Song.

The days are sweet and long,—Oh, sweet and long,
All day I sit and dream, or sing the song
That some one sang for me one summer day,—
For me, to me, before he went his way.

The days are sweet and long,—Oh, sweet and long;
And in the sun I sit, and sing my song:
Some day he will come back who went away,
And sing the song I sing from day to day.

The days are long, but sweet,—Oh, long, but sweet;
Some day I'll hear the music of his feet
Who sang for me, and sang my heart away,—
My happy heart,—before he went his way.

Some day,—to-day, perhaps,—he'll come to me,
And then the days, so long, but sweet to me,
Will lose the burden of "So long, so long!"
And only keep the sweet of all the song.
—Nora Perry, in Old and New.

Chips and Filings.

Business neglected is business lost.

Idleness is the grave of a living man.

He has hard work who has nothing to do.

A grain of prudence is worth a pound of craft.

Virtue and happiness are mother and daughter.

Wise men make more opportunities than they find.

Fine gold fears not the fire, nor solid stone the water.

He who spends before he thrives, will beg before he thinks.

Let your promises be sincere, and such as you can carry out.

A man had better be poisoned in his blood than in his principles.

Whenever you doubt whether an intended action be good or bad, abstain from it.

Only what we have wrought into our character during life can we take away with us.

He who pokes his nose everywhere, will sometimes poke it between a thumb and forefingers.

To be happy, the passions must be cheerful and gay, not gloomy and melancholy. A propensity to hope and joy is real riches; one to fear and sorrow, real poverty.

A rival of a certain great lawyer sought to humiliate him publicly by saying: "You blacked my father's boots once." "Yes," replied the lawyer, unabashed, "and I did it well."

Persons who are always cheerful and good-humored are very useful in the world; they maintain peace and happiness, and spread a thankful temper amongst all who live around them.

Never do a good action from the expectation of gratitude. If gratitude follow, so much the better—you are so much into pocket; but gratitude or not, always do the good action when the opportunity presents itself.

The goad of human life does not lie in the possession of things which, for one man to possess, is for the rest to lose, but rather in things which all can possess alike, and where one man's wealth promotes his neighbor's.

A countryman was complaining of the trouble a drunken man had given him. "How do you know he was drunk?" said a bystander. The countryman indignantly replied, "What could he be else, when he asked for the shoe-horn to put his hat on with!"

American Watches.

Every man who has anything to do requires a reliable timekeeper. A feeling of national pride leads all to prefer an American watch. But local dealers have for several years discouraged their customers from buying them—and for this reason only: A larger profit could be made on foreign watches, and the frequent repairs such watches required was a steady source of income to the watch-maker. Waltham watches have year by year grown into favor with all who have worn them; they have proved not only reliable but economical, as repairs are seldom needed. They, like other standard articles, are sold at moderate prices, which afford the retailer but a small profit compared with that which can be made on other watches. But they require no urging. They sell themselves. Hence, wide-awake dealers make this up by keeping a full stock and selling a larger number. Many dealers now divert their customers from the Waltham to other inferior watches, and, by disparaging the Waltham and recommending these comparatively unknown watches, they sell them for a higher price, and thus secure a larger profit. We understand that Waltham watches are furnished to the retailer at prices which will enable him to sell them cheap and yet make a fair profit. Therefore, all intending to purchase, and who prefer an American watch, should insist on having their preferences respected.

A Vista of Busy Life.—While visiting the new store of John V. Farwell & Co., one day last week, we were surprised at seeing the large amount of goods being sold by them. The enormous drain of their daily shipments would soon empty their mammoth store, were not their stock replenished during the night from the immense reserve in their warehouse, as well as by fresh arrivals from the manufacturers in this country and in Europe. The daily emptying and filling up of this great depot of dry goods is like the ebbing and flowing of the tide. In the amount of sales they lead all competitors.

To avert evil is one of the grandest triumps of human skill. This triumph is achieved by Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters. They build up, fortify and renovate the feeble system, thus enabling it to defy the elemental causes of disease. Hence their efficacy as a protective medicine, in districts where the air and water are impure. The weakest and most susceptible organization is rendered proof against all malarious disorders by taking one or two doses daily as a preventive.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN IND......APRIL 13. 1871

THE Deficiency Appropriation Bill, as it passed the House recently, was bounded by a few hundred thousand dollars. After being amended by the Senate the sum exceeded ten millions of dollars. This was a marvelous increase. Each Radical Senator had some pet object to bolster up with a few thousand dollars, and when once the spiggot was removed from the Treasury barrel the flow could not be stopped. Money was appropriated to pay the KuKlux Committee; for vast improvements in the far West, and for all other imaginable purposes. No wonder the Radicals will not repeal the Income Taxlaw, when they squander millions upon millions of dollars each year for selfish and corrupt purposes. The regular appropriation bills are large enough each year to alarm tax-payers, but they are always increased by deficiency bills of an alarming character, such as that just endorsed by the Senate. If business men wish to stop the depletion of the national Treasury they must defeat the Radical party at the elections. That is the only mode to reach a reform in the financial affairs of the nation.

THERE are scores of men in Washington from the South, of both political parties, men of character, standing and intelligence; men who have something at stake inthat section, who declare emphatically that there is no more disorder or opposition to law there, than in any one of the New England States. The people are peaceably employed in developing their material interests, and simply desire to be allowed to pursue them without interference. There is no political agitation of any kind. The colored population is contented, except when excited by white demagogues, and all the interests of the States are in a flourishing condition. These facts have been communicated to General Grant, to Senator Morton, to General Butler, by men of their own party, and they have been asked to "halt" this millitary interference column. But they refuse to do so. Why? Because by no other means than the bayonet and ballot can the Radical party be kept in power, and that road will be traveled if necessary. The man who will use the millitary power of the nation, without the consent of Congress, to gain foreign territory, will assuredly use the same power with the consent of Congress to retain political power in this country. That is what the Ku-Klux at Washington means, when properly considered.

The Forty Second Congress.

The Forty-Second Congress has now been in session more than four weeks, and it would require the aid of a very powerful microscope to discover any benefit the people have received from its deliberations. Literally nothing has been done that promises the least advantage to the laboring or business interests of the country. The entire time has been consumed in heaping disgrace on Senator Sumner at the bidding of President Grant, and in discussing the provisions of an extremely odious Ku Klux bill, the sole object of which appears to be to supply Gen. Grant with the necessary machinery for making his re-nomination a certainty and his reelection among the remote possibilities. The San Domingo project came in for a share of attention, but as it is only a Ku Klux bill in another guise, it may as well be looked upon as a link in the military cable that is to bind the President in his chair at the head of the nation. All these schemes are quite likely to be defeated in the end, but the people will not be apt to hold the Radical party blameless for the valuable time consumed in their discussion. The public will be anxious to know why the time that has thus been frittered away has not been spent in devising means for the country from the widespread financial distress and business stagnation that everywhere prevails.

The honest and thinking men of the country are looking for some means for relief from the grasping clutches of monopolists and costly schemes to perpetuate the controlling power of the Radicals. They want peace, concord and good will between the different sections, but they have, thus far looked in vain for such results to grow out of Radical legislation. Up to this time the acts of the Forty-Second Congress have given them no encouragement. No measure that savored of justice to the people has received its practical attention. The tariff still weighs down the industry of the whole nation, and the expenses of the civil government are increased instead of diminished. The power of the military has been extended, and now the bayonet and sword is suspended over the heads of Northern as well as Southern States. The Commerce of the nation is almost totally destroyed, and corruption of the most rotten and debasing character runs riot in official circles. These facts are well known and publicly canvassed on all hands. The people call for relief, but their request falls upon deaf ears. There appears to be some strange fatality that attaches itself to every Congress that is controlled by the Republicans. Nothing is done that commends itself to the better judgment of the masses, and the business interests of the country are allowed to suffer while schemes of plunder and power are concocted and matured. The Forty-Second Congress gives no evidence of being an exception to the general rule.—Loport Argus.

Gen. Sherwood, Secretary of State, proved his loyalty to Radicalism by coming all the way from Columbus to vote the Bryan Radical ticket. But George W. Howe beat that two to one, by coming from Buffalo—490 miles—to vote the democratic ticket. Bully for George.

Niles also elected a Democratic Mayor by a small majority

REPORTED KU KLUX OUTRAGES.

The United States Senate is running wild on the Ku Klux question. Senator Nye, of Nevada, honestly believes, if we are to credit his own statements, that the Southern States literally swarm with Ku Klux, and that more than a hundred thousand murders have been committed by them since the termination of the rebellion. This species of political clap-trap is gotten up to divert the attention of the American people from the real state of affairs in the Southern States. It cannot be denied that the Southern States are suffering from corrupt and extravagant carpet-bag rulers; that they have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy by excessive taxation and a reckless squandering of the money thus wrenched from the pockets of the tax payers; and that the horrible outrages imputed to the Ku Klux are exaggerated and reported to advance the political fortunes of adventurers from the North who, if their just deserts were meted out to them, would serve their States in the Penitentiary. Any political party—we care not whether it may call itself Democratic or Republican—that will resort to such means to perpetuate its political power should be branded "infamous" by all right-minded people. If outrages are committed in the South it is the duty of the State authorities to bring the guilty parties to a speedy punishment. The State governments in the South, where the outrages are reported, are in the hands of Republican Governors. If they fail to enforce the laws and bring the guilty parties to punishment whose fault is it? The simple fact that no punishment is meted out shows that these reported outrages exist only in the imaginations of political adventurers and are circulated to perpetuate their lease of power. It is a burning shame that any political party should give countenance to such political gamblers as govern some of the Southern States and plunder the people. It would be more in consonance with christian charity if the olive branch of peace and brotherly love were extended to them, than this continual and bitter warfare that is waged upon them. We cannot believe that the judgment of the American people approve such illiberal and partisan conduct.—Valparaiso Messenger.

Death of the Parisian Elephants.

The splendid specimens of elephants, under the names of Castor and Pollux, of European renown, fell victims to the mightiest of all conquerors—hunger. The Parisians, though not too factidious to feast on rats, were compelled by it to sacrifice their giant pets. Their death was tragic. Pollux died from Devisme's explosive ball, fifteen centimeters long, cylindrical shape, with conic end, which on its steel point had a capsule fastened, containing eighty gramms of fine powder weighing two hundred and eighty gramms. A charge of eight gramms of powder is required to throw the projectile. The shot, fired from ten meter's distance, pierced the right shoulder, shattered the first rib and exploded within the bowels. After this destructive explosion, the elephant rested in an upright position, then made some motions, but did not attempt to rend his shackles. It lasted some minutes, until the internal hermorrhage choked the animal. Then he fell, his agony lasting some time. Four large tubs were filled with blood, and yet some time elapsed before he ceased breathing. The next day it was Castor's turn, who was killed by Milne-Edwards by means of a hunting carbine Hit on the right temple the elephant went down on his knees, with a moaning cry. As he tried to raise himself, another ball hit him in the midst of the forehead. Again he went down, and then, as if struck by a thunderbolt, he rolled on to his side. His proboscis moved slightly; his beautiful expressive eye closed; he was dead. The victims were seized by Deooo's folks and stripped of their horny skins, which sold for 4,000 frances each. The rosy flesh seemed to be extremely tender, and looked like veal. Castor and Pollux, though only six years of age, were of an enormous size. The colossal pieces of flesh soon paraded on the shambles of the Boulevard Haussmann, among cassowaries, kangaroos, and antelopes from the Zoological Garden. So the menagerie was complete; but the elephants were the lions of the day.

A NEW HAMPSHIRE paper tells of a gallant Democrat whose spirit and determination fairly illustrates the means by which the glorious victory was achieved in that State. We quote:

'On the evening before the election, Mr. John W. Lyon, of Bath, a brakesman on the Montreal road, expecting to turn back at Well's River, found himself compelled to go on to Plymouth, where he arrived at 8 o'clock had he accepted the situation he would have been unable to get home in time to vote; but he didn't. Without stopping for a cold bite even Mr. L. got a handcar and by clear muscle propelled himself over forty eight miles of track, part of it on an ascending grade of eighty five feet to the mile, till he reached home at 1;30 o'clock. On learning the facts, his friends turned out of their beds and gave him a hot oyster supper, and that day one more ballot for James A. Weston was the result of the domitable energy, muscle and determination exibited by Mr. Lyon. It is this spirit that has carried our party through years of defeat to final victory.'

The Democracy of St. Paul achieved a glorious victory, electing their entire ticket by majorities varying from 200 to 600.

Grand Rapids, Mich., which has heretofare been strongly Republcan has, elected a Democratic Mayor by about 300 majority, City Clerk, Recorder, and 7 of the 9 aldermen.

Toledo elected a democratic Mayor by six hundred and fifty majority; and the democratic candidate for Judge of the Common Please Court was also triumphantly elected.

THE beauty of cities is enhanced anp their discomforts, diminished by the presence along the streets of long rows of shade trees. What beautiful avenues could be made of Main and Jackson st's if some of the many young maples of the woods, could be carefully transplanted and guarded from injury. Crossings are needed for comfort in travel so are shade trees for pleasures to the ege and shelter from summer heat. We have the trees close by, shall we utilge them for the town?

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1 up.	Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Colored " " " "	Japenese, plain " "
Japenese " striped	" " brocaded
" Checked	Watere

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Grs Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded ant watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c..

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Brilliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroriderie, puffings, Edgings, &c., White, Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortmemt in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has Reduced the Duty of All GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	28c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135,
Oolong,	75, 90, best 110
Japan,	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	35cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb,	28c
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	3c
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $1.00
Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Zante Currants, 12; 81-2 lbs	1.00
Citron, "	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12½c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	16c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wine,	75

MISCELLANEOUS

Soap, per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches,	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco, "	18

CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS - $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL,

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6,00
" " in kitts,	1,75
Trout " per bbl,	4,00
Pickerel " per bbl,	4,00
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish,	2,00

No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts,	$2,00
Lake Herring, per bbl,	2,50
Herring, each,	1c
Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
White Fish, per lb,	7c

All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phœnix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R.R

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh..1,35 A. M.
Rochester...2,42 "		7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance.....5,06 "		8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Orrville......6,54 "		11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield....9,03 "		1,52 P. M	4,45 "	8,38 "
A. 9,35 "		4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline.....10.05 "		5,0? "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.		5,55 A. M	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest..........11 27 A. M		7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima..........12,26 P "		9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne... 2,30 "		11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth,... 4,50 "		2,25 P. M	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago...... 7,30 "		5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago......	5,50 A. M	9,00 A. M.	5.15 P. M.	9,00 P. M
Plymouth...	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,55 A. M
Ft. Wayne...	12,50 P. M	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima	3,25 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2 43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	4.20 "	8,55 "
Crestline.....	6,?0 A. M	6,50 "	4.30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield....	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orville.......	9,15 "	9,05 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance......	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M
Rochester...	2,35 P. M	12,55 A. M.	11,05 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh..	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2, daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Thursday, April 13, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Express.
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 p m	7 00 a m	4 30 p m
Academie	6 15	7 25	4 45
Huntertown........	6 27	7 45	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 33	7 55	5 05
New Era	6 44	8 10	5 15
Auburn	7 04	8 35	5 35
Waterloo...........	7 20	9 25	5 50
Summit.............	7 35	10 00	6 05
Pleasant Lake......	7 47	10 27	6 18
Angola	8 02	11 05	6 33
Jonesville.........	9 35	2 50 p m	8 10
Jackson ....Arr	10 50	4 45	9 18

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Express.
Jackson ......Leave	6 45 a m	1 00 a m	5 00 p m
Jonesville..........	6 35	2 10	6 55
Angola..............	12 40 p m	3 38	7 29 a m
Pleasant Lake......	1 10	3 52	7 47
Summit	1 31	4 04	8 13
Waterloo...........	2 25	4 22	8 35
Auburn.............	2 45	4 38	8 55
New Era...........	3 10	4 55	9 20
Stoners (Gravel pit)	3 25	5 05	9 35
Huntertown........	3 35	5 12	9 43
Academie..........	3 55	5 25	10 00
Ft. Wayne......Arr	4 20	5 45	10 20

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other station as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST—PACIFIC NIGHT EXPRESS.
Waterloo City 2:40 a. m.

MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Butler 1:22 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:43 p. m.; Sedan 1:55 p. m.; Corunna 2:01 p. m.

FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:10 p. m.

GOING EAST—ATLANTIC EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 11:50 a. m.

MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Corunna 12:40 p. m.; Sedan, 12:46 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:00 p. m.; Butler 1:?? p. m.

FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo. 2:40 p. m.

The Pacific and Atlantic Expresses (at night) do not stop at Lawrence or Corunna.

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
A. B. RICHARDS, Agent, Waterloo.
R. STILES, " Butler.
C. D. COGSHILL, " Corunna.
CHAS. F. HATCH. Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.

NEW

Wagon Shop In Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS

Carriages,

CUTTERS,

Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

Land for Sale

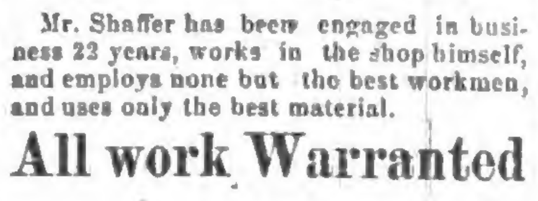
In DeKalb County

$5 TO $8 Per ACRE.

Address B. D. SKINNER,
Fort Wayne Ind.,

Mar. 30, '71. 1m.

Brahma Pootra



Eggs & Male Birds

FOR SALE!

From fine care premium stock.—Warranted pure, $1,00 per dozen.

Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

TROTTING HORSES

By a new method, any horse can be made to trot fast in 30 minutes. 500 References. One farmer says; "I made $800 on two colts, all through your circular." Full directions only $1 Address H. A. BARROWS, Rochester N. Y., for training and breaking.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,

Oats,

Corn,

Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Building Material,

Agricultural Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws., Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

March 23, 1871. JOHN L. DAVIS.

Root & Company IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana.

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do them selves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silks New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS!

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 23 1y

HEADQUARTERS

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated

JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments.

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Opposite Court House, Auburn Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accomodate customers, and sell them such goods as the may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

CREDIT BUSINESS

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or accoun to come and settle, as he is determined to collect, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

Feb. 21 1y. CHARLEY KLOTZ

Auburn Courier.

OFFICIAL PAPER of THE COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

HON. L. D. BAXTON was in town last Friday.

SNOW last Tuesday and a light frost on Wednesday morning.

IMPORTANT DECISION.—The Supreme Court of this State, delared the Railroad Aid Law constitutional, yesterday.

FOR good trunks, valises, &c., go to the wholesale trunk manufactory, No 117 Columbia street, Fort Wayne. 3t.

OUR business men are making ample preparations to do a lively traffic in all departments of trade, this Spring.

PAY UP.—There are quite a number that are still in arrears to the Air Line. We hope they will take the earliest opportunity to liquidate.

WE send a copy of the COURIER to a number of our friends at Spencerville. They can order it regularly through our agent Sol. Barney, Esq., at that place.

OUR Northern Indiana exchange speaks very encouragingly of the wheat prospects. declaring that it promises more that usually well for this time of the year.

THE execution of Andrew Brendlinger for the murder of his wife, near Lima, Ohio, on the 24th of October last, took place in the west end of the front corridor of the county jail of that place, last Friday.

AN economical chap in New Albany says when his stocking were out he sews up the tops straight across, and puts them on his feet the other way, thus making a good fit for square-toed boots.

LIME, COAL, LUMBER, ETC.—I. M. Thomas at the station house is receiving large quantities of the above material and can supply everybody with a good article at a reasonable price. Give him a call.

SQUIRE HOFFMAN intends building a fine residence in the lower part of town during the season. Doubtless we will number him as one of our citizens, when the house is completed.

THE weather is beautiful—Now don't blab—we say this just to fill up. Every thing is lovely, birds are singing and garden making has begun. Even the faces of Democrats are radiant with smiles.

SPRING has come! If you don't believe it, just drop into Mrs. Martin and Bodine's millinery establishment and take a look.—The sweet flowers, ribbons, laces and all the other nice things will convince you.

THE editorial fraternity, of this State has received several additions lately. E. Zimmerman, chronicles the arrival in that place of a bouncing baby girl, and Wadwords of the Laporte Argus, is similarly favored.

MISS. HATTIE BALDOCK will open a select school in the Auburn Union School Building, for a term of twelve weeks commencing on Monday April 17th. Teaching from fourth reader down to beginners. Terms of tuition $2.00.

A MINISTER of this city married a couple recently, and the next day saw the young man imbiding the "beveage of hell" at one of the Main street "juiceries." A poor way to commence housekeeping.—Mishwaka Enterprise.

ONE of the important branches of manufacturing carried on in Fort Wayne is the marble and stone worke of Messrs. Sutermeister, Bucker & Bond. They are rapidly extending their business in Northern Indiana.

C. ORFF & Co., one of the best and most reliable dry goods houses in Fort Wayne appears this week with a new advertisement. They believe in advertising and are now reaping the benefits of their investment. Read it carefully.

WE have received a number of a new paper, called the Indiana Christain Advocate, published at Indianapolis. It is a large eight column paper, well printed, and evinces considerable ability and vigor editorially It is devoted to temperance morality and religion. Terms $1 50 per year.

AVELINE HOUSE.—This fine hotel is doing an excellent business in the way of accommodating the traveling public, and many praises are bestowed upon its thorough and complete management. Those visiting Ft. Wayne will find it a first-class house.

"A SOFT THING."—An Evansville woman recently eloped with a "friend" and carried off the feather bed. The heart-broken and grief-stricken ex-husband went in search of them, not that he "keered fur the old woman; them ar feathers is worth a dollar a pound."

COMING.—We learn that our young folks are making extreme preparations for a grand entertainment, to be given at an early day for a benevolent purpose. Rehearsals are now going on, and we may expect something above mediocre, and no re-hash of old things.

IMPORTANT MEETING.—Everybody should remember that an important meeting will be held at the Court House, next Saturday evening, to take such steps and measures as are deemed necessary for the improvement of the place. Let all turn out.

THE postmaster at Elkhart has posted the following notice: Parties depositing letters in the post office are requested to lick their own stamps, as my licker, from long and constant use, is about worn out, and will please put the stamps on the upper right hand corner.

NOW is the time to set out trees shrubs and flowers, rose bushes, &c., and beautify and adorn your homes. It adds to the beauty of the place and the pleasure of strangers, as well as to that of your own children. They will rise up and call you blessed.

CHANGE.—An important change has taken place in the running of trains, on the For Wayne Jackson & Saginaw Railroad, to take effect on and after to-day. Trains going North will leave Auburn as follows:

Mail at 7:04 and mixed train 8:55 in the morning, and express at 5:35 in the evening Going south the through freight and accommodation will leave Auburn at 8:55. This will give visitors more time at Fort Wayne an arrangement that will be quite generally appreciated.

OUR subscription list is gradually increasing. We have room for more. We hope our friends all over the county will exert themselves towards getting their neighbors to take the COURIER. We have been told by many that it is the best paper ever published in the county, and we want every body to have it.

OUR article a few weeks ago, in regard to an assault in the Court House, reflecting too severely, perhaps, upon the character of one of the parties concerned. We are glad to learn that he bears a very good reputation in this locality, and that his temper forced him to a measure that he was sorry for afterward. Keep cool John.

THAT popular caterer to the public wants John G. Fledderman, Esq., one of the most extensive clothiers and merchant tailors in Fort Wayne, has just received a large new spring stock of the most fashionable goods to be found in the east. John is a square man and will give you a good bargain. See advertisement.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—The County Commissioners and Assessors, of the various townships met last Monday, as a Board of Equalization. There was very little business transacted. But one or two appeals from assessments were made. The Commissioners appropriated $50 for the improvement of the Court House Square.

ONE of our "hifalutin" fellows passed the creek the other day and remarked to a boy, was engaged in the beautiful task of fishing: "John Thomas Henry, art thou not endeavoring to entice the finny tribe to engulf into their deticulated mouths a barbed hook, upon whose point is affixed a dainty allurement?" "No." said the boy, "I'm fishin."

SUSPICIOUS.—Our good-looking post-master sees a little spec of trouble in the heretofore severe horizon. A bull pup has appeared upon the scene, and out of this grows serious apprehensions. Unless a corner lot can be secured, the prospects are bad, who knows but that "dorg" may go to Washington by the next express. Let us have peace

A FEW days ago a young friend of ours was singing snatches of the old familiar song, "Lost on the Lady Elgin," when another young man became involved with him in a dispute as to the age of the piece, when an intelligent "kanuck" who was standing near, wanted to know what difference it made whether Mrs. Elgin died one time or another.

DR. LITTLEFIELD, of Monroe, Michigan, has permanently located in our town for the practice of medicine. The doctor comes well recommended and has been a successful practitioner for a number of years. He will be found in the office formerly occupied by D. D. Moody, attorney at law, and is now ready to respond to all professional calls.

THE following lines are true as preaching:

> per and told him of my
> For a while he tried to dissuade > a leaving; but, finding that my > as firmly made up, he at las > ed to let us both go, and withir > urs after the arrival of the For > e found ourselves ashore and a > to come or go at our pleasure.

PROFANITY.—For profanity, among small boys, Auburn takes the lead. How shocking to hear great horrid oaths from boys who can scarcely comprehend their meaning. It shows that bad associations have led them into a terrible habit. We trust it is not indulged at the sanction of their parents, who are the proper ones to correct the evil. They should look to this party at once and see who are the guilty parties.

THE New York Ledger has revived and improved some old rhymes:

Hey, diddle diddle,
Poor Grant is a riddle,
The cat has jumped out too soon;
The Democrats laugh'd
To see such craft,
And Butler ran off with the spoon.

Hickory, dickory, dock,
Butler's eye at full cock;
New Hampshire's won,
The end's begun,
Hickory, dickory, dock.

DOGS.—Some people don't believe in the stories about the sagacity of dogs. We met one of these the other day. He says dogs have not common sense. In proof of his assertion he relates how he poured kerosene on a dog and set it on fire, just to have a little fun, as he was lonely during his wife's absence, and that dog actually ran under the barn belonging to him, and lay there and set the barn on fire, though the man whistled to him to come out. It is enough to make a man lose faith in dogs.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lowe than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

BEAUTIFUL CUSTOM.—A new custom is being introduced in this neighborhood—some thing we never dreamed of before. When any person gets married, that can appreciate the printer, they send around a nice cake the center cavity of which is lined with something very beautiful. We received a very nice one the other day which on inspection was found to contain a greenback a very acceptable denomiantion. These are little episodes, in a printer's life, that help to smooth down his path wonderfully. The brethern will please notice, and envy accordingly.

IF you are going to be married in a week or two, you need to be looking after your cards immediately. They are to be as follows: First, the bride's card; second, the groom's; third, the bride's mother's; then the "ceremony" card; then the cards containing the married name of the young couple in full, and the days of their post-honeymoo receptions; then a card containing the names of bridesmaids, ushers and grooms men; and lastly, a card engraved with "Please present this at the door."

THE RETURN OF SPRING.—Lovely, joyous spring; we welcome thee, and hail thy return with our glad acclaim. A new creation seems opening around us. Nature is fast changing her dress, and is now assuming her bright robe of green. The violet, primrose, and crocus are opening their petals to the solar beam; and the feathered songsters make them the grove and woodland echo with their melodious warblings. But it is not only the birds and flowers that rejoice at the return of spring, all people hail it with gladness; particularly those who are alive to the beauties and music of nature.

Fort Wayne Dry Goods Houses.

As a great deal of trade is now passing into Ft. Wayne from this locality, we wish to say a few things concerning the above institutions of that city. To the uninitiated those who do not know the character of the merchants engaged in this business, a few gentele hints, on this subject may be of vast importance and we give them from an actual observation and knowledge of the maner in which they are conducted. Most of them, we are pleased to say, are of a meritorious character, and among this class we find the names of Root & Co., C. Orff & Co., Geo. DeWald & Co., and Frank & Thanhouser. To either of these institutions we can give a hearty recommend, because they are owned and controled by men of worth and excellence, men who conduct business upon principles of honor and fair dealing, and gentleman who will be found worthy the support and favor of the public. They no doubt entered into the business evidently with the view to deal squarely with all who may give them their patronage, whether a financial success is meted out to them or not, and they have strictly adherred to that line of policy, as thousands of purchasers will testify. They are no sudden up starts either, but have a permanency beyond a doubt. The great decline in dry goods just after the war, while it ruined may of the very best houses all over the country, found them as firm as a rock, because of the excellent skill and experience which each of the above named houses seemed to posess.

Now we want to say to everybody, it is better, and cheaper, to deal with a house of this character than to go to those who put on a great deal of style about low prices.—Nine times out of ten, our traders will find that they can make much better bargains at these first class houses than at the shoddy concerns, for that is what they really are. We know of one house in Fort Wayne, that puts its goods all on the outside, to attract the passers by, each article being placarded with a figure denoting the price of the same Now, its proper enough to make a good disply but when the business of a house depends entirely upon this, we say beware there is something rotten in Denmark. They are generally swindlers, of the biggest kind, and we warn our readers against having any thing to do with them. Go to stores that you know are reliable and safe, and if you are a stranger in the city, we run no risk in saying that we will guarantee you fair dealing in any of the above named houses.

BUTLER.

ON Wednesday afternoon quish a gathering of citizens occurred to witness a trial game of base ball, between citizens of this town and the club from Edgerton. On a former occasion the Butler players lost the game, this time the scale turned and they won by considerable odds,

DURING the prevalence of a thunder storm which passed over during the evening of last Wednesday, the barn owned by Mr. Mirie, living four miles east, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. Three horses and several cows, new wagon and other articles burned with it. If rods were a safe guard the event would be a help to those in the business, but there is so much of rascality connected with selling lightning rods that people prefer to risk the chance of the electric fluid to the bare swindles of the rod peddlers.

WE have heard with regret that the Courts have decided that the license fee of fifty dollars hitherto required of liquor venders is unconstitutional. It is doubly a regret, saloons will multiply and with them their patrons. The schools will lose a source of maintenance and a wholesome restraint to vicious practices be removed.

WE are pleased to learn that our neighbor Waterloo, is taking into consideration the necessity of a new school house. She ought to have it. Our youth should be educated at home, aloof from unknown dangers and keep with us, while it is possible.

TOWN School Board chosen this week.

CHICAGO.—While at Chicago the other day, we were pleased to meet that prince of good-fellows, Samuel Glasgow, Esq., the popular proprietor of the St. Charles Dining Rooms, No. 15 Clark Street. Sam is one of these genial fellows that never feels more at home than when showing you every courtesy and attention within his power. He keeps one of the most respectable and at the same time one of the finest and most complete resturants in the great city of the west. With that suavity of manner and obliging disposition which so well becomes him—for he's good looking— he is now the most popular man in the city, and we heartily recommend him to all who want to enjoy a good meal at reasonable expense.

A CHAP at our elbow says he never wrote but one novel, and that was so powerful that it brought tears to the eyes just to look at the back of it. Everybody cried who read it. Children forgot to cry for bread, and wives forgot to cry for that immemorial new bonnet. Oh, it was wonderful! The rivers rose, and the very bridges shed tiers The plot was very deeply laid; yes, it was laid away down in a coal mine. People would forget themselves reading it, and sit down on red-hot stoves, and never know the difference. The authorities were obliged at last to exterminate it. We are not allowed to write any more. We were actually pu upon a short allowance of "Shoo Fly," to be sung in low bass.

ABOLISHED.—It will be interesting to stock men to know that after the first of May next the special tax for keeping a horse or jack is abolished. Licenses heretofore paid by professional men are also abolished This places lawyers, newspaper men, doctors and Jackasses, upon and equal in this respect. The wisdom of our legislators is unbounded.

IF you are not already taking the COURIER make haste to subscribe for it, and try and induce your neighbor to do likewise. Our friends who take the paper, if they like it, can furnish us a great deal of assistance by pointing out the merits of the paper to others.

ALREADY preparations for the racing season have commenced. At the various headquarters of professional jockies in the large cities, scenes of activity and spirit are being witnessed, and the candidates for turf honors in the coming contests are being put through a very vigorous course of equestrian sprouts. Just at present there are more horses in training than there have been for years before thus early in the season. The indications are suggestive of a highly popular and paying turf season this year. A large amount of money has already been staked on matches which have been effected. A pleasant feature of this season's contests will be the introduction of several new horses, the speed of which is said to be of a character well calculated to astonish the patrons of the turf in this section.

ELECTION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of the incoporated town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Ind., that an election will be held at the Court House, in said town

ON MONDAY, MAY 1st, 1871.

for the purpose electing for said town,

Five Trustees,
One Clerk.
One Treasurer,
One Marshal.
One Assessor,

for the ensuing year, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Witness my hand and the seal of said town this 13th day of April A. D. 1871.

ALBERT ROBBINS, Town Clerk.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

THE Columbia City Post says a railroad meeting held in the hall of the academy was well attended and represented. Mr. Collins, in an eloquent address, laid before the people a general statement of past and present difficulties connected with the road.—As the security of the tax was considered, the most important point to success, the citizens went into an immediate subscription for that purpose, of two thousand five hundred dollars. Much more, we are informed, has been secured. Millersburg since that time has added fifteen hundred more, with like prospect of continued large accessions until the labor has been accomplished. Little Whitley is bound to surmount all obstacles, and provide herself a grand thoroughfare, that the fertile products of the county may remunerate its honest yeomanry and find a secure and steady market.

AUDITOR'S FEES.—The following table shows the fees to be collected by the Auditor according to the new fee and salary bill:

For copies of records, deeds, or other writing, per one hundred words	10
For filling each paper for any individual, in any private matter connected with his office	05
For each certificate of tax sale to be paid by the purchaser	50
For each assignment of certificate of sale of school Lands	25
For each tax deed, to be paid by the grantee therein	$1.00
For each special constable's bond and, oath, and registration thereof	1 00
For each certificate and seal, to be paid for by the party requiring it, other than those to writs and process	50
For writing affidavits, and swearing affiant thereto	25
For each license, to be paid by the licensee	1 00
For taking and approving of official bond, and recording same	1 00
For each writ or other process under seal	50
For each subpœna including all witnesses of a county called for at one time	50

BETTER THAN GOSSIP.—Here is something better than talking about your neighbors.—How many of our readers can follow the line of relation through even though the apparent puzzle be of the possibilities:

I made the acquaintance of a young widow which lived with a grown up step-daughter in the same house. I married her. My father, which had the opportunity to see our step-daughter frequently, fell in love with her and made her his wife. Through this my wife became the mother-in-law, of her father-in-law, my step-daughter became my step-mother, and the step-father turned to be a step-son. My step-mother, a step-daughter of my wife, gave birth to a son—to me a brother, for he is a son of my father and my step-mother; at the same time being the son of our step-daughter, my wife became the grand-mother and I the grand father of my step-mother. My wife also gave birth to a son—my step-mother, step-sister of my son, is at the same time his grand-mother, for he is the son of her step-son, and my father—the brother-in-law of my child, for the child's sister is his wife. I'm the brother of my own son, which is the child of my step-grand-mother. I'm the brother-in-law of my mother—my wife, aunt of her own son—my son grandchild of my father, and I—my own grandfather.

HOUSE CLEANING.—How many will shudder at the sight of those two significant words. They bring up not only unpleasant recollections, but they refer to a very essential annul scene in every well regulated family. Sophie Sparkle, in the N. Y. Mail has a very interesting chapter on house-cleaning, grom which we extract the following:

It takes a man of angelic temperament to pass quietly through the ordeal of house-cleaning. But as, unluckily, the genius home are not given, as a rule, to angelic dispositions it follows that this period is apt to be a breezy one. There is little comfort to be found in the house. The carpets are all up, the smell of paint pervades every room the furniture is in a blissful state of confusion, the housewife, poor woman, is apt to be fretful, and the children are continually vascilating between alternate delight and despair—delight at some new mischief to be into, and despair at being suddenly brought to punishment. Talk about dogdays and rabid animals! I should like to see anything more to be dreaded or more unreasonable than the creature man during the days of spring house-cleaning. He declares that all this bustle and stir is unnecessary; that it is all folly to put every room in disorder just for the satisfaction of putting it to rights again. Poor Benedict! He is like the spoiled child who does not know what is good for him. But the busy wife knows. She knows how important it is that every nook and corner should be thoroughly cleaned before the hot days come on; that every article should be brushed and polished, and the winter clothing put away before the advent of the destroying moth. And she makes a martyr of herself for four or five weeks, every year, that all this may be accomplished.

THE YOUNG PILOT for April is before us. The success of this comparatively new Magazine, judging from its continued improvement, is now permanently established with a very attractive frontispiece, entitled 'Dressing for the Party,' which will be of considerable interest to our Girls. William Everett continues his excellent serial, entitled 'My Uncle's Watch.'

Send ten cents for specimen copy. Address Young Pilot Publishing Co., Chicago, Ill.

SENT FREE FOR THREE MONTHS TO TRY.—A new 8 page illustrated paper. Among its contributors will be found many of the best and most popular writers in the land, embracing John Hay, (author of Little Beeches and Jim Bludso,) Mrs. A. D. Richardson, Junius Henri Browne, Col. Knox. Prof. Simonson, George Warren, Sophie Worthington, Lillian Gilbert Browne, Miss S. A. Brock, Captain Mortor, Alexander Hyde, (in Agricultural department,) and many others. Mark Twain will also contribute articles occasionally. Send names to American Publisher, Hartford, Conn.

THE NORTHWESTERN FARMER.—The April number of the North Western Farmer, the first under the new firm of Caldwell & Kingsbury, has been issued and bears on every page the marks of a most decided improvement. Both the gentleman composing the firm are practical men, and all the matter in the columns of the Farmer will be the same character.—Several new contributors to its pages have already been secured, and it is the aim of the publishers to obtain regular contributions from the leading agriculturists of the West. We predict for this publication under its present management a prosperous career.

NEW SUNDAY SCHOOL MUSIC.—The Pearl is the title of an entire new collection of beautiful Sunday School music just published by S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland. Every song in The Pearl is new, fresh and sparkling, and by the best writers in the country. It is pronounced by all who have examined it the best and most attractive collection of Sunday School music ever published. Specimen pages will be sent free or a single copy mailed for 25 cents. Every one interested in Sunday School music should examine it.

Address, S. Brainard & Sons, Publishers, Cleveland, O.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can now sell you Clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and traffic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph. Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to take the Burlington Route."

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chrome lithographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red-Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	128 @ 133
" Red	132
Oats	45
Rye	1.00
Corn	50
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	15@20
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	03c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

John G. Fledderman,

MERCHANT TAILOR

First-Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY.

No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, - - IND.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

It contains over 100 fine engravings of Battle Scenes and incidents in the war, and is the only Authentic and official history of that great conflict.

Caution Inferior histories are being circulated. See that the books you buy contains 100 fine engravings and maps. Send for circulars & see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address, National Publishing Co., Chicago Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Louis, Mo.

Scripture and Science have met together Genesis and Geology have kissed each other.

SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

A book of thrilling interest and greatest importance to every human being. The papers, Pulpits and people are all discussing the subject and book, every man woman and child wants to read it. The long fierce war is ended, and honorable peace secured, Science is true; the Bible literal, pure and beautiful, both now satisfied and firm friends. God's work days, six actual days, not long periods. This book gives the very cream of science, making its thrilling realities, beauties, wonders and sparkling gems a hundred fold more interesting than fiction. AGENTS WANTED. Experienced Agents will drop other books and secure territory immediately. Address for icrcular.

ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 130 Race St., Cincinnati, O.

COUGH! COUGH! COUGH

Why will you Cough when you can be so easily relieved by using

Dr. Wells' Carbolic Tablets?

They are sure cure for sore throat, cold, hoarseness, Catarrh and all diseases of the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes.

From the great number of Testimonials as to the efficiency of this invaluable medicine the following is selected.

47 Wabansia Ave., Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14 1871.

"For the last ten years I have been a great sufferer "from frequent attacks of Acute Bronchitis, and have "never found anything to relieve me from these at-"tacks until I tried D. Well' Carbolic Tablets."

CAUTION. Don't let worthless artiles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets.

JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent.

Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

AGENTS MALE & FEMALE. For fast selling popular subscription Books. Extra inducements to Agents. Information free, Address Am. Book Co., 62 William St. N. Y.

5 TO $20 A DAY!

Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to sell our new 7 stand White Wire Clothes Lines to last for ever. Dont miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Mills, 75 W'm. St., N. Y, or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs.

☞ Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and renumerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.

31 & 33 VESEY STREET.

O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

4w

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called.

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation. has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for same time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y Sole Agent for the United States.

Price One Dollar per Bottle. Send for Circular.

NOTICE to HEIRS OF Petition to Sell Real Estate.

STATE OF INDIANA }
DeKalb County. }

NOTICE is hereby given that John McCurdy, executor of the will of Thomas Enterline, deceased, has filed his petition to sell the Real Estate of the decedent, his personal being sufficient to pay his debts, and that said petition will be heard at the next term of the Court of Common Pleas of said county.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Auburn, Ind., March 30, '71.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Alonzo Lockwood is Plaintiff and James Crummy, Mary Crummy, Nathan Tarney and Louisa Tarney are Defendants requiring meto make the sum of two hundred and ten dollars and twenty cents, with interest on said decree and costs I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Lots number three (3) and four [4] in Toppings' addition to the town of Corunna, except the following discribed part of lot number four [4], commencing at the north west corner of lot number four [4] thence south thirty-two feet [32,] thence east twenty feet [20] thence north thirty-two feet [32] thence west twenty feet [20] to the place of begining in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
PHILO LOCKWOOD, Att'y for Plaintiff
Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D 1871. $7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein John Ralston is Plaintiff and Michael Dunn Castello is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of fifty-four dollars and eighty cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Town lot number twenty one in Ralston's addition to the town of Auburn, DeKalb County Ind.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
J. W. RICKEL, Att'y for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D. 1871. $6.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein James Griswold is Plaintiff and John Moore is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of fifty-one dollars and ninety cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Lot number one hundred and fifty-two [152] in the western addition to the town of Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgement, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
JAMES I. BEST, Att'y for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Ind., March 27th, A. D. 1871. $6.75.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cadse wherein John R. Moody is Plaintiff and Solomon Butler and William S. Bames are Defenants, required me to make the sum of four hundred and Seventy-one dollars and fifty cents, with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday the 29th of April, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

The South west quarter of the North west quarter of Section Thirty four [34] North of Range Twelve [12] East in DeKalb County.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree interests and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
D. D. MOODY, Att'y for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Indiana, March 29th A. D. 1871. $7.00

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the Circuit Court, August term, 1871,

William L. Humphries }
vs } Complaint for Divorce.
Emelina Humphries, }

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, Emeline Humphries is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless she be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in her absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 30th day of March A. D. 1871.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administratrix of the Estate of Charles Ahrues, late of DeKalb County, deceased.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent,

MARY AHRNES, Administratrix.

April 3d, 1871.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that William Lessig Administrator of the estate of Hugh Shreve deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana Executor of the Estate of Isaac Franks late of DeKalb County deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 13, '71. WM. LESSIG, Executor.

An Ordinance

To plank sidewalks: Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the incorporated town of Auburn, DeKalb County, state of Indiana, that it shall be the duty of all owners or part owners of lots or part of lots, lying on or adjoining the north side of tenth [10th] street, between Jackson street and the western limits of the western addition to said town, to plank so much of the sidewalk as lies fronting their said lots or part of lots with a walk, six [6] feet in width, of good and sound plank, not less than one and a half inches in thickness nor more than eight [8] inches in width, placed on three [3] stringers laid lengthwise, 3 by 5 inches.

All timber to be of oak or pine. Said walks are to be planked by the first day of June '871.

Done at their meeting April 3d 1871

Attest ALBERT ROBBINS, Town Clerk.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

AND GENERAL

MANUFACTURE of CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

THE HEADQUARTERS

FOR

CHEAP AND FASHIONABL

CLOTHING.

We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Me and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with Stock of

MENS' FURNISHING GOODS

We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to m to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the la styles and

PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION

Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.

I. LAUFERTY & SON.

South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,

Fort Wayne, Ind

NORTHERN NDI'A

HEADQUARTERS FOR

BOOTS & SHOES

WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT

Wholesale and Retail

BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES

DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURE

WE KEEP ALL THE

LATEST STYLES in the MARKE

OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men, We

Buy First-Class Goods

and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. W

Are the Only Hous

In the City who make it a business to manufacture

MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'

Home Made Boots

GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF

BOOTS & SHOE

Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN S FORT WAYNE INDIANA.

MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

Now is the Time to Subscribe.

This is the Paper for the Ladies.

Great Inducements Offered

Every Subscriber Receives a Valuable Gift worth from 50 cents to $100.

This is no Lottery!

Woodburn's Journal

A SIXTEEN PAGE PAPER.

HANSOMELY ILLUSTRATED.

FULL OF GOOD STORIES.

ONLY $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

EVERY ONE HUNDREDTH SUBSCRIBER RECEIVES $100 IN GREENBACKS.

We have already received over 15,00 subscribers for this valuable illustrated story paper, and every one has received valuable prizes, ranging from 50 cents upward. We are receiving from fifty to one hundred subscribers daily.

Get up Clubs for the JOURNAL.

CLUB RATES.

Single subscribers	$1 00
Every ten subscribers	75
Every twenty subscribers	50

The prizes are sent as soon as you subscribe. The following is a list of the largest prizes: Ten gifts of one hundred dollars each, in green backs, twenty gifts of fifty dollars each; organs sewing machines, 200 gold and silver watches, gold guard and vest chains, solid and double-plated silver-ware photograph albums, jewelry, &c.

We will send you a full list of prizes when you become a subscriber to our valuable paper.

Address, J. WOODBURN & Co., Lock Box 40 Bellefontaine, Ohio.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS:—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries, Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 3d Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. R. [illegible]

Hard War

GEO. HENSLER,

—OF—

BUTLER, INDIAN

Has just received at his Hardware Store, in B the largest and best selected stock of

HARD WARE

Ever brought to this county—among which ma be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Imp ments, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

Chains and Beltin

Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods lly kept in a first class Hardware Store.

GEO. HENSLER.

AUBURN LIVERY AND

SALE STABLE

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, &

together with a number of first-class Livery Ho we respectfully solicit the patronage of the pub promising to use our best endeavors to give gen satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.

March 4 '71.

PARLOR ALBU

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or

$40.00 Per Set Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WO

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most exten ART GALLERY ever published, and by those w have examined the several portions of the work, has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Ea volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, Oil Colors. 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full p engravings on wood, and 200 pages of reading matt descriptive of the Illustrations, the whole maki each volume about one-half as thick, and same siz pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each v is complete in itself and will be sold separate if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and A
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cul vated American people, and no library will, hereaf be complete without this addition to its treasu while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by A erican publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for sell the above described publications, and wish to appo an agent in every town in the United States a British Provinces. Experienced book agents and other persons of responsibility should apply at o Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting short time during the day or evening, secure a co plete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will low large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Bo for Agents, containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 50 of engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, be selections from each volume, together with paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, a we do not wish to send it to persons who do not tend to act as agents, but to any one who will m an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we w send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply a address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The East.

—W. J. Rose, a well known journalist of New York, died on the 6th inst.

—Ruloff, the murderer, has been sentenced to be hanged at Binghamton, N. Y., on Thursday, May 18.

—Father Taylor, the venerable minister of the Seamen's Bethel, at Boston, died on the 4th inst., aged 77 years.

—A serious affray occurred at Tripp's Slope, near Scranton, Pa., among the coal miners on the 5th inst. The trouble was between "strikers" and "anti-strikers." Three men were killed and a number wounded.

—There is great complaint of scarcity of seamen in New York, and a number of vessels are being detained there from their inability to get crews. Wages have been advanced without increasing the supply.

—Orders have been sent from the Navy Department to the commandant of the Brooklyn navy-yard to fit out for sea immediately seven vessels—the Wachuset, Shawmut, Canandaigua, Omaha, Minnesota, Florida, and Susquehanna.

—Meagre, but sad news come from the Asiatic squadron. It appears that in sending down the main yard of the United States flagship Colorado, the sheer tackles gave way, and a heavy stick fell on the deck, killing two and wounding several.

—One of the most extensive conflagrations which ever visited Albany, N. Y., occurred on the morning of the 6th inst. The fire broke out in the large printing house of Weed, Parsons & Co., Columbia street, consuming that building, and nearly an entire block of small buildings on Broadway, between Columbia and Van Troup Streets, on the west side. The total loss will reach $500,000.

The West.

—A dead man—name unknown—was found on the street in St. Paul, Minn., on the 3d inst. The Coroner's inquest found his death to have been caused by too much whisky and a lack of food.

—The propeller City of Fremont arrived at Milwaukee on the 4th inst. In her passage through the straits of Mackinac she broke twenty miles of ice. This is the earliest opening of navigation for many years.

—A report from Boseman, Montana, dated April 1, says that Stanley and a party of seven, and Hamilton and a party of six, were killed by Sioux Indians, on the divide between the Muscle Shell and Yellowstone rivers. The report was brought in by the Bannocks and Crows.

—The residence of Mortimer Cook, at Topeka, Ks., was burned on the 5th inst. Mr. Cook, who was asleep with three children when the house took fire, was awakened by the noise, and passed two of his children out of the window, when he was suffocated by smoke and fainted, and was pulled out of the house by the neighbors, leaving a little girl three years old, which was burned to death.

—At Whitewater, Walworth county, Minn., on the 1st inst., Mrs. William Foster, who had been ill for a long time, died. As she breathed her last, her husband, who was by the bedside, drew a pistol, and, aiming at his own heart, fired. The ball missed the vital organ, but penetrated the lung, and the wounded man fell across the body of his dead wife. He died soon after. He was devotedly attached to his wife, and his mind had been much depressed during her illness.

The South.

—Engineering officers, who have charge of surveys and improvements upon Western rivers, report that the Mississippi river is changing its channel, so that Vicksburg will soon become an inland town unless immediate measures are taken. The main channel is now immediately under the bluff on which the town stands, making one of the best harbors upon the river; but in a few months, the engineers are confident, a cut-off will be formed across the the low, sandy peninsula, opposite the city, through which the greater portion of the current will pass, leaving not enough water at the levees of the town to float steamboats. To prevent this it will be necessary to construct an expensive stone work called a revetment, which is estimated to cost $2,745,345.

Foreign.

—Paris news is that the Government will certainly put down the insurgents, who may, however, do terrible things before they are overthrown.

—A dispatch to the London Times from Versailles states that 1,500 insurgents were taken prisoners on Monday.

—A London letter says Louis Napoleon walks feebly, and is in very poor health, that he and Eugenie are extremely popular in England.

—A Red Republican proclamation, dated at the Teuleries, strongly condemns the conduct of the Versailles Government in attacking Paris.

—The Telegraph's correspondent says the 1st Prussian army corps has been ordered to hold itself ready to march to Paris. The reign of terror continues within that city.

—The Daily News says the insurgents attacked the Government troops Tuesday, near Meulorn, and suffered complete route. Garibaldi declines the command of the insurgents.

—A nun who escaped from Paris reports that the churches have been sacked, the priests insulted, arrested and maltreated, the convents entered at night and searched. A rumor prevailed before she left that twenty Jesuits had been shot.

—Foreign correspondence reports that the managers of the Suez Canal are seeking loans for its completion in London, and that England is trying to and will probably get possession of it, France being crippled.

—On the 3d, two corps of insurgent troops advanced toward Versailles, one via Mendon and Chatillon, and the other via Reuil. Both corps were routed by the Government troops, and Flourens killed.

—The Paris Commune have issued a decree arraigning Thiers, Favre, Picard, Dufour, Luiron and Pothnan before the tribunal of the people, and ordering their property to be seized. Another decree pronounces the separation of Church and State, suppresses religious bodies, and abolishes national property.

—Picard has issued the following circular to the prefects: "The insurgents have met a decisive check. Our troops have captured a redoubt at Chatillon, with 2,000 prisoners. Flourens and Duval are dead, and Henry is a prisoner. Twenty-two of the Communists have resigned, and Assy has been imprisoned by his own followers. The Government is happy to inform you of the condition of affairs which it has effected."

—Baron Wilhelm Von Teghetoff, the distinguished Austrian Admiral who won the naval battle of Lissa, in the Adriatic, in 1865, and who superintended in 1868 the removal of the remains of ex-Emperor Maximilian from Mexico to Trieste, died on the 6th inst. His residence was Vienna.

—The insurgents have been dislodged from the bridge of Neuilly. A fierce cannonade is kept up between Chatillon and Forts Issy and Vanvres. It is apparently the purpose of the commander of the Versailles army to completely invest the capital. Lines are already established on the left bank of the Seine. Bagneux has been occupied, and it is expected that the occupation of L'Hay and Choisy Leroi will soon follow.

—A special to the World, dated Versailles 3d, says: all day a great battle has raged between the Government forces under Gen. Vinoy and 100,000 Communists under Gen. Bergeret. Everywhere the latter were defeated with terrible slaughter. Near Meudon, Bergeret and Flourens, with 35,000 men, are cut off and surrounded, and must either surrender to-night or be cut to pieces in the morning. Many Communists refused to fight, and are throwing down their arms and begging for mercy.

—A special, dated Paris, April 3, evening, says: "At about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after great preparations, the National insurgents commenced passing out at the Neuilly gate—in all 50,000 men—Generals Bergeret, Flourens and Menotti Garibaldi commanding. It was understood that Fort Valerien would not fire. At about 5 o'clock, the artillery was all in front, and General Bergeret in advance with 10,000 men, when suddenly Valerien opened fire, killing the Commandant Henry. General Bergeret had just got out of his carriage, when the vehicle was smashed with a bombshell. The wildest scene ensued. The troops tried to retreat. The main body left Bergeret alone with 10,000 men. He tried to fight with artillery against Valerien, but it was useless. The Communists got into the city, but Bergeret and his men are cut off and cannot pass Valerien. The main body escaped with the loss of 1,000, but Bergeret must lose large numbers. Altogether there are 12,000 men killed, wounded and missing, including Bergeret's force. The Communist troops under arms number 150,000. Tremendous excitement prevails."

The President's San Domingo Message.

The following is the President's message transmitting the report of the San Domingo Commissioners to the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have the honor to submit herewith to the two Houses of Congress the report of the Commissioners appointed in pursuance of the joint resolution approved Jan. 12, 1871. It will be observed that this report more than sustains all that I have heretofore said in regard to the productiveness and healthfulness of the republic of San Domingo, the unanimity of the people for annexation to the United States, and their peaceable character.

It is due to the public, as it certainly is to myself, that I should here give all the circumstances which first led to the negotiations of the treaty for the annexation of the republic of San Domingo to the United States. When I accepted the arduous and responsible position I now hold I did not dream of instituting any steps for the acquisition of insular possessions. I believed, however, that our institutions were broad enough to extend over the entire continent as rapidly as other people might desire to bring themselves under our protection. I believed further, that we should not permit any independent government within the limit of North America to pass from a condition of independence to one of ownership or protection under a European power. Soon after my inauguration as President, I was waited upon by an agent of President Baez with the proposition to annex the republic of San Domingo to the United States. This gentleman represented the capacity of the island, the desire of the people and their character and habits about as they have been described by the Commissioners, whose report accompanies this message. He stated further, that being weak in numbers and poor in purse, they were not capable of developing their great resources; that the people had no incentive to industry on account of the lack of protection for their accumulations, and that if not accepted by the United States, whose institutions they loved above those of any other nation, they would be compelled to seek protection elsewhere. To these statements I made no reply, and gave no indications of what I thought of the proposition. In the course of time I was waited on by a second gentleman from San Domingo, who made the same representations and was received in like manner. In view of the acts which had been laid before me, and with an earnest desire to maintain the Monroe doctrine, I believed that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not take measures to ascertain the exact wish of the government and inhabitants of the republic of San Domingo in regard to annexation, and to communicate the information to the people of the United States. Under the attending circumstances, I felt if I turned a deaf ear to this appeal that I might in future be justly charged with a flagrant neglect of the public interest, and an utter disregard of the welfare of a down-trodden race praying for the blessing of a free and strong government, and for protection in the enjoyment of the fruits of their own industry. Those opponents to annexation who have heretofore professed to be pre-eminently the friends of the rights of man I believed would be my most violent assailants if I neglected so clear a duty. Accordingly, after having appointed a Commissioner to visit the island, who declined on account of sickness, I selected a second gentleman, in whose capacity, judgment, and integrity I had, and have yet, unbounded confidence. He visited San Domingo, not to secure or hasten annexation, but unprejudiced, to learn the facts about the government, people and resources of that republic. He went certainly as well prepared to make an unfavorable report as a favorable one if the facts warranted it. This report fully corroborated the views of the previous Commissioners, and upon its report I felt that a sense of duty and due regard for our great national interests, required me to negotiate a treaty for the acquisition of the republic of San Domingo. As soon as it became publicly known that such a treaty had been negotiated, the attention of the country was occupied with allegations calculated to prejudice the merits of the case, and with those whose duty had connected them with it. Amidst the public excitement thus created, the treaty failed to receive the requisite two-thirds vote of the Senate, and was rejected; but whether the action of that body was based wholly upon the merits of the treaty, or might not have been in some degree influenced by such unfounded allegations, could not be known by the people, because the debates of the Senate in secret session are not published.

Under these circumstances I deemed it due to the office which I hold, and due to the character of the agents who had been charged with the investigation, that such proceedings should be had as would enable people to know the truth. A commission was therefore constituted, under the authority of Congress, consisting of gentlemen selected in special reference to their high character and capacity for the laborious work intrusted to them, who were instructed to visit the spot and report upon the facts. Other eminent citizens were requested to accompany the Commission in order that the people might have the benefit of their views. Students of science and correspondents of the press, without regard to political opinions, were invited to join the expedition, and their numbers were only limited by the capacity of the vessel.

The mere rejection by the Senate of a treaty negotiated by the President, only indicates a difference of opinion in the different branches of the Government without touching the character or wounding the pride of either. But when such a rejection takes place simultaneously with charges openly made of corruption on the part of the President or those employed by him, the case is different. Indeed, in such case the honor of the nation demands an investigation. This has been accomplished by the report of the Commissioner herewith transmitted, which fully vindicates the purity of the motives and action of those who represented the United States in the negotiation.

And now my task is finished, and with it ends all my personal solicitude on the subject. My duty being done, yours begins; and I gladly hand over the whole matter to the judgment of the American people and their representatives in Congress assembled. The facts will now be spread before the country and a decision rendered by that tribunal whose convictions so seldom err, and against whose will I have no policy to enforce. My opinion is unchanged; indeed, it is confirmed by the report that the interests of our country and San Domingo alike invite the annexation of the Republic. In view of the difference in opinion upon this subject, I suggest that no action be taken during the present session beyond the printing and general dissemination of the report. Before the next session of Congress the people will have considered the subject, and formed an intelligent opinion concerning it, to which opinion, deliberately made up, it will be the duty of every department of the Government to give heed, and no one will more cheerfully conform than myself. It is not only the theory of our Constitution that the will of the people constitutionally expressed is the supreme law, but I have ever believed that all men are wiser than one man; and if the people, upon a full presentation of the facts, shall decide that annexation is not desirable, every department of the Government ought to acquiesce in that decision.

In again submitting to Congress the subject upon which the public sentiment has been divided, and which has been made the occasion of acrimonious debates in Congress, as well as unjust assertions elsewhere, I may, I trust, be indulged in a single remark: No man can hope to perform duties so delicate and responsible as pertain to the Presidential office without sometimes incurring the hostility of those who deem their opinions and wishes treated with insufficient consideration, and he who undertakes to conduct the affairs of a great Government as a faithful public servant, if sustained by the approval of his own conscience, may rely with confidence upon the candor and intelligence of a free people whose best interests he has striven to subserve, and can bear with patience the censure of disappointed men.

U. S. GRANT.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, April 5, 1871.

Congressional Summary.

The session of the Senate, on the 4th, was occupied in a general debate on the Ku-Klux bill. It was finally agreed to take a vote on the resolution on the 5th inst.——Adjourned.

In the House the Ku-Klux bill is still under discussion. Various speeches were made for and against, but no decision arrived at. ——At 5 o'clock the House took a recess until 7:30.

In the Senate, on the 5th, Patterson introduced a bill to pay Gen. Schenck for his time of service on the Joint High Commission.——After discussing Sherman's Ku-Klux resolution for about three hours, it was passed by a vote of yeas 36, nays 12.—— After a brief Executive session, at 4:30 the doors reopened and a message received from the President of the United States, transmitting the report of the San Domingo Commissioners. The message was read by the Clerk, and upon its conclusion, Harlan moved to lay it on the table and print it.—— After considerable discussion, mainly of an informal character, the Vice-President stated that after taking the sense of the Senate on the motion to lay on the table, he would submit the question: Will the Senate consider the President's message this session? If this was determined negatively, then the motion to print would not be entertained, except by unanimous consent.——Harlan's motion to lay the message on the table was then agreed to. The question indicated by the Chair was then submitted, and, on motion of Chandler, was also tabled by 27 yeas to 18 nays. Harlan asked that, by unanimous consent, the printing of the message be ordered, and leave given to Mr. Morrill, of Vermont, to speak on Friday morning. It was finally agreed, by unanimous consent, to print the message, and that Mr. Morrill have leave to address the Senate on the question Friday morning, and no other speech shall be made.——At 5:45 the Senate adjourned.

In the House a letter was read from the Secretary of State asking that Schenck be paid his salary while acting on the Joint High Commission. No action was taken on it, however.——The consideration of the Ku-Klux bill was then resumed, and a number of speeches made on it, when Shellabarger gave notice that he should call for the previous question to-morrow.——The remainder of the session was occupied in a bitter and disgraceful personal controversy between Butler and Swann. This was the most disgraceful scene of the session, and was broken off by the reception of the President's San Domingo message.——Adjourned.

The morning hour of the Senate was occupied, on the 6th, by a personal explanation from Garret Davis in regard to his recent controversy with Butler.——Frelinghuysen was proceeding to speak on the Ku-Klux resolution, when, at 4 o'clock, the Senate went into Executive session and soon after adjourned.

In the House the Ku-Klux bill is still in order. Several gentlemen spoke upon it under the ten minute rule, among which was Voorhees, of Indiana, who said he had been South, and saw peace and order, but upon coming back to Congress learned that the country was in a bad condition. He was followed by De Large, of S. C. (colored). He said he represented a district in which there had been no outrages since reconstruction. He was perfectly free to admit that both parties were responsible for the present disturbed condition of affairs in South Carolina. He was thoroughly convinced that some legislation was necessary, but this would not be sufficient unless his Republican friends were willing to remove political disabilities, for they could not expect those now resting under them to exert themselves to preserve the public peace, when they have nothing to hope for in the future.——Farnsworth offered to amend by striking out the section authorizing the President to direct voluntary enlistments. He objected to enlarging the regular army. The amendment was agreed to—yeas, 112; nays, 87.——Amid a general offering of amendments, Shellabarger moved the previous question, and proceeded, upon the motion being seconded, to close the debate. His speech occupied an hour, and many of his statements were bold and startling. Among other things, he maintained that the position of the Democratic party in relation to this bill was one of conspiracy and incipient rebellion.——After the close of Shellabarger's speech the bill was passed under the operations of the previous question—yeas, 118; nays, 91.——Adjourned.

In the Senate, on the 7th, the Ku-Klux bill was received from the House and referred to the Judiciary Committee.——By unanimous consent, Morrill, of Vermont, was awarded the floor, and addressed the Senate in a three hours' speech against the San Domingo annexation.——The Senate then took up the concurrent resolution from the House for Joint Special Investigating Committee on the South. Hill spoke against the resolution. Casserly also stated reasons which induced him to oppose the resolution. ——The pending question being the House amendment increasing the number of the committee to fourteen from the House and seven from the Senate, was then voted upon, and the amendment concurred in by a party vote—yeas, 37; nays, 12. The Vice-President then appointed, to represent the Senate on the Committee, the present Select Committee on Outrages—Scott, Chandler, Nye, Rice, Wilson, Bayard and Blair.——At 6 o'clock, after Executive session, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

EFFECT OF FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE ON MILK.—The Rhode Island Cattle Commissioners employed Mr. Henry W. Vaughan, a practical analytical chemist, to analyze the milk of cows sick with the foot and mouth disease and during their recovery. The analyses showed a very serious disorganization of the normal constituents of the milk. The sugar is converted into acid, the percentage of water is largely increased, the proportion of fat is much diminished, while the appearance of globe globules indicates serious internal trouble. The recovery and restoration of the milk to a healthy condition is very rapid indeed, although it was shown that it was not entirely healthy three weeks from the beginning of the disease. In general remarks the Commissioners say: "The analysis of the mill we have given, as well as its appearance and odor, showing evidently that the milk of cows in the worst stages of the disease is entirely unfit for use, and probably dangerous to health."

A FRIEND of ours who is chief clerk in the Government Dispensary, says that no medicine chest is now complete without Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. We always supposed it was prescribed by law; if it is not, it ought to be, for certainly there is nothing in the whole materia medica of so much importance to the soldier and the sailor as Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

—It is reported that Thiers, instead of following up the advantages gained, and allowing his army to enter Paris, has commenced negotiations with the Commune, and that he has offered to concede many of its demands, and to exempt the leaders from punishment, in consideration of its recognizing the authority of the Assembly. The report causes intense excitement among conservative Deputies and in the army. The forces of the Commune are still in large numbers outside of Paris, but in extremely critical positions.

—The Princess of Wales gave birth to a fine boy on the 5th instant. The physicians report her condition satisfactory.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

Warm Weather—The Grain Market—Business—Woman Suffrage—Progress of the Northern Pacific Railroad—Jay Cooke & Co.—Young Men's Association.

CHICAGO, April 8, 1871.—The past few days have been unprecedentedly warm for this season. The grass in our parks is luxuriant, and the buds of the trees are fast expanding into leaves. The season is at least two weeks earlier than usual, and the only drawback to the prospect is the lack of rain.

THE GRAIN MARKET

is dull for most kinds except wheat, which ranges for No. 2 from $1.27⅝ to $1.28½, though the prices generally are maintained.

BUSINESS

is quite active, and the leading houses in the prominent branches of trade have been very active the past week. The sales this spring have largely exceeded those of last year, for this season.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

The Executive Committee of the Woman's State Suffrage Association had a stormy time at their meeting one day this week, and behaved about as badly as men often do, on similar occasions. I had supposed the divisions among the friends of this cause had been healed. But the tendency to divide and scatter seems irrepressible. Which shows that there is a great deal of human nature in women. Though their conduct does not determine the merits of their cause, yet it has much to do in promoting or preventing its success. Because people judge of a cause by the character of its advocates.

The people of the Northwest are deeply interested in the

PROGRESS OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD,

which is being pushed forward with remarkable energy. Trains are already running over 125 miles of completed track, from Lake Superior, and the grading is nearly finished 141 miles farther through Central Minnesota to the eastern border of Dakota. The Mississippi river is bridged at Brainerd, and track-laying is proceeding rapidly westward, and by September next trains will run to the Red river, and the grading nearly reach the Great Bend of the Missouri, in Central Dakota. Including its purchase of the St. Paul and Pacific road, the Northern Pacific Railroad has 413 miles of road now in operation, and before the close of the present season the length of finished track will be at least 560 miles. And as work has also been commenced on the Pacific coast with a large force, and will be pushed toward the center from both ends, and is being constructed at the lowest cost, compatible with first class work, we may expect to see it completed at an early day. The fiscal agents of the road, who provide the means for its construction, have a national reputation second to no house in this country. The stockholders have furnished six million dollars to complete the road through Minnesota and start it on the Pacific coast. The first mortgage seven-thirty gold bonds are now being sold, to complete this national highway. The company have fifty millions of acres of the best public lands—23,000 acres for each mile of road—so that with the revenues of the road, these bonds will be the safest and most profitable bonds in the market.

MESSRS. JAY COOKE & CO.,

MR. JOHN B. CALHOUN,

Land Commissioner of the Illinois Central Railroad, has resigned. Few Western railroad men have been longer in the service of our corporation than Mr. Calhoun. Coming to them in 1852, as Local Treasurer, to him was confided the payment of all the expenses of the construction of the 700 miles of road in Illinois. Soon after its completion he became connected with its land business, and for the last five years has been at the head of that department as Land Commissioner. How successfully the position has been filled may be seen from the reports of that department during the semi-decade. Sales of over 715,000 acres to 10,269 actual settlers for a total of $7,608,499.92 have been made, and within the same period over thirteen millions of dollars in cash have been derived by the company from land sources alone. While these vast results have been obtained, the management of the department under Mr. Calhoun has been characterized by a humane liberality that has won for the company a well-deserved gratitude from its 25,000 patrons now rejoicing under their own vine and fig tree. The last annual report of President Douglas says: "Of the original grant of land (2,595,000 acres) there have been sold 2,179,390 acres, of which 1,621,743 acres have been deeded, and are now subject to taxation. There are only 415,610 acres remaining unsold, and of these 256,847 acres are located south of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, and being heavily timbered and not so readily brought under cultivation as the open prairie lands, they have been and are slow of sale."

Alderman B. Daggy succeeds Mr. Calhoun as Commissioner, and his long connection with that department as its Secretary, renders him, by experience in the details of the business, admirably fitted to occupy the place so well and efficiently filled by his worthy predecessor.

YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

We have had quite a lively episode here recently, in an attempt by leading members of the Young Men's Christian Association to gobble up the Chicago Library Association, but after a wordy war, and a free use of "means," it was signally defeated. B.

A Curious Story.

A correspondent of Notes and Queries writes: In the churchyard of Tewin, Herts, is a remarkable ash tree growing out of the tomb of Lady Anne Grimstone, nee Tufton, daughter of Lady Thanet, who died in 1713. The tradition is that, being doubtful of a future state, she expressed a wish or prayer that if there was a future state, a tree might grow out of her heart. What foundation is there for this tradition? The editor adds: Oddly enough, the following paragraph, extracted from the Spiritual Times, December 23, 1865, bearing on the same subject, reached us simultaneously with the above. To use the words of our correspondent, Mr. Axon, "Can any one elucidate this marvelous legend?" No reference to it is made in Clutterbuck's "History and Antiquities of the County of Hertford." An Atheist's Prophecy Fulfilled: The churchyard of Tewin, in Hertfordshire, is a spot of some interest to the curious, from the fact of its being the resting place of the mortal remains of Lady Anne Grimstone. The "old wife's tale" of the neighborhood is to the effect that said Lady Anne Grimstone was an atheist, without a shadow of belief in the Deity, and that so firm was her belief in the non-existence of God, that at her death-bed her last words were to the effect that, if God existed, seven elm trees would grow out of her tomb-stone. Whether such words were used, and in such a manner, it is impossible to determine; but, whether the tale be correct or not, seven elm trees have sprung up through the solid tomb, and have broken away the solid masonry in all directions, making the reading of the inscription a difficult and almost impossible feat. The iron railings that surrounded the monument are in many places firmly imbedded in the trunks of the trees. The numerous names carved in all the available parts of the trunks attest the number of visitors curiosity has drawn to the spot. The trees are each distinct and separate, and notwithstanding the strangeness of the locality, appear to thrive well. Many suppositions to account for this growth have been started, but some are of so improbable a nature that the country people still cling to their favorite old story of Lady Anne's atheism.

Public Debt Statement.

The following is the April statement of the public debt:

Debt bearing coin interest	$1,914,341,250
Accrued interest	50,969,826
Bearing currency interest	53,493,000
Interest	577,990
Matured debt not paid	3,162,560
Interest	544,942
Bearing no interest	421,700,525
Unclaimed Pacific railroad interest	15,695
Total debt—Principal	$2,392,700,027
Interest	41,376,365
Grand total	$2,434,076,392
Cash in Treasury—
Coin	$105,697,860
Currency	18,686,346
Total	$124,384,046
Debt, less amount in Treasury	$2,309,682,342
Decrease of debt during past month	11,011,250
Decrease of debt since March 1, 1869	204,754,418
The following are the totals of bonds issued to the Pacific railroad companies:
Principal outstanding	$64,618,832
Interest accrued and not yet paid	969,282
Interest paid by United States	10,763,910
Interest repaid by transportation of mails	2,069,416
Balance of interest paid by United States	3,154,[illegible]

—Charles Rule, a prominent citizen of Cincinnati, died on the 6th inst.

New-York Notes.

By our own Correspondent.

Most of us Gothamites were woefully disappointed that the census did not give us over a million of inhabitants, and disposed at first to think that our Uncle's enumerators had missed some figures somewhere. But we have pretty much settled down into the belief that the folks were not at home—that the million, like the millionaire, has not come yet. And we see one of the chief reasons why not. We have no adequate facilities for rapid and comfortable transit to the upper end of the island, and so the population of all the neighboring cities and villages grows out of proportion to ours. The remedy is some sort of a road on the earth, or above it or under it, that will transport us and our wives and children rapidly and well. Various are the projects. A little bit of a pneumatic tunnel, which proposes to blow us up town, if only the leave of the Legislature can be got, has already been constructed, and is on exhibition; but as yet its builders have the right to carry freight only. It is by no means certain that such a mole-like mode would satisfy the public, if the right to attempt carrying passengers could be obtained. There is also the very melancholy elevated railroad in Greenwich street and Seventh avenue, upon which a steam dummy has lately been placed, and from which the promoters expect a great deal. But it has not begun to run yet, and it is very doubtful whether people will extensively patronize that way of getting high. Another plan proposes an elevated tunnel, supported on iron columns and arches, the cars to be propelled by air; but we fear its projectors will not be able to raise the wind necessary. The proposal which looks most feasible, however, and which is most likely to be carried out successfully to a practical result, is that the city shall build the much needed road. Many people believe that to provide such necessary conveniences for the use of the citizens is a work pre-eminently appropriate to be done by the city, and they point to the Croton Water Works and Central Park as examples of the advantages to be derived from such improvements so done. It is certain that several liberal charters have been granted to private persons, many of our most solid citizens among them, but of all nothing has resulted; while no one doubts that if the city should undertake the thing, it would be done, and probably well done. And "it were well 'twere done quickly."

Our new post office will be well done, no doubt, but it won't be done quickly, if the past is any criterion for the future. The world moves, and so does the building. It is a shame that this great metropolis should be compelled to use for its post office a thing of shreds and patches so utterly unsuitable as its present burrow; but we shall have to endure it, with only the encouragement that the new one will be really first-class and worthy, whenever it is completed.

We have lately been a good deal agitated on the question of the stability of our life insurance companies. Our confidence has received a rude shock by the failure of two companies, which have lately been wound up by our vigilant Superintendent. In the case of the Great Western there is no charge of dishonesty, but the assets were not what they appeared to be, and could not be collected. The amount necessary to reinsure the risks, or, as it is called, the reserve, was not there; only the shadow of it remained. Thousands of persons, whose families depend upon the solvency of life insurance companies for protection in the event of the death of the breadwinner, are anxiously asking how far this weakness extends. If two companies fail, why may not others? If the Great Western, which had a nominally sufficient reserve, proved not really to have it, how are we to be sure that any company has what it professes to have? This is a fair question, and entitled to a fair answer. Happily there is a way in which it can be satisfactorily answered. The system of State deposit and State registration fully meets this question, and removes all doubts. Other companies may be, and doubtless many are, safe and sound, but a registration company must be. Why? Because they deposit with the Insurance Department at Albany, the entire sum necessary to meet their liabilities to their policy holders; that is, the amount necessary to insure their risks, or the "reserve." This "reserve" is calculated by the Department according to the law which was originally passed at the suggestion of Mr. N. D. Morgan, President of the North American Life Insurance Co., to whose sagacity and love of justice we owe the Registration System, and the deposit to meet it can only be made in bonds and mortgages, and State and United States stocks, the former of which must be approved by the Department. The law provides for the keeping of these securities in such a manner that it is almost an impossibility that they should ever be stolen, and certain that the thief could make no use of them if any one should by any possibility ignorantly steal them. Under this system there can be no doubtful or bogus items in the reserve, and the reserve is the citadel of life insurance; when that is safe, all is safe; when that is lost, all is lost.

The policy holders of the North America Life Insurance Company know not only that the trustees who have charge of the funds which they have devoted to the protection of their loved ones are honest, but that they have chosen to demonstrate to all the world that they are so, by putting it out of their power to be otherwise. This final crowning glory of life insurance entitles such a company to be called the safest financial institution in existence.

There can be no fears or doubts about it; probably most, if not all, companies will sooner or later be forced to imitate the North America; meanwhile all honor to the originator and pioneer.

There is also a curious state of things in the fire insurance business, but I have already spun out this letter to such a length that I must reserve that for another time.

Pure Medicinal Preparations.

We copy the following article from the New York Druggists' Price Current, as it gives information which is not only of importance to the medical profession, but to the public generally:

The history of improvements made within a few years past, in the preparation of medicinal agents, is scarcely known except by the more intelligent class of druggists and the medical profession; and a statement embracing all the really valuable additions to pharmacy and the convenience of the physician would be entertaining and profitable reading for the public generally.

In the absence of such details in form for reference, we propose to give our readers, from time to time, some facts respecting the more important advances in this direction, and especially the improvements which experience has amply demonstrated to be of value to the world at large. Every careful reader of the leading medical journals published at home and abroad must be aware of the great difficulty encountered by the pioneers in new methods of preparation, or the administration of medicinal agents; and whoever promulgates a new theory at once subjects himself to the severest criticisms, and success can only be realized when the improvement offered has been put through the crucible of professional scrutiny, and thoroughly tested by practical application on a scale sufficient to afford unquestionable results; and this is the only way we have ever arrived at a proper estimate of the real and permanent value of improvements.

It must be considered that, in all the range of scientific development, there is no department which so directly involves the welfare of mankind, because, after all, the enjoyment of health and protection against disease are absolutely necessary for our success; hence it is that, from the earliest times, the Medical Profession has been adorned by the highest order of intellectual endowments and scholarly attainments, exhibiting an amount of skill and wisdom hardly aggregated in any other of the learned professions.

We did not intend to say so much in general terms, as our object was to give our readers some idea of an establishment which, more than any other in this country, or perhaps in the world, has contributed to the wants of the Medical Profession and Druggists generally. We refer to Messrs. TILDEN & Co., of New Lebanon, and in this city; and, if space would allow, we are sure the majority of our readers would like more details than we can give at this time.

It is now nearly twenty years since the Messrs. TILDEN commenced the manufacture of their "Fluid and Solid Extracts," in vacuo, to which they have since added "Sugar-coated Pills and Granules," of the U. S. Pharmacopœia, Concentrations, and many of the most valuable Pharmaceutical Preparations.

From the beginning on a small scale with the vacuum apparatus, which was then scarcely known, they have studied assiduously to apply every improvement as fast as experience has demonstrated its value, and now their establishment may be said to embrace all the appliances of modern invention required for the best possible manipulation of medicinal agents; and their works have been remodeled, and received additions from time to time, until the premises now occupy about half an acre of ground, and the vast amount of machinery is driven by a powerful steam engine, located in an adjoining fire-proof building.

Anything like a description of the numerous appliances in the different departments of their extensive laboratory would require more than the columns of our paper; but we can give some idea when we state that the capacity of the entire number of vacuum pans employed exceeds six thousand gallons, and these are used in the manufacture of Solid and Fluid Extracts.

In the department for Pills and Granules every recent improvement is adopted, besides the various devices for saving labor and waste of material, which are the results of a long and practical experience in the manipulation of the more delicate combinations of potent drugs, and the necessity of accurate and strictly correct exhibition of quantities required in the minutest attenuations.

The advantages enjoyed by the Messrs. Tilden, of a local character, are worthy of mention, and explain how they have attained such a reputation for the efficiency and medicinal value of their preparations.

All the herbs, barks and roots of indigenous growth are gathered by those who have experience, and each and every article is brought into the Laboratory at the season when it contains most of medicinal value. A large amount of these materials are gathered by the farmers and others, over a large section of country around the Laboratory; and, in addition to such supplies, the Messrs. Tilden have under cultivation some forty acres near their premises.

These advantages, acquired by a long experience, and patient as well as persistent labor, afford the facilities which are of greatest importance in this business, and cannot be enjoyed except by those similarly situated, and giving attention, more or less, to the cultivation of indigenous medicinal products, so as to get all the benefits of improved culture.

In this connection, it is only doing justice to speak of Mr. H. A. Tilden's various and important contributions to medical science. We refer more especially to his elaborate report to the Pharmaceutical Society upon the cultivation of narcotic plants, in which he carefully illustrates how fully the active properties can be developed, at will, by scientific culture.

The profession are hardly aware of the labor required to reach the developments and improvements which have been made in the long experience of this establishment. Besides the general business, they issue a valuable Journal of Materia Medica from their extensive printing department, and have recently issued their Supplement to Materia Medica, which is a valuable addition to the library of every physician, and useful as a reference-book for druggists.

The Markets.

CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice	$7.00	a 7.25
Prime	6.50	a 6.70
Fair Grades	5.50	a 5.75
STOCK CATTLE—Common	3.75	a 4.50
Inferior	2.25	a 3.25
BUTTER—Choice	.21	a .36
EGGS—Fresh	.12	a .12½
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	7.25	a 9.00
Spring Extra	6.21	a 6.50
GRAIN—Corn—No. 2	.53⅜	a .53¼
Barley—No. 2, new	.88	a .92
Oats—No. 2	.48¾	a .49
Rye—No. 2	.93	a .93½
Wheat—Spring, No. 1, new	1.30	a 1.30½
No. 2, new	1.27⅝	a 1.28½
LARD	....	a .11¾
PORK—Mess	20.50	a21.27½
NEW YORK.
COTTON—Middling	....	a .15½
FLOUR—Extra Western	7.25	a 7.65
WHEAT—No. 1 Spring, new	1.58½	a 1.61
RYE—Western	....	a 1.13½
BARLEY—State	....	a 1.12
CORN—Mixed Western	.80	a .82
OATS—Western	.67	a .72½
PORK—Mess	....	a21.00
LARD	.12¼	a .12⅜
CINCINNATI.
FLOUR—Family	$6.20	a 6.50
WHEAT—Red	1.36	a 1.40
CORN—Mixed	....	a .57
OATS	.52	a .53
RYE—No. 1	1.04	a 1.06
BARLEY—Fall	.90	a .95
LARD	.11⅞	a .12
PORK—Mess	20.75	a21.00
ST. LOUIS.
FLOUR—XX	6.25	a 6.50
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	....	a 1.42
CORN—Mixed	.49½	a .51
OATS—Mixed	.49	a .51
RYE	.92	a .98
BARLEY	1.10	a 1.20
PORK—Mess	20.75	a21.00
LARD	.12	a .12½
MILWAUKEE.
FLOUR—Spring Extra	6.00	a 6.10
WHEAT—Spring No. 1	....	a 1.32
No. 2	....	a 1.28½
CORN—New Mixed	....	a .60
OATS—No. 2	.52	a .53
RYE—No. 1	....	a .91
BARLEY—No. 2	....	a .78

NOW IS THE TIME!
—TO—SECURE YOUR TICKETS —FOR THE—
GRAND GIFT CONCERT!
—OF THE—
Milwaukee Musical Society,
WHICH TAKES PLACE ON Wednesday Evening, April 26, 1871, at
MUSIC HALL.

IMMENSE SALE OF TICKETS!

The most gratifying reports are being received from our agents, and from present indications we are warranted in saying that there will be

No Postponement!
No Postponement!
No Postponement!

The Sale of Tickets will Close on Saturday, April 22d,
And our Agents are hereby notified that all tickets remaining unsold must be returned by that time to the office of the General Agent at Milwaukee.

$80,000 IN CASH
To be Distributed in GREENBACKS!
1 Gift $25,000 - - - - - $25,000
1 GIFT, $5,000 ... $5,000
5 GIFTS, 1,000 ... 5,000
20 GIFTS, 500 ... 10,000
50 GIFTS, 100 ... 5,000
100 GIFTS, 50 ... 5,000
And 2,000 Other Cash Gifts, Amounting to $80,000.

TICKETS, - - - - $2.00 EACH.

All prizes will be paid on the day after the drawing. Parties at a distance, who may draw prizes, can forward their tickets for collection through the Express Companies. The award of prizes will be announced by telegraph in all the principal cities of the Union.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION.—One hundred thousand numbers, representing the tickets issued, will be placed in one wheel, and two thousand one hundred and seventy-seven cards, inscribed with the amounts of the gifts, will be placed in another. From these wheels a number and a gift will be drawn simultaneously; the Numbers drawn, in each instance, taking the Gift drawn at the same time. The wheels are being constructed ESPECIALLY FOR THIS OCCASION, and will be made on the most approved plans. No pains or expense will be spared to make the drawing in every respect satisfactory to the public, and ticket-holders may be assured that their interests will be carefully watched and protected.

HOW TO SEND MONEY.—Send by Bank Draft, Postoffice Order, or Registered Letter. By remitting 15 cents additional, parties can have their tickets forwarded in Registered Letter.
W. H. JACOBS, President Milwaukee Musical Society.
T. L. BAKER, Treasurer, Cashier Milwaukee National Bank.
EMIL WALLBER, Secretary Milwaukee Musical Society.

H. N. HEMPSTED,
PIANO and MUSIC DEALER,
410 Broadway, Milwaukee, Wis.,
Is the authorized General Agent, to whom all correspondence should be addressed.

"It Saved My Life."

WORDS OF A RELIABLE DRUGGIST.

What is the Value of Money when Compared to Health.

Allen's Lung Balsam

Is warranted to break up the most troublesome Cough in an incredibly short time. There is no remedy that can show more evidence of real merit than this BALSAM for curing Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, &c.

It Acts on the Kidneys,
It Acts on the Liver,
☞ Which makes it more than a Cough Remedy.

☞ Read the following from a reliable druggist of Michigan:

MARINE CITY, Mich., July 27, 1870.
J. N. Harris & Co.—Dear Sir: The Allen's Lung Balsam has arrived. I would not like to be without it, for it has saved my life. I took a bad cold and cough, and finally Consumption was seated upon me. I was in a very bad state. I tried everything that was recommended, and spent a great deal of money, but got no help. I had the Allen's Lung Balsam for sale, but I knew nothing of its merits. I did not like to take it, without knowing more about it. I had not sold a bottle. When your agent called on me I told him I could not sell a medicine I knew nothing about. He urged me to try it myself. I did so, and to my grateful surprise the first bottle stopped my cough, and before the third bottle was taken my lungs were healed and well, and I can now speak knowingly to my frinds and customers of the qualities of Allen's Lung Balsam.
I remain, respectfully,
L. C. COTTREL.

It is Harmless to the most Delicate Child.

It Contains No Opium in Any Form.

It is Sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Call for "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM," and shun the use of any other Balsam. Unprincipled men may deceive you with worthless preparations.

CALL FOR ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

J. N. HARRIS & CO., Proprietors,
Cincinnati, O.

For sale by GREENE & BUTTON, Milwaukee; H. BOSWORTH & SONS, Milwaukee; FULLER, FINCH & FULLER, Chicago; COLLINS BROS., St. Louis; NOYES BROTHERS, St. Paul.

FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE

Cleans Kid Gloves and all kinds of Cloths and Clothing; removes Paint, Grease, Tar, &c., instantly, without the least injury to the finest fabric. Sold by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers. FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE CO., 33 Barclay St., New York; 46 La Salle St., Chicago.

FREE! FREE! FREE!—The book of new receipts, an illustrated book of the odd, quaint, curious and interesting; 72 pages; 80 illustrations. Mailed for two stamps. Address BLACKIE & CO., 746 Broadway, New York.

CURIOSITY—$1, $2 and $5 [U] bill sent as a curiosity for 50c. H. S. JONES, Denver City, Col.

What is it?

Many, many people suffer from they know not what. They are not sick—they are not well. There is no name for it. It is simply weakness—a breaking down of the vital forces. Whatever its causes (and they are innumerable), its symptoms are in the main the same. Among the most prominent are extreme lassitude, loss of appetite, and great mental depression. Indigestion and a stomach cough are also frequently concomitants of this distressing state of body and of mind. The common remark in relation to persons in such a condition [illegible] umptive. No [illegible] 00,000 vitiated in [illegible] vigor, dar[illegible] succeeds said Cem[illegible] and re- brat[illegible] new Cele- vivi[illegible] direc[illegible] life-re- The dying flame of an empty lamp requires to be revived with a new supply of oil. Perfectly pure and innocuous, containing nothing but the most genial vegetable extracts, and combining the three grand elements of a stomachic, an alterative, and a genial invigorant, Hostetter's Bitters are suitable to all constitutions, and are as applicable to the diseases and disabilities of the feebler sex as to those of men.

and pinned securely
There is no short veil is the price.
The Bridal Chap[illegible]
garland of half blo[illegible] mingled with spiral a[illegible]
It is laid across the Po[illegible]

GEO. WOODS' ORGANS.

SEE THEM! HEAR THEM!
New styles now ready. For Circulars containing NEW MUSIC, free, apply to Agents, Music Dealers, or GEO. WOODS & CO., Boston.

FERRATED WINE
OF WILD CHERRY,
FOR
Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervousness, &c.

This agreeable and highly efficacious Wine is prepared so as to present to invalids a reliable combination of the valuable elements of CHERRY, PHOSPHORUS AND IRON, in a form more acceptable than the ordinary preparations of Iron.

An Iron Tonic and Sedative specially adapted to the delicate constitution of LADIES, in cases of general weakness, loss of nervous energy and impoverished blood. It promotes the appetite, gives renewed strength and energy to the whole system.

TILDEN & CO.,
PHARMACEUTISTS AND CHEMISTS,
New Lebanon, N. Y., and 176 William St., New York.
For Sale by Druggists generally.

NEW SABBATH SCHOOL MUSIC.

THE PEARL FOR SABBATH SCHOOLS BY J. M. Kieffer

An entire new collection of BEAUTIFUL SABBATH SCHOOL MUSIC. No old or worn out tunes, but everything NEW, FRESH and SPARKLING. Words and Music by the best writers in the country. Specimen copies sent FREE, or a single copy mailed on receipt of 35 cents. Price, $30 per hundred. Every person interested in S. S. Music should examine THE PEARL. Address S. BRAINARD & SONS, Publishers, Cleveland, O.

BICKFORD FAMILY KNITTING MACHINE.

The Oldest, Most Practical, and the Best. I can knit a Stocking complete without taking it from the Machine till it is finished—BURKE L. FITZGERALD, Canaan, Me. The more I use it the better I like it.—Mrs. CROSBY CURTIS, Medina, O. Altogether, it works beyond my expectations.—Mrs. ALVIRA WALKER, Malone, N. Y.

Send for Descriptive Circular—sent free—which contains many similar recommendations. Price $25 to $75. Agents wanted. Address BICKFORD KNITTING MACHINE CO., 30 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.

PATENTS FOR INVENTORS

Should be applied for through Edson Brothers, Patent Attorneys, 514 Ninth Street, Washington, D. C. ☞ If we report an invention patentable, we abate our fee until the patent is allowed. Send for circular.

YOUNG MEN desiring a successful start in Business Life attend Eastman College—the oldest, best and most reasonable practical School, and the only one providing situations for graduates. Address, for Catalogue of 3,000 in business, H. G. EASTMAN, LL. D., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

5 CENTS—Sent to E. POPE VOSE, Publisher, Rockland, Maine, will procure sample copies of the Young People's Helper, 16 pages, 50c a year, best youth's paper for price in country, with list of 250 Premiums. ☞ DON'T FAIL to get it!

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY
MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE
FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

They are not a vile FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.
☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

FOR
HAND AND MACHINE SEWING,
J. & P. COATS'
BEST
SIX-CORD IN ALL NUMBERS,
From No. 8 to No. 100 inclusive.
FOR SALE BY
All Dealers in Dry Goods and Notions.

FARMERS
A treatise on the culture of a very profitable crop, sent free.
GEO. L. SQUIER & BRO.,
BUFFALO, N. Y.

REDUCTION OF PRICES
TO CONFORM TO
REDUCTION OF DUTIES.
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS,
BY GETTING UP CLUBS.
Send for our New Price List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers, and remunerative to club organizers.
THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 and 33 Vesey Street,
P. O. Box — NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

THEA-NECTAR

THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA, with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5503. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

DO NOT DESPAIR

Young men suffering from nervous debility, seminal weakness, premature decay, if you want a sure cure send a stamp and learn how to do it. Try us, and do not send to quack doctors. "Pretended fellow sufferers," with their bogus "self-cures," and other frauds and humbugs, avoid them. We have no drugs or patent poisons to sell. Address C. MACKEY, 86 Centre Street, New York.

$5 TO $10 PER DAY.—MEN, WOMEN, BOYS and GIRLS who engage in our new business make from $5 to $10 per day in their own localities. Full particulars and instructions sent free by mail. Those in need of permanent, profitable work, should address at once.
GEORGE STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

50 CENTS—THE WEEKLY WISCONSIN, THE GREAT STORY PAPER, containing all of the thrilling story entitled BLACK SHEEP, by Edmund Yates, continuing four months, commencing April 12th. The best and cheapest weekly paper printed. Terms, $1.50 per year; 50 cents four months. Address CRAMER, AIKENS & CRAMER, Milwaukee, Wis.

GENUINE NORWAY OATS, CHESTER COUNTY MAMMOTH CORN and ALSIKE CLOVER. Sample packages SENT FREE to all Farmers; also a copy of the AMERICAN STOCK JOURNAL, by inclosing stamp to N. P. BOYER & CO., Parkersburg, Chester county, Pa.

VINEGAR—How made in 10 hours, without drugs. Particulars 10 cents. F. SAGE, Cromwell, Conn.

TO THE WORKING CLASS.—We are now prepared to furnish all classes with constant employment at home, the whole of the time or for the spare moments. Business new, light and profitable. Persons of either sex easily earn from 50c to $5 per evening, and a proportional sum by devoting their whole time to the business. Boys and girls earn nearly as much as men. That all who see this notice may send their address, and test the business, we make this unparalleled offer: To such as are not well satisfied, we will send $1 to pay for the trouble of writing. Full particulars, a valuable sample, which will do to commence work on, and a copy of The People's Literary Companion—one of the largest and best family newspapers published—all sent free by mail. Reader, if you want permanent, profitable work, address
E. C. ALLEN & CO., AUGUSTA, MAINE.

BLOOMINGTON NURSERY, ILL.
19th Year. 600 Acres. 13 Greenhouses.
Largest Assortment—all sizes. Best Stock! Low Prices! Would you know What, When, How to Plant!
Fruit, Shade, Evergreen Trees; Root Grafts, Seedlings, Osage Plants; Apple Seed, Early Rose Potatoes; Shrubs; Roses, Greenhouse and Garden Plants, &c., &c.
FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SEEDS
Finest, Best Collection—Sorts and Quality.
Send 10 cents for New, Illustrated, Descriptive Catalogue—90 pages. Send stamp, each, for Catalogue of Seeds, with plain directions—64 pages; Bedding and Garden Plants—32 pages, and Wholesale Price List—24 pages. Address
F. K. PHOENIX, Bloomington, Illinois.

THIS IS NO HUMBUG.
BY SENDING 35 CENTS, with age, height, color of eyes and hair, you will receive, by return mail, a correct picture of your future husband or wife, with name and date of marriage. Address W. FOX, P. O. Drawer No. 18, Fultonville, New York.

PERFUMERY
FOR THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT and best terms, call upon or address
C. B. WOODWORTH & SON,
Rochester, N. Y.
New York Office, 335 Broadway.

READ "Convent Life Unveiled," by Edith O'Gorman. Price $1.50. Sold by all booksellers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by CONN. PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

$5,000 REWARD
for a superior article. $5 to $20 per day and no risk. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to introduce our new 7-strand White Wire-Rope Clothes Lines, which will last for ever. Don't miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Co., 75 William St., N. Y., or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Agents! Read This!
WE WILL PAY AGENTS A SALARY OF $30 per week and expenses, or allow a large commission, to sell our new wonderful inventions. Address M. WAGNER & CO., Marshall, Mich.

Auditor's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

VOL. I. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 20, 1871. NO. 16.

THE AUBURN COURIER,

Published Every Thursday,

—BY—

T. C. MAYS,

Editor and Proprietor.

OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

One year.......... $2.00
Six months.......... 1.00
Three months.......... .50

JOHN W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 3-30

D. D. MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office over J. Abright's Jewelry Store, corner of Main and Eighth streets, in front of the Court House. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR

Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,

No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. B. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. THOS. D. GROSS, C. P.
JNO. W. RICKEL, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
C. WYLAND, N. G.
S. L. YANDES, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind.

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN, SURGEON and ACCOUCHEUR. At your service professionally. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office and residence, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

A Human Curiosity in Hoboken.

Mr. John Winkler, a German, has just erected, on the highest peak of the rocky range of land at the western extremity of Hoboken, an observatory, at an expense of about $20,000. It is styled the Mountain Park Observatory. The building is of wood, and 100 feet high, while the ground on which it stands has an elevation of 235 feet above the Hudson river level, giving a total altitude of 335 feet to the observer.

A telescope twenty-two feet long, one of the largest in the United States, is mounted there. The view to be obtained is one of the most extensive that can be obtained anywhere near New York. Newark, Rutherford Park, Paterson and Sandy Hook can be distinctly seen. A fine view of the Orange and Poingston Mountains can also be obtained. The time of Trinity Church clock can be ascertained to a minute, and the business signs in New York read distinctly. The water in the Croton Reservoir, Central Park, is also plainly visible.

Mr. Winkler is most enthusiastic over what he considers an achievement in behalf of Jersey science How he is to get his money back is a question that seems not in the slightest to trouble him. He attends himself personally to his sight-seeing visitors, regulates the glass, and points out such objects of interest as he deems should come under their eye. He has adjusted a kind of regulator which is at once novel and appropriate. It is of crimson silk, falling down over his breast and shoulders, and bearing in front, in large gilt letters, the word "Happiness," and on the back, in the same style, "Pleasure." This, he says, is allegorical, and indicates his character.

He assures his visitors in great confidence that he is a member of a society of which society there is no other living member. What he wears at night when he visits the observatory he protests no human eye hath ever seen, nor ear hath heard, except the visitor. He talks mysteriously of mounting a light on the summit of his observatory, which is to be visible from all parts of the country and Sandy Hook.

THE direct way of ameliorating the condition of the world is indirect. The true philanthropist shows his love for men by keeping his hands off. Wise charity lets alone. A little more of that homely, old-fashioned virtue of minding one's own business would save society, as well as individuals, from untold miseries, and reduce the number of misery-makers.

A WILLFUL falsehood told, is a cripple not able to stand by itself without something to support it; it is easy to tell a lie, hard to tell but a lie.—Thomas Fuller.

IT IS THE little things of our life that are great in their results.

Proverb-Poem.

"Those who seek to please everybody please nobody."

It happened, once upon a time,
A man, whose age was forty-nine,
All of a sudden, thought his life
Would be more cheerful with a wife.

So he began to "look round"
To see what maiden could be found
Worthy to share his home and heart,
And faithful prove till life depart.

But finding two that pleased his eyes,
He thought, "Now, each would be a prize.
I'll court them both, one at a time;
Whichever's best, she shall be mine."

I should have mentioned, by the way,
The man already was quite gray;
And for the ladies, one was young,
And fair as ever poet sung.

The other, old and sour and thin;
But what of that? She had the "tin."
So each he sought with equal zest,
Till time should settle which was best.

It happened that the elder maid
Of one thing found herself afraid;
Her mirror told her that she seemed
Older than he she so esteemed;

And, having formed a novel plan,
She went to work upon the man;
Whene'er he came to urge his suit,
She plucked each black hair by the root.

The younger one, ashamed to wed
A man who had so gray a head,
While he would sit and talk of love,
She tried each gray hair to remove.

And he submitted, nothing loath,
So anxious was he to please both;
Until, before his choice was made,
He'd no hair left upon his head!

Then neither maid the man would wed,
Because he had so bald a head.
Thus with his hair he lost by this
All his fond hopes of wedded bliss.

Thus does it always prove with those
Who would please all: whate'er they lose,
They'll surely find, that, in the end,
They have not gained one faithful friend.

—Oliver Optic's Magazine.

SMUGGLING OPIUM.

An Adventure in India.

For five years had I sailed in the ship Formosa, in the capacity of first mate. She was an old China trader, and every trip that I made I saw splendid opportunities by which I could make money, and I determined on this occasion—the third trip of the Formosa—to leave her in Shanghae, and try my luck on the coast of China. My cousin, Ralph Hasty, was third mate of the ship, and when I made known my intentions for the future to him, he signified his willingness to leave the old ship also, and link his fortune to mine.

Accordingly, when we dropped our anchor in the river, after the sails had been furled, the yards squared, ropes laid up, and decks swept, I approached the skipper and told him of my intentions. For a while he tried to dissuade me from leaving; but, finding that my mind was firmly made up, he at last consented to let us both go, and within two hours after the arrival of the Formosa we found ourselves ashore and at liberty to come or go at our pleasure. I was well acquainted with the principal houses in Shanghae, and after securing accommodation at a good hotel, I proceeded at once to the office of Messrs. G—— & Co., Ralph, of course, accompanying me. On a former occasion the principal of the firm made a proposition to me to enter into his employ, but not being prepared to leave the ship, I respectfully declined his offer, and he had told me that at any time I wanted a situation to call on him, and he would assist me.

I was now about to test the sincerity of his assertions, and, entering his office, I was soon in close confab with Mr. O——. I introduced my cousin to him and made known my wants, and, suffice it to say, that in half an hour I found myself in command of a full-rigged clipper brig, with orders to proceed at once to Calcutta, there to take in a cargo of opium, and run to Macao, where a quantity of opium boats would be on the look-out to receive us. Liberal pay and commissions were offered, and we both joyfully accepted Mr. O——'s proposal, with many thanks.

We went at once on the brig, which was lying abreast of Mr. O——'s warehouse. She was called the Ariel, and had but lately arrived, being built expressly for the trade.

With her low black hull, tall, rakish masts and immense square yards, she was a perfect model of nautical beauty. The Ariel was well armed, having two guns on a side, and a long brass thirty-two amidships. On the forward part of the afterhouse boarding pikes were arranged in racks, their steel points polished bright as gold. The mainmast was encircled by a row of cutlasses, ground sharp as a razor, while, in a large arm-chest on the quarter-deck were stowed spare pistols and cutlasses in any quantity.

It was absolutely necessary at the time I write of to be prepared at any moment to resist the attack of a Malay or Chinese pirate, and especially in the trade we were about to engage in, to be ready to repel any assault that might be made upon us from the mandarin boats, whose duty it was to prevent the smuggling of opium into the country. The Emperor of China had issued an edict against bringing the article into the market, and the penalty, if caught, was severe, often death. But the delicious drug was eagerly sought after, and enormous prices paid, and as it grew extensively in India, and could be purchased reasonably, it gave rise to a large and lucrative business.

The southwest monsoons were blowing fresh at the time, and a long and tedious beat we had of it down the China Sea. It was an excellent opportunity, however, to try the sea qualities, as well as the sailing capacities, of the Ariel, and in every respect she proved herself worthy of the name and reputation of being the fastest thing afloat on the China Sea, and would go to windward like a porpoise. We reached Calcutta in safety, without meeting any adventure worthy of being mentioned, and taking in our opium, the chests were safely stowed and the hatches securely battened down. With a light wind we sailed down the river, and getting clear of the Sandheads, the pilot left us, and making all sail, I headed the Ariel for the Straits of Malacca.

I have never before or since seen a vessel of the Ariel's tonnage that carried the amount of canvas that she did. Her courses were large, the top-sails were large enough for a vessel of twice her size, and above them towered the top-gallant-sails, royals and sky-sails; on every stay was a stay-sail, even to the main-skysail-stay, and when running before the wind she carried studding sails from her royals down. Such was the Ariel's canvas, and we were prepared to show a clean pair of heels to any craft that might be disposed to make any inquiries. I had a crew of fifteen men—stout, able fellows, who were afraid of nothing. I allowed them to amuse themselves in any way they fancied; all that I required of them was to keep the Ariel in order, and make and take in sail when necessary.

After we had beat to the northward of Singapore it was all plain sailing. Being now fairly in the China Sea we had the wind nearly aft, and crowding on every stitch of canvas I made the Ariel fly along like a humming bird.

We were now rapidly nearing the coast of China, and I thought it best to prepare against any attacks that might be made. The pistols were loaded, cutlasses placed ready at hand and boarding nettings got up between the rigging, which could be stowed along the rail when not in use.

We sighted the Ladrone Islands, which are but a short distance from the Macao, and Ralph and myself were congratulating ourselves that our trip would soon be over without meeting a single obstacle. But alas! we reckoned without our host, for at that instant the man at the lookout reported two boats in sight, and, turning my glass in the direction pointed out, I saw two of the long, sharp mandarin boats approaching. Among those islands the breeze was light, and there was no opportunity to escape. We had got to fight. It would never do to let those fellows take us. Ralph and I talked the matter over, and decided to fight them as long as we could. The boats were approaching rapidly, their long oars fairly making them leap from the water. Loading up the long thirty-two, I trained it upon them, and, as the ball went skipping past them, they lay on their oars and held a consultation.

In the mean while the men were all armed, and ready to defend the Ariel to the last gasp. I had again loaded up Long Tom, this time with musket-balls, also the broadside guns, and awaited the attack. It was not long before they were reinforced by another boat, each one crammed full of men, and with long, steady strokes they pulled toward us. We were now hopelessly becalmed, and our position was desperate. I was certain, if we fell into the hands of the wretches, that they would torture us to death by inches, and I had no more compunctions about shooting a Chinaman than I would a mad-dog. Many a sailor's body have I seen floating down the river, while lying at anchor in Shanghae, murdered by the rascally Chinese boatmen for the sake of gaining a few coppers.

I did not allow them to engage us at close quarters without speaking a few words of remonstrance through the medium of Long Tom, and with so much effect that one boat was sunk, several killed, and the survivors swam to the other boats, and were taken in by their comrades.

The other two boats now advanced rapidly to the attack, and pulled directly to the bow, where we could not bring a gun to bear upon them. One boat made for the starboard, the other for the port bow, and, jumping into our head-gear, they tried to force an entrance into our boarding nettings, but we quickly picked them off with our rifles and pistols, and the long, deadly thrust of the boarding-pikes kept them at bay.

With their sharp knives they endeavored to cut the nettings, but before one of them could get a second cut, they were tumbled back, wounded, dying and bleeding, into their boats.

For a moment there was a lull in the conflict, and then, with a fierce rush, they cut and hacked a hole through the nettings, although a dozen fell in the attempt. My men fought well, and kept their ground, and the battle raged fiercely around the bows and topgallant forecastle of the Ariel. With a boarding-pike in my hand, I skillfully kept the Chinamen at bay. Already had I slain three with my own hand, but they pressed us hard, and fought like tigers. My men were getting tired, and the Chinamen in overpowering numbers were clustering on the forecastle. Already were my men being forced back inch by inch, and the yelling fiends were following up their advantage, with the mandarin officers in the advance, cheering on the party.

In an instant more we would be overpowered, and food for the sharks, when a brilliant idea flashed through my brain. Rushing into the galley I seized a burning brand from the cook's stove, and in a voice of thunder, that was heard far above the din and roar of battle, shouted:

"Fall back, Ariels! retreat to the quarter deck!"

All hands heard it and obeyed, and as the Chinamen were running aft in pursuit, I let drive the contents of Long Tom among them. The gun was crammed to the muzzle with musket balls, and it was fired almost into their very faces. The carnage was terrible; their leader had fallen, and they huddled together wavering, and undecided what to do.

Drawing my cutlass, I shouted for my men to follow, and with a fierce charge we drove them, like frightened sheep, before us, and over they went pell-mell from our bows into their boats.

A light breeze now filled our sails, and every rig was set to catch the wind that was stirring. The two mandarin boats dropped rapidly astern, glad to get out of our way; but my blood was up, and I wasn't going to let them off so easily. The breeze increased steadily till the "Ariel" was rushing through the water at the rate of nine knots. Taking in the light kites, I put the wheel hard down, and the "Ariel" came dancing round and was soon close-hauled on the other tack.

On rushed the brig with the speed of a sword-fish. The Chinamen saw their danger, but too late to avoid it. With a terrible crash, followed by a yell of despair, the sharp cutwater of the Ariel struck the largest boat amidships, cutting her in two as clean as a knife could have done it.

"Just look there;" and Ralph pointed toward the main island, where four large mandarin boats were approaching.

"Let them come; we have a breeze now, and can laugh at them. If they do not disturb us, I will not harm them; but if they injure a hair of our heads, they shall rue it, every mother's son of them!"

Once more I put the wheel hard down, and the Ariel hove in stays.

"I will keep her on her course now, and see if these fellows have learned wisdom by experience. I see the other boat has joined them, and the men are probably busy in telling them the fate of their comrades."

"Ah! ha! they intend to try us again, as I live," shouted Ralph, and a six-pound ball whistled through the mainsail.

The mandarin boats were flying through the water at a rapid rate. I could have easily up helm, and run away from them all, but my temper was aroused; and just so long as the Chinamen wanted to fight, I was bound to satisfy their pugnacious propensities, as long as my powder and balls lasted. Every once in a while I would luff, allowing them to approach nearer and nearer. They kept pegging away at us with their popguns, trying to bring some of our top-hamper down about our ears, but in this they were disappointed. They succeeded at last in hitting us on the rail, and a shower of splinters flew around us, followed by a shout and yell from the Chinamen.

"That shall be the last yelp from some of the curs!" and I jumped down on the main deck, walking forward to where the long thirty-two was. As soon as it was loaded I waved my hand to the man at the wheel to luff; and as the leach of the fore-top sail began to lift, I turned the gun on them and applied the match. A yell, mingled with shrieks and groans, followed the report; and as the smoke cleared away, two of the four boats had disappeared, and the fragments of oars, boats, arms and men floated on the surface of the sea, while the survivors were taken into the other two boats, which were soon in full retreat for the land.

"There, I guess in future that they will let the Ariel alone when she passes this way. The Chinamen appear to have had enough of it, and they will not be likely to trouble us again in a hurry."

"No," replied Ralph, "I don't believe they will; but hadn't we better put on the kites again; for if the breeze should die away, and we get becalmed, they might take us yet. You can't place any dependence on the wind here."

"Yes, you make all sail," I replied; and in a few minutes the Ariel was leaving the Ladrone Islands astern.

The deck was washed down, and the dead bodies thrown overboard; and I am happy to say that I did not lose a man, though I had several badly wounded.

Without further trouble I succeeded in running into Leristin Bay, where the fleet of opium boats which are continually on the watch soon transferred our cargo to their own capacious holds.

As soon as we were discharged I sailed for Shanghae, where I found that my brush with the Chinamen had made quite a sensation among the authorities; but such things were common then, and altogether I was very well satisfied with my first attempt to run cargo of opium.

THE NEW ABOMINATION.

The Congressional Force Bill as Applied to the South.

[The following are extracts from remarks made by Mr. Eldridge, of Wisconsin, in the U. S. House of Representatives on the 6th inst., pending the new force bill.]

The fervent, agonizing prayer of the people, the masses of the United States, to-day is for peace. It comes up from the lowly cottage and the stately palace. It comes up from the poor and the rich, the high and the low, the brave and maimed soldiers of the late Confederacy and the Union armies. It is not the prayer of the people of any one State alone, but it is the divine emotion, the holy passion that fills and swells the patriotic heart of the whole Republic. The oracular exclamation of the distinguished candidate for the Executive office of this Government in the last election, "Let us have peace," swayed the hearts and determined the suffrages of thousands of good and true men in his favor, if it did not, indeed, determine the result. It is the one thing needful in our unhappy country at this moment. The agriculturist, the mechanic, the artisan, the common laborer, the capitalist, all yearn for peace. There is not a material interest of this vast people, there is not a moral or Christian interest, there is no interest that does not humbly supplicate for peace.

The great war through which we have so recently passed was professedly prosecuted in the interests and to secure a "lasting peace." It was not "permitted" to close till this most desirable, this grand object was supposed to have been attained. Money, blood, life, no earthly consideration could be weighed or offset against permanent peace. It was achieved, it was conceded, it was proclaimed, it exists; now, to-day, it is an actual, existing fact, acknowledged before Heaven, recorded, written out, and engrossed upon all our archives, and verified by every high official of the Government. Order, quiet, peace reigns throughout the length and breadth of our land. There is not a sword unsheathed; there is not a hostile gun or spear gleaming in the sunlight; there is not a soldier in the field; there is not a warlike organization or combination against the State or Federal authorities in our midst or on our border. There is no such thing in any of the States of the Union.

Sir, we are a people of 40,000,000, scattered over and occupying the grandest country in the world, with climate, productions, and resources unsurpassed by any and all other peoples on earth. We have a written Constitution, the embodied wisdom of all historic nations and of all human experience in free popular governments, designed to make, and capable of making us, if strictly adhered to and faithfully and wisely observed and administered, the freest and happiest of people. Our system of Federal and State Government, somewhat complex though it be, harmoniously exercising their respective powers, is the very perfection of the whole. Limiting and confining the former to the use and exercise of the powers expressly conferred in and by the Constitution, and leaving the latter with all the powers the people shall see fit to grant them, liberty will always be safe and peace always assured.

But, sir, what do we hear now? What is this disturbance that is stirring up and moving the people from the northern to the southern boundary of this country? How is it that the masses, having just calmed and settled down after the most terrific and sanguinary struggle the world ever witnessed, are again to be lashed into passion and fury?

Sir, there is another declaration of war; yes, sir, I declare it on my responsibility as a representative of this House. This bill, this bill now before this House is itself a declaration of war! I charge it here and now; it is, it can be understood only as a declaration of war; a declaration of war by the Federal Government upon the States and the State Governments; a declaration of war by the Republican party, the minions of the Federal power, in the interest of that party, against the people of the several States! That it is a revolutionary and warlike measure is too plain for denial. Gentlemen may explain it, palliate it, and apologise for it as they will, as they have done, its provisions cannot be misunderstood. The pretense of crime, murder, pillage, outrage in localities will not do. These are matters within the jurisdiction of the States. To punish these, to suppress these, to dispose of these persons who commit these outrages, is a matter of State authority, belonging to the States before the Union was formed, and never surrendered to the Federal Government.

Gentlemen pretend that the power is to be found or implied in the fact that the citizen has rights, immunities, and privileges under the Constitution of the United States. If these rights, privileges, and immunities are interfered with or infringed upon Congress may provide redress. By what authority, by what law warrant are the States to be deprived of this jurisdiction? Under what Federal charter can this jurisdiction of the States in cases of assault and battery and the whole body of crimes be taken from them? The States themselves have never abandoned and surrendered, or granted it away. Under this pretense the States of this Union are to be abolished, their most sacred rights and jurisdiction to protect the life, liberty, and property of the citizens are to be taken away. It is monstrous! it is absolutely atrocious!

I repeat it, sir, it is absolutely a declaration of war, and nothing else can be made of it. "The President of the United States is authorized to take such measures as he may deem necessary by the employment of the militia and the land and naval forces." He may "declare martial law." Martial law! What is it? Gentlemen tell us there has been a great deal of cheap rhetoric spent on this term "martial law." It is a misnomer, sir. Martial law is no law. It is martial power; it is war; it is the war power. It is the will of him who happens at the moment to be in command. It silences law and speaks because of its silence. It drives away the civil law. They cannot exist together. The one excludes the other and takes its place. It is force; it is physical force; it is the force of arms; it is war. It pleads necessity and inaugurates despotism. Its mildest rule is tyranny. Disguise it as you will, the President is authorized by this bill to declare war. Of what avail is the habeas corpus in the presence of martial law—of martial power? There is no civil law and no civil administration. I cannot elaborate this idea; I have no time; my minutes will not wait.

I have listened to debate of gentlemen on the other side of the house, in the hope that I should be able to obtain some definition of this new Federal power. The gentleman who introduced this bill (Mr. Shellabarger) admitted in his opening speech that he was traveling on new ground; that he was exploring a new field of Federal power. But he did not tell us its length or its breadth, its height or its depth. He gave us no definition or idea of what it is or what extent it may go. No gentleman on that side of the house, with the exception of two, as I recollect, have attempted to do it. The gentleman from Ohio (Mr. Perry), the able and eloquent lawyer, argued this question of constitutional power in very few words, and apologized for it, because it was so exceedingly plain. How did he define this power? Let me read from his speech:

"All the injuries, denials, and privations which authorzie any of those steps are injuries, denials, privations of rights and immunities under the Constitution and laws of the United States."

There is a generality, glittering, broad, almost meaningless. But the gentleman does not leave us there. He says, "They are not injuries inflicted by mere individuals or upon ordinary rights of individuals." In Heaven's name, then, what are they? What are the evils we are seeking to redress? To what purpose do we legislate? What object have we in view? To protect not "mere individuals, not ordinary individual rights." What is meant by that? We are no better off with the defination than without it. It seems to me it is calculated only to confuse. What is meant by "they are not injuries inflicted by mere invidual s?" The gentleman does not tell us or describe what these individuals are who may, by their acts, give this extraordinary jurisdiction and power to the Federal Government, nor does he describe what he means by "ordinary rights of individuals."

The bill itself relates to the ordinary rights of life, liberty, and property. It seems to me the gentleman admits that there is no power to pass or enforce this bill. If there is any meaning in his limitation, not by mere individual and not ordinary rights, the bill is confessedly without constitutional warrant. Thus, the first attempt at a definition of this power shows the abuse of such power. If not, it demonstrates that the bill can be of no practical use; it will reach none of the evils complained of. The bill reaches the whole body of crimes and offenses heretofore redressed by the State law.

Mr. Speaker, it is clear to me that gentlemen on the other side have failed to define this new Federal power. They have given us no idea of the extent of jurisdiction, except, as I have stated before, in general and glittering definitions, which have no meaning when you come to apply them to this bill. I asked my able and eloquent friend on my right (Mr. Bingham) to lay down the section of this bill beside the definition he was giving, and he declined to measure it by any such measure. He had a right to so decline. But no gentleman here, to whom I have listened, has been able to define this power, or tell us where it ends or where it begins.

Are we, sir, to trust this great power in the hands of one man? Some gentleman has said that God never made a man in whose hands we could trust this power. Sir, if Gen. Grant were the greatest man in the United States, and I do not think he is; if he were the wisest and best man in the United States, and I do not think he is; if he were the purest patriot in the world, and I do not think he is; if he were as pure in heart, as just in feeling, as magnanimous in mind, as forgiving in spirit, as the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Shanks), or the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. Butler), and I certainly think he is, I would not trust him with that power. Sir, it is of some interest for us to know in whose hands power is placed; but the power proposed by this bill should, in my judgment, never be conferred upon any one.

Mr. Speaker, the quiet and order of the people of the Southern States since the war ended is the wonder of the world. History furnishes no parallel. They have consented and submitted to all that has been required of them by the conqueror, even to be ruled in some States by their former slaves. They have done all this in the vain expectation that they would be met in the same spirit of forbearance. They have not been so met, and to this fact I attribute most of the troubles that now exist.

The remedy, in my judgment, is amnesty; full, free, universal amnesty. Let the people of the States alone, let them settle down in quiet and peace, and all will be well. There will be no more outrages, no more Ku-Klux Klan, no more disregard of law. Then will peace and order reign in that beautiful country.

[Here the hammer fell.]

Odds and Ends.

A GOTHAM taxidermist builds gorillas to order and shingles them with cowhides.

A VIRGINIA CITY (Nev.) man shot his wife for accompanying another man to the theater.

THE announcement is made that the single eye-glass has entirely disappeared from good society.

IN Switzerland a law is proposed making it unlawful for any one under 14 years to smoke tobacco.

NEXT to a mitrailleuse, the most killing thing now-a-days is a druggist's mortar, managed by an inexperienced clerk.

THE first American rail was rolled some thirty years since. Last year more than 600,000 tons were made.

THE deepest excavation in the United States is a copper mine near Lake Superior. It is 1,300 feet deep.

AN economical fellow says when his stockings wear out he sews up the tops straight across, and puts them on his feet the other way, thus making a good fit for square-toed boots.

IN Boston, recently, two thieves stole an entire team, with its contents, consisting of $5,000 worth of choice goods, while on their way to a packet pier.

IT takes California, after all, to cap climaxes. They are talking out there now of building a $2,000,000 ship canal by the aid of a lottery.

THE Beethoven festival in Vienna produced the handsome sum of 12,000 florins profit after deducting 20,000 florins for expenses.

THE letters on a trunk at a Maine depot recently were "J. A. M. Me." The baggage-smashers, however, were tender with it.

A SPRINGFIELD, Ill., girl sold her lover to another girl for a black silk dress, and so managed matters that the couple were married within a month after the bargain was made.

IT is estimated that over $585,000,000 and 1,500,000 people are employed in the liquor traffic in Great Britain.

THE trustees of the Forest Hill Cemetery, Boston, in speaking of the new receiving tomb built under their direction, say in their annual report: "The whole inside arrangement of the tomb gives a pleasant and cheerful aspect to it."

THE rapid growth of timber in Oregon seems to be a settled fact. Since the settlement of the Willamette valley, ten acres of prairie have been covered with thrifty trees for one denuded of its timber by the settlers. Lands which twenty years ago were prairies are now covered with a young and vigorous growth of timber.

Wit and Humor.

A MATRONLY CAT in care of her kittens is an instance of severe maternal discipline. She is licking her offspring pretty much all the time.

WHY does a woman residing up two pairs of stairs remind you of a goddess? Because she's a second floorer.

WHAT is the difference between the cradle and the grave? The one is for the first born, the other for the last bourn!

A POOR equestrian should always keep his eye on the mane chance.

THE young lady who is unable to support a riding habit, should get into a walking habit.

SIGEL has a poor opinion of Cabral, and remarks: "I could kick dat nigger mit one hand."

A LITTLE girl in London, who sold water-cresses, had a Bible given her by a city missionary. She read it for some months, and told the minister that she liked the Old Testament better than the New, as there was "a deal more fun an' fightin' in it."

THERE was a deacon in New Hampshire by the name of Day, by trade a cooper. One Sunday he heard a number of boys in front of his house, and went to stop their Sabbath-breaking. Assuming a grave countenance, he said to them: "Boys, do you know what day this is?" "Yes, sir," promptly replied one of the boys; "Deacon Day, the cooper."

IN ONE of the pleasant villages in Western New York, the other day, a certain worthy housekeeper thought she would call on her nearest neighbor. She was about entering the door, but hesitated, thinking that the family might be taking their supper. "Come in," said the hostess, "we are having tableaux." "Yes," replied the visitor, "I thought I smelt 'em."

"BRIDGET, what did your mistress say she would have for dinner?" "Broiled lobster!" "Are you sure, Bridget?" "Entirely; get the gridiron." Mary got the gridiron and placed it on the fire. She then placed the live lobster on the fire. Intermission of five minutes, after which the dialogue was resumed, as follows: "Did you broil that lobster, Mary?" "Divil the broil! The more I poked the fire the more he walked off. The baste's haunted; I'll try no more. No good will come from cooking a straddle-bug like that." "And where is the lobster?" "Divil know I; the last I saw of him, he was going out of the door with his tail at half mast."

SUDDEN Changes of Weather are productive of Throat Diseases, Coughs, Colds, &c. There is no more effectual relief in these diseases to be found, than in the timely use of "Brown's Bronchial Troches." They possess real merit, and have proved their efficacy by a test of many years, having received testimonials from eminet men who have used them.

WE SHOULD remember that it is quite as much a part of friendship to be delicate in its demands, as to be ample in its performances.—Anon.

OPPRESSION after eating, headache, nervous debility, are the effects of indigestion. One, or two at most, of Parsons' Purgative Pills which will give immediate relief.

BOSTON has 501 wholesale milk dealers.

The New York Fashions.

Harper's Bazar has an excellent fashion article, which we reproduce entire, in view of the fact that last week was the season for the exposition of their spring styles, by the metropolitan merchants:

WEDDING TOILETTES.—There are two seasons for fashionable weddings. The first follows the winter gayeties of the city, and the second comes after the summer campaign at the watering places. Preparations are now making for the first of these. Most of our fair fiancees object to being married during Lent, notwithstanding the example of the Princess Louise; but they are not too devout to spend the quiet penitential season in selecting elaborate trousseaus to be displayed immediately after Easter.

WHITE REPPED SILK—With point duchesse flounces is the first choice for bridal dresses at the approaching weddings. Satin is pronounced too old for the young brides of the season, and the once poetic muslin is now too commonly worn to be in favor for this one grand occasion of a woman's life. The heaviest ottoman repped silk is chosen by those who can afford it, but lighter qualities of gros grain and the handsome Irish poplins are used by those who can pay but $4 a yard instead of $8. Two yards of duchesse lace six or eight inches wide, are preferred to the one deep flounce hitherto used; $20 a yard buys beautiful flounces of this lace, though not the finest specimens.

A LOW CORSAGE with pointed front, deep postilion back, round neck, Grecian folds on the bosom, and short puffed sleeves, is the prevailing style for wedding dresses; the upper skirt has a short apron front, with long, bouffant back; the train is shortened to sixty inches for ladies of medium height. When a high corsage is preferred, the neck is pointed very low and filled in with lace. The sleeves are duchess-shaped, or else plain to the elbow and ruffled below.

THE HANDSOMEST TULLE VEIL made lately is a single width of tulle, three and a half yards wide, and long enough to reach very near the end of the train. Around the edge is a three-inch hem, finished at the top with a thick cord covered with the silk of the dress. The lower corners are rounded; the upper edge is passed plainly over the head just back of the Pompadour roll of hair, and pinned securely behind the ears. There is no short veil for the face—$16 is the price.

THE BRIDAL CHAPLET—Is a slender garland of half blown orange buds, mingled with spiral and starry jasmine. It is laid across the Pompadour roll, and hangs down each side or else trails over the back hair. An elaborate chatelaine braid, a single plait as wide as the two braids usually worn, and soft hanging curls, are the bridal coiffure. The front is slightly frizzed over a Pompadour pad, or else the roll is plainly covered; and on the forehead droops short hair, neither frizzed nor straight, but curved in half rings, fluffy and careless looking.

GRAY POPLIN—For the traveling dress, and a gray suit for visiting and church, are still prescribed as items of a trousseau; but as these proclaim the bride as plainly as do orange flowers, other colors are often chosen. A traveling suit lately made for a wealthy bride, has a skirt of Havana brown silk with two flounces of darker nut brown, and a cashmere polonaise of the darkest shade, trimmed with silk bands like the flounces, piped with silk of the lighter Havana shade. This stylish suit might be worn by any lady, and does not publish the bridehood of the wearer.

THE GIPSY BONNET—Worn with this is a soft brown straw, trimmed with brown gros grain ribbon, a brown ostrich tip, brown quilled silk for face trimming, and a cluster of pale salmon tea roses. A pretty model for those who adhere to the conventional gray suit is one of fine gray pongee, with a short paletot and open-front overskirt. A bias band of gray silk edges the jacket and skirt. The lower skirt has a bias gathered silk ruffle four inches wide around the bottom. A box-pleated ruffle of pongee of the same width overlaps this.

WE ARE all gentlemen and gentlewomen. Any hint to the contrary is a gross insult; yet every day we violate the laws of good breeding. Incivilities abound. There must be a radical wrong somewhere. Our mansions and cottages are not all homes of kind feeling and gracious expression, sending out genial currents through the whole social system. Too many sit in dingy fustians, with unkempt and slipshod manners, at their firesides, and talk barbarisms at their tables, and then put on velvet robes and paradise feathers, dress coats and suavity, and go forth, puissant gentlefolks. But their fine feathers will get awry on parade, and disclose the coarse habits beneath.

Slang phrases, ridicule, slovenliness, vulgar attitudes and oaths, are admitted under no system of good breeding, and the thoroughbred can, by no possibility, be surprised into them. Avoid them all.

DRESS GOODS.—Soft flexible stuffs of light neutral tints continue to arrive for spring and summer suits. These are to be trimmed with silk of a darker shade, and will comprise the foundation at least of many of the shaded tints that are to be a noticeable feature in summer outfits. Most popular among these are the Japanese serges and foulards, improved fabrics of mixed silk and wool. The first is twilled, the last has a plain surface, and both are as soft as the India silk used for neckties. They are in light brown, buff, and mode tints, and cost from $1 to $1.25 a yard.

ALL-WOOL SERGES—As fine and soft as ladies' cloth, and wool poplins a full yard wide, are shown in the buff and brown shades, with a darker stripe and fringe on one edge, for $1.10 a yard. Mixed with cotton, they are 80 cents. Very lustrous mohairs in all the spring shades, and the heavier Palermo poplins with fine reps, are 65 cents a yard.

REGALIA.—A similar shaped collarette, which ladies call regalis, is made of sheer white muslin in soft folds, edged with point duchess lace. One of these made to wear over a black velvet dress is $23; simply trimmed with Valenciennes, they are $10 or $12. For light mourning they are of white muslin, trimmed with very fine side pleating edged with footing, price $4. Cuffs or foils for the wrist are made to match. Pale blue or mauve regalias of China crape or soft India silk, trimmed with white lace, are made for young ladies to wear over white or black dresses. These are new and very dressy.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	2 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 y.
1 Square.....	1.00	1.50	2.00	2.50	4.00	5.00	8.00	12.00
2 Squares....	2.00	2.50	4.50	5.50	8.00	10.00	14.00	16.00
3 Squares....	3.00	5.00	6.50	7.50	10.00	12.00	16.00	20.00
4 Squares....	4.00	6.00	8.00	12.00	14.00	20.00	24.00	27.00
¼ Column .	6.00	9.00	11.00	13.00	17.00	20.00	[illegible]	[illegible]
½ Column .	10.00	16.00	18.00	20.00	27.00	32.00	42.00	50.00
1 Column...	15.00	22.00	30.00	30.00	42.00	[illegible]	70.00	[illegible]

Ten lines of Nonpareil to constitute a Square.

Business Cards, $6 per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each additional insertion.

The New Arrival.

There came to port last Sunday night
The queerest little craft,
Without an inch of rigging on—
I looked, and looked, and laughed:
It was so singular that she Should cross the Unknown water,
And moor herself right in my room—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Yet by these presents witness all,
She's welcome fifty times,
And comes consigned to Hope and Love,
And common metre rhymes.
She has no manifest but this;
No rag floats o'er the water;
She's too new for the British Lloyds—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Ring out wild bells—and tame ones too
Ring out the lover's moon,
Ring out the little worsted socks,
Ring in the bib and spoon;
Ring out the muse, ring in the nurse,
Ring in the milk and water;
Away with paper, pens and ink—
My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Fireside Texts.

THERE is nothing that binds heart to heart so quickly and so safely as to trust and be trusted.

HARSH words are hailstones, which, if melted, would fertilize the tender plants they batter down.

THERE is but one single fact which one may oppose to all the wit and argument of infidelity—namely, that no man ever repented being a Christian on his death-bed.

LEARNING, like money, may be so base a coin as to be utterly void of use; or, if sterling, may require good management to make it serve the purposes of sense or happiness.

PEOPLE may tell you of your being unfit for some peculiar occupation of life; but heed them not. Whatever employment you follow with assiduity and perseverance will be found fit for you; it will be your support in youth and comfort in old age.

FEW ARE sufficiently sensible of the importance of the economy in reading which selects, almost exclusively, the very first order of books. Why, except for some special reason, read an inferior book at the very time you might be reading one of the highest order?

HE THAT has never known adversity is but half acquainted with others or himself. Constant success shows us but one side of the world. For as it surrounds us with friends, who will tell us only our merits, so it silences those enemies from whom alone we can learn our defects.

THE young man who will distance his competitors is he who masters his business, who preserves his integrity, who lives clearly and purely, who devotes leisure to the acquisition of knowledge, who never gets in debt, who gains friends by deserving them, and who saves his spare money.

Soot as Manure.

Soot is said, by those who ought to know, to be worth nearly as much as guano. On the grass plot, or in the flower or fruit garden, its effects when properly applied are very marked. When mixed with water and sprinkled over vines it seems to have the effect of keeping off insects of various kinds. On flowers it has the effect to intensify their colors.

It is not to be found in any great abundance to be sure, but more or less of it collects in the chimneys and stove pipes of almost every dwelling, and small as the quantity is, it is worth saving and applying to plants. Instead of burning out foul chimneys, why not sweep them out and save the soot always to be found in them. The habit of saving all the fertilizing materials is a good one to fall into, and they amount to a great deal in the course of the year. —Plowman.

THE disguised drams, falsely called medicines, sold in bar-rooms as "tonics" and "stomachics," have nothing in common with DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS. That famous invigorant does not owe its stimulating properties to fiery and adulterated Alchol, but to medicinal roots and herbs never heretofore combined. The effect of the Bitters in cases of constitutional debility, chronic indigestion, liver complaint, and all diseases tending to consumption, is so marvellous that, except to those who have felt or witnessed it, the result seems incredible.

REFERRING to the masoleum erected at Windsor to the memory of the Prince Consort by his wife, at the cost of ten hundred thousand pounds, a correspondent says: "Each day Queen Victoria visits this place alone. Near the tomb is placed a large deep basket, filled with wreaths of beautiful flowers. At hand is a small, round table, on which are a Bible and a prayer book. From these she reads and prays fervently, kneeling the while. Then she rises, and taking the wreaths, advances to the sarcophagus, in the lid of which a sheet of plate glass is inserted, through which she can see the face and form of the departed. But the efforts of the embalmers have not been thoroughly successful, and the features that were so beautiful in life are in death marred by discoloration. Still it is his face, shrunken and pallid though it be. Again she prays, thinking of the years of happiness she lived with him, long passed away, but never to be forgotten. She stands gazing there till she can gaze no more with tears. Gently she places the forget-me-nots upon the marble coffin, takes one last lingering look with her dim eyes, and slowly retires, while from above the bell tolls out a melancholy requiem for the idolized dead."

THE purest and sweetest Cod-Liver Oil in the world is HAZARD & CASWELL'S made on the sea-shore, from fresh, selected livers, by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York. It is absolutely pure and sweet. Patients who have once taken it prefer it to all others. Physicians have decided it superior to any of the other oils in market.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment may be administered to children with perfect success, in cases of croup, whooping-cough, influenza, and almost any of the diseases to which they are liable.

CHASE, HANFORD & CO., CHICAGO, ILL. Headquarters for Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Axle Grease, and Wilson's Patent Oil Cans, all at manufacturers' lowest prices.

WHAT a strange, desperate notion it is of men, when they have erred, that things are at their worst—that nothing can be done to rescue them; whereas Judas might have done something better than hang himself.—Arthur Helps.

A HARD CASE—dying without money, without property, no insurance in The Mutual Life Insurance Company of Chicago, and yet leaving a wife and small children to mourn your neglect.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN IND., APRIL 20, 1871.

It is as well that two things should be borne in mind in reference to the troubles in South Carolina: first, that it is no KuKlux affair, but a conflict of races, brought about by the negro militia firing upon a party of citizens; and, second, that this administration is at the bottom of it. Grant knows that bloodshed made him, and thinks some more of it will keep him what he is.

In a speech made by Hon. A. G. Thurman, Ohio, in the Senate the other day, that distinguished gentleman said: "If Mr. Sumner's supplemental civil rights bill should pass, the proprietors of the Arlington or any other first class hotel would be liable to a fine of $500 and six months' imprisonment for assigning white and colored guests to separate tables, or failing to provide for both at the same tables. The same is held good as to any proprietor of public conveyance or place of public amusement."

The following State Legislatures, by the completion of their organization, show that the Democratic party still has an existence, although pronounced dead more that a score of times during every one of the last ten years:

Pennsylvania.—The Speaker of the Senate and other officers Democrats. Last year all Radicals.

Indiana.—Speaker of the Senate and House and other officers Democrats. Last year all Radical.

Nevada.—Speaker of the House and other officers Democrats. Last year all Radical.

West Virginia.—For the first time in her history this State has declared her independance of radical republicanism, and now sails under Democratic colors.

Missouri.—The Legislature organized under the lead of Democratic officers. Last year Radical.

Georgia.—The whole machinery of the State government is Democratic—heretofore under Radical reconstruction sway.

North Carolina.—The old North State has declared itself free from Radicalism and moves under the banner of freedom and Democracy.

New York.—Contrary to all radical predictions, New York has strengthened her stakes and the Democracy is stronger than ever.

Old Virginia.—This State stands fast in the faith of her earlier and better days—has spurned the shackles of Radicalism and raised aloft the standard Democracy.

The action of the body politic in New Hampshire and Connecticut give signs of health and encouragement. Move on the column.

Railroad Case in Elkhart County, Ind.

A most important railroad case was decided in the Elkhart Circuit Court, at Goshen, Ind., Judge Tousley presiding, on Saturday last. Uunder the existing railroad aid law, the people of Elkhart township voted a tax in aid of the construction of the Warsaw, Goshen and White Pigeon railroad to the amount of $15,000, or not exceeding two per cent, upon the taxable property of the township. The work was accordingly put under contratct, and compleated and in operation for the past six months between Warsaw and Goshen. Parties dissatisfied with the proceedings brought suit by their attorneys, Messers. Woods and Osborn, to enjoin the County Treasurer from collecting the tax, alleging the existence of irregularities in the preliminary proceedings, and the unconstitutionality of the law. The case was ably defended by Judge Frazer, late of the Supreme Court, and by Messrs. Baker and Mitchell, and Blake and Johnson. After an invistigation of two days, his Honor, Judge Tousley, refused the injuction, overruled the objections as to irregularties, and fully sustained the law of the State as beyond all question, valid and constitutional.

The President, losing nerve, has yielded to the pressure. He causes it to be given out that he will no longer press the San Domingo scheme as an administration measure, but will permit it to rise or fall on its merits. This gracious condescension has been formally and ostentatiously announced in his message to Congress, accompanying the San Domingo report. The President explains that he went into the San Domingo business innocently. There can be no doubt whatever that he gets out of it ignominiously. He losses more by this retreat than he could possibly have lost by continuing the fight to the bitter end. This square back down at the eleventh hour compromises all the persons who supported his policy. It throws Senators Morton, Chandler, Conkling, and all the Carpet-bag crew at the mercy of Sumner and Carl Schurz. The President forces his best and warmest friends to eat humble pie, and a great deal of it, in the presence of all their opponents. San Domingo will be the death of much abler and better politicians than Grant. —Fort Wayne Sentinel.

Only a year or so ago it came to light that Congressman Washburne, now Minister to France, sought to secure a clerkship for a lady in Washington, who was to discharge no duties in the position to which she was assigned, but was to remain in the house of Mr. Washburne and teach his children the French language. The people of the United States were thus to be taxed to hire a French teacher for the family of a Congressman who was drawing five thousand dollars a year and mileage for his services. This was considered most contemptible on the part of Mr. Washburne, but what shall we say of another and a similar case alleged to have come to light in connection with the management of affairs there? It seems that there is a colored clerk in the treasury department drawing a salary of twelve hundred dollars a year, but who has no more knowledge of affairs there than the man in the moon. Though paid as clerk he remains at the White House as a barber—the male inmates of that establishment being too penurious to pay for their own shaving. A government barber.—Ft. Wayne Sentinel.

Butter is very scarce and commanding good prices in town.

A Mobile man inadvertently threw a roll of bills, amounting to $70, in the fire and recovered it only after it had become a mass of cinders, wrote to Treasurer Spinner, in great alarm, and was informed that, upon his affidavit of the facts, with a satisfactory certificate of character, the money would be refunded. These conditions were complied with, the certificate being furnished by several cashiers of the city, and he received from the Treasurer an order on the Revenue Officers for $60, which was promptly paid. Together with this were a few legible fragments of a $10 bill of the First National Bank of Mobile, barely sufficient to identify the bill, pasted upon a sheet of paper and the vacant places filled in, lacking only a very small fraction, with illegible cinders, whose shape indicates where they belonged. This was indorsed by Col. Spinner, and upon presentation to the bank was paid.

There is a proposition on foot to allow a crowd of Japanese to enter West Point and learn the art of war, on an equal footing with our own white boys and niggers. That concern on the Hudson might as well be turned into a menagerie at once. Open the doors and let Darwin takes his monkeys, and Barnum his "What is It," and let them learn all they can about grim kid-gloved war, and then when the blast of war blows in our ears we can turn out an army that will frighten to death an ordinary enemy without firing a gun.—Ft. Wayne Sentinel.

A New Roller Compound.

There are so many patent compositions now advertised, that it is a difficult matter to select the one that would prove the most satisfactory, and to test them all would be an expensive undertaking. Since the first patent was discovered, others have followed in quick succession, until now they are as numerous as different compositions can make them. This has thrown upon the market a great deal of trashy material and printers generally have been proportionately humbugged by these inventions. Even to-day a great many are using the old style of rollers, which answer their purpose much better than these worthless compounds.

Now and then, however, we find an honorable exception and to one of these we would direct attention. To the craft generally we can recommed a new compound just invented by V. C. Meyerhoffer, of Wabash, Ind. Mr. M. has been connected for a long time with the printing interest in various ways and has given a great deal of attention to the subject of rolers, until finally he has produced as the result of his investigations, what we regard as the finest and best compound extant. We have tried it thoroughly putting it to the severest tests, and in every case has proved entirely satisfactory. It has been tried in other offices, that we know of, and all unite in pronouncing it "Excelsior."

One peculiar advantage it possesses is that it can be used immediately after being cast. It retains its suction, through all kinds of weather, and can be re-cast in a few minutes. We vouch for its superiority and recommend it to all.

Lamp Explosion.—The wife of Mr. John Hart was burned to death by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, at her home in Cromwell, on Sunday evening last. The lamp was suspended overhead, and when Mrs. Hart turned down the wick to extinguish the light the lamp exploded throwing the oil on her clothing and setting it on fire. She was terribly burned, lingering until Monday morning, when death relieved her from all suffering.—Ligonier Banner.

"Esquire" Radcliffe, from Hersey, Mich. dropped in upon us last week, on his way to Waterloo. They must appreciate Hoosier merit, up in Michigan, as Dr. Teal has been elected County Superintendent of schools, and appointed Examiner of applicants for pensions, and Rad elected Justice of the Peace, notwithstanding the fact that they have been in that State but a a few weeks, and both their families are still in this State. Isn't that a case of genuine "Carpet-bagging?" We congratulate the Squire on his good fortune. He informs us that he has purchased three lots, and is erecting a dwelling, so that he will soon be a "citizen."—Kendallville Standard.

The First in the Field.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can now sell you Clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. Rothschilds & Bro.

An Editor's Crystal Wedding.— Gen. Reub. Williams, the popular editor of the Warsaw Indianian and his accomplished wife celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage, Thursday evening last, with a crystal wedding. A large number of invitations were issued and fully two hundred guests assembled at the General's elegant residence to congratulate him and his lady on the decade and a half of married life they have so pleasantly passed together. Besides the almost endless number and variety of presents in glassware, many of them of rare beauty, there were costly ones in silverware, jewelry etc. Prominent among them was a bronze clock of unique pattern and rare workmanship—a present from several citizens to Mrs. Williams. The General provided most generously of epicurean delicacies to tempt the palate, and in every way made the occasion one to be long and happily remembered by the guests.—South Bend Register.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

Mar. 9. Rothschilds & Bro.

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD.

Auburn, April 13, '71.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up	Irish Poplins, in all colors
Colored "	Japanese, plain
Japanese " striped	" brocaded
" Checked	" Watered

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Grs Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety,
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.,

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours.

Black Brilliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saissca. Masalia. Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings, &c., White. Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real, and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has Reduced the Duty of All GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	28c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	28c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong,	75, 90, best 110
Japan,	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	28cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb.	28c
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	3c
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $100
Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Zante Currants, 12; 81-2 lbs	1.00
Citron, "	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12½c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	16c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wine,	75

MISCELLANEOUS

Soap, per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches.	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco, "	18

CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20,

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6,00	No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts,	$2,00
" " in kitts,	1,75	Lake Herring, per bbl,	2,50
Trout " per bbl,	4,00	Herring, each,	1c
Pickerel " per bbl,	4,00	Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish,	2,00	White Fish, per lb,	6c

All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R.R

On and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT. EX.
Pittsburgh	1,35 A. M.
Rochester	2,42 "	7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance	5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	6,22 "
Orrville	6,54 "	11,46 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield	9,03 "	1,52 P. M	4,45 "	8,38 "
A.	9,35 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline	10,05 "	5,0: "	7,23 "	11,00 "
L.		5,56 A. M	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest	11,27 "	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima	1x,26 P	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth	4,50 "	2,25 P. M	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5,50 A. M	9,00 A. M.	5.15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,55 A. M.
Ft. Wayne	12,50 P. M	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima	3,28 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2 43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	4.20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	6,?0 A. M	6,50 "	4.30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	9,15 "	9,05 "	6,45 "	11,5? "
Alliance	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M
Rochester	2,35 P. M	12,55 A. M.	11,06 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday: Nos. 5, 3, 8; and 2, daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Thursday, April 13, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Express.
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 a m	7 00 a m	4 30 p m
Academie	6 15	7 25	4 43
Huntertown	6 27	7 45	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 33	7 55	5 05
New Era	6 44	8 10	5 15
Auburn	7 01	8 55	5 35
Waterloo	7 20	9 35	5 50
Summit	7 25	10 00	6 05
Pleasant Lake	7 47	10 27	6 18
Angola	8 02	11 05	6 33
Jonesville	9 35	2 50 p m	8 10
Jackson Arr	10 50	4 45	9 18

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson Leave	6 45 a m	1 00 a m	5 00 p m
Jonesville	8 35	2 10	6 55
Angola	12 40 p m	3 38	7 20 a m
Pleasant Lake	1 10	3 52	7 47
Summit	1 31	4 04	8 13
Waterloo	2 25	4 22	8 35
Auburn	2 45	4 38	8 55
New Era	3 10	4 55	9 20
Stoners (Gravel pit)	3 25	5 05	9 36
Huntertown	3 33	5 12	9 48
Academie	3 55	5 26	10 00
Ft. Wayne Arr	4 20	5 45	10 20

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern RR

Air Line Division

On and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

Going West—Pacific Night Express.
Waterloo City 2:10 a. m.
Mail and Express.
Butler 1:22 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:48 p. m.; Sedan 1:5? p. m.; Corunna 2:01 p. m.
Fast Express.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.
Going East—Atlantic Express.
Waterloo, 11:59 a. m.
Mail and Express.
Corunna 12:40 p. m.; Sedan, 12:46 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:00 p. m.; Butler 1:?2 p. m.
Fast Express.
Waterloo, 2:10 p. m.

The Pacific and Atlantic Expresses (at night) do not stop at Lawrence or Corunna.

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WEIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
A. B. Richards, Agent, Waterloo.
R. Stiles, " Butler.
C. D. Cossdill, " Corunna.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O

O. T. CLARK & CO.,

WATERLOO, INDIANA,

Have on exhibition a large line of

Black and Colored Alpacas.

OUR BRAND THE

Queen's Own,

We claim in point of Brilliancy, Shade, Weight, Quality and Price are Superior to any in Market, being of one Uniform make, and the Heaviest imported, and especially suited to the Winter Trade.

We invite an examination of our Fall stock of

Dress Goods, Tapestry Brussels, Sheeting,
Silk Warp Ext. Sup. Ingrain, Cotton Yarn,
Lyons Poplins, Kidder, Carpet Warp
Silks, Hemp, Batting,
Shawls, Cotton, Tickings,
Brilliantine Carpets, Bags,

A full line, one yard wide domestic

Fannel

Shirting, Red, White and Pressed

which we offer to the Fall trade, cheap for cash or ready pay.

Waterloo, Ind., Oct. 25, 1870. 2-44.

For

Fresh and Fine Family Groceries and Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U BUY T AND SUGAR,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES, AND BE CONVINCED THAT BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46m

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has THE HIGH PRICES, WITH S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS, OF THE Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Building Material,
Agricultural Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Tools, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c.

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and Defy Competition.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23, 1871.

Root & Company IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana.

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do themselves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silks New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas. White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS!

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1y

HEADQUARTERS FOR WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments.

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as the may need,

FOR CASH OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

CREDIT BUSINESS

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account, to come and settle, as he is determined to collect outstanding debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.

Feb. 21 1y.

Auburn Courier.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

Local and Miscellaneous.

A BOY at Spencerville, this County, attempted to blow in a gun to ascertain if it was loaded. He was buried to-day.

THE shoddy dry goods store at Fort Wayne is "playing out." People are beginning to see that they are being swindled, and they give it a wide berth.

THANKS.—We are under many obligations to F. R. Myers, Esq., General Pass. and Ticket Agent, of the Pittsburg, Ft. Wayne and Chicago Railroad, for late special favors.

THE street railway question is being agitated, at Fort Wayne. It is about time that city began to show some little enterprise in a public way.

BECAUSE a Fort Woman kept her bed bug poision on the same shelf with her preserves she don't have to mend her Johnny's trowers any more.

THE season for sitting on circular saws has begun. A man down east sat out one the other day, and they buried both of him in the same grave.

A FIRE at South Bend last Thursday morning consumed a furniture and chair factory, and a saw mill. Fifty persons are thereby deprived of employment.

WE have often wondered where all the blind people came from, but it is plain now. There is a "blind factory" at Fort Wayne, where numbers are turned out every year.

A BARBER in Fort Wayne is threatened with the law because he shaved off the moustache of a nice young man. The barber sets up as his defence that he "couldn't see it."

THE Times of last week says that some ladies have been amusing themselves by playing croquet on Capt. Mitchell's front yard. We have a notion to tell his wife.—Goshen Democrat.

OUR friend, Alex. Hall, is chuckling over his good fortune—a twelve pounder,—in a quiet way of course. This is right. Let us resort to our own resources in order to increase and improve our town.

THERE will be services in the M. E. Church Sabbath evening, April 30th, at 7½ o'clock. I cannot fill my appointment next Sabbath, as I shall be away.

W. LAMPORT, Pastor, M. E. C.

TOO LATE.—Up to the hour of going to press we failed to get a report of the editors Convention, at Goshen. We cannot account for the delay, and think a little more dispatch would have given it to us in time for this issue.

HERE is the latest school boy's composition: "The Throat.—A throat is convenient to have, especially to roosters and ministers. The former eats corn and crows with it; the latter preaches through his'n and then ties it up."

Mr. Greely wrote an editorial in which the sentence "Erin go bragh" occured twice. One compositor set it up "Eris yer dough," and another set it "Indigo blue." Horace was so mad he kicked himself down two pair of stairs.

SOME San Francisco boys filled a soda water bottle with powder, and touched it off to scare a Chinaman. There was enough boned juvenile there to set a free lunch, and the Chinaman wasn't scared a bit, because he was a heathen.

THE Agricultural Bureau has sent a representative to San Domingo, to see how things look for raising corn. And the Free man's Bureau has sent a representative, to see what the prospects are there for raising the devil.

THE superintendent of a Michigan penitentiary has resigned because his salary was insufficient. Many of the men under him have signified their intention of doing the same thing, as they can only barely live on what they receive.

EAGLE MILLS.—This is a new name given to the Steam Mill, recently purchased by Mr. Griswold, under the name of "Union Mills." A new spirit now pervades this establishment, and it is in the hands of one who will aim to make it a first-class institution See advertisement.

A YOUNG lady, we know, had a very sore throat cured the other night by having a coat sleeve wound around it. She says it is a sovereign remedy. Sore throats have prevailed in that locality among her friends ever since that time, only yielding to the coat sleeve remedy.

SOME farmers are so thoughtless as to pu the poorest quality of hay in the bottom of their wagon boxes when they come to town. They should have more regard for town cows and bring only the best. That is the only kind which cows who get all they have to eat among wagons, should have.

AN inquest was held this week on the body of a man named Murphy, who was found dead on Saturday afternoon, last week, in a barn belonging to Daniel Greenawalt near the city limits. A demijohn containing gin was found near his person. Death from the excessive use of liquor was the verdict of the jury.—South Bend Union.

AN old gentleman at Kalamazoo thought he could save time by crawling under a freight train that was standing on the track He made time—and eternity, too, as the train started so sudden. The engineer is censured for not going back, before starting his train, to see if any old people were under the cars.

ONE of our printers was fortunate enough to receive the following poetic effusion from his lady love.

> Once more, Jonnie, come and see me,
> Let your "forms" all go to "pie"—
> Never mind your types and printing,
> Come once more before I die.
> And it may be, if you come quick,
> That my heart strings can be tied;
> Yes, it may be—let us try it—
> I would like to have it tried.

NEW BOOKS.—We are in receipt of a handsome little volume, entitled "Suzanne De. L'Orme, a story of the Huguenot Times," published by Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati. It is neatly printed on tinted paper, and forms a very interesting story. It is written in the style of a novel but contains many historical facts connected with the early struggles of the now great and numerous Huguenot or Protestant family.

NEXT Monday week the [illegible] election will take place, and we hope good men will be elected regardless of party. In fact we would favor a convention of citizens, or mass that would nominate for the different offices such men as are the best qualified, from personal consideration, to fill them, let them be Democrats or Republicans.

STAVE FACTORY.—The Stave Factory is about completed. The boiler and engine are being put in position and everything will soon be ready to manufacture. Our farmers are reminded that a large amount of stave bolts are already in demand, for which good prices are offered. They should be delivered immediately, and we hope they will be able to keep up the supply.

THOSE young men loafing around town, singing "Put Me in My Little Bed," had better get something "put in their head." A "little bed" is a very good thing in its place and when used at the right time, but we are getting tired of hearing great big strapping fellows telling other people to "put them in their little bed," when it would take a bed at least eight feet long and four feet wide to accommodate them. Get something new like "Shoo-fly."

RAILWAY AND BUSINESS GUIDE.—We are in receipt of a nicely printed pamphlet, recently issued at Fort Wayne, by Messrs. White & Fisher. It contains more valuable information for the size of it than any Railway Guide now published, giving the time tables of the various roads in this part of the country, and the fare and distance from Ft. Wayne to all points on each line of railroad As to accuracy and reliability, we can vouch for it, as those gentlemen have every facility and means of making this its most important feature, and in its compilation they have dealt entirely with facts. It will be issued monthly, and can be secured at each railway station on the different lines.

APPOINTMENTS.—At the late session of the North Indiana Conference held at Huntington, the following clergymen were assigned to the Fort Wayne District:

W. S. Birch, P. E.
A. Marine, Fort Wayne, Berry Street.
W. H. Edwards, Allen.
S. M. Brown, Harlan.
E. M. Baker, Waterloo.
A. W. Lamport, Auburn.
N. F. Peddicoard, Leo.
J. Cooper, R. B. Powell, Butler.
W. E. Curtis, Corunna.
A. Cone, Angola.
O. D. Watkins, Orland.
N. D. Shackleford, New Haven.
W. Wilson, Kendallville.
J. P. Nash, Coessa.
Y. B. Meredith, Columbia City.
Arcola to be supplied.

IN all communities there are people whose special mission seems to look always on the dark side of every picture. They are gifted with a species of retrograde prophecy. Their detective vision always sees things going backward. They delight in paddling against the current; they go out of their way to clamber over hills and hedges, while others take the smooth highway to fortune. These people are always declaring that there will be a decline in real estate, but real estate advances notwithstanding. They won't invest themselves, thinking they see in the immediate future a crash, when they will be able to obtain great bargains; so they hold on to their dollars, while the lot they expected to obtain cheap, has advanced four fold or more.

AMUSEMENTS.—We are at last to be entertained by something in the shape of amusements at home, in which home talent will be exclusively engaged. Our young folks, of a literary turn of mind, have been practising for the event and when they come before an audience we may expect something enjoyable—something that a scrutinizing public will appreciate. We understand it is to take place on the 28th, next Friday week, and we are thus early in announcing it, because we want every person to adjust their matters so they can attend. The proceeds will be devoted to a charitable purpose, and this announcement alone should be sufficient to fill the Court House, at which it will come off. Our farmer friends living a short distance from town, will find themselves amply repaid by attending. Admission 25 cents.

ACCOMPLISHED.—The work of setting out trees in the Court House Square, has been promptly attended to, and now there are about four hundred of several different kinds nicely arranged, so that when they grow up there will be some order and beauty about them. If they should all live, and we trust they will, five years hence there will be a handsome little park to look upon and enjoy instead of the bare ground of to-day. No boys should be allowed inside the Square, except that portion used by the public, and we hope they will be severely dealt with if they attempt to ruin the trees as they have done in the past.

There are several other matters of public interest that should be attended to, that will be brought before the next meeting. As Saturday night is not as good a time to meet for this purpose, some of our merchants being busy, we would suggest some other evening that would bring out a larger attendance.

BOND CASE.—The famous Treasury Case, from this county, comes up in the Noble Circuit Court, next week, on the motion to dismiss the action against the bondsmen. If the motion is sustained, it will give the Commissioners another good opportunity to put a stop to this expensive farce. If the motion is overruled, we presume the case will then be "vigorously prosecuted to its legitimate conclusion," which will be four years more law, with about the results we have already gained, i. e., plenty of "costs and fees for lawyers," and nothing on the credit side of the account.—Waterloo Press.

And if the cause is "vigorously prosecuted," it may develope the fact that the county has been swindled by a representative of the Radical party out of thousands of dollars, and that's what hurts. It is denominated a farce, by the Press, because one of the shinning lights of its party is involved, but were it a Democrat thus situated, there would have been an incessant howl about theives and corruption, until the whole party would have believed and swallowed it. No, sir, let the investigation go on, and the matter sifted to the bottom. Twenty-five thousand dollars is worth hunting for and we hope the search will be thorough.

A RECENT chronicler of great men's names exclaims: "There is little difference in the style of Philadelphia's three great men —Penn, Franklin and Helmbold. Of how much are these three names significant Peace, Lightning and Buchu!"

WALL PAPER of every variety, prices reduced 25 per cent. at Davenports drug store.

Fatal Accident—Boy Killed.

We are sorry to learn of the death of a boy at Spencerville, this county, from the carless handling of a gun. Though numerous accidents from this cause have repeatedly appeared in every newspaper, more as a warning to others, yet there seems to be a class who never profit by these sad accidents and, we suppose, for all time to come, this same result will be realized. Even the advice of friends and relations in many instances is disregarded, and their better judgment treated as a whim. We learn that he was a lad about fifteen years old, named William Nathan Larimore, and was living with A. C. Dawson, Esq., while attending school in that place. He was formerly employed by Mr. Dawson, and is spoken of as a very steady, industrious and intelligent boy. It is thought that he wished to ascertain whether the gun was loaded, and for this purpose held the trigger back with his foot while he blew in the muzzle. His foot slipping, the gun was discharged and he was sent to his death in a twinkling. Mr. Dawson was not at home at the time, and the appalling accident must have produced a terrible shock in the family. His parents live at Butler Center, and the remains will doubtless be buried to-day. How long will this act as a warning to others. Perhaps another month will bring the intelligence of a similar accident, and the world will move on the same as before.

THE CAMPAIGN AT FORT WAYNE.—The approaching city election, at Fort Wayne, is exciting considerable interest, not only among its citizens, but also in adjoining counties. The great political struggle which the banner county of the State passed through last fall, was a severe lesson to the dominent party, but if properly taken advantage of, will do more to harmonize the different factions, and bring order out of the chaos of personal strife that threatened a complete defeat, than a dozen victories. On this account some anxiety is felt in the approaching election which waxeth warm as the day approaches. The People's Dodge, which was played so successfully by the Republicans, last fall, can never be resorted to again in that county, for so thoroughly disgusted are those who coalesced with the movement, that the mere mention of it is sufficient to bring the most untractable back into the traces with the docility of a lamb. The Republicans well know that unless they they can fight the party in detail by such a dodge as was adopted last fall they are powerless, and as they used up their last reserve then we know of no element they can turn to with any hope of success. In fact they begin to see things in this light, and are becoming quite passive as to the result of the coming election.

With a good ticket, then, there is no reason to fear but that victory awaits the party at Fort Wayne. Had this been effected last fall, and the superior judgment of the people prevailed, there would have been no defeat to chronicle and we hope this will serve to put the Democracy on their guard, by placing in nomination, the very best material they can muster.

Looking at it from a disinterested standpoint, as far as the candidates are concerned, we think that a re-nomination of the present incumbents, would be a very desirable result, and one that would add strength and solidity to the party. For the office of Mayor we cannot see how a better selection can be made,—one that will secure the popular vote, than the nomination of Mr. Randall, whose fitness for the position is unhesitatingly conceded by even his most bitter political enemies.

For the office of City Clerk, there are several candidates, prominent among whom stands the present Clerk, S. P. Freeman Esq., a young man who has demonstrated his ability and efficiency for the position by unceasing exertions and attentions in the legitimate discharge of his duties. He has a superior claim, one that the party has recognized from time immemorial,—the refusal of a second term, and having signified his willingness to accept the office for another term, he should be seconded by every earnest Democrat and elected by a handsome majority. Sam is popular and has done a great deal for the party, and it would be but a just recognition of his services, to inflict upon him the honors of the City Clerkship.

The office of City Civil Engineer is all O. K. Our capital friend, C. E. Brackenridge, has the inside track, even on a People's Dodge, or any other man. We run no risk in congratulating him now on his election. The office of Treasurer and Marshal should be filled with good men, and as we are not so well acquainted with the different candidates, we hope that a good selection will be made, and the nominees elected by handsome majorities.

How to Build up Our Town.

Encourage men to come and locate with us, especially the worthy and active, whether they have capital or not. Those who have means will purchase lots, build manufactories and houses, and give employment to labor. Stimulate every legitimate enterprise by giving it proper encouragement, or by uniting our industry and capital in the cause. The importance of our people spending their money at home is great. There is not a quicker or surer way to build up a city than to foster and encourage home business. Home architecture should plan our buildings, and home mechanics should work for us. Encourage our own manufacturers by purchasing what they make that we may need, and above all things our retail merchants should patronize the whole sale houses here. By this means all will be benefited and our place will grow. Such a course will enhance the value and demand for houses and land. Let every man cultivate a public spirit, and talk less than he works. Help our neighbors. If he is in danger of breaking down, prop him up in some way, instead of kicking him under—his talents and labor are worth money to the community. Encourage our own citizens and local authorities in making public improvements, and stimulate every individual enterprise.

WE commend the following to the attention of our readers:

An exchange says that the true secret of the growth of any place is the inducement held out to strangers to settle among them Encourage active and worthy men, whether they have any money or not Their labor alone is worth money. Stimulate every legitimate enterprise by giving it all the friendly aid in your power. Cultivate a public spirit, and help your neighbor. If he is in danger of breaking down before you know his situation set him up on his feet again His misfortune is to be pitied not blamed and his tale ts and labor worth money to the community. Besides it may some day be our turn to need a correspondent sympathy Let us speak wel of our neighbor. Talk well and encouragingly of our town, of its growth, its prospects, its advantages, and in short, everything likely to advance its welfare.

BUTLER.

New school board, at Butler, is composed of Messrs. Ross, Boyle and Maxwell: It is their intention to build up the school and gather into it such influence that it may fully answer the wants of the community and be their pride as well as a necessity.—Already a fourth teacher, Miss Harriet [illegible], has been engaged and each teacher has fifty pupils in attendance.

Cool winds and storms were followed by frosts, and while an overcoat again became comfortable, the bursting fruit buds were seriously endanger.

TRADE is dull, produce is low. Eggs find ready sale at eight cents, and potatoes at sixty. Flax seed is in demand and unattainable. It would not be a poor investment for a farmer to hold over his crop and loan it to his neighbors at the rates going. Much of the flax seed was sold last fall at less than two dollars, now contracts are made to loan at two and a half dollars taking payment when the new crop is harvested and brought to market.

AMUSEMENTS are hard to find. Parties form to fish at the "Reservoir" and it has been reported that some parties have violated the law, by hauling a seine in the creek, near town. All the fish in the creek would hardly pay the fine.

GARDENING proceeds slowly. Soil is rich but clayey and needs much under draining to make it at all pleasurable to work it, some impatient of delay have put in the plow and turned over the soil.

FARM work has been general. Much ground has been plowed. Winter wheat in exposed localities looks poorly, but where sheltered is luxuriant, and promises well for an abundant yield.

MANY of the wet spots, which every farmers' fields are marred by, are being drained and cleaned up, so giving to the owner the use of his rich soil and adding to the convenience of working his land and to its general appearance.

THE tax in Wilmington, for the Eel River Railroad, has become very unpopular.

THE EDITOR'S CONVENTION

We had the pleasure of attending an editorial convention, last Friday, at Goshen the proceedings of which will be found in another column. There was a large attendence—about forty members—and, taken all in all, was as fine an assemblege of intelligence as can be collected together in the State. Nearly all the papers in the tenth and eleventh districts were represented, bringing together as clever a set of gentlemen as it has ever been our fortune to meet. Though of two political parties, there was a harmony and unanimity of action throughout the session that made it a grand success. Matters of interest to the fraternity generally were discussed and such action taken as will result in much good in the future.

While at Goshen we visited the Democrat and Times offices, and found them fully up to the standard in every feature, and their proprietors, Messrs. Bean and Star, realizing quite a satisfactory encouragement from the public. Though opposed to each other politically they set a worthy example of vieing with each other, in extending every courtesy to their visiting brethren. It does one's soul good to meet such gentlemen, and we shall remember their kindness many long years hence.

And last, but not least, is another feature of this city that we do not propose to overlook, and that is the most excellent manner in which the Violett House is conducted, by that prince of good fellows, W. C. Childs, Esq. His reputation in this capacity is not confined to Goshen alone but is known all over the State. He is one of these genial popular fellows, that has experience enough to make every body comfortable, and we can refer our readers to the Violet as one of the best hotels in the country.

THE KEKIONGAS.—This is now recognized as the best base ball organization in the State and, perhaps, next to the White Stockings in the west. The club is composed entirely of professionals, and our Fort Wayne friends expect great things during the present season. We hope they may not be disappointed. The following are the names of the nine and Directors.

Pitcher—Robert Matthews.
Catcher—William Lennon.
Short Stop—E. H. Bunker.
First Base—Thomas Forker.
Second Base—W. Goldsmith.
Third Base—Frank Williams.
Left Field—Ed. Minchen.
Center Field—James Foran.
Right Field—Tom Carey.
Pitcher and Center Field—William Kelly.

DIRECTORS.

C. M. Dawson, Max. Nirdlinger, G. J. E Mayers, L. M. Flemming, S. C. Lombard and John R. Hoagland.

Geo. J. E. Mayers, Corresponding Secretary.

IT is said that the salaries of conductors on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway were raised from $1,000 to $1,200 per year, on the first inst. The salaries of the conductors on several of the branch roads controled by the L. S. & M. S. R. R. Company have already been raised form $70 to $80 per month. We hope this is true, for no worthier gentlemen live than the Michigan Southern conductors.—Elkhart Review.

Which the same we would remark, and we are glad to see that their services are appreciated.

FOR good trunks, valises, &c., go to the wholesale trunk manufactory, No 117 Columbia street, Fort Wayne. 3t.

BENHAM'S MUSICAL REVIEW, for April, is an excellent number, containing a beautiful song and chorus, by the author of "When You and I Were Young Maggie," and a fine instrumental piece for the piano. Send 10 cents for sample copies, containing $2.00 worth of new music, to BENHAM BRO'S. Indianapolis Ind.

THE Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated for April, appears in its usual becoming dress, and contains an excellent variety of reading matter with several protraits. We would instance—Misses Nelson and Demorests, with portraits, Henry Burden and Elias P. Needham, two Inventors of the day; the late Boy Suicides; Edward C. Delavan; Italians in New York; Trees planted in America; General "Stonewall" Jackson; The angle-Saxon Civilization as typified in Alfred the Great; Slavery without a master; Wm. K. Bowling, M. D.; Alice Cary, the poet; Genius and Honesty. A good number. Price 30 cents; $3. a year. Sent half a year, on trial, for $1. Address S. R. WELLS, 389 Bradway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY FOR MAY.—Scribner's Monthly begins its second volume with a number [for May] which is quite remarkable for the surpassing excellence of its engravings and the extraordinary interest of its contents. The noble head of Geo. MacDonald, which forms the frontispiece, serves to call renewed attention to his facinating story of Wilfrid Cumbermede. The leading illustrated article, by Gov. Langford, gives an account of some of "The Wonders of the Yellowstone." In the second article, which will appear in June, the geysers will be more particularly described.

The other illustrated articles are a curious paper on the "Aye-Aye," by Burt G. Wilder; a translation and a facsimile of the famous "Moabite Stone," recently discovered, and which dates back 900 years before Christ; and the beginning of an interesting series of biographical sketches of "Living American Artists," by D. O. C. Townley, with finely executed portraits of A. B. Durand and D. Huntington.

A clever design by Eytinge, "Five Minutes for Refreshments," forms the last page of a brilliant number. Subscribers will do well to send for a cover for the first volume, thus laying the foundation of a valuable illustrated library.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and the B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the Intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and traffic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land [illegible], rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg and Nebraska City. [illegible] it makes close connections, twice daily, for St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to take the Burlington Route."

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.—Send to the American Publishing Company, Rutland Vt., for their beautiful specimen Book, and make ten dollars the first day you show the book. Read their advertisement in another column concerning the Parlor Album, and you will get the full particulars.

The Parlor Album contains more beautiful embellishment than any other work extant. The specimen book is sent free on receipt of postage.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	126 @ 134
" Red	132
Oats	45
Rye	1.00
Corn	50
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	15@20
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	08c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	08c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

John G. Fledderman,
MERCHANT TAILOR
First-Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, - - IND.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S.
As we do business only on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.
Corner Main and 7th St's. Feb, 9, 1871. 1y.

Brahma Pootra

Eggs & Male Birds
FOR SALE!
From fine care premium stock.—Waranted pure, $1,00 per dozen.
Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

TROTTING HORSES
By a new method, any horse can be made to trot fast in 30 minutes. 500 References. One farmer says: "I made $600 on two colts, all through your circular." Full directions only $1 Address H. A. BARROWS, Rochester N. Y., for training and breaking.

Land for Sale
In DeKalb County
$5 TO $8 Per ACRE.
Address B. D. SKINNER,
Fort Wayne Ind.,
Mar. 30, '71. 1m.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana Executor of the Estate of Isaac Franks late of DeKalb County deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 13, '71. WM. LESSIG, Executor.

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, throat, Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint. Should apply in person or by letter to Dr. P. G. BD, Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 665, Fort Wayne Ind. Jan. 5 1f

Come and See Me!
Having been in the Boot & Shoe busines here 11 years, would inform the people o DeKalb County, Ind. that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of
Boots & Shoes
IN NORTHERN INDIANA.
From the finest serge down to the Coarsest
Stoga Boots,
Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we wil
Warrant!
and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.
Repairing Done
in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of
Leather & Findings
Please call and see for yourself, in the
NEW BRICK BLOCK
Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Huestis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

ATTENTION!

Special Notice.

I hereby notify all those knowing themselves indebted to me by note or book account, to call and

SETTLE UP IMMEDIATELY!

It is expected that all will attend to this matter without delay, and save trouble and Costs.

J. H. F. HOLLINGER,

Feb. 23, '70.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administratrix of the Estate of Charles Ahrnes, late of DeKalb County, deceased.

Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

MARY AHRNES, Administratrix.

April 3d, 1871.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that William Lessig Administrator of the estate of Hugh Shreve deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

An Ordinance

To plank sidewalks: Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the incorporated town of Auburn, DeKalb County, state of Indiana, that it shall be the duty of all owners or part owners of lots or part of lots, lying on or adjoining the north side of tenth [10th] street, between Jackson street and the western limits of the western addition to said town, to plank so much of the sidewalk as lies fronting their said lots or part of lots with a walk, six [6] feet in width, of good and sound plank, not less than one and a half inches in thickness nor more than eight [8] inches in width, placed on three [3] stringers laid lengthwise, 3 by 5 inches.

All timber to be of oak or pine. Said walks are to be planked by the first day of June 1871.

Done at their meeting April 3d 1871

Attest ALBERT ROBBINS, Town Clerk.

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
AND GENERAL
MANUFACTURE of CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN
HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIABLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded. 1y

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

NORTHERN NDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST., FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

Now is the Time to Subscribe.
This is the Paper for the Ladies.
Great Inducements Offered
Every Subscriber Receives a Valuable Gift worth from 50 cents to $100.
This is no Lottery!
Woodburn's Journal
A SIXTEEN PAGE PAPER.
HANSOMELY. ILLUSTRATED.
FULL OF GOOD STORIES.
ONLY $1 A YEAR IN ADVANCE
EVERY ONE HUNDREDTH SUBSCRIBER RECEIVES $100 IN GREENBACKS.
We have already received over 15,00 subscribers for this valuable illustrated story paper, and every one has received valuable prizes, ranging from 50 cents upward. We are receiving from fifty to one hundred subscribers daily.
Get up Clubs for the JOURNAL.
CLUB RATES.
Single subscribers - - - - $1 00
Every ten subscribers - - - - 75
Every twenty subscribers - - - - 50
The prizes are sent as soon as you subscribe. The following is a list of the largest prizes: Ten gifts of one hundred dollars each, in green backs, twenty gifts of fifty dollars each; organs sewing machines, 200 gold and silver watches, gold guard and vest chains, solid and double-plated silver-ware photograph albums, jewelry, &c.
We will send you a full list of prizes when you become a subscriber to our valuable paper.
Address, J. WOODBURN & Co.,
Lock Box 40 Bellefontaine, Ohio.

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.
So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisins,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE.
Highest Price given for Produce,
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.
Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.
T. B. TOTTEN
Feb. 2d 1y

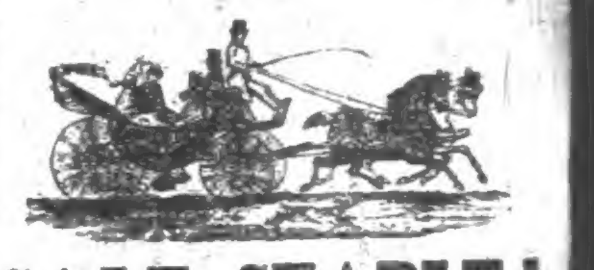
Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building Exemption from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months and the particular district requiring such exemption. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. H. McINTOSH.

HardWarE
GEO. HENSLER,
—OF—
BUTLER, INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butle the largest and best selected stock of
HARD WARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.
GEO. HENSLER.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND



SALE STABLE!
RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.
Having on hand everything in the line of
Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.
together with a number of first class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4, '71.

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
PRICE $9,00 per Volume or
$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.
DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK
THE PARLOR ALBUM is deemed the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 200 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.
Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III. American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.
This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.
AGENTS WANTED.
We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.
We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing of the 60 Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.
Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of [illegible] cents to cover postage. [illegible] for reply address.
American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND

CURRENT NEWS ITEMS.

The East.

—The Hon. Henry W. Bishop, of Lenox, Mass., died Thursday morning.

—During forty-eight hours the remains of nine newly born infants were found in New York.

—Johnson's organ factory, at Westfield, Mass., was destroyed by fire on the 13th. Loss, $50,000; insured for $24,000.

—Pearl & Dawes' woolen factory, at Bennington, Vt., was destroyed by fire on the 12th inst. Loss, $15,000; insured for $7,800.

—Intelligence was received at Boston, on the 13th, of the death of Charles W. Dabney, United States Consul at Fayal, South Africa.

—A coal train was burned near Howell, N. Y., on the 10th inst. Considerable delay and inconvenience were occasioned thereby.

—M'lle Nilsson has signed a contract to sing one hundred nights in opera, next winter, in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. She will soon leave for California.

—Baron Schlozer, Minister Plenipotentiary of the North German Confederation, has arrived at Washington from Mexico, where he has been the Prussian Minister for several years. He succeeds Baron Gerolt at Washington.

—It pays to meet with an accident on the street cars. A Boston jury has awarded Edmund Casey $10,000 damages against the Metropolitan Horse Railroad, in compensation for injuries received in being thrown from his wagon when run into by one of the cars.

—Richard Van Wyck Thorne, aged 95, who was an influential New York politician shortly after the close of the Revolutionary war, and who used to shoot woodcocks where the Toombs now stands, died in Brooklyn, on Wednesday.

—The third-class steamers Iroquois, Wyoming and Wachusetts are now fitting out to join our squadron abroad, and will sail about the 1st of June. The Powhattan, at Philadelphia, and Canandaigua, at New York, are also being prepared for sea, and will go out shortly after the three vessels above named.

—Jennie McBride, a teacher in the Franklin, Pa., schools, has just been awarded damages in the sum of $3,800 for breach of promise against J. L. Wagner, an oil merchant. The testimony against Wagner was mostly in his own hand-writing, in the shape of a cart load of letters, savoring of the rose-water sentiment, begging her to become a sharer in his extensive petroleum interests by marrying him. He couldn't rebut the testimony.

—A New York dispatch of the 14th inst. says: "The story started in an American journal, and copied into some English newspapers, as to the matrimonial infelicities of Madame Goldsmidt, better known as Jenny Lind, has led to several libel suits in England, and the mulcting of copyists to the amount of about £2,000, besides damages as much more. The subject-matter was adjudged a clear libel by the Court, as abundant proof was adduced of the entirely happy nature of the life of Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmidt."

The West.

—Louis Compau, the first white settler at Grand Rapids, Mich., died on the 13th inst.

—The heavy frost on Monday night killed the early cherries and small fruits throughout Iowa.

—Gen. E. Dumont, recently appointed Governor of Idaho Territory, died at his residence, near Indianapolis, Ind., on Saturday.

—Five men engaged in log-driving on the Chippewa river, in Wisconsin, have been drowned during the past week.

—The residence of Mathias Kerle, at Germantown, Wis., was burned down recently, and himself and wife, both of them over 60 years old, perished in the flames.

—A heavy snow-storm prevailed throughout Montana Territory on Monday. Nine inches of snow fell in the mountains. The streams are swollen, and bridges are being carried away.

—The agent of the Bank of Montreal at Perth, Canada, has absconded, being a defaulter to the extent of $18,000. He is very respectably connected. The affair causes great excitement.

—On Friday night, all the barns belonging to M. & R. G. Stevens, of Beaver Dam, Wis., were burned, together with 24 cows, valued at $1,200, 600 bushels of oats, 20 tons of hay, and a quantity of wheat, corn, &c.

—Fears are entertained in Minnesota of another Indian raid at Leech Lake, by the Pillage Indians, after sugar making is over. Every precaution is being taken to avert the impending danger.

—Indianapolis is agitated over the mysterious disappearance of several young girls, from ten to sixteen years of age. A strong suspicion exists that there is an organized band, the object of which is to entice away or abduct girls for purposes of prostitution. The police are engaged in investigating the matter.

—There was another heavy snowstorm along the Valley of the Platte on the 13th inst., so that it was dangerous for man or beast to be away from shelter. A dead body was found near Grand Island Station, being that of a soldier from Fort Kearney, named Foley, who had perished in the storm of the 9th and 10th. His body had been robbed when found.

—The coal miners of St. Clair county, Ill., have suspended work, under the apprehension that a reduction of wages was designed by the owners of three mines, furnishing over ninety per cent. of the coal used in St. Louis harbor and city. The suspension took the owners by surprise, and found them without any stock on hand. The result is, therefore, a famine, and steamers bound to St. Louis have been telegraphed to supply themselves with coal at other points.

—The most destructive fire that ever visited the thriving city of Grand Rapids, Mich., devastated the important business portion of the town Tuesday night. Six large shops on the canal, ten brick stores on the west side of Canal street, three dwellings, and two barns fell a prey to the devouring element. The total loss is $300,000. Two hundred workmen were thrown out of employment, who also lost $3,000 worth of their own tools. Further details are not yet known.

The South.

—A man named John Van Orden died at St. Louis, on Friday, from a pistol-shot he received a few days since from his father-in-law, John Irvin. The cause of it was that Irvin found that Van Orden had another wife living in New York at the time he married Irvin's daughter.

—Gov. Ito, the Secretary of Finance of Japan, on Saturday visited the City Hall at Washington, where he spent some hours in witnessing the mode of registering voters. He then repaired to the Interior Department to examine into the working of the various branches of the Government there located.

—The Baltimore boot and shoe manufacturers employ female operatives. They have just discovered that the girls had in operation for a good while outsiders of their sex from getting employment. The result of the discovery is—"one fell swoop"—by which the organization are discharged bodily from the employ of the manufacturers. Another result is that the male operatives, 2,000 in number, sided with the weak vessels and "struck" immediately on receipt of the news, and all the factories in town are closed. Thus, as Corporal Nym says, things must be as they may.

Foreign.

—The amount of credit to be asked of the German Parliament is 120,000,000 thalers.

—Rochefort writes boldly against the Commune, denouncing Piatt and his set as abominable tyrants, if not, as is probable, downright fools.

—Archbishop Durboy was stripped naked, bound to a pillar, and scourged and mocked for two hours by a band of 200 Reds.

—The official journal guardedly denies that the National Assembly is the Government of France, but says, pointedly, that Napoleonism and Communism must perish.

—A number of manufactures have been arrested by order of the Commune, and the manufactories closed, in order to force the workmen to join the National Guard.

—The price of fresh meat has been doubled, and preserved meat is difficult to obtain. A well known American banker has offered to purchase the column in the Place Vendome, and to transport it to Central Park, New York.

—The Church Saint Roche has been seized by the Nationals and the people ejected. A crowd collected, and a woman denounced a man attired in plain clothes as a priest. She was beaten terribly. This is the first sign of reaction in favor of the priests.

—On Tuesday a Lieutenant of the National Guard was wounded by a Prussian at St. Denis. A conflict ensued between the French and Prussians, and some members of the Commune soon made their appearance with a flag of truce, but the Prussians declined to recognize it. The disturbance, however, soon ended.

—Picard has issued the following circular to the prefects: "The insurgents have met a decisive check. Our troops have captured a redoubt at Chatillon, with 2,000 prisoners. Flourens and Duval are dead, and Henry is a prisoner. Twenty-two of the Communists have resigned, and Assy has been imprisoned by his own followers. The Government is happy to inform you of the condition of affairs which it has effected."

Congressional Summary.

The amnesty bill was laid on the table by the Senate on the 11th inst.——The Ku-Klux bill then came up and underwent a long debate, which was broken off by adjournment.

In the House, the Senate bill to pay Schenck his salary as Minister to England was taken from the table and passed.——The deficiency bill, which passed the House and came back from the Senate afterward with several amendments, was severely criticised by Dawes. He stated that some of the amendments were objectionable in the highest degree—covering almost all the defeated appropriations of last session. He denounced the profligate extravagance of the Senate. Cox, Brooks, Finkelnburg, Randall and Niblack coincided with Dawes, and each denounced the action of the Senate in bitter terms. Notwithstanding the objections offered the amendments were concurred in.——Adjourned.

In the Senate, on the 12th, the resolution of Sherman, introduced on the 11th, relative to tariff and internal revenue adjustment during the recess, passed. It is not the purpose of the members of the Finance Committee to take the subject up until after the fall elections.——Poole delivered a lengthy speech upon North Carolina politics and in defense of the officials of that State.——The Senate adjourned at 4:30.

In the House, Brooks presented a petition for the repeal of the income tax.——Holmes offered an amendment to the deficiency bill, providing for the payment of $100 bounty promised to the troops who entered the service under President Lincoln's proclamation of May, 1861. Dawes made a point of order on the amendment which excluded its consideration, but Stoughton promised that the Military Committee would report such a bill.——The Senate amendment, repealing the law limiting the expenditures for the Marine Hospital at Chicago to $300,000, and extending it to $359,779, was concurred in.——Senate amendment, repealing the act requiring the meeting of each new Congress to be on the 4th of March, was concurred in, but a motion to reconsider was carried, and a discussion of the wisdom of the present law for opening Congress on the 4th of March was entered into with vigor and earnestness, the general expression of opinion being against it. Dawes spoke of the uselessness of the main part of the business of the present session, and of the folly of so much legislation in the country. He thought the Republican party had come to its recent disasters by foolish speech-making on subjects irrelevant to the prosperity of the country. Farnsworth thought the present Congress had been prolific of nothing but folly, and he believed the people would have been better off if there had been no session. The subject will come up again to-morrow.——Adjourned.

The morning session of the Senate, on the 13th, was occupied by debate upon the Ku-Klux bill, Thurman and Sumner being the participants in the discussion. Sumner signified his intention to vote for the bill.——An evening session was had, at which the debate was continued until midnight.——Adjourned.

The House proceeded with the consideration of the Senate amendments to the deficiency bill.——The amendment repealing the law which requires the meeting of each new Congress on the 4th of March was concurred in, and hereafter Congress will not follow the old custom of meeting on the 4th of March.——The Senate amendment appropriating $30,000 for expenses of the Joint Select Committee on Outrages in the Southern States was concurred in.——Adjourned.

In the Senate, on the 14th, quite an interesting scene occurred. Howe withdrew the charges made in his San Domingo speech, of Sumner's unfaithfulness to the Republican party. After that Senator's speech of yesterday, Howe said he could not doubt his full sympathy with its principles. In accusing Sumner, however, he had not done so in a spirit of wilfulness. He thought he might be allowed to add, in his own vindication, that no one would suspect him of having wilfully made that mistake, especially when it was considered that it was an inference drawn by a large portion of the Republican press, and, he might say, by the entire Democratic press. Sumner replied. Howe did an injustice the other day, and he should have known it. I, on that occasion, tried to save the Republican party from responsibility for an act of wrong. It was on that account, among others, that I spoke. I am a member of the Republican party, faithful to it always, and I cannot see it made responsible for a violation of international law and the Constitution of the United States, without interposing my humble effort to save it. In that spirit I spoke. The Senator arraigned me when I was trying to save the Constitution of my country.——Schurz made a strong speech, criticising the Ku-Klux bill as amended by the Judiciary Committee, but agreeing generally to its provisions, and sharply arraigning the Democracy for the Southern situation. He claimed that, notwithstanding he had differed with the administration, he was nevertheless a Republican, and did not design leaving the party.——An amendment to the Ku-Klux bill was agreed to, giving the President power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus in the South until the end of the next regular session of Congress. After some further amendments, one of which was simply to continue the present test oath in force, the bill passed by a vote of 45 yeas to 19 nays. The vote was a party vote, except that Hill, Robertson, Schurz, Tipton and Trumbull voted with the Democrats in the negative.——Adjourned.

Another personal explanation was made in the House in regard to the speech of Garrett, of Kentucky. A vote was taken on it and it was excluded from publication in the Congressional Globe.——The deficiency bill again came under consideration, and $20,000 were appropriated toward rebuilding the Sisters' Orphan Asylum, at Charleston, S. C.——The Senate amendment requiring national banks to pay the expenses of printing their own notes was concurred in.——Adjourned.

on the 13th was its refusal to consider the House general amnesty bill. The passage of the bill was urgently advocated by the Senators from South Carolina and by Senator Wilson. It was opposed by Morton and Conkling, who finally succeeded in preventing the consideration of the bill. It is now considered doubtful if the measure will be considered this session, as a determined effort will be made to secure a final adjournment on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The House resumed its consideration of the remaining amendments to the deficiency bill. The amendment for the establishment of a park at Washington was taken up, and after a sharp debate, was rejected. Several other amendments were rejected, when a motion to lay the bill on the table was rejected. A committee of conference on the disagreeing votes was then ordered.——Shellabarger called from the Speaker's table the Ku-Klux bill as returned from the Senate. He moved to consider all the amendments except the last two. As for those, he would move a non-concurrence, and ask for a committee of conference. His motion was seconded, and the House proceeded to vote on the amendments. The habeas corpus amendment was rejected—86 yeas, 93 nays. The oath of jurors' amendment was rejected without yeas and nays. The Sherman amendment, assessing damages on localities, was rejected by 45 yeas to 135 nays. A committee of conference was then appointed on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses.——Adjourned.

Interesting Developments—Thiers Intriguing for Napoleon.

La Capitale, the republican journal of Rome, prints in its issue of March 28 the following remarkable statement: "On Saturday last, the 25th inst., Father Becks received a courier from France, leaving two dispatches; one from Col. Charette, the other from Thiers. Charette stated in his that he had come to an understanding with Napoleon regarding the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope. Napoleon confessed that the French clergy had led him into error; that he was ready to give up all the papers he held, compromising certain ecclesiastics noted for their Gallicanism, the only condition of the papal restoration to be this: That Pius IX. should embrace liberal views with respect to the temporal power. Charette promises to send 50,000 men on to Paris to restore the Napoleonic government. He wants the Jesuits to open asylums throughout Italy in which zouaves and other volunteers of the Catholic Church may be sheltered, so as to be ready at a given time to burst out at once all over the peninsula. 'Rest assured,' concludes Charette, 'that within three months' time Napoleon will be enthroned once more in Paris.'

"The dispatch of Thiers is addressed to Charette. In this, Thiers states that he trusts entirely to him, and that in exchange for his good offices for the restoration of order he should be permitted to make his attempt to re-establish the temporal power of the Pope. A meeting of Jesuit fathers was at once held, a reply prepared for the courier, and he left the next day."

The Capitale adds: "This is in accordance with the letters of Napoleon, written to win the hearts of the soldiers. It is also known that Charette is collecting troops for an attack on Rome. It will surprise nobody to hear that Thiers has turned a Bonapartist."

ESSAY ON FATTENING CATTLE.

Read before the Elk Grove Farmers' Club by O. M. Richards.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: The question for discussion this evening is of great importance to us farmers, and to the community generally.

It has been said no cattle, no manure; no manure, no crop; or in other words cattle are by common consent the best animals to convert its product into manure. As we cannot keep cattle for the purpose of keeping manure alone, and as the end of all cattle kind is sooner or later expected to be beef, the question is properly asked how we can fatten them the cheapest. It is argued by some, and with a good show of reason, that grass is the cheapest and best food for cattle, that it will put on more weight in a given length of time than anything else. Admitting all this, yet the fact is before us that we want fat cattle all of the time, in winter as well as in summer, and we also want the coarse products of the farm, such as hay, straw and cornfodder, converted into manure. It would be impossible to supply the market with grass fattened cattle. So it is a matter of necessity, if not one of choice, that we shall feed cattle. Some argue that grain cannot be fed to cattle with profit, that the hog is the only animal that will make flesh at a profit out of grain.

It is true I have known a great deal of good corn fed cattle where it took sixty bushels to make two hundred lbs. of beef. The grain took the place of shelter. It kept up the vital functions of the animal and made the beef besides. It is equally true that I have known of vast quantities of corn fed to hogs, that 60 bushels did not make more than 300 lbs. of pork, and I doubt as hogs are usually fed if the average is much more. It is a fact known to every one that it takes a certain amount of food to sustain an animal so that he will neither gain nor lose in flesh, and that it takes very much more in our climate if that animal is exposed to all of the severity of the weather during our long winters. I do not think that any one will dispute the assertion that he who keeps an animal and feeds so as to just keep him where he is, has lost both his labor and his feed; the only return he gets is the manure, and poor at that. If he suffers him to fall off he has lost labor, feed, and part of his animal. Now, I am well convinced from a long experience in feeding cattle in all imaginable ways—I have fed indoors and out, whole corn and ground corn, and cooked; have turned them into a cornfield to help themselves—that if we protect our cattle from the storms and cold, and feed with cheap, coarse food, such as hay, straw or cornfodder, we can sustain them, or in other words run the machine; that grain properly fed to them will give as great and even greater returns than if fed to hogs. In stall feeding it is absolutely necessary that your cattle should be so arranged that every one should get his proper share of food with absolute certainty and perfect regularity. This hap-hazard way of feeding, where some eat more than they should, and others do not get enough, is to be abominated by all good feeders of cattle. And I would say farther that the eye of the feeder should be ever on his stock; that he should not feed at any one time more than they will eat up clean.

In speaking of the kind and preparation of food for fattening cattle I cannot do better than to quote L. F. Allen. He says, "finely cut hay or cornfodder with finely ground corn meal is the very best way possible to put flesh on any ruminating animal, and that the fodder should be so proportioned as to fill the stomach, with meat enough added to give all the nourishment necessary in the way of fattening." These proportions will have to be varied according as the weather is mild or severe, less grain being required in mild weather and more in severe; this must be a matter of close observation with the intelligent feeder. My experience leads me to believe that from four to six quarts of meal per day under the above conditions is about the amount necessary for the most rapid and economical feeding of cattle. Such, gentlemen, I deem the perfection of stall feeding.

PIE CRUST.—Take equal parts of Graham and fine flour; rub the shortening in as usual, but do not make it very rich; to the water which is used for mixing add a little molasses, say two or [illegible] oughly stirred one-fourth of a teaspoon of soda; knead a little softer than ordinary crust.

Valuable Recipes.

MOTHERS will be interested to know that turpentine is a sovereign remedy for croup. Saturate a piece of flannel with it, and place the flannel on the throat and chest. In very severe cases, from three to five drops may be taken inwardly.

TO SOFTEN KID BOOTS.—Melt a quarter of a pound of tallow, then pour it into a jar, and add to it the same weight of olive oil; stir, and let it stand till cold. Apply a small quantity occasionally with a piece of flannel. Should the boots be very dirty cleanse them with warm water. It will soften any leather.

HOW TO KILL POULTRY.—Open the beak of a fowl, then with a pointed and narrow knife make an incision at the back of the roof, which will divide the vertebra, and cause immediate death; after which hang the fowls up by the legs till the bleeding ceases. Fowls killed in this manner keep longer and do not present unsightly external marks, as those killed by the ordinary system of wringing the neck.

TANNING MOLE SKIN.—We find the following in the New England Farmer: "Take the hide and draw it over a medium-sized corn cob, and place it in the sun. Then apply sweet oil to it once every twenty-four hours to prevent the hide from getting dry. After giving the hide about five applications of this oil, then take a little fine alum rub the hide with it thoroughly. By this time the hide is perfectly tanned."

TO MAKE a good jelly for invalids, take a leg of well fed pork, just as cut up, break it, and break the bone. Set it over a gentle fire, with three gallons of water, and simmer to one. Let half an ounce of mace, and the same of nutmegs, stew in it. Strain through a fine sieve. When cold, take off the fat. Give a chocolate cup the first and last thing, and at noon, adding salt to suit the taste. This is very valuable in all cases of debility where animal food is admissible.

TO MAKE MEAT TENDER.—The tenderness of meat will greatly depend upon the proper length of time which it has been allowed to hang before cooking—a fact which most housewives well know, but few put into practice. This hanging process slightly seperates the muscular fibers, and also develops some stimulating properties in the meat. Indeed it is the first step to decomposition; but it really renders the same joint tender which, unhung and fresh from the butcher's stall, would set the jaws of the whole family aching.—Good Health.

Comparative Profit of Flax and Wheat Raising.

From the St. Paul Press.

Seeing in the papers every little while articles on the culture of flax, and all setting forth its advantages, and none to show the real difference between wheat culture and that of flax, I thought that I would give you my experience in the flax business:

Flax.	Dr.
To twelve acres plowing, $2.00	$24.00
To getting in seed	8.00
To 7 bushels seed, $1.25	8.75
To 2½ bushels use of same	3.12
To 12 acres reaping	12.00
To binding and shocking	15.00
To hauling and threshing	30.00
To cleaning seed	4.00
To hauling to market	5.00
	$102.87
CR.
By 83½ bushels seed, $1.25	$104.38
Net profit on the 12 acres of flax	$1.51

Go right in, brother farmers, to the flax business, for here you see a net gain of 12 7-12 cents per acre. Now, the more you sow, the more 12 7-12 cents you will get; and if you get enough of them you will get rich soon.

Now, for my wheat. On the flax ground, or seven acres of it, the balance, five acres, was corn ground, and should have grown just as good wheat as the other, the whole being ground that had but three or four crops and could not have been run very hard. The wheat was raised the year before the flax. Flax raised last year:

Twelve acres plowing, $2	$24.00
Sowing and dragging	12.00
Eighteen bushels seed	18.00
Harvesting and stacking	30.00
Threshing	23.00
Cleaning and marketing	28.00
Total	$135.00
CR.
By 228 bushels wheat at $1, the present price of No. 2 at Kasson, our market in this vicinity	$266.00
Net profit on wheat on same ground over and above the flax	131.49

This is my experience in the flax business and wheat on the same ground, assuming that the five acres into corn would produce the same amount of wheat that the other seven did, and this I think is a fair way to make the estimate. The wheat was cut with a Marsh harvester, which, by the way, is the machine to cut all standing grain with. Now, Mr. Editor, if the people wish to raise flax it is their privilege, but as for me they need not count me in very heavy.

Yours for the interest of the flax grower,
J. A. COLLAR.

WASIOJA, March 8, 1871.

HOW TO TRANSPLANT ASPARAGUS.—We copy the following from the Rural New Yorker:

Prepare the ground for the reception of the roots by applying a liberal amount of good stable manure. The older and more fully decomposed the better. There is no danger of putting on too much, for asparagus is one of those plants that will thrive in the richest soils, and its value depends almost entirely upon the rapidity of its growth. The manure should be worked into the soil deeply, and thoroughly mixed up with it, not put into layers, as is often done. Nothing less than eighteen inches in depth of rich soil will make a good asparagus bed. Then the ground is made ready and harrowed or raked level, open trenches six inches deep and four feet apart, either by plowing two furrows, throwing the soil to the right and left, or with a spade. Place the plants in the bottom of these trenches and two feet apart. Spread the roots out level, and then cover and rake or harrow down the surface. If the soil is light, it is a good plan to roll or pack it down over the plants.

Some old fogy gardeners, when preparing an asparagus bed, dig out the soil two or three feet deep and place stones in the bottom, and then fill up with coarse rubbish, manure and soil, and cover the plants twelve to eighteen inches deep; but modern ideas are against such a practice. If the roots are not covered more than six inches they will start much earlier in spring than if placed deeper. Of course, if you want white-stalked asparagus you must plant deep; but no one who knows anything about this delicious vegetable will purchase or cook such stuff, for it is only that portion of the stalk which has been exposed to the light and air that is fit to eat. These elements are as necessary to make asparagus stems tender and healthy food, as their absence is in the preparation of celery for the same purpose.

DEATH BY DROWNING AND COLD.—The Phenomena of Death by Drowning and Cold formed the subject of Dr. Richardson's experimental and practical lecture on Tuesday. He showed, amongst other experiments, that fish which would be presumed to be dead from what he called "glacial death," were easily recoverable. His view as to the suddenness of the collapse of the body in water at freezing point is that the exhaustion follows on peripheral nervous shock, due to the cold, and quick succeeding exhaustion of the nervous centers. Thus the temperature of the brain was reduced to 50 deg. Fahrenheit in an animal drowned in freezing [illegible] while the temperature of the chest and abdomen was at 79 deg. Fahrenheit. Death from drowning under ice is, Dr. Richardson says, one of the most rapid of deaths, and is completed, he believes, with so quick an extinction of consciousness as to be painless. The heart retains its power of action, the blood remains fluid, and the muscles keep up their irritability for a long time after apparent dissolution; and so favorable are all the conditions for renewal of living action, even for two hours, that a considerable advance in the practice of resuscitation must follow upon further careful and laborious experimental research.—Lancet.

Health Hints.

TYPHUS FEVER patients are now treated in Germany with cold-water baths.

A CASE of sudden death from the use of hydrate of chloral is reported from Connecticut. The patient had used the article for some time without harm, but the first dose from a new lot proved fatal. The article seemed pure when analyzed. We are warned that this substance also should be used with extreme caution.

EXPERIMENTS have lately been conducted at the Birmingham Children's Hospital, which point to the fact that scarlet fever is communicable through the medium of the laundry. It has always been held that the clothing of fever patients is infectious, but now the fact has been elicited that the mixing of such clothes with others in the wash is an active agent in the spread of the disease. It is thought that boiling will destroy the germs, but the clothes should be boiled, as well as washed, separately from the others. Burning is a remedy concerning which there is no doubt.

THE COATING OF THE TONGUE.—In health the tongue has hardly a discernible lining; disease quickly gives it one. In inflammation of the respiratory textures at the commencement of fevers, in disorders of large portions of the abdominal mucous tract, the epithelium accumulates, and the tongue has a loaded, whitish appearance. The coat is apt to be yellowish in disturbances of the liver, and of a brown or very dark hue when the blood is contaminated. But we must be very sure, in drawing our inferences, that the abnormal aspect be not due to the food partaken of or to medicine. Its color is also modified by the character of the occupation. Thus, as Chambers asserts, there is a curious, smooth, orange-tinted coating on the tongue of tea-tasters. A local cause sometimes gives rise to a thick opaque coat. For instance, decayed teeth may produce a yellow sheathing on one side. Affections of the fauces also occasion a deep yellow hue. Again, some persons wake up every morning with their tongues covered at the back with a heavy coating, which wears off during the day.—Dr. J. M. DaCosta.

A MR. HOPE, in a paper before the British Association, described a cure he had effected of scarlet fever upon his child by carbolic acid. He isolated the child. To kill the germs in the throat and cure the pain in swallowing, he used a gargle of one part of carbolic acid to two hundred parts of water. This had an instantaneous effect of the most cheering kind. He put clothes wrung out of the same proportion of carbolic acid and water on the bed, over the bed, and about the room, in it near the door, for them to wash their hands in whenever they went out of the room. In a few days the child recovered, and during the process of "desquamation" he bathed the child's body with the same mixture. Before the child recovered sufficiently to prevent others from catching the disease, some of the family came in contact with it, by going into the sick-room, and carried it to another child in the family. This, however, was taken in season and soon cured, and the house was cleared of the dire disease. Carbolic acid, however, is a very dangerous substance, and should be used only with great caution, under professional guidance.

PHYSICAL CAPITAL FOR CHILDREN.—Every hour that a child sleeps is just so much investment of physical capital for years to come. Every hour after dark that a child is awake is so much capital withdrawn. Every hour that a child lives a quiet, tranquil, joyous life of such sort as kittens live on hearths, squirrels in sunshine, is just so much investment in strength and steadiness and growth of the nervous system. Every hour that a child lives a life of excited brain working, either in a school-room or in a ball-room, is just so much taken away from the reserved force which enables nerves to triumph through the sorrows, through the labors, through the diseases of later life. Every mouthful of wholesome food that a child eats, at seasonable hours, may be said to tell on every moment of his life, no matter how long it may be. Victor Hugo, the benevolent exile, has found out that to be well fed once in seven days for one meal has been enough to transform the apparent health of all the poor children in Guernsey. Who shall say that to take once in seven days, or even once in thirty days, an unwholsome supper of chicken salad and champagne may not leave as lasting effects on the constitution of a child?—Independent.

—The editor of a New York theatrical paper published a scurrilous criticism on the performance there, and Booth afterward refused him admission. The editor carried the case to the court, and Judge Brady issued a mandamus, compelling the tragedian to show cause.

—Paris news is that the Government will certainly put down the insurgents, who may, however, do terrible things before they are overthrown.

"It Saved My Life."

WORDS OF A RELIABLE DRUGGIST.

What is the Value of Money when Compared to Health.

Allen's Lung Balsam

Is warranted to break up the most troublesome Cough in an incredibly short time. There is no remedy that can show more evidence of real merit than this BALSAM for curing Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, &c.

It Acts on the Kidneys,
It Acts on the Liver,
Which makes it more than a Cough Remedy.

Read the following from a reliable druggist of Michigan:

MARINE CITY, Mich., July 27, 1870.

J. N. Harris & Co.—Dear Sir: The Allen's Lung Balsam has arrived. I would not like to be without it, for it has saved my life. I took a bad cold and cough, and finally Consumption was seated upon me. I was in a very bad state. I tried everything that was recommended, and spent a great deal of money, but got no help. I had the Allen's Lung Balsam for sale, but I knew nothing of its merits. I did not like to take it, without knowing more about it. I had not sold a bottle. When your agent called on me I told him I could not sell a medicine I knew nothing about. He urged me to try it myself. I did so, and to my grateful surprise the first bottle stopped my cough, and before the third bottle was taken my lungs were healed and well, and I can now speak knowingly to my friends and customers of the qualities of Allen's Lung Balsam.

I remain, respectfully,
L. C. COTTREL.

It is Harmless to the most Delicate Child.

It Contains No Opium in Any Form.

It is Sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Call for "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM," and shun the use of any other Balsam. Unprincipled men may deceive you with worthless preparations.

CALL FOR ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

J. N. HARRIS & CO., Proprietors, Cincinnati, O.

For sale by GREENE & BUTTON, Milwaukee; H. BOSWORTH & SONS, Milwaukee; FULLER, FINCH & FULLER, Chicago; COLLINS BROS., St. Louis; [illegible] St. Paul.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

In soliciting anew the public patronage of Watches of domestic production, the American Watch Company respectfully represent:

That no fact in the history of manufactures is more completely demonstrated than that the best system of making watches is the one first established by them at Waltham. That system always had the warrant of reason and common sense, and now the test of time in the trial of the Watches themselves cannot be denied to have been ample and satisfactory. It is admitted on every hand—the evidence of daily observation and common repute—that the Watches not only keep correct time, but that as machines they ENDURE. It should seem that nothing more is needed but that their sizes, shapes, and appearance should suit the tastes of the people. As to all these conditions the American Watch Co. are now fully prepared to answer the exactions of the market. They confidently assert there is no longer any need for such reasons to import watches of any description whatever. Every size in ordinary demand, every shape and every variety of finish and decoration, may now be had. And as to price, the recent reductions leave no room for doubt that the Waltham system of Watch-making is the most economical as well as the most reliable, and that the Waltham Watch is the cheapest as well as the best.

Many new varieties of movements have been added during the last year, all of which display the latest improvements in design and finish, and evince the rapid progress the Company is making toward perfection in the art. Among these the new small size Watch, for Boys and young gentlemen, is to be specially noted. A very low price has been made for this Watch because it is a boy's watch, and with the object of bringing it within the means of boys of all classes. Price being considered, no such watch, in quality and beauty, has ever, in any country, been produced.

The "Crescent-street" full plate Watch, added during the last year, is now made either with or without stem-winding and setting attachment. This watch, in either form, the Company challenges all manufacturers of all countries to beat or equal for its price. It is made with all the latest improvements in every part—improvements which IMPROVE—and which not only make it better for its purposes as a timekeeper, but will make it the great favorite with watch-makers. This, the highest grade of full plate watches made in this country, in size and appearance, in finish, and general excellence, is especially intended for and recommended to business men, and in particular to Railway and Express men, to constant travelers—in fact to all live men who must be told by their watches the correct time of day whenever they want it. All such men should have the "American Watch Co., Crescent-street." Counting on such destination for this variety of their manufacture, the Company devote the greatest care to its construction, employ upon it only their best men and best machinery, and issue it with their reputation at stake upon its success.

For sale by all leading jewelers. No watches retailed by the Company. For all other facts address

ROBBINS & APPLETON,
General Agents for American Watch Co., 182 Broadway, N. Y.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO OUR LARGE STOCK OF
WALTHAM WATCHES,

AND WE SUBMIT THE FOLLOWING REASONS WHY THEY SHOULD BE PREFERRED TO ANY OTHER AMERICAN WATCHES.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, THE WALTHAM COMPANY IS THE OLDEST, AND HAS HAD FOURFOLD THE EXPERIENCE OF ANY OTHERS ENGAGED IN THE BUSINESS IN THE UNITED STATES.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, THE MACHINERY IN USE BY THE WALTHAM COMPANY IS FAR MORE PERFECT AND VARIED, AND AS A RESULT THE WATCHES ARE OF FAR HIGHER GRADE, AND OF GREATER VARIETY, AND ARE PLACED IN THE MARKET AT MUCH LOWER PRICES THAN ANY OTHERS, QUALITY AND STYLE FULLY CONSIDERED.

IN THE THIRD PLACE, THE WALTHAM WATCH IS NOW A STAPLE ARTICLE, ITS REPUTATION FULLY ESTABLISHED, AND, AS A CONSEQUENCE, IT IS SOLD AT LESS PROFIT THAN ANY OTHERS IN THE MARKET.

BALL, BLACK & CO.,
565 and 567 BROADWAY, NEW-YORK.

NOW IS THE TIME!
—TO—SECURE YOUR TICKETS
—FOR THE—
GRAND GIFT CONCERT!
—OF THE—
Milwaukee Musical Society,
WHICH TAKES PLACE ON Wednesday Evening, April 26, 1871, at
MUSIC HALL.

IMMENSE SALE OF TICKETS!

The most gratifying reports are being received from our agents, and from present indications we are warranted in saying that there will be

No Postponement!
No Postponement!
No Postponement!

The Sale of Tickets will Close on Saturday, April 22d,
And our Agents are hereby notified that all tickets remaining unsold must be returned by that time to the office of the General Agent at Milwaukee.

$80,000 IN CASH!
To be Distributed in GREENBACKS!

1 Gift $25,000	$25,000
1 GIFT, $5,000	$5,000
5 GIFTS, 1,000	5,000
20 GIFTS, 500	10,000
50 GIFTS, 100	5,000
100 GIFTS, 50	5,000

And 2,000 Other Cash Gifts, Amounting to $80,000.

TICKETS, - - - - $2.00 EACH.

All prizes will be paid on the day after the drawing. Parties at a distance, who may draw prizes, can forward their tickets for collection through the Express Companies. The award of prizes will be announced by telegraph in all the principal cities of the Union.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION.—One hundred thousand numbers, representing the tickets issued, will be placed in one wheel, and two thousand one hundred and seventy-seven cards, inscribed with the amounts of the gifts, will be placed in another. From these wheels a number and a gift will be drawn simultaneously; the NUMBER drawn, in each instance, taking the GIFT drawn at the same time. The wheels are being constructed ESPECIALLY FOR THIS OCCASION, and will be made on the most approved plans. No pains or expense will be spared to make the drawing in every respect satisfactory to the public, and ticket-holders may be assured that their interests will be carefully watched and protected.

HOW TO SEND MONEY.—Send by Bank Draft, Postoffice Order, or Registered Letter. By remitting 15 cents additional, parties can have their tickets forwarded in Registered Letter.

W. H. JACOBS, President Milwaukee Musical Society.
T. L. BAKER, Treasurer, Cashier Milwaukee National Bank.
EMIL WALLBER, Secretary Milwaukee Musical Society.

H. N. HEMPSTED,
PIANO and MUSIC DEALER,
410 Broadway, Milwaukee, Wis.,
Is the authorized General Agent, to whom all correspondence should be addressed.

Try It.

It is amusing that the feeble should totter, with uncertain steps, over the face of the earth, in danger every day of falling victims to the morbid influences by which we are all surrounded, when a tested and proven vegetable tonic, capable of endowing them with the vigor they need, is procurable in every city, town and settlement. It might reasonably be thought that after the twelve years' experience which the world has had of Hostetter's Bitters, all would know that its effect is to prevent disease.

At certain seasons the atmosphere is surcharged with the seeds of intermittents, remittents, rheumatism, pulmonary disorders, bilious complaints and the like. Persons whose nervous systems are relaxed are the first to succumb to these distempers. Brace up the physical energies then with this potential vegetable tonic. It is the most powerful recuperant which the botanic kingdom has ever yielded to patient research and experiment. Try it. The blindest discipline of the old medical dogmas will at least admit that a tonic and alterative, compounded of approved herbs, roots and barks, can do no harm, while the testimony of thousands invites a trial of its virtues.

Vigor is the thing most needed in these cases, as well as in dyspepsia and nervous affections, and Hostetter's Bitters is the safest, surest and most wholesome strengthening preparation that human skill has yet concocted.

Hundreds of physicians have abandoned all the officinal receipts and prescribed this harmless tonic as a preventive and cure for all cases of chills and fever.

TO YOUNG MEN.
A SELF-INSTRUCTOR on Marriage and Diseases of the Reproductive Organs, Seminal Weakness, &c., with 50 recipes for self-cure, 150 large pages, 160 plates and engravings. Sample copy, 30 cts. FOR LADIES, a treatise on Female Diseases, with prescription for self-treatment, in sealed envelope. Price 10 cts. M. & S. Inst., Publishers, Milwaukee, Wis.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.
IMPORTANT LECTURE and prescriptions to cure Seminal Weakness, Emissions, &c., sent free. ED. TREMAIN, Station D, N. Y.

MUSTACHE, HAIR OR WHISKERS
FORCED to grow on the smoothest face or head in three weeks. Send 25 cents to E. S. WARNICK, Mechanicsville, Pa.

Steel Name Stamps
For Tools, Patents, etc. E. H. PAYN, Manufac'r, Burlington, Vt. 20c per letter. Mailed on receipt of price

FREE! FREE! FREE!—The book of new receipts, an illustrated book of the odd, quaint, curious and interesting; 72 pages; 30 illustrations. Mailed for two stamps. Address BLACKIE & CO., 746 Broadway, New York.

5 CENTS—Sent to E. POPE VOSE, Publisher, Rockland, Maine, will procure sample copies of the Young People's Helper, 16 pages, 50c a year, best youth's paper for price in country, with list of 250 Premiums. DON'T FAIL to get it!

VINEGAR—How made in 10 hours, without drugs. Particulars 10 cents. F. SAGE, Cromwell, Conn.

READ "Convent Life Unveiled," by Edith O'Gorman. Price $1.50. Sold by all booksellers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by CONN. PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY
MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

They are not a vile FANCY DRINK. Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

FOR
HAND AND MACHINE SEWING.
J. & P. COATS'
BEST
SIX-CORD IN ALL NUMBERS,
From No. 8 to No. 100 inclusive.
FOR SALE BY
All Dealers in Dry Goods and Notions.

FERRATED WINE
OF WILD CHERRY,
FOR
Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nervousness, &c.

This agreeable and highly efficacious Wine is prepared so as to present to invalids a reliable combination of the valuable elements of CHERRY, PHOSPHORUS AND IRON, in a form more acceptable than the ordinary preparations of Iron.

An Iron Tonic and Sedative specially adapted to the delicate constitution of LADIES, in cases of general weakness, loss of nervous energy and impoverished blood. It promotes the appetite, gives renewed strength and energy to the whole system.

TILDEN & CO.,
PHARMACEUTISTS AND CHEMISTS,
New Lebanon, N. Y., and 176 William St., New York.
For Sale by Druggists generally.

NEWSPAPER
ADVERTISING.

A Book of 126 closely printed pages, lately issued, contains a list of the best American Advertising Mediums, giving the names, circulations, and full particulars concerning the leading Daily and Weekly Political and Family Newspapers, together with all those having large circulations, published in the interest of Religion, Agriculture, Literature, &c., &c. Every Advertiser and every person who contemplates becoming such, will find this book of great value. Mailed free to any address on receipt of 25 cents. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Publishers, No. 40 Park Row, New York.

The Pittsburgh (Pa.) Leader, in its issue of May 29, 1870, says: "The firm of G. P. Rowell & Co., which issues this interesting and valuable book, is the largest and best Advertising Agency in the United States, and we can cheerfully recommend it to the attention of those who desire to advertise their business scientifically and systematically in such a way: that is so to secure the largest amount of publicity for the least expenditure of money."

YOUNG MEN desiring a successful start in Business Life attend Eastman College—the oldest, best and most reasonable practical School, and the only one providing situations for graduates. Address, for Catalogue of 3,000 in business, H. G. EASTMAN, LL. D., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

$5,000 REWARD
for a superior article. $5 to $20 per day and no risk. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to introduce our new 7-strand White Wire Rope Clothes Lines, which will last for ever. Don't miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Co., 75 William St., N. Y., or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

REDUCTION OF PRICES
TO CONFORM TO
REDUCTION OF DUTIES.
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS,
BY GETTING UP CLUBS.
Send for our New Price List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers, and remunerative to club organizers.
THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 and 33 Vesey Street,
P. O. Box —— NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

THEA-NECTAR
IS A PURE
BLACK TEA,
with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

Agents! Read This!
WE WILL PAY AGENTS A SALARY OF $30 per week and expenses, or allow a large commission, to sell our new wonderful inventions. Address M. WAGNER & CO., Marshall, Mich.

BLOOMINGTON NURSERY, ILL.
19th Year. 400 Acres. 13 Greenhouses.
Largest Assortment—all sizes. Best Stock! Low Prices! Would you know What, When, How to Plant!
Fruit, Shade, Evergreen Trees; Root Grafts, Seedlings, Osage Plants; Apple Seed, Early Rose Potatoes; Shrubs; Roses, Greenhouse and Garden Plants, &c., &c.
FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SEEDS
Finest, Best Collection—Sorts and Quality.
Send 10 cents for New, Illustrated, Descriptive Catalogue—90 pages. Send stamp, each, for Catalogue of Seeds, with plain directions—64 pages; Bedding and Garden Plants—32 pages, and Wholesale Price List—24 pages. Address
F. K. PHOENIX, Bloomington, Illinois.

FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE
Cleans Kid Gloves and all kinds of Cloths and Clothing; removes Paint, Grease, Tar, &c., instantly, without the least injury to the finest fabric. Sold by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers. FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE CO., 33 Barclay St., New York; 46 La Salle St., Chicago.

PATENTS FOR INVENTORS
Should be applied for through Edson Brothers, Patent Attorneys, 616 Ninth Street, Washington, D. C. If we report an invention patentable, we abate our fee until the patent is allowed. Send for circular.

CURIOSITY—$1, $2 and $3 [C] bill sent as a curiosity for 50c. H. S. JONES, Denver City, Col.

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

VOL. I. AUBURN, DE KALB COUNTY, INDIANA, THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1871. NO. 17.

THE AUBURN COURIER,
Published Every Thursday,
BY
W. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:
One year .... [illegible]
Six months 1.00
Three months .... .50

JOHN W. BICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-38

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office over J. Albright's Jewelry Store, corner of Main and Eighth streets, in front of the Court House. 2-46

PINCHIN & MADDEN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-38

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. McCLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

W. H. DILLS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.
GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and
AGENTS FOR
Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,
No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,
PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,
HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential. Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-25

MASONIC.
DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.
CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. THOS. D. GROSS, C. P.
JNO. W. BICKEL, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,
MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. C. WYLAND, N. G.
S. L. YANDES, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.
WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind.

DR. R. ELSON,
RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN, SURGEON and ACCOUCHEUR. At your service professionally. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office and residence, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

WATERLOO HOUSE,
SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Mortts, proprietors.

ADVICE TO GIRLS.—Somebody gives the following advice to girls. It is worth volumes of fiction and sentimentalism: Men who are worth having want women for wives. A bundle of gewgaws, bound with a string of flats and quavers, sprinkled with cologne and set in a carmine saucer—this is no help for a man who expects to raise a family of boys on bread and meat. The piano and lace frames are good in their places, and so are ribbons, frills and tassels; but you cannot make a dinner of the former, nor a bed-blanket of the latter—and awful as such an idea may seem to you, both dinner and bed-blankets are necessary to domestic happiness. Life has its realities as well as fancies; but you make it all decorations, remembering the tassels and curtains, but forgetting the bedstead. Suppose a man of good sense, and of course good prospects, to be looking for a wife, what chance have you to be chosen? You may cap him, or you may trap him, but how much better for him to make it an object for him to catch you. Render yourself worth catching, and you need no shrewd mother or brother to help you find a market.

THE TRIBULATIONS OF AN EX-CONDUCTOR.—The "Fat Contributor," of the Cincinnati Times, has the following in regard to an old conductor promoted to train dispatcher: "Habit was very strong with the ex-conductor. As he sat in the office he would start every time he heard a bell ring and yell 'All aboard.' Then he would go about the office at intervals and try to collect fare of his assistants. We dropped in casually one afternoon, and Billy wanted to know if we had a pass. He couldn't get accustomed to his new position at all. He pined to be again on the road. One day he begged the boys to put him through a collision, which they did to his entire gratification. They tore his clothes nearly off, blackened his eyes, broke a kerosene lamp over his head and piled a red-hot stove on top of him. Billy was in an ecstacy of delight, and declared he hadn't enjoyed himself so much since he had a bile."

CLEANSING VARNISHED PAINT.—In cleansing paint which has been varnished, there is nothing better than weak tea. All tea leaves from several drawings should be saved and boiled over early in the morning of the paint-cleansing day. If boiled in an old tin pail or pan, the tea can easily be strained off for use. Wet a flannel in it and wipe the oak-grained paint, and you will be surprised at its brightness. No soap is needed, no milk; the tea is the most capital detergent ever invented. Wipe the paint dry with a soft cloth; you will find that very little elbow grease is needed. White varnished paint is cleansed as rapidly with it as the grained.

GRIEF knits two hearts in closer bonds than happiness ever can; and common suffering is a far stronger link than common joy.

Home, School and Church.

It was the opinion of Sir Walter Scott that the following beautiful lines of Byron's are the best that erratic poet ever wrote, and stand prominent among the poetic gems of literature:

There is a mystic thread of life,
So dearly wove with mine alone,
That destiny's relentless knife,
At once must sever both or none.

There is a form on which these eyes
Have often gazed with fond delight;
By day that form their joy supplies,
And dreams restore it through the night.

There is a voice whose tunes inspire
Such thrills of rapture through my breast,
I would not hear a seraph choir
Unless that voice should join the rest.

There is a face whose blushes tell
Affection's tale upon the cheek,
But pallid at one fond farewell,
Proclaims more love than words can speak.

There is a lip which mine have pressed,
And none have ever pressed before;
It vowed to make me sweetly blessed,
And mine, mine only pressed it more.

There is a bosom all my own
Hath pillowed oft this aching head;
And mouth which smiles on me alone,
And eyes whose tears with mine are shed.

There are two hearts whose movements thrill
In unison so closely sweet,
That pulse to pulse responsive still,
They both must heave or cease to beat.

There are two souls whose equal flow,
In gentle streams so calmly run,
That when they part, they part! ah, no!
They cannot part, these souls are one!

AN INFAMOUS NAME.

Translated from the French.

Toward the end of the month of November in the year 1813, an old man was walking slowly along the Quai St. Michel, in Paris, and seemed to direct his footsteps toward the populous but impoverished neighborhood that, even more at that time than to-day, surrounded the dark capital of Notre Dame. He was somewhat bent in figure and leaned upon a cane. A wide brimmed hat covered his head and almost concealed his features. Yet, though night was coming on, it was not difficult to distinguish the venerable mildness of his face, and the expression of profound disappointment which rested upon it. The surging of the crowd, the salutary influence of the walk, and the beautiful evening occasionally lent him an air of contentment, but the set sadness would soon seize upon him again, and his features would fall back into their first expression of bitterness. Then he would struggle against the fatal idea that had become fixed upon him; he would raise his head; he would look about him; he sought distraction in all the surrounding objects; but nothing succeeded in relieving him from his evident suffering, and he would soon relapse into his old dejection.

In spite of his age, for he was not less than sixty years old, the old man arrived at the Place Notre Dame, went into several of the houses, ascended the steps into the third and fourth stories, visited several families in which there were sick persons, and consoled all the poor creatures he saw with soft and pleasant words. He brought prompt relief to the sufferers; he gave encouragement to all the others, and praised their perseverance and friendly offices; and he seldom left a room without leaving on the mantle a sum of money sufficient to buy the medicine which he had prescribed, or the day's bread for the poor family.

When he had finished his work of charity; had made the rounds, and had neither gratuitous consultations to give nor alms to distribute, he started for home, and was just calling a hack—for he was tired enough—when he heard a trembling voice soliciting alms. He turned about and saw that it was a young man who had spoken to him.

"Why don't you work?" asked the old gentleman. "I am not rich enough to assist those who can assist themselves."

The beggar did not answer a single word, but turned about hurriedly and ran away to the bank of the river, where, after a brief moment of hesitation or of prayer, he was about to throw himself into the Seine, when he felt some one seize his arm. It was the old man whom he had spoken to a few minutes before, and who, guessing the beggar's intention, had run after him as fast as his almost octogenarian limbs would permit, to save the rash young man from suicide.

"Forgive me a moment of hardness and forgetfulness," said the elder, holding out a five franc piece to the younger, but the latter gently put aside the hand that offered him help.

"I might as well die to-day as to-morrow," was his reply. "The charity which I begged in a moment of weakness would only serve to prolong my wretched existence for a day or two."

He then tried to walk away, but succumbing to his weakness fell to the ground.

"Give it to me, then, sir," he added; "the disease which is devouring me will bring death in a few days, and, thanks to your charity, I may be able to appear before my God without the crime of 'suicide' written upon my brow. Give it to me, and I may die innocent and without remorse."

The old man took the youth's hand and placed his finger upon the pulse. It indicated the existence of a violent fever, and the light of a passing carriage showed him a face which had been sadly altered and bore the impress of serious illness. He also recognized by the clothes and manners of the unfortunate young man that he did not belong to the working classes.

"Your condition demands the care of a physician," he said. "If you will trust me I will give it to you."

"I would rather die than go to the hospital," said the sick man.

"I will not take you to the hospital, but to a family that is very devoted to me, and will treat you as a son. Come, give me your arm; old as I am, I still have strength enough to hold you up."

He half led, half carried the young man to a neighboring house, then up three pairs of stairs into a little apartment occupied by an honest workingman's family.

"Mme. Jeanne," said the doctor, addressing a woman about forty years of age, "you have often expressed the desire to do me some service. Here is the chance. This young man—one of my friends—is very sick. Take him to board with you until his recovery. Here is money which will pay you for the extra expense you will have."

"We would rather give him our own bed," was the answer, "than to have any of your friends sleep badly, doctor." Then both husband and wife set themselves about preparing a bed for the young man, who could hardly hold his head up. The doctor helped them to undress the invalid, left prescriptions for him, and went away.

Next day the young man's condition was much worse; his fever took a more virulent shape; he became delirious and wandered in a foreign language which the doctor recognised as German. He called his mother to his aid, he mingled national songs with his complaints and cries of despair; he promised his betrothed that he would soon marry her. Never did fever produce a more confused or more deplorable disorder of thought. For eight days and nights the two people to whom the doctor had confided the stranger watched by his bedside. The old doctor himself visited him several times a day, and at last their devotion found its reward. The delirium went off, the fever lost its danger and the patient could eat light food to revive his failing strength. There was great rejoicing in the humble lodging that day, for Antoine and his wife had conceived a parental affection for the young man who now owed their life to their care.

The convalescent's first words were to thank these good people, and then to ask them the name of the benevolent old man who had succored him. To his great surprise, he found that neither the husband nor the wife knew his name. He had once given assistance to one of their neighbors, and when the neighbors heard that Jeanne was sick, he had asked the doctor to cure her too, and the old gentleman had undertaken it, and succeeded in doing it. One day, when the old man was leaving the house where he brought health and happiness, Antoine had slipped into his hand three pieces of gold wrapped up in a bit of paper.

"You ought to have seen his look at this time," continued Antoine, "Do you think," he said, "that I use my art that you should give me the price of a whole month of your work? You have already lost too much of your time in taking care of your wife." Then he went away as though I had offended him, and he did not come back for eight days, and that was when he brought you with him.

This story, told by the poor people with praises for the old doctor at every word, touched the young man's heart and increased his gratitude. When he saw his benefactor come in the evening the invalid lifted his hand respectfully to his lips.

"I owe you my life," he said; "I owe you more, for, without you, I would have been guilty of a crime."

"Yes, it would have been a crime, my child," said the old man, "for it is always wrong to seek escape in suicide from the trials that God puts upon us, or even from the injustice that society heaps upon us in return for the services we have rendered it. God holds us accountable for the first, and for the second we should only revenge ourselves by pardoning." The old man sighed at these words, and with so much sadness that it was easy to comprehend that they reflected his own bitter experience.

"What," exclaimed the young man, "you, so noble, generous and wise—have you any reason to complain of society or your fellow-men?"

"We will not speak of that," replied the doctor; "let's rather talk of your plans, now that you are getting well. What do you propose to do, and how can I be useful to you?"

"I would owe you the account of my whole life, even if it had any secrets; but it is very simple and common place," was the reply. "I was born in Vienna, where my father practiced medicine with more renown than profit. He died poor about four years ago, and left my mother without any other resources than the legacy in dispute at Paris. I had been engaged in scientific studies at the university. Nothing would have been wanting to my happiness if I could have secured a small practice, sufficient to marry my cousin Mina, whom I loved, and to support us. But young doctors have a hard time to work into practice. After a year of useless efforts and disappointed hopes, my mother advised me to come to Paris and endeavor to recover the disputed legacy, as the only means of rendering my marriage possible. I obeyed, left Vienna, arrived at Paris, looked into the matter, and found that my rights were incontestible. But it was necessary to go into court, and I had not the money for lawyers and expenses. Besides, I was a foreigner and had no friend to recommend me. Just at this time, the war between France and Germany broke out; it was impossible for me to return home, and I could only be thankful that my obscurity kept me from being arrested and held as prisoner of war. I lived for a while by giving German lessons to some students, but sickness deprived me even of this support. Overcome, heart-broken, and almost mad,—you know the rest,—I forced myself to beg, and if it had not been for you, sir, I would have died a suicide's death."

"Your father's name is known to me, young man," said the physician. "I know that medicine and science are indebted to him for many important discoveries."

"My father directed his studies particularly on the nervous system. To him is owing the completion and verification of those works undertaken in other lands by Mojor, Castel, Cabinis, Petit, and Dr. Sue."

The old physician grew pale at these words, and his voice was much altered as he asked:

"And what was the result of his investigations?"

"That of all the punishments invented by man, there is none so terrible as that of beheading," was the reply of the young German.

The Doctor, who had arisen from his seat, the better to control the agitation which he experienced, now fell back into his chair and tried to speak; but his lips refused to do service, and his words were low and unintelligible.

"Yes," continued the convalescent, "my father had the mournful courage to renew all the experiences of the men I have mentioned. To snatch from nature its secrets, he would go to the scaffold to receive the heads that had fallen under the axe. The result of his investigation was, that he became convinced that the human intelligence remains intact long after decapitation, retaining the forces of the brain without losing any of the perceptions. Like Aldini, he demonstrated that the contraction of the muscles continues at least three-quarters of an hour after death. He has seen human heads, fully a quarter of an hour after separation from the bodies, close the eyes when exposed to a bright light. After having reopened the eyes, he has assured himself that these heads were sensible to the action of stimulants, that the tongue, hanging out of the mouth and pricked with a needle, is withdrawn rapidly, and that the features assume the expression of a painful sensation. He could prove that the organs of hearing long remain susceptible of receiving impressions. Twice have I myself seen the heads of two decapitated persons turn their eyes to the side from which their names were called."

The old physician buried his face in his hands and wept as he heard these things.

"My talk has frightened you, hasn't it?" continued the young man. "My father gave himself up to these terrible studies in order to combat the theories of a French physician, who was the inventor of the most cruel instrument of torture—an instrument to which, by a just retribution, his name is attached, and always will be—the Guillotine!"

The old doctor rose again, this time almost majestically.

"Young man," he said softly, but with an air of authority, "leave calumny to the vulgar, and do not accuse a good man upon popular and lying rumors. Guillotin—this Guillotin, whom you despise, and whom your father hated; Guillotin, whose name is never repeated without a shudder of disgust; Guillotin, whose name will be eternally attached to an instrument of capital punishment, deserves neither the hate, the shame, or the ignominy heaped upon him. Listen to me well, for the words I am about to say to you deserve to be understood and believed, once at least, by a pure and loyal heart.

"When the National Assembly was occupied in reinstating the ancient penal system, it proclaimed, as the fundamental principle of its work, the equality of pain for all classes of citizens, the personality of crime, the shame of which should not rest on the criminal's family, and, finally, the abolition of all useless torture and suffering. Guillotin, this object of execration even in Germany; Guillotin, who had for six years been pursuing the same studies as your father, and who—whether from error or reality—had arrived at results and convictions directly opposite—this man proposed the substitution of decapitation in place of the wheel, the rope and the butchery, by which capital punishment had been effected in the past. Once the head separated from the body, thought dies, he said to himself, and with thought all the suffering. The nervous movements which agitate the body are purely mechanical, he thought, and cannot produce any sensation. Strong in this conviction, he submitted his proposal and it was unanimously adopted. It only remained for him to continue and complete its work—his philanthropic work since it was intended to render the last moments of criminals less cruel than before. He then suggested, as the surest, speediest and least painful means of execution, the use of a machine known in Italy as the manaia, described by Father Labot and invented centuries ago, as may be proved by an old picture of the Byzantine school. This was Guillotin's crime! This is how he deserves the execration that pursues him! If his whole life was only known—his life, it may be said with just pride, which was without spot and without reproach; his life, which is pure before God and man; but alas! they only know how to condemn, calumniate and despise.

"Since you have heard the justification of his misfortune," continued the old gentleman; "since you no longer despise him—you do not, do you?—you should also learn the history of his whole life, in order that you may defend him, and that at least one voice may be raised in his favor. Born at Saintes, he was at first a Jesuit in the Irish college at Bordeaux, but his life soon appeared narrow and sterile to him. He left the convent, and came to Paris to give himself up to this passionate taste for medical science, or, rather (and I speak to you as I would before God, concealing neither good nor bad) that which prompted him to consecrate his life to the study of medicine was the hope that he might in this way be of more service to his suffering fellows. Important and conscientious work drew public attention to him, and he practiced his honorable profession, not without success and renown, up to the time that the French revolution broke out. The bodily physician had an ambition to become also the physician of the mind, and to associate himself with the great movement which, as he hoped, would emancipate the nation. He set himself at writing, and published the pamphlet entitled 'Petition des Habitants de Paris et des six Corps.' It demanded that the representation of the tiers-etat in the Assembly of the states-general should at least be equal to the two privileged classes taken together. The pamphlet excited a great deal of public attention. Parliament was alarmed at it, and summoned the writer to the bar to answer the charge of sedition. He refused to secede from any of his positions, and was finally acquitted by the greatest body in the state, almost receiving their approbation. He found a great crowd waiting for him outside; they applauded him, they called his name with transports of enthusiasm and gratitude—that name which has become so terrible, which I do not myself dare to pronounce.

"The author of this pamphlet retained his popularity and public favor for a long time. Elected among those who were to choose representatives in the State-general, he succeeded to the post of preparing the 'Declaration of the rights of Man,' afterward received the commission of editing a volume on the sanitary reforms of Paris, and of organising the schools of medicine, surgery and pharmacy. It was at this time that he conceived his fatal idea of reform in criminal jurisprudence.

"As a recompense he was thrown into prison—a prison in which even his unfortunate companion avoided him or heaped reproaches upon him. He waited death with resignation, almost with joy, when, on the 9th thermidor, the revolution which he had excited set him at liberty. He then wanted to quit Paris and seek an asylum in America, where he might live unknown, and escape the curses that had been attached to him in so unjust a manner. But he was ordered, in the name of his country, to remain in France and to devote the rest of his life to his fatherland. He could not refuse, and then founded that celebrated association known as L'Academie de Medicine, which has done the world so much service and is destined to do so much more. Eminent places and honors were offered to him, but he refused them all, wishing to expiate the crime of what he had regarded as a beneficence, in obscure but useful citizenship. Then he spread abroad the blessing of vaccination, he carried consolation from garret to garret; and if he was not happy, if one cruel thought consumed his soul, he was at least of service in stopping the tears of the poor people. And now, my friend, can you still accuse Guillotin?"

"He was an angel!" cried Jeanne.

"If ever I hear any one say ill of him," muttered her husband, as he rolled his sleeves up and displayed his muscular arm.

"I will devote my life to the purpose of defending him and fighting the criminal prejudice against him," added the young German.

"Nothing can break down this prejudice," interrupted the old man, sadly. "The injustice has lasted to this very day, and it will be perpetuated from year to year, from century to century. My name is immortal, but, great God! what an immortality it is! Never mind," he said, after a moment's thought in silence, "never mind; I will find justice in heaven, and I am near heaven, now. There remains but little bitterness now for these lips that have drank from the cup of sorrow so long."

The presentiment did not deceive him. The young German, who returned to Vienna the following year, thanks to the old man's protection and assistance, learned that Dr. Joseph Ignance Guillotin had died at Paris, April 26, 1814, at the age of 76 years.

An Address to the People.

The Democrats in Congress issued the following address to the people at the close of the session on Thursday, the 20th:

To the People of the United States:

Our presence and official duties at Washington have enabled us to become fully acquainted with the actions and designs of those who control the Radical party, and we feel called on to utter a few words of warning against the alarming strides they have made toward the centralization of power in the hands of Congress and the Executive. The time and attention of Radical leaders have been almost wholly directed to devising such legislation as will, in their view, best preserve their ascendancy, and no regard for wise restraints imposed by the Constitution has checked their reckless and desperate career. The President of the United States has been formally announced as a candidate for re-election. The declarations of his selfish supporters have been echoed by a subsidized press, and the discipline of party has already made adhesion to his personal fortunes the supreme test of political fealty. The partisan legislation to which we refer was decreed and shaped in secret caucus, where the extremest counsels always dominate, and were adopted by a subservient majority, if not with the intent, certainly with the effect, to place in the hands of the President the power to command his own renomination and to employ the navy, army and militia at his sole direction as a means of subserving his personal ambition. When the sad experience of the past two years, so disappointing to the hopes and generous confidence of the country is considered, in connection with the violent utterances and rash purpose of those who control the President's policy, it is not surprising that the gravest apprehensions for the future peace of the nation should be entertained. At a time when labor is depressed and every material interest is pampered by oppressive taxation, public offices have been multiplied beyond all precedent to serve as instruments in the perpetuation of power. Partisanship is the only test applied to the distribution of this vast patronage. Honesty, fitness and moral worth are openly discarded in favor of a truckling submission and a dishonorable compliance. Hence, enormous defalcations and wide-spread corruption have followed as a natural consequence of this pernicious system. By the official report of the Secretary of the Treasury, it appears that after deductions of all proper credits, many millions of dollars remain due from ex-Collectors of Internal Revenue, and no proper diligence has ever been used to collect them. Reform in revenue, which all experience demonstrates to be necessary to a frugal administration of the government, as well as a measure of relief to an overburdened people, has been persistently postponed, or wilfully neglected. Congress now adjourns without having even attempted to reduce taxation, or to repeal the glaring impositions by which industry is crushed and impoverished. The Treasury is overflowing, and an excess of eighty millions of revenue is admitted; and yet, instead of some measure for present relief, a barren and delusive resolution is passed by the Senate to consider tariff and excise systems hereafter. As if the history of broken pledges and pretended remedies furnished any better assurance for future legislation than experience has done in the past. The ship-building and the carrying trade, once a source of national pride and prosperity, now languish under a crushing load of taxation, and nearly every other business is struggling, without profit, to maintain itself. Our agriculturists, while paying a heavy tax on all they consume, either to the Government or monopolists, find prices for their own products so reduced that honest labor is denied its just reward, and industry is prostrated by invidious discrimination. Nearly 200,000,000 acres of public lands, which should have been reserved for the benefit of the people, have been voted away to great corporations, neglecting our soldiers and enriching a handful of greedy speculators and lobbyists, who are thereby enabled to exercise most dangerous and corrupting influence over State and Federal legislation. If the career of these conspirators be not checked the downfall of free government is inevitable, and with it the elevation of a military dictator on the ruins of the Republic. Under the pretense of passing laws to enforce the Fourteenth amendment and for other purposes, Congress has conferred most despotic powers upon the Executive, and provided an official machinery by which the liberties of the people are menaced and the sacred rights of local self-government in States ignored, if not tyrannically overthrown. Modeled after the sedition laws, so odious in history, they are at variance with all the sanctified theories of our institutions; and the construction given by these Radical interpreters to the Fourteenth amendment is, to use the language of an eminent statesman, Senator Trumbull, of Illinois, an annihilator of States. Under the last enforcement bill, the Executive may, in his discretion, thrust aside the Government of any State, suspend the writ of habeas corpus, arrest its Governor, imprison or disperse its Legislature, silence its Judges, and trample down its people under the armed heel of his troops. Nothing is left to the citizens of the States which can any longer be called rights. All is changed into mere sufferance. Our hopes for redress are in the calm good sense and sober second-thought of the American people. We call upon them to be true to themselves and to their past, and, disregarding party name and minor differences, to insist upon a decent equalization of power, the restricting of Federal authority within its just and proper limits, leaving to States that control over domestic affairs which is essential to their happiness, tranquility, and good government. Everything that malicious ingenuity could suggest has been done to irritate the people of the Middle and Southern States. Gross and exaggerated charges of disorder and violence own their origin to the mischievous minds of political managers in the Senate and House of Representatives, to which the Executive has, we regret to say, lent his aid, and thus helped to inflame popular feeling. In all this course of hostile legislation and harsh resentment, no word of conciliation, of kind encouragement, or fraternal fellowship has ever been spoken by the President, or by Congress, to the people of the Southern States. They have been addressed only in the language of proscription. They earnestly entreat our fellow-citizens in all parts of the Union to spare no efforts to maintain peace and order; to carefully protect the rights of every citizen; preserve kindly relations among all men, and to discourage any violations of the rights of any portion of the people secured under the Constitution, or any of its amendments. Let us, in conclusion, earnestly beg of you not to aid the present attempts of Radical partisan leaders to excite in the land, to renew the issues of the war, or to obstruct the return of peace and prosperity to the Southern States, because it is their only hope to divert the attention of the country from corruption and extravagance, their administration of public affairs, and dangerous and profligate attempts they are making toward creating centralized military government. In the five years following war, Radical administration have expended $1,200,000,000 for ordinary purposes alone, being within $300,000,000 of aggregate amount for same purposes in war and in peace during seventy-one years preceding June 30, 1861, not including in either case the sum paid upon principal or interest of public debt. It is trifling with the intelligence of the people for Radical leaders to pretend that this vast sum has been honestly expended. Hundreds of millions have been wantonly squandered. The expenditures of Government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1861, were only $62,000,000, while for precisely the same purposes—civil list, army and navy pensions, and Indians—$164,000,000 were expended during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1870. No indignation can be too stern and no scorn too severe for the assertion by unscrupulous Radical leaders that the great Democratic and Conservative party of the Union has or can have sympathy with disorders or violence in any part of the country, or in the deprivation of any man of his rights. We invoke their aid to uphold, protect and perpetuate the rights which every free man cherishes, to revive in all hearts the feelings of friendship, affection, and harmony, which are the best guarantees of law and order, and to throw around the humble citizen, wherever he may be, those protecting safeguards of personal liberty which the fundamental laws of our land assure, that we invoke the aid of all good men in the work of peace and reconciliation. We invite their generous co-operation, irrespective of all former differences of opinion, so that the harsh voice of discord may be relieved; that a new and dangerous sectional agitation may be checked; that burdens of taxation, direct or indirect, may be reduced to the lowest point consistent with good faith to every just and national obligation, and with a strictly economical administration of the Government, and that the States may be restored in their integrity and true relations to our Federal Union.

[Here follow the signatures of all Democratic Senators, and most of the Representatives.]

Napoleon on the Way to England.

The Meuse, of Liege, gives the following details of the passage of the ex-Emperor of the French through that city: "Napoleon III. arrived, as we announced, at a quarter to 11 in the evening, at the station of Les Guillemins, coming from Cassel, on the way for Ostend. The special train was composed of nine carriages—four for passengers, three luggage vans and two traveling coupes. He was in the diligence of the Count de Flandre, in which he had already made the transit from Libramont to Cassel, after the battle of Sedan. His suite consisted of about thirty persons. The Princess Mathilde, another lady and two other personages had quitted Brussels at 5 p. m. to meet him at Herbesthal. At this last station these persons took their places in the carriage with the ex-Emperor and accompanied him to Malines. The train halted for a few minutes in our station, Napoleon III., seated in an arm-chair, appeared to be dozing. He wore a General's uniform, covered by a cloak. He seemed in good health, only his hair has become considerably whiter. The Princess Mathilde was in deep mourning. One of our contributors who was on the spot, having had occasion to exchange a few words with the Prince de la Moskowa, communicated the contents of the dispatches received relative to the events in Paris. The Prince immediately alighted and hastened to the door of the carriage occupied by the Emperor. A few moments after the Imperial compartment, which had been previously almost dark, became illuminated, and Napoleon was seen reading the dispatches by the light of a wax candle. His countenance remained impassable, as usual, but not so that of his companions, to whom the news must have given great satisfaction. At five minutes after eleven the train again started. We may add that it reached Malines towards one in the morning, and stopped there to change the locomotive. The Princess Mathilde and her suite alighted at Malines from the train coming from Herbesthal. After having exchanged adieux with the fallen Emperor, the Princess and her companions got into a special train to return to Brussels, where they entered the Northern station towards half-past one."

EVERY ORGAN demands sustenance and support from the stomach. If the stomach cannot supply the aliment required, the whole system languishes. To rouse and regulate this great supplying organ, there is no preparation at present known that will compare with DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS; and, as two-thirds of all human ailments originate in indigestion, it follows, logically, that most of the diseases flesh is heir to are curable, at their source, by this powerful vegetable restorative.

"HORSE MEN," and others who pretend to know, say that the following directions had better be observed in using Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders: Give a horse a tablespoonful every night for a week; the same every other night for four or six nights; the same for a milch cow, and twice as much for an ox. The addition of a little fine salt will be an advantage.

"SHALL I help you to alight?" said a young gentleman, addressing a bouncing country girl who was preparing to jump from a carriage in front of his office. "Thank you, sir," sweetly replied the girl, "but I don't smoke."

SAID A PARENT TO A CHILD.—"Just look at those shoes, only bought last week; good as new, all but the toes, which are worn through. Money thrown away, feet wet, stockings soiled, all because they were not Metal Tipped." Parents, take your choice, neat, genteel, Silver Tipped shoes, which never wear out at the toe, or shoes without Tips, with ragged holes and protruding toes. Which looks the Best? Which is the Cheapest?

AN ESTABLISHED REMEDY.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are widely known as an established remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs. Their good reputation and extensive use has brought out imitations, represented to be the same. OBTAIN only "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

WE HAVE HEARD, recently, of several severe cases of spinal disease cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment; one case of a man forty-five years old, who had not done a day's work for four years. The back should first be washed, then rubbed with a coarse towel. Apply the Liniment cold, and rub in well with the hand.

A NEWARK editor accounts for a contemporary wearing a clean shirt by saying that wrecks have been numerous on the Jersey coast.

A WIDOW holding a policy in The Mutual Life, of Chicago, on her deceased husband's life, gets the money herself; it cannot be taken for his debts.

The Dairyman's Ten Commandments.

1. Thou shalt not abuse or worry thy cow—thou, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy man-servant, nor thy dog, nor the boy whose business it is to "drive up" the cow; and thou shalt at all times treat thy cow kindly and gently, securing her confidence, and allowing no one to molest her or make her afraid.

2. Thou shalt not starve or stint thy cow for food, nor give her poor, innutritious or unwholesome feed of any kind whatsoever, but an abundance of that which is palatable and good for her system, that she may keep in good flesh, have a smooth coat and a clear eye; and thou shalt give her salt to lick whenever she liketh.

3. Thou shalt in no way deprive nor allow thy cow to be deprived of a plenty of clean water to drink, nor compel her to wallow in mud or to go a long distance to get water, nor to drink out of mud-holes, stagnant ponds or pools, nor to sup water from the holes in the earth made by her own feet, or the feet of other animals; but thou shalt give her an abundance of spring, brook or well water, kept clean enough for thine own use.

4. Thou shalt give thy cow ample shade in summer and a warm shelter in winter; and the latter shall be kept clean and sweet, and withal well ventilated; and thy cow shall have room for freedom of motion, a clean bed to lie on, and opportunity for such out-door exercise as she may desire, to the end that her blood shall freely circulate, that her muscles shall not deteriorate and become weak or stiffened, and that her digestion and appetite shall remain good.

5. Thou shalt milk thy cow in a cool place in summer, and when she is not heated or fretted, but standeth quiet and cheweth her cud, and in a clean place at all times; thou shalt clean thy cow's bag, milk her gently, and avoid getting filth into thy milk-pail; and thou shalt not save for thine own or thy neighbor's use, nor carry to the factory, any milk drawn from a cow with a calf less than four days old, nor milk drawn from a cow suffering from horn and hoof disease, or horn distemper, or fever, or garget, or any other disease, nor from any cow which thou hast good reason to believe is suffering from ill health.

6. Thou shalt keep everything about thy stable and dairy-house scrupulously clean; thou shalt thoroughly cleanse and scald—not merely rinse in hot water—all the pails, cans, strainers, pans and other utensils used in milking, carrying milk, setting milk, or manufacturing it into any of the products of the dairy; and thou shalt carefully keep thy milk from exposure to a foul, tainted or diseased atmosphere; so shalt thou prevent the oily particles in thy milk from absorbing bad odors, and fever malaria, and the virus of contagious disease; and thou shalt spare thyself the shame and sin of delivering milk that "tasteth of the barn-yard," and of introducing disease into the families of those who eat of the products of thy dairy.

7. Thou shalt cool and air thy milk as soon as drawn from the cow, by using the best appliances at thy command—not by putting cold water or ice in it, for that would be a violation of both the law and the commandments—but by bringing thy milk in contact with a cool surface above the freezing point, and exposing thy milk in thin sheets to a clean atmosphere, that it may become charged with oxygen, which hath a wonderful virtue to prevent souring and tainting. It is shrewdly suspected by some of the prophets that air-milk is of more value than cooling it, and experience showeth that stirring it with a dipper hath a preservative effect that should commend it to every patron of a cheese factory. Thou shalt confine thy milk in a covered can as short a time as possible, and protect it from the rays of the sun and the hot atmosphere. A woolen blanket thrown over the can, and a canvas stretcher over the milk-wagon, would be found quite efficacious—the blanket not to be used unless the milk is cooled.

8. Thou shalt not water thy milk by mixing with it the contents of the spring, the well, the cistern, the brook, the water-trough, or other source of water supply; nor by feeding the cow villainous slops, whey, or extremely succulent food, whereby the contents of thy milk-can shall be increased in quantity at the expense of quality, with the view of cheating thy neighbor; for thou wilt thereby be cheating thine own soul, and stand in constant danger of the penalty of the law.

9. Thou shalt not skim thy milk by taking off the cream that riseth in the can over night, that thou mayest have a little cream for coffee; nor by setting it in pans or other utensils over night; nor by saving strippings, nor by any other process; for if thine own sense of honesty doth not restrain thee, thou shouldst constantly have the fear of the law, and of the watchful eyes of thy neighbors, before thee. It is better to save out a small mess for thine own use.

10. Thou shalt not commit adultery by adulterating thy milk with burnt sugar, chalk, salt, soda, or any ingredient or compound whatsoever; nor by giving vile stuffs to thy cow; nor by any means, trick, device or process known or unknown to the naturally depraved. The laws of the State, the health of the community and the lives of the people, especially of the hosts of little ones who are likened unto the kingdom of heaven, cry out against this unpardonable sin.

REMEDY FOR HEAVES.—A "Veterinarian" writes the Rural New Yorker: "Heaves are caused by the enlargement, and often rupture, of the air cells of the lungs, and are incurable; for no medical skill can rebuild or repair the broken-down structure of the lungs. Much can be done for the relief of the animal, however, by the food, which should be nutritious and lie in little compass, as bulky food distends the stomach and presses upon the lungs. Plenty of grain and little hay, with the dust well shaken out and a little water sprinkled on, with steady work or exercise, will do as much to relieve the horse and make him useful as anything."

TO REVIVE FADED BLACK CLOTH.—Boil three ounces of logwood in a quart of vinegar, and when the color is extracted, drop in a piece of carbonate of iron, the size of a large chestnut; let it boil five minutes. Have the articles to be restored well sponged with soap and hot water, laying them on the table, and brush the nap down with a sponge. Then take the dye upon the table and sponge them all over without, taking care to keep them smooth and brush downward.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

	1 w.	2 w.	3 w.	1 m.	2 m.	3 m.	6 m.	1 y.
1 Square	1.00	1.50	2.00	2.50	4.00	6.00	[illegible]	[illegible]
2 Squares	2.00	2.50	4.00	5.50	8.00	10.00	14.00	[illegible]
3 Squares	3.00	4.00	6.50	7.50	10.00	13.00	18.00	[illegible]
4 Squares	4.00	6.00	8.00	12.00	14.00	20.00	24.00	[illegible]
¼ Column	6.00	8.00	11.00	15.00	17.00	20.00	30.00	[illegible]
½ Column	10.00	14.00	16.00	20.00	27.00	35.00	45.00	[illegible]
1 Column	15.00	22.00	25.00	30.00	42.00	55.00	70.00	[illegible]

Ten lines of Nonpareil to constitute a Square.

Business Cards, [illegible] per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each additional insertion.

The Dark Wood.

Upon an eve I sat me down and wept,
Because the world to me seemed nowise good;
Still Autumn was it, and the meadows slept,
The misty hills dreamed, and the silent wood
Seemed listening to the sorrow of my mood;
I knew not if the earth with me did grieve,
Or if it mocked my grief that bitter eve.

Then 'twixt my tears a maiden did I see,
Who drew anigh me o'er the leaf-strewn grass,
Then stood and gazed upon me pitifully
With grief-worn eyes, until my woe did pass
From me to her, and tearless now I was,
And she, m'id tears, was asking me of one
She long had sought unaided and alone.

Him I knew not of, and she turned away
Into the dark wood; while my own great pain
Still held me there, till dark had slain the day,
And perished at the great dawn's hand again.
Then from the wood a voice cried, "Ah, in vain,
In vain I seek thee, O thou bitter sweet!
In what lone land are set thy longed-for feet?"

Then I looked up, and, lo, a man there came
From 'midst the trees, and stood regarding me;
And, once again my tears were dried for shame;
But he cried out, "O mourner, where is she
Whom I have sought o'er every land and sea?
I love her, and she loveth me, and still
We meet no more than green hill meeteth hill."

With that he passed on sadly, and I knew night,
Blinded by blindness of the world untrue,
That hideth love, and maketh wrong of right.
Then 'midst my pity for their lost delight,
Yet more with barren longing I grew weak;
Yet more I mourned that I had none to seek.
—William Morris.

Wit and Wisdom.

A NEW pair of kids—twins.

A CONNECTICUT man who applied to be registered was found to be unable to read, but said: "Well, I've been sick two or three days, or else I could read."

A YOUNG gentleman, speaking of a young beauty's fashionable yellowish hair, called it pure gold. "It ought to be," said a bystander, "it looks like twenty-four carrots."

MARK TWAIN says: "I have seen slower people than I am—and more deliberate people than I am—and even quieter, and more listless, and lazier people than I am. But they were dead."

A WESTERN lover says of his parting from his adored one: "Her last words fell, like great rocks, into the sea of my sorrows, and splashed the briny water into my eyes."

"ARE these pure canaries?" asked a young gentleman who was negotiating for a gift for his fair. "Yes, sir," said the dealer, confidentially, "I raised them 'ere birds from canary seed."

AFTER a few weeks' revival in a church at Center Point, Iowa, a collection was taken up for the benefit of the preacher, a poor man from abroad. All told, the collection amounted to one dollar and ninety-seven cents. Let us sing, "Oh! I'm glad salvation's free."

A Hint to Meddlers.

A little white rose bloomed all by herself in a nook in the hedge.

"Ah," cried the wind in passing, "what a pity you should be suffocated there! I will blow a hole through the hedge, and the breeze shall find you through it."

"I pray, sir, you will leave me as I am; I breathe well enough," said the rose.

"I know better," said the wind, and rent the hedge as he passed on, and the boys rushed through, and made her tremble.

"You are not well placed there," he said, as he came by again; "I will give you a better berth than that."

"I beg you leave me as I am, I like my place well enough, if it were not for the gap you made," said the rose.

But the wind would not listen; he broke her stem, and she fell to the ground.

"Oh, you mustn't lie there," he cried; "I will carry you to a spot that will suit you exactly."

"Nay, I entreat you to let me lie and fade in this pleasant grass," said the rose, beseechingly. But he caught her up and whirled her on a few yards, when her petals were scattered, and her leafless stem was cast on the hedge.

"How is this?" exclaimed the wind.

"How is it? This is how it is," replied the hedge. "There are some folk that are never satisfied but when they are meddling in other folks' affairs; they think nobody can be happy except in their way; and you are one of them, and this bare stem is a specimen of your work."

ANECDOTE OF DANIEL WEBSTER.—It is well known that the late Daniel Webster was a man of luxurious tastes and expensive habits, which frequently brought him into pecuniary difficulties. Apropos of this, a friend sends us from Washington the following anecdote, which we do not remember to have seen in print: A Western gentleman, shortly after the great statesman's death, inveighed seriously, to a mutual friend, against these habits, and enforced his remarks with a practical illustration. "Why, sir," he exclaimed, "I traveled all night with Webster in a stage coach out West, not long ago, and in the morning we all got out at a little hotel to stretch our legs and get breakfast. Webster took up a traveling-case, with combs, hair-brush and tooth-brush, all of which he used vigorously. When he'd got through I asked him to lend me his tooth-brush, as there wasn't any at the sink where we washed, and Mr. Webster courteously complied. After using and rinsing it off, I handed it back; and—will you believe it?—the extravagant fellow just pitched it over into the bushes. It was a good new brush, too, and might have lasted him two or three months longer. No wonder he was always in debt.—Harper's Magazine.

THE METHODIST, of New York, has always been edited with marked ability by Rev. Dr. Crooks. Its enterprising owners have just added to its editorial corps Dr. Abel Stevens, the historian of Methodism, and an experienced journalist. They have also engaged contributions and sermons from the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, whose success and popularity are almost unexampled. THE METHODIST abounds in good things, is never dull or dry, has stories for children, hints for farmers, and something for everybody. They offer for one year's subscription, $2., to send it from now until July 1st, 187. Specimen copies free.

A QUESTION SETTLED.—A certain undergraduate at Cambridge was under examination, and among the questions contained in one of his papers was the following: "Why will not a pin stand upon its point?" The examinee was not very strong in his subjects, but as there was nothing like putting a good face on the matter, he set to work to answer the question in as formal way as possible. The interesting result stood as follows: 1. A pin will not stand on its head, much less is it possible that it should stand on its point. 2. A point, according to Euclid, is that which has no parts and no magnitude. A pin cannot stand on that which has no parts and no magnitude, and, therefore a pin cannot stand on its point. 3. It will if you stick it in.

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN IND......APRIL 27, 1871.

Is it not a little singular, to hear our Republican cotemporaries flourish their triumpets about the great reduction in taxation, when the New York Tribune announces that the Government has wrung from the people eighty-four millions, nine hundred and ninety-four thousand dollars taxes, in 1870, in excess of the amounts paid in 1868 and 1869? How is this? Is it not admitted that the Tribune is authority on figures; and, were figures ever known to lie? If they were, Radicalism, long ere this, would have pressed them into service.

ST. LOUIS is overwhelmingly democratic. The democratic candidate for Mayor has 2053 majority, Matthias (Dem.) for County Treasurer, probably 3,000. "Our side" elected ten of the twelve aldermen.

THE murder of Captain Dickinson, in Florida, has been laid at the doors of the KuKlux by the Northern Radical papers. The Florida papers assert that he was robbed and murdered for money by a negro desperado.

THE New York Sun claims that the South Carolina Legislature adjourned the other day to witness a race between the horse of the Speaker of the House and that of a citizen. The Speaker lost three thousand dollars on the race, but made it up by putting the sum in an appropriation bill.

THE Republicans of this State are showing considerable anxiety in selecting a Republican Gubernatorial candinate so soon. The Indianapolis Journal gives its party to understand that Gen. Tom Brown is the coming man, and that he must be nominated. As the election does not take place until 1872, we see no reason why certain Radical politicians should get into a perspiration.

BOARDING at some of the Washington taverns is costly. Senator Fenton has been paying for a parlor, two bed rooms and an office at the Arlington, $1,000 a month. S. S. Cox and his wife, $250 a week. Simon Cameron's bill for two rooms was $450 a month. Helmbold was charged $96 a day, but he makes his money out of patent medicines. The others pay their board bills and lay up fortunes out of $5,000 a year.

SAM COX paid Ben Butler a small installment on the long-standing "Shoo-fly" account, the other day. Sam in a speech referred to Mr. Dawes as "the gentleman from Massachusetts." Butler, otherwise engaged, caught the words but not the intention. "What gentleman from Massachusetts?" "Never mind," responded Sunset impatiently, "I referred to the honorable gentleman from Massachusetts." Benjamin subsided, but he'll keep one eye on Cox until an opportunity occurs to return the compliment.

A School-Boy's Composition on the Bull Frog.

The bull frog is green. If I could jump like one I could beat a pig or two pigs. Frogs is a bald-headed animal, but he can't draw timber for a meeting house. If I was a frog it would hurt me to stand on my head to see the President sworn in. Jane Martin wears a red dress and hooped at me when I didn't know it. It scared me so I jumped to. If frogs could run with a fire machine it would be fun to go to, for they are all Baptists. When they growl they don't bite. Mother melted the bottom out of her tea-pot, and Lordy, how dad ripped about it. Geese have more feathers than young frogs, but geese don't give milk. Nor dose a wild frog. When ashes are worth fifteen cents a bushle is the best time to go frogging. Little frogs peep, but whose afraid? Scrambled frogs are nice in cold coffee, but as for me, give me liberty or death, but no frogs or a revolution in France. I'm goin' to sell my dog, and see then if he won't fetch something. Frogs never have the mumps, but they always come with a spring.

THOMAS SHINE.

The Great Canon of the Yellowstone.

The Great Falls are at the head of one of the most remarkable canons in the world a gorge through volcanic rocks fifty miles long, and varying from one thousand to nearly five thousand feet in depth. In its descent through this wonderful chasm the river falls almost three thousand feet. At one point, where the passage has been worn through a mountain range, our hunters assured us it was more than a vertical mile in depth, and the river, broken into rapids cascades, appeared no wider than a ribbon. The brain reels as we gase into this profound and solemn solitude. We shrink from the dizzy verge appalled, glad to feel the solid earth under our feet, and venture no more, except with forms extended, and faces barely protruding over the edge of the precipice. The stillness is horrible. Down, down, down, we see the river attenuated to a thread, tossing its miniature waves, and dashing, with puny strength, the massive walls which imprison it. All access to its margin is denied, and the dark gray rocks hold it in dismal shadow. Even the voice of its waters in their convulsive agony cannot be heard. Uncheered by plant or shrub, obstructed with massive boulders and by jutting points, it rushes madly on its solitary course, deeper and deeper into the bowels of the rocky firmament. The solemn grandeur of the scene surpasses description. It must be seen to be felt. The sense of danger with which it impresses you is harrowing in the extreme. You feel the absence of sound, the oppression of absolute silence. If you could only hear that gurgling river, if you could see a living tree in the depth beneath you, if a bird would fly past, if the wind would move any object in the awful chasm, to break for a moment the solemn silence that reigns there it would relieve that tension of the nerves which the scene has excited, and you would rise from your prostrate condition and thank God that he had permitted you to gaze, unharmed, upon this majestic display of natural architecture. As it is, sympathising in spirit with the deep gloom of the scene, you crawl from the dreadful verge, scared lest the firm rock give way beneath and precipitate you into the horrid gulf.—By N. P. Langford, in Scribner's for May.

How a Good Templar is Made.

The victim of initiation is first blindfolded, bound hand and foot, and thrown into a cider press and squeezed for five or ten minutes. This is done for the purpose of clearing the system of all "old drinks." He is then taken out of the press, and by means of a force pump, gorged with cistern water, after which a sealing plaster is put over his mouth, and he is rolled in a barrel four or five times across the room, the choir at the same time singing the cold water song. He is then taken out the barrel and hung up by the heels until the water runs out through his ears; then he is cut down, and a beautiful lady hands him a glass of water. A cold water bath is then furnished him, after which he is showered with cistern water.

He is then made to read aloud the article of incorporation and by-laws of the water company, ten times, drinking a glass of cistern water between each reading; after which "The Old Oaken Bucket" is sung and hung about his neck, while fifteen sisters with shot guns deluge him with cistern water. He is then forced to eat two pounds of ice cream, while his brothers fill his ears with broken ice. Then he is run through a patent clothes wringer, after which he is handed a glass of water, his boots are filled with the same, and he is laid away in a refrigerator. After laying in th refrigerator for half an hour, he is taken out, run through a clothes wringer, takes the whole lodge down to some fountain, stands treat, and becomes as Good Templar.

A few weeks since, a well-dressed and intelligent man called upon a clegyman, who is engaged in missionary work in the lower part of the city, and, after introducing himself, produced a clean muslin shirt, which he desired the Missionary to have put upon the corpse of the first man who might chance to die in that vicinity, inquiring at the same time whether the reverened gentleman had not a dead man or two on hand at that particular time, upon whose remains the shirt could be at once placed.

Surprised at the singular request, the missionary desired to be informed of the object sought to be accomplished. The stranger told him that he was afflicted with a particular disease, which had completely baffled the skill of the best physicians, and that he had become hopeless of a cure, when he learned from a person in whom he reposed great confidence, that if he would have one of his shirts placed on a corpse and buried with it, as the corpse and shirt decayed the decease would leave him.

He made the application to the missionary, supposing that as his parishioners were generally of the poorest class, if any one of them should chance to die the friends would be glad of a clean shirt wherein to prepare him for interment. Not having a dead man on hand, the missionary was unable to comply with the request. Whether the deluded individual succeeded in finding a wearer for his nether garment, we have not learned.

How to Spell.

Often, in writing, a simple word is required, of the orthography of which the writer is not sure. The dictionary may be referred to, but is not always convenient. An easy mode is to write the word on a bit of waste paper, in the two or three ways in which you are in doubt. Nine times in ten the mode which looks right is right. Spelling—particularly English spelling—is so completely a work of the eye, that the eye alone should be trusted. There is no reason why "receive" and "believe" should be spelt differently, yet sounded alike in their second syllables. Yet write them "receive" and "beleive" and the eye shows you the mistake at once. The best way for young people, and indeed people of any age, to learn to spell is to practice writing. Cobbett, the famous English radical, taught his children grammer by requiring that they should copy their lessons two or three times. These lessons he himself gave them in the form of the letters, and his French and English grammers are two of the most amusing books in the English language. Of course "learning to spell" came in incidentally.

SONG ECHO

A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, $7-50 per dozen. Contains over two hundred new and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Websters, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 65c Liberal terms for introduction.

OF FIFTY DOLLARS WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 40 cents. Four back numbers for 75 cts.

Address,

J. L. PETERS,
599 Broadway, New York.

April 27, 2-m.

TROTTING HORSES

By a new method, any horse can be made to trot fast in 30 minutes. 500 References. One farmer says: "I made $800 on two colts, all through your circular." Full directions only $1 Address H. A. BARROWS, Rochester N. Y., for training and breaking.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana Executor of the Estate of Isaac Franks late of DeKalb County deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 13, '71. WM. LESSIG, Executor.

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
PRICE $9,00 per Volume or $40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors. 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV, Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor ornament it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an Agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.,

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT,

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.
Colored " " "
Japenese " striped
" Checked
Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Japenese, plain " "
" " brocaded
" Watere

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Grs Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.
Plain " " "
Wash " " "
Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Brilliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings &c. White, Marseilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assort memt in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.
FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction
Congress Has Reduced the Duty of All GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes. per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	28c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong,	75, 90, best 110
Japan,	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	25cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb.	28c
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	30
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $1.00
Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Zante Currants, 12; 81-2 lbs	1.00
Citron, "	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12½c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	16c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wine,	75

MISCELLANEOUS

Soap, per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches,	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco, "	18

CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6,00	No. 1 Bay Maskerel, new catch, kitts,	$2 00
" " in kitts,	1,75	Lake Herring, per bbl,	2 50
Trout " per bbl,	4,00	Herring, each,	1c
Pickerel " per bbl,	4,00	Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish,	3,00	White Fish, per lb,	7c

All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R.

[illegible] running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on [illegible], April [illegible], 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	[illegible]	Express.
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 a m	7 00 a m	4 20 p m
[illegible]	6 15	7 27	4 45
Huntertown	6 27	7 46	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 33	7 55	5 06
New Era	6 44	8 10	5 15
Auburn	7 01	8 35	5 26
Waterloo	7 20	9 35	5 50
Summit	7 3[illegible]	10 00	[illegible]
Pleasant Lake	7 47	10 27	6 15
Angola	8 02	11 50	6 38
Jonesville	9 35	[illegible] p m	[illegible]
Jackson ......Arr	10 50	[illegible]	[illegible]

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson ......Leave	6 45 a m	1 00 a m	5 00 p m
Jonesville	8 35	2 1[illegible]	6 0[illegible]
Angola	12 40 p m	3 22	7 20 a m
Pleasant Lake	1 10	3 54	7 41
Summit	1 30	4 04	8 13
Waterloo	2 25	4 22	8 35
Auburn	2 45	4 38	8 56
New Era	3 10	4 55	9 20
Stoners (Gravel pit)	3 25	5 06	9 35
Huntertown	3 35	5 12	9 45
Academie	3 55	5 25	10 00
Ft. Wayne......Arr	4 20	5 45	10 25

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

I. G. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R.R

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sunday excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1,35 A. M.	7,10 A. M.	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Rochester	2,42 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Alliance	5,05 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7.40 "
Orrville	6,54 "	1,52 P. M.	4,45 "	9,38 "
Mansfield	9,02 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,2[illegible] "
A.	9,35 "	5,0[illegible] "	7,25 "	11,00 "
Crestline L.	10,05 "	5,55 A. M.	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest	11 27 A. M.	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima	12,26 P. M.	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth	4,50 "	2,25 P. M.	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5,50 A. M.	9,00 A. M.	5.15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,56 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,50 P. M.	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima	3,25 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2 43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6.30 "	4.20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	6,[illegible]0 A. M.	6,50 "	4,30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	9,15 "	9,06 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,35 P. M.	12,55 A. M.	11,05 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

It contains over 100 fine engravings of Battle Scenes and incidents in the war, and is the only Authentic and official history of that great conflict.

Caution Inferior histories are being circulated. See that the books you buy contains 100 fine engravings and maps. Send for circulars & see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address, National Publishing Co., Chicago Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Louis, Mo.

Scripture and Science have met together Genesis and Geology have kissed each other.

SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

A book of thrilling interest and greatest importance to every human being. The papers, Pulpits and people are all discussing the subject and book, every man woman and child wants to read it. The long fierce war is ended, and honorable peace secured, Science is true; the Bible literal, pure and beautiful, both now satisfied and firm friends. God's work days, are actual days, not long periods. This book gives the very cream of science, making its thrilling realities, beauties, wonders and sparkling gems a hundred fold more interesting than fiction. AGENTS WANTED. Experienced Agents will drop other books and secure territory immediately. Address for icrcular.

ZIEGLER & McCRDY, 139 Race St., Cincinnati, O.

COUGH! COUGH! COUGH

Why will you Cough when you can be so easily relieved by using

Dr. Wells' Carbolic Tablets?

They are sure cure for sore throat, cold, hoarseness, Catarrh and all diseases of the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes.

From the great number of Testimonials as to the efficiency of this invaluable medicine the following is selected.

47 Wahpansch Ave., Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14 1871.

"For the last ten years I have been a great sufferer "from frequent attacks of Acute Bronchitis, and have "never found anything to relieve me from these at-"tacks until I tried D. Well' Carbolic Tablets."

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets.

JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent.
Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

AGENTS MALE & FEMALE. For fast selling popular subscription Books. Extra inducements to Agents. Information free, Address Am. Book Co., 62 William St. N. Y.

5 TO $20 DAY!

Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to sell our new 7 stand White Wire Clothes Lines to last for ever. Dont miss this chance. Samples free. Address Hudson River Wire Mills, 75 W'm. St., N. Y, or 18 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Reduction of Prices
TO CONFORM TO
Reduction of Duties
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS
By Getting up Clubs

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and renumerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

4w

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called.

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation. has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jernbeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Read "Convent Life Unveiled." By Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling & startling. Price $150, Con. Pub. Co., Hartford, Ct.

WATCH Free, and $30 a day sure, no humbug. Address with stamp. LATTA & Co., Pittsburgh Pa.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poisons. Any one can use it. One sent by mail for $1. Address MAGIC COMB CO Springfield Mass.

8m.

$10 MADE FROM 50 CENTS

Something urgently needed by everybody. Call and see; or 12 samples sent (postage paid) for 50 cents, that retail easily for $10. R. L. WOLCOTT, 181 Chatham St., N. Y.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!
So Has THE HIGH PRICES,
WITH S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,
Ready Made Clothig,
Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!
AT
SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!
JOHN L. DAVIS,
OF THE
Pioneer Hardware Store
AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Building Material,
Agricultural Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash. Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c.

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23, 1871.

Root & Company
IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's
Popular Dry Goods House
KNOWN AS THE
New York Store!
90 COLUMBIA st,
Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do them selves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's
POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE
90 Columbia st.

We are now showing ourusual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS!

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,
Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Chidren Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company
NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,
FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1 y

HEADQUARTERS!
FOR
WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS
AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,
—AT—
J. ABRIGHT'S,
Oppoisite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated
JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments
Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE
HAT FACTORY!
JAMES HARPER & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,
AND DEALERS IN
Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,
No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,
Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand
ON MAIN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need,

FOR CASH OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

but sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account come and settle, as he is determined to collect, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ

Feb. 21-1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expect to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. H. [illegible]

Auburn Courier.

OFFICIAL PAPER of THE COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

"THE bitter [illegible] of a penny cigar.

A GENTLE April rain fell yesterday to the delight of everybody.

THE young man who parts his hair in the middle, was in town last week.

THE best [illegible] the columns of your county paper.

FORT WAYNE is to have another weekly Republican paper. We thought the Journal was quite enough in that line.

IT has been decided that post masters must receive mutilated currency, for postage stamps.

CIRCUSES seem to be giving Auburn a wide berth, and yet it is known as a good show town.

THE prospect for a good fruit crop this season is flattering. We do not think the fruit is injured in the least.

JUMBO JIM.—A laughable side splitting farce, with a regular South Carolina Negro as the main character, at the Court House to-morrow evening.

BAKING POWDER.—Our better half has tried H. B. Hannum's Baking Powders and pronounces them just the thing. They can be obtained at Totten's Grocery Store.

THE performing elephant, "Tippo Saib," connected with Van Amburg's show, died at Connersville, a few days ago, of lung disease. He was valued at $40,000.

FIVE cent nickles of lead and coated with silver are again in circulation. They are perfect imitations of the genuine and well calculated to deceive.

DON'T forget the grand entertainment to-morrow evening, at the Court House by the Amateur Dramatic Company. It promises to be interesting.

A YOUNG lady in Terre Haute insisted standing on her dress while being photographed, having heard that the camera turned things up side down.

HERE is a little sentiment, that all men should treasure. It is greatness. It is success: "Silence is the safest response for all the contradiction that arises from impertinence, vulgarity, or envy."

THE bleat of the gentle calf in the barn and the song of the robin on the elm, the golden cup of the crocus and the sweet odor of "weal cutlets" at dinner time, tell us lovingly that spring is here.

EVERBODY should patronize the exhibition to-morrow evening, at the Court House.—It will be made up of our home talent, and a splendid programme is offered. Shell out, and don't be mean.

ONE hundred and seventy ministers were in attendance at the Northern Indiana Conference, which was held in Huntington last week.

THE Bucyrus Forum says the reason the Democratic ticket was elected was because it rained on election day. Republicans never turn out well when it rains. It would spoil their nice clothes, you see.

OATHS are vulgar, senseless, offensive, impious; they leave a noisome trial upon the lips, and a stamp of odium upon the soul. They are inexcusable. They gratify no sense, while they outrage taste and dignity.

James Lynch, of Finley Ohio, a veteran of the war of 1812, 87 years old and the father of 23 children, came to Lexington to make his claim for a pension and then walked home again, a distance of 20 miles.

THE thirteenth chapter of 1st Corinthians contains the most perfect description of a gentleman ever written or thought of. Of course you know what it is, without getting down your Bible.

A COUPLE of fellows who were pretty thoroughly soaked with benzine, got into a gutter. After floundering about for a few minutes, one of them said: "Jim, let's go to another house, this hotel leaks."

THE Easton (Pa.) Argus propounds the following conundrun:

"Have we a Government?"

Doubtful!—but as tax payers, the Government have us. Let us have peace.

A HOST of performers, all stars, at the Court House to-morrow evening

Handy Andy and Jumbo Jum in all their glory. Be charatable for once by patronizing their performance, the proceeds of which go to a benevolent purpose. Admission 25 cents, Children 15.

IT is conceded that Myers, of the Kendallville Standard, and Sims Major, of the Laporte Herald, have the finest abdominal developments of any of the Press Gang of Northern Ind.—Goshen Democrat.

And Stoll, of the Banner, vice versa.

SOME incorrigible old bachelor eases himself off in the following style:

Tell me, thou misty deep,
Whose billows round me play,
Know'st thou some favored spot,
Some island far away,
Where weary men can find
A place to smoke in peace;
Where crinoline is not,
The loud winds, sounding a perpetual shout
Stopped for a while and sputtered 'You get out!'

Pulverized alum and common salt put on a piece of cotton and chucked into a hollow tooth will shut up its aching so quick that will want to hug us for telling you; but you can't, unless you have a certificate of good moral character, are a married woman, and over twenty-five.

J. P. SAXTON, the pioneer editor of Ohio who published the Conton Repository from 1815, until the present time, died on the 16th of this month. He attended the last Editorial Convention held at Akron. He was the oldest editor and publisher in the United States.

THE certain completion of the Eel River Railroad now, makes it all the more a matter of public necessity that we should have a good hotel building in this place. Our town has the capital, and should have the enterprise to organize a big Hotel Company.—Columbia City Post.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the Estate of Joseph Penny, late of said county deceased. Said Estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 26, 1871. JAMES S. PENNY, Adm'r.

IT would [illegible] for editors throughout the country to caution the public against [illegible] ters. [illegible] enty-four [illegible] year.

AMONG [illegible] giant [illegible] was an aged man, who had lost his brother by a [illegible] and was heard to murmur, as he stepped lively away, "It hit him!"

"Lay me Whip Him for his Mother," is the name of a new song just published by S. Brainard & Sons, 203 Superior Street Cleveland, Ohio. Its a capital comic song, and every body should have it.

THE wood house of the Michigan Southern R. R., at White Pigeon, Mich., was totally destroyed by fire last Saturday morning, about 4 o'clock.

WANTED.—A good sized boy 15 or 16 years old, with some knowledge of the common branches, to lear the printing business. Apply at this office immediately.

THE Kekionga base ball club, of Fort Wayne, has extended an invitation to the, Valley City club of Grand Rapids, to meet them at an early day.

OUR popular friend M. B. Strong, Esq., is now one of the gentlemanly Conductors on the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad. Mr. S. has had considerable experience as a "ticket puncher," being at one time Conductor on the P. Ft. W. & C. Railroad.

ONE of our exchanges says "solidified beer is the latest thing. It is lager concentrated the way they do it to milk, so that the amount you can hold on the point of a knife will make you drunk clear through. A man can carry enough of it in his vest pocket to ruin a temperance society."

FASHION gossip has it that in passing a lady on the street the hat should be raised during the present season with the left hand the little finger and thumb to be placed under the rim. The bow for April is a little to the left side, and not quite as low as formerly.

BASE BALL.—The Kekionga Base Ball Club of Fort Wayne, now professional, play a match game with the Forest City club, of Cleveland, Thursday May 4th. This being the first match game of the season, will prove doubly interesting, as it will test the ability of the new players in the former club. Admission 50 cents. Fare to grounds ten cents.

MEN have to pass through three stages of love fever. The first generally seizes upon the unfortunate at the tender age of 18, and is usually the most severe. If he survives this attack the second, which is milder in its form, occures at 22, and, safely past this period, the patient suffers a last attack at 30 after which he may be considered entirely healthy.

JUMBO JUM and HANDY ANDY at the Court House, Friday and Saturday evenings.

GEO J. E. MAYER & F. VOIROL, Jewelers, Ft. Wayne Ind., No. 23, East Main St., opposite First and Fort Wayne National Banks, kindly solicit a visit of those who come to Fort Wayne, to examine their elegant stock of Gold and Silver Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Solid and Plated Silverware. Their Bird Clock is worth while calling to see. It will afford them pleasure to show their goods.

THE following is the latest arrangement of wedding anniversaries, and will be interesting to those having large circles of liberal-minded friends, and intending to celebrate hereafter: First aniversy, iron; fifth anniversary, wooden; tenth anniversary, tin; fifteenth anniversary, china; twenty-fifth anniversary, silver; thirtieth anniversary, cotten; thirty-fifth anniversary, linen; fortieth anniversary, woolen; forty-fifth anniversary, silk; fiftieth anniversary, golden; seventy-fifth anniversary, diamond.

GLASS WARE AT AUCTION.—An immense stock of fine Glassware will be offered at auction in this place the latter part of next week. W. G. Alexander, Esq., the gentlemanly auctioneer who sold so many dry goods here last winter at bankrupt prices, has received a large consignment of the above ware, which will be sold without regard to price. Be prepared to get some splendid bargains.

OUR exchanges tell of a girl in Chester, Vermont, who died from the effects of tight lacing. These corsets should be done away with, and if the girls can't live without being squeezed, we suppose men could be found who would sacrifice themselves to the task of squeezing them. We have a gentleman acquaintance—a little old, but none the less good-looking and tidy—who would rather devote the whole of his time, without a cent of pay, as a brevet corset, than to have the girls die off in that manner.

R. R. ACCIDENT.—On Friday last a freight train, on the L. S. & M. S. R. W., ran over the foot of a boy named Bresler, crusing his toes badly. That the accident was no worse, is especially fortunate under the circumstances. Ever since the completion of the Ft. W., J. & S. R. R., about half of the boys in town collect at the crossing, from which place they enjoy free rides to the different depots, jumping off and on trains frequently while they are in motion.—Press.

We expect to have an item of this kind of a more serious nature to chronicle before long, if boys are not restrained from the same practice, at the depot here.

CURIOSITY REWARDED.—A young man residing not a thousand miles from this place, and the possessor of an enquiring turn of mind, while perusing the current literature of the day, ascertained from this very reliable source, that a lady's pulse always beat stronger in the palm of the hand than anywhere else, tried the other night to find out while sparking his intended. And the result of his experiment was that she busted an iron skillet over his head. He has now determinedly settled it that their pulses beat as strong around the head as any where else. He is not of so enquiring a turn of mind.

BROWN, whom everybody knows of course fell in love with a fair daughter of Eve, and, of course, was loud in extolling the good points of his inamorata. "She was beautiful, angelic, and above all her expression was so refined and pensive." The swain were made one a short time ago. The other day Brown met one of his bachelor friends. "How is your wife?" inquired the friend, after the conversational remarks about the weather had passed between them. "Oh! she is well," replied Brown. "Still pensive?" questioned the friend "No! she has done with that," answered Brown. "Ah! I understand, she is now expensive." Brown treated.

THE PEAK FAMILY.—This justly celebrated concert troupe and bellringers appear at the Opera House on Saturday evening, April 29th. They are known to be first-class, and were it other than Saturday night, no doubt many of our citizens would attend, but as there is no return train until Monday, the expense would be more than desirable.

THE clever gentlemen, Messrs. Moderwell & Fowler, have one of the most beautiful and extensive assortment of goods in the the furnishing line, now in Fort Wayne.—Those handsome shirts which are so splendidly made to order, [illegible] variety of neckties, collars, suspenders &c., to suit the most fastidious, corner of Berry and Calhoun streets. See advertisement.

THE Michigan City Enterprise reports that four valorous LaPortelites came there Saturday night, with the intention of capturing the place. Sunday morning one of them attempted to go into Jake Kreidler's saloon through the window, but was prevented by officer Powell, who started him for the lock up. On the way he showed fight, and vowed he could whip any man in the burg. He was immured in the bastile without difficulty, and with a sore head, occasioned by running it into Powell's fist. In the night his comrads went and helped him break out of his cell and carried him home.

ONE of the most popular and extensive dry goods houses in Fort Wayne, is that of Frank & Thanhouser, gentleman of great ability and experience in this line of business. They know how to select goods, what to pay for them, so that they can accommodate their patrons at a reasonable figure.—They don't have all their goods on the outside to attract customers, because they have all they can do inside and they don't sel shoddy goods, and swindle the people. But they do sell reliable goods at low prices and if you go there once you will find that it will pay you to go again.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO EXTENSION.

After the rreceipt of several communications notifying our citizens that a meeting of the friends of the different proposed lines for the above extension, would take place at Tiffin, Ohio, a meeting was held at the Court House, and Messrs Dills, Ensley and Mays were appointed to represent Auburn, at this meeting. The Committee started Monday and reached Tiffin at 7 o'clock on Tuesday morning, where they found a large delegation from all along the line as far west as Valparaizo, all earnest workers for the center or Defiance line, as it is called. The Ohio and Indiana delegation then held a meeting, at 10 o'clock, in the Parlors of the Shawhan House, to consult on several matters pertaining to the meeting, to be held in the afternoon, at which Mr. Steel, the Engineer, recommended by Mr. LaTrobe, of the Baltimore road, was to be present. W. H. Dills, Esq., was appointed Chairman and C. B. Squires and T. C. Mays, Secretaries. Remarks were made by Judge Carter, Mr. Holgate and others, and an Executive Committee appointed to attend to the interests of the Defiance line.—The correspondence between the Defiance Committee and Mr. LaTrobe and Steel was read by the Secretary, which assured the Committee that the shortest and best line would certainly be selected.

The meeting adjourned at noon, ready and prepared to attend any meeting that might be suggested.

The friends of the proposed line through Napoleon and Angola were notified the same as the friends of the Defiance line, that a meeting would take place at Tiffin, on the 25 of April, but from some reason or other they failed to put in an appearance, not a man being present on the whole line, while our delegation numbered nearly thirty representatives. Mr. Steel, the engineer, was expected at 3 o'clock p. m. but did not arrive, and a telegram was forwarded to ascertain where he was. Seeing the necessity of a day's delay, the delegates were invited, by the citizens of Tiffin, to meet at the Court House in the evening, which they did, and a splendid meeting was held. There being two proposed lines from Tiffin, that place must, of course, remain neutral until a selection was made, but that they were alive to the interests of the road as far as any they were concerned, was plainly evinced by all. Judge Noble, acting as chairman, stated that a proposition had been made to this Company sometime ago, to obtain the right of way and construct the grade for them if the Company would iron, stock and run it. Mr. Holgate stated it was first necessary to adopt some one of the lines proposed, and as the Company wanted the shortest and best route a preliminary survey must first be had and a report made to the Chief Engineer and then he would be ready to accept their offer. An organization in Indiana had been completed and all that remained for Tiffin and Defiance and other parts in Ohio to do, was to effect the same thing and be prepared to assist in the preliminary survey. The chair stated that a survey had already been made from Akron to Tiffin, and that the citizens of the latter place were ready to give every assistance.

A map was exhibited showing the two routes through Napolean and Defiance, and it was admitted by disinterested citizens of that city that the Defiance line possessed the advantage of three essential and important features in the construction of a railroad and they were. First, the shortest line by thirty five miles less than any other road now constructed; Secondly, the easiest made and lowest grade from Tiffin west to the southern bend of lake Michigan, and thirdly, traversing a region of country which for beauty and production is unexcelled in America. From Tiffin the road is an air line to the lake and from Akron east. It is certain that a road will be built over this line because of these advantages, and while we do not wish to disparage other routes we are confident they cannot, with truthfulness, contradict the above statements. The absence of all representation from any other line at this meeting may also be considered as an abandonment of their pet scheme. They see that we have the inside track and that if a short and easily constructed line is desired, ours is the one.

Mr. Steel, the engineer, failed to make connections and telegraphed yesterday that he could not be at Tiffin before next week, so that we may look for the work of surveying to begin in a short time.

WE are pleased to learn, this morning, that a company, composed of a number of our most prominent citizens, has been formed to establish a street railway. The present design, we believe, is to run the line from the south depot along Calhoun to Columbia, thence to Bloomingdale by the most practical route. The cross line is to be located on Berry street. Now let us have individual enterprises which will give us a grand Opera House and the Holly Water Works; then Fort Wayne will be what it should, not only attractive as a business center, but as a place of residence.—Sentinel.

GARDEN MAKING.—Watching and waiting the boys are ready for the [illegible] hoe with the nice work required in a garden. Before they are out of [illegible] morning the bright [illegible] thunder peals forth and a [illegible] falls, this is their opportunity, the [illegible] moist earth is given the sprouting [illegible] crumbled soil is placed about it. [illegible] sprouting plants appear [illegible] and drink in the magic influence of sun and light, but with their growth comes creeping worms and insects, which [illegible] will ruin them speedily [illegible] the weeds and kill the pestering bugs, if they would wish to have a paying crop.

In this, boys, learn the lesson of gardening your hearts, plant in them in the spring of life, in your joyous youth, the seeds of purity, promise and manhood, and bring around them the richest thoughts, the highest ideals of nobility. Think great thoughts, in your privacy and when these plants will grow and now as they appear as qualities among your companions, guard them against the weeds of vice, idleness, profanity and the vile thoughts others may put in your ear. Resolutely shake off evil companions, cleanse the garden of the heart of all that is base, and go forth into the duties of your young manhood with buoyant spirit and noble endeavor resolved on the full development of your soul in labor which while they bring to your own bosom the reward of doing will raise you in the honor and respect of the people.

SINKING OF THE R. R. TRACK.—On Saturday evening last the track of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. about a mile and a half on this side of Columbia City sunk a distance of about eight feet, delaying the Sunday trains several hours. Workmen were busily engaged all day on Sunday and Monday in endeavoring to fill the sink, and were gaining on it, at the time this article was written. No delay now occeurs to passing trains.—Indianian.

LOST.—From this city and his former associates, a bachelor, that weighed nigh two hundred pounds. He had a healthy stout rather meek appearance, which, we suppose by this time, is meeker. He left on the 9 o'clock train, last Thursday evening, accompanied by one of Laporte's fairest daughters. This is impressive evidence of the great mort-ality among bachelors of this city. Who next?—Laporte Argus.

WE regret to learn of the death of Michael Miller, who resided about four miles north-east of Plymouth. He went to bed feeling as well as usual, on Tuesday night, and was found dead in his bed on Wednesday morning. We have no more of the particulars. The deceased was probable about seventy years of age, and had been a resident of this county nearly thirty-five years at all times sustaining a character unimpeachable for honesty and uprightness.—Plymouth Democrat.

THE POTATO BUG.—The Colorado Bug, from all appearances, after sweeping the Territories and States west of us of two or three potato crops, are upon our section of country in full force. An opinion seemed to prevail among our people that we had seen the last of them as their time was up. But it is doubtful whether they will leave this country as long as the raising of potatoes are made a speciality. They are already coming out of the ground all over the face of the country, prospecting about to see who are going to plant the most potatoes for their sustenance and future growth and increase. Let the farmer understand that the Colorado bug is perfectly satisfied when our climate and the universal cultivation of his favorite potato plant on which he feeds and propagates his species. They will take leave of this region when they fail to get their necessary supply of tops, and not before. When this happened in Iowa the bugs got wrathy and fell upon the cornfields and destroyed a great portion of that crop in some localities and then took French leave and marched eastward. The advanced line of skirmishers struck our borders some two or three years since followed in full force by the main army last year, and the prospect is we shall have them in still greater numbers and strength this season. To poison them successfully costs more in money and labor than the potatoes are worth. There is some little show of success by planting the earliest kinds on new ground not now inhabited by the bug in much force. But let us caution our readers about handling this destructive pest. There is no doubt but they are rank poison to any one innoculated with their virus.—Goshen Democrat

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chrome thographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

NEW MUSIC.—Sixteen pieces printed from 36 full-size Music-plates, are contained in the May number of Peterson's Musical Monthly, for which the Publisher asks the modest sum of 30 cents.

It contains the most popular music of the day and is far in advance of any other publication. Send 30c for a sample copy, or $3 for the January, February March and April numbers, and we are confident you will thank us for recommending it. Address, J. L. PETERS, 599 Broadway, New York.

THE Phrenological Journal for May—a very superior number—contains an array of over twenty stated articles, besides its ever valuable Miscellany, among the more interesting subjects may be mentioned: Edward Harris, the eminent Rhode Island woolen manufacturer; "I would'nt be a Phrenologist"—Why not? Suggestions to Public Speakers; Dead or Alive—which? Woman vs. Woman's Rights; The Feet—their Dress and Care; In the mammoth Cave without a Guide; Charles Sumner; The Utah Gentiles; Why we need woman for physicians; Defective Educational Method, A free Pulpit—a need of the Times; The Sugar Maple Tree, The Traveler, a poem, by Oliver Goldsmith, is commenced in this number, with new illustrations, specially designed for this Journal. Price 30c; $3 a year. Send half a year, on trial, for $1. Address S. R. WELLS, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and trafic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph. Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

AUBURN MARKET.

[illegible]

Tallow per lb

Beans per lb

Sheep Pelts

Eggs

MODERWELL & FOWLER,
MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT
FITTING SHIRTS
THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF
Mens' Furnishing Goods!
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA
SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!
CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.
MODERWELL & FOWLER.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded. 1y

John G. Fledderman
MERCHANT TAILOR
F'rst - Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, - - IND

Hard WarE
GEO. HENSLER,
—OF—
BUTLER INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of
HARDWARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class HardwareStore.
GEO. HENSLER.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND

SALE STABLE!
RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.
Having on hand everything in the line of
Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.
together with a number of first-class Livery Horse, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the pubcil promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4 '71.

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, throat. Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arrising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint, Should apply in person or by letter, to Dr. B. GARD. Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 665, Fort Wayne Ind Jan. 5 tf

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisins,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE.
Highest Price given for Produce,
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.
Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.
T. B. TOTTEN
Feb. 2d 1y

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.
So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed: tell him your private trouble; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAY—all the doubtful should know. Private Circulars sent Ladies for stamp.

Eagle Mills!
AUBURN, INDIANA.
The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Eagle Mills" and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work promptly and in the best manner.
FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.
Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered to any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.
W. W. GRISWOLD,
Auburn, April 19, '71.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Balusters&Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.
F. 23. O. D. HURD.

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

Come and See Me!
Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of
Boots AND Shoes
IN NORTHERN INDIANA.
From the finest serge down to the Coarsest
Stoga Boots,
Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will Warrant!
and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.
Repairing Done
n the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of
Leather & Findings
Please call and see for yourself, in the
NEW BRICK BLOCK
Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business only on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,
Cheaper than any other housein the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.
Corner Main and 7th St's. Feb., 9, 1871. 1y.

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
AND GENERAL
MANUFACTURE of CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN
HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

Brahma Pootra

Eggs & Male Birds
FOR SALE!
From fine rare premium stock.—Waranted pure, $1,00 per dozen.
Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.
ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co. 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and a
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 23th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints rfo two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyful announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes in to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 5c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 5,000 yards of children's palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15½c a yard
ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1,00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN NDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in theMARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST., FORT AYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

CURRENT NEWS ITEMS.

The East.

—Thomas Williams, editor of the Pittsburgh Evening Mail, died on the 20th inst., of consumption.

—Wm. P. Emerson, the well-known piano manufacturer, died in Boston, on Thursday.

—John [illegible] was killed on Thursday, at [illegible] Center, Pa., by the explosion of a boiler on the McCray Hill.

—Rev. George W. Stewart, rector of the Episcopal Church of our Lord, in New York city, died on Thursday.

—A fire on the lumber wharves of South Boston, on Thursday morning, destroyed Whittaker & Co.'s kindling-wood factory, the lumber-yard of Jonas Fitch, and the saw-mill and lumber-yard of Rogers Brothers, and five small dwellings. The loss is estimated at $175,000.

—A man giving the name of Berrien Gay, claiming to be a merchant from Archer, Fla., has been arrested in New York on the charge of passing a forged check for $8,000 on Samuel Roosevelt & Co. Since his arrest several other merchants have entered similar charges against him.

The West.

—Fockler's extensive brewery, situated in West Dubuque, Iowa, was burned on the 20th.

—The Ohio Legislature, on Thursday, passed a bill making a penalty of $500 fine and imprisonment for any person who shall solemnize a marriage without being legally authorized to do so.

—A wealthy young farmer, named George Dewey, living a few miles north of Ottawa, Ill., was kicked by a horse, on Friday, and fatally injured. He died on the following day.

—On Thursday, five boys, aged from six to ten years, while playing around a sand-bank, in Grand Rapids, Mich., were buried by a slide. Two of them managed to get out and give the alarm. The other three were dead when taken out.

—In Cleveland, O., on Tuesday, an old building that was being removed was blown down, and two children were crushed to death, and two others seriously injured.

—An insane woman, named Mrs. Lardner, was killed by an eastern bound freight train on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, near Ossian Station, about midnight on Monday. She had previously murdered her child, six months old, in bed.

—John Whitby, an employee on the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, was killed at Peoria, Ill., on the 20th, while coupling cars. He was caught between them, and crushed so badly that he only lived a few hours. He was aged twenty-nine, and leaves a wife.

The South.

—Congress passed forty bills altogether the late session.

—The Blooded-Horse Association races come off next month at Nashville. They are making preparations for a grand season.

—A boy named Peters, aged 14, only son of a poor widow, was playing on the railroad track at Jeffersonville, Ky., and was struck by a locomotive and his head crushed so that he died in a few minutes.

Foreign.

—The ship Blandina, from London for Boston, foundered at sea. The crew were saved.

—A dispatch from Versailles on the 19th says the Government troops occupied Asnieres yesterday, driving the enemy across the Seine and capturing some prisoners. The loss of the Versailles troops was small. A battery has been placed in position, which prevents the insurgents from using the bridge which crosses the river from Clichy to Asnieres.

—A dispatch from Paris, Tuesday evening, says: "The Versailles army has not resumed the offensive. The belligerents, though confronting each other, are actually separated by the island of Grand Jotte. The Communist losses yesterday were very heavy. It is stated the National Guards are greatly discouraged by their suffering and losses. Immense quantities of ammunition have been discovered in the cellars in the Avenue du Trocodoro."

—The tactics of the Spaniards in Cuba are to be changed. Valmaseda intends to confine the war to one section of the country. He proposes to drive the insurgents out of certain jurisdictions, then follow them and force them into submission. Valmaseda will remain in the jurisdictions of Santie Spiritus and Moruhn, until the establishment of a military cordon, which will make the passage of the insurgents from the Eastern Department impossible. Gen. Cebollino will assume command.

—A dispatch from Paris, dated April 21, says another revolution is imminent. The Commune has arrested the Central Committee, accusing the members of negotiating with President Thiers to betray Paris. The National Guards are indignant, and threaten to arrest the Commune unless the Committee is released. Complete anarchy reigns. Gen. Okolowitz has been wounded. The Versailles army have thrown up entrenchments on the left bank of the Seine, and are now concentrating at Puteaux and Courbevoie with the apparent intention of making a sortie against Levallois and Villiers.

—A dispatch from Paris, to prominent persons in New York, and dated April [illegible], says: The latest advices show that the insurgent cause is hopeless, as the investment of Paris is complete. There is little doubt that the movement of Thiers' soldiers and the Germans under Gen. Pope were preconcerted and made for the purpose of investing the capital. Paris has no provisions for a siege, and must soon surrender. Valerien and Courbevoie are shelling Paris frightfully. The Arc de Triomphe has fallen, and the Avenue des Terres is visited by a shower of shells. Forty civilians were killed.

Crime.

—An old and respected citizen of Logansport, Ind., named States, a grocer, was inveigled by parties unknown from his house, on Friday, struck dead, and robbed of $1,100. There is no clue to the murderers.

—James Peterson, a grocer, stabbed his wife and then killed himself, at San Francisco, on the 21st. Both were found dead, the knife clutched in his hand, and the bodies almost swimming in gore. Cause unknown.

—The trial of Crawford Block, of Frederick, Md., for the murder of W. W. McKaig, Jr., for the alleged seduction of Block's sister, terminated on the 21st, in a verdict of acquittal. The trial lasted ten days, and excited great interest in that community. Congressman Voorhees, of Indiana, was among Block's counsel.

Casualties.

—A little boy, about 10 years of age, named Powers, was run over by a freight train at Evanston, Ill., on Friday, and killed.

—R. T. Buck, a brakeman on the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad, fell beneath the cars, while coupling, and was killed, at Richwood, Ohio, on Friday.

—Two daughters (ten and twelve years old) of John McNamara, of Collinsville, Conn., failed to return home on Wednesday night, after being sent out on an errand. Thursday morning the river was dragged, and their bodies, with that of Michael Glynn, a laborer, were found. It is supposed they fell from the [illegible] into the water, and Glynn lost his life in trying to save them.

—A little boy named James Kelly, [illegible] years of age, came to his death in a horrible manner, at Chicago, on Friday. The little fellow went out into the yard to play, shortly after dinner, and, not having been seen up to five o'clock, his parents became alarmed for his safety. Search was made for him, and they were horrified to find the body of their boy in the privy vault, where he had fallen and suffocated to death.

—The Indians attacked the San Pedro settlement, near Camp Grant, New Mexico, on the 20th inst., and killed Alexander McKenzie, H. C. Long, Owen Chapin, and Edgar Unter; wounded Nicholas Tapey, and stole a lot of stock, arms and ammunition. This settlement, which has existed six years, will be abandoned at once. Numerous other outrages are reported. Ration tickets issued at the reservation at Camp Grant were found on Indians killed during the recent raids. The Indians appear to be supplied with Government arms and ammunition.

Miscellaneous.

—The New York Legislature adjourned sine die on the 21st inst.

—Rev. William Bell, a Universalist clergyman for over fifty years, died, on the 21st, at Boston, aged 79.

—A young lady of Newark, N. J., is now dying of cancer, caused by a bite on the lip by a pet dog, nearly two years since.

—Margaret Nolan, of Kings county, N. Y., was on Friday awarded $5,000 damages for the killing of her husband by the fall of the roof of the Novelty Iron Works.

—A comparative statement of the expenses of collecting the revenue for March, April and May, 1870, with the same months this year, shows a saving of over $400,000.

—A committee of prominent citizens has been formed in New York for the purpose of arranging a series of entertainments in honor of the Russian Imperial Prince, who is expected to arrive in that city early in June. These will take the form of yacht contests, a grand ball or banquet, and several other affairs of a similar nature.

—A train of eleven of Street's palace stock cars loaded at St. Louis on the 21st inst., with 176 steers, and left via the Indianapolis and Bellefontaine, and Pennsylvania Central railroads, direct for the Communipaw Yards, New York. This is the first train of these cars ever loaded, and the event is regarded by railroad and stockmen as a very interesting one in the shipment of live stock. The cars were loaded in from six and a half to ten minutes, and will reach New York in ninety-six hours, the cattle being fed and watered in the cars.

Congressional Summary.

The principal feature of the Senate on the 15th was its refusal to consider the House general amnesty bill. The passage of the bill was urgently advocated by the Senators from South Carolina and by Senator Wilson. It was opposed by Morton and Conkling, who finally succeeded in preventing the consideration of the bill. It is now considered doubtful if the measure will be considered this session, as a determined effort will be made to secure a final adjournment on Tuesday or Wednesday.

The House resumed its consideration of the remaining amendments to the deficiency bill. The amendment for the establishment of a park at Washington was taken up, and after a sharp debate, was rejected. Several other amendments were rejected, when a motion to lay the bill on the table was rejected. A committee of conference on the disagreeing votes was then ordered.——Shellabarger called from the Speaker's table the Ku-Klux bill as returned from the Senate. He moved to consider all the amendments except the last two. As for those, he would move a non-concurrence, and ask for a committee of conference. His motion was seconded, and the House proceeded to vote on the amendments. The habeas corpus amendment was rejected—86 yeas, 93 nays. The oath of jurors' amendment was rejected without yeas and nays. The Sherman amendment, assessing damages on localities, was rejected by 45 yeas to 135 nays. A committee of conference was then appointed on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses.——Adjourned.

On the 17th, Sumner was appointed Chairman of the Senate during the temporary absence of the Vice-President.——The Ku-Klux and deficiency bills were received from the House and immediately submitted to Committee of Conference.

In the House, a number of new bills were introduced, among which was one advocating economy on the part of the Government; and one in relation to the late Fenian disturbances, both of which went over until another day.——Adjourned.

In the Senate, on the 19th, a message was received from the House announcing the rejection of the conference report on the Ku-Klux bill, and asking a new conference. The Senate, on motion of Edmunds, insisted on its amendments, and Edmunds, Carpenter and Thurman were appointed as a Committee of Conference. The report of the Conference Committee was returned after a short session, and then concurred in by a party vote, except that Hill and Robertson voted with the Democrats in the negative—yeas, 36; nays, 13.——Without transacting any further business of importance, the Senate adjourned.

In the House, on the 19th, a new Conference Committee on the deficiency bill was appointed.——The consideration of the Ku-Klux bill was then resumed, and, after a long debate, a vote was taken, and the report of the Committee of Conference rejected. A new committee was then appointed, with instructions to report to-morrow. The Conference report on the deficiency bill was again presented by Dawes, omitting the item as to the Sutro Tunnel Commission. ——Dawes explained that the amendment for a park in Washington was rejected; that the item for paving Pennsylvania avenue was amended by appropriating $12,000 for repairs, and that the appropriation for the Sisters of Our Lady of Mercy at Charleston had been reduced from $20,000 to $12,000. As to the issue of national bank currency, it had been impossible to carry the bill through both Houses unless an additional tax were placed on banks to defray the expenses of the reissue, and therefore the whole thing had been left out. The report was agreed to.——Adjourned.

In the Senate, on the 20th, Conkling and Davis, of Kentucky, were appointed to wait on the President and inform him that unless he had some further communication to make to Congress, the Senate was now ready to adjourn.——On motion of Scott, all bills on the table, petitions, &c., were ordered to be referred to their appropriate committees.——West introduced a bill to incorporate the Louisiana, Kansas and New Mexico Railroad Company. Referred.——At 12:20 the Senate went into Executive session, and at 2 o'clock the doors were reopened, when the committee to wait on the President reported that he had no further communication to make.——The President pro tem. (Anthony) then declared the first session of the Forty-second Congress adjourned sine die.

The House received a message from the Senate announcing its agreement to the Conference report on the Ku-Klux bill, and the passage of the concurrent resolution for final adjournment at 2 o'clock on the same day. After considerable debate, during which a great deal of fun was made of the Sherman amendment, the House proceeded to vote on the question, and it was agreed to by a strictly party vote—yeas, 93; nays, 74. ——Beck asked leave to offer a joint resolution, asserting the power of the House to make or withhold appropriations to carry out treaties requiring appropriations of money. The resolution was adopted.——The remainder of the session was occupied by Butler in a personal explanation in regard to his little tete-a-tete with Garrett Davis in the Senate chamber, which took place some time since. Before he concluded his speech, several members took a hand in it, and the most ridiculous farce of the session here took place, and was only brought to a close by the hammer of the Speaker, who announced the House adjourned without a day.

The Programme of the Communists.

The London Standard, of the 4th inst., gives the following translation of the programme of the Red Republicans of France from an official document published about a year ago:

"1. The active socialist party, after overthrowing the present Government, that is to say, after having accomplished a political revolution, will proclaim that all descriptions of property are to be no longer personal, but national.

"2. It will invite the immediate formation of industrial societies in every parish or township, and will publish reports drawn up by men familiar with the subject, showing what kinds of industry are indispensable in each particular district or country, and what parts of the country are most favorable, or the reverse, for any given occupation.

"3. A certain period will be granted to every citizen to consider what working society he will join. It is the right, as well as the duty, of every one to choose that kind of labor which, taking into consideration his physical and mental capacities, will prove most beneficial to himself and to the commonwealth.

"4. All persons who shall refuse to join one or other of the working societies, without assigning some valid reason for refusal, will lose all rights as citizens. They will not be admitted to any of the public establishments which contain the provisions destined to supply the wants of the members of the commonwealth. To such persons, houses, public dining-rooms, railroads, postoffices, and telegraphs, in fact, everything will be closed. They will be absolutely deprived of the means of existence, and must decide either to work or die.

"5. Each group of workmen will elect from its midst a public valuer or superintendent. This individual should be chosen by his fellow-workmen on account of his energy, ability, and superior knowledge of the details of his trade.

"6. The duties of this superintendent will consist chiefly in regulating the supply of work, in taking account of its value, and the quantity performed by each member; also, in negotiating between the society and the local office, to which every society in the district will have access, sending to it the products of their labor, and receiving from it everything necessary to supply the wants of their members.

"7. A committee, composed of members elected by every working society, will regulate, in its own district, the supply of labor, and develop the natural or acquired advantages of the locality. It will receive all the goods produced by the industry of each society in its district, classify them, and distribute them according to the wants of the community, or, in the event of a surplus, send them to other districts to form material for a new organization.

"8. The committee will publish at regular intervals reports on the work accomplished by each society, and on the sum total of the products and consumption of each member for a given period, in order to show clearly the profit or loss that each member brings to the commonwealth.

"9. The above-mentioned reports will also serve to enlighten the citizens in the election of agents and public functionaries of every description, and also to regulate the course of all kinds of labor, and show what changes are required in any department of industry."

"10. All the public institutions, as well as the dining-rooms, sleeping-rooms, schools, hospitals, libraries, roads, railways, posts, and telegraphs, shall be placed under the administration of local bureaus.

"11. All the public works of the locality, such as the making of roads and railways, public buildings, etc., and the cleaning and keeping them in order, shall be under the management of the principal bureau.

"12. All kinds of labor which require physical force only, without any special technical knowledge, shall be performed in rotation by the members of each section.

"13. The principal bureau will also be charged with the education of children, for which purpose special buildings will be constructed, in which physical and mental training alike shall be inculcated. Up to a certain age, to be hereafter decided, the children shall not be taken in hand by the communal sections.

"14. Parents who wish to undertake personally the education of their children shall have the right so do so; but this shall not exempt them from the obligation of working a certain number of hours every day.

"15. As a general rule, when the members of the community have completed the fixed number of hours for work each day, they can occupy themselves in any way they like—in doing nothing, in out-door recreation, in visiting the public theatres or concerts, scientific lectures, etc.

"16. Any person desirous of devoting all his time to scientific researches or discoveries shall present to the local bureau a statement of his project, which, if found feasible and likely to be useful to the community, shall confer upon the author the right to retire from his working section. He shall also be provided with the means necessary for the accomplishment of the undertaking.

"17. Having acquired the right of devoting himself to a special occupation, the author of the project shall present regularly to the bureau full reports of his undertaking, which shall be published.

"18. In this way the bureau is placed in constant communication with all the skilled artisans, engineers, inventors and learned men in the country, and receives reports and suggestions calculated to increase the well-being of the community. The bureau will elect from its members directors of the public works and special functionaries of each department.

"19. The number of working hours each day shall be regulated by the natural condition of the locality, the climate, the season of the year, and the greater or less expenditure of strength required in any given kind of labor. Exceptions, of course, will be made in the case of sick and weak persons, and also in other cases which may as yet be unforeseen.

"20. All the rights, duties, and institutions emanating from the present condition of things, all the infamies of jurisprudence, of police, and of religion, have no place in the new social order. All affairs and undertakings, without direct value for the commonwealth, have no foundation, except reciprocal consent and confidence in the person with whom the agreement is made. Legal or political guarantees, such as are made by thousands in the present state of things, will not be recognized in the new regime. Contracts between groups of individuals will have no right to the protection of the bureau.

"21. The relationship between the two sexes shall be entirely free. So soon as a mutual understanding exists, the man and woman can marry or remarry as often as they like. The education of children, as mentioned before, is intrusted to the state.

"22. These fundamental principles of the 'commune' can be carried out only when a political revolution, seriously and secretly prepared, shall have become successful. The new social order will become an accomplished fact first of all in those great cities from which emissaries have been already sent to propagate the communistic idea, and to dispel the ignorance and inertia of the masses."

A Proclamation by the President.

The following proclamation was issued by the President, on Thursday, the 20th inst., for the convening of an extra session of the Senate on the 10th of May:

WHEREAS, Objects of interest to the United States require that the Senate should be convened at 12 o'clock, Wednesday, the tenth day of May next, to receive and act upon such communications as may be made to it on the part of the Executive; therefore, I, Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States, have considered it to be my duty to issue this my proclamation, declaring that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate of the United States to convene for the transaction of business at the Capitol, in the city of Washington, on Wednesday, the tenth day of May next, at 12 o'clock on that day.

Of which, all who shall at that time be entitled to act as members of that body, are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and the seal of the United States, at Washington, this 20th day of April, in the year of our Lord, 1871, of the independence of the United States of America, the 95th.

(Signed) U. S. GRANT, President.
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

Lost on the Prairie.

A most deplorable event transpired nine miles east of Council Bluffs during the wild storm of Sunday night. The Nonpareil thus chronicles it:

"Two little girls, named Robinson, aged respectively nine and eleven years, were lost on the prairie, and one, if not both, died of exposure to the storm.

"They were allowed to go upon a visit to the house of a neighbor, distant about a mile. They remained there until evening, and then started to return. The storm had commenced, but no apprehension was felt as to their safety. As they journeyed on, however, they lost their way, and wandered over the country in all that terrible uproar of the elements, far into the night. At last one of them, the youngest, succumbed to the cold and fatigue, and, unable to proceed, lay down and shortly died. Her sister, benumbed, and wild with grief and terror, staid near her body for a length of time, and then, in an almost dying condition, endeavored to find the track again. She roamed about in this way several hours, until at daybreak, Monday morning, she found herself near home. She reached the house and told what had happened, when a party was immediately dispatched in search of the other little girl's remains. They were found at a comparatively short distance and brought in. It is since reported that the eldest girl has died from the effects of the night's events."

The Parting Hour in the House of Representatives—The Chaplain and Coroner Called for.

We give below a synopsis of the closing scenes which took place in the National House of Representatives on Thursday, the 20th inst.:

Butler moved to suspend the rules in order that he might make a personal explanation. Agreed to—yeas, 118; nays, 23.

Butler proceeded to address the House in reference to the scene which took place in the Senate between himself and Mr. Davis, of Kentucky. Assuming Mr. Davis' own description of the occurrence to be true, Mr. Butler submitted to the candid judgment of the House, and all just men, which of the two had, in the affair, played the part of the courteous gentleman, and which the part of the blackguard. Mr. Davis was shielded from responsibility for what he said by his age and by his Senatorial toga, and, thus shielded and protected, he had spurted the effluvia of his revenge after the most high-toned manner of the chivalry. He had for nearly nine years suffered from assaults and charges of having appropriated to his own use small amounts of money in Louisiana, and now he would answer them once for all. He had captured and levied assessments on rebels in Louisiana to the amount of nearly $3,000,000, and he had charged himself with the amount on the books of the department. Those books had been open for nine years, and even his detractors had not said that he had not fully accounted for the amount. He accused Mr. Farnsworth of having published in the Globe a speech not delivered, and highly slanderous to him (Butler). By that act, that gentleman had put himself out of the rule of civilized warfare, and he would never, henceforth, consider that gentleman's tongue or pen a slander upon anybody—certainly not upon himself.

Mr. Farnsworth made a personal explanation in reply to Mr. Butler. He said it was too late in the day for that gentleman to put on airs, and propose the rule of non-intercourse. He trusted that his (Farnsworth's) great age had not anything to do with such non-intercourse, as was suggested by him in reference to the Senator from Kentucky. [Laughter.] In reference to the investigation as to the management of the National Asylum for Disabled Soldiers, he complained that the committee had not acted fairly in the matter in refusing, among other things, to require the treasurer of that institution (Mr. Butler) to produce his bank book, which would show that he had had constantly on hand some $100,000 to $150,000 of Government money, which he kept in his own private bank, in his own name, and with which he speculated.

Mr. Butler made a point of order that this was an attack upon him, instead of being a personal explanation.

The Speaker—Will the gentleman from Massachusetts state the words to which he objects, and the Chair will rule on the question.

Mr. Butler—I should say pretty much all of it. [Laughter.] When I am told that I have gorged myself with public money, I suppose that does not require a point of order to be made.

The Speaker ruled that such language was out of order.

Mr. Farnsworth—The member from Massachusetts was alluded to in my speech, as published in the Globe, and I was only recounting points in it to show that it was not unparliamentary.

The Speaker said he had no doubt that the language of the gentleman from Illinois was unparliamentary, and he so ruled without hesitation.

Mr. Farnsworth was allowed, by a vote of the House, to proceed in order. He went on to speak of the transaction for the sale of a piece of property at Hampton, Va., for the National Asylum, the property having been owned by Butler, but having been transferred to him by his brother-in-law, Hildreth, to cover up appearances. In conclusion, he said that if that transaction, and the testimony given by Mr. Butler before the Committee on Military Affairs, last session, were before any petit jury in the United States, it would convict him (Butler) of embezzlement and perjury. [Laughter and great excitement.] That was all he had to say.

Mr. Butler remarked that he held in his hand the report of the Military Committee made last session on that subject, and he would read the closing paragraph as an answer to all that calumny which might be put out against him anywhere. Mr. Butler said, in conclusion, that under that report he branded as false and calumnious everything that could be said against the President and Treasurer of the National Asylum. Mr. Butler proceeded to exonerate himself in the sale of property to the National Asylum which he said he had made, when Mr. Farnsworth interrupted him by saying the member from Massachusetts swore in the investigation that he did not sell it—that his brother-in-law sold it. [Laughter.]

Mr. Butler—Oh, pshaw, pshaw. [Laughter.] That was one of the cheats in his statement. It was put into the hands of my brother-in-law as security for money which he had lent me.

Mr. Farnsworth—Your brother-in-law swore that he did not lend you any money. [Laughter.]

Mr. Butler—I cannot have any controversy with that man whom I would not believe under oath. [Laughter and hammering from Speaker's gavel.] Referring to the witnesses who swore against him in the investigation, he said that one of them was a runaway marine deserter whom he had been trying to find to put a ball and chain around his leg, and that another was a Baltimore man who had once served with him (Butler) for supposed gallant conduct, but had since gone down lower, lower, until he had sunk to the position of being a witness for the member from Illinois. [Laughter.]

Mr. Farnsworth—And the other witnesses were the members from Massachusetts and his brother-in-law. [Renewed laughter, and other manifestations of thorough enjoyment of the scene.]

Mr. Butler remarked in conclusion that he would not again be drawn into controversy upon the subject. What was the use, he asked, of investigation and of a report exonerating a man from all blame, when such exoneration was made only a foundation for fresh charges and fresh calumnies direct from hell. [Laughter.]

And now comes Mr. Beck, who asked and obtained leave "to make a statement" on behalf of the Senator from Kentucky, who, he said, had been so foully denounced by the member from Massachusetts. The Senator and that member had had a controversy on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. Butler—Oh, no; I had no controversy with him.

Mr. Beck—The Senator denounced the member on the floor as a damned scoundrel, and I would characterize that as a controversy. [Laughter.] They had a quarrel on the floor of the Senate. It ought to have ended there, and would have ended there but for the fact that the member from Massachusetts saw fit to come on the floor of the House and use language grossly offensive to the Senator from Kentucky, and it was after that, that the Senator had pronounced the speech which had been quoted by the member. The member from Massachusetts, if he had a personal explanation to make, should have made it at once, and not have waited until the Senator whom he desired to abuse was several hundred miles away. When he asked leave to make a personal explanation, to-day, he promised not to attack Senator Davis, and so the Democrats voted to give him the privilege. But I did not believe him when he made the promise, and voted against it. I have only to say that, while my Senator is neither a bully nor a blackguard, the member can get any redress from him that he seeks, outside of this hall or anywhere else. [Laughter.] I do not believe that it lies in the mouth of the member from Massachusetts to talk about any Senator being shielded by his age from not seeking proper redress. I have witnessed scenes with that member which satisfied me that he would not seek the redress to which he alludes. [Laughter.] He does not forget that I have, in the presence of fifteen members of the House, seen the member from Illinois [Mr. Farnsworth] put his fist in the face of the member from Massachusetts, and denounce him in every way that one man could denounce another, until I had to say to other members of the committee standing by, that I did not think a white man would take it without a fight, and that decent negroes in New York State would fight over it. [Uproarous laughter.]

Mr. Farnsworth (derisively)—It was on account of his extreme age, perhaps. [Shouts of laughter.]

Mr. Butler (pointing to Farnsworth)—He is not a white man.

Mr. Eldridge—Now is the proper time to call in the Chaplain. [Continuous laughter.]

Mr. Cox—The Coroner should also be sent for.

Mr. Stoughton, a member of the Military Committee of the last House, was proceeding to defend the action of that committee, when the Speaker's hammer fell, and he announced that the first session of the House of Representatives for the Forty-first Congress was adjourned without a day.

The Minister's Work and Pay.

The clergy are the worst paid body of laborers in the country. They work with ability and zeal. They are educated, sensitive men, often carefully nurtured, and they are expected to be everybody's servant, to hold their time and talents at the call of all the whimsical old women of the parish and of the selectmen of the town. They are to preach twice or thrice on Sunday, to lecture and expound during the week, to make parochial calls in sun or storm, to visit the poor, to be the confidant and counselor of a throng, and always in every sermon to be fresh and bright, and always ready to do any public service that may be asked. Of course the clergyman must be chairman of the school committee, and a director of the town library, and president of charitable societies. He cannot give a great deal of money for educational and charitable and æsthetic purposes—not a very great deal—but he can always give time, and he can always make a speech, and draw the resolutions, and direct generally.

He is, in fact, the town pound to which everybody may commit the truant fancies that nobody else will tolerate upon the pastures and lawns of ther attention. He is the town pump at which everybody may fill himself hith advice. He is the town bell to summon everybody to every common enterprise. He is the town beast of burden to carry everybody's pack. With all this he must have a neat and pretty house, and a comely and pretty wife, who must be always ready and well dressed in the parlor, although she cannot afford to hire sufficient "help." And the good man's children must be well behaved and properly clad, and his house be a kind of hotel for the traveling brethren. Of course he must be a scholar, and familiar with current literature, and he may justly be expected to fit half a dozen boys for college every year. These are but illustrations of the functions he is to fulfill, and always without murmuring; and for all he is to be glad to get a pittance upon which he can barely bring the ends of the year together, and to know that if he should suddenly die of over-work, as he probably will, his wife and children will be beggars.—Harper's Magazine.

The Strasbourg Cathedral Clock.

The wonderful astronomical clock at Strasbourg is thus fully described in the "Over the Ocean" sketches by Curtis Guild, recently issued by Messrs. Lee & Shepard, Boston:

The astronomical clock here is a curious and wonderful piece of mechanism. Fancy a structure twenty-five or thirty feet in height, and twelve or fifteen broad at the base, having on either side two others nearly of equal height, one being the masonic flight of winding stairs, surmounted by five small emblematical Corinthian pillars, and the other a Gothic pillar, its panelings enriched with figures.

Placed directly in front of the base of the clock is a celestial globe, which, by means of the clock-work, shows the precision of the equinoxes, solar and lunar equations for calculating geocentric ascension and declination of the sun and moon at true times and places. Then in the base itself is an orrery after the Copernican system, by which the mean tropical revolution of each of the planets, visible to the naked eye, is shown. Then comes an ecclesiastical calendar, a sort of perpetual almanac, indicating holy, feast and fast days; above, and about ten feet from the floor, and just beneath the clock-dial, is an opening with a platform in front, upon which come forth figures representing each day of the week, as Apollo on Tuesday, Diana on Monday, &c. Thus a figure in a chariot representing the day appeared at the entrance in the morning, it had reached the center in full view by noon, and drove gradually out of sight at the close of day. On either side of the clock-dial sat two Cupids, the size of a three-year old child, one holding a bell and hammer, with which it strikes the hours and quarters, and the other an hour-glass, which it reverses each hour. Above is another dial, with the signs of the zodiac; above that a figure of the moon, showing its different phases, also put in motion by the clock-work; and still above this, two sets of automaton figures, which appear only at 12 o'clock, at which time there is always a crowd gathered to witness their performance.

We viewed this wondrous piece of mechanism for an hour, and witnessed the following movements: At quarter past eleven the Cupid near the dial struck one; then from one of the upper compartments ran forth the figure of a little child with a wand, and as he passed he struck one on a bell, and ran away (Childhood, the first quarter.) Round whirl the wheels of time, and the second quarter chimes; but this time it is Youth that passes and taps the bell with his shepherd's staff twined with flowers. Again we reach the third quarter, and Manhood strides forth, the mailed warrior, and smites the sonorous bell, ere he leaves the scene, three sounding blows with his trenchant weapon—the third quarter. Once more the hands tremble on the point of noon; the fourth quarter is here, and Old Age, a feeble, bent figure, hobbles out, pauses wearily at the bell, raises a crutch, and taps four strokes and totters away out of sight—'last scene of all,' when, as a finale, the skeleton figure of Death, before whom all the four have passed, slowly raises his baton, which the spectator now discovers to be a human bone, and solemnly strikes the hour of twelve upon the bell. While he is engaged in this act, a set of figures above him, representing the twelve apostles, pass in procession before the Saviour, who blesses each as they pause before him in turn, and chanticleer, the size of life, perched upon the pinnacle of one of the side structures, lifts up his voice in three rousing crows, with outstretched neck and flapping wings, while the Cupid on one side of the dial reverses the hour-glass for the sand to flow back, and the other also strikes the hour with his bell and hammer."

CHAPPED HANDS, face, rough skin, pimples, ring-worm, salt-rheum, and other cutaneous affections, cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York. It is more convenient and easily applied than other remedies, avoiding the trouble of the greasy compounds now in use.

THERE's a moral taught by the following conversation which needs to be learned by many fathers. Said a little four-year-old: "Mother, father won't be in heaven with us, will he?" "Why, my child?" "Because he can't leave the store."

—Gen. Dombrowski reports to the Commune that his troops have retaken certain positions, capturing a considerable quantity of provisions, and some prisoners. He adds that the battle continues, and asks for reinforcements. Gen. Okolowits maintains his position at Asnieres against all efforts of the Government forces.

The Markets.

CHICAGO.
BEEVES—Choice	$6.15	@ 6.60
Prime	5.60	@ 6.10
Fair Grades	5.30	@ 5.50
STOCK CATTLE—Common	3.50	@ 5.20
Inferior	2.25	@ 3.25
BUTTER—Choice	.23	@ .27
EGGS—Fresh	.11	@ .11½
FLOUR—White Winter Extra	7.25	@ 9.00
Spring Extra	6.21	@ 6.75
GRAIN—Corn—No. 2	.52½	@ .53¾
Barley—No. 2, new	.90	@ .91
Oats—No. 2	.48½	@ .49
Rye—No. 2	.89	@ .89½
Wheat—Spring, No. 1, new	1.33	@ 1.33½
No. 2, new	1.30	@ 1.30½
LARD	....	@ .11½
PORK—Mess	18.00	@18.25
NEW YORK.
COTTON—Middling	....	@ .14¾
FLOUR—Extra Western	7.20	@ 7.55
WHEAT—No. 1 Spring, new	1.57	@ 1.60
RYE—Western	....	@ 1.13½
BARLEY—State	....	@ 1.12
CORN—Mixed Western	.75	@ .76
OATS—Western	.66	@ .68½
PORK—Mess	18.25	@18.75
LARD	.11	@ .11¾
CINCINNATI.
FLOUR—Family	$6.20	@ 6.45
WHEAT—Red	1.37	@ 1.46
CORN—Mixed	....	@ .57
OATS	.54	@ .57
RYE—No. 1	1.05	@ 1.07
BARLEY—Fall	.90	@ .96
LARD	.11½	@ .12
PORK—Mess	....	@19.00
ST. LOUIS.
FLOUR—XX	$6.00	@ 6.25
WHEAT—No. 2 Red	1.27	@ 1.29
CORN—Mixed	.47	@ .58
OATS—Mixed	.53	@ .54
RYE	....	@ .90
BARLEY	.85	@ 1.15
PORK—Mess	19.50	@20.00
LARD	.11½	@ .12
MILWAUKEE.
FLOUR—Spring Extra	$5.96	@ 6.70
WHEAT—Spring No. 1	....	@ 1.34
No. 2	....	@ 1.31
CORN—New Mixed	....	@ .60
OATS—No. 2	....	@ .49½
RYE—No. 1	.89	@ .90
BARLEY—No. 2	....	@ .78
TOLEDO.
WHEAT—Amber Michigan	....	@ 1.45
No. 1 Red	....	@ 1.47
CORN—Mixed	....	@ .58¾
OATS—No. 1	....	@ .55
CLOVER SEED	....	@ 5.65

"It Saved My Life."

WORDS OF A RELIABLE DRUGGIST.

What is the Value of Money when Compared to Health.

Allen's Lung Balsam

Is warranted to break up the most troublesome Cough in an incredibly short time. There is no remedy that can show more evidence of real merit than this BALSAM for curing Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, &c.

It Acts on the Kidneys,

It Acts on the Liver,

☞ Which makes it more than a Cough Remedy.

☞ Read the following from a reliable druggist of Michigan:

MARINE CITY, Mich., July 27, 1870.

J. N. Harris & Co.—Dear Sir: The Allen's Lung Balsam has arrived. I would not like to be without it, for it has saved my life. I took a bad cold and cough, and finally Consumption was seated upon me. I was in a very bad state. I tried everything that was recommended, and spent a great deal of money, but got no help. I had the Allen's Lung Balsam for sale, but I knew nothing of its merits. I did not like to take it, without knowing more about it. I had not sold a bottle. When your agent called on me I told him I could not sell a medicine I knew nothing about. He urged me to try it myself. I did so, and to my grateful surprise the first bottle stopped my cough, and before the third bottle was taken my lungs were healed and well, and I can now speak knowingly to my frinds and customers of the qualities of Allen's Lung Balsam.

I remain, respectfully,
L. C. COTTREL.

It is Harmless to the most Delicate Child.

It Contains No Opium in Any Form.

It is Sold by Medicine Dealers generally.

CAUTION.

Call for "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM," and shun the use of any other Balsam. Unprincipled men may deceive you with worthless preparations.

CALL FOR ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!

J. N. HARRIS & CO., Proprietors,
Cincinnati, O.

For sale by GREENE & BUTTON, Milwaukee; H. BOSWORTH & SONS, Milwaukee; FULLER, FINCH & FULLER, Chicago; COLLINS BROS., St. Louis; NOYES BROTHERS, St. Paul.

Preventive Medication.

A radical change has been introduced in the practice of medicine. Physicians have ceased to torture and prostrate their patients. Instead of pulling down, they build up; instead of assaulting nature, they assist her. Cupping, leeching, blistering, venesection, calomel, antimony, stupefying narcotics and rasping purgatives, once the favorite resources of the faculty, are now rarely resorted to even by the most dogmatic members of the profession. The old creed was, that disease was something which must be expelled by violent artificial means, irrespective of the wear and tear of the vital organization in the process. The new creed recognizes the improvement of the general health as essential to the cure of all local ailments. Hence it is that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most potent vegetable tonic that pharmacy has ever brought to the assistance of nature in her struggles with disease, has been cordially approved by practitioners of the modern school. It is pleasant to reflect that reason and philosophy have at last been victorious over the errors of the past, and that thousands and tens of thousands of human beings are alive and well to-day who would indubitably be mouldering in their graves, had they been subjected to the pains and penalties which were deemed orthodox and indispensable thirty or forty years ago.

Preventive medication was hardly thought of then; but now it is considered of paramount importance, and the celebrity of the standard invigorant, alterative and restorative of the age (a title which Hostetter's Bitters have fairly earned by their long career of success) is mainly due to its efficiency as a protective preparation.

A course of the Bitters is urgently recommended as a safe and certain antidote to intermittent and remittent fevers, diarrhea, dysintery, and other maladies.

$4 A LINE,

for an ADVERTISEMENT in

400 NEWSPAPERS.

WHERE CUTS ARE USED, ONLY SIX REQUIRED FOR THE WHOLE LIST.

For lists, estimates, and further particulars, address either

NEW YORK NEWSPAPER UNION,
12 Park Row, N. Y.
CHICAGO NEWSPAPER UNION,
Chicago, Ill.
NORTHWESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION,
Milwaukee, Wis.

THE GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

MR. KENNEDY, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures

EVERY KIND OF HUMOR,
From the Worst Scrofula Down to a Common Pimple.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth.
One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of Pimples on the face.
Two or three bottles will clear the system of biles.
Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst canker in the mouth or stomach.
Three to five bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of Erysipelas.
One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the Eyes.
Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.
Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.
One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the worst kind of ringworm.
Two or three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.
Three to four bottles are warranted to cure salt-rheum.
Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula.
A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

ROXBURY, MASS.

DEAR MADAM: The reputation of the Medical Discovery, in curing all kind of humors, is so well established by the unanimous voice of all who have ever used it, that I need not say anything on the subject, as the most skillful physicians and the most careful druggists in the country are unanimous in its praise.

In presenting the Medical Discovery to your notice, I do it with a full knowledge of its curative power, in relieving all, and curing most of the diseases to which you are unfortunately so liable. The most excruciating disease to an affectionate mother, is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweetness, and your babe from short and fretful naps to calm and sweet slumbers; and the Medical Discovery becomes a fountain of blessing to your husband and household.

NURSING SORE MOUTH,

In the more advanced stages of

CANKER,

it extends to the stomach, causing

DYSPEPSIA, which is nothing but canker on the stomach; then to the intestines and creating a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family.

KIDNEYS,

Your stomach is

RAW AND INFLAMED,

your food distresses you, and you can only take certain kinds, and even of that your system does not get half the nourishment it contains as the acrimonious fluid of the canker eats it up; then your complexion loses its bloom, and becomes sallow or greenish, and your best day is gone. For want of nourishment your system becomes loose and flabby, and the fibers of your body become relaxed. Then follow a train of diseases which the Medical Discovery is peculiarly adapted to

CURE;

Palpitation of the heart, pain in the side, weakness of the spine and small of the back, pain of the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also that most excruciating of diseases, the PILES.

How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease, and pining away a miserable life, and their next-door neighbor does not know the cause. I wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

MEDICAL DISCOVERY,

you have both the preventive and the cure, with this great and good quality, that it will never, under any circumstances, do you any injury.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and plenty enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one tablespoonful per day; Children over ten years, dessert spoonful; Children from five to eight years, teaspoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

Yours truly, DONALD KENNEDY.

Price, $1.50 per bottle. For sale by every druggist in the United States and British Provinces.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS!
Fresh Attractions!

THE METHODIST, of New York, although bearing a denominational name, is acceptable to all lovers of earnest Christianity, whether Methodists or not.

THE METHODIST is edited by Rev. George R. Crooks, D. D., and Rev. Abel Stevens, LL.D., (both eminent journalists, and the latter the well-known author of The History of Methodism.)

THE METHODIST is always full of GOOD READING FOR THE PEOPLE AND THEIR CHILDREN.

☞ THE METHODIST will hereafter give the only revised report of the sermons of the Rev. T. DE WITT TALMAGE, whose eloquence and originality draw congregations numbering over 3,000 to his Free Tabernacle in Brooklyn.

☞ THE METHODIST will also be furnished regularly with contributions from Dr. Talmage in his unique style.

☞ THE METHODIST has every week a Lecture-Room Talk by Rev. H. W. BEECHER.

☞ THE METHODIST will soon begin a SERIAL STORY of great interest by Mrs. Jennie Willing, of Chicago, a lady of rare gifts as a writer and speaker.

☞ THE METHODIST has a great variety of reading for Everybody.

☞ THE METHODIST will give these and many other good things from now until July 1st, 1872, for the price of one year's subscription, $2.50, being nearly THREE MONTHS FOR NOTHING, and to clergymen of all denominations for $1.50.

☞ THE METHODIST is taken by 4,000 clergymen. Nearly all Methodist ministers will receive subscriptions, or they may be sent to the publisher, direct. Canvassers liberally paid.

☞ THE METHODIST may be ordered by the week of news-dealers. Specimen copies free.

G. C. HALSTED, Publisher,
114 Nassau Street, New York.

NEW BOOKS

Mary J. Holmes' New Novel,

MILLBANK!

G. W. CARLETON & CO., of New York, announce to the many million admirers of Mrs. Mary J. Holmes' novels that they will publish, in few days, another charming new novel from the pen of this gifted author. This new book is one of the best she has ever written, and is entitled MILLBANK.

Mrs. Holmes is a peculiarly pleasant and fascinating writer. Her books are always entertaining, and she has the rare faculty of enlisting the sympathy and affections of her readers, and of holding their attention to her pages with deep and absorbing interest. Those who have not read all of Mrs. Holmes' other novels, and wish to do so, will find their names below:

LENA RIVERS,	MARIAN GREY,
TEMPEST AND SUNSHINE,	DORA DEANE,
MEADOW BROOK,	COUSIN MAUDE,
ENGLISH ORPHANS,	HOMESTEAD ON HILLSIDE,
HUGH WORTHINGTON,	THE CAMERON PRIDE,
DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT,	ROSE MATHER,
ETHELYN'S MISTAKE.

These books are beautifully printed and bound. Price $1.50.

☞ The above books are sold everywhere, and sent by mail, postage free, on receipt of price, by the Publishers.

G. W. CARLETON & Co., Publishers,
MADISON SQUARE, New York City.

A Novel by Emily H. Moore,

ENTITLED

A LOST LIFE.

In a few days will be published a new novel of the most intense interest, by EMILY H. MOORE,
[The well-known Western Authoress.]

A LOST LIFE is one of the most delightful novels ever written, and will command a wide sale throughout the community. Orders are pouring in from every quarter, and thousands of readers will be charmed with it. Mrs. EMILY H. MOORE, who has written so long under the nomme de plume of "Mignonette," has made that name very popular all over the great West, and this, her first book, will be welcomed by every one.

The book is beautifully printed and bound. Price $1.50.

☞ The above books are sold everywhere, and sent by mail, postage free, on receipt of price, by the Publishers.

G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers,
MADISON SQUARE, New York City.

Horace Greeley's New Book.

JUST PUBLISHED,

WHAT I KNOW OF FARMING.

By Horace Greeley [Editor of New York Tribune.]

This is one of the best books ever published upon the subject. It does not consist of a lot of dry, dull essays upon Agriculture, that no one can be interested in, but is a work written by one of the greatest writers in the world, in his best and most agreeable manner.

Farmers will gather from its pages a great deal of valuable information useful for them in their vocation, and the general reader will find it exceedingly fascinating from the pleasant style of treating the various topics.

The book is beautifully printed and bound. Price $1.50.

☞ The above books are sold everywhere, and sent by mail, postage free, on receipt of price, by the Publishers.

G. W. CARLETON & CO., Publishers,
MADISON SQUARE, New York City.

$325 A MONTH! Horse and carriage furnished. Expenses paid. H. B. SHAW, Alfred, Me.

YOUNG MEN desiring a successful start in Business Life attend Eastman College—the oldest, best and most reasonable practical School, and the only one providing situations for graduates. Address, for Catalogue of 3,000 in business, H. G. EASTMAN, LL. D., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

VINEGAR—How made in 10 hours, without drugs. Particulars 10 cents. F. SAGE, Cromwell, Conn.

Agents! Read This!

WE WILL PAY AGENTS A SALARY OF $30 per week and expenses, or allow a large commission, to sell our new wonderful inventions. Address M. WAGNER & CO., Marshall, Mich.

TO YOUNG MEN.

A SELF-INSTRUCTOR on Marriage and Diseases of the Reproductive Organs, Seminal Weakness, &c., with 50 recipes for self-cure, 160 large pages, 100 plates and engravings. Sample copy, 50 cts.

FOR LADIES, a treatise on Female Diseases, with prescription for self-treatment, in sealed envelope. Price 10 cts. M. & S. Inst., Publishers, Milwaukee, Wis.

50 CENTS—THE WEEKLY WISCONSIN, THE GREAT STORY PAPER, containing all of the thrilling story entitled BLACK SHEEP, by Edmund Yates, continuing four months, commencing April 12th. The best and cheapest weekly paper printed. Terms, $1.50 per year; 50 cents four months. Address CRAMER, AIKENS & CRAMER, Milwaukee, Wis.

A Leading Life Insurance Company.

It is evident that just now there is no subject more full of interest to the public than Life Insurance, and nothing that concerns them more than the merits of the various Life companies in the United States.

In reviewing the career of these institutions, we have been much struck with the extraordinary onward progress of the Equitable Life of New York, and the marked success which has attended the management of its affairs; and we feel that we are doing a positive good by giving in brief detail the points which entitle it to the first consideration of the insuring public.

The Equitable now occupies the leading position in respect to the amount of New annual business, as will be seen by the following table:

NEW BUSINESS, 1870.
THE EQUITABLE	$40,295,799
THE MUTUAL LIFE	33,458,217
THE CONNECTICUT MUTUAL	24,707,707
THE MUTUAL BENEFIT	12,997,110
THE NEW YORK LIFE	27,141,995
THE ÆTNA	21,795,474
THE NEW ENGLAND	8,979,361
THE KNICKERBOCKER	15,141,844
THE CHARTER OAK	20,118,485

By this we observe that its business for 1870 reached the enormous figure of $40,295,799, being $7,000,000 larger than that of any company in the world.

The Equitable is a mutual company, on the cash basis, making annual returns to its policy-holders of all the profits which arise in the course of its business.

The mention of one very favorable feature must not be omitted—we refer to the ability of its agents and the courtesy of its officers, by which every required information connected with Life Assurance can be readily obtained. The executive of this company can always be easily approached, and this tends much to its popularity.

It is thus easy to understand why the Equitable has reached its present pre-eminence. Starting from the first day of its organization, under the best auspices, in 1866 there were but FOUR companies that wrote a larger amount of new insurance; in 1867, but THREE; in 1868, but two; in 1869, the Equitable's transactions were the largest, and in 1870 it still maintained its supremacy, as the table given above shows. By this time it had issued over 60,000 policies, insuring more than $250,000,000.

We are not aware whether the Equitable Life Assurance Company is represented here or not, but we would strongly recommend those desirous of working in the field of Life Assurance, to place themselves at once in communication with the home office, with the view of acting for them as agent, as there is, perhaps, no other company that could offer better inducements.

A GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

They are not a vile FANCY DRINK, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores, cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

REDUCTION OF PRICES
TO CONFORM TO
REDUCTION OF DUTIES.
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS,
BY GETTING UP CLUBS.

Send for our New Price List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers, and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 and 33 Vesey Street,
P. O. Box —— NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

THEA-NECTAR IS A PURE BLACK TEA, with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

BLOOMINGTON NURSERY, ILL.

19th Year. 600 Acres. 13 Greenhouses.

Largest Assortment—all sizes. Best Stock! Low Prices! Would you know What, When, How to Plant?

Fruit, Shade, Evergreen Trees; Root Grafts, Seedlings, Osage Plants; Apple Seed, Early Rose Potatoes; Shrubs; Roses, Greenhouse and Garden Plants, &c., &c.

FLOWER AND VEGETABLE SEEDS

Finest, Best Collection—Sorts and Quality.

Send 10 cents for New, Illustrated, Descriptive Catalogue—90 pages. Send stamp, each, for Catalogue of Seeds, with plain directions—64 pages; Bedding and Garden Plants—32 pages, and Wholesale Price List—24 pages. Address

F. K. PHOENIX, Bloomington, Illinois.

FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE

Cleans Kid Gloves and all kinds of Cloths and Clothing; removes Paint, Grease, Tar, &c., instantly, without the least injury to the finest fabric. Sold by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers. FRAGRANT SAPOLIENE CO., 33 Barclay St., New York; 46 La Salle St., Chicago.

Steel Name Stamps

For Tools, Patents, etc. E. E. PAYE, Manufac'r, Burlington, Vt. 25c per letter. Mailed on receipt of price.

CURIOSITY—$1, $2 and $5 (C) bill sent as a curiosity for 50c. H. S. JONES, Denver City, Col.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, May 4, 1871. No. 18.

Published every Thursday.

OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

One year ... $2.00
Six months ... 1.00
Three months ... [illegible]

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R.R.

ON and after Dec. 25th, 1870, trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1.30 A. M.	7.10 A. M.	10.55 A. M.	3.20 P. M.
Rochester	2.45	8.05	11.55	4.30
Alliance	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Orrville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mansfield	[illegible]	1.58 P. M.	4.45	8.32
Crestline	[illegible]	2.30	5.15	9.00
Crestline	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Forest	[illegible]	[illegible]	7.45	11.10
Lima	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft. Wayne	[illegible]	11.45	1.25 A. M.	2.45
Plymouth	4.50	[illegible]	3.57	4.57
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]	7.10	9.00

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5.50 A. M.	9.00 A. M.	5.15 P. M.	9.00 P. M.
Plymouth	[illegible]	[illegible]	9.00	12.55 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12.50 P. M.	[illegible]	11.25	3.20
Lima	[illegible]	[illegible]	1.30 A. M.	5.40
Forest	4.43	[illegible]	2.43	7.07
Crestline	6.20	[illegible]	4.20	8.50
Crestline	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Mansfield	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Orrville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Alliance	11.30	10.45	[illegible]	1.30 P. M.
Rochester	[illegible]	[illegible]	11.05	3.37
Pittsburgh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	4.40

No. [illegible], daily except Monday; Nos. 4, 5, 3, and 6 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 8 daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card takes effect on Thursday, April 13, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Express.
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 a m	7 00 a m	4 30 p m
Academie	6 19	7 45	4 49
Huntertown	6 27	[illegible]	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 33	7 55	5 05
New Era	6 44	8 27	5 15
Auburn	7 01	8 55	5 33
Waterloo	7 20	9 35	5 50
Summit	7 35	10 00	6 05
Pleasant Lake	7 47	10 27	6 17
Angola	8 02	11 05	6 33
Jonesville	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Jackson	10 50	4 45	[illegible]

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Express.
Jackson ......Leave	5 30 a m	1 00 a m	5 00 p m
Jonesville	6 35	[illegible]	6 55
Angola	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pleasant Lake	[illegible]	3 52	7 47
Summit	[illegible]	4 05	7 55
Waterloo	[illegible]	4 22	8 13
Auburn	2 43	4 38	8 35
New Era	3 10	4 55	8 55
Stoners (Gravel pit)	[illegible]	5 06	9 05
Huntertown	3 35	5 12	9 43
Academie	3 55	[illegible]	10 00
Ft. Wayne......Arr	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P., Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt.

L. C. [illegible], Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST—PACIFIC NIGHT EXPRESS.
Waterloo City 2:40 a. m.

MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Butler 12:28 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:43 p. m.; Sedan 1:54 p. m.; Corunna, 2:08 p. m.

FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.

GOING EAST—ATLANTIC EXPRESS.
Waterloo 1:12 a. m.

MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Corunna 12:40 p. m.; Sedan, 12:48 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:00 p. m.; Butler, 1:22 p. m.

FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.

The Pacific and Atlantic Expresses (at night) do not stop at Lawrence or Corunna.

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the Depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
A. M. RICHARDS, Agent, Waterloo.
R. STILES, " Butler.
C. D. COGSHILL, " Corunna.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.

AUBURN LIVERY

AND

SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having purchased everything in the line of Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc. together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times. March 16

Come and See Me!

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind. that we continue to keep on hand the finest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

ALL PERSONS

[illegible]

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices

For Cash.

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above-named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,

Auburn, April 19, '71.

John G. Fledderman

MERCHANT TAILOR

First - Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY.

No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, - - IND

F. E. Davenport,

DEALER IN

Drugs & Medicines

School Books, Stationery,

WALL PAPER,

FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.

BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.

TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.

Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.

Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.

Prescriptions carefully Compounded. fy

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DOORS, BLINDS,

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Balusters & Brackets

North of the Canal,

West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT

FITTING SHIRTS

THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF

Mens' Furnishing Goods!

IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA

SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!

CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS FORT WAYNE IND.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

—OF—

BUTLER INDIANA

Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of

HARDWARE!

Ever brought to this county—among which may be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

Chains and Belting

Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.

GEO. HENSLER.

THE BURIAL OF MOSES.

"And he buried him in a valley in the land of Moab over against Bethpeor; but no man knoweth his sepulchre unto this day.—Deut. xxxiv. 6.

By Nebo's lonely mountain,
On this side Jordan's wave,
In a vale in the land of Moab,
There lies a lonely grave,
And no man dug that sepulchre,
And no man saw it o'er,
For the angel of God unturned the sod
And laid the dead man there.

That was the grandest funeral
That ever passed on earth;
But no man heard the trampling
Or saw the train go forth.
Noiselessly as the daylight
Comes when the night is done,
And the crimson streak on ocean's cheek
Grows into the great sun;—

Noiselessly as the spring-time
Her crown of verdure weaves,
And all the trees on all the hills
Open their thousand leaves,
So, without sound of music,
Or voice of them that weep,
Silently down from the mountain crown
The great procession swept.

Perchance the bald old eagle
On gray Bethpeor's height,
Out of his rocky eyry
Looked on the wonderous sight;
Perchance the lion stalking
Still shuns that hallowed spot,
For beast and bird have seen and heard
That which man knoweth not.

But when the warrior dieth,
His comrades in the war
With arms reversed and muffled drum
Follow the funeral car.
They show the banners taken,
They tell his battles won,
And after him lead his masterless steed,
While peals the minute gun.

Amid the noblest of the land
Men lay the sage to rest,
And give the bard an honored place
With costly marble dressed;
In the great minister transept,
Where lights like glories fall,
And the choir sings and the organ rings,
Along the emblazoned wall.

This was the bravest warrior
That ever buckled sword;
This the most gifted poet
That ever breathed a word;
And never earth's philosopher
Traced with his golden pen,
On the deathless page truths half so sage
As he wrote down for men.

And had he not high honor,
The hillside for his pall;
To lie in state while angels wait
With stars for tapers tall;
And dark rock pines, like tossing plumes,
Over his bier to wave,
And God's own hand, in that lonely land,
To lay him in the grave.

In that deep grave, without a name,
Whence his uncoffined clay
Shall break again—most wonderous thought
Before the judgment day,
And stand with glory wrapped around,
On the hills he never trod,
And speak of strife that won our life
With the incarnate Son of God.

O lonely tomb in Moab's land,
O dark Bethpeor's hill,
Speak to these curious hearts of ours,
And teach them to be still.
God hath his mysteries of grace—
Ways that we cannot tell;
He hides them deep, like the secret sleep
Of him he loved so well.

A GHOST STORY.

Uncle Tony Denton was a brick. In boyish days how often did he use to come down upon us shavers, who stole his choicest melons, peaches and apples, like a thousand of brick. And I remember once I saw him with a brick of such dimensions in his hat that he fairly staggered in a vain attempt to carry it. To his credit be it said, he never tried another.

Uncle Tony believed in ghosts. He never passed a graveyard after night, without pulling his hat down over his eyes and saying his prayers. But if his horse had chanced to stumble, expletives neither choice nor elegant would have issued from his lips with equal facility. This was before he joined church, and the reason why he joined it, I am now about to tell.

Four of us—Lew Gardner, Wallace Marsden, Johnny Sweetser and your humble servant, Maurice Malcolm—learning one day that he was going to mill and would not get home before the witching hour of midnight, arranged with malice aforethought, a plan to meet him near the ancient cemetry, about two miles from his place, and have a little fun. If we had more of the article in the question than we had bargained for, it was not our fault by any means.

The night was dark as pitch—almost too dark to suit our purpose, we imagined—but at the proper hour we were on the ground arrayed in spotless white, with masks upon our faces, and a plenty of good stout rope in our hands, which we stretched across the road in successive lines, each one a little higher than the first, with the design of causing his horse to stumble, then to pick his way more slowly, and finally come to a full stop. This done, we ranged ourselves, all in a ghostly row, right at a bend in the road, a little beyond the place where our last and highest line was run across. Fate seemed propitious. About eleven o'clock the sable curtain of the night was raised a little, and shortly afterward we heard the luckless object of our sport riding slowly up the hill below the cemetery, and whistling cheerily as usual to keep his courage up. We chuckled quietly a moment, and then prepared to do our solemn part.

It was not long before he came in view, riding with his hat jammed down above his eyes, as we anticipated, and in another instant his horse got tripped upon the first rope nearly sending Uncle Tony and his grist over his head.

"Thunderation, you cussed beast! I'll be the death of you!—Now I lay me down to sleep—I pray the—"

Here the horse gave a kind of jump to clear the next rope, and Uncle Toby continued:

"What the devil ails you? I believe you are bewitched.—Lord my soul to—"

Another rope, and another stumble.

"Thunder and furies! Break your diabolical neck if you've a mind to, I don't care.—To keep. If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take."

Just as he enunciated the last word of his prayer, the horse came to the last line, and halted accordingly.

"G'long, you devilish old brute, or may I be cussed if I don't whack—O Lord, what's that?"

For he had caught sight of us at last, dead ahead of him, and seeming to block his way. He looked at us a second, and then he tried to turn his horse, his teeth chattering so we could hear them rattle a rod or more away. In the melee of trying to turn a contrary horse he tumbled off, and then of all the howls I ever heard, that which bursted upon the still night air was the most terrific. We were dying with laughter almost, when all of a sudden his words became distinguishable again.

"Lord a massy on me—if I ever live to get home alive again I'll jine the church—I'll be a deacon, and go to every prayer meeting within ten miles; Jupiter, I'll—O Heaven there's five of them, and I'm a lost sinner!"

Five of them! Our merriment ceased speedily, and when we turned and looked behind us there was another howl set up, and other teeth began to chatter worse than Uncle Tony's.

About four feet behind us stood a figure which, in our excited minds, appeared gigantic, arrayed like us in white, but unlike us its eyes were coals of fire, and from its mouth pale bluish flames seemed pouring.

Each of us gave one bound and cleared the cemetery, within whose sacred precincts we were standing, which caused our victim to set up another agonized appeal that didn't move our risibles in the least. The only avenue for our escape was in the road that he had come, and we made straight for him. He turned and fled, and then began the wildest chase that ever mortal dreamed of.

Among the ropes that we had set to snare another, went we, falling down more times than I could stop to count, plowing the gravel with our noses, and and plowing our noses into the gravel, but noses were of very small consequence just then. Our ghost was still behind us.

Before us, Uncle Tony like an avant courier was running, uttering broken sentences and fragmentary prayers, but our tongues clove to the roof of our mouths after our first yell of terror, so that our silence, ghostly though it might be, was not adhered to for effect. I think we ran a mile, when one of us ventured like Lot's wife, to look backward, but the road was clear as far back as we could see.

We halted then, and after hurriedly consulting, struck a bee line for our homes, much sadder, if not wiser youths than when we started out. Just as we reached the village, we met a man who proved to be Fred Lawton, the son of the village doctor, and one of our most intimate cronies. As he was never known to keep late hours, we asked casually where he had been.

"I went to see a little fun to-night and I saw it it too," he replied.

We saw it, too, and wore plasters on our faces for a week. As for Uncle Tony, he was "propounded" on the Sunday following, and was soon afterward a most exemplary member of the church.

We never asked him how he came to join—the subject was not popular.

Absence of Mind.

Macauley remarks that absent-mindedness is the mark of either a genius or a fool. We thing that Lord Macauley was a little on one of its sides. A man's mind may be so intensely occupied with lofty intuitions and inspirations that his senses, seemingly, are scarcely awake to the realities of the tangible world.

A certain Scottish professor was not more remarkable for his writing on political economy than for his frequent unconsciousness of what passed before him. His absence of mind was so remarkable that his wife once wagered that she would not accost him in the street, inquire after health of herself and her family, and he would not recognize her. She actually won the wager. The professor once took a solitary walk on the banks of a canal, into which, in his abstraction, he walked. When within a yard of the center an honest woman washing clothes beind him, bawled out, "Come oot, come oot' fule body, or ye'll be droon't" These warning sounds invading the tympanum of his professional ear had the effect of making him turn right about, and forthwith recover the dry land. The good woman, concluding he was an idiot, sympathetically exclaimed, "Puir body, at weel they hae muckle to answer for that lets ye gang yer lane."

A young fellow employed in a store on River street was one day sent into the cellar to draw a gallon of sperm oil. While waiting he snatched up a piece of chalk, and in a minute was absorbed in sketching the proprietor's profile. The profile on the hogshead was capital, but while the young artise was absorbed in its pursuits the oil pursued its way over the cellar floor. He was informed he would not do for a merchant, but just now he is a firstrate NewYork artist.

It is said of Sir Isaac Newton that he often forgot to eat his dinner, which his housekeeper was accustomed to leave in a closet near his study. His head was too much in the heavens to mind the earth; so a friend, knowing his peculiarity, one day slipped his dinner out of the basket and ate it up. When at last the philosopher came out and greeted his friend, he asked to be excused till he took his lunch. On looking into the basket and finding it gone, he simply exclaimed, much to his friend's amusement, "Oh, I forgot, I have eaten my dinner."

A BEGGAR woman in Chicago with a wooden leg was suspected of being a fraud, and the police arrested her and found concealed about her person a good, sound, flesh-and-blood leg, which she had hidden in order to use the wooden one to walk into the sympathies of the people. Since that the arrest every woman they see in the street who has any impediment in their gait, to see if she is a fraud. Lame women dare not go in the street without a certificate from the Mayor that they are indebted to nature for their lameness.

The Tariff Caricatured.

Allusion has already been made to a recent publication of the American Free Trade League called the "People's Pictorial Tax Payers," which is a large four page sheet with one side filled with spicy poetry and dashing paragraphs and the other with telling caricatures illustrating the working of the tariff admirably. This double broadside is calculated to furnish sensible amusement and much valuable information at the same time. Every laboring man should have copy of the Pictorial Tax-Payer, which can be procured at any leading newsroom for five cents. The best feature of the publication is the picture story, in the form of an illustrated rebus, showing how the tariff robs the farmer and every working to benefit the monopolist. The figures of all sorts of clothing and utensils, marked with the taxes levied upon each article, bring the injustice and hardship of "protection" home to the most indifferent minds.

For the benefit of those who will not be fortunate enough to see this publication, we reproduce the little story, substituting the names of the several articles for the pictures. It runs as follows: "The famer rises in the morning, puts on his flannel shirt, taxed 65 per cent.; his trousers, taxed 60 per cent.; his vest, taxed 60 per cent.; and his overcoat, the cloth of which is taxed 60 per cent., buttons 46 per cent., braid 60 per cent., padding 150 per cent.; draws on his boots, taxed 35 per cent.; puts some coal, taxed 60 per cent., in his stove, taxed 55 per cent., with pipe taxed 150 per cent., and cooking utensils taxed 40 per cent.; sits down to his breakfast from a plate taxed 45 per cent., and knife and fork taxed 35 per cent.; seasons his food with salt, taxed 108 per cent.; reads the Free Trader, the paper of which is taxed 20 per cent., ink 35 per cent., and type 25 per cent.; puts on his hat, taxed 70 per cent.; cannot smoke an Havana cigar, taxed 150 per cent.; hitches his horses, shod with nails taxed 67 per cent., to a plow taxed 45 per cent., with chains taxed 100 per cent., and harness taxed 45 per cent.; goes to the village store and buys, for his wife, one or more of these articles—a handkerchief taxed 35 per cent., a shawl taxed 200 per cent.; a silk dress taxed 60 per cent., or a woolen one taxed 100 per cent.; a pair of shoes taxed 35 per cent.; a piece of ribbon taxed 60 per cent.; some hosiery taxed 75 per cent.; a pair of gloves taxed 50 per cent.; a spool of thread taxed 70 per cent.; a paper of needles taxed 25 per cent., an umbrella taxed 60 per cent.; some rice taxed 82 per cent.; soap taxed 70 per cent.; candles taxed 40 per cent.; paint taxed 25 per cent., or starch taxed 50 per cent.; purchases some steel pens taxed 70 per cent., or books taxed 25 per cent; gets a ballot and votes under the 'old flag' taxed 100 per cent. for a Free Trade candidate for Congress. He sees his grain going East on steel rails taxed $3,000 a mile, in iron cars taxed 50 per cent, drawn by a locomotive taxed 45 per cent.; he takes a last look at his tools taxed from 35 to 150 per cent The poor man, sick to death, retires to his bed-room, the carpet of which is taxed 80 per cent, wall-paper 35 per cent., curtains 80 per cent., shade 35 per cent., window-glass 55 per cent., lies upon his bed made of wood taxed 20 per cent., draws over him a sheet taxed 55 per cent, and this is his end; his fate is recorded on marble taxed 70 per cent., and he goes where there are No Tariffs." Upon his tombstone is found this epitaph: "Here lies the American Farmer, Taxed to Death by Monopolists."

This is a truthful illustration of the case of the farmer, but it is equally true that all workingmen are paying these enormous taxes every day of their lives, on every tool they use and everything the eat, or wear.

A LOVE LETTER.—We publish the following original epistle, verbatim et literatim, et punctuatum, et spellatum. It is from a fifteen months widower to a maiden lady of an uncertain age, and was handed to us in the original manuscript by a friend on yesterday morning. It will explain itself:

Mar. 3rd 1869.

Dear Friend. I take up my Pencil to informe you, that I am harty But have A very week back, I hope theas few lines will find you In good health; Miss marie Brown you and Me is church members I intend to speak to you very plane for, that is my Name for I ame no thaf no liar no drunkard Nor Chew tobacco you now My Wife is Ded 15 months and I have Bean paying Boarding one year and it don't pay when I have a small farm and Bureau full of Clean clothes and cubboard full of Dishes and beads to keep clean and garden to work which is work For Woman or wife. I am a great hand for A good garden & can hoe Cabbage I can have a garden 3 feet Deep that never wants work. I think thear will Be A good crop of appeals hear this Year for we hardly ever Miss; Mrs Higginson is a smart woman to work in the garden and can do eny kind of work a good seamster. If she had no man I would like to have her for a wife. But I suppose she will go away, they 13 of April next and I must look for another one; You will please look at 1 Corinthians they 7 Chapter, I would like to talk with you Very much on Matters in the Bible; let us not set our Harts on gold or silver & forget our immortal souls. You know women Is plenty But they are most All Counterfits, not good house-keepers loves to tell lies and get drunk and serve the Devil You know what the Old Books says About liars and Drunkards. I will perhaps tire you with this letter No more a present But your old Friend.

JOHN SYLVESTER.

Counterfeit "twos" are in circulation in Laporte.

How an American Girl Saw the Royal Wedding.

Caroline Hastings is an American girl, and she writes from London to the Sun to tell how she saw the royal wedding, and what a jolly thing it was. She didn't have an invitation, but she set her Yankee wits to work and got along just as well as if she had a dozen of them. 'Of course,' she says, 'I must go a alone, and I dared not speak of it except to mama's maid a quick witted French girl, who was delighted at my counsel, and did her best to help me carry it out. We arose very early that morning, and Marrie dressed me in my lovely new rose colored silk, with [illegible] trimmed with point. I helped myself to mama's great solitaries and locket. Marie did wonders with my long blonde hair, and if I do say it, who shouldn't say it, I looked as well, and was dressed as well, as the average young ladies I saw on that eventful day. I hesitated whether to wear the pink, or the lovely white silk with silver stars, and pale blue velvet over-dress, with my pearls, but feared the latter might by trying in broad daylight, for even in smoky London the sun shone out in an unusual manner for grand occasion. Suffice to say that when I stepped into the handsomest carriage that Marrie could procure, (for papa left me plenty of money to have a good time while he was away, little thinking where I should bring up), I was entirely satisfied with my appearance; and mama had gone, she would have looked forty times better than the queen in her black satin dress and her bare neck and arms." Now that is nearly as good as the World's $10,000 worth of cable dispatches. Caroline, however, proceeds:

We went early to Windsor; my carriage fell into line. The guide eyed me rather sharply as we passed the gates, but seeing a sprightly blond in pink silk, point lace and diamonds, with a modest looking maid in attendance, bowed and suffered us to pass on. It was past their comprehension that a young girl, attended by a single servant woman, without an invitation, would dare to enter that sacred enclosure. I now began to feel fearfully nervous, as I had not formed the last plan for carrying out my bold designs, when, just as I alighted, a party of gentlemen of the clan Campbell were passing and with my most winning smile—and you know I can smile—I addressed one of them, a pleasant, green-looking Highlander, in full uniform, saying;

"Excuse me, sir, but I am seperated from my party, and would like an escort into the chapel."

"Certainly," said the good-natured fellow, and gave me his arm. "Your name, me lady?" said the Scot.

"Lady Constance Percy," saidI un blushingly.

"O, yes! of the Duchess' family;" and nothing could exceed his polite, respectful manner.

How she got out:

As the retinue left the chapel, I knew my time had come to escape before I was detected. So I gave a scream of delight and sprang away from my Highlander (whom I hope to meet again and thank for his courtesy) I exclamed: "Why there's my father! Excuse me, a thousand thanks," and gathering up my train, I went pell-mell, between lords and ladies, peer and duchesses, regardless of their astonishment and despite all the proprieties of the occasion, and remember nothing more till Marie seized me, hustled me into the carriage, more dead than alive, pulled down the blind, drew out a bottle of wine, and held me in her faithful arms to our lodgings; and now I cannot express my delight at my uccess in witnessing the royal marrage.

THE WHIPPING POST.

A correspondent writing from Hamilton, Canada, gives the following account of the flogging of two boys in the Court House of that city, on Thursday last:

The sentence of the Court upon the two boys, John Collins and Sylvester Glue alias Canal, convicted of indecent assault, was carried out at the Court House at three o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of the Sheriff, jail surgeon, jailor, representatives of press, and other officials of the jail. At three o'clock the boys were brought out of their cells, half dead with fright at the terrible punishment which awaited them, and both crying bitterly. The surgeon made an examination as to the two boys, and pronounced them as in a fit state to receive the sentence of the law. They were then escorted to the wood-shed on the west side of the Court House, where a rack had been previously arranged.

This Sylvester Glue, alias Sylvester Canal, was first strapped, after having been stripped, to the waist. He stood with his face to the rack, hands and feet extended toward either side, and supported in front by his clothes, to prevent too severe friction to that part of his chest which would otherwise come in the contact with the rough rack. On his left hand side stood the party selected to administer the whipping, having in his hand a savage-looking affair, in the shape of a huge "cat," the handle of which was of oak about a foot in length, to which was attached nine stout leathern thongs. The larger boy John Collins, was so placed that he could obtain a full view of the punishment to which he was shortly to submit. Every thing being in readiness, the signal for the commencement of the flagellation was given by the Sheriff and, baring his arm to the elbow, the whipper began his work.

Twenty lashes, according to the sentence of the magistrate, were to be administered to both lads. Swinging the "cat" in a [illegible] manner, [illegible] the lashes descended with [illegible] rapidity upon the bare back of the terrified lad, cutting through the flesh and covering the body with blood and gore. Another blow descended, followed with more ashes and blisters and more blood, and then another and another, until the hearts of the spectators turn sick at the horrible spectacle. During this terrible ordeal the boy rent the air with his screams, and imploring of "Oh! mother!" "Doctor, oh! doctor!" and Oh! you are killing me! you are killing me!" The lashes were counted by the Sheriff as they were given, and at the conclusion of the whipping the boy was released, and the latter boy John Collins, was stripped to the frame for the purpose of taking his turn at the lash.

This boy, if anything, took it harder than the little fellow. He writhed fearfully under each successive stroke, [illegible] upon the head of the wielder of the lash, and beseeching him to "wait a minute." The effect of the lashes was as apparent in this case as in the other, and when at the conclusion of the punishment he was released, his back was seamed and gashed as if by the knife of the savage, while huge welts or blisters were visible on various parts of the back, shoulders and sides. As soon as the whipping ceased, his crying changed to moaning. The boys were then ordered to their cells, and the attention to be immediately applied. They will be dismissed from custody as soon as they are in a fit condition. This is the first case of lashing under the new law in this city, and we entertain no doubt that the effect will be most wholesome as a future preventive of juvenile crime hear.

Items of Interest.

True happiness is of a retired nature, and an enemy to pomp and noise.

Believe but half the ill, and credit twice the good, said of your neighbor.

There is a man in Henry County who has discovered a sure plan for exterminating snakes. He bites off their heads.

Robert Woods died at his residence, near Salem, last week. He was the oldest man in Washington county, having been born in 1776.

The School Board of Evansville have determined to erect two new and spacious school houses.

He who receives a good turn should never forget it; he who does one should never remember it.

Many persons have quickness to discover their faults who have not energy enough to eradicate them.

A Daughter of William Crapp, of Tyner City, was burned to death a few days ago, by the explosion of a can of kerosene. She was, of course, trying to kindle the fire.

The Attica Ledger records a "Romance on Cole Creek," the gist of which is that a young school teacher named Fowler, ran away with and married one of his pupils, a Miss Rowland, aged fourteen.

An old and respected citizen of Logansport, named Slater, was inveigled from his house on Thurday night by some persons unknown, murdered, and robbed of $1,100. There is no clue to the murderers.

The first Methodist sermon ever delivered in Huntington county, was delivered by Rev E. Holstock, thirty-one years ago last May Mr. Holstock was present at the conference just closed in Huntington.

At Mechanicsburg, on Friday of last week A. T. Kinder, an employe in a saw mill, crawled beneath a revolving circular saw to remove some obstruction from the carriage He received three bad cuts—one in the head, another through the forehead and cheek, and the third through the chin. He was alive at last accounts.

An Illinois druggist sold a rural gentleman one of those soap potatoes, and he took it home to plant. It smelled so good he and his wife cooked it, and found out "how the old thing worked." That's all they know about farming out there.

A Utica man, whose wife having undertaken to hang herself was cut down by the neighbors, is very much incensed thereat, and "thinks that folks had better stay at home and not meddle with other people' family affairs."

A San Francisco wife petitioned for divorce on the ground that her husband was a "confounded fool." The judge would not admit the plea, holding that he was free to confess that every man who got married was open to just such a charge.

So great is the number of interesting fossils on the Pampas, or vast plains of the South American continent, that Darwin has expressed the opinion that any line wherever drawn across these tracts would probably cross the skeleton of some extinct animal.

A Philadelphia paper says:—"After paying their board bills, our lady teachers have $30 a year to dress with. They manage to dress very neatly." The information would be of more value if it let other ladies into the secret of dressing so neatly on so small a revenue.

A young woman in a Connecticut button factory got her hair caught in the machinery the other day and pulled off scalp and all. The doctor has replaced it, and consoles her with the assurance that even if it don't grow fast it will make the most natural looking wig in the State.

"I don't wonder," says a strong minded Sorosister, "that when God made Adam, He went right to work and made a woman to tell him what to do." And the first thing she told him was to eat that infernal apple.

A Maine father has sued a son in law for lunches, horse food, and things furnished while he was courting his girl. He has brought in a counter claim, charging his father in law with meals furnished since the wedding, while the old man was visiting.

There is a man in a Florida, who, since the war has walked all over Europe, Central America, Mexico and every State and Territory in these United States—in all 31,388 miles. He proposes to continue his perambulations until he has walked 35,000 miles.

[illegible]

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents per line each additional insertion.

A writer from Western Indiana says that there is an increased acreage of wheat in that part of the State this year, and scarcely a field can be found where the ground is not covered and in many instances half a leg high, and if nothing befalls it between now and harvest time a large crop will certainly be the result.

There is a graveyard in Massachusetts in which are buried nine brothers, all of whom had arrived at man's estate, the oldest being seventy-nine, and the youngest twenty-eight years old, all but one leaving a family.—What renders it more [illegible]

An Elmira farmer wrote Mr. Greeley for his experience in raising geese for market. Horace said there was no trouble at all about it, if the goslings were not weaned too young. He says they should be allowed to run with the old cow and suck until their horns get out an inch or two, when they will be hardy enough to pack and salt down for market.

Ben Wade positively declines the Radical nomination for Governor of Ohio, and recommends Mr. Daniel Caldwell, of Ashtabula county. The "bluff old war-horse," from a Radical stand-point, has Ben. Wade often enough, and does not desire to be found wanting in a contest in Ohio next fall.—Sensible if he is profane.

A gentleman, deeply versed in the history of Faro and other ancient Egyptian lore, is going for that young lady in Troy who has earned $2,300 in the last two years with a sewing machine. He possesses a [illegible] waist-coat, a stunning neck-tie, striped [illegible]ers of the loudest pattern, and a dollar-store seal-ring the size of a brickbat. All that he needs to secure entire beatitude is an industrious wife who would esteem his ornamental qualities a fair equivalent for his board.

Salt-eaters will be interested, if not gratified, by the information that the Onondaga Salt Company, the Ohio river companies including the Kanawha, and the Saginaw and Bay Salt Company, of Michigan, have formed an organization or monopoly which expects to control the production and sale of salt throughout the United States. The next move will probably be to buy up Great Salt Lake and the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and then the monopolists will have a "dead sure thing," on the market.

A party of children, while searching for eggs in the barn of Daniel [illegible], near St. Joseph, last Sunday afternoon, found the dead body of a man lying in one of the lofts. It was identified as that of a butcher named John G. Murphy. It is surmised that he is the person who broke into a saloon on Saturday evening, the 1st instant, and stole a demijohn of gin, as one nearly empty was found by the corpse, answering to the description of the missing one. He had evidently gone into the barn that night and remained there ever since, without food His body was in a fearful emaciated condition.

On a rainy winter evening a gentleman traveling in a hack, found on nearing his destination, that he had no money with him so thinking he would try the honesty of the driver, he called out as he ran up the steps: "Wait a minute—I have dropped a ten dollar bill in the coach, and I must obtain a light and search for it." The words were hardly uttered when the Jehu gave the horses a furious lash and drove off at a violent rate. The man, heartily amused at the result, called after him repeatedly, but never saw hack or driver again.

The following conversation between two youngsters on their way to Sunday-school was recently overheard. Charley—Do you like that new fellow who teaches our class? Harry—No; do you? He's a gay rooster, ain't he? Parts his hair in the middle and wears eye-glasses. Charley—He's a sport, I believe; too fancy to be a Sunday-school teacher. Harry—Did you see how he looked at the big girls last Sunday? Charley Yes. He wears big jewelry and diamonds, too; that gets them. Harry—I saw him at the corner of Sixth street and the avenue yesterday; wonder if he learns Scripture there? Charley—Ah, that's nothing; lots of fellows loaf there who say long prayers on Sunday. Harry—That's so; but let's watch the fellow and see what he does do, anyway. Charley—All right; I don't go to Sunday-school to any such fancy duck unless I known he's all right.

County Papers.

The importance of papers to the village or county where published cannot be estimated. The home news is something that people cannot dispense with and which they cannot buy elsewhere. An exchange thus fairly presents the question:

"For various reasons the large cities can send out their news at quite as low prices. Families can be furnished with a knowledge of all the world for two dollars a year and postage. But there is something they cannot buy in New York or Boston—and local matter out of which home interest and enterprise grows; it is the local newspaper which gets at the knowledge of particular necessities, to the value of individual persons and means.

All the improvements begin in our small centers—become important forces by application, and of public value by the fostering care and stimulation of the local press in such an individual power as cannot be easily swung into line to the help of selfish outside purposes. A town's interest are all closely interwoven with those of these home organs of individual expressions and country enterprise. Persons that neglect these for the large bids of city dailies are like the housewife who neglects her own fireside for the cares of other people.

Little local noises deaden the loudest distant ones; and so it is that this world shuts out from the ears of man, as it does, the voice of Almighty God.

Auditors Office

Auburn Courier.

AUBURN IND........MAY. 4, 1871

THE N. Y. Tribune has sent a special Ku-Klux writer on a tour down through the Southern States. He is evidently getting at the facts. His last letter reported the fact that in North Carolina the negroes disguised themselves and perpetrated hideous Ku-Klux outrages, and in reviewing a recent difficulty between some negro militia and the citizens, he distinctly notes that the said negro militia attacked and then fired upon the citizens. The negroes then fled, and were very properly and naturally pursued. The only blame charged by the Tribune correspondent is upon the white citizens. He is of the opinion that they should have given no heed to the attack of the negro militia, as it was, undoubtedly, a little attempt at amusement!

ACCORDING to a Washington telegram to the Springfield Republican, Grant still clings to San Domingo. It is said that several Republicans who saw him previous to his leaving for the West, and talked with him about San Domingo, assert that he is more sanguine of success than ever before. He told one of these gentleman that in his opinion, the report of the Commissioners would convert the country to annexation. He said that he should never again urge Congress to take action on the subject but expected leading Senators to take the initiative

THE Radical newspapers are going into the Southern outrage business just now with great avidity, as a means for justifying the passage of the odious Ku-Klux bill. The device is equally stale and transparent, and will not succeed.

THE RADICAL SPLIT.

So full of misgiving have become affairs in the Radical party, that President Grant finds it necessary to "swing 'round the circle," to stir up enthusiasm and renew the old fires of personal friendship. This has been deemed a positive, business necessity, by the President and Senator Morton, his man Friday. But, this, will not bring the discordant elements together. The disposition of Senator Sumner from the chairmanship of Foreign Affairs is a blow at that distinguished Radical which neither he nor his friends can help resenting, nor will any amount of junketing through the country heal the wound inflicted. The force which Mr. Sumner rallies to his support is not only large but eminently respectable in point of strength and intellect. With such men as Wilson, of Massachusetts, Trumbull, of Illinois, Schurz, of Missouri—men of great note—leaders of their party in different sections of the country—eloquent of speech, and bold enough to utter their opinions;—with such champions as these, Mr. Sumner can well afford a contest with the President, notwithstanding he is backed by all the Federal patronage and clouds of office-seekers.

There are, of course, a majority of Radical newspaper at the President's back—but with all these truckling, fawning shoots to abuse and villify Sumner, the odds are not feasful. In the West, the three great organs of the Radical party—the Cincinnati Commercial, St. Louis Democrat, and Chicago Tribune—stand bravely by the persecuted Senator, and pour out their vials of wrath on the administration. In the East, the New York Sun does battle for the Massachusetts Senator; and even the Tribune is discreetly silent, with strong symptoms of demoralization, in the fact that H. G. has, within a fews days refused to take part in the city of New York. There is, then, no denying that the Republican party is divided into two hostile factions; so irretrievably at difference, that no political management can well bring them together. Gen. Grant is, as his appearance at Indianapolis the other day fully determines, fighting in his old, dogged, persistent way, for renomination. His heart is set upon this, and he will spare nothing to accomplish the end.

THE new political departure initiated at Cincinnati has been followed by a similar movement at St. Louis. A number of gentlemen, styling themselves liberal Republicans, have issued an address and declaration of principles. Their platform shows them to be at war with the whole policy of the Grant administration. It condemns the prospective legislation of Congress and the purpose of the Radicals to establish a dictatorship, and declares the use of the navy in the San Domingo affair an unwarranted usurpation, opposes a protective tariff and advocates civil service reform. Altogether they have no common ground with the controlling portion of the Radical paty, and offer the liberal Republicans a very fair Democratic platform.

A PRETTY well authenticated report is in circulation that Ex-Senator Revels is willing to run for the Vice-Presidency on the ticket with Gen. Grant. For the benefit of the negro race we hope the report will prove devoid of truthful foundation. Revels is looked upon as a creditable representative of his race, and it would be sad to see him make a descent that would forever destroy his reputation.

THE Louisville Commercial gives it as its opinion that Indiana will be the battleground of the next campaign. The opinion seems to be well founded, from present appearances, and it behooves the Democracy to govern themselves accordingly. We want to win, and certainly can win, if we only act judiciously. With Hendricks for President and DePauw for Governor, victory will be assured.

The Spring Elections.

FT. WAYNE ALL O K.

The Democratic Ticket Elected by a Large Majority.

AUBURN for THE ADMINISTRATION BY 16 VOTES.

ELKHART DEMOCRATIC BY 200.

Waterloo Votes in Favor of a New School House.

The election last Tuesday at Fort Wayne resulted in a glorious victory for the Democracy. Two years ago Randall, Democrat, was elected by 35 over the regular Republican Ticket. This year he receives the handsome majority of 757 over a so-called People's Ticket. Last fall the Republicans tried this dodge with partial success, and they determined to try it again. But they did not win, not much. They couldn't hoodwink the people any longer. The glorious work of reconstruction has now "set in." We are glad to see that the Democracy there has follow our advice. Samivel, shake.

Auburn lacks reconstruction to the tune of about 16, that's all. Our Republican friends have evinced a partisan spirit too deep for remark. Henceforth the Democracy will meet them half way, and develope their full strength. Sufficient Democratic votes remained away to have carried the election in our favor.

Elkhart elects the whole Democratic ticket by about two hundred majority, a political feat never dreamed of before in that city.

The election at Waterloo was not for party, but for a new school house. The following ticket was elected by about 75 majority, in favor of the project:

Clerk, W. H. Sudlow; Treas., G. W. Trout; Assessor, A. B. Duncan; Marshal John Peterman; Trustees, Geo. Shoner, James Bowman, Henry Willis, C. A. O. McClellan, T. R Dickinson.

Gen. Sherman on the Situation.

The arrival of General Sherman at Memphis a few days ago, of course, created a stir among the Federal officers, civil and military, and set the Radical politicians to thinking of how they migh individually and collectively make some capital out of his visit. It was arranged that the American Union Club should tender him a reception, with toasts, music, speeches and all the usual incidentals. The General, when advised of the fact and invited to the affair, inquired pointedly if the club was a political one, intimating that if it was he would prefer to be excused. He was informed that it was not political in its character, but a social organization of gentlemen, many of whom were ex-officers and soldiers of the Union army. Upon this assurance he accepted the invitation, and on Thursday evening the reception took place at the rooms of the club, No. 13 St. Charles street. The fact is that the club is composed chiefly of the ultra Radical politicians of large expectations and correspondingly small intellectual force.

The toasts and speeches were what might be expected of such an organization, on such an occasion, with the exception of the General's remarks, which fell like a wet blanket on the spirits of the manipulators. He declined several times to speak, and at length very reluctantly responded. It was very evident that he did not want to speak, but "Sherman," "Sherman," resounded again and again over the room, and finally, after begging repeatedly to be excused, he responded substantially as follows:

"I believe this Government will keep on growing until it spreads itself over the entire American continent; but in order to gain this much desired end, and to maintain ourselves as a free and independent republic, we have got to show more charity towards each other. It has been remarked by some gentleman who has preceded me, that it was generally conceded by the soldiers of both armies at the close of the late civil war, that if the questions and all matters of the settlement of the differences between the North and the South, were left to the armies it would be settled at once, and everything would be quiet and orderly. I so believed, and before signing the agreement with General Joe Johnson I called together all the Generals under my command, and without a dissenting voice they agreed with me. I believed they surrendered in good faith, and would have lived up to the very letter of the agreement, and in my opinion if there had been no reconstruction acts of Congress, and the armies been left at the time to settle all questions of difference between the different sections of the country, the people would have at once become quiet and peaceable. I probably have as good means of information as most persons in regard to what is called the Ku-Klux, and am perfectly satisfied that the thing is greatly over-estimated; and if the Ku-Klux bills were put out of Congress, and the army kept at their legitimate duties, there are enough good and true men in all Southern States to put down all Ku-Klux or other bands of mauraders.

In private conversation he was even more emphatic and unreserved. Speaking of the San Domingo scheme he said to me:

"We have territory enough, more than we have use for. We can hire a coaling station in the West Indies for $3,000 a year, and we had better do that."

Mr. Colfax wants to commune with nature—to hunt mushrooms in the cow-pasture—to sit on the doorstep of his rural home, with a ten-cent cigar in his mouth, and listen to the sweet, sad complaining of the katydids in his apple orchard; to raise his own radishes and garden sass; to have a baby in the cradle, a cat on the hearth, a dog on the porch, and a rooster on the roof. Why can't they let him alone? They ought to know that he has retired, for he had it extensively published in the newspapers."

The Republicans of Lafayette are charged with importing voters for the Corporation election.

Great fears are entertained in all parts of the State that the Colorado bug will be troublesome this season.

CRIME.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A general order of March 25th of the Secretary of the Navy, reviewing the decision in the court-martial in the case of paymaster Lockwood and others for scandalous misdemeanors and embezzlement, sets aside the sentence, so far as it relates to the fine and imprisonment, because there was no law for the execution of such a sentence. Lockwood, who defrauded the government out of $40,000 is therefore set at liberty and merely dismissed from the service. The course in the same order is pursued in the case of paymaster Girard, Marcy, and Washington, each of whom were both sentenced to both fines and imprisonment. These paymasters were the cause of a loss to the government in embezzlement or other misdemeanors to about $360,000.

HORRIBLE MURDER.

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The Moberly Monitor says that some of the particulars of the horrible murder in that vicinity is being brought to light. It appears that two travelers passed through Middle Grove, Monroe county, last January, and it is supposed that about three miles east of that place one of them murdered the other for his property and burned up his body in his camp fire, small piece of bone having been found in the remains of the fire. The property of one of the men, who lived near Chicago, has been found the possession of a man in Indiana, who was in company with him at the Grove, and a requisition from Gov. Brown on Gov. Baker, of Indiana has gone on for him, and he will be brought to Monroe county.

HORRIBLE SUICIDE.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 1.—This morning, about 9 o'clock, a gentleman, stopping at the Palmer House, who registered his name as S. A. Stricklen, of Tennessee, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. The man was a stranger here.

AND STILL ANOTHER MURDER.

MILWAUKEE, May 1.—The young man, Charles M'Kenzie, reported killed by a train near Waurratosa, appears to have been murdered by the inmates of the Hyde Parke House, a place of prostitution and the body laid near the track as a deception. The guilty ones have been arrested.

THE LOGANSPORT MURDERS.

LOGANSPORT, IND., May 2.—Two young men named Jerome Brooks and Charles Carr, have made a full confession of the murder and robbery of Slater at this place on April 20th. They are now in jail.

FEARFUL TRAGEDY AT WAYNESBURG.

CANTON, O., May 1.—Mr. Teples, of Sparta, met Mr. Williams in Waynesburg on Saturday, and shot at him twice, hitting him first in the shoulder, and next grazing his left side. Williams is a vere respectable farmer, and is between 65 and 70 years old. He is lying very low There is but few chances for his recovery. The trouble was caused by Mr. Williams accusing Teples of stealing half a keg of nails. Teples is now out on bail.

TEMPORARY INSANITY.

CRESTLINE, O., May 1.—Abraham Holmes, respectable farmer, living about three miles north of Crestline, while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity, on Saturday evening, between 9 and 10 o'clock, assaulted his wife with a knife and small club, inflecting such serious injuries about the head and arms that her life is despaired of.

Peter Deenam, Decatur county, is 77 years old and weighs only 32 pounds.

A school teacher in Fountain county last week eloped with one of his pupils.

Allen county has a band of Regulators.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL PURELY DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA EUREKA VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

☞SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Mr. James Pyatt, of Clinton county, is probably the oldest soldier in the State.

Twelve hundred persons have availed themselves of the bankrupt act in this State.

A mass temperance convention is to be held at Fort Wayne, sometime this month.

A "Moral and Social Union," with a ten pin Alley attached, has been established at Vincennes.

Hamilton county has six lodges of Masons, three lodges of Odd Fellows, and one of colored Masons.

Hon. Isaac Jenkinson, formerly of Ft. Wayne, U. S. Consul at Glasgow, Scotland, is expected home in June.

A man in Terre Haute tried to establish a good character by producing a certificate of honorable discharge from the Pententiary.

Laporte put up nearly 20,000 tons of ice last winter.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the Estate of Joseph Penny, late of said county deceased. Said Estate is supposed to be solvent.

JAMES S. PENNY, Adm'r.

April 26, 1871.

Application for License.

NOTICE is hereby given to the citizens of Wilmington Township, DeKalb County Indiana, that I will make application to the Board of Commissioners, of said county, at their June session 1871, for license to retail intoxicating liquors in a less quantity than a quart and with the privilege of having the same on the following premises, viz: the east forty feet of Lot No. 60 in Egnew's addition to the town of Butler in said county.

April 27th 1871. WM. H. WILSEY.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that William L. Blair Administrator of the Estate of Fannie Hoover, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas.

J. R. LANNING Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

J. E. ROSE, Att'y.

April 28th, 1871.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that Peleg Hull, Administrator of the Estate of Amos Hull, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Comon Pleas.

J. R. LANNING Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

J. E. ROSE, Att'y.

April 28th 1871.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

It contains over 100 fine engravings of Battle Scenes and incidents in the war, and is the only Authentic and official history of that great conflict.

Caution Inferior histories are being circulated. See that the books you buy contains 100 fine engravings and maps. Send for circulars & see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address, National Publishing Co., Chicago Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Louis, Mo.

Scripture and Science have met together
Genesis and Geology have kissed each other.

SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

A book of thrilling interest and greatest importance to every human being. The papers, Pulpits and people are all discussing the subject and book, every man woman and child wants to read it. The long fierce war is ended, and honorable peace secured, Science is true; the Bible literal, pure and beautiful, both now satisfied and firm friends. God's work days, six actual days, not long periods. This book gives the very cream of science, making its thrilling realities, beauties, wonders and sparkling gems a hundred fold more interesting than fiction. AGENTS WANTED. Experienced Agents will drop other books and secure territory immediately. Address for circular.

ZIEGLER & McCRDY, 130 Race St., Cincinnati, O.

COUGH! COUGH! COUGH

Why will you Cough when you can be so easily relieved by using

Dr. Wells' Carbolic Tablets?

They are sure cure for sore throat, cold, hoarseness, Catarrh and all diseases of the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes.

From the great number of Testimonials as to the efficiency of this invaluable medicine the following is selected.

47 Wabpansch Ave., Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14 1871.

"For the last ten years I have been a great sufferer "from frequent attacks of Acute Bronchitis, and have "never found anything to relieve me from these at-"tacks until I tried D. Well' Carbolic Tablets."

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets. JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent. Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

AGENTS MALE & FEMALE { For fast selling popular subscription Books. Extra inducements to Agents. Information free. Address Am. Book Co, 62 William St. N. Y.

5 TO $20 DAY!

Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to sell our new 7 stand White Wire Clothes Lines to last for ever. Dont miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Mills, 75 Wm. St., N. Y, or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs

☞Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and renumerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.

31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abscesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called.

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Read "Convent Life Unveiled." By Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling & startling. Price $150, Con. Pub. Co., Hartford, Ct.

WATCH free, and $30 a day sure, no humbug. Address with stamp, LATTA & Co., Pittsburgh Pa.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. Any one can use it. One sent by mail for $1. Address MAGIC COMB CO Springfield, Mass.

$10 MADE FROM 50 CENTS

Something urgently needed by everybody. Call and see; or 12 samples sent (postage paid) for 50 cents that retail easily for $10. R. L. WOLCOTT, 181 Chatham Sq., N. Y.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that William Loudy, Administrator of the estate of Hugh Brown, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk D. C.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that George H. Hoffman Administrator of the estate of Richard G. Sithens, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office and that the same will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk D. C.

May 3, 1871. D. D. MOODY, atty.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that Andrew Daily, Administrator of the estate of David Klink, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which report will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk D. C.

May 3, 1871. GUY PLUM, atty for estate.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that John A. Campbell Administrator of the Estate of William F. Campbell, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas.

J. R. LANNING Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court

J. E. Rose, Att'y.

April 29th 1871

Estray Notice.

TAKEN up lately by the subscriber, at his residence near Spencerville, DeKalb County, Indiana as an Estray, the following decribed mare to-wit: "She is a dark bay, over medium size, three years old, with some white hairs on fore head, white pastern on the left hind leg, white on the right hind foot, with no marks or brands.

Attest J. R. LANNING Clerk

April 29, 1871.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Washington R. Langley is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of six hundred and fifty four dollars and eighty one cents with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment interest and costs I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.

L. CHIDSEY, Dep'y.

Auburn, Ind., April 26, A. D 1871.

$8.25.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Levi W. Bates is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of eleven hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty-two cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12,] East, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.

L. CHIDSEY, Dep'y.

Auburn, Ind., April 26th, A. D. 1871.

$7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Executi on to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein Gilman Duboice and others are Plaintiffs and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants, required me to make the sum of Twenty-one hundred and sixteen dollars and twenty one cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] east, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.

L. CHIDSEY, Dep'y.

Auburn, Indiana, April 26, A. D. 1871.

$7.50.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.

John L. Short, }
vs. } Complaint No. 64.
E. W. Shepard. }

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. Shepard, whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.—Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,

BUILDING CONTRACTORS!

AND DEALERS IN

BUILDING STONE

OF EVERY VARIETY

MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES

IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.

MANTELS

IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE

MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron

MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
MARBLE SLATE and
SANDSTONE, HEARTHS.
SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.

TERRA COTTA WORK,

Vases, Chimney Tops

STONE WATER TABLES,

Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,

SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,

Cement Plaster, &c

Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workmen only employed.

SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

F. M. BIDDLE,

DRUGGIST,

AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.

No. 6, Keystone Block

Fort Wayne Indiana.

THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.

Call and see them.

F. M. BIDDLE.

April 29, '70. 1 y

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, he advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

We desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. e buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 sents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin. 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20, cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25, 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, lacec laces in great varitey, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 28, '71.

Brahma Pootra

Eggs & Male Birds

FOR SALE!

From fine care premium stock.—Warranted pure, $1,00 per dozen.

Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries,

Provisins,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices, low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Root & Company

IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

Popular Dry Goods House

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do them selves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Colleed Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS!

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS.

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated

JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phœnix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTZ

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need,

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account come and settle, as he is determined to collect out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.

Feb. 21 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. H. McINTOSH.

Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

THE local of the Fort Wayne Gazette smokes. So does Grant.

A MAN by the name of Stock was killed near [illegible] last week while moving a building.

A REFRESHING rain fell in copious showers yesterday, and gratified the wishes of everybody.

A GAME of base ball between the Forest City Club, of Cleveland, and the Kekiongas takes place at Fort Wayne to-day.

TOM TAYLOR, of the Fort Wayne Journal, has been traveling with Grant. We always knew Tom had a penchant for the show business.

IF you want a box of that splendid French blacking go to Hare's shoe store. This is the best in use, and he has just received a large supply.

Dr. David Coover mistakenly took an over dose of chloral, to show his wife that it was not a dangerous thing. She is now a widow.

SUICIDE.—We learn that a man named John Nimmons who resided in the east part of the county, committed suicide by shooting himself in the breast with a pistol. Insanity is assigned as the cause.

JIM FISK, of Erie notoriety, is euphonious ly dubbed, Col. Admiral Romeo Achilles Fisk—Prince of Erie and Protector of the Fairy Queen of the Sub-marine Grotto of Gleaming Delights.

T. M. BIDDE, at Fort Wayne, has the only silver medal, for the best white lead in the country. He also keeps an excellent assortment of drugs, medicines, &c., at whole sale and retail. See card.

PURE WINES.—Our enterprising druggist F. E. Davenport, has just received a quality of wine which for medicinal purposes cannot be excelled. It is warranted six years old, and is made from the pure juice.

PIEHR BROS., at Fort Wayne, appear thi week in a new advertisement. They make a specialty in millinery goods, of which they have a large and extensive variety and we assure our readers that they will secure good bargains by giving them a call.

A Massachusetts man dreamed that his child would be scalded to death. He took every precaution against such a catastrophe but precisely five weeks and two days after the dream the little boy was ran over by a wagon and escaped uninjured.

S. W. RALSTON has just received a large invoice of new goods, from New York—goods that he purchased himself at cash prices, and they are now displayed to his many patrons with pleasure. Call and examine the new stock.

BURLINGTON ROUTE.—We are in receipt of a handsome map, of this popular route, and find it more extended, the accommodations more agreeable and the time better than any other route west. Don't fail to obtain your tickets west, via Burlington Route.

BASE BALL.—The great game of base ball occurs to-day, at Fort Wayne, between the Forest City Club, of Cleveland, and the Ke-Kiongas. It will be an interesting affair and many of our citizens will no boubt witness it.

GLASSWARE AT AUCTION.—A large consignment of Glassware and Crockey will be sold at auction, at the room oposite the Rainier House, commencing next Saturday, May 6th. Those wanting bargains should not fail to attend.

WE are glad to know that an "unforseen circumstance" will prevent Mrs. Emma Molloy, the editress of the South Bend Union, from going on the excursion in June, this year, as was the case last year.—Goshen Times.

THE Pioneer Hardware Store is doing a good business. Mr. Davis is a business man, and knows how a first-class hardware store should be conducted. His display of agricultural implements is very fine, and we doubt not as good a selection can be made here as in Fort Wayne.

THE Angola Republican thinks our county will stick when $75.000 is ask for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. We'll romise one hundred better, and see Steuben everytime. But there's no fear of Steuben ever being asked to help build that road through her county.

We copy from an exchange the following: Black-eyed ladies are said to be most apt to be passionate and jealous. Blue-eyed—slothful, truthful, affectionate and confiding.—Grey-eyed—philosophical, literary, resolute and cold hearted. Hazel-eyed—quick-tempered and fickle.

AT a menagerie in Indianapolis a small lioness escaped from her cage, and the chief of Police went to the top of the centerpole in five seconds. He is now reported as saying that he went up there just for fun, to decide a bet. Besides that, he says that he did'nt know the lioness was out of her cage, and he didn't go up the pole anyway.

SOME incorrigible old bachelor cases himself off in the following style:

Tell me, thou misty deep,
Whose billows round me play,
Know'st thou some favored spot,
Some island far away,
Where weary man can find
A place to [illegible] in peace;
Where crinoline is not,
The loud winds, sounding a perpetual shout
Stopped for a while and sputtered 'You get out'!

THE enterprising proprietors of the Northern Indianian have purchased one of the lots on which empire block—the building recently destroyed by fire was located—and intend erecting a building expressly suited to the wants of their splendid printing office.—These gentlemen are full of enterprise.—Columbia City Commercial.

NEW GOODS.—A large assortment of Boots, Shoes and Gaiters have just been received by W. W. Humes, who has them already opened out in his nice new store, in Waggoner's old stand, Main Street. All the late styles, at prices to suit the times. Give him a call.

PLAYED OUT.—We have abandoned the Chicago outside, from the fact that our advertising patronage is too extensive to be confined to the inside. These patent outsides are very good in places where advertising don't amount to but little or where the editor is too lazy to work much, but we're above that now.

CARPETS.—McDougal's is the place to buy your carpets, oil cloths, house furnishing goods &c. There is another house there run by Foster Bros., called the New York Store, who pretend to sell carpets cheap, but if you don't get "yorked" there we don't want a cent. Go to 75 Columbia Street, and get good goods.

RAPIDLY INCREASING.—Auburn is rapidly increasing, not only in the number of houses and improvements but also in population. Since the census was taken a year ago, one hundred and ninety nine souls have been added an increase of nearly thirty per cent. in one year. At this rate the county seat will soon rate with the best in the State.

We hope our friends and patrons will remember that it don't pay us to write up notices of their business and insert them gratis, no more than it would pay them to supply us with sugar, or muslins, or any other article of general demand. Those who patronize us we expect to favor, and trust we will not be found wanting in liberality. Business is business.

ACCIDENT.—A five year old of Mr. Sherlock's, living nearly a mile from town, cut his foot on a piece of glass in a terrible manner, last week. There was no one at home but the mother, and as she could not leave him to go for the doctor, she carried him all the way to Dr. Cowan's office, to have it attended to. That is more than a great many men would undertake.

STAVES WANTED.—Messrs. Best & McClellan, at Waterloo, are paying the highest prices for Stave Bolts and Headings, and our farmer friends are notified to supply the demand without delay. Red Oak, Elm, White Ash and Basswood bolts are desired, a quality of timber our farmers can well spare and now that a good market has been opened for it, they should take advantage of it immediately.

THE performance by the Amateur Club, last Friday and Saturday Evenings was quite a creditable affair. So well was it received the first night, that the receipts were much larger the second night, the best evidence we can have of its excellence, we understand that the club appear again, in due time, in new and attractive plays, and we hope they will not postpone it too long, as that is about our only public amusement.

NEW FIRM.—Messrs. Boozer, Blattner & Co, successors to O. T. Clark & Co., at Waterloo are now in full blast and are displaying a handsome stock of new goods to their many customers, With the ability and experince these gentlemen possess, they will be enabled to supply our citizens generally with dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, cloth ing etc., of the best quality, and at the lowest market rates. See advertisement.

TROTTING RACES.—The Columbia City Driving Park Association, open their first meeting on Friday and Saturday, May 19th and 20th, with a magnificant programme embracing some very large premiums. A number of noted horses will be there, but there will also be a chance for horses not so well known, as premiums will be given according to what the horses have already accomplished, in speed. For particulars address, O. J. DEMPSEY, Secretary.

FORT WAYNE has added keno to its other metropolitan attractions.

The Universalists of Laporte are talking of organizing a society.

He who esteems trifles for himself is a trifler; he who esteems them for the conclusions to be drawn is a philosopher.

Prayer is the weak man's refuge, and the strong man's hope; its power opens the heavens, and closes the yawning of the pit.

A VERY touching story about a conscientious chicken is thus related: "A youthful hen found an egg, and yielding to the vernal instinct, sat upon it, until the process of incubation was complete. Her mother, who had laid the egg and had taken great pains in shaping and coloring it came along, and seeing only the broken shell, burst into tears, and said: "Alas, my daughter, who has destroyed my favorite egg?" The feathered offspring quickly responded: "I cannot tell a lie, mother; I cannot tell a lie; I did it with my little hatch it."

HOW IT IS DONE.—Last Monday morning just before the polls, in this, place, were opened, a Republican who had never smelled gun powder, and was a candidate for a petty town office, approached a Democrat, who by his service and injures, in the late rebellion entitles him to a pension, and in conversation found out that the latter was a democrat, who would vote a stright Democratic ticket. Thereupon Mr. Candidate in apparent surprise remarked "Why are you a Democrat, how does it come then that you draw a pension?" That wounded soldier will not draw a pension much longer, we'll bet.

FORT WAYNE AGAIN.—That capital business firm, Geo. DeWald & Co., successors to Townley, DeWald, Bond & Co., are the proprictors of one of the best dry goods houses in Fort Wayne. Strictly honest and impartial in their dealings, no one need fear but that they will be fairly dealt with, and will obtain a better article of goods, for less money than is offered by their shoddyite friends, across the way. We can heartily reccommend the house of Geo. DeWald & Co., but give that other store, just opposite, a wide berth if you don t wish to be swindled.

THE following item of the new rules for base ball seems to have been accidently omitted in making up the official edition lately published. Lovers of the noble game expecting to engage in championship matches had better cut this out and paste it in their hats for convenient reference; "If Low Jack caroms on the home stretch, and pock ets his bat, B. of course wins: for the stroke car takes the cue in any case, and the trump card counts game on the third inning provided the off-pitcher sticks by his wicket and makes a ten-strike before reaching the judge's stand."

WE advise our readers to be sure, when you go to the city of Fort Wayne, to drop in at the Palace of Fashion and examine their beautiful and immense stock of Men and Boys' fine Readymade Clothing, Hats, Caps, etc. The buyer of this square dealing House is now in the eastern cities, and has this advantage—having been engaged in the wholesale manufacture of Fine Men and Boys' wear for the past twenty-five years, and add to this the fact that every dollars' worth of goods in this mammoth concern is bought and sold for cash, proves conclusively that this is the place for the people. Remember the Grand Spring Opening, which continues from April 1st to the 15th, and every day and evening after.

April 2st,

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT.—There is probably no department of merchandise which requires more talent, good taste and skill in its management than the dry goods trade. It partakes more or less of the changes and fashions that are continually being made in the styles and paterns of goods, and consequently accumulating unfashionable and necessarily unsuitable goods. And in this way the profits of the mercantile business is not unfrequently being laid away in the shape of rich and costly goods that have gone out of fashion. The merchant who can select new, seasonable and fashionable goods is the one that is found to succeed, and that is S. Lauferty, who has just opened one of the finest stocks in the county. Call and see them and learn for your selves that our friend Samuel means business.

TOWN ELECTIONS.—The election last Monday, for town offices, passed off very quietly, even to the causing of general remarks at the little interest shown. Our Republican friends, as usual, were victorious by a majority ranging from 16 to 20. The following are the present offices of our town:

Marshall, James L. Penny; Clerk, Richard Elson; Treasurer, John B. Lobmiller; Assessor, Stephen B. Ward; Trustee, 1st ward, John Otto; Trustee, 2d ward, John A. Cowan; Trustee, 3d ward, George W. Stahl; Trustee, 4th ward, John W. Shaffer; Trustee, 5th ward, Jacob P. Arnold.

Had all of our side voted, and a number of their side been absent, we certainly would have elected our ticket, but as it was they were too heavy for us. May they be virtuous, and correspondingly happy.

SPRING has come agein and everybody rejoices. It is a lovely season, full of life, pregnant with hope, fragrant with flowers and full of nature's melody. With it comes work, renewed energetic and untiring labor. Men plow, sow and plant, birds build their nests and the cattle fatten upon a thousand hills. Hill sides and lawns are carpeted with living green, and even the wild woods assume the "wearing of the green" and blossom like a flower garden. The waters in the brooks and rivulets ripple brightly over their pebbly beds; "Marry's little lamb" and all the other lambs caper on the sunny hill sides; the cattle upon a thousand hills grow sleek and fat, and all nature animate and inanimate smiles again.

Now is the time to work for the good time coming—to prepare for the frost of years and the winter of life.

THE Bluffton Banner, of last week, says a severe blow passed through the eastern part of this county on Wednesday, the 19th inst., at about 11 o'clock, a. m., which did considerable damage. The tornado, about one half a mile in width, followed a north-east direction and passed between the towns of Vera Cruz and Buena Vista. The damage to property in the neighborhood of Vera Cruz was slight, being mostly confined to the destruction of fences, trees, etc. The roof of Mr. Henry Gillam's barn, near town, was carried off. Further east, the destruction was greater. In the vicinity of Buena Vista a number of buildings were unroofed and otherwise injured. The improvements on Mr. J. J. Baumgardner's farm were entirely laid waste. The house, a two-story frame, occupied by a Mr. Ellsberger, was completely demolished, burying his family beneath the ruins. The house was lifted clear of the foundation and carried eight or ten feet. Mrs. E was badly injured, and would doubtless have been killed but for a heavy cupboard near which she had been sitting, and which kept her from being crushed. The little boy, about three years of age, was killed. Two other children, one and a half and five years, and a hired girl were in the house, but were not injured The roof of the house was carried about six rods; the barn was unroofed and otherwise injured, and the fences and orchard entirely demolished. The largest sized apple trees were torn up by the roots and, carried into other fields. Timber and fences for miles are destroyed, and other buildings unroofed and injured. We have heard of numbers of persons injured, but have learned no names No other lives lost, as yet reported. Hundreds of those living outside the track turned out promptly to repair fences etc.

BUTLER.

TRADE MARK.—Who has not observed within the last year the multitude of strange cuts in the newspapers and the singular devices called trade marks. It is not our intention to name these patent emblems of commerce or enlarge upon the ingenuity of the design, their beauty or construction.

We take it for granted, you have seen some of those trade marks. Well, it is a new thing and in one sense a good thing In these days of emancipation general and particular, it is cheering to see how this device of a trade mark may lift a galling chain we have unsuspectingly worn so long.

It is the story of the dog and the wolf, the rich food and the collar marks, only men have happily transfered the marks to some shape apart from themselves and a farmer, merchant or teacher may now mingle with the bustling crowd and not hear said 'There goes a farmer, you can tell him by his talk his dress, his actions;' Here is a merchant he too discloses his occupation by his personal appearance and interchange of thought and the precise constrained teacher, openly proclaims himself an outcast from society, self banished with the marks of bondage all about him.

Then, there are the marks of the vicious, the mean thinker, the vile speaker and the vil doer and the deeper their thoughts, the more openly written all over them, what they are, and the avaricious, the cunning, the melancholy all tell the silent story. Better think over this subject of personal trade marks and banish the growing sign before it is indelibly imprinted upon your countenance.

RUN OVER.—A boy at Kendallville, while attempting to jump on a train, missed his footing and a crused foot is the consequence There are many who want to see the "folly of it" themselves, and now and then they are gratified.

John Nimmons, a former resident of this County, and one of our best teachers recently came to a tragic death. For some time he had been depressed in sprits and on one morning he remarked to his wife that he felt discouraged. He went out shortly afterward a pistol shot was heard and Mr. Nimmons was foud dying, he survived the shot but a few minutes.

He had a fine sensitive mind and his untimely end teaches us how small the thread which hold the mental balance and how guarded each should be of solitary brooding over real and fancied disappointments.

Believe but half the ill, and credit twice the good, said of your neighbor.

Exhibit of the Condition of the Finances of the Town of Auburn, Ind.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

Received of Treasurer Kiolt, May 7, '70		$70 69
" Co. " May 20	$667 54
" " redeem'd orders	340 67	908 21
By cash from Marshal, hogs sold		9 30
By cash and orders from Co. Treasurer		10 [illegible]
Receipts from Licenses		[illegible]
Total Receipts		[illegible]
Paid for Redeemed orders		[illegible]
Balance on hand		12 [illegible]

JNO. L. DAVIS, Town Treas.

The following allowances and appropriations were made during the year:

Hollopeter & Clark, lumber	[illegible] 42
James Griswold,	110 92
[illegible]	[illegible]
John L. Davis, Plow & [illegible]	67 75
J. Beuret, nails	1 10
W. H. Dills, special services	6 00
Jno. L. Davis, " "	6 00
Town Clerk 2 copies municipal Ind. Law	5 00
W. H. Dills, office rent and legal services	25 00
Joe. Rainier, for constructing side walk to R.R.	25 00
Work on streets, crossings and scraping Sts.	136 00
Culburt on 1st street	86 53
Ditching	17 00
Sidewalk to Railroad	10 00
Shade Trees in Court House Yard	52 13
Expenses of election, May '70	11 00
" " Assessment 1870	25 00
" " Police, July 4th '70	22 00
Salary of Town Treasurer	12 00
" " Trustee, Hollopeter	15 00
Wm. Asbeleman's Hogs sold	7 90
Total	913 91
Amount of taxes levied for 1870	$1029 00
" Recived for licenses	45 00
" " " Hogs sold	8 30
Total	1093 30
Expenses of resources for current year	$179 39
Am't of orders outstanding May '71 estimated	807 50
" " " May 2d, '71	84 07
" " " from May 2d '70, to May 1st '71	913 91
Total	2065 96
Deduct orders redeemed during the year	750
Liabilites	865 00
Balance on hand	1257 00
Am't of Delinquent Tax estimated	128 97
Tax livied for 1870	1029 00
Total	1185 64
Expenses of resources over liabilities	299 96

By order of the Board.

Attest ALBERT ROBBINS, Town Clerk.

May 2d, 1871.

THE editors of the 10th and 11th congressional districts have accepted an invitation from the Burlington & Missouri River R. R. for an excursion over their road to Lincoln, Nebraska. By a vote in the convention, recently held at Goshen, it was decided to make the trip about the midle of June. The company will supply a special train for the exursionists and there can be no doubt that the party will have a spendid time. We take the liberty to express the hope that the managers will confine the passes strictly to members of the press. A few editors who have heretofore found it inconvenient to go on these excursions have sold their passes to parties who never were directly or indirectly connected with the press. The practice can hardly be considered the 'square thing,' and is but little better than a fraudulent transaction. If continued it will bring discredit on the association and on the profession. We hope every member of the press of both districts will accompany the party, and if they should, the number will be large enough for the comfort and convenience of all.—Laporte Argus.

The following conversation between two youngsters on their way to Sunday-school was recently overheard Charley—Do you like that new fellow who teaches our class? Harry—No; do you? He's a gay rooster, ain't he? Parts his hair in the middle and wears eye-glasses. Charley—He's a sport, I believe; too fancy to be a Sunday-school teacher. Harry—Did you see how he look ed at the big girls last Sunday? Charley Yes. He wears big jewelry and diamonds, too; 'that gets them. Harry—I saw him at the corner of Sixth street and the avenue yesterday; wonder if he learns Scripture there? Charley—Ah, that's nothing; lots of fellows loaf there who say long prayers on Sunday. Harry—That's so; but let's watch the fellow and see what he does do, anyway. Charley—All right; I don't go to Sunday-school to any such fancy duck unless I known he's all right.

A party of children, while searching for eggs in the barn of Daniel Greenwalt, near St. Joseph, last Sunday afternoon, found the dead body of a man lying in one of the lofts. It was identified as that of a butcher named John G. Murphy. It is surmised that he is the person who broke into a saloon on Saturday evening, the 1st instant, and stole a demijohn of gin, as one nearly empty was found by the corpse, answering to the description of the missing one. He had evidently gone into the barn that night and remained there ever since, without food His body was in a fearful emaciated condition

On a rainy winter evening a gentleman traveling in a hack, found on nearing his destination, that he had no money with him so thinking he would try the honesty of the driver, he called out as he ran up the steps: "Wait a minute—I have dropped a ten dollar bill in the coach, and I must obtain a light and search for it." The words were hardly uttered when the Jehu gave the horses a furious lash and drove off at a violent rate. The man, heartily amused at the result, called after him repeatedly, but never saw hack or driver again.

A gentleman, deeply versed in the history of Faro and other ancient Egyptian lore, is going for that young lady in Troy who has earned $2,300 in the last two years with her sewing machine. He possesses a flashy waist-coat, a stunning necktie, striped trousers of the loudest pattern, and a dollar-store seal-ring the size of a brickbat. All that he needs to secure entire beautitude is an industrious wife who would esteem his ornamental qualities a fair equivalent for his board.

Salt-eaters will be interested, if not gratified, by the information that the Onondaga Salt Company, the Ohio river companies including the Kanawha, and the Saginaw and Bay Salt Company, of Michigan, have formed an organization or monopoly which expects to control the production and sale of salt throughout the United States. The next move will probable be to buy up Great Salt Lake and the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and then the monopolists will have a "dead sure thing," on the market.

An Elmira farmer wrote Mr. Greeley for his experience in raising geese for market. Horace said there was no trouble at all about it, if the goslings were not weaned too young. He says they should be allowed to run with the old cow and suck until their horns get out an inch or two, when they will be hardy enough to pack and salt down for market.

Ben Wade positively declines the Radical nomination for Governor of Ohio, and recommends Mr. Daniel Caldwell, of Ashtabula county. The "bluff old war-horse," from a Radical stand-point, has Ben. Wade often enough, and does not desire to be found wanting in a contest in Ohio next fall.—Sensible if he is profane.

True happiness is of a retired nature, and an enemy to pomp and noise.

A writer from Western Indiana says that there is an increased acreage of wheat in that part of the State this year, and scarcely a field can be found where the ground is uncovered and in many instances half as leg high, and if nothing befalls it between now and harvest time a large crop will certainly be the result.

There is a graveyard in Massachusetts in which are buried nine brothers, all of whom had arrived at man's estate, the eldest being seventy-nine, and the youngest twenty-eight years old, all but one leaving a family. What renders it more remarkable is that they are all buried within forty rods of the spot where they were born.

There is a man in Henry County who has discovered a sure plan for exterminating snakes. He bites off their heads.

Robert Woods died at his residence near Salem, last week. He was the oldest man in Washington county, having been born in 1776.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chromo lithographs, steel engravings and fine-wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lowe than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and traffic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph, Leavenworh, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	128 @ 133
" Red	120
Oats	45
Rye	70
Corn	40
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	43
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	03c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

Application for License.

NOTICE is hereby given the citizens of Union Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will make application at the next session of the Board of Commissioners, of said county, for license to retail intoxicating liquors, at and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises, to-wit: The South half of Lot 94 old plat, in Auburn in said county.

JOHN HEBEL.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 2, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House to be built of stone and brick; to be 22 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground.

The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871 to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.

I. M. THOMAS Trustee

April 4, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St. AUBURN, IND.

He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant stocks of Boots and Shoes for

Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
Ever before Exhibited
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE.
IN POINT OF
Workmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DEFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselves.
W. W. HUMES.
April, 1, '70.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded. 1y

NEW system, NEW
GOODS,
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
O. T. CLARK & CO.

Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!

Comprises everything desirable in the line of
Dry Goods
CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions,
And an endless variety of Home-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 4, 1871.

McDOUGAL'S
CARPET STORE!
A FULL LINE OF CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc,
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business only on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.
Corner Main and 7th Sts. Feb., 8, 1871. 1y

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.
ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co. 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.

We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of

MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!

We have engaged Professor Fasen. the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and

PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!

Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.

I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!

We told you that on the 23 h of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints for two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes in to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 8c calico for 8c. So much for calico.

A big Bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 5c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.

DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 5 000 yards of children's palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15½c a yard

ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1,00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.

PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.

1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.

FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN NDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST. FORT WAYNE INDIANA,
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

Why are Mountain Tops so Cold?

There is a story of a squirrel, which, discontented with the cold valley where he had his home, set out to reach a mountain top, where, thought he, the climate must be warm and genial, since that spot is so much nearer the sun, the great source of heat.—Upon reaching the longed for height, he found that although the sun shone with clearer light yet the cold was more intense than at the humble home he had left behind. He was well nigh frozen to death, and quickly and wisely resolved to return to the valley whence he came.

The process of reasoning which led poor squirrel into such difficulty and danger seems correct enough. The only trouble with it is that, like a great many fine spun theories, it does not agree with the facts in the case.

How happens it then that the nearer we go to the sun, the source of heat, the colder we find the air? It is because the sun's rays of heat pass through transparent bodies, like air, without heating them. The heat of the sun passes directly down through the air till it strikes the surface of the earth which is warmed by it. The air becomes warm only by contact with the warm earth and by the radiation of heat from the earth.

But why does not the mountain-top become warm, and impart its heat to the surrounding air? The answer is, that so great is the body of cold air around it, in comparison with its own size, and so constantly is the air around it changed by the strong winds which blow there, that not enough heat can be accumulated in the air to become sensible.

But why does not the air, which is heated by contact with the surface of the earth at the level of the sea, rise to the mountain tops and warm them up, just the same as the heated air in our rooms rises to the ceiling, and makes our heads warm while our feet are cold? It does thus rise, indeed, but as it rises it also expands, because it is not so closely pressed by the superincumbent air. So by the time it reaches the top of Mount Washington, what was a single room full of comfortable hot air has expanded to the size of a whole house; and, as it has received no more heat in its ascent, it has become very uncomfortable cold. The heat which was sufficient to make it feel warm when it occupied a small space becomes quite insensible when it expands to a hundred, or it may be a thousand times the size it was before. It is just like a moistened sponge, from which water drops when it is squeezed in the hand, but which appears quite dry when suffered to expand at its full size.—Oliver Optic's Magazine.

A Remarkable Case—A Man Grafted Like a Tree.

From the Sedalia [Mo.] Times.

The case of George Gardner, of this city, who, as our readers may remember, had his foot crushed on the M., K. & T. R. R., some time since, has given rise to an experiment, and a result in surgery of great interest to the profession, and destined to command the attention of scientific readers everywhere. A report of the case will doubtless find its way to medical journals, but we may, without impropriety, give an outline of the experiment.

It has always been difficult to cause the healing of wounds where any large surface of the skin was gone, as nothing but skin will produce new skin, and this only for a short distance (less than an inch) around the margin. Hence in making amputations it has always been considered necessary to preserve a "flap" of skin to fold over the exposed end of the limb in order to form a covering of skin and a good "stump." But in Gardner's case the patient was too weak to admit of amputation, and it was a question of life or death to save the ankle-joint and to form a skin covering for the crused and mangled stump.

This was done by a wonderful process, viz: by transplanting or grafting on the wounded part from time to time, a small portion of skin from another part of the body. Pieces of the skin not so large as a grain of wheat were taken from the patient's arm and grafted on the lascorated stump, where they took root, as it were, formed a nucleus for growth, and gradually spread till the whole surface was completely covered with a sound and new integument of skin, and the young man has a good ankle joint and a beautiful stump.

The surgeon in charge (whose name we are not at liberty to use) does not claim to be the discover of this treatment, the credit of which is due to a celebrated surgeon of Paris—Mr. Reverdin, we believe. But the present case is believed to be the most clarly defined and eminently successful one yet treated in the United States, and as such will undoubtedly excite much interest in scientific circles.

Advice to Workingmen.—A man who is working to secure a small piece of property substitutes a new and distinct ambition for a remote and vague one. Day-dreams about large estates and princely incomes may be very amusing, but they are not half so profitable as the vision of a lot one hundred by two hundred feet, with a snug little dwelling upon it. With this before him, a man will rise early and retire late, turning his hand cheerfully to any and every kind of work. He will have a motive for vigorous economy which will make it a pleasure. He will have the vision of the last payment before him as a perpetual motive to moderation in passions, economy in expenses, abstinence from expensive companions. Thus it will come to pass that a judicious debt incurred at the beginning of a journeyman's or laborer's career, will become his good genius, watching over him, inciting him to all industry and to self government.

Every laboring man ought to own his own home. The first duty of every workman should be to convert his earnings into real estate.

Every man who can afford it should supply his boys with tools, and a room where they may be used and cared for. A boy takes to tools as naturally as to green apples, or surreptitious and forbidden amusements; and ten to one, if he has a chance to develope his mechanical tastes and gratify them to their full extent, his tendencies to vicious courses will remain undeveloped. Such a result is enough to compensate for all the expenses and trouble the indulgence we recommend would entail, while the chances that the early development of his constructive faculties may in this mechanical age, be the means by which he may ultimately climb to fame and fortune are not small.

[illegible] ble, disagreeable, dissatisfied, hated, despised, forgotten, unacceptable, ungrateful, unchristianlike, uncharitable, unprincipled, ought-to-be-ashamed, good-for-nothing, uncombed, unwashed, unclean, unpatched, unshaved, uncared-for, off-cast of creation who ought to go and marry some artistic, musical, smiling, blushing, delightful, charming, sociable, tasteful, beautiful, sweet exquisite, religious, prayerful, conscientious and virtuous old maid; and raise up a family of sweet, good-looking, loving, laughing, curly-headed, dimple-cheeked, bright-eyed, cute, frollicking, blissful, cheerful, joyful little children, and thus follow the worthy example of his father before him.

A sad and fatal accident took place, on the morning of the 7th instant near Tyner City, Marshall County, Ind., the particulars of which are said to be about as follows:—Miss Mary Ann Sibby is, or was a young lady of about 16 summers, more handsome than intelligent, and was engaged to be married to a young man of good habits, their wedding day having been appointed for Sunday, April 9th. On Friday night, however, she was up very late, doubtless making preparations for the coming event, and, failing to rise at the proper hour in the morning, attempted to hurry the fire with coal oil which she poured on the blaze from the can. Of course, the can bursted, and the burning contents where thrown upon her, enveloping her in flames. Vain were the efforts to extinguish the flames, and her clothes were burned to ashes. The accident happened at 7 o'clock in the morning and she lived until one o'clock next day, in terrible suffering. The feelings of her betrothed, relatives and friends may be imagined, but not described.—Rochester Sentinel.

An Item for Boys.—It is not necessary that a boy who learns a trade is compelled to follow it all his life. Governor Palmer, of Illinois, was a country blacksmith once, and began his political career as a constable in Macoupin county. A circuit Judge in the central part of Illinois, was once a tailor. Thomas Hoyne, a rich and eminent lawyer of Illinois, was once a book-binder Erastus Corning of New York, too lame to do hard labor, commenced life as shop boy in Albany. When he applied for employment first he was ask: "Why, little boy, what can you do?" "I can do what I am bid," was the answer that secured him a place. Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, was a shoemaker; Thurlow Weed a canal boat-driver. Ex-Govenor Stone, of Iowa, was a cabinet-maker, which trade the late Hon. Stephen A. Douglas also worked at in his youth. Large numbers of men of prominence, now living, have risen from humble life by dint of industry, without which talent is as useless as a gold coin on a barren island. Work, work alone makes men bright and it does not depend on the kind of work you have to do whether you will rise or not. It depends on how you do it.

A Brutal Murder.

A murder was committed opposite Peters' landing Tennessee last Thursday peculiar to its atrocity. It appears that a woman asked one Hancock to collect five dollars from a boy named Kiser due for board which he did. He fail to pay over the amount and demanded it again from Kiser who prosested saying he had paid once and would not pay it again when Hancock pulled out a pistol and fired. The boy seeing Hancock's intention fell upon his knees and plead for his life and said if the money was what he wanted he could have it. When the first shot was fired the boy fell and not satisfied the monster shot at him the second time, and then cooly sat down till the boy died which was in a very short time. He then took the pocket book and knife from the dead boy and went to the house and telling the woman what he had done disappeared into the woods. A large crowd of neighbors collected and made a thorough search and found Handcock about three miles from where the foul deed was committed. He appeared perfectly cool when arrested handing over the pocket book and knife with a remark that they belonged to Kiser. It was supposed that he was lynched the following day.

Fearful Predictions by An Entranced.

Louisville, Ky., is just now excited over a strange prediction by a young German lady Miss Carrie Clein, residing there. She claims to have been under the influence of spirits, or mysterious influences, at intervals for twelve years. She was thrown into a trance, she says, when seven years of age, and again when she was fourteen, lasting for seven months, during which she predicted the Franco-German war and its results. Recently she has been thrown into a similar state, and on Friday last made the following predictions in the presence and hearing of a reporter of Louisville Commercial:

"In seven weeks from to-day (March 24,) a war sign will appear in the heavens, which will last fifteen weeks and then cease. This will be the forewarning of a terrible war between the whites and the blacks in the United States. The first battle in the war of races will be fought in April, 1873, and the war will be brief, but terribly bloody. After this war has ceased three years, another war sign will appear in the heavens, indicating a renewal of the present war in Europe This war will last about three years, and all Prussia will glorify. Nine years after this war ceases, another sign will appear in the heavens above the world, which will forewarn people all over the world of a religious war. This will be terrible, even unto one part as unto another of the whole face of the world. It will last nine years, and will temporarily cease for seven years, when beasts wearing seven horns, each of the form of a huge saber, will appear to the world in large numbers, and the people inhabiting the world will stand in fear. The ocean will become red, and no vessel can stand upon their face. Men will cease to write. Ten years after the appearance of this beast upon earth, a cross will appear upon the face of the sun, and although the people were surprised to see the moon cover the sun, they will be still more surprised when they see this. This cross will cover the sun for seventeen years, when God Almighty will destroy the earth. My friends take warning."

One of our ministers yesterday remarked that there are 60,000 clergymen in the United States who divided $42,000.000 of salary among themselves annually. Some of them take $10,000 a year, others, what they can get. He belongs to the latter class, and thought, perhaps, if he didn't say it, that, sometimes, in providing for earthly wants "Jordan was a hard road to travel."

Adversity is a position which reduces our virtue.

The closest walk with God is the sweetest heaven that can be enjoyed on earth.

[illegible] a great mistake in female education to keep a young lady's time and attention devoted to the fashionable literature of the day. If you would qualify her for conversation you must give her something to talk about, give her education in the actual world and its transpiring events. Urge her to read the newspapers, and be familiar with the present character and improvements of our age. History is of some importance; but the past world is dead—we have nothing to do with it. Our thoughts and concerns should be for the present world; to know what it is and improve its condition. Let her have an intelligent opinion, and be able to sustain conversation according to the mental, moral and religious improvement of our times.

From the Louisville Ledger.

The Ku Klux Kan in Georgia.

Not long ago one Colonel George W. Fish, a radical District Judge in Georgia, was assassinated. A terriable cry of Ku Kluk was raised, and Georgia sank deeper than ever in the estimation of our virtuous law makers at Washington. It now turns out that the job was done by Radicals. Two men have been arrested (by Radicals authories) for this crime. One of them is John R. Holsenback, a Radical bailiff of the Oglethorpe militia district, and the other man named Lloyd, father of Thomas P. Lloyd, Radical Solicitor General of Judicial Circuit, and an applicant for the position which Colonel Fish held at the time of his assassination. We learn from the Atlanta Constitution, and other exchanges, that Holsenback is in jail and that Lloyd was to have a hearing last Saturday. One of them says:

"The Court was embarrassed as to how to proceed against Mr. Lloyd, as his son, Thomas P. Lloyd, is the Solicitor General of that Judicial Circuit, and insisted on conducing the prosecution. An issue arose between Attorney General Farrow and the Solicitor General, in which the latter became enraged and hostile, and which resulted in the arrest and imprisonment of the Solicitor General. As both these men are known Radicals, there can be no room for the cry of 'Ku Klux Democracy' in this case."

So much for the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia.

Two constitutional "persons" offered their ballots at the recent election in Macon, Ga. We give the conversation as it occurred between each person and the election inspector:

Non-voter offers a ballot.

Inspector—"We can not take your vote, madam."

Non-voter—"Why not? I can read and write, and understand perfectly the political issues involved in this election. I pay city and county assessments, and eternal revenue taxes. I keep a store, buy and sell goods, sign checks, and give receipts."

Inspector—We know all that, madam, but we cannot take your vote."

Exit non-voter.

Voter appears and offers a ballot.

Inspector—"What is your name?"

Voter—I dunno, massa. I'se sometimes called Ole Jo, but most allers Ole Cuss."

Inspector—"What is your age?"

Voter—Look a-yere, massa, I'se jes a hundred."

Inspector—"Where were you born?"

Voter—"Golly, I dunno dat. My old massa said I wasn't born at all, but dat I jes cum yer on a flat-boat."

Inspector—"Take his ballot"

And that's what certain politicians call "universal sufferage."

SONG ECHO

A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, $7.50 per dozen. Contains over two hundred new and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Websters, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 65c. Liberal terms for introduction.

Address,
April 27, 2-m.

FIFTY DOLLARS WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 40 cents. Four back numbers for 75 cts.

J. L. PETERS,
599 Broadway, New York.

DANIEL VOLLMER,
PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST
Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.,
FORT WAYNE IND'A.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK,

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorous and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system.

The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
PRICE $9,00 per Volume or
$40.00 Per Set Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

The Parlor Album is doubtless the most extensiv ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors. 40 full page Steel Engrvings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 280 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. 1, Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. 11. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. 111 American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. 1V. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequaled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 5 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 80 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply an address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana Executor of the Estate of Isaac Franks late of DeKalb County deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

April 13, '71. WM. LESSIG, Executor.

TROTTING HORSES

By a new method, any horse can be made to trot fast in 30 minutes. 500 References. One farmer says: "I made $800 on two colts, all through your circular." Full directions only $1 Address H. A. BARROWS, Rochester N. Y., for training and Breaking.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up	Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Colored " " "	Japenese, plain " "
Japenese " striped	" " brocaded
" Checked	" " Watere

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.,

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Brilliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroriderics, puffings, Edgings, &c., White. Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallenciennc, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.
FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has Reduced the Duty of All GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes. per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	28c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong,	75, 90, best 110
Japan,	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	25cts.
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb.	28c
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	3c
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $.100
Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Zante Currants, 12; 81-2 lbs	1.00
Citron, "	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12½c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	16c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wire,	75
CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS	$2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

MISCELLANEOUS

Soap. per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches.	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco, "	18

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6,00
" " in kitts,	1,75
Trout " per bbl,	4,00
Pickerel " per bbl,	4,00
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish,	3,00
No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts,	$2,00
Lake Herring, per bbl,	2,50
Herring, each,	1c
Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
White Fish, per lb,	7c

All other Grocerces Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

For Fresh and Fine Family Groceries and Provisions, GO TO
JNO. BUTT
One door north of Post Office.
AND
B 4 U BUY T And Sugar,
EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES AND BE CONVINCED THAT BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH IS TRUE ECONOMY.
Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

O. T. CLARK & CO.,
WATERLOO, INDIANA,
Have on exhibition a large line of
Black and Colored Alpacas.
OUR BRAND THE Queen's Own,

We claim in point of Brilliancy, Shade, Weight, Quality and Price are Superior to any in Market, being of one Uniform make, and the Heaviest imported, and especially suited to the Winter Trade.

We invite an examination of our Fall stock of Dress Goods, Tapestry Brussels, Sheeting, Silk Warp, Ext. Sup. Ingrain, Cotton Yarn, Lyons Poplins, Kidder, Carpet Warp Silks, Hemp, Batting, Shawls, Cotton, Tickings, Brilliantine Carpets, Bags.

A full line, one yard wide domestic Flannl Shirting, Red, White and Pressed which we offer to the Fall trade, cheap for cash or ready pay.

Waterloo, Ind., Oct. 25, 1870. 2-44.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

Mrs. Ed. BLATTNE.
Mrs. J. A. BARNS

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW
Wagon Shop In Auburn Indiana.
JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS Carriages, CUTTERS, Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.
So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here FARMERS.
Have you got good FANNING MILLS?
If not, get one of
J. B. TAYLOR'S CELEBRATED Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been 14 years past, and not found wanting, in respect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, beans, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of grain. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICITED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.
Waterloo City, March 31, 1869.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!
So Has
THE HIGH PRICES,
WITH
S. LAUFFERTY!
DRY GOODS,
Ready Made Clothing,
Hats and Caps,
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!
QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for
Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool
Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!
AT
SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!
JOHN L. DAVIS,
OF THE
Pioneer Hardware Store
AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Building Material,
Agricultural Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws., Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c.

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock, which we promise at bottom prices, and Defy Competition.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 28, 1871.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

[illegible] OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL [illegible]

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, May 11, 1871. No. [illegible]

[illegible] COURIER,

[illegible]

T. C. MAYS,

[illegible]

OFFICE—Corner of [illegible] and Seventh Sts.

One year	$2.00
Six months	1.00
Three months	.50

Business Cards.

[illegible]

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. [illegible] Main and Court [illegible]

[illegible] NICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY [illegible]. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-30

[illegible] MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind. will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office [illegible], Auburn, Ind. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES [illegible], will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. [illegible] and North [illegible], DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., [illegible] of the State. Office over [illegible] 2-35

[illegible] & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. [illegible] C. A. O. McCLELLAN.

R. R. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER, of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber [illegible] at all times. 2-28

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

MAT. GRAHAM, N. V. B. GOTSHALL,
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR

[illegible] Advertising Bureau, No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Courthouse. [illegible] Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who [illegible] should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential. Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAT LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. H. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,

HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for [illegible]

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL
Dr WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS

J. Walker, Proprietor. R. H. McDonald & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, [illegible], Sour Eructations of the Stomach, [illegible] the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

[illegible] the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

[illegible], Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. [illegible]

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870, Trains will leave [illegible] daily [illegible] as follows:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1,35 A M
Rochester	2,42 "	7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M.	3,30 P. M.
Alliance	5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Orrville	6,54 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield	9,08 "	1,32 P. M	4,45 "	8,28 "
A.	9,35 "	4,22 "	6,58 "	10,32 "
Crestline	10,05 "	5,05 "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.		5,55 A M	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest	11 27 A. M	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima	12,26 P "	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth	4,50 "	2,25 P. M	3,37 "	4,57 "
Chicago	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00"

Going East.

Chicago	5,50 A. M	9,00 A. M,	5,15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,00 "	12,08 P. M.	9,08 "	12,05 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,50 P. M	2,35 "	11,35 "	2,30 "
Lima	3,25 "	4,08 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2 43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	4.20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	[illegible]	[illegible]	4,30 "	9,25 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	[illegible]	[illegible]	6,45 "	11,45 "
Alliance	11,20 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M
Rochester	2,35 P. M	12,55 A. M,	11,05 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. [illegible] and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. [illegible], daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Thursday, April 13, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Exp
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 a m	7 00 a m	4 30 p m
Academie	6 15	7 25	4 45
Huntertown	6 27	7 45	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 31	7 55	5 05
New Era	6 44	8 10	5 15
Auburn	7 04	8 55	5 35
Waterloo	7 20	9 35	5 50
Summit	7 33	10 00	6 05
Pleasant Lake	7 47	10 27	6 18
Angola	8 02	11 03	6 33
Jonesville	8 35	2 30 p m	8 10
Jackson ... Arr	9 50	4 45	9 18

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson ......Leave	6 45 a m	1 00 a m	5 00 p m
Jonesville	6 35	2 10	6 55
Angola	12 40 p m	3 38	7 20 a m
Pleasant Lake	1 10	3 52	7 47
Summit	1 30	4 04	8 11
Waterloo	2 25	4 22	8 35
Auburn	2 45	4 38	8 55
New Era	3 10	4 55	9 20
Stoners (Gravel pit)	3 23	5 00	9 30
Huntertown	3 35	5 13	9 43
Academie	3 55	5 29	10 00
Ft. Wayne......Arr	4 20	5 45	0 25

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt
I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 2nd, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST—PACIFIC NIGHT EXPRESS.
Waterloo City 2:40 a. m.
MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Butler 1:22 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:43 p. m.; Sedan 1:55 p. m.; Corunna 2:01 p. m.
FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.
GOING EAST—ATLANTIC EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 11:50 a. m.
MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Corunna 12:40 p. m.; Sedan, 12:46 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:00 p. m.; Butler 1:22 p. m.
FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.

The Pacific and Atlantic Expresses (at night) do not stop at Lawrence or Corunna.

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time, and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
A. B. RICHARDS, Agent, Waterloo.
R. STILES, " Butler.
C. D. COGSWELL, " Corunna.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt, Cleveland, O.

AUBURN LIVERY AND SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the pubsoil promising to use our best endeavors to give genera satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4 ,71.

Come and See Me!

—:0:—

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest and largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

ALL PERSON

Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, throat, Bronchial Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint, Should apply in person or by letter, to Dr. B. OARD, Office 12 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box [illegible], Fort Wayne Ind. [illegible]

TEACHING PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Forty little urchins
Coming through the door,
[illegible], making
[illegible] roar.
[illegible] quiet?
[illegible] pleasant,
Teaching public school.

Forty little pilgrims,
On their way to fame,
If they fail to reach it,
Who would be to blame?
High and lowly stations—
Birds of every feather—
On a common level
Here are brought together.

Dirty little faces,
Loving little hearts,
Eyes brimful of mischief,
Skilled in all its arts,
That's a precious darling!
What are you about?
[illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible]
Slates and books are rattling,
And in the corner yonder,
Two pugilists are battling,
Others cutting didoes—
What a botheration!
No wonder we grow crusty,
From such associations.

Anxious parents drop in,
Merely to inquire,
Why his olive branches
Do not shoot up higher,
Says he wants his children
To mind their p's and q's,
And hopes their brilliant talents
Will not be abused.

Spelling, reading, writing,
Putting up the younger ones,
Fussing, scolding, fighting,
Spurring on the dumb ones,
Gymnasts, vocal music!
How the heart rejoices
When the singer comes to Cultivate the voices.

Institute attending
Making our reports,
Giving Object Lessons,
Class drills of all sorts,
Reading dissertations,
Feeling like a fool—
Oh, the untold blessing
Of the Public School!

An Esthetic View of Swearing.

One of the young ladies in a Brook Farm story in the Overland Monthly, says there is profane swearing where the heart is filled with vindictive passions—with malice; but most of the swearing indulged in by young people and uncultivated people is only so much emphasis to back up their sentences with. It shows that those who indulge in it are wanting in intelligent respect for their own statements; or are doubtful if they will be accepted as true by those they address. I do not deny it is extremely bad taste, that it is vulgar and disagreeable; and yet a great deal of informal swearing is indulged in by the really reverent and kind-hearted.

To which a sailor present responds. I am sure, Miss, it's not the language that's so wicked; it's the way one feels in the heart. I was thinking all the time you were talking, of once when I was out at sea—leagues from land in the Pacific, and we fell in with a water-logged ship, with nine starving men on her. They begged to be taken on board. Now, our captain was one of your pious sort. Well, when the mate, with his hands on the ropes, ready to lower the boat, heard the captain's cold blooded decision—"Tell them we can't take them; we have only provisions enough to take ourselves to port"—why, the mate swore an oath (I should not dare to repeat it to you Miss; in a bad cause it were enough to sink a ship,) and wished that he might be hung beside, at the yard arm, if he did not fetch these poor souls on the board. And down went the boat, in spite of the captain, and on board they came; and we all arrived safe and sound in port. Now, Miss, I ask you who swore, the mate or the captain?

A young man whose moustache is visible by the aid of a microscope, was the victim of misplaced confidence some time ago. He had been particularly sweet on a very young lady, and had previously paid her several visits. The girl's parents, thinking both too young to begin keeping company with each other, gave them a gentle hint to that effect—first, by calling the girl out of the room and sending her to bed; and second, by the lady of the house bringing into the room a huge slice of bread and butter, with molasses attachment, and saying to the youth in her kindest manner: "There, Bubby, take this and go home; it is a long way, and your mother will be anxious."

Lansing Michigan, writes a Western correspondent, is a very heavy locality for the ague. "It comes creeping up a fellow's back like a ton of wild cats. goes crawling through his joints like iron spikes, and is followed by a fever which prohibits the patient from thinking of any thing but the Independent Order of Good Templars. It is'nt the 'every-other day' kind, but gets up with a man at daylight, and sleeps in the small of his back all night. His teeth feel about six inches too long, his joints wobble like a loose wagon wheel, and the shakes are so steany that one can't hold any sort of conversation except by putting in dashes."

The following highly appreciative 'tribute' to California strawberries is from a Western paper: 'Strawberries grow in California all the year round. The strawberries attain an unusual size; it is not uncommon for an ordinary family to subsist on one for a week. It must not be supposed that all the varieties are of this size; some are much smaller, and it is not unfrequent for a healthy man to finish one at a meal.'

Here is a recipe for killing a town—under rate your neighbor's property, withhold your support from home mechanics and home manufacturers, buy what you need elsewhere, in preference to home, and if you are in business, refuse to advertise. If this won't kill the most prosperous town in America, it may be considered fire proof against hard times.

As old Van Shroomps was giving his youngest, who was inclined to be lazy, a good cowhiding, the boy cried out: 'Oh! don't, fadder, it makes me smart!' 'Dat's shoost vot I vants,' said the old man, as he whacked away with renewed vigor.

A [illegible]

On a handsome lawn fronting an old ivy grown mansion in the State of Virginia, one pleasant afternoon, not many years since, a group of young people of both sexes were gathered. Standing in their midst, was an old woman, bent down with age, looking as if she stood on the brink of the grave, but her dark, restless eyes showed that there was vigorous life in her mind, if not in her body.

She had been "telling fortunes" for the young people gathered around her, and to all but one had she foretold a bright and happy future. The exception of this rule of blissfulness through life, was a handsome boy of nineteen, with a dark, passionate face, and an expression which indicated perfect fearlessness.

Five years before the opening of this story, an old gentleman and his nephew had moved to Virginia from some Northern State, and, buying a farm, had made it their home. Mr. Mercer and his nephew, Frank, were treated with kindness by the gentleman of the neighborhood, and they received invitations to visit the plantations near them. Frank soon became acquainted with all the country, but his uncle never left his farm, and shun society. For this many reasons were given, but the true one was that he had lost all his family, and Frank's parents having left him to Mr. Mercer's charge, he determined to devote himself to the boy, and found sufficient enjoyment in his company and in his cultivating his farm. Though reported very wealthy, and that he always kept a large sum of gold in the house, Mr. Mercer and Frank lived in a quiet way and made no display.

Thus passed Frank's early youth, from his fourthteenth until his seventeenth year, when our story opens. A man of superior education, Mr. Mercer had been his nephew's teacher, and had imparted unto him much knowledge of the world, of letters, and people, so that Frank, at nineteen, was as well informed as if he had possessed a cultivated education. There were those in the neighborhood who reported that the boy was wild and dissipated, and this found ready believers in others, so that Frank had some enemies as well as many friends.

Thus we find him; and on the evening of the commencement of our story he had been invited to an entertainment given by a wealthy planter to his children.

Mr. Dewes, the planter, had three children, the youngest and loveliest of whom was Mary, a girl of twelve. Mary and Frank were the best of friends, and loved each other dearly. So, when the fortuneteller perdicted a dark and stormy future for Frank, the tears arose to the child's eyes, said; "Don't listen to her, Frank"

But the boy laughed and, turning on his heel, walked away.

Two days afterward he left home for a week's hunt in the mountains; but the second night after his departure the neighborhood was aroused by the startling news that old Mr. Mercer had been murdered by his nephew One of the servants passing the house at night heard a cry, and seeing Frank's window open he sprang in and walked across the hall to Mr Mercer's chamber, from whence the cry came. Lying upon the floor was the old man, dead, while near him stood his nephew, with a bloody knife in his hand. In fright, the negro ran from the house and gave the alarm. Persons from the neighborhood were sent for, and Frank was seized against every protestation that he did not kill his uncle, and thrown into jail.

The feeling against the youth was intense, for the negro told the story of how he had found Frank and a wayfairing peddler, who had just ascended the steps to ask to stay all night, corroborated the man's statement.

The trial came off and the charges were made known. Frank was accused of starting upon a hunting expedition as a blind, and then returning from the mountain by night, had entered the room, and attempting to remove a large bag of gold kept by his uncle, had aroused him, and, upon being discovered, had driven his hunting knife into the heart of Mr. Mercer. The gold was on the floor, its weight having torn through the bag when it was raised. The knife with which Mr. Mercer was killed was one he had givin to Frank some days before, and was a large dirk-knife encased in a silver scabbarb.

Pale as death, but showing no sign of fear or guilt upon his handsome face, the prisoner sat unmoved by his sentence, which was to die on the gallows. When asked if he had aught to say, Frank arose and looking around the court room, in a clear voice answered: "I have. Circumstantial evidence has condemned me. I admit it looks as if I did the deed; but I am guiltless of murder. Dropping my percussion cap box in a mountain stream, I returned home for more; for without caps my gun was useless. It was a lovely night, and I determined to enter the house by my room window, get the caps and return without awakening my uncle. I tied my horse to the fence, sprang into the window, and then heard a loud crash, a call out, and a shriek in direction of my uncle's room. I rushed theither—a dark form dashed by me in the uncertain light of the room—and I fell over something upon the floor. With fear in my heart I arose, lighted a candle, and saw my uncle's body covered with blood, gold scattered upon the floor, and my own knife, which had done the deed, lying near. I picked up the knife, and then was I found by the negro and seen by the peddler. As God is my witness, I did not murder the good old man who protected me through life, and whom I loved as though he was my own father. I am guiltless of the the deed, but submit to my fate!"

A silence fell upon all; there were, however, but few who believed the youth's statement; among the latter was Mr. Dewes and his family, who, throughout all, remained staunch friends.

Frank Mercer was to be hung—to die an ignominious death on the gallows—and hundreds flocked to the little town where the execution was to take place to see him die. How they were disappointed to find that the night before he had escaped! How, no one knew; but he had left a note addressed to the jailor, thanking him for the kindness shown him while in his charge, and his regrets that his escape might cause him trouble, but saying he had an opportunity of escaping, and took advantage of it, as he had no idea of dying an ignominious death for an act he was not guilty of, merely to gratify the curiousity of a gaping crowd. Freedom was offered him, and he accepted it, and he hoped he would yet be able to prove his innocence.

This was about the substance of of the letter, and when it was published in the local paper there were some who were glad that the boy had escaped the gallows.

Mr. Mercer's property was, in his will, all left to Frank, and it was found to be considerable. Trustees assumed charge of it, and before long the quiet community had settled down to its usual routine, and the murder and escape were in a short time almost forgotten.

Ten years passed away and no word of the fugitive had been heard, and people believed him dead. One exception was Mary Dewes, now grown to womanhood. She had never believed him dead, and though her life had treasured Frank's image in her inmost heart. the mystery that hung around him but adding strength to her regard. Her sisters had married, her mother was dead, and, together with her father, she had lived at the old homestead.

Business calling Mr. Dewes to Havanna, he took Mary with him, and they set sail from Charleston in a fine ship running south. They had been some days at sea, when, in the dead of night, the fearful cry of "fire" was heard, which aroused all from slumber. In vain were efforts made to quench the flames. The seamen in fright rushed into the only available boat, and it sank with them, and left them struggling in the ocean, borne away by the wind and waves, while Mr. Dewes and Mary, the captain of the ship, and a few others, were huddled away upon the stern, awaiting the fearful doom that must, to all appearance, overtake them. "Sail, ho!"

The joyous cry came from the captain, who had been straining his eyes over the ocean, in hopes of seeing some vessel coming to save them. Swiftly flying toward them came a low, rakish, three-masted schooner, which ever and anon sent up a light to prove to those on board the burning ship that succor was near.

Hark! the deep boom of a gun is heard, and as the captain listens, he exlaims, "Miss Dewes, we are all right now; cheer up for there comes a vessel-of-war to our aid."

"Ship ahoy!" in ringing tones from the schooner, as she came near the burning ship, which was being driven rapidly along by the wind.

"Ahoy!" answered the captain.

"Throw a long line from your ship, and I will send you a boat," came in the same clear tones.

The line was thrown, the boat attached, and, after a little difficulty, the people from the ship were transferred to the schooner, and Mary was soon in the comfortable cabin, rejoicing over their escape from a horrible death.

At breakfast the next morning, the young captain of the war schooner descended to join his guest at the table, and as he entered, Mary sprang toward him.

"Frank Mercer! Oh! it is you—is it not?"

One glance at the beautiful girl, and, though years had passed, Frank Mercer—for it was no other—recognized the playmate whom he had loved so well, and whom he had never ceased to think of.

Mr. Dewes came forward, and what a joyful meeting was there; but seeing a cloud, as if of bitter memories, come over the young captain's face, Mr. Dewes said: "First, let me relieve your mind of one thing. Your innocence in Virginia has been thoroughly established; for a negro runaway, hung the other day for killing a woman, confessed, just before his death, that he had murdered your uncle, and your arriving when you did had prevented him from getting the gold, but made him escape from the house. He knew your uncle kept a large amount of money, and you being away, as he procured your knife, and with it committed the fatal deed."

Frank listened to Mr. Dewes almost breathless, and then, when he had concluded, he bowed his face in his hands and wept like a child.

"But come in," said Mr. Dewes at length "we are hungry, and need breakfast, and dying to know how you became a captain in the Mexican navy."

"My story is easily told, my dear friends; for, escaping from prison through your kindness, I went to Mexico, entered the navy, and, having rendered some service, rose to my present command, which has been the means of saving your lives."

Little more [illegible] Frank [illegible] returned home [illegible] by the entire community. [illegible] possession of his [illegible] greatly [illegible] months afterward [illegible] where he was to have [illegible] man a halter [illegible] for death, he had the [illegible] mony thrown around [illegible] the bride was Mary Dewes [illegible] if it had been both dark and bright in a remarkable degree.—[illegible] Dispatch.

Modes of Salutation.

The usual salutation at Cairo is, [illegible] [illegible] indication of a destructive [illegible]

Greenlanders have none, [illegible] the idea of one person being subject to another.

Islanders, near the Philippines, take a person's hand or foot, and rub it over their face.

Laplanders apply their nose against the person they salute, very strongly.

In the Straits of the Sound, they raise the left foot of the person addressed, pass it gently over the right leg, and thence to the face.

The inhabitants of the Philippines bend very low, placing their hands on their cheeks and raise one foot in the air, with the knee bent.

The Dutch who are considered so great have a morning salutation, common among all classes, "Smakelyk eten"—"May you eat a hearty dinner." Another is, "Hoe vaart uwe?"—"How do you sail?" adopted, no doubt, in the early periods of the Republic when they were all navigators and fishermen.

Some author has observed, in contrasting the haughty Spaniard with the frivolous Frenchman, that the proud, steady gait and inflexible solemnity of the former were expressed in his mode of salutation. "Comie esta?" "How do you stand?" while the "Comment vous portez vous?" "How do you carry yourself?" was equally expressive of the gay motion and incessant action of the latter.

In some parts of Africa, a young woman an intended bride, brings a little water in a calabash, and kneeling down before her lover, desires him to wash his hands. When he has done this, the girl, with a tear of joy sparkling in her eyes, drinks the water. This is considered the greatest proof she can give him of her fidelity and attachment.

An Ethiopian takes the robe of another and ties it about him, so as to leave him almost naked.

The Japanese take off a slipper, and the people of Arracan their sandals in the street, and their stockings in the house, when they salute.

Two negro Kings on the coast of Africa salute by snapping the middle finger three times.

The inhabitants of Carmen, when they show particular attachment, open a vein and present their blood to the friend as a beverage.

If the Chinese meet after a long separation, they fall on their knees, bend their faces to the earth two or three times, and use many other affected modes. They have also a kind of ritual, or academy of bows, by which they regulate the number of bows, genuflexions, and words to be spoken on certain occasions. Ambassadors practice these ceremonies forty days before they appear in Court. The common salutation in the Southern provinces of China, among the lower order is "Ya fan?" "Have you eaten your rice?"

In Otaheite they rub their noses together.

Social Equality.

Mr. Dickson, a colored barber in one of the largest towns in Massachusetts, was one morning shaving one of his customers, a respectable citizen, when a conversation occurred between them respecting Mr. Dickson's former connection with a colored church in the place.

"I believe you are connected with the church in Elm street, Mr. Dickson?" said the customer.

'No, sah, not at all.'

'Why, are you not a member of the African church?'

'Not this year, sah.'

'Why did you leave their communion, Mr. Dickson, if I may be permitted to ask?'

'Why, I tell you, sah,' said Mr. Dickson, strapping a concave razor on the palm of his hand, 'it was just like dis. I jined dat church in good faith. I gib $10 toward de stated preachin of de Gospel de fuss year, and de people all call me brudder Dickson. De second year de church people call me Mr. Dickson. Dis razor [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] sion.'

So saying Mr. Dickson brushed his customer's hair, and the customer departed well satisfied with the reason why Mr. Dickson left his church.

A gentleman was traveling in Tennessee and was obliged to [illegible] for the night [illegible] [illegible]. During the progress of the evening meal, he observed an [illegible] piece of bread. [illegible] the bread.

The old lady remarked that it was only a piece of [illegible], exclaimed: [illegible] [illegible]

SPIRITS ON THE RAMPAGE.

Strange Doings in [illegible]

(From the Wooster [illegible])

[illegible] the Rev. Cotton Mather, [illegible] memory, were living in these degenerate days, he would have his hands full of business in this city, at the house of [illegible] the corner of Pittsburgh Avenue and [illegible] Lane. The family is said to [illegible] successfully [illegible] in their [illegible] [illegible] in their way. [illegible] the community [illegible] Spiritualism. [illegible] the house [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] he entered the room [illegible] at a glance that something was amiss, and before he had time to extend her the usual 'How d'ye do?' she added:

'I think, Mr. Pond, that a man of your age and profession might have had something better to do, when you were in New London last week, than to buy Enoch a fiddle; and all the people are saying that our minister should buy his son a fiddle! Oh, dear, what is the world coming to, when ministers will do such things?'

'Who told you I had a fiddle?' inquired the Doctor.

'Who told me? Why everybody says so and some people have heard him play on it as they passed the door. But ain't it true, Doctor?'

'I bought Enoch a violin when I went to New London.'

'A violin! what's that?'

'Did you ever see one?'

'Never.'

'Enoch!' said the Doctor, stepping to the door, 'bring your violin here.'

Enoch obeyed the command, but no sooner had he entered with his instrument than the lady exclaimed:

'La! now, there; why it is a fiddle.'

'Do not judge harshly,' said the doctor, giving his son a wink; 'wait till you hear it.'

Taking the hint, Enoch played Old Hundred. The lady was completely mystified; it looked like a fiddle, but then who had ever heard Old Hundred played on a fiddle? It could not be. So, rising to depart, she exclaimed, 'I am glad I came in to satisfy myself. Law! just to think how people will lie!'

The Holy Land.

Several years ago a society for the prosecution of researches and discoveries in the Holy Land was formed in England. The examinations made under its auspices have brought to light a number of interesting matters. Last year an American society was formed with the same object. It has been arranged with the parent society that the Americans shall pursue their explorations east of the river Jordan a region of country hitherto comparatively unexplored. It is estimated that $10,000 will suffice, according to the plan of the society, to carry out this purpose for the first year. Among the discoveries already made have been the buried foundations of the ancient temple, the Moabite stone, the pavement of the ancient city, worn smooth by the tread of Jews who lived and moved in the days of our Savior and the ancient bed of the brook Kedron, whose waters flowed by the base of Mount Moriah.

"Brother Smith, what does this mean?"

"What does what mean?"

"Bringing a nigger to this church."

"The pew is my own."

"Your own! Is that any reason why you should insult the whole congregation?"

"But he is intelligent and well educated."

"Who cares for that? He is a nigger."

"But he is a friend of mine."

"What of that? Must you therefore insult the whole congregation?"

"But he is a christain, and belongs to the same denomination."

"What do I care for that? Let him go and worship with his fellow niggers."

"But he is worth five million dollars," said the merchant.

"Worth what?"

"Worth five million dollars!" Jerusalem! Worth five millions! Brother Smith introduce us."

How Soon Forgotten!

There is a volume of history in the following picture of man's insignificance: [illegible]

So lately died, so soon forgotten. [illegible] the way of the world. [illegible] the hand, and are [illegible] of our bodies, and laugh at our jokes, and we think like the fly on the wheel we have something to do with turning it [illegible]. Some day, we die and are buried. The sun does not stop for our funeral; [illegible] on as usual. We are not missed. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

A tobacco loving preacher, [illegible], asked to stay all night at a country house, but was forbidden by the lady. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Courier.

[illegible]

[illegible] the Eternal City was formerly considered unhealthy by members of the brotherhood, but recent political developments [illegible] prophets.

The cost of collecting [illegible]

A doctor's [illegible]

How to [illegible] of the Income Tax [illegible]

A German [illegible] in Lafayette [illegible]

A debating society [illegible] discussing the question "which is the [illegible] end of a goat."

Why [illegible]

Why [illegible]

Gen. [illegible] the [illegible]

"Jake, [illegible] my dog?" Jake replied [illegible] and sympathetically: "Oh, Jim, I wouldn't [illegible]"

The [illegible] but [illegible] jolly [illegible]

A clergyman, after marrying a couple, made a prayer [illegible] concluding, "Forgive them, [illegible] they know not what they do."

Frank Bird, maintaining that the phrase to "sit down" and "sit up" are proper. He says he used to "sit up" with a gal thirty years ago.

Rich women, however ugly, can have no difficulty in getting married if they will paint themselves and look as if they wouldn't live long.

A census-taker out West reports eight thousand colonels in his district. "There used to be more in this part of the country," he says, "but [illegible] of them have been raised to generals."

Mrs. Fair who was on trial at San Francisco, last week, for the murder of A. P. Crittenden, has been found guilty by the jury. Her sentence will probably be that of imprisonment for life.

An old lady, who was sharply questioned the other day by angry lawyers, remarked, on leaving the witness stand, that she now understood what is meant by a cross examination.

"I meant to tell you of that hole," said a gentleman to his friends who was walking with him in his garden, and stumbled into a pitfall of water. "No matter," said the friend, "I've found it."

An Irish lad complained the other day of the harsh treatment he had received from his father. "He treats me" said he, mournfully, "as if I was his son by another father and mother."

There have been many definitions of a gentleman, but the prettiest and most poetic is that given by a young lady. "A gentleman," says she, "is a human being combining a woman's tenderness with a man's courage."

The remark of an exchange, "that many of our successful lawyers commenced life as preachers," is gracefully corrected by one of legal gentleman referred to, who begs leave to state that he began life as an infant.

A mother was amused the other day to hear this bit of "argument" from her little boy. "Mamma, I don't see how Satan could have turned out such a bad fellow when there wasn't any devil to put him up to it."

Said a youngster in high glee displaying his purchase to a bosom friend on the sidewalk: "Two cocoanuts for ten cents! that will make me sick to-morrow, and I won't have to go to school."

A gentleman was praising the beautiful hair of a lady, when one of those precocious little misses, who always have a word to say, remarked, "I guess my hair would look as well if I took as much care of it. Mamma never sleeps in her hair."

An exchange, in speaking of the magical strains of a hand organ, says: "When the organist played 'Old Dog Tray,' we noticed eleven pups sitting in front of the machine on their haunches, brushing the tears from their eyes with their fore paws."

A German [illegible] of New Rochelle got on the lightning train which didn't stop at his place, and jumped off while the train was on the fly in the air. The [illegible] said it was a mortal [illegible] a handsome corpse [illegible] around [illegible]

A [illegible] speaking of the young [illegible] from his daughter [illegible] said: "He is a good fellow, and has but one fault, [illegible]" "A [illegible] [illegible] son-in-law," replied his friend. "Yes, he doesn't know how to swear, but he [illegible]," was the reply.

The redemption of fractional currency at the Treasury amounts to about $100,000 a day, [illegible] being being burned in [illegible] as it is received. The [illegible] of [illegible] currency is, however, greater than the amount redeemed. The law limits the circulation to [illegible],000,000. The amount in circulation now is about $40,000,000, and is greater than ever before.

The Courier.

AUBURN, IND., MAY 11, 1871.

A [illegible] the [illegible] City was formerly considered unhealthy by members of the brotherhood, but recent political developments seem to have strengthened that prejudice.

THE cost of collecting the internal revenue has been increased [illegible] twenty dollars [illegible] during [illegible] year, nearly [illegible] the Income Tax. [illegible] of the Income Tax [illegible] reaches the Treasury. [illegible] people [illegible] Administration [illegible] pay for the luxury.

The situation in France is growing worse [illegible]. The Government troops are [illegible] the [illegible] insurgents [illegible] suffering [illegible] more [illegible] than it did from the Germans. The insurgents [illegible] the advantage [illegible] or government [illegible]. The bloody work still goes on and there is no knowing what will be the end of it.

THE Democratic State Convention which assembled at Frankfort, last Thursday, was largely attended, [illegible] harmonious [illegible] interest and spirit, and nominated the following gentlemen: Governor, P. H. Leslie; Lieutenant Governor, C. Carlisle; Auditor, D. H. Smith; Treasurer, J. W. Tate; Superintendent of Public Instruction, H. A. M. Henderson; Register of Land Office, J. A. Dawson; Attorney General, John Rodman.

Governor [illegible] speech is severely denounced by Radical politicians at Washington, who assert that he does not know what he is talking about, and that he has had no opportunity to ascertain anything about the operations of the Ku-Klux. The Radicals seem anxious to keep alive all stories about outrages in the South. It is the only thing they say that will keep their party together. If that be the case, it certainly hangs upon a slender thread.

MR. WELLS, an eminent Republican, in an address delivered at Cincinnati, recently, said: "Let the advocates of special theories say what they may there never was time in our history when wealth increased faster and distributed itself more equally, and when our population was more actively and fully employed, than in the three years immediately preceding the out-break of the rebellion." Here is a compliment to the Democracy well worth considering.

Connecticut—One Majority.

The official canvass of the vote for Governor in Connecticut has just been completed, and shows the reelection of Governor English, democratic candidate, by a majority of one vote! The only similar case in the history of gubernatorial elections in this country, was that of Marcus Morton, who was, many years ago, elected governor of Massachusetts. Considering that about two thousand negroes were added to the radical strength in Connecticut this year, the democratic gain is about twelve hundred.

BROWNLOW.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer writes:

"One of the saddest spectacles presented in the Senate Chamber in these days is the big cushioned chair which holds the last of the mortal remains of poor Parson Brownlow, of Tennessee. It sits at the left of the President's rostrum, on the skirmish line. There they bring every day the withered remnant of the Apostle of Hate, and over that chair there seems to hover, at all hours, the black Angel of Death. Sallow and emaciated, trembling with palsy in every limb, he sits and watches the proceedings around him with what seems tearful interest, and only the light which burns dimly in his once vicious eye is left to tell of the fierce spirit which, in times past, inhabited that never very prepossessing frame. His right arm lays by his side, and the [illegible] twitches and vibrates with the regularity of a heart-beat. They set a glass of water upon his desk, but he [illegible] lips. [illegible]

John Forton was killed by lightning near Kendallville last week.

Vanity is a strong drink that makes all the virtues stagger.

SPIRITS ON THE RAMPAGE.

Strange Doings in Wooster.

(From the Wooster Republican.)

If the Rev. Cotton Mather, of witch memory, were living in these degenerate days, he would have his hands full of business in this city, at the house of Mr. David Hoffman, near the corner of Pittsburgh Avenue and Stibbs' Lane. The family is said to be haunted by [illegible] spirits, who are [illegible] in their evil doings, [illegible] in their [illegible].

The matter has for some time created considerable interest and excitement in the community, and revives Spiritualism. Our reporter visited the house [illegible] and learned the following [illegible].

The family consists of [illegible] years of age [illegible] two daughters [illegible].

He states that he was doing well at the mill, had a good salary and a good home, and in every way in comfortable circumstances, until disorder, in a mysterious way, visited his family. It first commenced, he said, a year ago last June, by his missing two dollars from his pocket-book, after which he privately hid his money; but that, too, disappeared in the most unaccountable manner. Articles of food and clothing in daily increasing quantities went the same way. Crockery was [illegible] from shelves and broke to pieces; stones and gravel, [illegible] other things, were thrown about in the house, apparently without human agency, the [illegible] seemingly having headquarters in the cellar. The family, from being [illegible] became frightened; and imagining that a change of abode might bring relief from the spirits, removed to Wooster last summer, Mr. Hoffman remaining at the mill, where he was unmolested by any evil visitation. But his family, who lived in Mr. Snook's house, west Liberty street, was not so fortunate. The trouble became even greater. The clothing of the mother and eldest daughter was taken, some returned, from whence no one could tell, all cut to pieces as if with shears, and some found secreted in out-of-the-way places; for instance, all their underclothing was found stuffed into the mouth of the cellar drain, a silk dress hid under a wood-pile in the cellar, and skirts, &c., buried in sand. Many written notes were thrown, apparently from the cellar, bearing all kinds of messages. One was, that if Mrs. Hoffman would come down to the foot of the cellar stairs on her knees, on a certain specified day and hour, she would there find a box containing $2,000. Prior to this the family had become afraid to enter the cellar, and as she could only go down the steps backward on her knees, Mrs. Hoffman, afraid of bodily injury, was dissuaded by her neighbors from making the hazardous attempt. But she went to Holmes county and brought her husband to Wooster, hoping that he could get the lucre, and by his presence abate the "spirits," or IT, as he calls the evil agents of her fireside. Another note was received, stating no one could get the money but herself. It has not been secured up to the present time.

The troubles raged on. Mr. Hoffman, at a sacrifice, was compelled to give up his situation at the mill and join his family in Wooster. A few weeks ago they moved to where they now reside, followed by IT.

By request of the family, a clergyman of Wooster visited them, and offered prayer. Shortly after he left, a scrap of paper dropped strangely to the floor, upon which was written, that, as they (the family) had "prayed to Got," the spirits wouldn't bother them for a while. All was quiet for a few days.

On one occasion Mr. Hoffman called upon IT to cease, without avail, whereupon he indulged in a little tall swearing, when all became serene. A young man called there last Friday evening, and said that if the spirits could cut up his hat or handkerchief they were welcome. A small stone dropped on his head which when picked up, he found red hot; and upon taking out his handkerchief discovered it cut to shreds. As another instance very peculiar a young gentleman, and confirmed skeptic in Spiritualism, with other persons visited the house on last Sabbath afternoon, and on his return to his brother's residence, to the amazement of all, at least twenty holes were found in his handkerchief, which had not been out of his pocket at the haunted house. Mr. Hoffman answered one of the spirit notes, placed his reply quietly in the cellar, but just as he got up stairs into the room his own note dropped on the floor by his side—all his family present.

Until last Friday, nothing of Mr. Hoffman's clothing had been touched. That night his two pairs of boots—all he had—were taken, and also the table knives, but the boots were mysteriously returned next day, accompanied by an exceedingly vulgar note. On last Saturday all his clothing, excepting an old working suit, was taken, and words written on the side of the house to the effect that they would not be returned. [illegible]

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and the eldest daughter have [illegible] on their [illegible]. It is a [illegible] wanton destruction of property. From a [illegible] comfortable [illegible], Mr. Hoffman is getting into reduced circumstances. He said he had lost about a thousand dollars during the last year.

The whole matter is confounding. There are, however, several plausible theories for the cause of the seemingly marvelous transactions. Careful watch has been kept, yet no clue to the perpetrators of the outrages has been discovered. Hundreds of men, and women have visited the premises. It is said that the Spiritualists propose holding meetings at the house, and get up a circle to see if anything can be developed. We will keep our readers posted upon the subject.

A new passenger house is to be erected at Elkhart soon.

Humbug.

It is wonderful how long a lie will [illegible] "might supply capacious and protected harbors, where our shipping, commercial and naval might freely resort for [illegible]."

Now the fact is that in all the coast of San Domingo there is not a single good harbor. The only place which has the appearance of being a harbor is the bay of Samana; and there [illegible] can be got in. [illegible] —New York Sun.

[illegible]

Some of the friends of T. A. Scott are a little surprised that he should be out in a [illegible] this summer, and are engaged hunting up railroads, two or three hundred miles long, to enable him to take the Presidency, just to keep his hand in. This is well enough, as he is only President of five railroads, including the Union Pacific, Vice President of twelve, including the Pennsylvania Central, Director in thirty-three, and General Consolidation Agent for the balance. He keeps four Secretaries busy looking after his iron, oil, silver, gold, quicksilver, lead, slate, steel, coal and wild land interests, devotes a few leisure moments, to steel and rail and locomotive manufactories, steamship lines, bridge building and engineering. Finds relaxation in running the Pennsylvania and Virginia Legislatures, and entire repose in directing Congress, the President and the Supreme Bench, in all that relates to his chain of roads throughout the land. Independent of all this he is married. His locks are slightly sprinkled with gray, but this comes of years not care. His face wears a sunny smile, and is as cheerful as a robin in May. It is well, that his friends look after him and see that time is not permitted to hang heavy on his hands.

JOHN C. CALHOUN.—The Charleston News states that on April 8th the remains of John C. Calhoun were removed from the grave where they had been placed in 1865 and restored to their original resting place in the family vault in St. Philip's churchyard. [illegible] Morris Island. When Morris Island was evacuated by the Confederate forces in 1865, it was feared that the remains of Calhoun would become scattered during the approaching rude conflict of arms, and hence they were removed to a place of safety known only to a few. The recent disinterment was preformed with simple but affecting solemnities, in the presence of the rector and vestrymen of St. Philip's Church.

AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

HORSERADISH FOR ANIMALS.—An exchange says: Horseradish is an excellent condiment to mix with food of cows to give them an appetite, and make them sleek and thrifty. It should be fed freely to all animals that are not well, and it will be of great service to working oxen troubled with heat. If given to cows in doses of a pint a day, mixed with potatoes or bran, it will prevent or relieve the cows of the disease called cake in the bag. Few animals will refuse to eat it, and some will eat of it greedily, as much as a half peck at a time.

The vigilance committee are again at work in Scott county.

A FAMILY WITHOUT A NEWSPAPER.—Nothing presents a sadder comment upon the the present unhealthy condition of our once loved and prosperous country than the large number of families both in the city and country, but more especially in the latter, that subscribe to no paper of any kind. Hundreds and thousands of families are thus growing up in utter ignorance of what is daily transpiring in the world around them—ignorant of the mighty events of to-day.

But who can tell the vast amount of injury that is being inflicted upon the rising generation—those who are to take our places in the busy world at no distant day—growing up without any knowledge of the present, the past, or any study of the future; and this ignorance, too, being instilled into them by the sanction of those who should, and doubtless do, know better, did they only think of the injurious effects of their insane course. Let the head of every family think of this, and place in the hands of those for whom he is responsible, the means of acquiring a thorough knowledge of the moving panorama in which we enact our parts.

DEAFNESS, CATARRH, SCROFULA. A lady who had suffered for years from Deafness, Catarrh and Scrofula, was cured by a simple remedy. Her sympathy and gratitude prompt her to send the receipt free of charge to any one similarly afflicted Address Mrs. [illegible], Jersey city, N. J.

Thea-Nectar IS A PURE BLACK TEA [illegible] Co., 8 Church st., New York. P. O. Box 5506.

WANTED—AGENTS [illegible]

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. [illegible]

ALL PERSONS [illegible] Fort Wayne Ind. Jan. 5

The following is the latest version of the song—"Put me in my Little Bed."

Mother, since cheap divorce is granted,
Mother, will you leave the West.
Shall I stay with you or father?
Tell me, mother, which is the best.
He'll be much surprised, I fear me,
When he knows what you have done;
And unless you hover near me,
He'll appropriate your child.

Mother, if the move was needed;
If the income you and he Shared so long, at last his bred an Incompatibility;
If you'll be his wife no longer,
When returning from the West,
[illegible]
[illegible] which the best?

The first chapter of a Western novel contains the following:—[illegible] fair girl continued to [illegible] upon the [illegible] all she can tell with how much of lore and [illegible] and pine lumber and emigrants, and [illegible].

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new, and cheap, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne Ind. [illegible]

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the Estate of Joseph Penny, late of said county, deceased. Said Estate is supposed to be solvent.

JAMES S. PENNY, Adm'r.
April 26, 1871.

Application for License.

NOTICE is hereby given to the citizens of [illegible] Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will make application to the Board of Commissioners, of said county, at their June Session, 1871, for license to retail intoxicating liquors in a less quantity than a quart, [illegible] with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises, viz: the east forty feet of Lot No. 80 in [illegible] addition to the town of [illegible] in said county.

April 27th, 1871. WM. H. [illegible]

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that William [illegible] administrator of the Estate of Fannie Hoover, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas.

J. R. LANNING Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court.
J. E. Rose, Att'y.
April 26th, 1871.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that Peleg Hall, Administrator of the Estate of Amos [illegible], deceased has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas.

J. R. LANNING Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court.
J. E. Rose, Att'y.
April 26th 1871.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

It contains over 100 fine engravings of Battle Scenes and incidents in the war, and is the only Authentic and official history of that great conflict.

Caution. Inferior histories are being circulated. See that the books you buy contains 100 fine engravings and maps. Send for circulars & see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address, National Publishing Co., Chicago Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Louis, Mo.

Scripture and Science have met together Genesis and Geology have kissed each other.

SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

A book of thrilling interest and greatest importance to every human being. The papers, Pulpits and people are all discussing the subject and book, every man woman and child wants to read it. The long fierce war is ended, and honorable peace secured. Science is true, the Bible literal, pure and beautiful, both now satisfied and firm friends. God's work days, six literal days, not long periods. This book gives the very cream of science, making its thrilling realities, beauties, wonders and sparkling gems a hundred fold more interesting than fiction. AGENTS WANTED. Experienced Agents will drop other books and secure territory immediately. Address for circular. ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 129 Race St., Cincinnati, O.

COUGH! COUGH! COUGH

Why will you Cough when you can be so easily relieved by using

Dr. Wells' Carbolic Tablets!

They are sure cure for sore throat, cold, hoarseness, Catarrh and all diseases of the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes.

From the great number of Testimonials as to the efficiency of this invaluable medicine the following is selected.

47 Wabansia Ave., Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14 1871.

"For the last ten years I have been a great sufferer from frequent attacks of Acute Bronchitis, and have never found anything to relieve me from these attacks until I tried D. Well' Carbolic Tablets."

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets.

JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole agent.
Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

AGENTS MALE & FEMALE. For fast selling popular subscription Books. Extra inducements to Agents. Information free. Address Am. Book Co., 62 William St. N. Y.

5 TO $20 DAY! Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to sell our new 7 strand White Wire Clothes Lines to last for ever. Dont miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Mills, 75 Wm. St., N. Y., or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Reduction of Prices
TO CONFORM TO
Reduction of Duties
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS
By Getting up Clubs.

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Abdominal Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called, sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice, with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

JERUBEBA.

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Read "Convent Life Unveiled," By Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling & startling. Price $2.00, Conn. Pub. Co., Hartford, Ct.

WATCH Free, and $30 a day sure, no humbug. Address with stamp, LATTA & Co., Pittsburgh Pa.

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is [illegible] in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chromo lithographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever [illegible]. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that George H. [illegible] Administrator of the estate of Richard G. [illegible], deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, and that the same will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk D. C.
[illegible], Att'y.

FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that Andrew Bally, Administrator of the estate of David [illegible], deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which report will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk D. C.
May 3, 1871. Guy Plum, atty for estate.

Final Settlement.

NOTICE is hereby given that John A. Campbell Administrator of the Estate of William [illegible] Campbell, deceased, has filed his final settlement report in my office, which will be heard at the next term of the DeKalb Court of Common Pleas.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk,
DeKalb Common Pleas Court.
J. E. Rose, Att'y.
April 28th 1871.

Estray Notice.

TAKEN up lately by the subscriber, at his residence near [illegible], DeKalb County, Indiana, [illegible] years old, [illegible] white [illegible] with no marks or brands.

[illegible] J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Washington [illegible] Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of six hundred and fifty four dollars and eighty [illegible] cents with interest on said Judgment, and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment interest and costs I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest, and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. CRISSEY, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 26, A. D 1871.
$7.50

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Levi W. Bates is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of eleven hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty-one cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. CRISSEY, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 26th, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein Gilman Dubois and others are Plaintiffs and John A. Bartlett, George R. Bartlett are Defendants, required me to make the sum of Twenty-one hundred and sixteen dollars and seventy one cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] east, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. CRISSEY, Dep'y.
Auburn, Indiana, April 26, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
DeKalb County: }
In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.
John L. Short, }
vs. } Complaint No. 64.
E. W. Shepard. }

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. Shepard, whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.—Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,
BUILDING CONTRACTORS!
AND DEALERS IN BUILDING STONE
OF EVERY VARIETY
MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES
IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.
MANTELS
IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron
MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
MARBLE SLATE and
SANDSTONE, HEARTHS,
SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.
TERRA COTTA WORK,
Vases, Chimney Tops
STONE WATER TABLES,
Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,
SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,
Cement Plaster, &c

Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workman only employed.

SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
F. M. BIDDLE.
April 29, '70. 1y

Application for License.

NOTICE is hereby given the citizens of Union Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will make application at the next session of the Board of Commissioners, of said county, for license to retail Intoxicating liquors, at and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises, to-wit: The South half of Lot 91 old Plat, in Auburn in said county.

JOHN [illegible].

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, he advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!
Fort Wayne Indiana,
Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

We desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. e buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin. 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20, cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25, 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, lacec laces in great varitey, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.
April [illegible]

Brahma Pootra

Eggs & Male Birds

FOR SALE!

From fine care premium stock.—Warranted pure, $2,00 per dozen.

Address T. C. ELSON.
March 23d, 1871. Auburn, Ind.

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisins,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE.
Highest Price given for Produce,
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN
Feb. 24 1y

Root & Company
IN FULL BLAST!
Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at
Root & Company's
Popular Dry Goods House
KNOWN AS THE
New York Store!
90 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne Indiana.

FACT.

Parties at home [illegible]

Root & Company's
POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE
90 Columbia st.

We are now showing [illegible]
Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk
New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French [illegible] Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.
NEW GOODS FOR SUITS
Also all the new and handsome styles of
PARASOLS.
Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols.
Also a magnificent line of
Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens
New Embroideries, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, &c., &c.

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company
NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,
FORT WAYNE, IND.

HEADQUARTERS!
FOR
WALTHAM, ELGIN AND SWISS
AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,
AT
J. ABRIGHT'S,
Opposite the Court House.
I have also just received new patterns in Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated
JEWELRY
New styles in OPERA GUARD and VEST CHAINS.
SILVER WARE
DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CUTLERY,
Musical Instruments
Watches & Clocks,
Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.
J. ABRIGHT.
Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind.

FORT WAYNE
HAT FACTORY!
JAMES HARPER & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,
AND DEALERS IN
Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,
No. 3 Phenix Block, Calhoun St.,
Fort Wayne Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand
ON MAIN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may desire

FOR CASH
OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account to come and settle, as he is determined to collect out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTS.
Feb. 23 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examinations regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a License to six months and the particular district requiring such license. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, where previous grade is low [illegible].

[illegible] W. H. McINTOSH.

The Auburn Courier

[illegible] of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

The corn planters are at work.

The beautiful and fragrant bloom of the lilac is here.

[illegible] applicants for divorces, at the next term of the Common Pleas Court.

COURT.—The Court of Common Pleas, Judge Clapp presiding, commences next Monday. There are 127 cases to be disposed of.

Five [illegible] pieces of [illegible] silver are again in circulation. They are perfect imitations of the genuine and well calculated to deceive.

THE L. S. & M. S. Railway Company have ordered six new locomotives, four new passenger coaches, eighty-four box and twenty-five flat cars.

THE famous Hooley's Minstrels, from Chicago, are to be at the Opera House, Fort Wayne, July 5th and 6th. This is the largest minstrel company in the State.

The [illegible] stock of Wall Paper at Davenport's Drug Store, is one of the largest ever brought to this place, and embraces all the neatest and most beautiful styles in the market.

CANCER REMOVED.—Quite a large cancer was removed from the breast of Mrs. [illegible] Ford, last Friday. Dr. Chamberlain, of Waterloo, performed the operation, and the patient is doing well.

AMUSING.—To see the varied facial expressions of Prof. Davenport. The entertainment was very good indeed, and we were sorry that there were not more present to enjoy it.

If you want to enjoy an hour of admiring the grand and beautiful, go out into the country one of these fine spring mornings. The grandest works of art bear no comparison to the beauties of nature at this delightful season.

MILLIONS of potato bugs are roosting on the fences impatiently waiting for the vines to come up. They spend their leisure time in whetting their teeth and holding mass meetings to denounce the use of Paris Green.—Laporte Argus.

TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.—The first Convention of the temperance organization, for the north-east District, will be held at Fort Wayne, next week, May 16th and 17th, at Hamilton's Hall. Several addresses, by prominent speakers, will be delivered, and attractive programme is announced.

EXCURSION.—Don't forget that you can go to Fort Wayne next Saturday, to see the great game of base ball, and return in the evening at seven o'clock, by special train. The fare for the round trip from Waterloo is $150, from Auburn, $125, and New Era, 95 cents.

NOT SO.—It seems now that the report circulated sometime ago, that the Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cincinnati Railroad had been sold to the Fort Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw Railroad, turns out now to be false. No such sale has been made, and the two lines are still controlled by different corporations.

WE hope the ballists of this place will get up a good amateur club, for the season. We understand a meeting is to be held next Friday evening, for that purpose. We believe Auburn can hold the championship of the county, at least. Butler, Waterloo and Newville have already organized and are now ready for business. Organize, boys, and give them something to do.

FORT WAYNE, can claim the champion "beat." Finding himself badly off for his regular invigorator, he puts a gallon of water in a two-gallon demijohn, and presenting himself at the grocery, asked for a gallon of whisky. It was duly enclosed in the demijohn, but of course there was no trust, and the liquor had to be retained. A gallon was poured out, and the "beat" went on his way, rejoicing in the possession of a gallon of good grog. He turned up his drunk an hour after.

BASE BALL.—The KeKiongas, of Fort Wayne, defeated the Forest City Club, of Cleveland, last Thursday, by a core, the like of which has never been attained before. They whitewashed the Clevelanders nine times, and only made two themselves. This shows great skill, and we doubt whether it will ever be beaten. They play the White Stockings, of Chicago, next Saturday, and as they are recognized as being the best club in the country, it will be a grand treat to see the game.

A GREEN hand in the milk business, who bought out a dealer in Fort Wayne, found he did not have milk enough to go round to all the old circle of customers, and applied to the seller for relief, who gave him the following recipt for making "milk," assuring him that with this he would be "all right:" Take three table spoonsful of molasses, one and a half teaspoonsful of saleratus, and three quarts of milk to twenty-two quarts of water; add three pints of this mixture to each twelve quart can of milk."

ADVANCED.—The season is said to be in advance of former years, very nearly, if not altogether, a month. In some places the rye is already headed, a thing which does not often happen before the middle of May. Many of our farmers have commenced planting their corn, and the early potatoes are up and growing rapidly. Salad, onions, asparagus, and other spring vegetables are becoming plenty and cheap in our markets, and everything, at present, is favorable to a plentiful and abundant yield. "Our lines have been cast in pleasant places," and we are, on the whole, a peculiarly and highly favored people.

THE SWALLOWS.—The swallows have arrived and may now be seen, morning and night, around their old haunts, making the air ring with their shrill chattering. These birds are migratory, and come among us and go away at about a stated time every year. A flock numbering hundreds may be seen each evening skimming over and around the town, and by their twittering attracting much attention. The swallow feeds entirely upon insects, and is one of the best little friends of the fruit grower that lives.

A meeting was held at Defiance, last Tuesday, in regard to a preliminary survey of the [illegible] route. Mr. [illegible], the engineer, appointed by Mr. Garrett, of Baltimore, was present, and a permanent arrangement made with him. The survey will commence immediately after observations have been made over the line from [illegible] to Chicago. For this purpose the [illegible] at Hicksville [illegible] evening, at Newville, Thursday; this evening, at Auburn, to-morrow, Friday at noon, and Albion in the evening.

This preliminary survey will require subscriptions of about $500, and we hope it will be raised without the least delay or difficulty. Everything seems to be working in our favor, and if we but do our duty, we shall get the road. Defiance has contributed $1000, and is ready with more, if necessary, in order to get a complete survey.

Editorial Convention.

Arrangements have been made by the Executive Committee of the State Editorial Association, for free passes for all editors and publishers wishing to attend the meeting on the 18th instant, over the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago Railroad, the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, and the Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette. We presume passes will be issued without question, over all other roads leading into Indianapolis, to such editors as do not already hold them. Editors desiring these passes will please send their names at once to E. W. Halford, chairman of Executive Committee, at this city, and the passes will be sent promptly by return mail. Editors and publishers in the northern half of the State, living on lines connecting with the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago and the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroads are specially urged to make their arrangements to be here on the 18th.—State Sentinel.

CROP PROSPECTS.—Encouraging reports of the wheat crop come from different parts of the State. In many localities it presents an unusual appearance for this season of the year. In consequence of the mild weather of last fall and the plenteous snow during the severe part of winter, the fields show a more even and healthy growth than has been noted for years. In this county, we believe the condition of the wheat fields is very good, and with ordinary good fortune in the future, we may look for a good yield. Farmers are commencing to get in their spring crops, for which work, the weather has been quite favorable. Some apprehension is felt regarding the potato crop, as it is known that the potato bug has been making its way eastward, and that last year, the van guard of the army had reached us. We shall have to endure the scourge sometime it is probable, and the chances are that this year, their averages will be much greater than last.

Fort Wayne Jackson & Saginaw Railroad

The completion of the Fort Wayne Jackson & Saginaw Railroad to our city is among the successful enterprises of the day. The company organized about two years since, and the road, over one hundred miles in length, has been in successful operation nearly eight months. The road is well constructed and ballasted, and six daily trains are now running over it. It is doing a fair business, and particularly in freight—the average number of loaded cars daily, being about thirty. The fast freight Blue line runs over this road and shippers can load cars at our city and without changing bulk they will be landed in New York, Boston or any other eastern market. First-class passenger tickets are sold at the depot in Bloomingdale, for all parts of the country east. The route is over this road to Jackson, the Michigan Central Railroad, Great Western, New York Central & Hudson River Railroads. The road is first class in all its equipments and is destined at no distant day, to be classed among the best roads, as to business and management, in the country. It is designed to connect the road with the Fort Wayne, Muncie & Cincinnati, thus making a continuation to Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

We cannot, in justice to our citizens who have been so energetic in securing the construction of this road, pass this short notice without a word of commendation to the officers of the company. Mr. P. B. Loomis, the President, is a resident of Jackson, Mich., and a very affable gentleman. Through his efforts, joined with those of our citizens, first among whom are Messrs. Rudisill and Evans—the early completion of the road has been secured. Mr. Loomis is a thorough business man, and is fast gaining an enviable reputation as one of the leading railroad men of the country. The Assistant superintendent, Mr. A. H. Reese, of Jackson, and the Agent, Mr. S. T. Northup, of this city, are gentlemen of much experience in railroad matters; and through their gentlemanly deportment and strict attention to business the road has become a great favorite with our people. We shall say more of this road hereafter.—Ft. Wayne Journal.

A TOUGH STORY.—A woman who has the beautiful name of Prairie Ward has been amusing people, in the village stations on our railways, by telling a story of her travels. She declares that she has walked all the way from San Francisco. She says she is forty-nine years of age; that her father's name was Armstrong, and that she was a Wyandot half-breed. Her mother, she claims, was a daughter of Russel Bigelow, Chaplain of the Ohio Penitentiary. In 1824, when living near Columbus Ohio, she was stolen by Comanche Indians and carried to the present Territory of Nebraska, where, at the age of thirteen she was married to David Waid, a half-breed, by whom she became the mother of eleven children. Her husband afterward joined the rebel army and she stayed with the tribe. They murdered her children, eat their flesh and danced in their blood. She afterward escaped, taking the long walk above mentioned, and is in Ohio to find out her relations, having been living in Bellefontaine. Her story is decidedly tough.

The Erie Railway Company has given orders to have all the unused locomotives put in condition to begin hauling coal by the first of next month. There is great rejoicing among the employes. Many of the engineers, conductors, firemen and brakemen have made only half time during the suspension of coal mining, while others have been altogether idle.

PERSONAL.—We called on our sinecure friend, Judge Green, of the Defiance Democrat, in Defiance, last Saturday. The Democrat is in a flourishing condition, and the Judge now contemplates an enlargement and the addition of a cylinder press. This is evidence enough to our minds that the Democracy, in that county, can be depended upon for a handsome majority, for Hendricks or any other man, in 1872.

We were also pleased to meet the accomplished editor of the [illegible], a Radical paper of no mean pretensions. This is the only Republican paper in the county, and we should think that in the people of that healthy climate, one was sufficient, politically, we mean. These papers are receiving quite a hearty support, from the enterprise of the place.

Defiance is adding some very attractive features, in the way of public improvements, and this already historic ground will grow still more famous from the perseverance and energy that seems to characterize her citizens. The ground work for a magnificient new Court House, has been commenced under the superintendence of that experienced gentleman Jno. Bland C. Boseker, of Fort Wayne, who has the contract. One of the finest county jails, in the State, is located at this place. Through the kindness of the marshal, and not the law, we were shown its many features, and we think our county could not do better than duplicate it in every particular. The mammoth iron bridge, the Hub and Spoke Factory and Stove foundry, with the magnificient water power, are among the attractions to be seen, and Defiance from her geograpeical position is distined, at no late day, to be one of the best inland citites of the west.

M. E. CHURCH.—This edifice has been repainted on the inside, and a handsome carpet put down, around the alter. The ladies have been busy getting it throughly renovated and cleaned, and it now looks much more attractive. A rostrum for the choir will be put up this week in the front part, between the two entrances, which will make it much more pleasant and comfortable. The ladies earnestly request those in the habit of chewing tobacco, to avoid its use while in the house. Never chew tobacco in church. It is a nasty habit even on the streets, and doubly so, when indulged while in the sanctuary. We hope no one will be guilty of it in any of the churches of our town.

IT is a shame and a crime for which our country was punished severely, last year, to destroy such large numbers of harmless little birds as are shot during every month of the year. The beautiful little sparrows which have been introduced at such a great expense of time and care, are every day brought into the New York markets by the hundreds, and sold, at extortionate prices as game, for human food. Robins and quails in uncounted numbers are also exposed at the game stands and sold. It does seem as if our people are stupidly bent on destroying the goose that lays the golden egg. The immense numbers of noxious insects, that little birds will destroy, held high carnival in our fruit orchards last season. There has never been a year before the past, when so many wormy and insect-bitten apples were sent to market. The universal complaint is, in almost every section of the country. "Our apples are nearly worthless, as they are all so wormy." But, fire away; destroyed their nests; encourage rude boys to stone and shoot every bird within their reach, and, in a few more seasons, we shall hear no complaint about wormy fruit, as there will be none, because the insects and fruit pests will destroy every embryo blossom, or young fruit, before it can mature. When birds are encouraged to dwell in an orcherd, the codling moth and cake-worm, which destroy thousands of bushels of apples, are all devoured by the birds before the depredators can reach the leaves and the fruit. Again we say—spare the birds.

HOW TO TREAT AN EDITOR.—Go into his sanctum when he is busily engaged in writing; turn over all his exchanges, even the one he may be using; ask him a thousand foolish questions and expect answers, at a time when his mind is fixed upon an article he may be penning; ask him whether he has seen something in a paper that he seldom looks at, and inquire of him why it has not been published in his paper. Then leave the office and say the editor is crusty and ill-tempered. Be sure and send three or four other persons to do the same thing in quick succession, and don't fail to find fault the next day because the paper is not quite as interesting or readable as it might be. By all means never make any difference in the hours of the day when you make your calls; and bear in mind, when you do call, that no matter how important the editor's labors may be to himself, he is always obliged to listen to your queries, respond to your suggestions and at the same time do his own business.

THE Indianapolis Mirror truthfully says: "Eighty two first-class (!) Indiana papers including nine dailies, have sold themselves to Geo. P. Rowell & Co., at less than forty cents per month, or less than one-fourth what they charge their friends and neighbors. Publishers who accept such ruinous rates not only act in bad faith toward their local patrons, but lend their aid to break down the business in which they are engaged. The Eighty-two ought to be ashamed of themselves." The Indianian is not one of the eighty—never was, nor never will be.—Indianian

That's us. The paper we purchased was carrying two columns at that rate, but we could'nt see it, and we discontinued them and we expect to keep on at that rate.

A train from Plainfield, New Jersey, for New York, struck one of Barnum's Circus wagons, Thursday morning, near Crawford, New Jersey, and killed three men outright and dangerously injured two others, while a sixth was slightly injured; all belonged to the circus. The wagon was loaded with provisions, dishes, etc., and was totally demolished. Two mules were carried over two hundred feet and left dead. The driver's body was found seventy yards from the crossing.

A Washington dispatch says: There does not seem to be any truth in the report that the subject of the annexation of San Domingo is to be brought up at the approaching session of the Senate. The fate of the project, in such an invent, could be easily forshadowed. The passive friends of annexation are barely in the majority, if indeed they do number a majority, while the earnest advocates of it are less than a quarter of a quorum, as the Senate now stands, and in the present light, as regards the island, the project of annexation could not get a two-thirds vote by any turn it could take.

Exhibit of the Condition of the [illegible]

[illegible]	[illegible]
Total Receipts	[illegible]
Paid [illegible]	[illegible]
Balance on hand	13 67

JNO. L. DAVIS, Town Treas.

The following allowances and appropriations were made during the year:

[illegible] & Clark, lumber	[illegible]
James Griswold	[illegible]
Enos Weaver	[illegible]
John L. Davis, plow & nails	[illegible]
J. [illegible], nails	1 10
[illegible]	[illegible]
Town Clock [illegible]	[illegible]
W. H. Dills, office rent and [illegible]	[illegible]
J. [illegible], for constructing [illegible]	[illegible]
Work on streets [illegible]	[illegible]
Culvert on 1st Street	[illegible]
Ditching	17 00
Side walk to Railroad	[illegible]
Shade Trees in Court House Yard	[illegible]
Expenses of election [illegible]	[illegible]
Salary of town Treasurer	[illegible]
Wm. Acholman's [illegible]	[illegible]
Amount of taxes levied for 1870	[illegible]
Received for licenses	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
Excess of resources for current year	[illegible]
Am't of orders outstanding	[illegible]
Issued for allowances	[illegible]
from May 24, '70, to May 1st '71	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
Deduct orders redeemed during the year	[illegible]
Liabilities	[illegible]
Balance on hand	[illegible]
Am't of Delinquent Tax estimated	[illegible]
Tax levied for 1870	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]
Excess of resources over liabilities	[illegible]

By order of the Board.
Attest: ALBERT [illegible], Town Clerk.
May 24, 1871.

ARE NEWSPAPERS DEAR?—Many people think newspapers dear, that four cents a week for food for the brain is too extravagant; but a glass of whiskey is manufactured from about seventy grains of corn, the value of which is too small to be estimated. A glass of this mixture sells for a dime, and, if of a good brand, is considered worth the money. It deranges and weakens the physical system. On the same [illegible] the [illegible] beverage is [illegible] newspaper. It is covered with half a million types—it brings intelligence from the four quarters of the globe. The newspapers cost less than the glass of grog, but it is not less true that there is a large number of people who think corn juice cheap and newspapers dear.

RAILROAD EXCURSION!

The great Base Ball Match, takes place at Fort Wayne next Saturday, May 13th, 1871, between the White Stockings, of Chicago, and the KeKiongas! A Special Train will run to Angola on the Fort Wayne Jackson and Saginaw Railroad, leaving Fort Wayne at 7 o'clock P. M. Reduced rates will be given as follows.

Angola to Ft. Wayne & Return,			$2 06
Pleasant Lake	"	"	1 80
Summit	"	"	1 70
Waterloo	"	"	1 50
Auburn	"	"	1 25
St. Johns	"	"	1 00
New Era	"	"	95
Stoners	"	"	70
Huntertown	"	"	50

Remember to go down on the regular train Saturday morning, and you can return at the above rates for the round trip in the evening, without fail.

A. H. REESE, Ass't Supt.

Misery loves company, so does a marriageable young lady.

A Lafayette woman 60 year old wants a divorce. She ought to have it.

There is a man in Owen county that has lived in this wicked world 110 years.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

The Sun.
CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.

The Dollar Weekly Sun.

A Newspaper of the Present Times.
Intended for People Now on Earth.
Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.
Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.

SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR, of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.

THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR. A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.

TERMS TO CLUBS.
THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Four Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Eight Dollars.
Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Fifteen Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-three Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-five Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Fifty Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Sixty Dollars.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Eight Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club), Sixteen Dollars.

SEND YOUR MONEY
in Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address
I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher, Sun office, New York City.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

NEW GOODS!

[illegible] entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store, and are prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

[illegible] & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

[illegible]

Keep it then before the people bound westward, "Take the Burlington Route."

SONG ECHO.
A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, [illegible] per dozen. Contains over [illegible] The Musical Notation and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Webster, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed, free of postage to teachers for 50c [illegible]

OF FIFTY DOLLARS WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.
[illegible] their music for less than two cents a piece. Those who have not seen this Musical [illegible] should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 50 cts. Four back numbers for 75 cts. Address J. L. PETERS, [illegible] Broadway, New York.
April 27, 3-m.

DANIEL VOLLMER,
PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST
[illegible]
FORT WAYNE IND'A.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorus and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron. This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system. The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.
Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
PRICE $6,00 per Volume or $30.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 200 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.
Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III. American Domesticated Birds and Animals.
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.
This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasured works as a parlor ornament it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 3 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimen of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red White, per barrel	[illegible]
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	1 30 @ 1 35
" Red	1 25
Oats	[illegible]
Rye	67
Corn	45
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	9@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	48
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	08c
Beans per lb	[illegible]
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1 25
Rags	02c

500 VOLUMES In One
AGENTS WANTED
For
The Library of Poetry and Song.
Being Choice Selections from the Best Poets
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, IRISH AND AMERICAN.
With an Introduction
BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.
Under whose critical supervision the volume was compiled.

The handsomest and cheapest subscription book extant. Over 800 pages, beautifully printed, choicely illustrated, handsomely bound. A library of over 500 volumes in one book, whose contents, of no ephemeral nature or interest, will never grow old or stale. It can be, and will be, read and re-read with pleasure by old and young, as long as its leaves hold together.

"A perfect surprise. Scarcely anything at all a favorite, or at all worthy of place here, is neglected. It is a book for every household."—N. Y. Mail.

"We know of no similar collection in the English language which, in copiousness and felicity of selection and arrangement, can at all compare with it."—N. Y. Times.

Terms liberal. Selling very rapidly. Send for Circular and Terms to J. B. FORD & CO., 27 Park Place, N. Y.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIABLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for Sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded.

NEW GOODS NEW
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!

BOOKER, BLATTNER & CO.
[illegible]
Having been unable to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their paying customers will not be compelled to make up the losses of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!
Comprises everything desirable in the line of
Dry Goods
OF CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions.
And an endless variety of House-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat, Corn, Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOKER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 4, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St, AUBURN, IND.
He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant stocks of Boots and Shoes for
Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
Ever before Exhibited
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE.
IN POINT OF
Workmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DEFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the cheapest bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselves.
W. W. HUMES.
April, 6, '70.

McDOUGAL'S
CARPET STORE!
A FULL LINE OF CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia Street.

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
[illegible] '71.

Notice to Builders.
[illegible]

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.

NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics,
To be found in Fort Wayne, [illegible]
other Fort Wayne.
Element to show goods [illegible]
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co., [illegible] Columbia [illegible]

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FASHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, [illegible] Stock.
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens and Boys, wear, in the latest styles.
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our big stock, when visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints.
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 28th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints for two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyful announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes in to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Some [illegible] that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 8c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but we'll sell you [illegible] several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, made worth 15c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins [illegible] per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 5,000 yards of children's plaids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15c a yard.
ALPACAS, ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1,00. Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 30c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Lawn by the yard. Ruffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER,
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEY
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as any other House in the [illegible]. We
Are the Only House
in the City who make a business of manufacturing
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
[illegible] KEYSTONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST.,
FORT WAYNE, INDIANA.
MARKLEY, SHRADER & CO.

The Courier.

AUBURN IND. MAY 11, 1871.

The News Condensed.

[illegible] damage the crops throughout Central California.

The Postoffice at Wilmington, Ohio, was entered by burglars on Monday night, and robbed of [illegible] in stamps.

A cattle plague has broken out in Westchester County, New York, the disease invariably terminating fatally.

Indiana is said to have the largest school fund of any State in the Union. It amounts to over $7,[illegible].

Thalberg, the celebrated pianist, is dead, as announced by [illegible] received in New York on Saturday.

The steamer Wisconsin, on her last voyage [illegible] 000,000.

Hon. Shearer Tyndale, late [illegible] of State of Illinois, was murdered at Springfield, that State, on Saturday morning, while [illegible].

The [illegible] Michigan [illegible], belonging to Martin Green, late of Chicago, was girdled the [illegible].

Mrs. Toale, suspected of having murdered her [illegible], has been committed for trial on charge of murder in the first degree.

Postmaster McCoy, of Montevallo, Missouri, [illegible] the [illegible] session.

The debt of Chicago is $15,417,000. The city expenditures last year [illegible] 000, and receipts $13,7[illegible]. [illegible] in the hands of the Treasurer is $1,977,000.

The Rev. Mr. Speight has been tarred [illegible] by some [illegible] Connecticut [illegible], just because he ran away with seven girls to Canada, and could only show three when he came back.

[illegible] of [illegible] for [illegible] abandoned women, has brought suit against the Chicago Post for $25,000 damages for libel.

Two young men named Jerome Brooks and Charles Cain have confessed that they robbed and murdered Slater, at Logansport, a few days since. They are both in jail.

The coal miners of Pennsylvania reject all offers at compromise by the operators, and the probabilities are that much suffering must yet ensue before any agreement can be reached.

A perfect deluge of rain fell at Meridian, Mississippi, on Thursday last, doing a great deal of damage to railroad and other property. The Mobile road is broken, [illegible] of Meridian.

That the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have purchased a controlling interest in the Cleveland and Pittsburg Railroad is authoritatively denied by both from Baltimore and Philadelphia.

Information has been received in St. Louis that the man who attempted to violate and then cut the throat of Mrs. Peters near Centreville, Illinois, last Saturday, has been arrested at Dayton, Illinois.

A fight took place on Wednesday between negro outlaws, in Robinson County, North Carolina, and a party of citizens, under command of the Sheriff's posse were killed and one wounded.

The press of California unanimously, editorially, endorses the verdict in the Fair case, congratulate San Francisco and the State on the vindication of law, justice, morality and decency in the result of the trial.

A dispatch from Springfield, Missouri, says a report is current there that George D. Orner, United States Revenue Collector that District, has disappeared with some ten thousand of Government funds.

The Cincinnati Daily Times has been purchased by the Chronicle Company, and the establishments are consolidated under the name of the Times and Chronicle.—The [illegible] will be under the control of the editorial staff of the Chronicle.

The Presbyterians propose to erect in New York a Presbyterian house, suited to the uses of the denomination, and arrangements have nearly been completed for the purchase of lots and buildings on the northeast corner of University Place and Ninth street.

A special despatch to the Evansville Journal, from Uniontown, Kentucky, states that Hutton Martin, of Waller, Martin & Co., [illegible] through the [illegible] yesterday [illegible]. His standing in the community was such that his suicide caused a general [illegible].

The steamer Lumberman made a trip from [illegible] to [illegible], via the Fox and Wisconsin rivers, in sixty hours and found [illegible]. Should the canal communication be open [illegible] this will form an important [illegible] communication from the Mississippi river [illegible].

A dispatch to the New York Tribune from Hartford says the First Regiment of [illegible] day) on the park in this city, for escort duty, it is evident that [illegible] English is to [illegible] to Governor elect [illegible].

A vein of [illegible] has been discovered in [illegible] County New York, [illegible] on the Erie [illegible] of this point. Experienced [illegible] say there are [illegible] of the existence of a coal bed below the level of the vein. A [illegible] tions.

A New York [illegible] Washington special says the [illegible] State Department is no longer a matter of doubt. [illegible] to leave here the first of June. The house in which he [illegible] has been leased to an[illegible] first of June.

It is given out that the Supreme Court will announce its decision upon the legal tender [illegible] that Justices Miller, Davis, Swayne, [illegible] and Strong affirm the constitutionality of the legal tender act of 1862, and that [illegible] Justice Clifford.

State Items.

Madison has had a $40,000 fire.

Valparaiso [illegible] $90,000.

Rust troubles the wheat in Decatur county.

[illegible] Indianapolis [illegible].

Fort Wayne claims to be the best paved city in the State.

A portion of the wheat in Decatur county is smitten with a [illegible] rust.

The Democrat reports the best building business [illegible]ville very brisk.

Crawfordsville has agreed through its City Council, to expend $30,000 in the [illegible] of a first-class school house.

The Savings Bank, at Terre Haute has [illegible] accounts with five hundred little boys.

Vandals have been destroying the shade and fruit trees at Kokomo and Jefferson[illegible].

A Greene county female married her [illegible] after being divorced from her husband, last week.

A Terre Haute woman [illegible] at breakfast the other day that her husband [illegible] the coffee to a chemist for analysis.

[illegible] and Sharp were the names of a couple who took out a marriage license in Porter County, last week.

[illegible] that the tobacco crop of Spencer county this year will be fully eight million pounds.

[illegible] is the fashionable name for young ladies this year. No well-regulated household [illegible] without [illegible].

An exchange says [illegible] praising the present style of ladies' dresses for they are puffed enough.

[illegible] has four hundred spring [illegible] farm, four miles south of Terre Haute. What a glorious place that would be for a Methodist camp meeting.

The strongest propensity in woman's nature, says a careful student of the sex, is to want to know what is going on, and the next strongest is to boss the job.

The job printing offices in Terre Haute [illegible] their utmost capacity in turning out "For Sale" and "To Let" placards to be posted up in all parts of that city.

A number of land owners in the neighborhood Gills Prairie, Sullivan County, have effected an organization for the purpose of constructing a levee by which about 10,000 acres of land on that praire will be reclaimed. The works will cost [illegible]000.

Mr. J. M. Boon, Master Mechanic, has one thousand and four men under his supervision in the Machine shops of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago road at Fort Wayne. This is said to be the largest number of skilled workmen under one man in the United States.

The latest accession to the population of Rochester is reported by the Sentinel of that place in this language: "On Thursday of last week, a man named [illegible] moved from Walnut to this place with his daughter and another relative for the purpose of carrying on a house of ill fame."

The barn of [illegible], [illegible] miles from Wabash, was burned last Monday, together with three horses and all the corn, wheat and hay stored in the building.—Loss $1,200.

A well-digger in Vigo county, a few days ago found, at the depth of twenty-seven feet below the surface, a huge tusk, of which he managed to secure a section two feet long and twenty inches in circumference.

Frank Klaber, of Findley, has a cow which weighs 1,800 pounds. He claims that it is the heaviest in the State.

The sickliest year on record in this county was 1855. During that year 1,725 gallons of liquor were sold for medicinal purposes. The Maine law was in force then.—Evansville Journal.

Last Saturday night, as a party of men and boys were going home from the show when about three miles from the city, on the railroad towards Tampico, they were fired upon by a company of rowdies and one man was wounded.—Kokomo Tribune.

There's a funny story a rounds, of an old colored man who was left in charge of a telegraph office, in New Orleans, while the operator went out 'to see a man.' A 'call' came over the wires, and the darkey shouted at the instrument as loud as he could, "De operator isn't yet!" The noise ceased instanter.

On Saturday evening, at New Harmony, Felix Axton, aged nineteen years, the son of Mr. William Axton, who resides on his farm about a mile from New Harmony, was blowing in the muzzle of a shot gun to ascertain whether it was loaded, when gun was discharged, [illegible] gun [illegible] his left eye and [illegible] whole top of his head.

The Evansville Courier claims for that city the most efficient and moral police force in the country. [illegible] from the list of unexceptionables a few, however, such as "the one who attempted rape while on duty when a policeman before; the one who was [illegible] in the lock-up [illegible]; the one who struck his mother while on her death bed; the one who has been living with a notorious woman of the town for the past year, and several other who committed such harmless offences."

Gold has said to have been discovered in Dry Branch, a mile and a half west of [illegible], Franklin County. Specimens as [illegible] have been found. We would not advise fortune seekers to go wild over this discovery. There are very many places in the county where gold may be found for the digging: but it will not [illegible] in paying quantities. The labor necessary to secure the precious metal, if devoted to any useful pursuits, would yield one hundred per cent. more profit.

Last winter two swindlers, named John L. Patton and Nelson T. Blair, raided Rush County, and under the pretence of [illegible] swindled a good many people, among [illegible] John [illegible] gold [illegible] which the acceptance of Major W. M. McCoy had been surreptitiously obtained [illegible] the arrest of the men. They [illegible] and Patton being tried first, was found guilty [illegible] and a consultation [illegible] in a compromise, by which the verdict was set aside, and both were allowed to plead guilty to the charge of obtaining a signature under false pretences. They were then sentenced to ten [illegible] in the penitentiary.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, [illegible],
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
[illegible]
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.
O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER
[illegible]
BEAUTIFUL, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT
FITTING SHIRTS
[illegible]
MENT OF
Mens Furnishing Goods!
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA
SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!
CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.
MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE
GEO. HENSLER,
—OF—
BUTLER INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of
HARDWARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel
Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket
Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.
GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE, ALSO DEALER IN
HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash.
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND. next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman
MERCHANT TAILOR
First-Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, IND

Eagle Mills!
AUBURN, INDIANA.
The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom milling, [illegible] and in [illegible] manner.
FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.
Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.
W. W. GRISWOLD.
Auburn, April 1871.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.
[illegible] will find the prices of each article greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
[illegible]
Cash System
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c.,
Cheaper than any [illegible] the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.
Corner Main and 7th Sts. Feb. 9, 1871. 1y

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods [illegible]

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Plain Silks from $1 [illegible]
Colored [illegible]
Japanese [illegible]
Checked [illegible]

Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Japanese, plain [illegible]
" " brocaded
" [illegible] Watered

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japanese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses, drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.
Chene Lenoes, Poplins, for suits, [illegible] the finest assortment in the city.
Plain [illegible] Scotch Ginghams, great variety.
Wash [illegible] Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, [illegible] lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short anything for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of handsome lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours.

Black Brilliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made, handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.
Trimings, Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match
Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaconets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks [illegible] dotted and Corded Swisses, Muslins, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings &c. White, Marseilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.
Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Cluny, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.
FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has

Reduced the Duty of All

GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	30c	Old Government Java	33c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c,	$100,	120,	best 135
Imperial	80c,	100,	120,	best 135
Gunpowder		100,	120	best 135
Oolong,		75,	90,	best 110
Japan		75,	90,	best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	25cts.
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Prunes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.		FRUITS.
Paper Shell Almonds, per lb.	28c	Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $1.00
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c	Seedless Sultanas,	20c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c	Zante Currants, 12; $1.2 lbs	1.00
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	30c	Citron,	55
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c	Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS		WINE in bottles
Apples, per lb.	8c	Sherry, per bottle,	45
Peaches per lb.	12½c	Port,	45
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c	Madeira	25
California Pears, per lb.	16c	California	50
		Whiskey 30c and	50

LIQUORS		MISCELLANEOUS
Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15	Soap, per bar,	05
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40	Rice, per pound,	09
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75	Dime box Matches,	05
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50	Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Gin or Brandy, 1.50 to	1.75	Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Port Wine, imp,	1.75	Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Sherry Wine, imp,	1.75	Smoking Tobacco, "	18
California Wine,	75

CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYSTERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20.

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls. [illegible]	$6.00
[illegible]	1.75
Trout, [illegible]	4.00
Pickerel [illegible]	4.00
Old Pickerel Trout and White fish [illegible]	2.00
No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch kitts	$2.50
Lake Herring, per bbl. [illegible]	2.50
Herring, each,	15
Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	10
[illegible] White Fish, per lb	10

All other Groceries, Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

FOR
Fresh and Fine Family
Groceries and Provisions,
GO TO
JNO. BUTT
One door north of Post Office.
AND
B 4 U
BUY
T
And Sugar,
EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES AND BE CONVINCED THAT
BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH
IS TRUE ECONOMY.
Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

O. T. CLARK & CO.,
WATERLOO, INDIANA,
Have on exhibition a large line of
Black and Colored Alpacas.
OUR BRAND THE
Queen's Own,
We claim in point of Brilliancy, Shade, Weight, Quality and Price are Superior to any in Market, being of one Uniform make, and the Heaviest imported, and especially suited to the Winter Trade.
We invite an examination of our Fall stock of

Dress Goods,	Tapestry Brussels,	Sheeting,
Silk Warp,	Ext. Sup. Ingrain,	Cotton Yarn,
Lyons Poplins,	Kidder,	Carpet Warp
Silks,	Hemp,	Batting,
Shawls,	Cotton,	Tickings,
Brilliantine	Carpets,	Bags,

A full line, one yard wide domestic
Flannl
Shirting, Red, White and Pressed
which we offer to the Fall trade, cheap for cash or ready pay.
Waterloo, Ind., Oct. 12, 1870. 2-44.

THE HOWE.
The OLDEST and the latest Improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, Excellence, and durability.
It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.
The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.
MRS. ED. SLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS
G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW Wagon Shop
In
Auburn Indiana.
JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.
Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as
WAGONS
Carriages,
CUTTERS,
Bob Sleds, &c.
Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.
All work Warranted
All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.
J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.
So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here
FARMERS.
Have you got good
FANNING MILLS?
If not, get one of
J. B. TAYLOR'S
CELEBRATED
Excelsior Mills.
These mills have been [illegible] 14 years past, and not found wanting, in [illegible] expect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, [illegible] beans, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of [illegible] in. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.
Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.
ORDERS SOLICITED
and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.
J. B. TAYLOR.
Waterloo City, March 31, 1869. 8

PARIS HAS FALLEN!
So Has
THE HIGH PRICES,
WITH
S. LAUFFERTY!
DRY GOODS,
Ready Made Clothing,
Hats and Caps,
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!
QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for
Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool'
Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!
AT
SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!
JOHN L. DAVIS,
OF THE
Pioneer Hardware Store
AUBURN - - INDIANA.
Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of,
Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Building Material,
Agricultural Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,
Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash. Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.
Our Stove Department,
Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.
Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.
Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.
JOB WORK AND REPAIRING
Done promptly and on reasonable terms.
Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c.
We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock, which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.
JOHN L. DAVIS.
March 23, 1871.

Wm. McIntyre

THE AUBURN COURIER,
Published [illegible]
—by—
T. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and [illegible] Sts.
TERMS:
One year.......................$2.00
Six months.....................1.00
Three months....................50

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, May 18, 1871. No. 20.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.
[illegible]
Ten lines of Nonpareil [illegible] constitute a square.
Business Cards, [illegible] per annum.
Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; [illegible] each additional insertion.

Business Cards.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. BICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-20

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind. will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on [illegible] Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Butler & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Waterloo. [illegible] I. BEST. [illegible] C. A. O. McCLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

W. H. DILLS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.
GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, Ind.

AGENTS FOR
Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,
No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,
PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,
HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential. Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.
DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.
CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,
MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.
WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W.C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.
DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,
HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays [illegible] office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

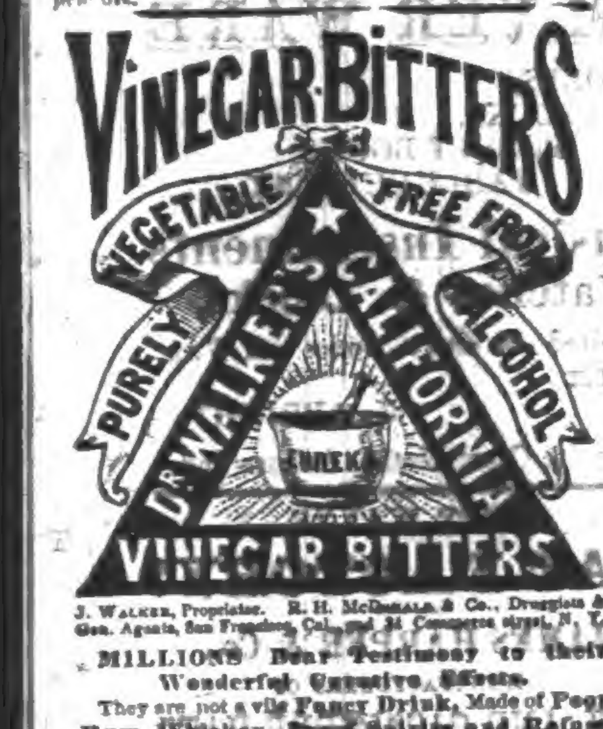
DR. R. ILSON,
RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,
SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. [illegible], proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.



J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R.R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh 1,35 A. M.
Rochester 2,42 "	7,10 A. M.	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance 5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Orrville 6,54 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield 9,03 "	1,52 P. M.	4,45 "	8,38 "
A. 9,35 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline 10,05 "	5,0 "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.	5,55 A. M.	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest 11 27 A. M.	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima 12,[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Ft. Wayne 2,[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Plymouth 4,50 "	2,25 P. M.	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5,50 A. M.	9,00 A. M.	5,15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	12,45 A. M.
Ft. Wayne	12,50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lima	3,25 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2 43 "	7,07 "
A.	6,20 "	6,30 "	4,20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	6,?0 A. M.	6,50 "	4,30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	9,15 "	9,05 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	2,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,33 P. M.	12,55 A. M.	11,05 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 6, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 8, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.
F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Fort Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Thursday, April 13, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Mixed.	Exp.
Fort Wayne, leave	6 00 a m	7 [illegible] a m	4 30 p m
Academic	6 15	7 25	4 45
Huntertown	6 27	7 45	4 57
Stoners (Gravel pit)	6 33	7 55	5 05
New Era	6 44	8 10	5 15
Auburn	7 01	[illegible]	[illegible]
Waterloo	7 20	[illegible]	6 05
Summit	7 35	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pleasant Lake	7 47	10 27	6 19
Angola	8 03	11 05	6 33
Jonesville	9 35	2 50 p m	8 10
Jackson ......Arr	10 50	4 45	9 [illegible]

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson ......Leave	6 45 a m	1 00 a m	3 00 p m
Jonesville	6 35	2 10	6 55
Angola	12 40 p m	3 38	7 20 a m
Pleasant Lake	1 10	3 52	7 47
Summit	1 38	4 04	8 13
Waterloo	2 23	4 21	8 35
Auburn	2 45	4 38	8 55
New Era	3 10	4 55	9 20
Stoners (Gravel pit)	3 25	5 05	9 35
Huntertown	3 35	5 12	9 44
Academic	3 55	5 25	10 00
Ft. Wayne ......Arr	4 20	5 45	10 [illegible]

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.
A. REESE, Ass't Supt
I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST—PACIFIC NIGHT EXPRESS.
Waterloo City 2:40 a. m.
MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Butler 1:22 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:43 p. m.; Sedan 1:55 p. m.; Corunna 2:01 p. m.
FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 2:40 p. m.
GOING EAST—ATLANTIC EXPRESS.
Waterloo, 11:50 a. m.
MAIL AND EXPRESS.
Corunna 12:40 p. m.; Sedan, 12:46 p. m.; Waterloo, 1:00 p. m.; Butler 1:22 p. m.
FAST EXPRESS.
Waterloo. 2:10 p. m.

The Pacific and Atlantic Expresses (at night) do not stop at Lawrence or Corunna.
For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.
Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.
H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
A. B. RICHARDS, Agent, Waterloo.
R. STILES, " Butler.
C. D. COURDILL, " Corunna.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O

AUBURN LIVERY AND

SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4 '71.

Come and See Me!

—:0:—

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK
Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 8, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House is to be built of stone and brick; to be 22 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground.

The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871, to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.
I. M. THOMAS Trustee
April 4, 1871.

"TO MY PET HEN."

BY LUKE LEMONS.

Oh! beautiful hen!
How you can lay
A whopping big egg
On every day
Beats me slick.

Ain't there a chance
Of your going out,
And, getting quite thin,
Go stalking about
Like a stick?

You've laid forty-four,
Right in succession;
Ain't that enough
To give indigestion
To any chick?

[illegible]
Stop for a while
[illegible]
[illegible] with "bile"
Like old Nick.

Don't be so ambitious
To lay yourself out,
You're the best hen I've got—
Without any doubt,
"You're a brick."

So give us a rest,
At any rate try;
I'm very much troubled
For fear you will die—
Or get sick

The DeKalb County Sunday School Union, will hold its Sixth Annual Convention in the M. E Church, Auburn Ind. On Wednesday and Thursday, June 7th and 8th.

JAS. GRISWOLD, President.
R. W. McBRIDE, Secretary.
J. A. CAMPBELL, W. MARTIN, as't Sec'ys

VICE PRESIDENTS.

G. W. GORDON	Butler Tp
E. FREEMAN	Jackson Tp
SAML. WIDNEY, Jr.	Concord Tp
DWIGHT MOODY	Newville Tp
S. WARTENBEE	Stafford Tp
L. PLANSON	Wilmington Tp
F. W. WILLIS	Union Tp
MRS. D. A. CHAFFEE	Richland Tp
JOHN TRISH	Fairfied Tp
JOEL E. THOMPSON	Smithfield Tp
Wm. E. MEESE	Franklin Tp
GEORGE EMERSON	Troy Tp

The sixth Annual Convention, of the DeKalb County Sunday School Union, will be held at Auburn, Ind., on Wednesday and Thursday, June 7th and 8th '71.

All friends of Sabbath Schools, in DeKalb County, are cordially invited, and are expected to attend and suggest and adopt such measures as will give increased life, and add a higher tone to the Sabbath School cause.

All come prepared to work. All will be invited from time to time to take part in the exercises of the Convention.

Each school is expected to send delegates to the Convention, with reports from their respective schools. Entertainment will be furnished free to all persons who attend the Convention.

By a vote, of the last Convention, each Sabbath School was requested to take up a collection to defray incidental expenses of the Convention, on the Sabbaths previous to the next Convention.

The friends of Sabbath Schools generally advise to have the exercises of the Convention conducted in the form of an institute and dispense with a mass meeting of the scholars.

PROGRAMME.

Wednesday, June 7th at 9 o'clock A. M. opening of the Convention and receiving delegates.

10 o'clock A. M. prayer meeting.
10:30 A. M. Remarks by the President.
10:50 A. M. Calling roll of Sunday Schools.
11:15 A. M. Appointment of committees.
11:30 A. M. Question drawer and general discussion.
12 o'clock. Adjourn.
1:30 P. M. Singing and prayer.
1:45 P. M. Reports of Committees.
2:00 P. M. Address by a speaker selected for the occasion. Subject: What should a Sabbath School be?
2:40 P. M. Practical illustrations.
3:00 P. M. Responses and criticisms.
3:30 P. M. Instruction drawer and general discussion.
4:00 P. M. Reports from Sunday Schools
5:00 P. M. Adjourn.
8:00 P. M. Devotional exercises.
8:15 P. M. Practical illustrations of Sabbath School teaching.
8:40 P. M. Criticisms and responses.
9:15 P. M. Adjourn.

THURSDAY, JUNE 8th, 1871.

8:00 A. M. Devotional exercises.
8.45 A. M. Miscellaneous business.
9:15 A. M. General remarks by friends of Sabbath Schools—not to exceed ten minutes each.
10 15 A. M. Questions drawer and discussion.
11:00 Sabbath School Teaching.
11:45 A. M. Criticisms.
12 o'clock. Adjourn.
1:30 P. M. Propriety of Sabbath School Institutes.
2:30 P. M. Election of officers for the ensuing year.
3:00 P. M. Statement of experience in Sabbath School Teaching—speeches not to exceed five minutes each.
3:00 P. M. Religious responsibility of Sabbath School Teachers.
3:20 P. M. Criticisms.
3:40 P. M. Unfinished business.
4:00 P. M. Adjourn.
8:00 P. M. Meeting of Sabbath Schools, Addresses by friends of Sabbath Schools, Singing etc.

A good story is told of a late college president near Boston. On one occasion the student substituted a large dictionary instead of the Bible, at the morning devotions. On opening the book he at once saw the situation; but he said nothing and proceeded to the prayer, which he prolonged for an hour. The students put out of patience; but they appreciated the sly remark of the venerable President on his retiring, that he "found all the words he needed in the volume they had placed on his desk."

The Fat Contributor Joins the Signal Corps—The Result of his Observations.

We have lost confidence in the Chief Signal Officer of the War Department, at Washington, and his weather report. One day he said the weather would be clear; we loaned our umbrellas and it rained like blazes.

So we establish a signal officer of our own in Washington. The following, which is his first report, is eminently satisfactory:

WASHINGTON, April 29, 12:30 p. m.—Synopsis for the past twenty four hours: The barometer got very low on the Pacific coast. It got so low it went around among the saloons playing whisky-poker. At some Rocky Mountain stations, it fell more than five hundred feet.

A heavy snow is reported in Wyoming Territory. Some of it weighed more than twenty ounces to the pound. The barometer has raised throughout the Mississippi Valley. It rose at five o'clock, washed and shaved, and put a clean shirt.

The clouds that threatened the weather in Eastern Patagonia are dissipated. Efforts are being made to induce the clouds to sign the pledge and quit their dissipated habits, but without avail.

The barometer is stationary on the seaboard, evidently satisfied with the board. On the upper lakes it has risen to about fifty cents on a dollar.

It is threatening weather in Georgia and Tennessee. If it don't stop threatening weather, Congress will interfere under the provisions of the KuKlux bill, whether or no.

Atmosphere of Washington much improved since Congress adjourned.

Light rains are beginning to prevail in Pennsylvania. They are a great improvement on the heavy reins that have heretofore accompanied the old-fashion Dutch harness in that State.

The Barometer is stationary in Texas.—That is about all the stationary they have in that benighted State.

There is a small area of increased pressure of the lower lakes. "J. N." agrees t assume the pressure himself.

The highest barometer now extends from Georgia to Connecticut. It is some 17 feet high.

There is a fall of rain in Colorado. It is expected to get down to par in a few days.

Probabilities.—It is probable that the barometer will continue to fall (over on its nose) so long as it keeps "high" as it is now. Fresh winds may be expected to prevail on the lakes, but the winds on the ocean will continue to be salt as heretofore. The pressure will slowly diminish in the North, but is likely to be increased in the Southern States. On the Atlantic coast of the Northern lakes, sunshiny weather.

A Generous Dog.

There is a well authenticated anecdotes of two fine dogs of Donaghadee, says the Messrs. Chambers, in their 'Anecdotes of Dogs,' "in which the instinctive daring of the one in behalf of the other caused a friendship and as it should seem, a kind of lamentation for the dead after one of them had paid the debt of nature. This happened while the Government pier or harbor for the packet at Donaghadee was in the course of building, and it took place in the sight of several witnesses. The one dog was Newfoundland and the other was a mastiff.

"They were both powerful dogs, and though each was good natured when alone they were very much in the habit of fighting when the met. One day they had a fierce and prolonged battle on the pier, from the point of which they fell into the sea; and, as the pier was long and steep, they had no means of escape but by swimming a considerable distance. Throwing water upon fighting dogs is an improved means of putting an end to their hostilities; and it is natural to suppose that the combatants of the same species tumbling themselves into the sea would have the same effect. It had, and each began to make for the land as he best could.

"The Newfoundland, being an excellent swimmer, very speedily gained the pier, on which he stood shaking himself, but at the same time watching the motions of his late antagonist, who being no swimmer was struggling, exhausted, in the water, and just about to sink. In dashed the Newfoundland dog, took the other gently by the collar, kept his head above water, and brought him safely on shore. There was a peculiar kind of recognition between the two animals; they never fought again; they were always together; and when the Newfoundland dog had been accidentally killed by the passage of a stone wagon on the railway over him, the other languished and evidently lamented for a long time."

A fond father, blest with eleven children, and with a domestic man, tells this story: One afternoon, business being very dull, he took the early train out to his happy home, and went up stairs to put the children to bed. Being missed from the smoking room, his wife went up stairs to see what was going on. Upon opening the door she exclaimed, "Why dear, what for mercy's sake are you doing?" "Why," says he, "I am putting the children to bed, and having them say their little prayers." "Yes," says wifey, "but this is one of our neighbor's children all undressed," and he had to redress it and send it home. After that he called the roll every morning and night.

If a woman have long hair it is undoubtedly a glory unto her, provided it is growing upon her head; but if it is only stuck on by a complication of strings and pins, and really grew in other soil, there is no real ground for glorification.

A Celestial Flirtation.

A great flirtation is going on in the celestial regions. It is between Venus, the goddess of love and beauty, and Jupiter father of gods and men. Any one can see its nightly progress by watching the western evening sky, where the fair goddess may be seen displaying her airs and graces, and bewitching the god whose reputation as a faithful spouse is by no means immaculate. Every night the artful coquette comes nearer her lover, and, we have been confidentially informed, that she intends to keep up her sport until the 20th of May, when she will [illegible] on among the stars directly in the track of the fiere god of war, one of her old admirers.

All observers can convince themselves of the truth of these reports. We are sure that they will see the fair syren taking the initiative, clothed in gold, sparkling with precious stones, and looking so irresistibly lovely that the heart of Jupiter must be hard as stone not to be ensnared in her bewitching toils. But what does she care for the hopeless passion she has roused? It is only the crowning trophy of her victories that he who reigns in Olympus should sue in vain for her favor! How can she have a heart who sold the most beautiful woman in the world for a vote in favor of her unrivalled beauty?

How We Go to Sleep.

The immediate antecedents of sleep—as languor, a sensation of weight in the upper eyelids partial temporary relaxation of certain mucles, as shown by the nodding add dropping of the head upon the breast, comparative obtuseness to external impressions, yawning, etc.—call for no special remark. The order in which the muscles lose their power is, however, deserving of a passing notice. The muscles which move the arms and legs usually become relaxed before those which support the head; and the latter before those which manintain the body in an erect position. There are, however, many exceptions to this rule, as may be seen in church on a hot Sunday, when some of the congregation are almost certain to be seen with their chins quietly resting on their chests, but yet quietly grasping their prayer-books. Moreover, in relation to the special senses, that of sight is first lost, the closing of the eyelids setting up a barrier between the retina and the external world; but, independently of the eyelids—if they have been removed by the surgeon, or cannot be closed through disease—the light is still the first sense whose function is abolished. Some animals, as the the hare, do not shut their eyes when asleep; and in case of somnambulism the eyes remain open although the sense of senses, as, Dr Hammond tells us, are not altogether abolished, but they are not much lessened. Taste is the first to disappear, and then smell; hearing follows; and touch is the most persistent of the senses. So, conversely, a person is most easily awakened by touch, next in order by sound, and then by smell.

The Only Revolutionary soldier.

The Washinton Republican says:

"The rolls of the Pension Office furnish us with the name of the last surviving Revolutionary pensioner, and the only positively known Revolutionary soldier alive. His name is Daniel Fredrick Bateman, now residing in Freedom, Cattaraugus county, N. Y., where he has resided for the past sixteen years. Previous to that date he had lived many years in Wyoming county, in the same State. In conformity of the laws of the United States of the 7th of June, 1832, and the special act of Feduary 22, 1867, a pension of $500 a year, payable semi-annually, and commencing July 1, 1866, is paid to the aged veteran. Mr. Bateman is now about 109 years old, and makes his mark as signature to the pension receipt. May he live long to enjoy the amount awarded by the Government for his patriotic services.

"We are informed that there is still another relic of the times that tried men's souls in the person of an old revolutionary soldier, upwards of 100 years old, now residing in Newbern, N. C., but his name is not on the pension rolls."

OUR PINS.—There are eight pin factories in the United States, whose annual production is 2,000,000 packs, each pack containing 3,360 pins, a total of 6,720,000,000 pins. One manufacturer's agent in Boston, says the Bulletin, sells every six months from 700 to 1,000 cases of pins, each case containing 672,000 pins. The factory he represents turn out eight tons of pins per week. Hair pins are jobbed by the mile. There is but one factory that produces them. They turn out fifty tons per month. The machine that cuts and bends the wire makes 860 hair pins per minute, ready for Japaning. Yankee pins are salable in nearly every city of the world, and the production and consumption increases each year about ten per cent. A very large per centage of hair pins in general use are imported. The tariff does not protect this item of American industry, hence the public pay for them just about one-third more than they are worth. Yankee enterprise is now seeking to develop a more rapid manufacture and a more desirable metal or substance, and in this way successfully compete with foreign makers and cut down the cost.

Why should Romeo not have cared for the month of June? Because it was not July yet (Juliet).

Mental Taxation Causes Dyspepsia.

Mental anxiety and pecuniary embarrassment, such as loss of property by fire, by failure in business or bad debts, and also domestic troubles, disappointed affection, and the loss or the treachery of friends, will frequently cause dyspepsia; too close and too active to intellectual labor is also a frequent cause. Editors, authors and literary persons often engender dsypepsia in this way.

Much brain labor requires much blood at the brain, and an over-working intellect uses up so much blood and nervous [illegible] ing to do the work of digestion.

On the other hand, deranged digestion is sometimes produced by too little action of the brain. Persons are frequently met with who have been in active business life, and having accumulated enough to satisfy their ambition have retired from business. Now although the brain and body retire from active life, yet the poor stomach very often have their task increased. If a man has been a long time accustomed to eating heartily and working hard, either with body or brains, he had better not relax his working habits without at the same time having a corresponding relaxation in his habits of eating. "He who will not work neither shall he eat," is not only a Bible injunction, but a law of the human constitution, the disobedience of which is often attended with such derangement of digestion, and other bodily infirmities, as to render either property or life of but little value.

It is difficult to preserve a decent respect for old age when antique poultry come on the table.

THE ENGINEER OF THE "RIP."

BY MARY KYLE DALLAS.

I never said Seth Brush was not hand-some—never, even when I was angered at him. He had gipsy eyes and a brown skin, gips-like too, for the matter of that, and, all manner of kinds and curls in his black hair, and such a throat. He wore his collar turned back and a knot of some bright color under it. and he had a bright, dashing way with him that no one could help liking.

When the Rip Van Winkle came in with the three o'clock train—the Rip Van Winkle was the name of his particular engine, you must know—I used to see him up in the engine house, on the bright look out along the road. He never took any notice of me then; so I could look as much as I liked; not that I caught more than a glimpse either, yet somehow I was always at my window with my work, by ten minutes to three. Then I'd catch the first schream of the whistle, and then I'd see her turn the curve, and hear her chip, chip, chip, as she slackened speed and came into the depot.

Mother and father used often to say they should sell the old house and move away, on account of the noisy new railway; but I like it. I'm free to confess I might not, but for that one little fact of seeing Seth Brush run the Rip in at three every afternoon.

Did I only see him then? Oh, no, He was off at six every evening, and at half past seven he was with me. He'd been courting me for half a year, and, not that I'd have told him so for anything, I loved him better than I did my life—a great deal better. I used to wonder whether, perhaps, I did not love him to much; but it wasn't a sort of love to be ashamed of. I felt it because he was good and true, and great in his way, if he was but a hardworking engineer on a far west railroad.

There were one or two men in the town who had been through collisions, and bore the marks of it, and when I saw them I used to think if that sort of thing ever happened to Seth, and he should lose his handsome looks as they had, I'd—I'd oh, you know all about it; of course I would, if I cared for him at all. But I wasn't much afraid, because as he said to me often and often:

"If an engineer never drinks, and does his duty, those behind him are not in much danger. And I know the voice of the Rip as I know yours, my dear; and if she sobs too fast or too slow, I know it in an instant. I never forget what a trust I have in charge, and may God forget me if I ever do."

And, chip, chip, chip, she came in every day just at three, the train of steam behind her, and all ashine, like some great jewel, with care and and polishing. I shall never forget her until my dying day, nor the first little far off scream that seemed to say, Nannie, look out, Seth is coming.

Well this went on without any change for six months, as I have told you, and we were engaged; and Seth brought me from St. Louis the dearest little forget-me-not ring. And I wore it openly, and did not care if every one knew whose ring it was, I was proud that he had chosen me to be his wife as though he had been a king; and when any one told me that there never was a love affair yet that did not give some pain to a woman, or that an engagement never ran its pace through without a quarrel, I used to laugh. I have any pain because I loved Seth, a quarrel! That couldn't be.

You see I didn't know all yet.

I was making up some of my things already when Cousin Charlotte came down from St. Louis to pay us visit. I never had been fond of her, but blood is blood, and she was mother's sister's child, and we always asked her once a year. She kept a milliner's store in [illegible] street, and she made money by it, too, and was rather a brisk, bright looking young woman; but perhaps the whims of her customers and the mistakes of her hands had soured her temper, She had a way of talking against people, and a scandalous story about every other one she spoke of, that made me almost angry.

"If all the world is so bad, I don't want to know it," I said over and over again to mother, and she used to answer:

"Well, well, I know it seems so, but we all have to come to it at last." Perhaps Charlotte don't like it as much as she seems to."

Well Charlotte came down, at last I say, and a great budget [illegible]

That evening Seth came. I hadn't told Charlotte anything about him, but she could guess what there was between us, I suppose. She was very silent that evening, and looked at him with a strange, searching gaze, that certainly was not polite; and she went to bed early, and never said "good-night." But when Seth was gone, and I was alone in my own room, I heard some one tapping at the door, and said: "Come in!" and in came Charlotte.

I saw the tears come into her eyes.

"I've got something to say to-night, and you'll hate me for it; of course, though, it's my duty. That young man who came here to night is your beau, I suppose."

"You can't know anthing about him that's not good," I said.

"You like him, I suppose?" she said.

"I'm engaged to him," I answered. "I won't listen to any lie about him."

She came across and took me by the hands in a sisterly fashion not usual with her.

"Nannie," she said, "I'm going to tell you heaven's truth that I swear. I see that man every day when and where he ought to blush to be seen, especially if he's engaged to a good young girl like you.

"A woman lives opposite us—a woman whose husband has gone away, you know. She has one little boy, and she's very handsome. He comes to see her every day; he kisses her. I've seen both things. It's been disgusting to me before, but now—O, Nannie, when I see what he is to you, I turn sick. It must be when the engine comes in and is waiting at the depot. Once or twice he has staid longer, but not often only on Sundays, and it's heaven's truth."

My heart gave a great leap. Seth did often spend Sunday in St. Louis. I never thought of asking why, but yet I said:

"I can't believe it; I won't You think it is Seth. I know, but it's some other man. Why I'd as soon doubt my self as him."

But I began to cry notwithstanding

"Nannie," said Charlotte, "I don't ask you to take my word. Run down to the city with me. Come up in my work-room and peep through the shutters, and you'll see for yourself."

"I will," said I, "and I'll see some man I never saw before in all my life."

And I tried to believe this thro' all the hours of the night after she left me, and all through the early journey to St. Louis next day.

I went up into the work-room of Charlott's house, and we two knelt down at the open window, peeping through the green blinds. Over the way a tiney little house, and at the window sat a young woman, very pretty, as Charlotte had said.

"That's her," my cousin whispered.

And felt my blood being to boil. I knew how I felt at last, and one need want to know. I think I could have killed some one just then. It seemed all true when I saw how pretty she was, though I never could understand the reason for that.

I couldn't say a word, I just looked and looked. At last I heard Charlotte whisper, "There he is!"

And there he was indeed, I saw him—it was no one else—go up the steps of that little house, and ring the bell. The woman ran out to meet him, so did the child; and he kissed them both. That was the last I knew for sometime. I fainted away, what with rage and sorrow, and Charlotte had a time with me, and thought for a while that I could die

But I lived and went home with my cousin, who said I felt quite ill, and must go to bed.

So I did. And I begged Charlotte to tell no one yet, but ask mother to say that I was to ill to see any one who came.

I awoke next day as people do awake when trouble is new to the. First it was I, Nannie Hunt to whom life was so bright and full of hope. Then it was some one else, whom I hardly knew, who seemed to be I; and I sat up, and put back my hair, and wondered how I could bear the change.

One thing must be done, and it could not be done too soon. I must part myself from Seth Brush. And took all his little gifts, his letters, the lock of his black hair, and my little ring, and made a package of them, and sealed it close, and then I wrote this note:

Seth Brush: I send you back the gifts I took, as I thought, from a true man.

You know why, and I shall not say anything more than that I have been to St. Louis, at my cousin's house in [illegible] street, [illegible]

I sent these things I have treasured so back to you, and I forbid you ever to speak to me again. All I can wish is, never more in my life to see your face, or hear your voice. I loved you or I would not have promised to be your wife; but I hate you now, and with that hate I bid you good-bye forever.

NANNIE HUNT.

Then I sealed the note and directed it, and resolved that when the Rip came in that day at three I would send it to him.

I sat at the window at the usual time, waiting for that "chip, chip, chip," down the road—waiting as prisoners sentenced to death may wait for the hour of doom.

But by and by people began to [illegible] men look at their watches. I looked at mine. The Rip was overdue by ten minutes, soon by fifteen, by twenty, by half an hour, by three quarters. Then a little engine, with some men on board, went off to look for her, and the crowd grew larger and the faces more serious.

As for me, I had forgotten all my wrath—all reason for [illegible]. I only knew that the Rip Van Winkle was nearly an hour behindhand, and that Seth was her engineer.

"Chip, chip, chip"—the engine was was coming back. Two hours and a half were gone. Chip, chip, chip," slowly, horribly. She turned the corner of the road—not the Rip, no one hoped that —only the little engine that had gone after her. Two cars she brought along. Four were due, and the red flag fluttered from the engine, and the end of one car was battered in and broken.

I was out of the room, and with the crowd of men and women in that instant, now. I saw a few people alight. I saw others helped out, with bandaged arms and heads. There had been a collision; we knew that already; but they were bringing something out on a board—something wrapped in a sheet, stopped and dripping with blood. Four men carried it toward the depot.

A tall man, blacked with smoke and dust, followed it. I caught his arm.

"What's that? Who is that?" I asked. He stopped and looked at me.

"Good Lord!" said he. "Live alongside of a western railroad, and not know! That—why, of course that's the engineer."

"The engineer of the Rip Van Winkle?" I asked.

"That's what he used to be," said the man.

Some one caught my hand just then. It was Lotty.

"Come home," she said. "I needn't have told you, poor child—I needn't have told you."

He was dead, dead, dead, and I had written words of hate to him as he lay breathing his last. He was dead. Good or bad, I thought of nothing else now.

"Don't tell the folks, I said to Lotty. "He's gone, and why should they know?"

And she promised.

The day went on and ended; the night came; another awful day broke and dragged away. I had nether slept nor wept. The doctor, who had been called in, looked grave as he touched my pulse. I knew I was in danger of going mad. The clock ticking in the hall seemed to say, "Seth is dead, Seth is dead," over and over again, until they stopped it; and still another day brought me only pain.

It was noon and the sun seemed red hot to me, and my mother put a heavy blanket over the whiter window curtain to shut its light out; but it did not shut the sounds from me. At three I heard it—the scream far away, and faint at first, then shrill and near. Then chip, chip, chip, again. Of course the three o'clock train, would come in if the Rip were smatched to atoms and her engineer dead; but how could I bear it? I put my hands on my ears to deafen them, but I heard it still—long after the iron horse stood quiet in in the depot. And at last I heard another sound—a woman's scream—my mother screaming, and her voice crying out, "Seth, O, Seth, we thought you were dead!" and in a minute more he was there beside me.

When I saw him by miracle alive the other terrible truth came back. I covered my face with the counterpane, and hid his from my eyes.

"It has nearly killed her," said my mother. "How was it? Dont, Ivy, Seth. She'll speak to you as soon as she takes it all in."

"Another man ran the Rip in and that fatal trip," said Seth. "I staid in St. Louis. My sister—the only sister I ever had, poor girl—dropped dead of heart disease that morning, and I begged off. I forgot everything but my sister, and we buried her out of town, at the old place where we were born. And I never even knew about the Rip until this morning. You see, I'd had a blow, mother. Poor little sis! I was very fond of her, and she had only me to look to after her husband ran away from her. I went to see her between trips every day, and I've never left her before for anything—that's my only comfort now. [illegible] the sis! Nannie, won't you look at me, just once?"

I did look, though [illegible] dead with [illegible] [illegible] his shoulders [illegible] [illegible] dear [illegible] [illegible] that evening [illegible] told [illegible] [illegible] sit [illegible] opposite [illegible] for Seth's little niece, who is her chief pet and plaything.

The Courier.

AUBURN IND. MAY 12, 1871.

Northern Ku Kluxism.

Whenever an outrage is committed in the Southern States the Northern Radical papers gloat over the occurrence as a justification of Ku Klux legislation and convincing evidence of the social and political demoralization in that section of the country, while more heinous crimes are committed in loyal States that are passed over by the same parties with hardly a comment. A cotemporary thus sums up a few of the horrible atrocities that have occurred within a few days past in Northern communities which boast of their christianity and refinement:

One day a man who has lived in Connecticut the land of steady habits, over half a century, is suddenly found to have committed incest with his six daughters and murdered their off spring. The next, morning a Massachusetts clergyman, over four score years of age, is arrested for attempted violation of female innocence. The next, another New England wretch is charged [illegible] own household. The next, a New York father falls with murderous intent upon a scoundrel who had seduced his daughter and then attempted to procure her death by poison, to shield himself. The next, a prominent and influential citizen of Illinois, is waylaid upon the street and brutally beaten to death for fifty dollars. The next, youthful bride perished by the hand of an assassin in order to defend her assaulted honor.

Do the records of crime in the Southern States exhibit such evidences of brutality and depravity as this brief recital of crime in the North presents? Yet the Representatives in Congress from the communities where these terrible an infamous bill to suppress social disorders in the South. Well would the remark of the Savior apply, when a lot of Pharisees were demanding that a poor, offending woman should be stoned to death, "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone." And who demanded the extreme legislation for the punishment of disorders in the South? Such pure men as Morton, Chandler, Cameron, Harlan, Ben Butler and kindred spirits. Are they so free from sin as to be able to cast stones at offending brethren?

THERE are now four Republican parties in New York, all in complete running order, besides an innumerable number of minor factions. The Sun says there is the anti-Fenton party, the anti-Conkling party, the anti-corruption party recently formed in Albany, and the anti-Grant party, which is larger than all the rest put together. The bewildered rank and file would like to know to which of these parties the Philosopher of Chappaqua belongs. Will the Hon. Horace Greeley define his position, so that people who want to go with him may not make mistakes?

THE Ku Klux in North Carolina are horrible, blood-thirsty fellows. In Lincoln county, notwithstanding the force bill, they have sent a note to a colored minister, which contains the following significant words: "You must either quit preaching or quit stealing hogs." This malicious document has been spread before the President and, upon his executive highness calling to it the attention of the very worthy Benjamin F. Butler, the latter avows his determination of proceeding immediately with the army and the navy, provided he can be assured, there are yet a few silver spoons left in that locality. Otherwise the colored minister must give up one or other of his vocations.

A Lafayette correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, in giving an account of the reception of General Grant at the home of Congressman Orth, who resides in that city, says: "I was amused with one lady, who failed utterly to engage him in conversation. She a brilliant talker, and is not easily silenced, but she could not get rid of his monosyllable replies. 'Oh!' she exclaimed, with intense mortification, 'If I could only talk horse, I would bring him out!' Such is a lady's idea of the refinement and intelligence of the President of the United States."

THE Providence Herald thus briefly lays down the Democratic platform: "The present mission of the Democratic party is to relieve the people from the terrible burden of taxation under which they are staggering; to restore peace and good will throughout our borders; to re-enfranchise disfranchised white men to restore to the people of every State the right to choose their own Governors, Legislatures and members of Congress, and to manage their own domestic affairs in their own way; to repeal the bayonet election law, and all other laws which override the safeguards which the Constitution throws around the people to secure their liberties; and to do all things else that may lawfully be done to promote the welfare of the country and the happiness of its citizens. From this great work the Democratic party is not to be diverted by the libels and denunciations of its enemies, nor the pleadings of [illegible] its own ranks. Leaving the past to take care of itself, the Democratic party will take care of the present and provide for the future."

SCHURZ AND THE SITUATION.

Mr. Schurz and those for whom he speaks have been opponents of the Democratic party, but on great national questions in which are involved the safety of the people's liberties, they find themselves on common ground. The principles which govern them and which have been violated by Congress in partizan legislation, were well expressed by Senator Schurz in his speech recently delivered at St. Louis.

It has often happened that political opponents have been drawn together and compelled to make common cause against the follies and abuses of their rulers. To quote no earlier example in history, we may point as an illustration to the recent union of the Democrats and liberal Republicans in Missouri against the corrupt and proscriptive party of the administration. The sentiment which drew them together finds wider scope for action in the usurping and tyrannical legislation of the late Congress. The Democrats in their opposition to this legislation found an earnest ally in Senator Carl Schurz, who represents and element of the Republican party which regards legislation outside the Constitution with alarm. There may be, and doubtless are, differences between Senator Schurz and the Republicans he represents and Democrats, but they are minor in comparison to the paramount and overshadowing issue so forcibly presented in the

In the constitutional limitation of political powers, we find, as our ancestors always have found, the main safeguard popular liberty. And when those constitutional limitations are disregarded, even for the protection of the rights of some, those rights will be put in jeopardy by the danger brought upon the rights of all. The safeguards of our common rights and liberties contained in the constitution are too sacred a boon to be permanently jeopardized in providing for a passing emergency. For reasons like these I found myself compelled to oppose the so-called Ku-Klux bill even against a majority of my party in Congress. [Cheers.]

But a still more striking instance of that looseness of constitutional notions revealed itself in the most flagrant usurpation of the war making power by the Executive in the San Domingo case, an attempt not only utterly without parallel in the history of this country, but without the shadow of a constitutional argument to palliate it. Startling as the attempt was more startling it is that such an act should so far have passed without a declaration of sentiment in Congress, preventing it from becoming a dangerous precedent in our history. But worse still is it, that such an act can be committed without at least arousing public opinion to a commanding demonstration of disapproval. It is, indeed, time that the American people should open their eyes to the dangerous character of this tendency, and that neither a great name nor an object appealing to our sympathies should be permitted to disguise it.

As for me, I have seen the working of irresponsible power and personal government in other countries, and I may assure my constituents that while I am a citizen of this Republic I shall struggle to the last grasp against its introduction here. [Great cheering.]

Upon this issue all men who value constutional government; all men who hate despotism and love liberty, must be united. Constitutions are of little use, and constitutional limits worse than mockery, if they can be overridden at the pleasure of any party, which the wheel of political fortune may turn into power. And Mr. Schurz well says that it is time the American people should open their eyes to the dangerous tendency towards overridding these limitations. Power is either limited or absolute. There is no middle ground, and where it is absolute, there the personal and political rights of the citizen exist by sufferance only. Against the establishment of such a condition of things as this Democrats and Republicans who agree with Senator Schurz stand together.

We deem it a fortunate thing that the doctrine of constitutitonal limitations finds advocates outside of the Democratic party as well as in it, and that denunciations of the mischievous and despotic legislation in disregard of such limitations are uttered by Republicans like Mr. Schurz, and by Republican journals of prominence. That prejudice which too often blinds men to reason might have caused Republicans to ascribe Democratic opposition to the force bill passed by Congress to party spirit, and to have doubted their statements concerning its provisions and effect. Indeed, administration journals and orators—conspicious among the latter we find that prince of demagogues, Senator Morton—have not been slow to appeal to the prejudice of their party on this very ground. But on such ground can they meet Senator Schurz. They cannot answer him with any such appeals, or charge him with Democratic bias. They must either admit that he is right, in doing which they admit that the Democracy are right and the Radical party wrong, or they must take issue with him upon the principles he lays down above as the only safe rule of governmental action in a free Rebulic. They have done this practically in their legislation, and have thus made the issue which is uniting against them all men who believe it is better to put restraints upon the servants of the people than to leave them unbridled, or to put shackles in their hands to be used upon the people at pleasure.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

—THE best answer to all of the assertions made during the last few years that the "negroes won't work" is the statement going the rounds of Southern papers to the effect that the cotton crop this year is the largest of any since 1860.—Mishawaka Enterprise.

And how does it answer for a refutation of the slanderous stories which the Radicals circulates about the disturbances in the South? If the Ku Klux are so terrible and commit such atrocious acts upon the negro population as to keep them in perpetual fear, how is it that they manage to work and raise so much cotton?—Laporte Argus.

If the first is best we consider the last "[illegible]." Try again, Mont., but be careful of old Argus. Next.

The Radical "spiller"—Whiskey.

Agricultural Department.

GRAFTING.—It is an old idea that grafting cannot be done after the leaves have started into growth. It often happens that during the busy spring season the farmer or fruit-grower cannot attend to setting of all his cions before the trees begin their growth, and concludes that it is no use to set grafts so late. Trees may be grafted when in full leaf if cions have been cut before the buds start, and preserved in a dormant condition. In working the trees while vegetation is active, care must be taken not to make bad wounds. We prefer some form of crown-grafting to the usually practiced cleft-grafting. —Hearth and Home

CORN IN DROUGHT.—A correspondent of an Australian newspaper makes the following suggestions in relation to raising corn in time of drought. At times the weather is so parching at the period when corn is coming into flower, that the pollen of the tassel is not in condition to fulfil its office, and many stocks are left barren. I am certain that barren corn results from scarcity of pollen, and it can be easily observed if the weather is dry when the corn comes into flower. To prevent mishaps of that kind, I would make every third row about a foot wider than usual, or about five feet wide, and when the corn is about a foot high, and has been hoed a second or third time, I would plant seed in this wide row; plant it close, and if the pollen fails in the first planted corn, the second may come to the rescue, and make a crop, when otherwise there might be none.

Best Milk-Producing Food.

T. L. HART, of Cornwall, Conn. has written an article for the Germantown Telegraph, from which the following is extracted:

There is no doubt a difference in the quality of the milk in different cows, some being rich in caseine or cheese, and that of others in butter, yet, as a rule, the milk will be in a great measure what it is made by the feed of the cow. The milk from the same cows may be varied by feed from 80, by the lactometer, up to 115 degrees, the highest number being the best, and such as is produced by the heaviest feed.

In a carefully tried experient, which I made last winter, I found that heavy feed, such as corn, wheat, rye, shorts, fed to twelve cows, pound for pound, did not make as much milk as wheat bran, into nine quarts a day, and I have no dotbt that for a time this would invariably be the result, yet I should not dare to continue for any considerable length of time to feed my cows upon wheat bran alone, as it would undoubtedly diminish the strength of the cow, and soon reduce her to a condition that she would be incapable of giving very much milk.

I am now feeding twelve cows two bushels of wheat bran mixed with one bushel of corn meal ground in the cob, with very satisfactory results. The milk is good, the strength of the animal is kept up, and a diminished amount of hay will keep the cow in a good thriving condition. I feed twice a day.

It is yet an open question whether the feed should be fed dry or wet. There is no doubt that in cold weather it would be much better if the water, which is required by cows in milk, could be warmed. If taken into the system while at a very low temperature the process of digestion will be retarded until the temperature of the water is raised to blood heat.

In warming this water digestion is not only retarded, but there will be a loss of a certain amount of food, which like fuel, is consumed in keeping up the heat of the body; and this accounts for the fact that a herd of cattle requires very much more food in extremely cold weather than they do on warm weather. It will be evident, therefore, that a large amount of food may be saved by warm stabling in cold weather and consequently a much greater secretion of milk is secured.

The great mass of the community are no doubt ignorant in regard to the great difference in the quality of milk made by the different kinds of feed. Milk made from a cow fed upon turnips and buckwheat bran or buckwheat shorts is totally unfit for a young child or its mother, and there is no doubt but that the mortality among children is often caused by improper food of which the milk is made. The physician knows the importance of having the milk from a new milch cow assigned for a young child; the why and wherefore very likely he does not know.

He probaly does not know that the milk from a farrow cow is one-third heavier and one-third richer in caseine than that of a new milch cow, and therefore not as well adapted to the wants of the child, nor does the mother understand that the cause of the child's illness is owing to some improper food eaten by the cow. If I was desirous of making a given amount of milk the best adapted to the greatest number of children, I would feed the cows on equal parts (in pounds) of oats, wheat bran, Indian corn and the best of hay and apples.

Until we become accustomed to trying experiments, we shall not know for a certainty the quality of food that will, when fed to a lot of cows, produce the greatest amount of really good milk for a given amount of feed, nor shall we know whether the cutting of hay for our milch cows will pay the extra expense of labor in doing it. Some of our milkmen who have tried cutting are of the opinion that it pays well for the trouble, and some contemplate steaming.

Root, especially carrots, increase the flow of milk and of the best quality, and often to keep the cow in good health. Apples will increase the quantity nearly as much as turnips, and of much better quality.

In making milk there is nothing more important than good early cut hay. Without this it may be doubted whether milk can be made with profit.

Said a little four year old: "Mother, father won't be in Heaven with us, will he?" "Why my child?" "Because he can't leave the store."

A California boy kicked a mule twice. Then the mule kicked the boy once. The mule is as well as ever; the boy "now sleeps in the valley."

SONG ECHO

A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, $7.50 per dozen. Contains over two hundred new and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc. by Will S. Hays, Webster, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 50c. Liberal terms for introduction.

Address,
April 27, 3-m.

FIFTY DOLLARS
WORTH OF MUSIC
FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters' Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 40 cents. Four back numbers for 75 cts.

J. L. PETERS,
599 Broadway, New York.

DANIEL VOLLMER,
PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST
Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.,
FORT WAYNE INDA.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of
PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorous and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron. This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system.

The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM
IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.
PRICE $9,00 per Volume or
$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 160 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite [illegible], and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply an address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE
HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

It contains over 100 fine engravings of Battle Scenes and incidents in the war, and is the only Authentic and official history of that great conflict.

Caution. Inferior histories are being circulated. See that the books you buy contains 100 fine engravings and maps. Send for circulars & see our terms, and a full description of the work. Address, National Publishing Co., Chicago Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, or St. Louis, Mo.

Scripture and Science have met together Genesis and Geology have kissed each other.

SCIENCE AND THE BIBLE

A book of thrilling interest and greatest importance to every human being. The papers, Pulpits and people are all discussing the subject and book, every man woman and child wants to read it. The long fierce war is ended, and honorable peace secured, Science is true; the Bible literal, pure and beautiful, both now satisfied and firm friends. God's work days, six actual days, not long periods. This book gives the very cream of science, making its thrilling realities, beauties, wonders and sparkling gems a hundred fold more interesting than fiction. AGENTS WANTED. Experienced Agents will drop other books and secure territory immediately. Address for circulars.

ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 139 Race St., Cincinnati, O.

COUGH! COUGH! COUGH

Why will you Cough when you can be so easily relieved by using

Dr. Wells' Carbolic Tablets!

They are sure cure for sore throat, cold, hoarseness, Catarrh and all diseases of the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes.

From the great number of Testimonials as to the efficiency of this invaluable medicine the following is selected.

47 Wabpanseh Ave., Chicago, Ill., Jan. 14 1871.

"For the last ten years I have been a great sufferer "from frequent attacks of Acute Bronchitis, and have "never found anything to relieve me from these attacks until I tried D. Well' Carbolic Tablets."

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets.

JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent.

Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a Box.

AGENTS MALE & FEMALE, For fast selling popular subscription Books. Extra inducements to Agents. Information free, Address Am. Book Co., 62 William St. N. Y.

5 TO $20 DAY!

Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home, to sell our new 7 strand White Wire Clothes Lines to last for ever. Dont miss this chance. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Mills, 75 W'm. St., N. Y., or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

Reduction of Prices
TO CONFORM TO
Reduction of Duties
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS
By Getting up Clubs

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and renumerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Abdominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States.

Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Read "Convent Life Unveiled," By Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling & startling. Price, $2.00. Con. Pub. Co., Hartford, Ct.

WATCH Free, and $30 a day sure, no humbug. Address with stamp, [illegible] & Co., Pittsburgh Pa.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Washington B. Langley is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George B. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of six hundred and fifty four dollars and eighty one cents with interest on said Judgement and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment interest and costs I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. Chidsey, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 26, A. D 1871.
$7.25.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Levi W. Bates is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George B. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of eleven hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty-two cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interests and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. Chidsey, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 26th, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein Gilman Dubois and others are Plaintiffs and John A. Bartlett, George B. Bartlett are Defendants, required me to make the sum of Twenty-one hundred and sixteen dollars and twenty one cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] east, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
L. Chidsey, Dep'y.
Auburn, Indiana, April 26, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.

John L. Short,
vs. } Complaint No. 64.
E. W. Shepard.

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. Shepard, whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.—

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,
BUILDING CONTRACTORS!
AND DEALERS IN BUILDING STONE
OF EVERY VARIETY
MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES
IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.
MANTELS
IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron
MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
MARBLE SLATE and
SANDSTONE, HEARTHS.
SCAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.
TERRA COTTA WORK,
Vases, Chimney Tops
STONE WATER TABLES,
Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,
SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,
Cement Plaster, &c

Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workman only employed,

SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

The Sun.
CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.
The Dollar Weekly Sun.

A Newspaper of the Present Times.

Intended for People Now on Earth.

Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.

Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.

SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR,

of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.

THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.

A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.

TERMS TO CLUBS.

THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Four Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Eight Dollars.

Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Fifteen Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-three Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-five Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Fifty Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Sixty Dollars.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Eight Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club). Sixteen Dollars.

SEND YOUR MONEY

In Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address

I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
Sun office, New York City.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MOENY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, he advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!
Fort Wayne Indiana,
Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

We desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. We buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

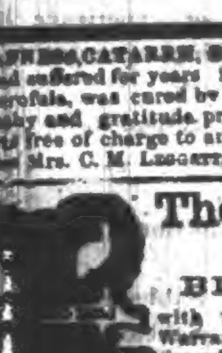
J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Ghene poplin 20, cents.
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, laces laces in great variety, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 29, '71.

DEAFNESS, CATARRH, SCROFULA. A lady who had suffered for years from Deafness, Catarrh and Scrofula, was cured by a simple remedy. Her sympathy and gratitude prompt her to send the receipt free of charge to any one similarly afflicted. Address Mrs. C. M. Leggett, Jersey city, N. J.



Thea-Nectar
IS A PURE
BLACK TEA
with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific tea Co. [illegible] New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

WANTED AGENTS [$20 per day] to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under feed, makes the 'lock stitch' [alike on both sides] and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the Market. Address JOHNSON CLARK & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1. Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. Patton, Treas. Springfield, Mass.

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisins,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE
Highest Price given for Produce,
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN
Feb. 26 1y

Root & Company
IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's
Popular Dry Goods House
KNOWN AS THE
New York Store!
90 COLUMBIA st,
Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do them selves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's
POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE
90 Columbia st.

We are now showing unusual large and attractive assortment of

Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk
New Spring Silks, Japanese
Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS.
Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch
Gingham Umbrellas,
Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Carsimeres, White Goods and Linens
New Embroiders, Paisley
Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company
NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,
FORT WAYNE, IND.
Feb. 24 1y

HEADQUARTERS!
FOR
WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS
AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,
—AT—
J. ABRIGHT'S,
Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated
JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE
DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,
Musical Instruments
Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.
Opposite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE
HAT FACTORY!
JAMES HARPER & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,
AND DEALERS IN
Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,
No. 3 Phenix Block, Calhoun St.,
Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand
ON MAIN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need

FOR CASH
OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account, come and settle, as he is determined to collect, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.
Feb. 21 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully, W. H. MCINTOSH.

The Auburn Courier
OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

THE trees in the Court House Square are growing finely and in a few years a find park will be the result.

T. M. Biddle, runs the best and lowest priced Drug Store, in Fort Wayne. Try him and get good bargains.

Markley, Schrader & Co's, is the best place to buy your Boots & Shoes, when at Fort Wayne. They keep a large fine stock of all styles.

IT is said some babies are so small that they can creep into a quart measure; but the way in which some adults can walk into such measures is [illegible].

IN Boston, a poor man, who less than a year ago had only one suit of clothes, went into the newspaper business, and now has eight suits. Seven of them are for libel.

ANOTHER GAME.—Another great game of base ball will come off at Fort Wayne next Tuesday, between the KeKiongas and the Forest City Club, of Rockford Ills.

COURT.—There were not a large amount of cases ready for trial during the present term of court, and in consequence the session may close to-day.

SKIFF & GAYLORD'S MINSTRELS, appear at Colericks Opera House, at Fort Wayne, on the 29th inst. This troupe instead of coming out all black, appear in white even to their hair and boots.

COMING.—We learn that Steward's Summit City Theater Comique, will give an entertainment in this place some time during next week, if a suitable place can be secured for exhibition.

A poetical contribution to the COURIER will appear next week, if the author's name is made known to us. Our rule is that the name of the writer must accompany each contribution, which will not be given to the public unless so desired.

S. T. MONTGOMERY, of the Mishawaka Enterprise, delivered a temperance lecture last week, at Waterloo, to quite a large audience. Mont. is a "brick," but never carries it in his hat 'cause he's down on that sort of thing.

SODA WATER.—When you want a good drink of soda water, go to Davenport's drug store. His fount is now in full blast and a cool refreshing beverage can now be had. Six five cent tickets for 25 cts. 25 tickets for $1.

FRESH FISH.—T. B. Totten, is now supplying a nice quality of fresh fish to our citizens. This is an excellent arrangement, and we hope he will be liberally patronized. Fresh fish received twice a week.

"WHAT carrotty-headed little brat is that madam; do you know his name?"—"Why, yes, that's my youngest child." "You don't say so, indeed. Why, what a dear little, sweet, dove-eyed cherub he is, to be sure!"

THOSE new garters made of gold chain are being very extensively worn now for evening toilets, and they lend a charm to the wearer which is not excelled. We saw several pair the other evening—on exhibition at the Jewelry store,

ONE of our popular correspondents, has delivered himself of the following on the subject of Mary's little lamb:

Mary had a little lamb
It's eyes were heavenly blue,
And if you touch that little lamb,
I'll put a head on you.

STAVES.—The manufacture of staves, in this place, commenced last Monday, and for several days past twenty-five thousand have been turned out each day. Stave bolts are now in great demand, and our farmers are expected to keep up the supply. Turn your poor timber into money.

IF you fasten a nail or key to a string and suspend it to your thumb and finger, the nail will oscillate like a pendulum.—Let some one place his open hand under the nail, and it will change to circular motion. Then let a third person place his hand upon your shoulder, and the nail becomes in a moment stationary.

Another instance of the injurious use of tobacco has just been published in the papers. At Somerset, Pa., a humorous chap put a pistol cartridge into a man's tobacco pipe to come a joke on him. He smoked a spell, when he heard something "fiz" and immediately missed his left ear a piece of his nose, and one eye,

THERE is a story going the rounds that a boardinghouse keeper died and left all her property to a young man, just because he never complained about the hash and things. It is evident that the item is published at the instigation of boardinghouse keepers, who think young men will take warning, and quit complaining in hopes of being remembered.

R. R. MEETING TO-NIGHT.—An important railroad meeting will take place at the Court House, to-night, in the interest of the Baltimore & Ohio Extension. Hon. Judge Clapp will address the meeting, and being the President of the Indiana organization, some new developments may be made. A large attendance is requested.

A POPULAR man is one who has the happy faculty of never presenting any sharp corners. He is not necessarily very good or very wise, and he is rarely very great. His character is distinguished for negative rather than positive qualities; for a certain fortunate equilibrium and tact of adoption, rather than any intrinsic worth or marked individuality. Indeed, this first is apt to be fatal to all personality. A man of strong points is sure to come into collision with other people's points, to tread on other people's [illegible], and to create more or less general antagonism.

LIBRARY OF POETRY AND SONG.—This book has been prepared with the aim of gathering into a single volume the largest practicable amount of the best Poems of the English language, making it as nearly as possible the choicest and most complete general collection of poetry yet published. Amid all the varying tastes and desires of a reading people, there is sure to be a welcome for real, true poetry; for that is the most pleasing expression of the sweeter, or stronger, or happier, or more sorrowful—in other words, of the more interesting phases of human life. In this volume is found a choice selection from the very best productions of our celebrated poets, and it certainly is destined to be very popular work. See advertisement in another column.

A RADICAL Hoosier, who lately emigrated to Florida, writes the following to the Northern Indianian: "The more I become acquainted with the South, the more I am convinced that the blacks are a worthless, lazy set of vagabonds, that you can put no dependence in whatever."

A COUPLE of editors in the 10th District express fears that they cannot take the excursion trip to Lincoln, Nebraska, next June. What's the matter gents? Is any thing wrong?—South Bend Union.

Well, not being one of them, we don't know, but trust that the thing will be all right by June.

RECENT letters received in this city give very encouraging news with regard to the B. & O. R. R. Extension. It is believed the Northern Route will be selected, in which case Laporte will be one of the points touched by the line.—Laporte Argus.

Just so. If you happened to be on the Southern route, Mr. Argus, no doubt that line would be selected. Big I, you know.

AN ITEM.—Here is an item for those who oppose coffee drinking and those who favor drinking Scotch whisky, etc.: "Experiments recently carried on in India have proved that coffee pulp will yield upon distillation, nine per cent. of its own weight in spirit, equal in strength to Scotch whisky."

BASE BALL.—The base fall fever is again raging, leather pounders being in demand. A club was organized in this place last week, and we say to contending nines to look a little out.

Two first-class games have been played, at Fort Wayne, during the past week, in which the famous KeKiongas were once defeated and once victorious.

HORSE RADISH will be hot this summer. Buttermilk will be plenty if the cows come home. Spring wheat seems to be growing right along in some localities, and will be fit to cut as soon as it is ready to harvest. Corn fodder should be planted early, and in order to make it grow straight, it would be well to place a stick in each hill for it to vine on. Crooked fodder is poor feed for straight cattle.

A YOUNG lady of extraordinary intellectual capacities recently addressed the following letter to her cousin living in a neighboring village: "Dear Kussin—The weather whar we is it air hot and I suppose whar we is it air hotter we all is well and mother has got the his Terricks an brother Tom has got the Hoppin koff an sister Susie has got a baby and I hope these fu lines will find you in the same condishun right seme your aphectshunate Kussin."

CHANGE OF TIME.—An important change took place last Tuesday in the running time of the Fort Wayne Jackson & Saginaw Railroad. Trains going North pass through Auburn as follows: Express, 8:01 a. m., mixed 10:49 a. m. mail 5:50 p. m Going South—mail, 9.55 a. m., mixed, 4:08 p. m., Express, 9:40 p. m.

There has also been a change in the running time of the Air Line road, and we will give corrected time of each road next week.

SHOCKING DEATH.—William, a sprightly, intelligent, four-year-old son of Mr. Dressler connected with the Bucyrus Machine Works, of this place, while in the act of pursuing his dog that was running after Eastward-bound freight train, last Wednesday, was over taken by another train, run over and most horribly mangled. His right arm and right leg were ground to a bloody mass. In this condition, he was taken to his parents, who, it is needless to say, were utterly grief-stricken. Although having the treatment of Mr. Myer and other excellent surgeons, the poor unfortunate boy lived until Thursday morning, when he departed for the Better-land.—Bucyrus Forum.

[Communicated.]

MR. EDITOR,—Business recently called me to visit the principal towns and all the townships in your county, and, as is my custom I noted down such objects of interest as fell under my observation.

I have transcribed from my note book some of the most important, and herewith send them to you for publication or the waste basket as you may determine,

And first allow me to say that I was most agreably disappointed in the appearance and evident prosperity of your county seat. The persistent but vain efforts made by a rival town to have the county seat removed would naturally have the effect to deter business men from investing in permanent improvements.

These efforts, I suppose, now have happily and forever ceased, at any rate their efforts are felt no more, and your town now presents to a stranger as many evidences of present and future prosperity, as any county seat in this portion of the State, and many more than some of them.

I met only a few of your business men but if these were a fair sample the trade of your city is in the right hands. I spent a short time in the hardware store of J. L. Davis, who, by the way, has the best stock in his line I have seen in places of this size, in Northern Indiana. It often needs replenishing or the signs are all at fault.

Your citizens I find are agitated over the prospect of another railroad—all right and it will do you good, but let me say this, that railroads do not make a town but manufactures do.

You newly started a stave factory, employing twenty-five hands and affording a market, for otherwise, almost worthless timber, your saw mill with its capacity, for ten to twelve hundred feet of timber per day, the planing mill, lath mill and shingle machine, all under the same management. Your large and fine steam flouring mills, and other kindred manufacturing interests, will do much more to build up your town than another railroad.

My business takes me to many towns similar to Auburn and I find no exceptions to the rule that they are prosperous in proportion as they encourage manufactures.

But I propose to be brief. My business being with the Township Trustees I will briefly notice the school interests of your county.

Coming into the county at the Southwest corner I first saw the Trustee of Butler Tp., Henry H. Houser, who for seven years has had charge of a school and will in all probability hold the office seven years longer.

He has had six months school, but has levied a sufficient tax to give him seven and perhaps eight months in the year.

He speaks highly of all his teachers. The winter was in one of his schools taught by Miss Simonds, and find in my note book the words "first-class teacher" after her name.

Next to Jackson Tp., but I will finish up the county in another letter.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD.

We take the following from the Defiance Democrat, of last week:

"The expressed preference of the B. & O. Directory for an Air-Line which should not bring them into the conflict directly on its route with other and competing roads, gives the Defiance line a merit, which seems to be generally conceded by all who have examined its claims. With no natural obstacles, traversing a country almost level, easily drained and with abundant timber and ballast, the Engineer expressed himself most favorably impressed with its advantages and could not but wonder why some of the great roads had not availed themselves of it instead of constructing the difficult and crooked lines they are now using.

Defiance is made the "headquarters" of the survey, and Mr. Crossman is expected here next week to organize his corps of engineers for running the line."

The Engineers who are now taking observations on this route, passed through this place last Friday, and intended to reach Chicago yesterday. Engineers will commence surveying a line next week, from Tiffin to Defiance and this place. The other line through Napoleon may, possibly, go to the expense of a survey, though there is no probability that a line so crooked and difficult of construction will ever be selected by such a company of practical railroad men, as the B. & M.—The papers along that route are making a feeble cry to their citizens to organize, but the people don't seem to see it, and we should'nt be surprised, if the whole thing would die away in the next week.—They see the great advantages we possess over all others, and with the energy and enterprise already developed on this line we feel like fighting it out if it takes all summer.

Our citizens should remember that a preliminary survey must be had before a railroad can be built and they should come forward without delay, and contribute to this object. We have too great a start, and too many encouragements, to hesitate long on a survey, and as the apportionment for DeKalb County will be about $500, we trust that it will be speedily and promptly given.

What We Need in Auburn.

There are a number of important acquisitions needed in this place and among them we enumerate the following which are actually essential to the growth and prosperity of our town:

1st. Enterprise.

2nd. Every man take the COURIER.

3d. A few thousand dollars more invested in manufacturers, so as to make them a feature in our town, and result to the good of the county generally.

4. Enterprising men.

5. Several new brick blocks, to take place of the dilapidated wooden buildings that "infest" the business portion of our city.

6. A little more enterprise.

7. More capital invested in Factories and Machine Shops, which could do an excellent business if established here, by

8. Men of enterprise.

9. More men of enterprise, who are able and willing to blow their own horns; are willing that their neighbors should do as well as themselves; who will work for the interest of the place, and not simply for selfish ends, and who ADVERTISE.

10. More enterprise in business.

11. A little more enterprise.

12. Liberality toward what tends to make our own town prosper.

13. Men who are chuck full of enterprise.

14. More such men.

15. Good roads into the country.

16. Side walks, cross walks, shade trees a public library, and all such things, that go to make our town admired of strangers and ourselves proud of it

17. A great deal less fogyism.

18. More men of enterprise.

19. Citizens who have pluck enough to maintain the good reputation of their town at all times and in all places; who do not get frightened and want to "sell out" because the times are a little hard; who will look farther than the end of their noses in their business undertakings; who intend to build up the town and take a pride in so doing, instead of pulling down what has already been done, by their croakings and their week-kneed way of doing business. We have a few such citizens. We want a great many more.

20. Enterprise.

21. Fewer loafers on our street corners' and more attention to business by said loafers.

22. More enterprising, industrious, honest, temperate men, and few drones to lessen the respectability of our place.

23. More railroads, which can be secured if we but watch our own interests, as we should.

24. Fewer grumblers, fault-finders, traveling "agents" impostors and "dead beats."

25. A great deal more enterprise.

Every good citizen should work with a will to supply these needs.

In Memoriam.

At a recent session of the M. E. Sabbath School, in the village of Spencerville, O. W. Rummell, J. W. Dills and S. Barney being appointed committee, the following action was had:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, by accidents, death, our beloved class-mate and friend, Nathan W. Larimore.

Therefore, Be it resolved, that we will ever cherish a grateful recollection of his many excellencies, and imitate and emulate the virtues which endeared him to us that each and all may merit and secure a like memorial, when we too, shall have gone hence.

Resolved, That to his parents, now bereft, of a dutiful son, upon whom they so confidently looked for support in the decline of life, and to his brothers and sisters now deprived of his examples and counsel, we offer our sympathies, and commend them to Him, whose favor, and grace, can sustain them in their irrepaira ble loss.

Surely by this sad accident, we as a Sabbath School, are reminded of the truth, "that in the midst of life we are in death."

Death rides on every passing breeze,
And lurks in every flower.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be published in the AUBURN COURIER and a copy be sent to the bereaved family.

O. W. RUMMELL,
J. W. DILLS, } Committee.
S. BARNEY.

SOME doctors leave no stone unturned to cure a patient. One in Lafayette gave a woman fourteen kinds of medicine to cure the chills. She has been cold ever since, but has'nt shook a shake, only when the hearse ran over a stump on the way to the grave.

AUBURN.

BY [illegible] S. C.

Come listen my friends, a story I'll tell
About the town Auburn, in which I now dwell,
'Tis a very good place for trading to do
And this I will show before I get through.

There is S. W. Ralston and his excellent boys
'Tis a very good place to buy all your toys,
And dry goods and groceries and china-ware too
And all other notions that are needed by you.

I. Lauferty is also a very fine man,
Has piles of good clothing, deals fair as he can,
Any time you want clothing call on the gent,
I am sure you will say your money is well spent.

Case, Klotz and Bougher are dry goods men too,
And keep a good assortment of groceries for you
Totten, Smith & Hare keep goods that are right,
They sell them off lively from morn till night.

Davis and Beirel are birds of one feather
And dealers in hardware and tinware together,
If you want a good stove just give them a call,
Bring along your old tinware, they can mend all.

Davenport and Ehlers each a drug store do keep,
Have lots of perfumery to make you smell sweet
If you have headache, colic, grout or cold,
Try their wine that is six years old.

Hare, Hunter and Otto with Wolf on their track,
Keep lots of good shoes, boots and bootblack,
To show you their stock, for them, is a pleasure,
Mens' feet they guess at, ladies they measure.

Swinsford and Rainier, each keep a retreat,
For those that are hungry to get things to eat,
Landlords and Landladies are quicker than steel,
By few minutes warning can get a warm meal.

We have a jeweler, Mr Abright, so neat,
If a lady comes in he always looks so sweet,
He keeps watches and clocks and rings for the ear
Will repair any watch and warrant one year.

Ford, Casebeer and Cowan are physicians of skill,
They will go at your call to cure you when ill,
In case you are sick, send for them sure,
Their medicines I'll warrant to kill or to cure.

Our milliners too we will never forget,
And will speak of them now for fear of regret,
Hats and bonnets they will fix very nice,
And sell you their goods at a very low price.

Dills, Rinkel, Moody, and Plum lawyers so bright
Get them for council they'll tell what's right,
E. Eldon, dentist, nerve steady and stout,
With laughing gas ready to jerk a tooth out.

Ed. Eldridge and Heble I'll introduce next,
At them, some people, are very much vexed,
Because they sell schnapps and lager beer too,
A great many thinks this they ought not to do.

C. Baker, our bakery, has everything sweet,
Keeps a No. 1 shop and plenty to eat,
Such as pies, cakes, bollogna and oysters too,
Nuts, candies and cigars all warranted new.

S. U. Tarney, our butcher, shop clean and neat,
Is supplying us now with very good meat,
If you've cattle to sell hogs, sheep or such trash
Bring them along he will pay you the cash.

Mr. Long, our old butcher, with steel and knife,
Always stands ready to take something's life,
What he says now he means it for all.
If you owe me for meat please give me a call.

We have grist mills, saw mills, wagon shops too,
Blacksmiths, tailors and barbers two,
To tell you of all, that I never could do,
My head is so woolly it would never get through.

Now, my dear friends my story I'll end,
By saying to you if you've money to spend,
Just come to Auburn your trading to do,
And save, ten per cent, which is bully for you.

MARRIAGES.

ROTH—RHODEFFER—At the residence of the bride's parents on the 18th inst., by Rev. A. W. Lampert, Mr. JOHN L. ROTH and CYNTHY A. RHODEFFER, all of this place.

Our thanks are due the nuptial parties for their remembrance, in the shape of some most excellent cake, and the COURIER establishment heartily joins a host of friends in wishing our clever friend John and his beautiful bride, a happy and prosperous voyage adown the stream of life. Next.

KING—DERMOTT—On May 7th 1871, by Elder T. P. Sutton, Mr. MADISON DERMOTT to Miss CORNELIA KING, both of Coburn's Corners, DeKalb County Ind.

DEATHS.

May 1st, 1871, CAROLINE, youngest daughter of Harlow Gee, aged 5 years 5 months and 25 days

Tuesday morning, May 8th, in child birth, SOPHIA wife of George Picker, aged 18 years.

The Wool Market.

During the past week no particular change in the eastern wool market has taken place. There is a general emptyness. the country at no time during the past ten years having been so completely drained. There it is ready. The country is being scoured in all directions for odd lots of old wool, and in numerous cases the accumulations of many seasons have been brought out from their dingy retreat and placed in the hands of the consumers In this way the stocks in the Eastern market which would otherwise have been completely exhausted have been pieced out. Ohio wools have sold as high as sixty cents during the past week.—Ohio Farmer.

A FARMER in Allen County, laughed when his wife told him it was dangerous to smoke on a load of hay. When he came home with his clothes all burned off having sold the iron work of the horse and wagon for a couple of dollars in store pay, then she laughed. A divorce, will likely grow out of it.

The Fastest Trotter in the World—A 2:15 Horse.

[From the Sacramento (Cal.) Reporter.]

The chances are that the celebrated horse Dexter will have to take a back seat before long. Yesterday, at the park, the mysterious "Stanford horse" was driven around the track in a sulky by "Yank" Smith, who has the animal in his charge. The first mile was trotted over at a moderate rate of speed, but on the last half mile Smith let him out, and he crossed the score in 1:07. Keeping right on, at a slow trot, till the last half mile was reached, the wonderful horse was urged to his speed and made the last half mile in 1:07 1-4. His time was noted by several reliable and experienced parties, among whom may be mentioned Charley Shear and George Gilbert. Leland Stanford, the owner of the horse, was also on the ground. There is no doubt about this time having been made, and it is the fastest on record. A well-known sporting gentleman who saw the trial offered to wager $1,000 that he could take the horse for a week and drive him a mile at 2:15. The horse has a somewhat romantic history, and, like many bipeds in this country, his elevation from had work and obscurity to fame and ease, has been rapid and remarkable. Not many months ago he did service in a butcher's cart in this city, and was sold for the paltry sum of $150 Stanford paid $3,000 for him, and could probably get $30,000 now for his bargain. The pedigree of the horse is in dispute, but those who have the best reason to know state that he is a St. Clair.

The Census.

The Senate some time since called on the census bureau for the returns of population. The reply embraces the latest returns, and is subject only to some trifling changes in the western townships. The population of States is 38,104,840; territories and district of Columbia, 442,840; total population 38,547,534. The census bureau expect to complete the first volume of the report, embracing the population, in three months. They do not intend to make a preliminary report, as the apportionment question is expected to be a leading topic for the next congress.

"Faith, boss, what sort of a baste is this? he's opened his mouth and swallowed his head." Land-terrapin, bejabbers."

"Bob, did you go to the gold mines?" "Yes" "What did you dig?" "I dug home as soon as possible."

New York Live Stock Market.

NEW YORK, May 15.

Total beeves 7,800, of which 4,400 were on sale to-day, 96 cars at 100th street, 93 at Communipaw, and 20 at Weewaken.—Trade dull. Texans at 12@12½; very few on sale. Fair to Good steers sold at 13½-14; prime 14½; and 40 extra Ohio high grade, 9 cwt sold at 15c; 18 good Illinois 7 cwt 13@14; quality generally good average; strong 13½. 18,300 sheep for the week wit, the 3,400 to-day made the market slow as former rates. Most lots western; shipped being 6@8½; Lambs lower thin selling for 11@13, prime 14 2 cars Ohio sheep 78 pounds sold at 5½. Hogs are coming too fast: total of 20 3 0 being above the wants of the market; the 7,000 to-day selling at 7@7½ for dressed. Live quoted at 5½@7½.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	135 @ 138
" Red	128
Oats	47
Rye	80
Corn	42
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	03c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

BEAUTY.—The largest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chromo thographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co., of Rutland, Vt., desire an active agent in every town and village, to whom they offer liberal terms. Read the advertisement of the Parlor Album.

To the People of Auburn and Vicinity.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store anl are now prepared to sell goods lowe than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is BURLINGTON, on the Mississppi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and trafic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph. Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

Application for License.

NOTICE is hereby given the citizens of Union Township, DeKalb County, Indiana, that I will make application at the next session of the Board of Commissioners, of said county, for license to retail intoxicating liquors, at and with the privilege of having the same drank on the following premises, to-wit: The South half of Lot 24 old plat, in Auburn in said county.

JOHN HEBEL.

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
F. M. BIDDLE.
April 27, '70, 1-y

500 VOLUMES In One
AGENTS WANTED
FOR
The Libary of Poetry and Song.
Being Choice Selections from the Best Poets
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, IRISH AND AMERICAN,
With an Introduction
BY WILLIAM CULLES BRYANT.
Under whose critical supervision the volume was compiled.

The handsomest and cheapest subscription book extant. Over 800 pages, beautifully printed, choicely illustrated, handsomely bound. A library of over 500 volumes in one book, whose contents, of no ephemeral nature or interest, will never grow old or stale. It can be, and will be, read and re-read with pleasure by old and young, as long as its leaves hold together.

"A perfect surprise. Scarcely anything at all a favorite, or at all worthy of place here, is neglected. It is a book for every household."—N. Y. Mail.

"We know of no similar collection in the English language which, in copiousness and felicity of selection and arrangement, can at all compare with it"—N. Y. Times.

Terms liberal. Selling very rapidly. Send for Circular and Terms to J. B. FORD & CO., 27 Park Place, N. Y.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded.
1y.

NEW system, NEW
GOODS,
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
O. T. CLARK & CO.
Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!
Comprises everything desirable in the line of
Dry Goods
CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions,
And an endless variety of House-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 1, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St, AUBURN, IND.
He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant Stocks of Boots and Shoes for
Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
Ever before Exhibited
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE
IN POINT OF
Workmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DEFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselves.
W. W. HUMES.
April, 4, '70.

McDOUGAL'S
CARPET STORE!
A FULL LINE OF CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia Street.

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, throat, Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female diseases, should apply in person or by letter, to Dr. N. GARD, Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 462, Fort Wayne Ind. Nov. 5

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.
ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co., 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Faean, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 28th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyful announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not, you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 3,000 yards of [illegible] palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 18½c a yard
ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1,00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTTES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities of. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEYSTONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST.
FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

The Life of the Empress Eugenie at Chislehurst.

During the last six months a plainly dressed, grace[illegible] by three or fo[illegible] have been met any day walking in the lanes in and about Chislehurst. Few of those meeting her, and failing to recognize a familiar face, would have suspected that one short twelve months since she was an empress a wife of the ruler over a great and powerful nation. With the resignation of royalty she has abandoned every appearance of state. Every Sunday she walks to the little Catholic chapel, whatever the weather may be, and it is the rarest thing in the world to see her riding in a carriage. Her attire is of the simplest, and she may sometimes be seen walking in a plain cotton dress. She neither visits nor receives visitors in any numbers, and, indeed, carries her seclusion so far that when solicited to be present at a concert in the neighborhood, given for the benefit of her distressed subjects of former years, she declined. For years the Empress has been the leader of fashion, and the least peculiarity of manner or dress, whether intentional or not, has been faithfully copied by every lady who pretends to belong in the slightest degree to the world of fashion. Even now her manner of walking, with the body slightly bent forward, and the small stick which she frequently carries, is imitated by the ladies of Chislehurst, and a [illegible] of it may be traced far beyond that secluded district. The feelings of the inhabitants towards the Empress and the young Prince have, after the first curiosity subsided into respect for her wish to keep herself quite private, and she now attracts no more attention than any ordinary lady. The only effect has been to bring down a few people from London on Sunday mornings, who visit the chapel for the purpose of looking at royalty.

Why Hindoo Widows Kill Themselves.

Europeans have always been led to suppose that by the act of suttee Hindoo wives declared their undying attachment to their husbands, but Dr. Chever in his recent work on Indian Medical jurisprudence, traces the custom to a very different origin. He brings foward authorities to show that the Brahmins themselves invented the law as means of self-protection against their wives. Before its introduction the wives were in the habit of avenging themselves on their husbands for neglect and cruelty by mixing poison with their food, and at last things came to such a height that the least matrimonial quarrel resulted in the husband's death. An easier remedy for the evil might have been found in permitting the wife to eat out of the same dish as the husband, but this would have involved too wide a departure from the customs of society; and it must be admitted that there is a peculiar refinement of cruelty in the expedient adopted which would commend itself to the Asiatic mind. Of late years the law of suttee has been occasionally set at defiance, but the widow cannot altogether escape the consequences of her husband's death. His family degrade her, and put her to the most menial duties in the house.

"DINNER HORN."—Joushua Billings discourses thereon: "Dinner Horn." This is the oldest and most sacred horn there is. It is set tew musik, and plays "Home Sweet Home" about noon. It has bin listened tew with more rapturous delight than even Grafflal's band has. Yu kan hear it further than yu kan one ov Mr. Rodman's guns. It will arrest a man and bring him quicker than a sheriff's warrent. It ken outfoot eny other noise. It kauzes the deaf to hear, and the dum to shout for joy. Glorious old instrument! long may yure lungs last!

"Miss, will you take my arm?" asked an old bachelor. "La! yes, and you, too," said the young lady. "Can only spare the arm, Miss," [illegible] replied the bachelor. "Then," said Miss, "I can't take it, as my motto is to go the whole hog or none at all."

"Madam," said an ill-tempered physician to a lady patient," if women were admitted to paradise, their tongues would make it a purgatory." "And if doctors were allowed to practice there," retorted the lady," they would make it a desert."

A deputation of the [illegible] Legislature visiting the [illegible] Hospital, as they were walking through the corridors, were greeted with a salutation from one of the inmates, "Well I declare, [illegible] Noah's Ark."

Mary had a little lamb, with hair; as fine as silk: The longer Mary lived the more she found that lamb a [illegible] For all the hair was only flax, on that deceitful brute; But Mary hadn't much to say, for her's was only jute.

A schoolboy being asked by his teacher how he should [illegible], replied: "If you please, sir, I should like to have it on the Italian system of penmanship—the heavy strokes upwards and the downward ones light."

"Ah, Jemmy," said a sympathizing friend to a man who was just too late for the train, "you did not run fast enough." "Yes, I did," replied Jemmy; "but I did not start soon enough."

A good deal of the consolation offered in the world is about as soothing as the [illegible] to his wife when she fell into the river: "You'll find ground at the bottom, my dear;"

A German being required to give a "receipt," [illegible] following after much mental labor: "I ish full. I vants no more money. John Schwartz."

"An attorney," said Stern, "is the same thing to a barrister that an apothecary is to a physician—with this difference, that [illegible] not deal in scruples."

"Well, Mrs. Smith," said Mrs. Jones, "[illegible] I'm anything, I'm a Unitarian;

State Items.

A Kendallville grocer bought a magnificent roll of butter, few days since, and upon cutting it found about seven pounds of [illegible] in the center of it.

Joseph Davidson, Esq., of Decker township, Knox County, while fishing in White river, last Wednesday, was seized with an epileptic fit, fell into the water, and was drowned.

An old man registered at a hotel in Terre Haute as "B. Englehard, Louisville," gave the clerk a forged draft for $170 as security for a lone of $10, and warbled off to parts unknown.

Thomas Robbins, a merchant doing business at Cole's Corners, Switzerland County, is missing. He left home last Thursday to purchase goods, having $600 on his person. He was last seen standing on the wharf boat at [illegible].

A terrible hail storm visited the country some five miles northeast of Lafayette, last Wednesday. The storm covered a strip of ground about a mile wide, and traveled in an easterly direction. The Lafayette Journal says the hail lay in some places a foot deep, which is probably an exaggeration.

The News Condensed.

Between 800,000 and 900,000 head of corned beef hash on the hoof will be driven out of Texas this year.

A condemned murderer at Cheyenne is trying to commit suicide on two dozen of hard boiled eggs a day.

In San Francisco, the popular dish is mushroom and beefsteaks. The mushrooms there weigh 688 ounces each.

A young man in Boston smokes 4,000 worth of cigars annually, and intends starting a cabbage garden for himself.

The Mormon clergy are wrestling in prayer with the grasshoppers, who are expected to open an office in Utah next month.

The newest styles of ladies' hats are said to be very beautiful. They resemble a pen wiper with a fringe, and are quite becoming.

Wild cats at Riviere du Loup, Canada, breakfast on school girls within forty rods of the school-house. They prefer them raw.

Victor Hugo asked a traveling Yankee 200,000 francs for his house and garden on the Island of Guernsey. The Yank mildly replied: "Ugo to blazes."

An American photographer is taking pictures of scenes in the supposed site of the garden of Eden. He hasn't seen any of the ancient population. though.

Gentle Anna Dickinson has been hurling red hot female sufferage rhetoric at the devoted heads of the inhabitants of Kansas.

Black caterpillars take possession of the railroad track, in Tennessee, and stop the trains. The President will be expected to issue a Ku-Klux proclamation ordering them to disperse.

"Zack Chandler" is the name of a new brand of Robertson county whisky. They call it "Zack Chandler" because, like the Senator of that name, it is constantly drunk.—Louisville Courier.

Hon. J. M. Ashley has been appointed Commissioner to ascertain and mark the boundary of the Cherokee territory. Mr. Ashley, during his Congressional career, procured the appointment and subsequent removal of a Territorial Surveyor General we believe, and in that way enjoyed facilities for acquirring a very intimate knowledge of the theory and practice of civil engineering. His qualifications for the task to which he is now assigned, therefore must be of the highest order.

Miscellaneous Items.

Cold Comfort.—Eating ice.

A Physician claims that 10,000 women have been squeezed to death by corsets during the last five years.

What is the difference between an honest and a dishonest laundress? One irons your linen, the other steels it.

Dr. Rush said the reason why Germans die so seldom of consumption is the fact of their singing from the earliest childhood.

Women should be employed to draw up a man's last testament, because it is no use ever attempting to dispute their will.

Young Swell.—"I say, boy, what do you do with your clothes when you're worn them out?"—Wears 'em 'ome agin!

"What are you doing?" said a father to a son, who was tinkering an old watch. "Improving my time," was the [illegible].

A New Hampshire lady, Mary Brockway recently celebrated her [illegible] birthday in East Washington, by splitting and carrying into the house a half a cord of wood.

It is every way better to do what God intends for us than what we intend for ourselves.

Rich gold discoveries are constantly being made in Central Arizona. A valuable silver ledge has lately been discovered at Ophir City, over 1,000 feet in extent, and about six feet deep.

An inscription commonly seen on the temporarily closed doors of Colorado business houses, reads about in this way: 'On a jury. Will be back as soon as we hang the [illegible].'

A [illegible] in New York is in [illegible]. His pants were made so tight for him that he can't get his boots on, and if he puts his boots on first, he can't get his pants on. This is a case of genuine distress.

"[illegible] de, Mary," as the husband said when he sat on his wife's new bonnet. For thirty years this appeared [illegible] among the "Wit and Humor" of the weekly press, and it would have appeared for thirty more if the milliners hadn't got to making the wife's bonnet too small for the husband to sit on.

"[illegible]," says the Nashville Tenn., Union, "that we see city Mayors in [illegible] convict, on Thursday, at work at the Capitol as a carpenter. He is said to have been some time Mayor of Cleveland. He sent many prisoners to the Penitentiary, but finally [illegible] there himself. He was working very faithfully [illegible] improvements to the Comptrollers State apartments."

"There are three things," said wit, [illegible]

O. D. HURD
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS, SASH,
Stair Rail, Moulding,
&c.
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House. Fort Wayne, Ind.
O. D. HURD.
Feb. 23,

MODERWELL & FOWLER,
MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT
FITTING SHIRTS
THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF
Mens' Furnishing Goods!
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA.
SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!
CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.
MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE
GEO. HENSLER,
OF
BUTLER INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store in Butler the largest and best selected stock of
HARDWARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usally kept in a first class HardwareStore.
GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE, ALSO DEALER IN
HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman
MERCHANT TAILOR
First-Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, IND

Eagle Mills!
AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,
Auburn, April 19, '71.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.	Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Colored "	Japenese, plain " "
Japenese " striped	" " brocaded
" Checked	Watero.

Every Lady should call and see our $2,00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.,

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Briliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortinent and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaconets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Swisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings &c., White, Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars. Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Appliqua, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.
FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction
Congress Has Reduced the Duty of All
GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	23c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong	75, 90, best 110
Japan	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	25cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12a	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.16

NUTS, Candies.		FRUITS.
Paper Shell Almonds, per lb,	28c	Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $.100
Hard Shell per lb.	18c	Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c	Zante Currants, 12;3 1-2 lbs	1.00
Stick Candy, per lb	20c	Citron, "	55
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	3c	Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

DRIED FRUITS		WINE in bottles
Apples, per lb.	8c	Sherry, per bottle,	4
Peaches per lb.	12½c	Port, "	45
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c	Madeira "	45
California Pears, per lb.	16c	California "	25
		Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS		MISCELLSNEOUS
Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40	Soap, per bar,	05
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75	Rice, per pound,	09
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50	Dime box Matches,	05
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75	Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Port Wine, imp.	1.75	Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75	Good Navy Tobacco "	25
California Wine,	75	Smoking Tobacco, "	18
CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS		$2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.
SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.
BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20
FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6.00	No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch kitts	$2.00
" " in kitts,	1.75	Lake Herring, per bbl,	7.50
Trout " per bbl.	4.00	Herring, each,	1c
Pickerel " per bbl,	4.00	Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
Old Pickerel, Trout and White Fish,	2.00	White Fish, per lb,	5c

All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

FRUIT HOUSE

For
Fresh and Fine Family
Groceries and Provisions,
GO TO
JNO. BUTT
One door north of Post Office.
AND
B 4 U BUY T
And Sugar,
EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES
AND BE CONVINCED THAT
BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH
IS TRUE ECONOMY.
Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

O. T. CLARK & CO.,
WATERLOO INDIANA,
Have on exhibition a large line of
Black and Colored Alpacas.
OUR BRAND THE Queen's Own,

We claim in point of Brilliancy, Shade, Weight, Quality and Price are Superior to any in Market, being of one Uniform make, and the Heaviest imported, and especially suited to the Winter Trade.

We invite an examination of our Fall stock of

Dress Goods,	Tapestry Brussels,	Sheeting,
Silk Warp-	Ext. Sup. Ingrain,	Cotton Yarn,
Lyons Poplins,	Kidder,	Carpet Warp
Silks,	Hemp,	Batting,
Shawls,	Cotton,	Tickings,
Brilliantine	Carpets,	Bags,

A full line, one yard wide domestic
Flannl
Shirting, Red, White and Pressed
which we offer to the Fall trade, cheap for cash or ready pay.
Waterloo, Ind., Oct. 25, 1870. 2-44.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that can be reasonably be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotten, linen and silk. Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. ED. BLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW Wagon Shop
In
Auburn Indiana.
JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS
Carriages,
CUTTERS,
Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here FARMERS,
Have you got good
FANNING MILLS?
If not, get one of
J. B. TAYLOR'S
CELEBRATED
Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been [illegible] years past, and not found wanting in [illegible] respect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oat[illegible] ans, peas, grass seed, flax seed and all kinds of [illegible] &c. We challenge the world for competiton. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICTIED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!
So Has
THE HIGH PRICES,
WITH
S. LAUFFERTY!
DRY GOOS,
Ready Made Clothing,
Hats and Caps,
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!
QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for
Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!
AT
SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!
JOHN L. DAVIS,
OF THE
Pioneer Hardware Store
AUBURN - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Buildig Matrial,
Agricultural Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING
Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock, which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 28,, 1871

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.
Published Every Thursday,
—BY—
T. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

One year	$2.00
Six months	1.00
Three months	.50

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. I. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, May 25, 1871. No. 21.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

[illegible]

Ten lines of Nonpareil to constitute a Square.

Business Cards, $5 per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each subsequent insertion.

Business Cards.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-30

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-38

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-24

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. E. ROSE. 2-27 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

J. H. H. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber [illegible] 2-25

W. H. DILLS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR
Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau, No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,
PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,
HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential. Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.
DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.
CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,
MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.
WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,
HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

DR. R. LISON,
RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lanferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. O. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,
SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

VINEGAR BITTERS
VEGETABLE FREE FROM PURELY ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE-GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No System of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, [illegible] as follows:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1,35 A. M
Rochester	2,42 "	7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance	5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Orrville	6,54 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield	9,03 "	1,[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
A.	9,35 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline	10,05 "	5,0[illegible] "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.		5,55 A. M	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest	11 27 "	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima	12,26 P "	9,09 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,26 "
Plymouth	4,50 "	2,26 P. M	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Plymouth	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,55 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,50 P. M.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Lima	3,25 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	7,43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crestline	[illegible]	6,50 "	[illegible]	9,35 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	[illegible]	10,05 "
Orrville	9,16 "	9,05 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Alliance	11,20 "	10,45 "	[illegible]	1,50 P. M
Rochester	2,35 P. M	12,55 A. M.	11,05	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6 daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.
F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp.	Mixed.	Mail.
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 a m	9 20 a m	4 50 p m
Academie	7 15	9 38	5 05
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	5 15
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 31	9 59	5 22
New Era	7 43	10 11	5 32
Auburn	8 01	10 39	5 50
Waterloo	8 15	11 25	[illegible]
Summit	8 30	11 50	6 05
Pleasant Lake	8 43	12 15 p m	6 18
Angola	8 57	12 55	6 43
Jonesville		3 50
Jackson Arr	11 40	11 40	9 18 p m

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Exp.	Mixed.	Mail.
Jackson Leave	[illegible] p m	8 15 a m	6 00 a m
Jonesville		10 30
Angola	8 23	2 38	8 57
Pleasant Lake	8 41	2 53	9 11
Summit	8 50	3 18	9 22
Waterloo	9 18	3 48	9 40
Auburn	9 40	4 08	9 55
New Era	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 13	4 40	10 20
Huntertown	10 20	4 48	10 26
Academie	10 32	5 06	10 37
Ft. Wayne Arr	10 55	5 25 p m	10 55

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.
A. REESE, Ass't Supt
I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 22d, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	1:40 p m.
Waterloo	1:15 "	2:32 "	1:53 "
Sedan	x1:25 "	x2:45 "	2:06 "
Corunna	x1:20 "	x2:19 "	2:15 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:38 p m	12:55 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:43 "	1:01 "
Waterloo	2:50 "	11:50 "	1:15 "
Butler	x3:05 "	x12:03 a m	1:40 "

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.
J. W. CARY, Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND

SALE STABLE!
RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4, '71.

Come and See Me!

—:0:—

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

a the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings.

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK
Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 2, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House to be built of stone and brick; to be 22 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground. The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871 to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.
I. M. THOMAS Trustee
April 4, 1871.

For the Courier.

SWITZERLAND.

BY REV. A. W. LAMPORT.

Switzerland away, away,
Speed my lone bark some future day,
For land of lands, the earth around
My fancy visions there have found.

There alpine streams with rippling tide
Wash gray and smooth the mountain's side
The plains with golden grain are bright,
With bleating flocks, the hills are white.

When, still and slow o'er eastern hills
Till all the realm serene she fills,
Comes night with mantle cold and gray,
In round alternate chasing day.

How grand, reflecting on the deep
Of Lucerne's placid waves asleep,
Those orbs of light that racing round
Are shadowed in her [illegible] profound.

The Baltic winds that Russia sweep,
The [illegible] Mont Blanc's steep
Pour [illegible] upon the [illegible]
The perfumed treasures of the air.

Grand are thy lakes and meadows bright,
And grand each thunder ridden height;
And grand would be the whose hours,
Were lost in thy romantic bowers.

[illegible]
Through high waves my bark is rolled,
On deck I'll stand, O magic spell!
And about to hail the "Land of Tell."

Four Men Convicted of the Murder of a Man who is Yet Alive.

In September, 1868, a man whose name was given as David Crayton, was supposed to have been drowned in the river, to which he was driven by a mob of negroes. Four of the negroes, to-wit: Ed. Brooks, Mike McLelan, Silas Davis and John Clayborn, were subsequently convicted, the latter of manslaughter, and the others of being accessories. Clayborn is now in prison undergoing a twenty-one years' sentence, and the others have served out their time and are free. On the trial, it is said that no death was proved, and that important witness for the defence were not summoned to testify, and the defendants were loosely defended.

Be that as it may, it is certain that Maj. A. L. Robinson has now in his possession certain affidavits showing that the man Brayton, or 'Pony,' as he was then known is still living, Irwin Alexander, a colored man, who saw Pony swim from the Quickstep to the Sallie Y., met him about six months ago in Paducah, and conversed with him. Pony seemed pleased at the droll idea that four 'nagars' had been convicted of his murder, when he was still alive.

Jack Stone, a colored man, well known in Evansville, has also seen and recognized Crayton at Paducah.

Crayton's account of his escape is that he was not struck by the sticks or lumps of coal thrown at him, but that diving, he swam under the water from the steamer Linton, where he first attacked the negroes with an adze. He says he rose just under the guards of the steamer Quickstep, and keeping in the shadow swam around to the Salie Y. There he ascended the wheel into the wheel-house, and was secreted by his countrymen, and went to Henderson. On the way down a purse was made up for him, and he went to St. Louis. Since that time he has never been nearer to Evansville than Paducah, always leaving any steamer that came above that place.

Fish Certainly to Retire From the Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A member of the High Joint Commission, who has been in daily communication with Secretary Fish during the past two months, and who has been on the closest terms of intimacy with him during that time, says there is no doubt that Mr. Fish will leave the Cabinet as soon as the Commission is dissolved. Indeed, he says he knows he will go, and that the matter is arranged between the President and the Secretary, the former at last having given his consent. It is also written the knowledge of the writer that Mr. Fish has, upon two occasions, in writing, sent his resignation to the President, the latter bearing date October 12th 1870. His retirement can not be delayed longer than the 1st of June. It is asserted that a New Yorker will take his place, and that one will be selected who is able to entertain in the same manner Fish has done to the tune of thirty thousand dollars a year, that being about all a Secretary of State will have to do after the foreign complications are settled. No other member of the Cabinet pretends to entertain, and the burden has fallen very heavily upon Fish. He has given more dinners, reception parties, suppers and other entertainments than all the rest of the Cabinet put together, and the President thrown in.—Cin. Commercial.

Mutton the Best Meat.

A great many tillers of the soil drag out miserable days, simply because they will persist in eating salt pork hams and shoulders in spring and summer, when a dish of good mutton would give them new life and strength. We mean to repeat a thousand times, or at least till what we say has some effect upon our countrymen, that a pound of lean, tender, juicy mutton can produce for half the cost of the same quantity of fat pork; that it is infinitely healthier food, especially in the summer season; and that those who eat it become more muscular, and can do more work with greater ease to themselves, than those who eat fat pork. We know nothing more delicious than smoked mutton hams of the Southdown breed of sheep. Venison itself is not superior. By smoking a portion of the flesh of a sheep, most families can dispose of the four quarters in an economical manner, before any part of it would spoil.

The Boonville Enquirer says there is an unusual number of snakes in that part of the county this spring.

The Henry County Joint Stock Agricultural Society is making extensive preparation for its fair this fall.

A Touching Incident.

Some years ago we visited P[illegible], N. H., to attend a mass meeting of the Washingtonians. As we were passing along one of the principal streets, our attention was attracted by the ringing of a bell, succeeded by the stentorian voice of the sturdy crier, who was announcing the meeting. As he approached us, we said to him:

"Friend! I hope you are personally interested in the object about which you are making so much noise for the good of others."

"Ah!" said he, "I am glad you mention it. I want to tell you about it. I am ashamed to tell you I was an awful drunkard. I'll tell you what turned me round. I was terribly dry, one morning, and wanted something. I handed my youngest boy only six years old, some coppers and a jug, and told him to go and get me a pint of rum. It was a real cold morning and Willie's trowsers were thin and ragged, and he had no great coat nor mittens. Willie did'nt want to go; but I scolded him and he started a few steps, and then stopped and said:

"Father, I wish you would give me a cent to buy a stick of candy."

"I said go along, and not bother me about a stick of candy. The little fellow began to cry and stammered out:

"Father, you never give me any money to buy candy. Tommy Jones (he was the rumseller's boy) has candy every day, and he says I can't have any because my father's a drunkard.'

"I felt as though lightning had struck me. "Good God! said I, "has it come to this? Have I been paying my money to support the rumseller and his wife in luxury, while my own little boy could not have a single cent for candy? Yes, I am a drunkard; but old Jones' children won't sneer at Willie and me any longer.'

"I called my boy back, and took the jug and the money. Here are the coppers said he, taking them from his pocket—five of them, I will keep as long as I live, and when I die, leave them as a sacred legacy to my children. I have got six, and a good wife besides. You don't look upon a drunkard now! Thank God, I am saved and my home is happy! I will do what I can to save others. Stranger—that jug don't go to Jones' now, and my boy's as smart as his!" Having told me 'about it,' he again rang his bell and walked away, proclaiming as before, the invitation to attend the great convention. The name of the noble man has passed from memory; but his history is fresh in our mind, and is given very nearly in his own words.

Dangers of Long Ocean Steamers.

The fashion for building long ocean steamers recalls to a correspondent's memory the following story:

I am reminded of the loss of the steamer Home, many years ago, on a voyage from New York, I think, to Charleston.—She broke in two at the moment when the bow and stern of the vessel were raised by waves so high as to deprive the center of the steamer of the support of the sea, and many lives were lost. The defense of unseaworthiness was made, and perhaps proved, but the counsel for the owners so completely described the character of the defence in his opening sentence, that scarcely a hope existed that it would be maintained. It was old George Griffin, as he was then called, who summed up for the prosecution. "May it please the court and gentlemen of the jury," said he, "you have heard the tragedy of the Home for the benefit of the underwriters." Mr. Lord, the counsel of the insurance company, has just concluded a powerful argument to show the danger to human life if such vessels were encouraged, and the opening remark of Mr. Griffin was so truly descriptive as to occasion a smile throughout the court room. The Jury found that she was seaworthy, but she undoubtedly lacked the strength necessary for a rough voyage. But the danger from great length is of another sort. Occasionally steamers of that kind get in the trough of the sea and are greatly embarrassed to get out until the storm is over.

A Telegraphic Blunder.

Col. Parke, formerly of the Fourth Mich. Cavalry, but now located in Nebraska, and interested in the colonization scheme, telegraphed to Mr. LaMunyan, of Chessaning, that if his services were needed here by the Association, he would come on immediately. Mr. LaM. immediately telegraphed back that he should be at Omaha in a few days, and that he (the Col.) might meet him there. A few days after the above gentleman was surprised to see the Colonel step into his office with the remark, "Well, you see, I've come as you desire."

Upon being told that there must be a mistake somewhere, as Mr. La Munyan never sent such a dispatch, the Colonel produced the telegram, which sure enough read, "Meet me here." Together they went to the telegraph office, and calling for the original dispatch, found that it read, "I shall be at Omaha, meet me there." It would seem, therefore, that the error rested with the operator, who had caused the Colonel to travel, with all possible speed a distance of 1,100 miles by simply omiting the letter "T," which made 'there' read 'here.' Although, apparently a trivial thing, the omission of one letter caused a great deal of trouble and expense. The question now is ought the gentleman to be a sufferer through the operator.—Saginaw Enterprise.

The trial of Proctor for murder, was commenced at Goshen yesterday, before Judge Wood.

Over one hundred sheep were killed by dogs in a single night recently, in Montgomery County.

The News Condensed.

[illegible] is going to erect a rolling mill for the manufacture of steel rails.

The proposed visit of the Grand Duke Alexis, of Russia, to this country has been abandoned.

On Saturday the subscriptions to the new five per cent. loan and reached a little over $64,000,000.

The Palisade Car Manufactory in Detroit was burned last Thursday. Loss $40,000; insurance $20,000.

General Sheridan and Mrs. Lincoln and her son Thaddeus arrived at New York on Wednesday, by the steamer Russia.

It is reported in N. Y. that Mr. Bancroft has resigned his post as United States Minister to the North German Confederation.

A youth in Rush County made a big mistake a few days since, in swallowing aconite for whisky. He was pumped out.

Chuck, the murderer of his father-in-law Thomas Harrison, was found guilty of murder in the first degree, the jury affixing the death penalty.

A final settlement of the coal miners' difficulties was effected at Pottsville on Thursday, and an arrangement is now being drawn up by the committee.

The ship city of Quebec, from London bound for Quebec, was wrenched at dead Island on the night of the 8th. She is a total loss, and all the crew were drowned.

The common Council of Chicago has ordered the taxes on the ground in which is the grave of Senator Douglas to be paid from the general fund. To have done less would have been infamous.

Fifty years ago a lady carried the mails once a week between Fredonia and Buffalo, N. Y. It is a sad reflection to the woman's rights people that a lady does not now carry the mails there.

This item is strictly true. A Paris (Ky) paper tells it, and it is that sixteen ladies in that town sat together in a private room without any restraint, and never spoke a word for two hours.

Mr. Colfax has already laid the corner-stone of his factory for the manufacture of maple sugar carpet tacks, which will be in running order at South Bend by the time he retires from public life.

It is said that the desk on which Horace Greely learned to write was sold recently at auction for ten cents. Then the man that bought it got sold. Horace Greeley never learned to write once in his life.

The trunk lines from New York have commenced cutting rates on western bound freights. The Erie has also reduced the passenger tariff, and it is expected other lines will follow suit before summer travel opens.

The man who murdered Mrs. Catharine Peters near Centerville Illinois, last month, after endeavoring to outrage her person, has been captured. There are such strong proofs against him as to leave no doubt of his guilt.

Crop reports from the country surrounding Memphis are very gloomy, owing to the cold weather, heavy rains, hail and caterpillars. In a great many sections the planters have commenced replanting both cotton and corn.

Horace Greeley is going to Texas to tell the people assembled at the annual fair of the Houston Blood Stock Association what he knows about farming. He goes by special invitation, and will spend a fortnight in Texas.

A reaction is setting in among the laborers in the Pennsylvania coal mining mining district. Many engaged in the strike have begun to realize the hope-lessness of the struggle wherein muscle has to take the field against organized wealth, and feeling the pinchings of want, they are desirous of resuming work.

The usual amount of "bounce" which we are customed to see following in the wake of a prize fizzle, is making its appearance. Coburn, after showing the white feather last Thursday, comes out in a card challenging Mace to fight him immediately for $10,000, and Tom. Allen puts in a bid to fight Coburn or O'Balwin. Tom no doubt means business.

A. H. Resse, of Jackson, Michigan, has been appointed Superintendent of the Detroit, Lansing and Lake Michigan railroad with R. T. Laughten as assistant. This road is being pushed to completion with all the energy that characterize Mr. Joy's railroad undertakings. Iron is being laid from Detroit west and Lansing east at the rate of a mile a day.

John Greiner of Columbus, Ohio, ex-Govenor of New Mexico and author of the famous Log Cabin songs of 1840, died of paralysis at the Oliver House, Toledo, at five o'clock Saturday morning. He was a representative to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Ohio, which has just closed its session at that city. His remains have been taken to Columbus for interment.

The annual report of the Kansas Pacific Railroad Company shows the gross earnings of the road for the year ending Dec. 1st, to have been $3,360,166; net earnings $789,741; increase of passenger traffic over previous year, 35 per cent; ditto of freight 71 per cent; ditto of earnings from passenger traffic, 56 per cent; ditto of live stock transported, 162 per cent.

The New York Sun of Saturday says that a rumor abounds in financial circles that Commodore Vanderbilt has concluded a bargain to buy out the interest of Jay Gould and James Fisk Jr., and thier friends in the Erie Railway. It is said that he is to take all their stock at market price and pay them bonds of three million of dollars. The arrangement is not consummated, but it is believed that these are the terms agreed upon.

WASN'T MARRIED.—It is [illegible] the practice of pretty ladies to wear a veil. Not even coquetry will dispense with the pleasure of showing a lovely countenance, and the most modest and retiring beauty likes to be admired for the regularity and delicacy of her features.

These reflections passed rapidly through the mind of a well-known magistrate riding up town recently, by his side sat a lady who, from a single glimpse of her countenance, he imagined that he knew her. At last he ventured the remark that the day was pleasant.

"Yes," murmured the female.

"Why do you wear a veil?" asked the dispenser of justice.

"Lest I attract attention."

"It is the province of men to admire,' replied the gallant man of law.

"Not when they are married."

"But I,m not."

"Indeed!"

"Oh no I'm a bachelor."

The lady quietly removed her veil, disclosing to the astonished magistrate the face of his mother-in-law. He had business elsewhere suddenly.

THE EXPRESS TICKET.

[From Chambers' Journal.]

One of the pleasantest journeys I ever took was made a short time back, in company with a total stranger, but who proved to be the most chatty most communicative person I ever met with, although his code of morals was undoubtedly rather lax. We got at the London terminus, and as he almost at once asked me where I was going, we found we were each bound to the same large city. I fancied he had been dining rather geniously, from his face, which was a little flushed; he had plenty of excellent cigars, and was very liberal with them; and ere we had ridden half-a-dozen miles, he produced a pack of cards, and asked me to play. I declined, and he said with a smile: "Afraid of strangers with cards? Well, you are quite right," but we shall do no harm to each other."

I hastened to assure him that I had no suspicions as regarded himself, but that I did not care for cards.

"There you are to blame," he returned, "you should always suspect strangers who want you to play at cards. Why should a man carry a pack with him, if he does not intend to profit by their use? Take my advice, and always be on your guard."

"But," I said with a smile, "by you rule you would lead me to suspect you."

"You wouldn't be far wrong, if you did," he replied, with a very meaning nod. "I only wished to play for a cup of coffee at the refreshment station; but I have played in railway carriages for very different stakes—and won them. However, I am all right to-night, and don't want to win anybody's money. I cleared eight hundred over the Leger, and that will last me some time.'

I congratulated him on his good fortune, and said I wished I had been as lucky.

"If it shouldn't do you more good than it will me, you needn't mind," he returned, "light come, light go; but still it is better to have a few hundreds in your pocket than to be without a penny to pay your fare, as I have been on this very railway."

"Indeed," I ejaculated, as he made a pause here; "that must have been awkward."

"Awkward! I beleive you," he said "But there! a man with his head screwed on the right way, need never be at loss in a rich country like this. I hadn't a penny—at any rate, I hadn't a tenth part of the required fare—with me; I was bound to keep an engagement a long way down the line, and I had not a friend to lend me a sixpence; and here I found myself, one evening, a quarter of an hour before the started. Something like a fix, eh! What should you have done?"

"Well," I replied, I hardly knew, "if I had a watch——"

"But I hadn't," he returned, "not anything else that would fetch two pound seven, the price of a ticket. A first-class ticket, of course, I mean; I made up my mind to ride first-class; I liked it the best, and under the circumstances, it was just as feasible as any other."

"Then, perhaps, I should have gone to the station-master or superintendent," I said "and told him all about it, and if that wouldn't do, I must have stopped in London."

"Then, it wouldn't have done, you may swear," he replied, "station-masters are not so soft as that. Well, now, I'll tell you all about it; and it may be of use to you to know, some day, what is possible to be done in such a fix."

I nodded my thanks, and he began:

"I need not tell you how I came to be so placed—speculative men are often in such a position; we always get out of it somehow, however, and I did, this time. When I arrived at the station, there was the train, with the engine waiting a little way off, blazing and hissing away; some of the passengers had taken their seats, but some of them were walking up and down or having a parting glass with their friends, or looking at the book-stalls. How I envied the shabbiest of them all! for he, whoever he was, had got his ticket, and I could not get mine. If the train had gone right through, I would have taken my seat, and chanced dropping out before they stopped; but I knew they would not do. If the the journey had been all by the same engine, I would have lain at the back end of the tender, on the coke, as I did once to a place nearly a hundred miles down the line; but I knew they changed engines, so this, again, wouldn't do. I saw one person on the platform whom I recognized, but as he was a clergyman—a Dean, in fact—who was always preaching against us racing men, and had once actually persuaded the town people to put their races down, I knew he was of no use. Yet I couldn't keep away from him; he had a sort of fascination for me; I may call it a presentiment that he was to to get me out of my hobble. Well, the bustle increased; you know, of course, how busy the station gets just before an express starts. The engine came back and was hooked on; the porters ran about with their barrows of baggage; the passengers left the refreshment rooms and book-stalls, and clustered around the doors of the carriages; the Dean got into an apartment by himself, and there was I walking up and down in the darkest part of the platform, and only five minutes left.

I paused for a moment before a little room where I saw the guards go in and out, and wondered whether one of the men would let me ride with him if I told him of a good thing I knew—I really did not know of it—for the Cambridgeshire; when all at once a splendid idea struck me. It was the very thing! The door of the little room was half-open, so that I could see that no one was in there, and serveral coats and caps, belonging to the guards were hanging on the walls. I glanced down the platform; every railway official seemed up to his eyes in—business—no one was looking that way. I popped into the room—in an instant had put on a coat and cap, which fitted me beautifully—and was out again in a few seconds. There was no time for reflection, nor did I need any; My mind was already made up, so, pushing past the people with the air of a regular guard, born and bred, I put my head into the carriage where the Dean sat, and said: "Tickets, if you please." The old gentleman was reading a book; he looked round, pushed his spectacles a little higher on his nose, and exclaiming: "Dear me! I had quite forgotten," he handed out his ticket, which I very cooly pocketed, and was moving away, when the old gentleman said: "This is a new rule, to take tickets at starting, isn't it?"

"Yes, sir," I answered, touching my cap; "only been in force this month, sir."

"Oh," he said, and began reading his book again.

At this instant the bell for starting rang, and the guards began to brawl out: "Any more going on?" but there was plenty of time for me. I dashed back to the little room, but hang me! if there wasn't a guard in there, feeling among the great coats, and swearing horribly, as I could hear, at some of his mates, for moving his particular coat out of its place. I stood behind the long, double ladder they wheel about to clean lamps, took off the poor fellows coat and cap, and flung them down by the door, put on my own cap, and hurried across the platform as though I had just come from the refreshment room. The station doors were closed, but a guard catching sight of me shouted: "Now, sir, this way, this way, or you will be too late!" He opened a carriage door and pushed me, just as the whistle and tug came which moved us on. I was in the carriage with the Dean. There was nobody else there, as I well knew, and I really felt very uncomfortable. I didn't at all suppose he would recognize me, but yet there was sort of feeling which made me wish that the guard had put me anywhere else. However, there was no help for it now, and I made up my mind to see at once if there was any danger of recognition; so the first time he put down his book, although it was only to cut some leaves, I offered him a newspaper. He declined it; but I had obtained an opening, and I followed up my offer with a few remarks about the weather etc.—quite enough to let me see that he did not at all remember my voice. I couldn't sleep, but I pretended to do so, and on we went, scarcely another word having been spoken on either side, until the train slackened speed; and I knew we were near the station where they examined tickets, and where, of course, the murder would be out. When the carriages drew up alongside the ticket-platform, and I could hear the familiar "All tickets ready," I feigned to be reading my paper very intently, although in reality I was watching and listening with all my might, I saw the Dean look up curiously when he first heard the shouts; he listened too, with a puzzled air, and took off his spectacles and wiped them, as that would help him to understand it; however, I have no doubt that he thought the notice did not apply to him, so he calmly put his glasses on again. At that moment a guard—a regular one this time, I thought to myself—looked in, and of course said: "Tickets, if you please." I gave him mine, which he merely glanced at and returned; and then I screwed myself into a corner, as I could manage. The old clergyman had, of course, done nothing. "Now, sir, if you please," said the guard.

"Eh?" returned the old Dean, looking round, and pushing up his spectacles, which seemed to be a habit with him.

"Tickets, sir, tickets! look alive, if you please sir," answered the old man.

"Tickets! tickets," echoed the Dean: "mine is all right. I have given it up."

"Not to me, sir," said the guard; "and no one else has been near this carriage."

"Oh, but I gave it up before we started," explained the old gentleman; "the guard said it a new rule—has only been in force this month."

[illegible] I thought I should have burst with laughter here, the Dean explained this so innocently.

"New rule, sir!" said the guard. "No such thing. We examine the tickets here, and take them at your journey's end."

"Now, Popkins!" shouted a superior of some kind; "haven't you finished with that carriage yet?"

"Come, sir, [illegible] with that ticket," urged the guard [illegible]

"What do you mean?" demanded the clergyman, who was clearly getting angry. "What do you mean, sir? I have given up my ticket to one of your men, and I am rather inclined to think it was yourself."

Popkins was now shouted at again very angrily, and his answer brought two or three others round to the carriage door.

"Now, what's all this delay about?" said a man in a swaggering tone (I suppose he was in some authority there)—"What's all this about, Popkins?"

"Why, said the guard, "this party hasn't got a ticket. He says he gave it up at London; and not satisfied with that, says he gave it to me."

"Nay, nay; I am not certain about that," said the old gentleman. "I only say I gave it up to some guard, who told me it was a new rule, and he was much another man as yourself."

"Oh, that won't do," said the chief officers very harshly; "we must have your ticket, or your money, or else we shall remove you from your carriage. We have these games tried on us often."

"Do you, indeed?" said the old gentleman. "Do you, indeed?" There is my card, sir, and I shall leave you to take your own course."

Well, then they saw who he was, they naturally [illegible] bit, and grew more civil; but by this time the other passengers had got anxious, and were putting their heads out of the windows, and asking what was the matter.

"Perhaps this gentleman," says the guard, meaning, of course, myself, "who must have been in the carriage at the time, can tell you something about it. You didn't give up your ticket, sir, because I have just examined it."

"Unfortunately," said the Dean speaking before I could answer; "this gentleman was not in the carriage; he came in just as the train was starting, and after the collection of all the tickets."

The men looked at one another, and I could see they did not believe the story at all.

"I am afraid, sir, you are under a great mistake," said the chief one; "and we shall be compelled to write to you for this money, if you do not pay now. We can't keep the train here all night, so you must do as you please, as, of course, we can have our remedy against you."

The old gentleman looked angrier than ever, and pulling out his purse exclaimed. "There, sir; there is your money; but, rely on it, you will hear from Jessom & Jessom, my solicitors, sir on the matter. It is an atrocious robbery!"

"You will have your ticket given you at the next station," said the other. "I will not delay the train by going to my office now; I send word on by the guard. But depend upon it sir, you are in error; you are indeed. All right, forward!"

"Error, sir! error?" exclaimed the Dean. "You shall see, sir, you shall see I don't care for for your ticket. You may make me pay again, when I get to my destination, I believe this company is capable of anything; but I will teach them a lesson. This gentleman shall be my witness of the transaction. I will take your card, sir."

The men cleared from the windows, for the engine whistle sounded, and off we went. "Oblige me with your card, sir," continued the Dean. "I need not hardly ask you ever saw so nefarious a proceeding!"

"Never, sir; absolutely scandalous!" I replied. "But do you think it will be worth your while to take any further notice of it? It will involve you in a great deal of trouble."

"Trouble, sir! What do I care for that," demanded the Dean, indignantly. "It is my duty to expose such conduct; and I will do it. I will thank you for your card, sir."

I felt it would be dangerous to refuse a card; so I expressed my sympathy with him, and gave him the card of a foreign gentleman of my acquaintance, which I luckily had in my pocket. Then the old gentleman seemed to be brooding over his injury and scarcely spoke another word. When we came to the refreshment station, the guard brought him his ticket, which he took without a syllable and at, our next station we both got out. I saw his carriage was waiting for him, and I have no doubt that Mrs. Dean had all particulars before an hour was over. As for my friend whose card I gave, I never heard whether the Dean had tried to find him out or not; in fact, although I called him my friend, we were by no means friendly——. "You think the whole transaction rather, fishy, eh?" [illegible] my companion interrupting himself [illegible]

"I think it downright dishonesty," said I frankly, "unless you repay the Dean."

"Oh, I did that," responded he. "I sent the old gentleman a Post Office order in the name of my foreign friend. I'm a racing man and up to a thing or two, but I'm as straight as a die for honesty."

Well well. I wonder where my companion [illegible] friend is now. I dare say [illegible] has gone once too often to the [illegible] in his race, as with the thousand and other clever fellows [illegible] read of in [illegible]

The Courier.

AUBURN IND. MAY 26, 1871.

Governor Jewell in his inaugural, congratulates the State of Connecticut, that during the last year the State indebtedness had been decreased to $700,000. He pointedly omitted to say that this reduction was effected by his Democratic predecessor, ex-Governor English.

The hope is entertained that when Greeley goes back from Texas he will be able to write a considerable paper upon what he knows about the Ku Klux. He has been dealing upon second hand information, hitherto. The fact that he is not hanged ought to be pretty fair evidence that the people of the Southern States through which he passed are law abiding.

Mr. Grant knew what he was about when he took to his bosom that unprincipled embodiment of political iniquity which goes by the name of Simon Cameron. Witness the action of the recent Republican convention in Pennsylvania. It endorses the administration in decided terms, and declares in favor of his renomination. So much for business.

It is stated that Com. Vanderbilt avows it as his opinion that the Erie Railway can be made to pay dividends upon $80,000,000, besides paying the interest on its present debt. The present capital of the company is $70,000,000, and the total capital and debt about $102,000,000. The New York Sun is authority for the declaration that Vanderbilt has bought out the interest of Fisk and Gould in the road, taking all their stock at the market price, and paying them a bonus of three million dollars.

What Does the Republican Party Stand on?

What is the position of the Republican party as defined by Executive, Representative and Federal majorities?

Its administrative system is based upon a protective tariff, and paper money. Out of this grew subsidies to railways and ocean lines, land grants, exemptions from taxation, etc.

Its governmental system, i. e., the enforcement of its authority, is based on two measures: The denial of amnesty, and the subordination of the civil to the military power. Out of this grew the various laws for the regulation of State elections by Federal Marshals and troops, and the usurpation of the treaty making powers, and of the power to initiate war, and his arrogation of superiority to Congress.

This whole scheme of policy violates not only the letter and spirit of the Constitution, but every principle of American liberty. The founders of the government entertained a horror of paper money; for they were fresh from the realization of its delusiveness and dishonesty. The United States Court has through a series of decisions, running down to 1870, decided against their paper legal tenders. But one of the Judges dies, and two new Judges are appointed, and the decision of a Republican Court is overruled by a majority of its least respectable Judges. One result of the decision is to perpetuate the paper money system, and to prolong that dishonest policy by which the government pays bondholders in gold and compels the people to accept payment of debts in depreciated paper.

As to the protective Tariff as now exists, it was never contemplated by the wildest partisans of protection in former years, and has no parallel in this age, and has no defenders except the hirelings of the protected interests and the blind partisans who defend indiscriminately all the acts of administration.

The denial of amnesty to a class of citizens—which excludes them from suffrage and office—is a refutation of the terms of peace granted to the Confederate armies when they surrendered. It is a violation of the pledge of peace offered by Grant when a candidate for the presidency. It is against the humane sentiment of the American people; and is as impolitic as it is unjust.

We want no Poland, no Ireland, no conquered and dependent province, with people feeding upon discontent and growing up in hatred of their government and of their fellow citizens. We want a government of free citizens in free and equal States.

As to the military usurpation at Washington which seeks to subordinate civil authority everywhere, and which arrogates to a military executive the right to create war, we can only say is, that if it is permitted to carry out its ends, or to perpetuate its power, the end of the Republic has come. The old government ends and a new one takes its place. The rule of Force takes the place of the new law of Opinion. A vicious and irresponsible government will dispose of the liberties and rights of a degraded and imbecile people.

"Ef I had been eating dried apples for a week, an' den took to drinkin' for a mont, I couldn't feel more swell'd up dan I am dis minnit wid pride and vanity at seeing such a full 'tendance hab dis evenin'," said a colored preacher in Louisville.

Selling Offices—A Rival to Jesse R. Grant.

It appears that the office-peddling propensities of the President's father are reproduced in other persons possessing influence with Gen. Grant's Administration. We published the other day the evidence that Gen. Cooper, one of President Grant's Collectors of Internal Revenue in Tennessee, has been offering to sell subordinate places at prices varying from $250 to $650 each; and now we have from Toledo the testimony that three of the most important offices in that Congressional district were lately put up for sale at the price of $4,000 for the three. The testimony to this effect is complete and conclusive. It was given by Mr. Alexander Reed, recently Postmaster of Toledo—a gentleman of distinguished character and unquestionable antecedents—and by Mr. J. Swihart and Mr. George E. Welles, the Collector and Assessor of Internal Revenue at Toledo.

These three gentlemen publish a statement that in the latter part of February last one L. M. Hunt, a friend of the present administration in that district, who is especially influential with Dr. E. D. Peck, the member of Congress, caused to be made to them a proposition that if they would pay him four thousand dollars in cash they should be keep in office, and that otherwise they should be turned out. This proposition they refused, and they refused it still more decisively at a subsequent interview had with Mr. Hunt on the 18th of March last Whereupon President Grant, on the 19th inst., appointed one E. V. McMaken to be Postmaster in Mr. Reed's place, and the appointment was confirmed by the Senate on the same day. Whether the internal revenue officers, who also joined with Mr. Reed in refusing to pay for their places, have yet been turned out or not, we do not know; but if they are still in office, they will doubtless have to go soon.

Facts like these show, in a startling manner, the extent to which the sales of offices influence of President Grant. In Cincinnati his father puts the price of a gauger's appointment at $500; in Tennessee one of his Collectors of Internal Revenue gets from $250 to $650 for subordinate places; and in Toledo $4,000 is asked as the price of one Postmaster's one Assessor's and one Collector's commission. How many more instances of such corruption may come to the public knowledge it is impossible to say; but these few afford indications that the same debasement and depravity are like to exist in every part of the country. And why should this not be the case? With a President greedy for presents, and appointing men to the highest offices in return for donations to himself; with a convicted bribe-taker kept in a place of great importance and responsibility; and with the President's father confessing that he thought it right to take $500 for a gauger's appointment, how can the sentiment of honor and morality be expected to prevail in the subordinate departments of the governmet, or among the rank and file of the Republican party?—The New York Sun.

A Thrilling Scene.

The pavilion of Van Amburgh's menagerie was the scene of a most exciting event, last Thursday afternoon. Part of the entertainment is the entrance into a cage of lions by a misguided gentleman in tights and spangles. In consequence of the illness of the regular performer, a new lion-tamer was called in. As per advertisement, he entered the den, and his reception was very unlike that of the Scriptural Daniel. The tactics of his predecessor had been to keep the animals apart as they were habitually in their cages. This gentleman, however, suffered the four to get together, and they turned upon and assaulted him, with fearful roars. There were two lions and two lionesses, all fullgrown, and as they rushed upon him with flashing eyes, striking at him with their heavy paws, and snapping and snarling, the scene was a frightful one. The large audience, consisting of men, women and children, rose to their feet, and with low cries of horror, and blanched countenances, gazed upon the awful spectacle of a fellow-mortal cooped up in a small cage, and engaged in a desperate struggle for life with four powerful lions. The enraged beasts bounded against and bent the slender bars of the cage, and continued to snap and strike at the frightened man, who strove to get at his pistol, and failing, was fain to beat them back with the loaded butt of his whip. He cried lustily for help, which speedily came. Iron bars were thrust into the cage to impede the movements of the lions; a little door was opened near the floor, and the tamed lion-tamer backed out through it with more regard to speed than grace. He was scraped on the side, arm and [illegible] by the lions, but his injuries, we hope, were slight. The lions fought among themselves for a little while, but fresh beef being thrown into them, they soon stopped, and were finally separated by the iron grates which divide the cage into two compartments.—Huntington Herald.

Definitions of Bible Terms.

A day's journey was thirty-three and one-fifth miles.

A Sabbath day's journey was about an English mile.

Ezekiel's reed was eleven feet nearly.

A cubit is twenty-two inches nearly.

A hand's breadth is equal to three and five-eight inches.

A shekel of gold was $8 09.

A talent of silver was $538 32.

A talent of gold was $13,809.

A piece of silver, or a penny, was thirteen cents.

A farthing was three cents.

A gerah was a cent.

A mite was a cent.

An epha, or bath, contains seven gallons and five pints.

A hin was one gallon and two pints.

A firkin was seven pints.

A omer was six pints.

A cab was three pints.

Brown township, Harrison County, has forty widows, and only four widowers.

Dick Holliwood, the referee in the Mace-Coburn fight, has addressed a letter to the sporting fraternity of the United States, in which he says, "I desire it to be fully understood that I shall use every honorable means in power to have the affair terminate in a fair and square stand up fight, in accordance with the rules of the P. R., and to effect this end I am not to be intimidated by the friends of either party or by outsiders. On my arrival at this, I met with the representatives of Mace and Coburn to determine their next place of meeting. Without regard to the wishes of either party, each urging different places, I named the place and time of meeting to be at Kansas City, on the 3d day of June, and will give the principals sufficient notice of the hour and place for the toss up. Both men object to the location on account of distance, but believing it equally as fair for the one as for the other, I see no reason to change my decision. Both men claim the championship of the world, and for the benefit of the public interested I am, in my position as referee, determined that such honor shall no longer remain a question on paper between them, but must be decided by a fair fight in the ring. May the best man win."

The Chicago Republican figured up the following array of crimes gleaned from its Northwestern exchanges recieved in one day:

Deliberate murders, 6; suicides, 5; supposed poisoning, 3; highway robberies, in which the victims were nearly killed, 7; shootings, growing out of domestic difficulties, 5; and six forgeries in amounts of over $5,000.

These were stumbled on by the news editors without special search for that character of news, and are set down as a mere page from the grand record of crime for that day. From this the Republican moralizes that the Ku Klux is at work in the North as well as in the South; lawlessness is on the increase in both sections and the irresistible tendency is in a contrary direction to that of improvement. Crime is undoubtedly prevalent, but it is doubtful if the South is at all able to compete with the Northwest in that particular, judging by that specimen.

The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer speaking of the riots in the mining districts of this State, puts it in this shape:

Why has not General Grant sent soldiers there to execute the Ku Klux law? The men killed were only Irishmen. Had they been negroes, Government officials would have been swarming, and Government bayonets bristling around there before this time. See how quickly they mustered to arrest men in North Carolina accused of only whipping some negro men and white women living unlawfully together there. But in Pennsylvania Irishmen may be murdered in squads by disguised assassins—Irishmen who had violated no law, but were only claiming the right to labor for the support of their families—and the Federal Government takes no cognizance of the matter.

A horrible murder was committed at Benna Vista, near Indianapolis, on the 12th inst. A young man named Lord, formely from Boone county, Iowa, was stabbed three times, by a ruffian named Yancy. There seems to have been no cause for the murder on the lad's part, but Yancy, prepared his weapon by grinding it, then sallied forth bent on killing some one. He was overheard to threaten the life of several of the citizens, and probably did not know who it was that he wanted to kill. He is reported as a very disreputable man, cruel to his family, and his wife, who it is said is a very estimable woman, will recieve the sympathy of the citizens in her trouble.

Only Sam, Dat's All.—Here is a very good anecdote, reminding one of Mrs. Stowe's "Topsy."

During the last winter a contraband came into the Federal lines of North Carolina, and was marched up to the officer of the day to give an account of himself, when the following dialogue ensued:

"What's your name?"

"My name's Sam."

"Sam what?"

"No sah; not Sam What. I'se just Sam."

"What's your other name?"

"I hasn't got no oder name. I'se Sam—dat's all."

"What's your master's name?"

"I'se got no master now, sah; massa runned away—yah! yah! I'se free nigger now."

"What's your father and mother's name?"

"I'se got none—neber had none. I'se jist Sam—ain't nobody else."

"Have you neither father, mother brother or sister?"

"No sah; neber had none. No bruder, no sister, no fader, moter, no mama—nothin' but Sam. When you see Sam you see all dars is of us."

Fort Vanves was occupied by the Versailles troops on Saturday, the garrison escaping by the subterranean passage to Fort Montrogue. Fifty guns and eight mortars fell in to the hands of the victors. The Versailles army is advancing at all points upon Paris and continues to gain ground, particularly in the direction of the Maillot gate. The breaching batteries are now ready to open fire on the enciente of the city.

Paris special says: "On Saturday Dombrowski issued orders that all officers refusing to obey the commands of their superiors should be shot. He reviewed 5,000 men Sunday morning at Neuilly, and was received with great enthusiasm. After breakfast he rode to the front of Porte Maillot, and, while sitting on a horse, the Versailles soldiers fired rifles and two shell at the general without effect. Dombrowski immediately took off his hat and bowed politely to them. All the communists who saw it cheered lustily."

They have temperance insurance societies in Georgia which are somewhat original. Each member pays five dollars as initiation fee and five dollars dues each month. At the end of the year the money is divided among those who have remained faithful to the pledge.

The Lagrange Standard in speaking of the Sinking Fund Act, which Judge Tarkingtin, of the Marion Circuit Court, has declared unconstitutional, strongly condemns the Democratic members of the Legislature for their "ignorance and general inefficiency," as "lawmakers," and states that "this fund is worth to the parties controlling it from seventy to a hundred thousand dollars per annum;" and that "this princely sum of money the State officers pocket as clear gains, and render no account therefor." The "Standard," which claims to be an independent Republican journal, should have added that the money it mentions has heretofore been annually pocketed by the Republican State officers, of whose and whose conduct thereafter we have heretofore spoken, fearlessly and independently upon this matter, being neither Democrat nor Republican, but, nevertheless, we think the strictures of the Standard, in the face of the fact that the Republican State officers have unlawfully pocketed, according to its own computation nearly a million of dollars, are unbecoming an "independent journal." Let the Standard fire its volleys at the thieves who have heretofore fattened upon the hard earned earnings of the people of Indiana, and, if the Supreme Court of the State affirm the decision of the Marion Circuit Court, and the Democratic State officers appropriate the interest derived therefrom to their own private purposes, then its denunciations of them will be well-timed and in order. We shall demand—in the event the law is declared unconstitutional—that the Auditor of State account to the State for the interest required on the fund.—Val. Messenger.

Whom Do You Prefer.—"If you prefer the keg of lager or the bottle of wine to me," said Mary, "just take them to the magistrate and get married to them."

"What do you mean?" said John.

"Just what I say. I don't want a young man to come here evenings chewing cloves to cover his breath, and hide his habits of drinking. If you like lager more than you love me, just marry it at once, and don't divide your affections between a woman and wine—or a woman and lager; life and liquor have no affinity."

"Why, Mary, how you talk!" exclaimed John.

"Yes, I mean what I say; unless you sign the pledge and keep it, you had better not call here again."

John did sign the pledge, and he kept it and he married Mary.—Ex.

On the 6th inst., Lieut. H. B. Cushing, with 20 men of the 3d cavalry, routed by Cochea, the noted Apache chief, with 150 warriors, on Whitstone mountains, southeast from Tucson. Cushing, who was one of the most efficient officers in the territory, and Wm. H. Simpson, a soldier, were killed. The remainder were compelled to retreat to Camp Crittenden. Capts. Sherwood and Moore, with 40 men each, gave pursuit to the savages, who are committing numerous murders.

The prize fight between Joe Coburn and Jim Mace, for the championship of the world, commenced at Port Dover, Canada, last Thursday, but after "sparring" for an hour without a blow being struck, the authorities interfered and broke up the "mill." It is now proposed to try it again on the 2nd of June, in Nebraska.

The Layfaytte Courier tells the following "red-hot" story:

A gentleman from Indianapolis, breakfasting at a first-class hotel in this city, the other day, called for two hot plates, and, the dining room being a little chilly, he deliberately sat down on one plate, and took his breakfast on the other. He was intent on having a warm meal.

A terrible accident occurred on the Erie railroad near Atca, N. Y., on last Friday morning wherein five children were killed and about twenty adults more or less injured. The accident was caused by the colliding of two freight trains, in one of which there were about thirty passengers.

San Francisco special of 14th says: "A forage train was attacked by Apaches near Camp Verde, Arizona. One Mexican was killed, another wounded, and 87 cattle captured.

Gov. Jewell was inaugurated Governor of Connecticut and took the oath of office on Monday.

The Kentland newspapers charge $30 for publishing notices of application for license to sell liquors.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Elizabeth Baily,
Andrew Daily,
vs.
Nancy Klink,
Augustus Klink,
[illegible] Klink,
Jacob Klink,
Sarah Jane Growcock,
James Growcock
Adam Slaughterback &
Catharine Slaughterback.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by H. C. Peterson, their Attorney, and files their complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendants Augustus Klink, Catharine Slaughterback, and Adam Slaughterback, are not residents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendants that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871 at the Court House in Auburn, in said county, and show cause, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 20th day of May, A. D. 1871.

J. L. [illegible], Clerk.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Gilbert J. Patterson is Plaintiff and Levi B. Powell is Defendant requiring me to make the sum of eighty-six Dollars and forty two cents, with interest on said Decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on Saturday, June 17th A. D. 1871.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate to wit:

The east half of the east half of the North-west quarter of section number twenty-seven [27] in township thirty-four [34] north of range twelve [12] east in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs I will, at the same time and place sell the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sher'ff.

D. D. Moody, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Ind., May 22nd, 1871. $7 [illegible]

Deafness, Catarrh, Scrofula. A lady who had suffered for years from Deafness, Catarrh and Scrofula, was cured by a simple remedy. Her sympathy and gratitude prompt her to send the receipt free of charge to any one similarly afflicted. Address Mrs. C. M. Leggett, Jersey city, N. J.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

To Nebraska, California, Kansas, and the B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is Burlington, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa, [illegible] Missouri, to trunk [illegible] terminal.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where it connects with the Union Pacific road, thence to the great continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and traffic choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land [illegible].

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg it forms close connections, twice a day for St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure by no other line. You both over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Remember then, before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

SONG ECHO

A New School Book by H. S. Perkins. Price $7.50 per dozen. Contains over two hundred new and beautiful Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Webster, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 50c. Liberal terms for introduction.

FIFTY DOLLARS WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters' Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 75 cts.

Address, J. L. PETERS,
599 Broadway, New York

April 27, 2-m.

DANIEL VOLLMER,

PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST

Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.

FORT WAYNE IND'A

VOLLMER'S Elixir of PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorous and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron. This Elixir will be found of great advantage in dyspepsia, indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system. The ingredients in this elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $6,00 per Volume or $30.00 for the Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil-Colors, 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations; the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 1 of the Oil Chromos, 10 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs.

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Abdominal Organs, Poverty or a want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflammation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abscess, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. Wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Thea-Nectar

IS A PURE

BLACK TEA

with the Green Tea Flavor Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

Wanted Agents ($20 per day) to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under-feed, makes the "lock stitch" (alike on both sides) and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the Market. Address Johnson Clark & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ills., or St. Louis, Mo.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, Cincinnati Ohio.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1. Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. Patten, Treas. Springfield, Mass.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, the advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

We desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. We buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20 cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, handkerchiefs, laces laces in great variety, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 29, '71.

It has the delicate and refreshing fragrance of genuine Farina Cologne Water, and is indispensable to the Toilet of every Lady or Gentleman. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in PERFUMERY.

COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.

$288 IN 16 DAYS

Made by one Agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Clothes Lines to last forever, Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 75 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St., N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNG Diseases.

HOARSENESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you; be sure you get only Well's Carbolic Tablets. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent. Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries,

Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Root & Company

IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

Popular Dry Goods House

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do themselves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing unusual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods. Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens. New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1 y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phœnix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need.

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account come and settle, as he is determined to collect, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.

Feb. 21 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months and the particular district requiring such license. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully. W. H. McINTOSH.

The Auburn Courier
OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

CORRECTED.—The time tables for the different railroads are now correct, according to the late change.

A YOUNG man could'nt sleep in Laporte the other night, because of an unpleasant smell in the room. He had blown out the gas.

THE editor has gone on a short visit to Ohio, and the "devil" is in charge. If things are not as usual impute it to his absence.

FOR a good drink of soda water go to Abright's. He has put in a new fountain, and now turns out a cool refreshing draught

WHAT's the difference between a "local editor" and a physician? One has Dr. before his name and the other after it.—That's all.—Sentinel.

We can't see it. Try again, Mac.

WE are in receipt of the Mineva Commercial, a spicy and well printed paper published at the above place in Ohio. It's black though, politically, and that's what we can't understand in this age, of refinement and intelligence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—We hope the friends of the Sunday School cause will not forget the Convention, to be held in this place, on June 6th and 7th. Preparations are being made for the accommodation of all.

PIC-NIC AND DANCE.—A grand dance and pic-nic, beneath a shady bower, will take place next Saturday, one mile west of New Era. A magnificient bower of green foliage will be prepared, under which the festivities of the occassion may be enjoyed. Don't fail to be on hand.

A LADY says the first time she was kissed she felt like a tub of roses swimming in honey, cologne, nutmegs and cranberries. She felt as if something was running through her nerves on feet of diamonds, escorted by several little cupids' chariots drawn by angels, shaded by honey-suckles, and the whole spread with melted rainbows. Exactly.

Mr. A. W. Wright, for some time past chief editor of the Fort Wayne Gazette, has retired from the position, and been succeeded by Robert G. McNiece, associate editor. Mr. M. has made great progress as a journalists, since his connection with that paper, and being a gentleman, of no ordinary ability, a writer above the mediocre, we mistake much if he does not attain great popularity in his new position.

DECORATION DAY.—Next Tuesday, the 30th, is the day set apart for the decoration of soldiers' graves. It is a beautiful custom, though the display made in connection with it sometimes, is more than we can endorse. A committee of ladies in a quiet way will do more in the accomplishment of this object, than half a dozen processions.

HENRY BECHTHAL, an old man residing in Whitely County, near Arcola, on last Tuesday dropped a saucer, and ordered his wife to pick it up. She not complying with his wish as promptly as he thought proper, the old man kicked her to death. The Columbia City jail now holds him; and very probably, in a short time, but in another manner, a rope will be found to do the same thing, and will be strong enough.

A GREAT many farmers are hesitating about planting potatoes this season on account of the potato bugs. A friend gives us this remedy, which he has tried with remarkable success. We give it for what it is worth: "Plant buckwheat with the potatoes." He says that he planted one acre putting buckwheat with one half and none with the other half. The result was that the potatoes without the buckwheat were entirely destroyed by the bugs, while the others remained enterely untouched.

WE forgot to notice, last week, the late newspaper production, in Fort Wayne, called the Republican, by Messrs. Steel & Cullaton, gentlemen of considerable experience and ability, in journalism. It is to be a first-class Republican paper, and if it continues as it has commenced, it will certainly accomplish all that it promises. That party is pretty well afflicted with newspapers there, and it is only a question of time, to determine whether they want any more, or some that they have already.

JACKSON.—We made a brief visit to this beautiful city, last Tuesday, and readily noticed the thrift and enterprise with which it seems to be blessed. It is distined to be one of the first cities of the State.

We had the pleasure of a look through the Patriot office, and found it complete and extensive in every department. Mr. Smith, ye local, wields a spicy pen, and makes the Patriot a very interesting local paper.—And we ask, why do not our citizens take this large and excellent paper. It contains the latest Detroit and other markets, all the telegraph news and can be received here at 10 o'clock every morning. Get up a club

THE DOT GAME.—A new game, called the 'dot' game, has been introduced, and is said to afford considerable amusement Each player must be provided with pencil and paper. Let one of the party read aloud—distinctly and not very fast—and as he or she reads, let the rest each make a dot for every word read. "Easily enough to do that"—is it? Try. Probably at the first trial no one of the party of ten boys and girls will succeed in following a moderate reader accurately, even for a single page. When the page is read, count the words and then let each player count his dots, and see who has been accurately 'up to time.'

There are vague rumors that about $3,000 in gold was recently found in Heltonville, in this county, and deposited with a gentleman in Bedford. An old gentleman who lately died in that neighborhood stated to some of his friends previous to his death that he had put away $3,000 in gold but told no one where it might be found. The person who found the money was directed to the spot by a dream.—Mitchel Commercial.

Burglars have been busy in Huntington recently.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAILROAD

There can be no doubt that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company have at last decided to extend their road through to Chicago. The increase of freight, travel and business generally demand it, and for this purpose several millions of dollars have been set aside each year, until the work can now be commenced without burdening the corporation with a heavy debt. Just where it shall go, however, is not as yet made known, though we have reason to believe it has been fully determined upon. Several surveys have been made at the expense of the competing towns, and others are yet to be run. The company is perfectly willing to give all a fair chance retaining as its right, however, to select the best route, and lay the road accordingly.

After running north from Pittsburgh, in order to avoid the hills which seem to shut out that city, with its smoke, from the west, the course will be nearly an air line to Chicago, on what is called the "North Ridge." This ridge, running in a north easterly direction across the State, is high and sandy, and will form an excellent bed for a railroad; while it will take the road through some of the finest towns and richest country in Ohio. Should this be the route selected, and there is little doubt of it, the road will strike into Indiana not far north of Fort Wayne, passing through Albion, Syracuse, and many other towns on a line with them.

The construction of such a road will, without doubt, detract not a little from the business of both the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, and the Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan roads. Indeed it cannot do otherwise, running, as it will, about midway between, and depriving them not only of much of their way freight and travel, but also cutting off entirely the business which is now taken over these roads to the western terminus of the Baltimore and Ohio road. What, however, will be a loss in their case, will add greatly to the northern part of our State, giving it more railroads within a less amount of territory than any other State in the country.—Fort Wayne Gazette.

ANOTHER TERRIBLE SCOURGE.—We have been formed by Mr. Christian Conrad, one of the largest farmers on Elkhart prairie, that we are about to be afflicted with another curse, worse, if anything, than the potato bug. It is a little green worm not more than an inch and a half in length.—

At first, one or two only can be seen in the branches of an apple tree; and in about twenty-four hours from the time, thousands can be seen on the same tree.—They first made their appearance in the trees of Mr. John Alwine; and where they are not checked, they completely strip the tree of leaves and buds in a remarkably short space of time. A number of farmers and others are engaged in devising means to check them upon their first appearance and if possible, destroy them entirely. It will require close attention, if they succeed in saving their trees, let alone the fruit, if these pests should turn out to be as numerous and destructive as represented. Let our fruit growers keep constant watch until they know what is the true character of these new interlopers.—Goshen Dem.

WOOL.—Wool is coming into market at a good, steady rate, and prices are advancing. The farmers who wish to dispose of their 'shear' had best bring it in now. In the country there are a great many small manufacturers who, from lack of capital, are unable to lay in a stock sufficiently to run them all the year round, and have been obliged to buy immediately, so as to keep their hands employed, and thus are compelled to offer a little advance as an inducement for sellers.—Exchange.

The Woolen Mills here have capital sufficient to buy all the wool they can use during a year, and the manager is now offering the highest market price for wool in order to secure a necessary amount for the coming year. Bring it in early and thus secure a good price

State Items.

Miss Blanket-backer teaches school near Ligonier.

Girl babies are arriving in Gosport by the dozen.

Strawberries are plenty in the towns along the Ohio river.

The North Indiana Baptist Association meets at Laporte in June.

Lafayette owns up to having seventy saloons within her corporated limits.

It has been estimated that $20,000 worth of property was destroyed at the late fire at Valparaiso, the most of which was insured.

Two aspirants for pugilistic honors, Sammy Coogur and Patsey Maley, are to fight for $250 a side near Evansville next Tuesday.

A wedding occurred at Wabash lately in which the bride was older by eleven years, and the combined ages of the couple amounted to 135 years.

Gold has said to have been discovered in Dry Branch, a mile and a half west of Laurel, Franklin County. Specimens as large as a grain of wheat have been found.

Speaking of fishing, the Attica Ledger says: "A red-horse weighing twenty-one pounds and three-quarters, was caught with a hook near Williamsport, one day last week.'

The Bedford News reports that the horse trade has been active there during the past ten days—average horses selling at from ninety to one hundred and seventy-five dollars.

The editors of the 10th and 11th Congressional Districts expect to go on an excursion to Lincoln, Nebraska, about the middle of June, over the Burlington and Missouri River route.

A man named Jacob Brey, who resided two miles from Hebron, Porter County, shot himself through the heart last Thursday. It is supposed that he was laboring under some mental aberration when he committed the act, as he had heretofore been a christain and possessed strong and vigorous intellect.

The Michigan City Enterprise says, the work on the harbor is to go right on. At a meeting of harbor property owners, the plan of the City Engineer, Dan. Kenedy, Esq., to prevent the filling in of sand from the piers into the channel was adopted, Houston.

[Communicated.]

MR. EDITOR:—My last closed with a reference to Butler township.

My next visit was to Peter Shaffer, Trustee of Jackson Tp., who had six and one-half months school, last year, eight months this year, and will have nine next, and will then divide the school year into three terms.

His township has 36 square miles with nine houses and every house just where it ought to be, something that does not occur often.

He intends raising teachers wages next year and will then not expect the districts to board them.

Next to Concord, Thos. S. Murray, Trustee. They have just finished a house for a township graded school in Spencerville at a cost of near $4,000 exclusive of the seating. The writer was through the building and pronounces it cheap.

Mr. Murray has twelve schools besides the graded—discontinued one last year and ought to discontinue two more, as schools composed of six to ten scholars are unprofitable to pupils, teachers, and townships.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Murray is connected with two mills, and is over run with business, yet he takes a deep and intelligent interest in the educational interests of his township.

Thence to Newville Tp., where Jas. Robinson, Esq., Sailor, Miner, Lumberman, Merchant, &c., and the present hotel keeper has held the township reins since last fall. They also have a graded school, having in 1864 bought the old academy for that purpose.

Five houses, of which one was built seven years ago, and six months school.

From Newville, north to Stafford, when H. H. Wannemaker also has five houses and six months school, next year will have seven months and perhaps eight. He complains of the character of his houses and says they will have to build four new ones He intends to build two of them next year.

Next to Wilmington Tp., where Saml. Greenamyer has been Trustee two years.

Has only five and one half months school, the shortest term in the county.—Next year he will have longer time, and intends having seven or eight months.—He has never levied a tuition tax but will do so next spring.

He has twelve schools, not including the corporation of Butler.

The Butler school is at present in charge of your County Examiner, Prof. McIntosh, who reports an enrollment of some thing over 200 and an average attendance of 170. He has three assistants all of his own selection and speaks highly of all of them.

He has one class in Trigonometry, one in Geometry and two in Latin. A number of his scholars are preparing themselves for teachers. He says the demand for summer teachers are greater than the supply. He has had three objects in view large schools, good teachers, and good pay. Their building is the best in the county, having cost all of $12,000.

From Butler I came next to Union Tp., where Isaac Thomas took charge of the township interests last autumn.

Aside from the building in Auburn, he has seven houses. Is building another, a brick, this summer, and intends building another next year. Mr. Thomas is thoroughly progressive in his ideas, and while he is trustee, will keep Union Township school interests in the van. He has put on the tuition tax and next year will have near or quite eight months school.

In noting your local interests I should have mentioned the fact that Mr. Thomas does quite an extensive business in lumber, shingles, lime &c., and also does a large business in grain.

To Richland next, which is not named amiss and right here I will say that in my opinion DeKalb County has a much larger proportion of good land within the same area than Allen or any county south of you down as far as Wayne.

Found Mr. H. Conrad, a practical teacher of many years' experience and one of the best posted teachers I have ever meet. He is thoroughly conversant, not only with the educational wants of his township, but of the whole county. He has fourteen schools and needs a graded school at Corunna.

He divides his term equally giving three months winter and the same amount of summer school, an arrangement which the writer has found popular wherever thoroughly tried.

Next to John Treesh of Fairfield who was re-elected for the first time last fall. He has ten houses with seven months term last year and the same this. Claims to be the first to levy a tuition tax, and certainly deserves credit for living a progressive, live trustee. He will have eight months term next year.

Thence to Summit, the new town in Smithfield Tp., where S. B. Mottinger is not only trustee but town proprietor. Summit is yet in its infancy but under the leadership of such men as Mr. Mottinger, it will soon pass that stage and show a substantial growth. He has also ten schools and seven months term, and what is an anomaly in DeKalb County, the majority of his winter teachers are ladies.—He speaks in high terms of them and claims to have as good schools as there are in the county. I will speak of Franklin and Troy in my next.

In conclusion—my acquaintance among the schools, in many counties of the State, is quite extensive and by way of comparison I will say that next year the schools of your county, will average near or quite eight months which is near three months above the average in the State.

That there is not a single trustee, in DeKalb County, who is not thoroughly alive to the educational interests of his township. This can be said of very few counties.

You employ a less proportion of lady teachers than any county within my knowledge, and I think the average wages paid is considrably less. This is in part, and perhaps, fully accounted for by the fact that nearly all your districts board their own teachers.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.—Send to the American Publishing Company, Rutland Vt., for their beautiful Specimen book, and make ten dollars the first day you show the book. Read their advertisement in another column, concerning the Parlor Album, and you will get full particulars.
The Parlor Album contains more beautiful embellishments than any other work extant. The Specimen Book is sent free on receipt of postage.

AGENTS WANTED.
We want an agent, male or female, in every town in this State, to whom we will pay a salary of from $50 to $200 per month and expenses, and will give agreeable and honorable employment for at least one year. This is no humbug as any one can ascertain by addressing C. W. Ashwood & Co., No. 1 and 2 Seitz New Block, Detroit, Mich. No stamp required. No commission agents need apply.

OUR PAPER.

BY A. G. M.

Good-morning, Mr. Editor,
A word to you I'll speak,
I take your Courier paper,
'Tis a splendid [illegible] sheet.

Full of interesting reading,
Gives the markets of our town,
Tells our neighbors in the country,
How [illegible]

Advertising for our tradesmen,
Spreading news throughout the land,
Telling them we're well and happy,
And how firm for right we stand.

Advertising good sound doctrine,
Showing people what is right,
Come, Republicans, and join us,
Yoke is easy—burden light.

Here is health to you forever,
May peace and plenty crown your way,
Hope subscribers pay you freely,
And [illegible]

The Model Clothing House of the West.

We yesterday had the pleasure of a stroll through the great One Price Clothing House, known as the Palace of Fashion, at Fort Wayne, and were really astonished at the immense quantities of men and boy's ready-made clothing constantly kept in stock at this popular establishment.

The department for men's wear, we found more than replete with everything that could be wished for, such as fashionable Scotch Derby suits, Fancy diagonals, English Twills, Flannel Business Suits, White Duck Suits, See Sucker Suits, Fine Dress Suits, Linens in endless varieties, fine Underwears, Socks, Neck Wear, Hats, Caps, and in fact everything that the heart could desire; all marked in plain figures at the lowest possible prices.

The department for boy's wear is perfection itself, containing from the finest to the cheapest—everything new and desirable, such as Scotch, English and American Cassimeres, Derby Sack and Frock Suits, all made in the most fashionable style, and sold at prices to defy competition.

The department for children's wear will be found stocked with a full line of Cassimere, Cloth, Linen and Duck Suits, made in a style to suit the most fastidious, and sold to suit and please everybody. Sizes from three years and upwards.

The furnishing department is the source of admiration and wonder to even the strangers of the largest cities, who unhesitatingly pronounce it, as complete as can be found in America, comprising the latest novelties in Neckwear, Gents Jewelry, Silk, Merino, and Gauze Underwear, Hosiery, Collars, Cuffs, fine, white and fancy percale Shirts, Suspenders, Kid, Castor, Lisle Thread and Dogskin Gloves, besides a full line of Gents Nuptial goods.

So we could continue for many columns but time and space forbid, and we conclude by advising each and every one, to visit the Palace of Fashion and convince themselves and at the same time save money.

For the Courier.

On the Death of Mrs. Sophia Fisher.

A voice from the spirit land,
A voice from the silent tomb,
Entreats with a sweet command,
Husband, come home.

At eve, when the crimson west
Is tinged by the setting sun,
She calls, like a spirit blest,
Husband, come home.

Abroad in the stilly night,
As strangers and all alone,
We heard through the misty light,
Brother, come home.

In dreams at midnight deep,
When angels of mercy come,
We [illegible]
[illegible], come home.

By sorrow and sin oppressed,
She answers to every moan,
Come here where the weary rest,
Neighbors, come home.

Ah, loved one, we haste to thee,
Soon, soon shall we reach thy home,
And there wilt thou welcome us,
We'll come, we'll come.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—[illegible] the print in the style of the steel plate presented to the subscribers of the Lady's Book for June. This is followed by a six figure colored fashion plate, containing walking dresses, evening dresses, etc., a beautiful wood-cut illustration of four children fighting with leaves; and another entitled "The Lily." In addition to all this, the publisher has been liberal with his wood-cut fashions on the extension sheet and in his designs for the work department. With the many excellent stories by popular writers in this number, we commend it to the public.

BRAINARD'S MUSICAL WORLD.—The May number of this favorite Musical Monthly is at hand and contains the usual large amount of interesting Musical Stories, Sketches, Editorials, News Items, &c. Two choice peices of music are given in this number, a beautiful quartette by Wm. T. Rogers, entitled "We are not far away from those we love," and a brilliant new piano piece by Addison P. Wyman, "Safe within thy Little Bed," with variations. This piece is alone worth a year's subscription to the Musical World. The author is well known as the composer of "Silvery Waves," the most popular piece of music ever published. Send $1.50 to S. Brainard & Sons, Cleveland, O., and you will receive the Musical World a year, containing over fifty pieces of music; or specimen copies will be sent to any address on receipt of ten cents.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 3, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Mar. 9. Rosenthal & Bro.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	1.30@[illegible]
Red	[illegible]
Oats	45
Rye	60
Corn	45
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	[illegible]
SEEDS—
Clover	4.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	[illegible]
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	30c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	[illegible]
Beans per lb	[illegible]
Sheep Pelts	[illegible]
Rags	[illegible]

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
T. M. BIDDLE,
April 29, '70, 1-y

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Washington E. Langley is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George E. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of six hundred and fifty four dollars and eighty one cents with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m., and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment interest and costs I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
E. Conner, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 28, A. D 1871.
$7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Levi W. [illegible] is Plaintiff and John A. Bartlett, George E. Bartlett are Defendants requiring me to make the sum of eleven hundred and forty-two dollars and thirty-two cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] East, in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interest and cost.

This sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
E. Conner, Dep'y.
Auburn, Ind., April 28th, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE of an Execution to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court in a cause wherein Gilman Dubois and others are Plaintiffs and John A. Bartlett, George E. Bartlett are Defendants, required me to make the sum of Twenty-one hundred and sixteen dollars and twenty one cents, with interest on said Judgment and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder on

Saturday, May 27th, A. D. 1871

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the door of the Court House of DeKalb county, Indiana, the rents and profits for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following real estate, to-wit:

Mill and Lots situated on the North-west quarter of section four [4] in township thirty-four [34] North of range twelve [12] east in Topping's addition to the town of Corunna, in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Judgment, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Judgment, interests and costs.

Said sale will be made with relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
E. Conner, Dep'y.
Auburn, Indiana, April 28, A. D. 1871.
$7.50.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, DeKalb County, ss.
In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.
John L. [illegible] vs. Edward W. [illegible]
Complaint No. 66.

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. [illegible], whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.
JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,
BUILDING CONTRACTORS!
AND DEALERS IN BUILDING STONE
[illegible]
MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES
IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.
MANTELS
IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE
MARBLEIZED, Slate & Iron
MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
[illegible]
SANDSTONE HEARTHS.
SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.
TERRA COTTA WORK.
Vases, Chimney Tops
STONE WATER TABLES,
Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,
SEWER AND DRAIN PIPE.
Cement Plaster, &c
Prices low and work warranted. Skilled workmen only employed.
SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

The Sun.
CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.
The Dollar Weekly Sun.
A Newspaper of the Present Times.
[illegible]
ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.
Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.
SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR, of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.
THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.
A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.
TERMS TO CLUBS.
THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Four Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Eight Dollars.
Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Fifteen Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-three Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-five Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Fifty Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Sixty Dollars.
THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Eight Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club), Sixteen Dollars.
SEND YOUR MONEY
in Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address
I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
Sun office, New York City.

NEW system, NEW
GOODS,
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO
SUCCESSORS TO
O. T. CLARK & CO.
Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!
[illegible] everything desirable in the line of Dry Goods
CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions,
And an endless variety of Housekeeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 4, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St., AUBURN, IND.
[illegible] of Boots and Shoes for
Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
[illegible]
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE
IN POINT OF
Workmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DEFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselves.
W. W. HUMES.
April 6, '70.

500 VOLUMES In One
AGENTS WANTED
FOR
The Library of Poetry and Song.
Being Choice Selections from the Best Poets
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, IRISH AND AMERICAN,
With an Introduction
BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT,
Under whose critical supervision the volume was compiled.
The handsomest and cheapest subscription book extant. Over 800 pages, beautifully printed, choicely illustrated, handsomely bound. A library of over 500 volumes in one book, whose contents, of no ephemeral nature or interest, will never grow old or stale. It can be, and will be, read and re-read with pleasure by old and young, as long as its leaves hold together.
[illegible]
"We know of no similar collection in the English language which, in copiousness and felicity of selection and arrangement, can at all compare with it."—N. Y. Times.
Terms liberal. Selling very rapidly. Send for Circular, with Terms, to J. B. FORD & CO., 27 Park Place, N. Y.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES,
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIABLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded.

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, Mouth, Throat, Bronchial Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, General, nervous debility arising from errors of youth (both sexes) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaints. Should apply in person or by letter, to Dr. D. GARD. Office 126 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 655, Fort Wayne Ind. Jan. 6 .1y

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.
ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to sell them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co., 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON.
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 23th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints for two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes in to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins at 25c per yard. 2000 yards of children's plaids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15½c a yard
ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 40c to $1.00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 20c, worth 50c. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 4 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTTES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK, CALHOUN ST FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

[illegible]

A correspondent of the American Agriculturist writes as follows:

When the milk is brought in and strained, set the pans one at a time over a kettle half full of boiling water, and let them remain until the milk is thoroughly scalded; this is to be repeated the next day, and the milk then set aside in the pantry adjoining the sitting room or kitchen, and kept comfortably warm until fit to skim; the cream is to be kept in loosely covered jars, in the same temperture, and well stirred every time fresh cream is added, and churned at least once a week; the butter will be as sweet and almost as rich as in June or October. If an orange carrot be greated fine, a little warm water poured on it, and the juice pressed out, strained and stirred in the cream before churning, the butter will be a beautiful golden yellow.

To Kill Lice on Cattle.

A correspondent of the Maine Farmer says in reference to advice that had previously been given not to apply kerosene oil to cattle for the purpose of killing lice. "I avoided the use of kerosene for this purpose for several years, fearing it might be injurious, but for the last three years I have used nothing else with our large stock of cattle, and should be very unwilling to give it up. As often as the stock are known to be troubled with lice, each creature is carded all over quite thoroughly, frequently dipping the teeth of the card in the oil. Two or three applications are sufficient. No remedy that I have ever tried is so convenient, and none more harmless or effectual."

Overgrown Hogs.

There is not one single advantage to be claimed in favor of big hogs. There never was a monster hog which did not make the man who raised him pay for every pound he weiged. They don't furnish an ounce of meat gratis, but charge full price for every atom of their carcass. When slaughtered, it takes a long time to get one cool to the marrow in the bone, and then when the hams are put in salt, it is troublesome to finish them to the center. Four hundred pounds live weight is as large as hogs should be, in order to make good bacon. Beyond this size, there is a loss somewhere. Either the feeder, buther or consumer is beat, and as a general thing, every one who has anything to do with the big hog will find, if he observed closely, that they are not so profitable as the smooth, nice hogs of only three hundred and fifty pound weight. A small head with little upright ears and legs and ears delicate to perfection, are marks which indicate the greatest amount of flesh for any given amount of food consumed; and will always draw more readily the attention of the butcher. —Rural World.

Turning Down Green Crops.

It has got into the papers that plowing down green crops produces acid in the soil from the decomposition which is hurtful to crops; that it is better to turn under when the crop is matured, that the decomposition will then be slower, and no hurt will result.

This is doubtless true with some soils —those deficient in alkaline matter. But as most soils contain lime and potash and other kindred material, this acid is not only harmles but beneficial, as it unites with the alkalies making plant food, which otherwise might lie as it already has for ages, useless to vegetation.

It is for this reason that the turning under of green crops is highly recommeded, not because its chemical action is known, but because experience has demonstrated its advantage. The great majority of cases have demonstrated that is a good thing to turn down the full, blossoming, succulent crop. The alkalies are most always present in some form to take up and unite with the acid. In soils where the acids remain free, would it not be well to sprinkle the clover with lime before plowing or previously apply it to the soil? In such a case, lime would be a benifit in any event, as a the soil requires it.—Utica Herald.

Dat is Good

As a gentleman from New York was taking a glass of wine at the St. Louis, corner of Freeman and Hopkins street, Cincinnati, about three weeks ago, he observed at another table, seated with several others, a German, who seemed uneasy and anxious, as if there might have been a Franco-Prussian disagreement between his beer and himself. Presently in ran a little girl, her face radiant with smiles, exclaiming:

"O, father we'v got a little poy at home!"

"Dat is goot," said the Dutchman, as the anxiety disappeared from his countenance. "fill up dey glasses."

Not many minutes elapsed before in rushed the little girl again with the announcement:

"O, father we've got two little poys at home!"

The Dutchman looked good deal astonished and not at all gratified at this little family redundancy, but rising at length to magnitude of the occasion he said:

"Vell, den, dat is also goot. Fill up der glasses."

In a few minutes again appeared the radiant messenger, with the astounding proclamation:

"O, father we've got three little poys at home!"

This was to much even for Teutonic impassibility. There was no farther call for glasses.

"Vell, den," says he. "I goes up dere, and stops the whole tam pisness."

A lady, walking down town, saw a little boy pinching his younger brother, who was crying bitterly.

"Why, my boy," said she to the young tormentor, "don't you know you are doing very wrong? What would you do if you should kill your little brother?"

"Why," he replied, "of course I should put on my new black pants and go to the funeral."

Railways are aristocratic. They teach every man to know his own station, and to stop there.

[illegible]

A man from the country a short time ago, rushed in to one of our drug stores in great haste, and said: "Give me a pint of whiskey—quick—am in a hurry—want it for mechanical purposes."

The liquor was bottled, and corked and paid for, when the druggist said, "you say this is for mechanical purposes, did you? [illegible] put it on your books for mechanical purposes?" "What kind of mechanical purposes?" said the druggist. The other replied, "for a raising." "A raising!" said the astonished druggist, "what are you going to raise?" The man retreated toward the door with the bottle in his pocket, and a twinkle in his eye replied. "Raise, why we are going to raise the devil."

"Mary, I am glad your heel has got well."

"Why?" said Mary, opening her eyes with astonishment.

"Because," said Jane, quietly, I see it is able to get out."

Mary's stocking had a hole in it

A RUDE SON.—"Daddy, I want to ask you a question."

"Well—my son."

"Why is neighbor Smith's liquor shop like a counterfeit bill?"

"I can't tell, my son."

"Because you can't pass it."

"John," said a father to his son one day when he caught him shaving the "down" off his upper lip, "don't throw your shaving water out where there are any barefooted boys, for they might get their feet pricked.

A country paper tells of a smart wife that helped her husband to raise seventy acres of wheat. The way she helped him was to stand in the doorway and shake a broom at him when he sat down to rest.

A Wisconson paper mentions a case where burglars broke into a store, but the goods were marked so high that they would not take any away.

It makes a great difference whether glasses are used over or under the nose.

What kind of pine is the most difficult to saw into timber? The porcupine.

Why is a dog's tail a great novelty? Because no one ever saw it before.

What is that which is full of holes and yet holds water? A sponge.

They keep "Knew Syder Fur Sail," at a Texas grocery.

Miscellaneous Items:

A wag advertises baby-jumpers as 'spring goods.'

Brown township, Harrison County, has forty widows, and only four widowers.

The corner stone of the new Presbyterian Church, of Mitchel, will be laid next Tuesday.

August Beigler, a boy of nine years, was drowned in the River at Terre Haute on Saturday.

A Dwelling house owned by Van Dye Hannah, in Ohio County, was burned last Monday. Loss $3,000.

The fruit upon the hills of Brown county is yet uninjured by the frost, though the caterpillers are making sad havoc with the trees.

A teacher of vocal music asked an old lady if her grandson had an ear for music. "Wa'al," said the old lady, I really don't know. "Won't you take the candle and see?"

James Jenkings and Ben. Swindleton of Mt. Vernon, engaged in a discussion, a few days ago, which only came to an end when the former had bitten off the latter's nose.

The temperance people talk of starting a paper, to be called the Lemon Drop.—They will try and make it a valuable Lemonaide to the cause of temperance. If they don't it will be Dropped.

Since two shots were fired through the window of an editor's sanctum at Albany, the editors go around with iron brestplates in their pantaloons, and earthworks of boiler iron are being thrown up outside the windows.

Mr. Axton, of Indianapolis, strongly maintained that his gun was not loaded, whereupon his friend Smith looked down the barrel to see. The doctors tried every means known to science to putty the top of Smith's head on but it would not stay up.

Many farmers for an extra dollar or two sell their best calves to the butcher, and raise such as are not so valuable, and think they gain by the practice; but the few dollars they think they make, would in many cases be worth at the milking age of the cow, if [illegible] had been kept, more than thirty [illegible] instead of a dollar or two.

Last Saturday Theodore Warren, of Swan township, Noble county, on retiring to rest, placed his pocket book containing $747 under his pillow. During the night he was alarmed by some one rapping on the door and calling that his barn was on fire. [illegible] and after putting out the fire, found that his money had disappeared.

Mrs. Wright, who keeps a hotel in Centreville, was accidently shot Tuesday night under the following circumstances. Henry Burton was preparing to retire for the night. He laid his revolver, on the table. A little girl named Anna Knapp picked up the revolver and Mrs. Wright, who was sitting near, told Annie to lay it down. Just then the weapon accidently discharged, taking effect in the abdomen of Mrs. Wright, and it is feared she is fatally wounded.—Greencastle Press.

Lorenzo Dow, the itinerant preacher, so famous in his life time for his eccentricity commenced his sermon on one occasion by reading from St. Paul, "I can do all things." The preacher paused, took off his spectacles, laid them on the open Bible, and said, "No, Paul, you are mistaken for one; I'll bet you five dollars you can't and stake the money." At the same time putting his hand in his pocket, he took out a five dollar bill, laid it upon the Bible, took up his spectacles again and read "through Jesus Christ our Lord." "Ah! Paul," exclaimed the preacher, snatching up the five dollar bill, and replacing it in his pocket—"that's a different matter, the bet's withdrawn."

[illegible]

MANUFACTURER OF

DOORS, BLINDS,

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Mouldings,

AND

Newell's Balusters & Brackets

North of the Canal,
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

[illegible] O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER,

MAKE A SPECIALTY OF THEIR CELEBRATED WELL MADE AND PERFECT

FITTING SHIRTS

THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF

Mens' Furnishing Goods!

IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA

SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!

CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

BUTLER INDIANA

[illegible] Hardware Store, in Butler [illegible] stock of

HARDWARE!

Ever brought to this county—among which may be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel, Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

Chains and Belting

[illegible]

GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices

For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman

MERCHANT TAILOR

First-Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY.

No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, - - IND

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, we are ready to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,

BRAN,

MEAL,

CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered to any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD.

Auburn, April [illegible]

TARIFF OFF!

Owing to the fact that Congress has

Reduced the Tariff

ON

Teas,

Coffee,

Sugar, etc,

[illegible] greatly reduced at

SMITH & HARE'S

[illegible]

Cash System

GROCERIES

AND

PROVISIONS

LAMPS,

CROCKERY,

GLASSWARE,

WOODENWARE,

NOTIONS, &c., &c.

Cheaper than any other house in the county. All we ask is to give us a trial.

SMITH & HARE.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand, and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.
Colored "
Japanese " striped Checked "

Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Japenese, plain "
" brocaded
Watered "

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japanese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere London Poplins, for suits.
Plain "
Wash "

Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Scotch Ginghams, great variety.
Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Brilliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings, Satins, and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces, the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaconets, Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarlatans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings, &c., White, Marsailles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has

Reduced the Duty of All

GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound.	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	1 1-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	31-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound in	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	20c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, per pound	18c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c Old Government Java	33c
2d Best quality	16c Best Roasted Coffee,	28c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong	75, 90, best 110
Japan	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Beans, per lb.	8c	Best Pepper,	25cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	25cts
do. Turkish Prunes,	12c	Cloves,	50cts
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1 15

[illegible] Groceries.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb.	28c
Hard Shell, per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb.	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	30c
Drops and Lozenges of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $1.00	20c
Seedless Sultanas,
Zante Currants, 12, 8 [illegible] lbs	1.00
Citron,	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12 1/2c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	14c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	60c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wine,	75
CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS	$2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

MISCELLSNEOUS

Soap, per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches.	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	00
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco,	18

FRESH OYTSERS 80c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL, PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20,

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6.00	No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts,	$2.00
" in kits,	1.75	Lake Herring, per bbl,	2.50
Trout " per bbl	[illegible]	Herring, each,	1c
Pickerel " per bbl.	[illegible]	Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
Old Pickerel, Trout and Mixed Fish,	2.00	White Fish, per lb,	7c

All other Groceries, Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you can buy [illegible] goods cheaper than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the [illegible] FRUIT HOUSE.

For

Fresh and Fine Family

Groceries and

Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

And Sugar,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES, AND BE CONVINCED THAT BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

McDOUGAL'S

CARPET STORE!

A FULL LINE OF CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,
76 Columbia street.

THE HOWE,

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO of Bridgeport, Conn. adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk. Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Seguer, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. EM. BLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS

G. L. Seguer, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop

In

Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS

Carriages,

CUTTERS,

Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

102 Washington St., Chicago.

Successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY [illegible] from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS,—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent [illegible] stamp.

See Here

FARMERS,

Have you got good

FANNING MILLS?

If not, get one of

J. B. TAYLOR'S

CELEBRATED

Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been [illegible] 14 years past, and not found wanting, in [illegible] expect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oat[illegible] peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of [illegible] in. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at C. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICTIED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Waterloo City, March 21, 1869. -8

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOOS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,

Oats,

Corn,

Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Buildig Matrial,

Agriculturl Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

☞ Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23,. 1871

Auditor's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER,
Published Every Thursday,
—BY—
T. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:
One year........[illegible]
Six months........[illegible]
[illegible]........50

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 1, 1871. No. 22.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Ten lines of Nonpareil to constitute a Square.
Business Cards, $5 per annum.
Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion: 5 cents each additional insertion.

Business Cards.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-30

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-28 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

W. H. DILLS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.
GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and
AGENTS FOR
Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,
No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,
PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,
HOMŒOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.
DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.
CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,
MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.
WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.
DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,
HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

DR. R. ELSON,
RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferly's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,
SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

VINEGAR BITTERS
PURELY VEGETABLE
FREE FROM ALCOHOL
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
EUREKA
VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No System of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO. Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.
☞ SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pitsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS FAST EX	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh 1,35 A. M.
Rochester 2,42 "	7,10 A. M.	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance 5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,22 "
Orrville 6,34 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,40 "
Mansfield 9,08 "	1,52 P. M.	4,45 "	8,38 "
A. 9,35 "	4,22 "	5,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline 10.05 "	5,02 "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.	5,55 A. M.	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest 11 27 "	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima 12,26 P.	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne 2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,25 "
Plymouth 4,50 "	2,25 P. M.	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago 7,30 "	5,55 "	7,00 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX
Chicago	5,50 A. M.	9,00 A. M.	5,15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,56 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,50 P. M.	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima	3,25 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	[illegible]	[illegible]	2,43 "	[illegible]
	6,20 "	6,30 "	4,20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	6,30 "	6,50 "	4,30 "	9,25 "
Mansfield	6,40 "	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	9,15 "	9,05 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance	11,30 "	10,45 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M.
Rochester	2,35 P. M.	12,55 A. M.	11,06 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,45 "	1,56 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.
F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp	Mixed.	Mail.
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 a m	9 20 a m	4 50 p m
Academie	7 15	9 38	4 05
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	5 15
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 33	9 59	5 22
New Era	7 43	10 11	5 32
Auburn	8 01	10 49	5 50
Waterloo	8 15	11 25	5 50
Summit	8 30	11 50	6 05
Pleasant Lake	8 43	12 15 p m	6 18
Angola	8 57	12 56	6 43
Jonesville		3 50
Jackson Arr	11 40	11 40	9 18 p m

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson Leave	8 15 p m	8 15 a m	6 50 a m
Jonesville		10 30
Angola	8 23	2 28	8 57
Pleasant Lake	8 41	2 53	9 11
Summit	8 50	3 13	9 23
Waterloo	9 18	3 43	9 40
Auburn	9 55	4 06	9 55
New Era	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 13	4 40	10 20
Huntertown	10 20	4 48	10 26
Academie	10 32	5 06	10 37
Ft. Wayne Arr	10 55	5 25 p m	0 55

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.
A. REESE, Ass't Supt
I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	1:40 p m.
Waterloo	1:15 "	2:32 "	1:53 "
Sedan	x1:25 "	x2:45 "	2:06 "
Corunna	x1:20 "	x2:49 "	2:15 "

GOING EAST.

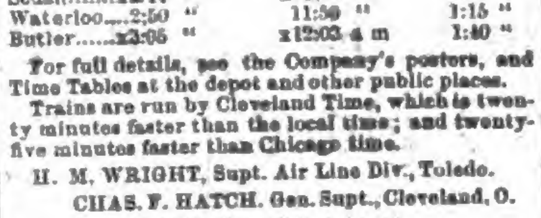
	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:38 p m	12:55 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:43 "	1:01 "
Waterloo	2:50 "	11:50 "	1:15 "
Butler	x3:05 "	x12:03 a m	1:40 "

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.
J. W. CARY, Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND



SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of
Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.
together with a number of first-class Livery Horse, we respectfully solicit the patrogage of the pubsoil promising to use our best endeavors to give genera satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4, '71.

Come and See Me!

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

n the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK
Opposite Court House,
AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 2, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House to be built of stone and brick; to be 24 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground.

The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871 to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.
I. M. THOMAS Trustee
April 4, 1871.

For the Courier.

AUBURN BRASS BAND.

BY REV. A. W. LAMPORT.

'Twas sable night hung o'er the earth
The stars looked fondly down,
As if to catch the thrilling strains
That cheered our quiet town.
From Auburn's mapled Court House Square,
Where Justice's temple stands,
Were heard afar on evening's air,
Harpings by skillful hands.

I turned adim the evening lamp.
And laid my book aside,
And then bare-headed and out door
To solve the music tried.
While musing thus, upon my gaze
A book wide open spread;
Hard earned, indeed, was every page
But—gazing—memory read,

Of southern plain and mountain steep,
Of wild ravine and dell,
Of sleepless nights and damp earth-beds,
Where rat'ling torrents fell
Of weary strewn miles, and marches long,
Of Rivers grand and free,
Of ocean's deep, whose billow roll'd
With blue infinity.

Of skirmish line and battle smoke,
Of cannon's thundering ire,
Of Marietta's sweeping flames,
And doomed Atlanta's fire.
But memory traced the sadder lines
Of those, who side by side,
In life had fought for God and right,
And arm to arm had died.

No Parian tomb's triumphal arch
Is reared above those dead,
"On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread."
But lest the tear of sorrow flow
O'er fallen comrade there,
I close the book and turn again
To "music on the air."

Harp on ye harpers, wake the night,
And make the welkin ring
Play on and greet the morning light,
With music on the wing,
"Lone starry hours" and "signal march,"
With sweet toned "Ella Rie,"
Will float as grand on midnight winds
As cygnets on the sea.

The Leader's name is Joe McKay,
And music's son is he,
Joe and Palmer E flats play
Young Long and Shaffer B,
Abright and Johnson, altos join
Geo. Brant, "E, Basso" chimes,
And Arnold with his young right arm
The thundering bass drum times.

The others, names unknown to me.
Are hope of equal skill,
And maple square will roll her leaves
To greet their music shrill.
Now be it known both north and south,
On east or western street,
That Auburn soon will have a band,
This country cannot beat.

AND OLD GAME.

"Button! button! who's got the button?"

These words fell in a hurried accents of vexation from the cherry-ripe lips of Miss Lucy Ware, and were accompained by a fairy-like avalanche of fascinating screams. She was just about to step aboard the cars when she discovered her loss.

"Oh dear! It was on when I started. What can have become of it? I can never match it in this world!"

And she cast a look of consternation at the vacant place on her sacque, when there should have been a large agate button.

"Why don't you look around for it?" she demanded of her handsome cousin, Gerald Wentworth, who was to her safely started on her journey.

He elevated his eyebrows at her imperious tone, and scanned the ground at their feet.

"What are you looking at, Tom Shelly? You'd better go back to greasy shop, unless you can find my button!"

Tom Shelly lifted his hat, bowed low to conceal a shade of pain that passed across his face, and walked away. He had come to take a last look at the despotic little beauty before she passed from his vision, perhaps forever. She was the incarnation to him of all that was bright, winning, sprightly, and lovable; and after she was gone he would muse and dream about her, when she, perhaps, would bestow only an occasional, transient thought on him as an atom among her home reminiscences.

Just then the warning whistle sounded, and Miss Ware was compelled, sorely against her will, to sumit to her loss, and proceed on her journey.

She waved her handkerchief, Gerald Wentworth waved his hat, and then the latter overtook Tom Shelly.

"She's a high-toned little piece, Shelly," he said.

"Who? Oh yes! Miss Ware. She is to be gone for a long time, I believe?"

"All winter."

Tom sighed. He looked at his rusty clothes, and contrasted them with the elegant suit of his champanion

"She's prety proud, isn't she?"

"Proud as Lucifer's sister—if he had one," laughed Wentworth. "Though I don't know as I ought to say that I think a good deal of her myself."

"You do?"

"Yes—she's my cousin, you know."

"And she knows it too."

Tom was silent. He did not feel capable of maintaining his careless tone; so he looked strait ahead, and planted his heels on the pavement with vigor as he stepped.

"They say you're the best man in Dunning's machine-shop, Shelly. How's that?"

"Curse the machine-shop and its greace and dirt!" exclaimed Shelly, "I wish I'd chosen some more genteel business."

"Well, it isn't as neat as it might be, to be sure. But still, when you get up to the top, it's all right. Look at Dunning—how he stands in the community. He began by kindling the fires, you know."

Here the two turned off in different directions. Their brief conversation passed from Wentworth's mind immediately; but Tom remembered it, dwelling and lingering on each word, and turning it over and over in his mind There was no torture so delightful to him as to hear Lucy Ware talked about, and to meditateon wheather concerned her in near or remote degree. He watched by stealth her smiles, and was angry with all the world because he could not resist the infratuaction. For he ought to have dismissed her from his thoughts with contempt after she refused one night to go to a concert with him because he did not dress well enough. He was wounded and cut; but the circumstance did not bring commonsense to his head. He sulked, and toiled, and hoped with a miserable, doubting hope, and pocketed his fifteen dollars a week, and was still an abject slave.

Miss Ware was going to New York to spend the winter with a welthy aunt, an'l now he had her last words to think of—a command to go back to his greasy machine-shop!

When he left the shop that night it was to walk home with slow steps and a thoughtful face. Ruminations in which there were gleams of sense, energy, and purpose ran through his head.

He found supper waiting, and sat down opposite his mother with an absent, preoccupied look.

"Are you tired, Tom?"

"No, not particularly."

"I thought you looked so."

"Dunning began at the bottom, didn't he, mother? And why can't I work up to where he stands now? Yes, Wentworth was right. I'll do it!"

"Do what, Tom?"

"Oh, nothing—only I'm not going to stand at the lathe all my life—I can tell you that."

"Why, what's the matter, Tom? Aren't you doing very well now?"

"No. I'm nothing but a greasy, begrimed laborer. But I'll make my mark yet, or give up the ghost."

"Mercy! don't talk so. I thought you were very well satisfied."

"Satsfied!" contemptiuously.

"It is wrong to murmur against one's lot We ought to be thankful—"

"Don't mention the word 'thankful' to me! Pardon me, mother, I don't mean to speak unkindly; but—well, there's going to be a change; that's all."

"You don't mean that you are going to leave Mr. Dunning?"

"No, no."

"What was it about Mr. Wentworth?"

"Oh, I met him to-day"—Tom blushed—"and he reminded me of how Dunning began a chore-boy, and the way he stands now And I thought, why can't one do it as well as another? Why can't I do it?"

Tom looked at his mother in a defiant, argumentative way.

"I'm sure I don't know," she replied, slightly nonplused. "But you shouldn't deceive yourself by building air-castels."

"I'll take care of that. But I've got an idea that I mean to work out. It may amount to nothing."

"What is it, Tom?"

"I can't tell you now. You know that brains sometimes make more monny than hands. If I could only invent something."

Mrs. Shelly shook her head doubtfully. "Inventors are generlly hairbrained creatures."

"Not by a good deal! You ought to be ashamed to slander them. Think of what they have done for the world."

Tom left the table with his meal but half finished, and threw himself down on the couch. Putting his hand in his pocket came in contact with something that sent a crimson flood to his face. He arose hastily and went up to his room. He lit a lamp, and smiled in exultation as he laid a small object on the table. It was Miss Lucy Ware's missing button. Yes, Tom had seen it when it dropped, picked it up, and resolved to keep it as a rememberance of the tantalizing siren who had so bewitched him. Some time, perhaps, he would return it. He chuckled as he thought of her disconfiture, and her blissful ignorance of who was the processor of the lost trinket. Then the foolish feelow gazed at it long and earnestly, finally placing it in an inside pocket of his vest.

He went to a shelf on which was ranged a choice collection of scientific words, took one down, and commenced reading. But his thoughts refusing to concentrate themselves on the subject of the book he finally flung it aside and went down stairs. He astonished his mother for the rest of the evening by being unusually gay and vivacious. He prepetrated fearful jokes, and both laughed until the tears ran down their cheeks, thus insuring a good night's rest.

But a change was coming. The next day Tom bought pecils, compasses, and drafting paper, and in the evening shut himself up in his room. This was repeated the next evening, and the next, and at the end of a week his mother learned to look no more for the pleasant hours they had been wont to spend together after tea. Tom grew pale, and his face assumed a thoughtful, resolute look. And soon he drew half of his two hundred dollars from the bank and fited up a little workshop in a back chamber. Here the sound of filing and hammering was heard late into the hours of almost every evening. Tom was working out his idea, whatever it was; and it was planely no child's play with him but a game in which he had staked his all—a battle for life or death. His earnest face told this, always soberly meditative now, and scarcely ever relaxing into a smile. His mother noticed this; Mr. Dunning noticed it: his friends noticed it; but he discharged all his daily duties with rigid fidelity, and gave short answers to expressions of concern. And thus the winter passed.

One August day Mr. Dunning said:

"Shelly, you are entitled to vacation, and you look as though you needed it. Go off for a couple of weeks. Your pay shall go on the same."

"I don't want it now, Sir. I'm all right."

"Ah, but I'm afraid you are not all right. You are pale and thin."

"I would prefer to work on for the present." persisted Tom. "I may want a vacation before long. I'll ask for it when I do."

"All right. Don't be afraid to mention it. Only don't wait till the busy season."

For the next three weeks Tom stuck later than ever to his little workshop evenings, and often toiled there until the wee small hours were tolled out by the lonely, solmen town clock.

At the end of that time he went to Mr. Dunning with bright, almost happy-looking eyes. Yet he had a jaded, exhausted air.

"When!" said Mr. Dunning. "We've just got in some big orders, you know."

"I can't help it Sir. I must have a week."

"You must?"

"I'm sorry, Sir; but rather than not have it I'd throw up my place."

"Why, what's the row, Shelly? Any thing going wrong?"

"No, Sir. I hope you will pardon my persistence, but can I go for a week?"

"Well, yes," said Mr. Dunning, reflectively, "I suppose so. You ought to have taken it in the summer, though. But since you ask for only a week, you shall have it."

That night Tom packed something very carefully in a small box, bade his mother good-by, and started for Washington.

"Upon my word, Shelly, I did not know there was so much in you!"

Tom Shelly and Mr. Dunning were closeted together in the latter's private office, with some papers spread out before them and a small brass model of a machine standing on the desk.

"Well, Sir, since you approved of it, and think it likely to answer its purpose, suppose we talk buisness."

"Business?"

"Yes. You had capital, and I have the patent. There's money in the machine, but it will take money to bring it out."

"Very true."

"Well, your capital invested in these works is one hundred thousand dollars. I'll put in my invention at fifty thousand, and own one-third of the establishment."

"Ha! I should think you might!"

"Or, if you like, I will travel two months, and see how the thing is likely to take before we make any agreement."

"Don't you think you've got your idea up rather high on the matter?"

"Perhaps I have," answered Tom, cooly; "but I don't propose to go begging, and let others grow rich out of what I ought to have."

"Such things are all experiment—great risks."

"I know, Sir; but you see what it is, and the need it supplies, and it is for you to say whether you will run the risk of taking hold of it."

Mr. Dunning pause and reflected, "I will look the matter over," he said at length, "and you may come here tomorrow evening."

This was as satisfactory as Tom could have excepted, and so he withdrew.

When he went home he asked his mother (to whom he had confided naught of his plans) how she would like to live in Judge Graham's house on Main Stree.

"The judge is going to Europe, and wants to sell."

"What is that to us, Tom? We can't buy his house."

"Well, we may be able to some time."

"Some time! What a way you have of looking ahead, Tom!"

"It's better to look ahead than behind, I think."

Tom went up stairs, threw himself back in in a chair, and took Lucy Ware's button out. He fingered the memento over and over, gazed on it, and finally pressed it to his lips stealthily, as if he feared some one might be looking. Then he wondered what Mr. Dunning's decision would be, and revolved in his mind all the contingencies of success or failure. He slept but little that night, for his whole future hung on the interview of twenty-four hours hence.

New-Year's night! A silver wedding

Mr. Dunning's mansion was thrown open and thronged with his friends. It was not stately affair. The children were there as well as the old folks, and the house was aglow with merriments and good cheer.

There were beautiful presents, smiling congratulations, and shaking of hands; bright-eyed girls, with dazzling dresses and shining white shoulders; dignified matrons in stately silks and diamonds; beinguant fathers in glossy broad-cloths and sober kids; elegant young men in swallow-tails and white vest; screaming children, with wild, delighted countenaces; and the buzz and rustle and din and clatter of a crowed that had dismissed dull care for the nonce, and was bent on making a night of it

Tom Shelly was there, and so was Lucy Ware The former was surrounded by friends and new acquaintances eager to congratulate him on a recent important event—namely, his admission as partner with Mr Dunning.

"Dunning & Shelly has a very respectable sound," said one.

"Accept my congratulations on your good fortune," said another.

"Well, Tom, your luck has come at last."

"You deserve your luck—every bit of it," where the words of and friend.

Tom received all this with due grace and modesty. A few ventured to sound him, to test his intelligence, but were spedily satisfied on that score. He was as a thoughtful reader, and possessed a little stock of books that may of those around him would have done well to substitute for the unwholesome sweatmeats with which they were wont to regale their minds.

In the mean time Tom is soliloquizing mentally. He is growing restive, and longs to speak to Lucy Ware. But he wonders how she will make him more attractive to her. And if it does, and if certain hopes he has cherished are fulfilled, will it be he that wins her, or something else? Will it be a cash match or a love match? Or won't it be any match at all, and is such speculation idle? These perplexing questions, and Tom found himself unable to consider that with that coolness of judgement he had revolved with himself to bring to bear on the matter.

At last Tom approached her, and as he drew near felt a choking thrill. She was just as beautyful as ever, and gave him a glance out of her liquid black eyes that ripled up from under the lashes like a flood of sunlight.

But in spite of the wiled canter into which his blood was fired, he bade her good-evening, touched her gloved plam, and utterd some commonplace remark with very praisworthy nonchalance.

Just then a set was forming to dance, and one couple was wanting. Of course Tom asked Miss Ware for the honor, etc., and the two marched on the floor.

"You will allow me to express my pleasure at your new advancement, will you not?" she asked, in a tone in which there was just a shade of tremuloqsness.

"Oh, certainly, if you take enough interest in me to feel any pleasure at it."

"Why, of course I do. I always feel interested in those deserving of success. Her tone was charmingly frank now.

"Oh, that's it, is it?" said Tom, a little disappointed. The sparkle in Miss Ware's eyes dilated a little.

"Well, I got it by hard work," he said. "I went back to my greasy machine-shop that time, as you bid me."

"What do you mean?"

"Have you forgoten about it? It was when you went to New York to visit your aunt. You lost your button at the depot, you know, and told me to go back to my greasy machine-shop if I culdn't find it."

Miss Ware blushed scarlet. "On, do not speak of that. It was very rude in me. I supposed you had forgotten it. It was only in fun."

"But I wasn't." Tom's tone was rather stern, and Lucy looked up quickly. "I made a vow then"

"Oh dear! I hope I wasn't the means of your making a vow."

"Do you? And suppose you were—what then? Is there any thing so very alarming about making vows?"

"I don't know. They're so very seldom kept."

"Ah, but this one is partially fulfilled already, and will be entirely some time. That is, only one thing can prevent it."

Miss Lucy did not ask what one thing was, but grew reserved, and durring the rest of the quadrille did not look into Tom's face with her previous unembarrassed freedom. The conversation had been carried on disjointedly durring the pauses in the dancing. When the last figure was finished Miss Ware said:

"Oh dear, I am so tired of dancing! Let us wal*k* in the other room, and see what the children are doing."

Her hand still rested on Tom's arm, and they made ther way into another apartment, where a merry throng of boys and girls were parta*k*ing of the pleasures of that old and exciting game, "Button! button! who's got the button?"

"That's a good old game,' said Lucy, glancing at the children.

"Button! button! who's got the button?' came in ringing tones from one of the players.

"I've got it!" exclaimed Tom.

"No, Sir; I've got it myself!" shouted a merry, blue-eyed girl, betrayed into letting out her secret.

A scene of confusion followed, and then the game went on.

Lucy Ware had lo*o*ked up at Tom in supprise.

"What made you say that?" she as*k*ed.

"Because it is true," he answered, loo*k*ing at her with a mischevous twitch of the eye.

Miss Lucy loo*k*ed puzzled.

'Do you want to see it?

'Yes, she answered, with a doubtful loo*k*.

He reached in his pocket and held something out in his hand

'Why,' she exclaimed, in amazement, "that's mine! Where did you get it? It't the one I lost.

"I *k*now it."

She blushed vividly, and was utterly mystified

"Please explain,, she said.

'Oh, there is not much to explain. I picked it up when you lost it."

"And why did you not give it to me?"

"I preferred to keep it. I too*k* it to my greasy machine-shop.

"Please don't!"

Tom laughed, and grew immediately serious again. He had to screw his courage up to the stic*k*ing point to utter the next words.

"I kept it because I loved you!" he whispered.

"Oh!" And Miss Lucy hid her face in her hands, while her heart beat violently.

"And I haven't got over it yet!" he said, boldly.

This was a very audacious remark, and Tom had to take breath after it. Miss Ware also breathed audibly. But she did not spurn him with indignation—no, far from it. Tom finally said, in a voice a trifle unsteady:

"I made a vow that morning, part of which was to work my way out of that greasy machine-shop. I've done that. The next part was to keep the button until its owner cared enough for it to—to—repay—to—that is, to give herself to me as a condition of its restoration."

Miss Ware looked into his face with swimming eyes, yet out of the depth of which still welled up a fountain of irrepressible roguery."

"But my sacque has gone out of fashion now, and the button will be of no use to me," she said.

Tom looked at her earnestly.

"And, besides, I think you ought to be willing to give more than a button or what you ask."

"Tom bushed a little at this, but suddenly seized her hand and exclaimed with energy:

"I can give the whole love of an undivided heart—a life-long devotion—love as unchanging and untiring as the sun that shines! Will that do?"

'I don,t *k*now but it will," came in a faint murmur.

And so the old, old game was played and who shall say that hearts did not win;

A PUZZLED DUTCHMAN

A Wisconson secular paper contains the following good story:

One who [illegible] immersion for baptism was holding a protracted meeting, and one night preached on the subject of baptism. In the course of his remarks he said, some believe it necessary to go down into the water, and come up out of it to be baptized. But this he claimed to be a fallacy, for the preposition "into, of the Scriptures should be rendered differently, as it does not mean into at all times. "Moses," he said, we are told, went up into the mountain, and the Saviour was taken into a high mountain, etc. Now we do not suppose that either went into the mountain, but upon it. So with going down into the water, it means simply going down close by or near to the water, and being baptised in the ordinary way, by sprinkling.

He carried this idea out fully, and in due season and style closed his discourse, when an invititation was given to any one who felt so disposed to rise and express their thoughts. Quite a number of the brethren arose and said that they were glad that they had been present on this occasion, that they were well pleased with the sound sermon they had just heard, and felt their souls greatly blessed. Finally a corpulant gentleman of Teutonic extraction, a stranger to all, arose and broke a silence that was most painful, as follows.

'Mister Breacher. I ish so glad I vash here to night, for I has had explained to my min't some tings I never could belief pefore. We reat, Mister Breacher, that Taniel vas cast into the ten of lions, and came out alife! Now I neber could pelief datt for the wild peasts would shust eat him up right off; put now it ish ferry clear to my min't he vash shust close py, or near to, and tid not get into de ten at all. O, I vash so glad I vash here to night!

Again we reat dat de Hewbrew children vas cast into de firish furnace, and dat air alwaish look't like a peeg story too, for they would have been purnt up; put it ish all plain to my min't now, for they were shust cast close py or neor to de firish furnace. O, I vash so glat I vash here to-night!

And den, Mister Breacher, it ish said dat Jona vas cast into de sea and into de whaleish pelly. Now I never could pelief dat. It seems like a peeg feesh story' put it ish all plain to my min't now, he vash not taken into de whaleish pelly at all, put shust shumped onto his pack and rode ashore. O, I vash so glat I vash here to-night!

And now Mister Breacher, if you will shust exblain two more bashages of Seributures I shall be, O, happy, dat I vash here to-night! One of them is vere it saish de vicked shall pe cast into a lake dat purns vith fire and primshone alvays. O! Mister Breacher shall I pe cast into dat lake, if I am vicked, or shust close py or near to shust near enough to be comfortable? O, I hopes you tell me I shall pe cast shust py a goot vay off, and I vill pe so glat I vash here to-night. The other bassages is that which saish plessed are dey who do dese commandments, dat dey may have right to the tree of life and enter through the gates into the city: O! tell me I shall gets into the city and not shust close py or near to shut near enough to see vat I have lost, and I shall pe so glat I vas here to-night.

Long ago Spallanzani discovered that bats which had their eyes put out were able, nevertheless, when allowed to fly about in a room, to avoid threads stretched across it. This faculty he attributed to some highly developed sense of touch possessed by the wing. Dr. Scholl has repeated these experiments; but for the putting out of the eyes he has substituted the less painful method of covering them with sticking-plaster. He has kept bats thus treated, for a year alive in his room, and has confirmed Spallanzani's results.

It is officially reported that there are over 19,000 miles of highway in Massachusetts, and not more than 1,258 miles of railroad.

Miscellaneous News.

An "honest" conductor in Philadelphia sports a $1,000 diamond pin.

The average price of a good horse in Los Angeles, California, $12.

Hartford, Conn., claims to be the wealthiest city of its size in the United States.

In what circumstances is a woman that wears stays? Straightened circumstances.

A bird of ill omen—A swallow of brandy.

Can a man eating dates be said to consume time?

The last cup of the frolic is generally the hic-cup.

Can a ship with two owners be called a partnership?

Warning to a bald head—'Death loves a shining mark.'

A 'free agent'—One who goes off with his employer's money.

The man who 'could'nt find his match,' went to bed in the dark.

What is that which must play before it can work? A fire engine.

The editor of the Elkhart Review had a clover root shown him which measured six feet.

Why is a divinity easier than the profession of physician? Because it is easier to preach than practice.

'Well, there is someting in that!' as the old man said when he tried to put his boot on with a kitten in it.

Don't let your cattle stray; they often wander into mysterious places; we once saw a cowhide in a shoemaker's shop.

[illegible] was a philosopher who, when she lost her husband, said she had one great consolation—she knew where he was o'nights.

Statistics prove that a handsome widow has three chances for marriage to a maiden's one.

A Frenchman who claims to know says artificial will melt with less rapidity than natural ice.

A crazy spiritualist at Warren, Ill., has deliberately starved himself to death, believing he will rise again in six days.

New Orleans papers say that hundreds of young men thrown out of employment in that city are booked for New York.

The ramie plant promises to supersede cotton in Louisiana. It makes a cloth superior to both cotton and flax.

There landed in Canada last year 66,-019 emmigrants, of whom 42,000 afterwards left for the United States.

George Stanley, who murdered William Patterson, near Ames, last June, has been sentenced to be hung on the 21st of June next.

Don't let your cattle stray; they often wander to the most mysterious places; we once saw a cow-hide in a shoemaker's shop.

A young lady who was perfectly thunderstruck at hearing of her friend's engagement, has since been provided with a lightning-rod.

'Grandma,' said a shrewd child, 'do you want some candy?' 'Yes, dear, I should like some.' 'Then if you'll buy some, I'll give you half,' said Polly.

'Well, what is it that causes the saltness of the water of the ocean?' inquired a teacher of a bright little boy. 'The codfish,' replied the little original.

Josh Billings says flies have a big apetight for getting into things; they are the fust at the dinner table, and alwuz take soup, and don't leave until the cloth is removed.

'Are the jury agreed? asked a Judge of a court attache, whom he met on the stairs with a bucket in his hand. 'Yes,' replied pateric; 'they have agree to send out for a half gallon."

The Medical Gazette suggests an inquiry whether the common practice of chewing tobacco in lead foil may not account for some of the unmerous cases of lead poisoning not traced to any recognized source.

A statistician states that Cincinnati drinks more beer than St. Louis, St. Louis more wine than Cincinnati, and Chicago more whisky than both of them put together.

A young lady at Portland, Maine, has been in a trance for seven days, and the physicians of that town are quarreling over the matter of her being conscious or unconscious.

An exchange mentions a case beyond the ordinary oculists. It is that of a young lady who, instead of a common pupil, has a college student in her eye.

A Westerm farmer has discovered that sweet oil will cure the bite of a rattlesnake. He fails, however, to state whether we should apply it as the Irishman did his whisky' or place it on the bite.

Some music teacher once wrote that the 'art of playing the violin requires the nicest preception and the most scince of any art in the known world.' Upon which an editor comments; 'The art of publishing a newspaper, and making it pay, and at the same time making it please everybody, beats fiddling higher than a kite.'

J. A. Stober, of Peoria, had some catfish in a rain water hogshead last fall, and the cold weather of the last winter froze it solid. The unfortunate fish could be seen stark and stiff, scattered about in the clear ice like raisins in a cake, until this spring when the water thawed out and they began active life again where they left off in December.

In some parts of Germany there exists a law which runs thus: 'Any person drinking in an alehouse on Sunday, or other holidays, may legally depart without paying.'

The Courier.

AUBURN IND. JUNE, 1, 1871

RADICAL papers are about announcing the removal of the Government to Long Branch. Presidents, intransite, should be transferred to that quarter.

THE recent census of London shows that the population of that city is in round numbers about three million five hundred thousand.

THE Cleveland Herald reports that Brick Pomeroy will soon marry a divorced lady in that city. His wife obtained her divorce for "incompatibility of temper," but could have assigned uglier reasons if necessary. We always thought there was a woman in the case—"incompatibility of temper" be bothered.

A CERTAIN Radical Editor, sings peans of joy over the fact that a Republican Congress removed the tax on jackasses! The trouble was, that under the former rule, the whole batch of Radical Congressmen, and Grant to boot, were liable to be taxed under the U. S. License Laws as they formerly stood.

THE case of Milligan, of Son's of Liberty fame, against the Military Commission that sentenced him to be executed for treason, is now engaging the attention of the court at Indianapolis. We predict that Milligan will find out that his former trial and conviction was in accordance with the laws of the land.

WHEN Prince Arthur was born his god-father, the Duke of Wellington presented him with a casket which was was not to be opened until his twenty-first birth-day. The Prince attained his majority on the first of the present month, but the anxious world on this side of the Atlantic has not yet been made acquainted with the mystery which was doubtless revealed on that day.

A LATE newspaper, in summing up the virtue of a deceased soap-boiler, concluded his eulogy with the usual phrase, "peace to the ashes. The next day the editor was waited on by "a friend of the family," who threatened to "pound thunder out of him" unless he made a retraction. The reference to his friend's ashes they look upon as a personal reflection, and what's more, they mean to treat it as such.

THE New York Democrat has had to say in response to a certain theory "This theory that man is a descendant from the monkey may be all right to talk about, but if the monkeys have been watching the party which is in power for the past few years, they would be justified in committing suicide. It's a serious charge to bring against a monkey that tries to be good.

LEGALZIED prostitution appears to pay in St Louis. The Times says that during the nine months the law has been in force the Clerk of the Board of Health has paid into the city treasury $28,669, derived from the enforcement of the rules. Deducting the expenses of the Board of Health for entire year and there is left a balance of nearly $12,000. It is estimated that the returns from this source of revenue for the year will not fall short of $40,000.

Kentucky Radicalism.

The Republicans of "Old Kentucky" have placed in nomination for the office of Governor Hon. John M. Harlan, once a leading Know-Nothing, then a Proslavery Democrat, subsequently a McClellanite, thereupon a third party man, and now a full-fledged Radical. Mr. William Krippenstappel, of the Louisville Volksblatt; was nominated for Auditor of State, to catch the German vote.

FROM the Stark County Ledger we clip the following, :

It is said by those who have tried it, that a few stalks of buckwheat growing in each hill of potatoes, will prove an effectual preventative against potato bugs, and entirely protect the crop from their depredations. We advise our farmers, one and all, to try it. We understand also that stalks of the same grain growing in cucumber and melon hills will protect them from the bugs that sometimes fearfully injure them. This receipt is a cheap and easily tried remedy, and we again advise our garduers and farmers to try it.

THE Radical party talk of boasted intelligence, put the general opinion at home and abroad is that John Bull got the better of it in the late treaty. This obsequiousness of Radical leaders to British influence has long been a remarkable fact, but in no instance has it taken such decided coloring as in the Washinton treaty. It would, perhaps, have been equally as manly, if our Jointers had submitted to the first claim made by her Majesty's representatives and stood the champagne, and have done with subsequent pretensions, which, it seems, led to nothing. Here will be another political issue, which the cry of traitors and copperhead will not in the least effect. Things are working

It is stated that since the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Railroad has been in the hands of the Receiver it has earned $20,000 more than in the corresponding time last year.

THE German Reichstag has approved a supplementary clause to the postal treaty between America and Germany, under which letters will henceforward be forwarded to and from America at the rate of 2 1-2 groschen (about 5 cents).

Serious Illness of the Vice President.

During the session of the Senate on Monday, Vice-President Colfax was attacked with paralysis, and was conduct- from the Senate Chamber to his room in the capitol where he remained all night. He will probably fully recover

THE beautiful weather is producing flowers and spring fashions. It is difficult to tell which looks the most blooming. By a flower a tale of a flirting spirit is often related; by the fashions worn, the bent of a young ladies' mind may be predicted.

A Virginia editor having notified correspondents that all communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the full name of the writer, received one from a lady who signs her own full name, to wit: Ann Matilda Sophia Electra Dolly Ann Potter Bell.

THE rage for amending State Constitutions reflects itself even from the Pacific, it being proposed in California to put before the people amendments inhibiting municipal subscriptions to railroads, and to forbid the aggregation of more than a given qualitity of land in the same hands.

THE Kentucky Radicals, in State Convention last week, adopted a platform in favor of general amnesty. The sentiments of the Kentucky Rads don't agree with the majority in Congress. The principles of the Radical party are as changeable as locality itself. In Indiana, Massachusetts and all other Radical States in the north it favors proscription. Consistency, you know.

THE streets of Paris are the scene of the most sanguinary strife, and barricades and buildings are defeated by the Communists with the most desperate energy. The palace of the Tuileries famous as the residence of the Emperors and Kings of France, is burned to the ground. The splendid Hotel de Ville is also burned. Fires are raging in various parts of Paris, and sanguinary struggles are everywhere going forward. Perhaps even that remarkable city never before witnessed such bloody and terrible scenes as are now being enacted. No one can estimate the number of the killed or the vast extent of the loss incurred. What terrible closing up of an unnecessary war.

Probable Termination of the French Troubles.

A special dispatch from Paris says that seventy thousand Versaillists have entered the city, meeting with but little resistence. The barricades were not defended. No mines were exploded. The Versaillites were moving on Hotel de Ville, where the communists will make their last stand. The Versaillists behaved splendidly, committing no excesses.

A conflagration was raging near the Invalides, and the insurgents' battery on Montmartre was cannonading the city. Gen. Lamirault telegraphs that everything is satisfactory, and, although the fighting may continue several hours, the city is absolutely won.

Disenthrallment of New York City

The administration of municipal affairs in the city of New York, has long been a shame and a disgrace, and the democratic party, though in no wise responsible for the general corruption and official malfeasances which prevailde there has been held accountable therefor by the opposition. The facts in the case are, that some years ago, a republican state legislature passed a law retaining to itself the government of that city, and filled all the important offices, except Mayor and a few others, with persons of their own choosing, and by this means succeded in having a democratic city governed by republican officals.

In last year's election the democrats succeded in getting control of the state government, and they have very commendably overturned the radical ord e of conducting public affairs, remitted the control of the city to the people and put the power and responsibility in the hands of the Mayor. Now is that city ruled by the democrats as well in fact as in name, and as an evdence that the profligacy of radical management has been put an end to, the first act of the new administration was to cut down salaries twenty per cent., and lop off fifty per cent. on appropriations. This result is said to be a saving to the taxpayers of from six to seven millions of dollars per year. The radical papers have, by this wise transfer of authority, lost a rather valuable electioneering card.

ONLY two blast furnaces in Clay county are now in operation.

IT is remarkable that among the host of modern inventions of all kinds, the genius of man should have so long failed in devising some novel method of shuffling off this mortal coil. For centuries the changes have been so persistently rung upon the halter, the bullet, lighted charcoal, "prison," and submersion, that the world seems to have taken it for granted that any improvement upon these methods of making one's exit from this mundane sphere was impossible. But we are at length undeceived. A German blacksmith has just invented a new mode of suicide, the idea being an extremely ingenious one, and very simple withal. The instrument of self-destruction is a bomb-shell, so small that it can be introduced in the mouth, when it is fired by means of an electric wire. It is needless to say that when the operation is successfully preformed the suicide losses head. The invention is a charming one, and can hardly fail of becoming very popular. Country orders supplied.

MR. SEELEY's recent motion in the House of Commons to establish penny postage between England and the United States did not succeed precisely as the author desired, but it drew from Mr. Gladstone the assurance that he favors a reduction in the present rates, and [illegible] resolution recommending the government to enter into communication with the United States postal authorities on the subject of such reduction. That at first the reduction would increase the expenses of the Post-office Department both in England and in this country is very probable, but experience has shown that in the end cheap postage has proved more remunerative to the post-office than the dear rates which pevent poor and economical people from sending letters. Moreover, the post-office is not intended to be a source of revenue but for the convenience would be greatly served by penny ocean postage needs no argument.

ROBBING POST OFFICES.—Within the last few days there have been many bold robberies of post offices in this State. No very large hauls have been made by the robbers, but the perseverance with which they have prosecuted their unlawful enterprise shows them not to be discouraged. The latest robbery reported was at Pontiac Wednesday night. Efforts have been made to break up the burglaries by capturing the gang, but without any, flattering success thus far. Friday two men named John McCarthy and Thomas Calvert were taken to Detroit from Milford, charged with committing burglary and stealing letters from the post office at Walled Lake, Oakland county. Whether they are members of the gang or not, remains to be seen when the examination shall take place hereafter. They gave security to appear for examination.—Jackson Patriot.

SOME of the leading Southern journals maintain that, since the close of the war, the great problem of white labor in the South has been satisfactorily solved, and it has been found that white men can work on plantations and make good crops, without suffering any more from the climate or fevers than the negroes do. Thus the popular fallacy that they could never stand the swamps, the miasma, the heat, and all the drawbacks of plantation life attendant upon laboring in the field, is at length exploded, says the New Orleans Commercial Bullettin, and there is no reason in the world why we should not have the tenantry system, with its small farms, worked by white labor, instead of the present cumbersome, expensive and uncertain one of large plantations and black labor. If the State was rapidly filled up with white emigrants, its prosperity would soon make rapid strides.—Sentinel.

ADVICE from Ringgold Barracks, Texas, say the neither that state nor the General Governmet is protecting the interests of the peopleon the Mexican border. Armed Mexicans in large bands cross at pleasure and drive away the cattle of the settlers, and no resistance is offered. Similar reports come from other points on the border. The people complain if this, but they should remember that that Gen Grant is still spending a vast amount of money, for an economical Administration, in keeping ships of war at San Domingo to protect the interests of Baez, and that there must be some limit to the expenditure of the public funds. Probably Grant thinks that American citizens ought to be able to protect themselves.

HOW TO WASH LACE.—The first thing to remember is that lace, and all such fine materials, should be washed in hot, soft water. Well soap them, and squeeze and shake, but on no account rub them. Repeat the squeezing and shaking out again until they are clean. Rinse them in some more clean, hot water, and well soap them again, and put them into a saucepan, with enough hot water to cover them. Soft water is best, but if that can not be procured, add a piece of soda—say a quarter of an ounce to half a gallon of water. Boil for half an hour. Then wash them out again and rinse in cold blue water. Hang them on a clothes-horse to dry, when they can be starched. Lastly, roll them up in a dry cloth for two hours, by which time they will be fit to iron.

AN idea of the terrible work at Paris may be received from the following paragraph, taken from a recent dispatch: "Hrror is heaped upon horror. The streets of Paris run with blood. The torn and mangled bodies of the sons of Farnce, slain by their own count rymen, are strewn in every direction; but still the order "en avant" is heard, and as platoon after platoon is moved down, others fill their places and push on to that what is to be victory, but one bought at a terrible sacrifice."

A Thrilling Scene

From the Huntington, Indiana, Herald.

The pavilion of Van Amburgh's menagerie was the scene of a most exciting event, last Thursday afternoon. Part of the entertainment is the entrance into a cage of lions by a tensguided gentleman in tight and spangles. In consequence of the illness of the regular preformer, a new lion-tamer was called in. As per advertisement he entered the den, and his reception was very unlike that of the Scriptural Daniel. The tactic of his predecessors had been to keep the animals apart as they were habitually in their cages. This gentleman, however, suffered the four to get together, and they turned upon and assaulted him, with fearful roars. There were two lions and two lionesses, all full grown, and as they rushed upon him with flashing eyes, striking at him with their heavy paws, and snapping and snarling, the scene was a frightful one. The large audience, consisting of men, women and children rose to their feet, and with low cries of horror and blanched countenances, gazed upon the awful spectacle of a fellow-mortal cooped up in a small cage, and engaged in a desperate struggle for life with four powerful lions. The enraged beast bounded against and bent the slender bars of the cage, and continued to snap and strike at the frightened man, who strove to get at his pistol, and failing was fain to beat them back with the loaded butt of his whip. He cried lustily for help which speedily came. Iron bars were thrust into the cage to impede the movements of the lions, a little door was opened near the floor, and the tamed lion-tamer backed out through it with more regard to speed than grace. He was scraped on the side, arm and breast by the lions, but his injuries, we hope, were slight. The lions fought among themselves for a little while, but fresh beef being thrown into them, they soon stopped, and were finally separated by the iron grates which divide the cage into two compartments.

IN accordance with a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Editors' and Publishers' Association of the Tenth and Eleventh Districts, the undersigned announce the following programme for the evening session:

SPEECHES, ESSAYS, &C.

1. Introductory remarks by the President.

1. "Courtesy among Journalists," by John D. Devor, of the LaGrange Standard.

"City vs. County Papers:" by Gen. Reub Williams. of the Warsaw Indianian.

4. "The Advance System;" Dr. E. F. Thomas, of the Winamac Democrat.

5. "Independent Journalism; by H. E. Wadsworth, of the Laporte Argus.

6. "Short settlements;" by C. Powell, of the LaPorte Herald.

7. Poem; by Mrs Emma Molloy.

It is respectfully recommended that not more than fifteen minutes be devoted to the discussion of any one subject.

By direction of the Association.

J. B. STOLL, Pres't.

VALLANDIGHAM'S "forward movement" resolutions are causing a great deal of excitement in political circles, A bold strike in the right direction, by a sagacious leader. Let dead past bury its dead.

That you believe you have a call to preach is all very well as far as it goes," said an old doctor of divinity to a theological student; "but," he added, 'we must wait, and see whether the people think they have a call to hear you."

SENATOR MORTON and Sherman are on the wrong track, in trying to bolster up the President. He is not a political necessity. He is played out, and must not be thought of as a candidate for re-election. The thing to do with him is to shove him upon a side track.—Cincinati commercial

A Kansas "billiard saloon" uses a home-made table—a large goods box, on which was laid a wagon-load of sandstone, covered with eight yards of blue jeans. For pockets they used old boots, about No. 10; for cues broken hoe-handles; boiled eggs for balls; and to count this lovely game they used dried apples on a clothes line.

LAST Sunday, while Squire Justice was instructing his Sabbath School class he asked: "What becomes of liars?" A dead silence ensued for a few minutes when a smart little boy brightened up with the remark, "I know." "Well give us the answer?" "They are sent down South at the expense of the Goverment to write Ku-Klux lies for the Republican papers," was the triumphant response.—New Lisbon Patriot.

A case of pocket-picking has occurred in the Sandwich Islands, the first on record! A native was detected in putting his hand into the pocket of a woman in a crowd and abstracting her purse. He was captured at once, and the first Hawaiian pickpocket was sentenced to six months imprisonment at hard labor. This is the first case of stealing from the person ever known to have occurred on those happy isles of he sea.

ONE of the remarkable characteristics of Washington under Radical rule, is the fact that nobody, from the highest to the lowest public functionary, can keep a secret. It is much the same with public money which comes into the hands of public officials. The greater part of it "leaks out" long before it reaches the public treasury. The cause of both is loose morals and loose honesty, encouraged by the general looseness of our Jacobin rulers.

THEY who are eminently successful in business, or who achieve greatness, of even notoriety, in any pursuit, must expect to make enemies. So prone to selfishness, to pretty jealousies, to sordid envy, is poor human nature that whoever becomes distinguished is sure to be a mark for the malicious spite of those who, not deserving success themselves, are goaded by the merited triumph of others.

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILD & BRO.

Iowa, Nebraska, California, Kansas, and the B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The Eastern Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. Its central point is Burlington, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing the Missouri, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slope. Over-land travel and trade choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa, now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

SONG ECHO OF FIFTY DOLLARS

A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, $7.50 per dozen. Contains over one hundred new and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Webster, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 45c. Liberal terms for introduction.

WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 40 cents. Four back numbers for 75 cts.

Address, J. L. PETERS,

April 7, 2-m. 599 Broadway, New York

DANIEL VOLLMER,

PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST

Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.,

FORT WAYNE IND'A.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorus and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron. This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system. The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or $40.00, Per Set Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors. 40 full page Steel Engrvings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. 1. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. 11. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. 111 American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. 1V. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 1 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.,

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply as address.

American Publishing Co.

RUTLAND VT.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs.

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.

31 & 33 VESEY STREET,

P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers. Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abscesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States.

Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Thea - Nectar

IS A PURE

BLACK TEA

with the Green Tea Flavor Warranted to suit all tastes For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

WANTED AGENTS [$20 per day] to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under feed, makes the 'lock stitch' [alike on both sides] and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the Market. Address JOHNSON CLARK & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, Cincinnati Ohio.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1. Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. PATTEN, Treas. Springfield, Mass.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, he advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

e mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

e desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. e buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 sents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin. 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20, cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $2.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25, 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, lacec laces in great varitey, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 20, '71.

It has the delicate and refreshing fragrance of genuine Farina Cologne Water, and is indispensable to the Toilet of every Lady or Gentleman. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in PERFUMERY.

COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.

$288 IN 16 DAYS

Made by one Agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Lines to last forever; Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 18 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St, N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNGS Disease. HOARSNESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.

CAUTION Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Wells' Carbolic Tablets.

JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent.

Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries, Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Root & Company IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

Popular Dry Goods House

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do them selves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., ets.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 2d 1 y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Oppoisite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated

JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Oppsite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need,

FOR CASH OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselve to be indebted to him, either by note or account come and settle, as he is determined to collect, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.

Feb. 2 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months, and the particular district requiring such excuse. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expect to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully. W. M. McINTOSH.

The Auburn Courier
OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

Business is improving.

Not much sickness at present.

Newly planted corn looks well.

[illegible] is going to leave town. Shake.

The Sabbath Schools here are well attended,

A splendid shower Monday afternoon left the face of Nature radiant with smiles.

Reports from Paris, dated 20, say the cannonade still continues.

Carpenters, joiners, painters, and in fact all other mechanics are kept quite busy now.

There are no hogs running at large at present. The law is being strictly enforced.

Quite a number of shade trees have been set out in town this spring. Worthy of emulation.

Shall we have a Fourth of July celebration at this place? If so, arrangements should be made at once.

The boy who undertook to ride a horse radish is now practicing on a saddle of mutton.

The editor who publishes a newspaper that made nobody mad, has been dead many years. He had no descendants.

Marshal Penny we notice is doing good work with a large number of men and teams on the streets.

A young lady, named Flickinger, from Stafford Tp., is now in the custody of sheriff Plum, waiting for admission to the Insane Asylum.

Don't forget that we have, at the Courier office, the material with which to do all kinds of job printing at low prices, neatly and cheaply.

A Bachelor's Association in Detroit has sworn its members not to commit matrimony save with $20,000 and a brick house.

The blind negro who voted the Republican ticket at the last election, in Fort Wayne, has left for a permanent location at Kendallville.

There were several very bad boys at church Sunday night. They will find breakers if they repeat their disturbances many more times.

Seven physicians in our town. How's that for high? As they are all good ones, we 'spect this may be considered a healthy locality.

Every firm that does any business at all, should have printed letter heads and bill heads, and in order to get a neat job, have them printed at the Courier office.

Happiness.—Help others, and you relieve yourself. Go out and drive away the cloud from that distressed friend's brow, and you will return with a lighter heart.

From the number of new buildings now being erected and those to be built this year, our mechanics are kept very busy at work. We have room for more and hope they will come.

The editor has not returned from Ohio yet, and it is useless for us to say, that things have changed in the local department "since he's been gone."

Two dollars will pay for the Courier one year, and in it you will get more reading matter than you can buy in any other shape for the same amount of money.

Young America's first letter to his anxious maternal relative: "My dear mother be virtuous and you will happy, but if you are you will miss a derned sight of fun.'

Farmer's should be careful in hitching their teams. Carelessness in this particular came near resulting in a smashed wagon, last Tuesday.

A man who would take a newspaper for a length of time and send it back refused and unpaid for, would swallow a blind dog's dinner, and then stone the dog for being blind.

A friend of ours has found out a new way to "beat" the potato bugs. He plants his potatoes so deep they won't come up until next January, and then when the bugs go to breakfast they'll freeze their feet.

A man in our town the other day refused to buy butter of a farmer, because the latter put his surplus salt in the butter instead of the cow. This may be salted down for reference.

L. H. Milligan, whose trial has been going on at Indianapolis, for the last two weeks, resulted in favor of the plaintiff and against those radicals who leagued together to have him hung.

Base Ball.—The KeKiongas were beaten by the Forest City of Rockford, on Tuesday last, by a score of 17 to 13. At the close of the ninth inning, the score was a tie. On the tenth inning, the KeKiongas were whitewashed, and the Rockfords made four.

"It is a sad moment in life," said a Cynic, "when you find that love, glory, happiness, are, altogether, not worth a good cigar." "It is a sadder moment still" replied [illegible], "when you find that the cigar itself is bad."

It is quite noticeable that our ladies are becoming more and more extravagant in their dress. It must be no trifling expense to "fit out" a fashionable belle with Grecian bend and other appendages.

The Communists in Paris are about "played out," and the Versaillists have control of about three-fourths of the City. Bloody scenes have ensued lately, and many promint officers and individuals have been shot.

The Mishawaka Enterprise says a fellow in that place mistook and ate a dish rag for a piece of codfish, and only found his mistake the next morning on finding the codfish untouched and the dish rag missing.

Wool is coming to town pretty briskly. Lauferty and Gross became excited a few days ago and run the price to fifty cents per pound.

The Flouring and Saw Mills, Woolen Factory, Stave Factory, Shingle Factory, Planing Mills, Berry's Machine Shops &c., have been doing a good business this week

Query.—If the junction of the Saginaw and Eel River R. R.'s, at a point one mile from this place, will be damaging to Auburn, what effect will it have on our suburban village six miles distant.

A western editor who doesn't know much about farming any how, suggested that for garden-making, a cast iron back with a hinge in it, would be an improvement on the spinal column now in use.

In every town the size of this there are a set of men that can best be described by calling them "pull backs." They are invariably opposed to any advance movement. They can't help it. Auburn has a few of that kind.

Some of our merchants complain of dull times. A free use of printer's ink would we believe remedy the evil to a great extent. It won't cost much to try the experiment any way, and we advise them to be up and doing, if they don't want to see their trade depart.

A Bill has lately passed the New York legislature making it a misdemeanor for boys to jump on railroad trains, either passenger or freight.—Ex.

Indiana should have such a law, and then the people ought to see it rigidly enforced.

Fifteen hundred bushels of grain was received at the grain house, of the Saginaw road, in one day, about two weeks ago, the very day that that man, south of Auburn, took his a horse back to Waterloo. The reason he went to Waterloo was that he owed every wheat buyer in Auburn.

Let it be remembered, that Auburn has the best and most convenient wheat house in the county, that no one has ever found fault with Mr. Thomas' weighing—that our buyers do not go it on tick, nor borrow money of farmers at 15 to 20 per cent.

Logansport has seventy-three liquors saloons; sixty-three of which are selling tickets to the infernal regions without being licensed expressly for that purpose. The other ten have procured license and are now engaged in sending souls to hell by special permit.

Farmers should exercise great care in attending to their horses in hot weather. Never hitch a horse up in the stable unless he is cool, and then let him trot around a while first. Never water a horse at a well that has gone dry while he is sweating, as it is liable to throw him into a perspiration and may wet the harness.

Side Walks.—Nothing adds so much to the attractiveness or convenience of a town as nice, wide sidewalks kept in good condition. Auburn has made admirable progress in this direction within the past year, and many of its streets now have sidewalks as good, and many of them better, than the average walks in cities.

"Why don't you trade with me?" said a tradesman to a friend the other day.

The reply was characteristic: "You have never asked me to, sir; I have looked through all the papers for an invitation in the shape of an advertisement, and I never yet have found one. I never go where I am not invited.

That man was sensible. Don't intrude on the man who is too selfish to invite you to call and see his goods.

It does one good to "stroll around" occasionally, and note the improvements going on. New buildings going up, old ones being rejuvenated, lawns trimmed and beautified, homes made pretty outside, and hearts thereby made happy inside, seem to be the general order. The merchants are rolling in piles of staple and fancy goods; the clerks look smiling and happy, with the trade mark of business on their brows, and everything seems thriving and prosperous.

Sour Grapes.—Now that our friends in the north part of the township just begin to realize the importance of the Saginaw Railroad, thereby securing the Eel River road to a point six miles from them, with all the benefits incident thereto, we would ask if they would not like to blot out the history they made against the railroad tax last year—103 majority "No appropriation?" And how did they vote on the Eel River appropriation?—the very thing they think so much of now. For consistency sake we hope they will not now publish so much on the unconstitutionalty of the R. R. aid law, but will advise their friends to pay the tax. When you have a "soft thing" don't throw cold water on it.

Parents cannot be too careful about allowing their children to eat unripe fruit which will soon be plenty, and which is, beyond doubt, so tempting to the little fellows. And it is particularly dangerous, after eating green trash, to drink heartily of water. Children are all alike in this respect, and it behooves parents and those who have charge of children to exercise a great deal of firmness and judgment in regard to what they should eat during hot weather. Physicians say that much sickness prevalent among children is caused by this lack of judgment or care on the part of parents and guardians.

Young women, you don't know how much influence you have over young men If you would labor earnestly, we should not have so many dissipated young men in our land. Do not let them fill the drunkard's grave. I suppose you will say "I am not to blame; I don't believe we have anything to do with young men's getting drunk." Think a moment. Did you ever do anything to prevent them? Did you ever go with a young man when he had been drinking a little? "I believe so" Well did you think so much of him as you did before he drank? "No." You did not let him know it did you? "No." You should have said to him: If you drink, I will not go with you any more." You might have saved him from the drunkard's grave. Will you say to the young man who is attentive to you, that you do not mean to go with a young man who drinks one drop of liquor? He may shun you for a few days, but he will think of it, and will make up his mind that you are right; for what woman wants a drunken husband.

Eel River R. R.—Work Resumed.

After considerable vexatious delays and other troubles, the work on the Eel River Railroad has been commenced. Messrs. Buhl Quirk & Co., of Detroit and Ypsilanti, Mich., have contracted to build and equip the road from this place west fifty six miles by the first of next January, and residue within one year thereafter. This arrangement was perfected about two weeks ago, and already have they sublet the entire work, placed engineers on the route, and on Monday, of this week, set to work about twenty-five men at this place and about fifty at Columbia City, working this way

Messrs. Cook Ott & Co., have the work from Columbia City to Cherubusco, and Mansfield & Scanlan the balance to this place. In ninety days track laying is expected to commence, at this place and Columbia City.

The office of the Contractors is in Mr. Ensley's building, opposite the north side of public square.

Anybody can soil the reputation of any individual, however pure and chaste, by uttering a suspicion that his enemies will believe, and his friends never hear of. A puff of the idle wind can take a million of the seeds of the thistle, and do a work of mischief which the husbandman must labor long to undo, the particles being too fine to be seen, and too light to be stopped Such are the seeds of slander, so early sown, so difficult to be gathered up, and yet so pernicious in their fruits. The slanderers knows that many a wind will catch up the plague, and become poisoned by his insinuations, without ever seeking the antidote. No reputation can refute a sneer, or any human skill prevent mischief.

J. S. Ferdon, Esq., informs us that he has located in Auburn, DeKalb County, where he will engage in the furniture business. Mr. F., during his stay with us, made some warm friends whose best wishes go with him. He is a live man, meaning "business" in whatever he undertakes. With a liberal use of printers ink, fair dealing with all and a strict attention to business, he prospered here and will do the same in his new location.—Steuben Republican.

From a short acquaintance with Ferdon we can heartily endorse the above. Already he has received two car loads of furniture, and without detracting from other simular houses, will say that his furniture is equal, if not superior, to any in Northeastern Indiana. Our people should give him a call, and look at his goods if they do not buy.

The Weather.—Within ten days we have had every kind ever described in the almanacs. Snow, (east and west of us,) cold rains, clouds and a little sunshine—regular ague-inviting, health-disturbing, unpleasant-to-be-outside weather. Meantime, the onion vines and the turnip trees don't grow with a rush. Those who started out "airy in the season, to sit on the dry goods boxes, whittle shingles, talk politics and look at the spring fashions, have had to abandon the business, and search for more genial quarters. Young ladies have stopped writing poetry about the rosies and the posies, and the balmy springs, and the lovely face of "nachure," while young men who like their tods have ceased to have "ice in theirn," and taken to light overcoats like kittens to warm milk. As Ed'ards says: "Goot crashus alife, vot a goontry."

The Local Paper is an absolute necessity to the county and community where it is published. All the city papers cannot supply the place of the home paper. That should be the first love of every man and woman for with the paper is the locality identified. The paper gives the county and town where printed much of their importance in the world, and gives in detail the local news, which cannot be gained by any other source. Every day's issue of the paper is so much local history; the rise, growth and development of the town and county can be measured and recorded only by the local newspaper that constantly is gathering its items. People do not properly appreciate their home newspapers They measure the value of a paper too much by the number of columns. The home paper at any price is the cheapest paper one can take, for in it is found the formation to be obtained from no other scource.

The Potato Bug.—The supply of potato bugs last year were plentiful enough, but the prospects are that the crop of the present season will surpass that of last largely. The potato bug seems to be noted for two leading traits of character—an appetite for potato vines and sagacity enough to avoid the blighting effects of cold weather. A gentleman of our acquaintance, this spring, found a large nest of these bugs, comfortably burrowed just below "low frost l" mark, and as vigorous and lively as in the sunniest summer weather. They have made their appearance in great numbers in all parts of the State, and one "prominent potato bug observer" says that for every thousand potato bugs last year, one million will appear this. He recently went out on a piece of ground planted to potatoes, and found millions of bugs roosting on the fences, sleeping on the ground and sparking in couples, waiting for the vines to come up. They spend their time in whetting their teeth, and holding mass meeting to denounce the use of Paris green. Paris green as an antidote may be considered good, but the most reliable method of disposing of potato bugs is to boil them, occasionally, in oil.

The new bogus five cent nickel, of which there is a great number in circulation, can be detected by an inspection of the motto, 'In God We Trust,' which is much larger on the counterfeit than on the genuine.—The yellow color of the counterfeit, caused by the presence of zinc, is also noticeable.

When Pilcher was harranging about his father having been a poor man—his father was a cooper etc., Marshal said 'that the gentleman's father was a poor man, perhaps he had been a cooper, but if he was he put a mighty poor head in one of his whisky barrels.'

Clergyman's wife, who takes great interest in her industrial school,—'Jane Brown, I'm sorry to hear, from your mistress that you are not diligent at your needlework. Now you know who it is that 'finds work for idle hands to do?' Jane Brown (artfully thinking to propitiate) 'If you please, 'm, yeou do, 'm!'

Fashions.

The wearers of point-lace shawls should appreciate them. They are the result of two years' steady labor of two hundred women.

Grenadines, organdies, and muslins over colored silk skirts, will be the costumes of the season.

Crepe hair is becoming unfashionable. Ladies allege that it ruins the hair, as does all kinds of false hirsute. They absorb the life of the real hair, causing it to decay and fall out. If this be the case most of our young ladies will be scudding under bald pates soon.

The most prevailing fashion is that of sitting around in the shade.

The latest new style of parasol this week has a perfume bottle in the handle.

Sailor's hats are more preferred by the young ladies than the English turbans.—The latter is claimed to be too warm.

A new style collar for ladies is of white linen, standing up at the back and turned over at the front—like a man's.

ITEMS.

A Boston paper apologizes to a worthy Archbishop because the types made it call him miserable instead of venerable, as it intended.

The poor Indians are becoming civilized. Five of the wives of Cut-over-the-top chief of Kansas tribe, have applied for divorces.

A careless patent examiner, the other day, certified a stray copy of Mr. Greeley's autograph, as a draft of a patentable improvement in subsoil plows.

A Judge in Texas told a murderer the other day, 'You have been tried and convicted of killing your wife with an axe, and you ought to have been ashamed of yourself.'

Teacher—'Tommy, what does h-a-i-r spell?' Apt Pupil—'Dunno, sir.' Teacher—'Why, you numskull, what have you got on your head?' Apt Pupil—'I dunno sir, but I think it bees a flea!'

There is only one stimulant that never fails, and yet never intoxicates—duty. Duty puts a blue sky over every man—up in his heart, may be—into which the sky lark, happiness, always goes singing.

A Sacramento paper reports that, recently, six Chinamen were seen in a hairdresser's, negotiating for the sale of their 'tails,' which were finally purchased at the rate of $2 each, to be manufactured into ladies' 'switches.'

When a man puts his foot on the hammer of a rifle and looks down the barrel to see if it is loaded, and the coroner soon after finds the principal part of the man's head distributed around the ceiling, it is will safe to assume that the rifle was loaded.

The following 'notis' is posted up in te Rittersville (Pa.) Hotel. The writer don't belive in printers: 'See here A New Weal right Shop is Built in north end of Bethlehem. I invite all men to Come and see I Will Attend Promptly to it to Making it old and New wagons as cheap as Any Body Els.'

MARRIAGES.

HIXON—KNOTT—May 23d at the residence of the brides father by the Rev. Mr. Winans, Mr. Bennet Hixon and Miss Sarah E. Knott, all of Butler Township.

SHEETS—SWIHART—At the M. E. Parsonage, Sabbath May 28th, by Rev. A. W. Lamport, Mr. Hulbert L. Sheets to Miss Rebecca S. Swihart, all of this county. No cake.

The First in the Field.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. Rothschilds & Bro.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	125 @ 130
" Red	125
Oats	45
Rye	60
Corn	45
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	8c
Dry	30c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	[illegible]
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

STATE OF INDIANA }
DeKalb County. }

In the Common Pleas Court, September term 1871

Bernard Trentman,
August Trentman,
vs
Horatio W. McKinney. } Complaint.

Now comes D. D. Moody and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, Horatio W, McKinney is not a resident of the State of Indiana,

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of September, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said court affixed at Auburn, this 25 day of May A. D. 1871.
J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
F. M. BIDDLE.
April 29, '70:1-y

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Gilbert J. Patterson is Plaintiff and Levi B. Powell is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of eighty-six Dollars and forty three cents, with interest on said Decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder at between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day, at the Court House of DeKalb County, Indiana, the rents and profits, for a term not exceeding seven years, of the following Real Estate to-wit:

Saturday, June 17th A. D. 1871.

The east half of the east half of the North-west quarter of section number twenty-seven [27] in township thirty-four [34] north of range twelve [12 east in DeKalb County, Indiana.

If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said Decree, interest and costs I will, at the same time and place sell the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said Decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.
D. D. Moody, Att'y for Plaintiff.
Auburn, Ind., May 22nd, 1871. $7 25.

Deafness, Catarrh, Scrofula. A lady who had suffered for years from Deafness, Catarrh and Scrofula, was cured by a simple remedy. Her sympathy and gratitude prompt her to send the receipt free of charge to any one similarly afflicted. Address Mrs. C. H. [illegible], Jersey City, N. J.

NOTICE,

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Elizabeth Daily,
Andrew Daily,
vs.
Nancy Klink,
Angeline Klink,
Henry Klink,
Jacob Klink,
Sarah Jane Growcock
James Growcock
Adam Slaughterback &
Cathrine Slaughterback, } Complaint No.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by H. C. Peterson, their Attorney, and files their complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant Angeline Klink, Catharine Slaughterback, and Adam Slaughterback, are not residents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendants that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county, and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 20th day of May, A. D. 1871
J. L. LANNING, Clerk.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want an agent, male or female, in every town in this State, to whom we will pay a salary of from $50 to $200 per month and expenses, and will give a reasonable and honorable employment for at least one year. This is no humbug as any one can ascertain by addressing C. W. Anderson & Co., No 1 & 2 Seitz New Block, Detroit, Mich. No stamp required. No commission agents need apply.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 3, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House to be built of stone and brick; to be 32 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground.

The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871 to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.

I. M. THOMAS Trustee
April 4, 1871.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss.
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.

John E. Short,
vs.
Edward W. Shepard. } Complaint No. 64.

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. Shepard, whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.—

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.
JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,
BUILDING CONTRACTORS!
AND DEALERS IN BUILDING STONE
OF EVERY VARIETY
MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES
IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH-GRANITE.
MANTELS
IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron
MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
MARBLE SLATE and
SANDSTONE, HEARTHS.
SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.
TERRA COTTA O RK,
Vases, Chimney Tops
STONE WATER TABLES,
Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,
SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,
Cement Plaster, &c
Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workman only employed,
SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

The Sun.
CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.
The Dollar Weekly Sun.
A Newspaper of the Present Times.
Intended for People Now on Earth.
Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.
ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.
Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.
SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR,
of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.
THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.
A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.
TERMS TO CLUBS.
THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Four Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Eight Dollars.
Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Fifteen Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-three Dollars.
Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-five Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Fifty Dollars.
One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Sixty Dollars.
THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.
Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Eight Dollars.
Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club), Sixteen Dollars.
SEND YOUR MONEY
in Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address
I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
Sun office, New York City.

NEW system, NEW
GOODS,
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
O. T. CLARK & CO.
Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!
Comprises everything desirable in the line of
Dry Goods
CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions,
And an endless variety of House-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 4, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St, AUBURN, IND.
He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant stocks of Boots and Shoes for
Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
Ever before Exhibited
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE.
IN POINT OF
orkmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DFFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselves.
W. W. HUMES.
April, 4, '70.

500 VOLUMES In One
AGENTS WANTED
FOR
The Library of Poetry and Song.
Being Choice Selections from the Best Poets
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, IRISH AND AMERICAN.
With an Introduction
BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.
Under whose critical supervision the volume was compiled.
The handsomest and cheapest subscription book extant. Over 800 pages, beautifully printed, choicely illustrated, handsomely bound. A library of over 500 volumes in one book, whose contents, of no ephemeral nature or interest, will never grow old or stale. It can be, and will be, read and re-read with pleasure by old and young, as long as its leaves hold together.
"A perfect surprise. Scarcely anything at all a favorite, or at all worthy of place here, is neglected. It is a book for every household."—N. Y. Mail.
"We know of no similar collection in the English language which in copiousness and felicity of selection and arrangement, can at all compare with it."—N. Y. Times,
Terms liberal. Selling very rapidly. Send for Circular and Terms to J. B. FORD & CO, 27 Park Place, N. Y.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded. ly

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, throat, Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint. Should apply in person or by letter to Dr. B. GARD. Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 665, Fort Wayne Ind Jan, 6

Dry Goods. Dry Goods
ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co. 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 25th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully nouncement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in min that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not giv you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next wo weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 5,000 yards of children's palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15½c a yard
ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1,00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of st oc ings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. W hite Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. AYNE, ND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTTES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES.
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS M RKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK CALHOUN ST,
FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO

[illegible]

The True Story of Old Reginald and the Honest Burglar.

Those who do not know me may, perhaps, believe the following story. Those who do know me will not. Still it is quite true:

Reginald was a pleasant old gentleman, with a fine sense of humor. He had considerable property, and lived on Wimbledon Common.

He had one beautiful daughter—but that is not to the point.

One afternoon, as old Reginald was reading books in his drawing room, it was annouced to him that a Common Man desired to speak with him.

He gave orders that the Common Man should be admitted. And admitted the Comman Man was.

He was a very Common Man indeed, a tall, shambling, ill-looking fellow, with an irresolute manner and shrinking eye. He was dressed as costermongers are dressed when following their calling.

'What is your pleasure, good sir?' said Old Reginald.

'Beg pardon guv'nor,' said the Common Man. 'I hope you won't be hard on me.'

'Not at all,' said old Reginald.

'I'm—I'm a burglar,' said the Common Man.

'Indeed!' said Reginald. 'Take a chair.'

'Thank you, kindly guv'nor,' said he 'but I'd rather stand.'

And he did stand.

So far, there is nothing very incredible in my story. But it gets more remarkable as it goes on.

'How do you like your profession?' said Old Reginald.

'Well' guv'nor,' said the Common Man, 'I don't iike it noways, and that's it.'

'That's what?'

'That's why I'm here. I belong to a gang of twelve what's working these parts just now. We crack cribs by turns. It's my turn to-night.'

And the burglar wept like a child.

'This I presume, is remorse,' said Old Reginald.

'No, guv'nor it ain't Remorse,' said the burglar, 'it's Funk.'

'The same thing,' said Reginald

'It ain't the being a burglar that I object to. It's the having to commit burglaries. I like the credit of it, sir; it's the danger I object to.'

'I see'

'Now, by the laws of our gang, we're bound to crack cribs in turn, that is to say, one of us crack the crib, while the other eleven stops outside and gives the office.'

'I thought burglars always worked in twos or threes?' said old Reginald.

'P'r'aps I ought to know best?' suggested the burglar.

'Perhaps you are right. Indeed I am sure you ought. What crib do you propose to crack to-night?'

'This here one.'

'Mine.'

'Oh!

And old Reginald prepared to ring the bell.

'Please don't do that guv'nor. You ain't a going to give me into custody.'

'I think I had better.'

'No, no, guv'nor, don't do that, listen to me first. I ain't going to hurt you. Its my turn to crack your crib to-night now will you help me?'

'I hardly see my way,' said old Reginald, thoughtfully. 'Still, if I can be of any use——'

'Look, here, guv'nor, each member of our gang is bound to get fifty pounds worth of swag from each crib he cracks. If he don't he's shot. Now I see a hansome salver and coffee pot and cream jug as I came in here. wo, might be the value of that handsome salver and coffee pot?'

'The cream jug is electro. The coffee pot, with sugar basin and silver, may be worth five and forty pounds.'

'That is near enough, I'll take'em. Here is a flimsy for fifty quid.'

And he handed old Reginald a bank note for the amount.

Still I don't quite understand——'

'I want you, guv'nor, to be so good as to leave your bedroom window open to-night, and place that silver and them silver traps where I can get 'em. I shall have cracked my crib, bagged my swag, and made myself safe until my turn comes round again.'

'Certainly,' said old Reginald, holding up the note to the light. 'But let me ask, how can you afford to pay so hansomely for your depredation?'

'There is a dozen of us, sir. Each of us cracks a crib once in four month, and each swags fifty pounds worth—often more, but at least that. After each plant the profits are divided. Last quarter the twelve cribs cracked brought us in eleven hundred pounds, that is ninety pounds odd apicce When my turn comes I pay a fair price for the fifty pounds worth of swag (for I have been honorably brought up), and I get forty pounds to the good. And forty pounds a quarter is one hundred and sixty pounds a year. And I live on it. Sometimes it's more—now and then is is less, but whatever it is I live on it.'

And the honest fellow took a receipt for a note and departed.

Old Reginald was as good as his word. He left his bedroom window open and placed the silver where the honest Burglar was as good as his word and at two o'clock in the morning he came and found it.

So far all was simple and staightforward enough. But now comes the curious and incredulous part of my story.

The fifty pound note was part of the proceeds of a previous burglary. The number of the note was known, and traced to old Reginald, who had to account for its being in his posession.

Now the twelve burglars had in the meantime been arrested by the police this is also incredible, and were condemned to penal servitude for life.

So old Reginald had no hesitation in stating the facts as I have cited them.

No one believed him, as no one will me.

So he appealed to the honest burglar to corroborate his story.

But the honest burglar, having discovered the whole thing, coffee pot, salver and all, was the commonest electro, was so shocked at old Reginald's dishonesty that not only did he decline to corroborate his story, but actually, and I think very properly, identified him as an accomplice.

And old Reginald was condemned to penal servitude, and he and the honest burglar worked for many years together on the same works, and had many opportunities of talking the matter over from its social, moral and political point of view.

"The Wheelbarrow Business."

"It is related of Girard that when a young tradesman having bought of him and paid for a bag of coffee, proceeded to wheel it home himself, the shrewd old merchant immediately offered to trust his customer for as many bags as he might desire. The trait of character revealed by the young man in being his own porter, had given the millionaire confidence in him at once. His reputation was made with Girard. He became a favored dealer with the enterprising merchant, throve rapidly, and in the end made a fortune.'—Exchange.

That sort of thing might have worked well enough with old Girard, but it don't fool anybody now. I have tried it. I bought half a pound of tea at Penderry's the other day, after reading the above paragraph, and wheeled it home in the most ostentatious manner, just to see if Penderry, who was looking on, would'nt offer to trust me for all the tea that I wanted, but he did'nt. On the contrary, I heard him speak up sharp to a clerk as I went around the corner, asking him if that tea was paid for?

I afterward took a wheelbarrow and went to a flour store on Central avenue; bought a small bag of flour, twenty-five pounds, I think, and loaded it on, the head of the concern looking at me with apparent interest.

'Now,' I thought, 'is my opportunity.—This is a Girard feller. He will tell me to come and get all the flour I can wheel away, and pay when I get ready. Perhaps he will offer me a partnership in his store.'

Then I spat on my hands and wipped them over my shoulders to encourage a vigorous circulation, rubbed them together smartly, and, clutching the handles of the barrow, started off at a brisk trot. I had proceeded about a square when I heard some one shouting after me. Looked around, and saw the flour men coming on a dead run.

'Ha, ha!' thought I 'the thing works admirably. The example of Stere Girard is not lost. I have revealed a trait o character in being my own porter, to say nothing of my beer, and my fortune is made. The flour and feed man recognizes my merits, and comes to offer me a partnership!'

As he approached I saw he had some money in his hand. 'He is at least,' I said, 'going to return me my money.' There was a severe look on his face as he came up to me which did not accord at all with what I had pictured Girard's countenance to have worn when he gave the carte blanche for coffee.

While reflecting that it might be 'his way,' he said: 'Sir, I want you to go right back to my store.'

'It is coming now,' thought I, though I did not quite like his tone. 'Wheelbarrows are about to receive their reward.—He is going to offer me a partnership; perhaps to turn over his entire business to me.' I was consequently elated.

Then I said to the flour and feed man (just as though I did'nt know, you know the clever things he meant to do for me,) May I inquire for what purpose, sir?'

'Certainly, you may,' he replied, frowning worse than ever. 'You shoved this counterfeit bill to my clerk, and you must come back till I get a policemen. Oh, you need'nt try to look so innocent! I 'spicioned you when I saw you running round to my store to get such a little jag o'flour as that. Watched ye to see that ye did'nt steal nothin.' You see you can't fool an old hand.'

Here was a turn in affairs that would astonish old Girard himself. I tried to explain. Assured him that I supposed the note to be genuine. He was incredulous for a time, and was disposed to have me locked up and the wheelbarrow detained as a witness, but finally let me off on my redeeming the note.

The wheelbarrow business is all a humbug. A man can't make a character in any such way. And the chances are that he will lose what little he starts out with.—Fat Contributor.

* * *

One of the most famous London physicians has written in favor of good living in the treatment of nervous disorders.

* * *

A Cincinnati man bets with a biped from somewhere else, that he can stand an egg 'right on the floor and you can't break it with a half bushel measure.' The bet is taken, and the fiend in human shape puts the egg precisely in the corner, and if you wish to know how it is yourself you would do well to try the experiment.

* * *

Three little girls who had very carefully buried in a garden in Portsmouth, N. H., the dead body of a pet bird, after consultation sent one of their number into the house to inquire 'if people didn't sing at funerals. On being told that they often did, the messenger ran back, and in a few minutes the three were seen standing hand in hand around the little mound, gravely singing, 'Shoo fly, don't bodder me.'

* * *

It is a curious fact among our hat and cap manufacturers that different localities use different sizes of hats and caps as standard sizes. Boston and the Eastern States use the smallest sizes; New York and the middle States use the medium to largest sizes; and Chicago and the Western States require the largest sizes. Goods manufactured for one market cannot be sold for the other, only in exceptional cases. The South use a shape peculiar to themselves and of large size.

* * *

Illinois has strange ways, even of committing suicide. In Warrensburg recently Mrs. Alice Day discovered her husband had another wife, and shot herself dead.—The husband, who was in prison for bigamy at the time, when he heard of the self murder of one of his consorts was so over come by sorrow and remorse that, having nothing else within reach, he swallowed a box of hooks and eyes, a bottle of hair dye, a brass breastpin, several pieces of glass, six vest buttons and a small penknife These miscellaneous articles did not prove fatal, but at last accounts Day complained of indigestion.

The express agent at Arcadia, Ohio the other day, threw $3,700 into the stove by mistake. The greenbacks burned finely.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DOORS, BLINDS,

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Balusters & Brackets

North of the Canal,

West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Feb. 23. O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT

FITTING SHIRTS

THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST A SSORTMENT OF

Mens' Furnishing Goods!

IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA

SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!

CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS

FORT WAYNE IND.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

—OF—

BUTLER INDIANA

Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of

HARDWARE!

Ever brought to this county—among which may be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

Chains and Belting

Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.

GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices

For Cash,

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman

MERCHANT TAILOR

First-Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY.

No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, - - IND

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,

Auburn, April 19, '71.

TARIFF OFF!

Owing to the fact that Congress has

Reduced the Tariff

ON

Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.

The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at

SMITH & HARE'S

As we do business only on the

Cash System

We are enabled to sell

GROCERIES

AND

PROVISIONS

LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,

Cheaper than any other house in the county.

All we ask is to give us a trial.

SMITH & HARE

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.	Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Colored " " " "	Japenese, plain, " "
Japenese " striped	" " brocaded
" Checked	" Watere

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c..

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Briliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroriderics, puffings, Edgings, &c., White, Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

Another Great Reduction

Congress Has

Reduced the Duty of All

GOODS IN GOLD!

AS FOLLOWS, TAKING EFFECT JANUARY 1st. 1871:

On Coffee per pound,	2c in Gold
On Teas, per Pound,	5c in Gold
On Raw Sugar, per pound	11-2c in Gold
On Currants and Prunes, per pound	21-2c in Gold
On Pepper and Alspice per pound lb,	10c in Gold
On Nutmegs, per pound	30c in Gold
On Cloves and Ginger, perpound	15c in Gold

We have this day Reduced all the above Goods to Correspond with the decline, and now offer to our customers:

Best Rio Coffee,	20c	Old Government Java	23c
2d Best quality	16c	Best Roasted Coffee,	23c

TEAS.

Young Hyson,	80c, $100, 120, best 135
Imperial	80c, 100, 120, best 135
Gunpowder	100, 120 best 135
Oolong,	75, 90, best 110
Japan,	75, 90, best 110

SUGAR.

Good Brown per lb,	8c	Best Peper,	25cts
Choice New Orleans,	10c	Alspice,	20cts.
do Turkish Pounes	12c	Cloves,	35cts.
do Zantee Currants	12c	Nutmegs,	$1.15

NUTS, Candies.

Paper Shell Almonds, per lb,	28c
Hard Shell per lb.	18c
Filberts, Pecans, and Brazil	55c
Stick Candy, per lb	20c
Fancy Mixed Candy, per lb.	30
Drops and Mottoes of all kinds	25c

FRUITS.

Best Layer Raisins per lb or 7 lbs for $.100
Seedless Sultanas, "	20c
Zante Currants, 12; 8 1-2 lbs	1.00
Citron, "	55
Orange & Lemon peel, pr lb.	45

DRIED FRUITS

Apples, per lb.	8c
Peaches per lb.	12½c
Cherries, per lb.	12 1-2c
California Pears, per lb.	16c

WINE in bottles

Sherry, per bottle,	4
Port, "	45
Madeira "	45
California "	25
Whiskey "	30c and 50

LIQUORS

Whisky, Rye or Bourbon,	90c
Choice Rye or Bourbon,	1.15
1 Year old Rye or Bourbon	1.40
2 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	1.75
3 Year old Rye or Bourbon,	2.50
Gin or Brandy,	1.50 to 1.75
Port Wine, imp.	1.75
Sherry Wine, imp.	1.75
California Wine,	75

MISCELLSNEOUS

Soap, per bar,	05
Rice, per pound,	09
Dime box Matches,	05
Cheese, 5c, 10, best per lb.	60
Best Navy Tobacco "	40
Good Navy Tobacco "	25
Smoking Tobacco, "	18

CHOICE HAVANNA CIGARS - $2.00 and $3.00 Per BOX.

FRESH OYTSERS 30c per Can.

SYRUP 40, 50, 60, AND 80C PER GAL.

BEST COAL OIL PER GAL 30, Best Rose Oil, Per Gal 20

FISH TRADE OPENED

Our Customers can rely on having No. 1 Goods. All Warranted.

White Fish, No. 1, half bbls, new,	$6,00	No. 1 Bay Mackerel, new catch, kitts,	$2,00
" " in kitts,	1,75	Lake Herring, per bbl,	2,50
Trout " per bbl,	4,00	Herring, each,	1c
Pickerel " per bbl,	4,00	Cod Fish, George's Bank, per lb	7c
Old Pickerel. Trout and White Fish,	2,00	White Fish, per lb,	7c

All other Groceres Provisions, &c., sold equally low, and we guarantee you better goods than other houses and save you 25 cents on the dollar.

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

For

Fresh and Fine Family

Groceries and Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

And Sugar,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES AND BE CONVINCED THAT BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. 2-46 6m

McDOUGAL'S

CARPET STORE

A FULL LINE OF

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,

75 Columbia street.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO. of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. ED. BLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop

In

Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS

Carriages,

CUTTERS,

Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Ciruiar sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here

FARMERS.

Have you got good

FANNING MILLS?

If not, get one of

J. B. TAYLOR'S

CELEBRATED

Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been tried 14 years past, and not found wanting, in any respect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, beans, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of grain. We challenge the world for competiton. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-66-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICTIED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Waterloo City, March 31, 1869. -8

PARIS HAS FALLEN

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOOS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES!

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

ould respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of.

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Buildig Matrial,
Agriculturl Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23871

Auditor's Office

THE AUBURN COURIER,
Published Every Thursday,
BY
T. C. MAYS,
Editor and Proprietor.
OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

TERMS:

One year	$2.00
Six months	1.00
Three months	.50

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 8, 1871. No. 23.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

NO COMPROMISE!

	1 w.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	6 m.	1 y.
1 Square	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	8.00	12.00
2 Squares	2.00	3.50	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	14.00	16.00
3 Squares	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	16.00	20.00
4 Squares	4.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	24.00	27.00
¼ Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	30.00	40.00
½ Column	10.00	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	42.00	50.00
1 Column	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	70.00	80.00

[illegible]

Business Cards, $5 per annum.

Local Notices, 10 cents per line, first insertion; 5 cents each additional insertion.

Business Cards.

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. BICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business intrusted to his care. 2-30

D. D. MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 2-45

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. Office on southwest corner of Broadway and North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-28

McBRIDE & MORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street.
JAS. I. BEST. 2-21 C. A. O. M'CLELLAN.

E. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER, of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-28

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, Justice of the Peace. M. V. B. GOTSHALL, Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and

AGENTS FOR

Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,

No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. Seasonable Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with disease should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. D. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,

HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office—first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good barn and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

J. Walker, Proprietor. R. H. McDonald & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No System of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft Wayne & Chicago R. R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1,35 A. M.
Rochester	2,42 "	7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M.	3,20 P. M.
Alliance	5,05 "	8,40 "	12,05 P. M.	4,52 "
Orrville	6,54 "	11,45 "	3,00 "	7,10 "
Mansfield	9,08 "	1,52 P. M	4,45 "	8,38 "
A.	9,35 "	4,22 "	6,52 "	10,32 "
Crestline	10,05 "	5,0[illegible] "	7,25 "	11,00 "
L.		5,55 A. M	7,45 "	11,10 "
Forest	11 27 A. M	7,33 "	9,20 "	12,35 A. M.
Lima	12,26 P. M	9,00 "	10,40 "	1,35 "
Ft. Wayne	2,30 "	11,45 "	1,25 A. M.	3,28 "
Plymouth	4,50 "	2,25 P. M	3,57 "	4,57 "
Chicago	7,30 "	5,55 "	7,?0 "	9,00 "

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5,50 A. M	9,00 A. M.	5,15 P. M.	9,00 P. M.
Plymouth	9,50 "	12,03 P. M.	9,05 "	12,55 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,50 P. M	2,25 "	11,25 "	3,20 "
Lima	3,25 "	4,06 "	1,35 A. M.	5,40 "
Forest	4,43 "	5,08 "	2,43 "	7,07 "
A	6,20 "	6,30 "	4,20 "	8,55 "
Crestline	6,[illegible]0 A. M	6,50 "	4,30 "	9,35 "
Mansfield	6,40	7,17 "	5,00 "	10,05 "
Orrville	9,15 "	9,05 "	6,45 "	11,55 "
Alliance	11,30	10,43 "	8,50 "	1,30 P. M
Rochester	2,35 P. M	12,55 A. M.	11,05 "	3,37 "
Pittsburgh	3,43 "	1,55 "	12,10 P. M.	4,40 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp	Mixed.	Mail.
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 a m	9 20 a m	4 50 p m
Academie	7 15	9 38	4 05
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	5 15
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 33	9 59	5 22
New Era	7 43	10 11	5 32
Auburn	8 01	10 49	5 50
Waterloo	8 16	11 25	5 50
Summit	8 30	11 50	6 05
Pleasant Lake	8 43	12 15 p m	6 18
Angola	8 57	12 55	6 43
Jonesville		3 50
Jackson ... Arr	11 40	11 40	9 18 p m

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson ... Leave	8 15 p m	8 15 a m	6 50 a m
Jonesville		10 30
Angola	8 23	2 28	8 57
Pleasant Lake	8 41	2 53	9 11
Summit	8 50	3 18	9 23
Waterloo	9 18	3 43	9 40
Auburn	9 55	4 08	9 55
New Era	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 13	4 40	10 20
Huntertown	10 20	4 48	10 26
Academie	10 32	5 05	10 37
Ft. Wayne ... Arr	10 55	5 25 p m	10 55

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt
I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	1:40 p m.
Waterloo	1:15 "	2:32 "	1:53 "
Sedan	x1:25 "	x2:45 "	2:05 "
Corunna	x1:30 "	x2:49 "	2:15 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:38 p m	12:55 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:40 "	1:01 "
Waterloo	2:50 "	11:50 "	1:15 "
Butler	x3:05 "	x12:03 a m	1:40 "

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.
J. W. CARY, Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY
AND
SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4, '71.

Come and See Me!

—:0:—

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

A clrgyman was lately depicting before a deeply interested audience the alarming increase of intemperance, when he astonished his hearers by exclaiming: "A young man in my neighborhood died very suddenly last Sunday while I was preaching the Gospel in a beastly state of intoxication."

WHAT IS LOVE?

BY GEORGE ARNOLD.

Darling, I am lonely when thou art not near,
Lonely, with even the dearest beside;
Voices whose tones used to gladden and cheer me
Seem to have all their old magic denied.

But in thy presence each dear one is dearer,
Music is sweeter and starlight is clearer.
Friendship and truth appears truer, sincerer,
Oh, surely 'tis this they tell us is Love.

Absent, thine image floats ever before me.
Present I only can feel that thou art.
In the vague sense of belight that steals o'er me,
Withering my brain and oppressing my heart.

There is nothing like thee where beauty assembles.
There is nothing my breaming about thee assembles.
Save some pale star in the far sky that trembles
Oh, surely 'tis this that they tell us is love

A Detectiv's Story—All a Mistake

The Boston Traveller tells this story:

Some years since a gentleman stopping at one of the hotels at Washington, D. C. (who upon this occasion will be called Brown), sent a letter from the hotel to his wife in New York, contaning $50. The letter was not received, and Mr. Brown visited the Post Office Department to make a complaint. In due time a case was made out and placed in the hands of a well-known and experienced detective whom for this occasion, we will designate as Seekem. After putting this and that together, Seekem came to the conclusion that the clerk of the hotel was the guilty party, and proceed to demonstrate his convictions. With this object in view, he prepared a couple of decoys for the young man's benefit. Letters from the hotel were forwarded to the Post Office morning and afternoon, so Seekem first went to work on the morning mail, but his decoys turned up all right.

Seekem then started on another tack. He gave about $60 (bogus) to Mr. Brown and persuaded him to write to Mrs. Brown enclosing the money, and leave the rest to him.

The letter was written in a veryconspicuous place, at a dinning table at the hotel, it being so arranged that no one should see him write the letter but the suspected individual, who was called upon to furnish paper and an envelope.

Mr Brown remarked to the clerk that as Mrs. B did not get his last remittance he must send her some more, at the same time denouncing post offices in general, and the Washington offices in general, where, he said, he had no doubt his money had disappeared.

The letters from the hotel were received at the Washington office, and there was no letter for Mrs Brown of Fifth avenue, New York. Seekem was greatly elated, feeling sure that he had at least entrapped the suspected thief. He went carefully through the Washington office, so as to make sure that there was no mistake. The letter, however, could not be found. Seven o'clock that evening found Seekem at the hotel in consultation with the proprietor and Mr. Brown. It was determined to arrest the suspected clerk at once. The supposed culprit was called up. He denied all knowledge of the affair, and Seekem was compelled to abandon the job for the time being.

Nothing more was known about Brown's letter until three days afterwards, when Brown himself enteered the Post Office in a very excited state of mind and inquired for Seekem—said he must see him—that it was of the utmost importance that he should see him at once. Brown's wife had been arrested in New York for passing counterfieit money, and was then held under $10,000 bonds for examination. The murder was out and the hotel clerk was innocent.

Something had to be done immediately for the lady, and that night Seekem left for New York, visited the United States Commisioner, explained matters, and procured Mrs. Brown's release. Now for the secret of this singular proceeding. On the afternoon in question, when the letter containing the bogus money was sent to Mrs. Brown, the clerk took a walk down to the depot at six o'clock, to see a friend off, taking what letters there were in the hotel box along with him, and dropped them in the postal car at the depot—the train leaving at seven o'clock. Mrs. Brown's letter went through to New York and she subsequently went out shopping. She tendered in payment a bogus $10 bill and the storekeeper objecting, she offered another, which was also declined, the dry goods dealer informing her that both were counterfeit. Then she showed him the remainder of the $50 that was sent to her and he pronounced it all bad. Meantime a clerk had been dispatched for an officer, and Mrs. Brown was taken into custody. The lady protested in vain, and was taken to a station-house, where a friend of Mr. Brown's gave bail for the wife's appearance for examination. The husband was then notified.

◆

From Rockwood, Ill., we have word that Roley B., a ready witted Irishman, still lives, and is able to get outside of his regular liquids. The other day one of the boys, thinking to have a little fun out of him, said:

'Roley, have you hear the news?'

'No, what news?'

'Why, the devil is dead.'

Not a word said Roley, but putting his hand in his pocket, and pulled out a ten cent shin plaster, handed it to his questioner, who ask what is for. 'Why,' answered Roley, 'in the ould country where I came from, it was the custom to give the children something when their parents died.' Whereat there was some laughter but no more inquiries.

◆

Mr. Greeley is having great success in introducing his new notions of farming at the South. He told some Texas horse-breeders, the other day, that the worst cases of spavin can be cured by free use of the subsoil plow, and tile draining.

To Make Mischief.

Keep your eye on your neighbors. Take care of them. Do not let them stir without watching. They may do something wrong if you do. To be sure, you never knew them to do anything very bad, but it may be on your account they have not. Perhaps if it had not been for your kind care they might have disgraced themselves a long time ago. Therefore do not relax any effort to keep them where they ought to be. Never mind your own business—that will take care of itself. There is a man passing along—he is looking over the fence—be suspicious of him; perhaps he contemplates stealing some of these dark nights; there is no knowing what queer fancies he may have got into his head.

If you find any symptoms of any one passing out of the path of duty, tell every one else what you see, and be particular to see a great many. It is a good way to circulate such things, though it may not benefit yourself or any one else particularly. Do keep something going—silence is a dreadful thing; though it is said there was silence in heaven for the space of half an hour, do not let any such thing occur on earth; it would be to much for this mundane sphere.

If, after all your watchful care, you cannot see anything out of the way in any one, you may be sure it is not done anything bad; perhaps in an unguarded moment you lost sight of them—throw out hints that they are no better than they should be—that you should not wonder if the people found out what they were after a while, they may not carry their heads so high. Keep it going, and some one may take the hint and begin to help you along after a while—then there will be music and everything will work to a charm

◆

Wants a Husband—Who will be the Lucky Man?

The Kansas City Times has the following letter. We have 'sympathy' and publish it verbatim et spellatim, without further comment:

CLAY COUNTY MO MAY 1th 1871.

Messrs More & Edwards Dear Sirs As I have arrived at the age of 83 and have never had an opportunity to marry I have concluded to advertise for a husband. so I will send this advertisement to you all for publication hoping that you all will have sympathy for a poor widows girl and publish this through the columns of your daily and weekly paper.

my mother is a poor widow Lady she lives four mile from Kearney a little west of north and two miles from Holt Station on the K City and Cameron R. R. south west of holts Station. I prefer a man that served in the federal army during the war but if I can't get a fed I will do the best I can want a man about 35 years old with some money and a little book learning I have been very superticious since my father died & I want a man that will stay at home of nights as I am afraid of ghosts. Mr. Editors if you see any one that wants a wife send them to me they will find me at mothers at the loom house or piecing carpet rags hoping that will publish this I will close Respectfully

MISS MOLLIE ARNOLD.

◆

Bloody Tragedy.

Some six or seven miles below Owensboro, live two men, Cain and Summers, whose farms adjoin, who, it seems, have been at enmity with each other for a long time, occasioned by Cain shooting at Summers' wife some time last spring. On last Sunday some of Summers' children were going through the premises of Mr. Cain, when Mrs. Cain forbade them to go that way again, when yesterday, Mr. Sommers notified Mr. Cain that he must not go through his farm thereafter; if he did, he would make him suffer for so doing; and to-day, as Mr. Cain was going through the other's field, some three 300 yards from the house, he was attacked by the former and shot, wounding him only slightly Mrs. Sommers seeing the difficulty, came to her husband's assistance with pistol in hand, shooting three times at Mr. Cain, and wounding him in two places; whereupon Mr Cain grabbed an ax that was close by, and struck his male antagonist on the head, nearly splitting it open, and mortally wounding him. Not being satisfied with this, he ran after Mrs. Sommers who retreating to the house and served her in a like manner, making a horrible gash in the top of her head, taking her husband's pistol and shooting her in the head and breast. The man and wife are now lying at the point of death—a most heart rendering sight. Cain was shot in the head, shoulder and bowls. The latter wound, it is thought, will prove mortal.—He is considered a desperate character, while Summers has always been looked upon as a peaceable man.

◆

A Louisville merchant lately sold a bill of goods to an Indiana customer on credit A settlement by note at four months was requested, to which the Hoosier debtor willingly assented.

'But suppose I don't pay this note when it becomes due?' inquired he.

'Then,' replied the merchant, 'your note will be protested and your credit destroyed.'

'How much will that cost?' said the Indiana.

'Dollar and a half,' was tremulously answered.

'Then look here, old fellow, just include that amount in the note, and pay it for me when you get the note protested.'

◆

'Shot through the heart' is a common expression, yet out of 87,822 cases of gun shot wounds reported during the late war, it is said that in only four cases the bullet wounded the heart.

A Nice Girl.

Though that class of girls is by no means extinct, still they are not so numerous as might be wished. There is nothing half so sweet in life, half so delightful or so lovable as a nice girl. Not a pretty, or dashing girl; but a nice girl. One of those lovely, likely, good hearted, sweet faced, amiable, neat, natty, domestic creatures, met within the sphere of "home," diffusing around the influence of her goodness, like the essence of sweet flowers.

A nice girl is not the languishing beauty, drawing on the sofa, and discussing the last novel, or opera, or the giraffeing like creature sweeping majestically through the drawing room. The nice girl may not even play or dance well, and knows nothing about using her eyes, or coquetting with a fan. She never languishes, she is too active. She is not given to sensitive novels, she is too busy

In the opera she is not in front to show her shoulders; she sits quiet and unobtrusive at the back of the box, most likely. In fact it's not often we discover her, Home is her place.

Who rises betimes and superintends the morning meal? Who makes the toast and the tea, and buttons the boy's shirts, and waters the flowers, and feeds the chickens, and brightens up the parlor, and sitting room. It is the languisher or the giraffe, or the "elegante?"

Not a bit of it; it's the nice young girl. Her maiden toilet is mdke in the shortest possible time, yet now charmingly done, and how elegant her neat dress and collar!

Breakfast over, down to the kitchen or see about dinner, and all day long she is up and down, always cheerful and lighthearted. She never ceases to be active and useful until the day is gone, when she will polka with the boys, or read or sing old songs and play old tunes to her father and mother for hours together. She is a perfect treasure, is a nice girl. When sickness comes it is she who attends with unwearying patience in the sick chamber. There is no risk, no fatigue that she will not undergo; no sacrifice that she will not make. She is all love, all devotion. I have often thought it would be happiness to be ill to be watched by such loving eyes and tended by such fair hands.

One of the most strongly marked characteristics of 'a nice girl' is tidiness and simplicity of dress. She is invaribly associated in my mind with a high frock plain collar, and the neatest of neck ribbons, bound with the most modest little brooch in the world. I never knew a 'nice girl' who displayed a profusion of rings and bracelets, and who wore low dresses or a splendid bonnet.

I say again, there is nothing in the world half so beautiful, have so intrinsically good as a 'nice girl.' She is the sweetest flower in the path of life. There are others far more stately, far more gorgeous, but these we merely admire as we go by. It is where the daisy grows that we like to rest.

◆

GENERALITIES.

Mexico has 8,885,972 inhabitants—five sixth of them Indians and Monguls.

An educational conundrum—How many rods are required, according to pedagogue measure, to make a wise-acre?

A man who sat upon a paper of carpet nails said they reminded him of the income tax.

The celebrated French dwarf 'Princess Felicle,' who is nine years old, nineteen inches high, perfectly proportioned, and weighs only six pounds, is holding levees in London.

In England, on state occasions, Gen. Schenck will wear his major-general uniform, and so rid himself of the bother about court dress which has worried his predecessors.

Josh Billings says in his 'Lecter:' 'Rats originally came from Norway, and nobody would have cared if they had originally staid there.' The rats still show their knaw away origin.

'Does the train start this evening at 35 minutes after 6, as usual?' asked an elderly lady of a railroad employee. 'No; it leaves at 25 minutes to 7,' was the reply 'Dear me, dear me, how they do change these trains.

When any one was speaking ill of another in the presence of Peter the Great he at first listened to him attentively, and then interrupted him: 'Is there not,' said he, 'a fair side also to the character of the person of whom you were speaking? Come tell me what good qualities you have remarked about him.'

The enterprising editor of a paper in Bunker Hill, Illinois, sends out circulars stating that the 'Gazette is published solely for the benefit of mankind, by a self-sacrificing management which might enjoy comparative affluence in a poor-house All money received on subscription or job work will be devoted to the interests of the poor.'

Kukluxism has subsided since Greely went South, and all the 'bad elements' are on the best behavior. And the New York Commercial, which does not love H. G., says: 'It is suggested, under these circumstances, that the country would be spared a good deal of expense if the beneficent old man should never come back again.'

A posthumous scrap of Artemus Ward's writings is a letter to a menagerie agent who sent him some tickets: 'Thanks for the tickets. This act of kindness, so nobly conceived and delicately consummated, assures me that all is not base and sordid in this world, and that the human heart, when connected with a menagerie, is capable of lofty impulses.'

BELLE ALDEN'S TRAVLING BAR.

A train bound for St. Louis had just left the depot of Bellefountain, when a gentleman entered the smoking car and laid his hand upon the shoulder of his traveling companion, a tall, handsome man of thirty, who sat musingly blowing rings of smoke into the air.

"Marcy," said the new comer, "if you want to see at once the sweetest and saddest sight you ever beheld, go into the last car but one on the train. There's an emigrant German woman with four children, and during the afternoon the youngests, a baby, has died. The mother and the the other children are uncomfortable."

"I can understand," interrupted the smoker, "the sadness of such a scene, but where is the sweetness you spoke of?"

"I am coming to that. The whole party have been taken in charge by a young lady. Such a beauty! She dried the mother's tears and wiped the children's noses. She's a divinity! She only needs a feather on her shoulder-blades to make a full-fledged angel of her. If I was not a married man I would never leave her till I had made Mrs. Angelica Townsend of her."

"That's a speech which I shall faithfully report to Mrs. Agnes Townsend," said the gentleman addressed as Marcy, rising. "I shall go back and feast my eyes on this beautiful 'Sister of Charity,' and," he added, taking his traveling satchel and shawl from the rack, "as we stop at the next station, which is due in ten minutes, I may as well take my traps with me, and join you on the platform."

So Saying, Richard Marcy threw his shawl over his shoulder and sauntered leisurely away through the long train, rushing blindly and calmly to his fate. For, as he entered the last car but one, he became a witness and an actor in a scene that influenced his whole future life.

The poor grief-etriken German, of whom his companion, Dr. Townsend, had spoken, with the dead infant in her arms, sat silently weeping over the little dead face.

The three sturdy children grouped in childish sorrow about their little dead brother was, indeed, a touching spectacle. But standing beside them was the divinity of Dr. Townsend's admiration, and she who was most certainly to "share ends" with the happy Richard.

She was a tall, slender girl of eighteen, with magnificent eyes and hair. As he entered the car she was speaking, her lovely face flushed, and the small rosy mouth disclosing a beautiful set of teeth, turned bewitchingly toward the tall stranger at the door.

"Ladies and gentleman," said the sweet voice, "this poor woman, friendless, speaking no English, with four little children, was expecting to find work in St. Louis to support them. If everything had gone well with her, it would have been hard; but with her little dead baby and sorrowing heart, she is certainly a deserving object of charity; and I propose that such as feel willing will contribute their mite toward a little purse for her immediate wants and the burial of her poor baby. And," she added, with a bewitching smile, "if any gentleman will lend me a hat, I will go round and take up a collection."

In an instant the gallant Richard pulled his traveling cap from his blonde curls and offered it to the angel of this time all his own, and commenced gathering the readily for the coming dollars her generous, graceful appeal brought from the purses of all in the car.

Richard watched the slender figure in gray gather the money, and, looking at the placid cap in white, jeweled fingers, he bethought him of his donation, and stepping to the seat the beauty had just occupied, he laid his satchel and shawl upon a family of its kind, belonging to angel in gray, and took from his pocket a ten dollar bill, which he placed in the little hand that returned him his cap. Further damage the poor fellow received, when a smile and warmly worded thanks the for contribution were dealt from the beautiful mouth.

Dick was in the midst of an elaborate reply, when the cars stopped. He lingered yet another moment, seized his satchel and shawl with his eyes on the face of his charmer, and then, even as the cars were again in motion, he bethought himself of the doctor, and hurriedly left the car and joined his fried on the platform.

"Well," ejaculated the worthy, "I began to believe you'd conclude to go and bury the dead baby, and make the protecting beauty Mrs. Angelica Marcy. Isn't she a stunner?"

"Townsend," returned his friend, "don't use slang in speaking of the noble creature." He looked after the train just disappearing in the distance. "I wish to heaven," he continued, "I'd remained aboard. How stupid I was to leave it. I might have learned her name and residence. And now"—

"Now in all probabilty," barked in the doctor, "you'll never meet her in this vale of tears. But you'll know her in heaven, if you behave yourself well enough to get there, by her wings; she'll have the biggest of them all, seeing they've commenced to spout on earth."

And thus rallying his thoroughly captivated friend, the two made their way to the house of an acquantance, with whom they were remain that night, and go on next day to their destination—St. Louis.

After the first salutation our hero went to his room to remove some of the evidences of his long ride from New York, He had removed his coat, vest and collar, he had splashed and scaped and washed, until his dampcurls hung close to his shapely head, when he made a startling discovery.

Flushed and breathless, he rushed into the next room upon his fried.

"Townsend," cried he, "what upon earth do yo suppose? I've got the wrong bag; I've changed baggage with the angel of mercy! Look at the slipper: see that thimble; contemplate that glove!"

"It's evident you've got the lady's satchel. And what was there in yours?"

"Don't bring up that dreadful idea," said Dick. "Cigars and a hair brush, a pack of cards, pocket flask and a tooh brush—everything disreputable. If I am judged by that bag, I'm a lost man."

"And this I took for a clean shirt," and Dick held up a frilled and fluted sack, such as do duty for more extensive night dresses with ladies when traveling. "I'd like to see Augusta when she opens my satchel."

And Dick fell to musing, with the slipper perched on two fingers, and the frilled white lace spread out tenderly on his knees.

* * * * * *

In the upper part of a handsome mansion in St. Louis, on the evening of the day our heroine first made the reader's acquaintance, beautiful Belle Alden, the petted and only daughter of the house, sat contemplating the various articles her confidential maid was disposing upon the table—articles taken from no less a receptacle than Dick Marcy's traveling bag.

The cigars and cigar case lay side by side, and a highly scented party they were.

"What's in the little silver flask, Rosa," said the fair mistress.

"Brandy, ma'am," replied the maid.

"He can't be very dissipated to travel with such a little bottle, That's in case of sickness," returned Belle.

"It's my belief," said Rosa, who was a shrewed girl, "that the gentleman was a mighty nice one, else you'd not so readily excuse the cards and the bottle."

"For shame, Rosa. All gentelmen play euchre traveling, and even clergymen take a little brandy in case of sickness," answered Belle. "And this man was a gentleman, and a liberal one, too, for he gave the poor emigrant woman ten dollars. What's that, Rosa?"

For at that moment Rosa held between her fingers a letter.

Whether it was wrong to read a stanger's letter vexed Belle for a moment, as her eye glanced at the superscription and handwriting.

"Why, of all things" exclaimed the delighted girl, seizings the letter. "Why, Rosa, this is Jenny Marcy's writing, and addressed to Richard Marcy—her only darling brother—who was in Europe when we two graduated at Madam Ritters's in Brooklyn."

Belle read rapidly till she reached the middle of the letter, when she bursted into a merry laugh."

"Hear this, Rosa," she said, and she read from the letter:

"Above all things, Dick, dear, don't fail, while in St. Louis, to see my best friend and schoolmate, Belle Alden. I know you will fall in love with her; for, besides being the best girl in the world, she's a beauty and an heiress, and father's choice, above all others, for his son's wife. He used to talk it over at home, and hoped Belle would not marry before you came from Europe. She is full as anxious to know you, and wears your hair and mine in a locket father gave her last year. Give her lots of love and beg her to overlook your many imperfections for the sake of her old school-fellow, Jenny!"

"Then this gentleman is, of course. Miss Jenny's brother," said Rosa; 'and what will she say when she hears of your having met in a romatic way?"

"I don't intend to tell her of it till I go to New York this fall," said Belle. "Perhaps her brother will call."

But in this supposition Belle was wrong. The month passed, and she saw no more of the golded-headed Richard.

And she carefully separated the yellow lock in the keepsake from the dark tresses of Jenny's, and put it back into its place along, while another locket held a piece of Jenny's. And somehow Belle looked very, very often at the wee golden curl, and she never did so but the rest of the handsome head sprang up beside the locket, and she would sit and contemplate the picture her fancy had wrought for her, little dreaming of the interest she was allowing to grow in her bosom for Jenney's brother.

In the fall, Belle and her father went to New York, and the first day after her arrival found her siting whith her old friend, who, after the evasive meeting, sat down to empty her soul.

"I am so glad you are here this month," Jenney said, "because I'm to be married in October, and I have always been crazy to have you for a bridesmaid, and Dick is to be Harry's best man."

Belle blushed.

"But Dick has fallen hopelessly, madly in love."

Belle turned pale.

"Yes, I was dreadfully provoked when he passed through St. Louis, and never went near you. But he went wild over some lady he met on that fatal trip.

"He will talk to me by hours of Angelica. And when I have spoken of you, he has been positively rude, and asked me to have done bothering him about my freckled school friends—you know your picture shows freckles; but bless me, you haven't any now. And your picture don't look any more like you than it does me, not a bit."

"But tell me," asked Belle, "is your brother engaged to this lady?"

"Engaged! Why, dear heart, he don't know her name. He just found some of her old clothes somewhere. He's got her old slippers under a glass case; he's got her gloves under another; he's got her night-gown done up in lavender; he's got her gold thimble hung on his watch chain, and I do believe he's got a hair brush and hair-pin next to his heart! Oh, it's folly to interfere! He's beyond all hope! I did think the excitement of my wedding would wean him from it, but not a bit of it. He looked at my new things as calmly as an oyster, and only said—it is not kind of me to repeat it, though," broken off Jenny.

"What was it he said?" inquired Bell, laughing heartily. "Don't fear for my feelings.

"Why," he said, "I'll stand up with your friend, Belle, and see you safely married; and then I'm off to winter in Paris. I'm done with love on my own account. It's positively awful"

And so Belle thought, as she looked at the old slipper and glove lying beneath a globe one it her side of the faithful Richard's mantle.

"And," said Belle, "since he desires only to meet me on the morning of the wedding, so it shall be. I will be introduced only as we are leaving the house, and he can do as he pleases about continuing the acquaintance afterward."

Bell was raident with happiness when she returned to her father, and delighted his fond heart with the change, for she had been very quiet of late.

Jenney and Belle shopped and talked visited together for the next fews days, and when the eventful morning arrived, and amid a bevy of beautiful girls, Belle shone like a queen, the bride was eclipsed, and delightfully acknowledged it.

[Here the copy flew out of the window, but we assure our readers that Belle and Richard got married.]

◆

THE New Orleans Times of Monday the 8th inst., has the following:

One of our coast planters, who has a number of Chinese laborers in his employ, seeing a disposition on the part of some of the negroes to annoy the Orientals, and apprehending a resort by the latter to the use of the sharp knives they always wear, cautioned them not to take the law into their own hand, but in case they were troubled by any negro to bring the offender before him, and he would see that justice was done.

Accordingly, one day the planter, whilst sitting on his gallery, observed a procession of the Chinamen coming from the quarters, bearing at their head a dark package. They marched with great deliberation and dignity up to the mansion, and laid their burden on the gallery at the feet of the planter. It proved to be a chunk of a negro,' securely bound as only Chinamen know how to tie a parcel of goods. The negro was scared out of his senses, though entirely unhurt. Laying him quietly down on the gallery, the leader of the Chinese, pointing to the dark mass, said to the planter 'Nig gah!' and then the whole party trotted back to their work.

It was an hour's hard work to untie the frightened negro, who, on his release, very cheerfully acted upon the suggestion of the planter to make himself scarce.

We publish this incident in anticipation of the accounts which will doubtless be forwarded to the North by the correspondents of the radical journals, as one of the incidents of lawless violence so common in the South, against which President Grant has just issued a high sounding proclamation.

◆

A School-boy's First Love Letter.

"I never wrote a letter before, and don't know just how to begin it; but I know lots of boys who do write letters to the girls, and I'm most as big as they are. Tommy Jones said he had got a letter from somebody; I teased him to let me see it; in taking it from his pocket it fell into a mud puddle. I was never so tickled in my life; but he cried like everything. I like you real well, for you are a democrat and Old School Baptist, and have been to the city. I saw you at church last sabbath. You have a new bonnet. I like new bonnets; and some time, you know, I shall get you a new bonnet almost every day. I shall learn to build houses, and you can wash the dishes and make pancakes. I like pancakes; don't you? I don't like molasses a bit; it is real nasty stuff. I hope you don't like it either, for I shall not have it in our house, and it wouldn't look well to quarrel about molasses; and I wouldn't strike a girl when she's a woman; when I get some money I'm going to buy you some cologne; I shall turn some out for me, so when I come to see you I can perfume my handkerchief. I can't write any more now. The school 'mam' is looking this way. You see she don't know what true love is. If you have't any paper, I'll give you a leaf out of my new reader.

"WILLIE BROWN."

◆

A sly old deacon wishing to give his pastor a hint to put more juice into his sermons, said to him one day, "I must get a seat nearer the pulpit, for by the time your words reach my ears, the people in front of me have so taken the pith out of them that they are dry as dishwater."

The fires in the mountain region of Eastern New York, in Sullivan, Ulster and Delaware counties, have swept over 10,000 acres of woodland.

The Courier.

AUBURN IND. JUNE, 8, 1871

"NO COMPROMISE!"

Vallandigham's Democracy.

What need of a Democratic party when it is asked to do nothing but indorse the misrule, tyranny, usurpations and corruptions of the Republicans? Why not add the following to the Dayton side-wheel improvement, and thus strengthen the Vallandigham resolutions, and add "harmony" to the elements of power?

Resolved, That all the Republican party has done, and all it may do, has been and will be right.

Resolved, That where there is no difference between Democracy and Republicanism one party or the other should disband at once

Resolved, That the Democratic party disband, and its members join in a carpet-bag crusade against the long outraged and subuissive people of the South.

The above resolutions are offered for the suggestion of the Democrats of Dayton and Cincinnati, as a receipt to assist in making political campaigns easy. The chairman of the committee on resolutions should now have the floor to say—

"Put me in my little bed!"

The following will give some idea of how our brethern in Ohio look upon the new departure.

◆

A FEW weeks ago, a dispatch was received at San Francisco from the headquarters of the weather signal corps at Washingto, stating that a storm might be expected in California that day. The storm had already begun, and was pretty general throughout the State, being especially severe inportions of the Sacramento Valley, where it was accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning. The San Farncisco Bulletin says this is the second time the present season that storm predictions from all parts of the Union are received and compared, have been promptly realised.

◆

GOVERNOR SCOTT, of South Carolina; who arrived in Washington on Thursday, had a long interview with President Grant, in which he said there was a good state of feeling among the better classes of citizens to put down any KuKlux organizations which might exist. The Governor left for New York last night, on business connected with South Carolina.

◆

THE Chicago Journal, an intense Radical sheet, tells it readers that the only animating principal left in its party is "sectional hatred." It states that the moments this dies out, the moment the reconstruction issue subsides, the moment general amnesty is accorded to the South, and the bond of union once more becomes complete, and universal brotherhood again holds sway, its cause is up; its party gone; its defeat inevitable!

Another Coal Mine Horror.

A fire occurred at the top of the shaft of a coal mine at Pittston, near Scranton and Wilkesbarre, Pa. on Saturday morning last a bout five o'clock, and thirty-eight men were thus cut off from all egress to the open air. They were all taken out on Sunday night and Monday forenoon. Eighteen were found dead, having been suffocated with foul gas. Since then, several who were brought out alive have died, and it is expected that most if not the whole party, will die from the effects of the suffocating gas and foul air while they were thus imprisoned 280 feet below the surface.

EDITORIAL EXCURSION.

The members of the Editors' and Publishers' Association of the Tenth and Eleventh Districts of Indiana, are hereby notified that ample arrangements have been made with the Burlington & Missouri River Railroad Company for an excursion to the city of Lincoln, Nebraska.

The excursion party will leave Chicago on Thursday, June 29, at 10 a. m., on the Pacific Express, and arrive at Lincoln about 10 o'clock next morning.

Those preferring to start at an earlier day, so as to be enabled to visit intermediate points along the route, can be accommodated but it is earnestly desired that all reach Lincoln on the morning of June 30 and participate in the reception ceremonies.

In accordance with the expressed wishes of the association, no passes will be issued to publishers of the two districts who have not indentified themselves with our organization. An opportunity to become such is afforded by the payment of one dollar to D. E. VanValkenburg, Plymouth, Ind.

Passes will be issued to all members of the association without application.

A full programme will be issued at an early date.

Prompt attention will be given to inquiries concerning the excursion.

J. B. STOLL, Pres't.

Ligonier, Ind., June 1, 1871.

P. S.—The following will explain

BURLINGTON & MISSOURI R. R. R.
BURLINGTON, Iowa, May 29, '71.

J. B. STOLL, Esq., Ligonier, Ind.

Dear Sir:—I telegraphed this a. m. to the Mayor of Lincoln of your anticipated visit. He answers that Lincoln will give a cordial reception to the editors of the 10th and 11th districts, Indiana, and will kill a buffalo for them.

Yours, Truly,
A. E. TOUZALIN,
General Passenger Agent.

◆

WHAT word may be pronounced quicker by adding two more letters to it? —Quick.

Death of Bishop Clark.

The Methodist Church has again been called to mourn the death of one of her chief pastor. It is a remarkable providence that has called away the three junior bishops of the church. Bishops Kingsley, Thomson and Clark. Bishop Kingsley died at Beyroot, Syria, while looking after the interests of Methodist Missions in the East. Bishop Thomson died in the midst of his labors while absent from home. Bishop Clark died at his residence in Cincinnati, May 23, 1871. It is not too much to say that all three of them were martyrs to hard work. David W. Clark was born on the Island of Mount Desert, Maine. Having passed the preparatory course at the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, he entered the Wesleyan University at Middletown in 1834 and was graduated in 1836. He was immediately called to the presidency of America Seminary, where he remained seven years, when, yielding to his convictions of duty to enter upon the active work of the ministry, he tendered his resignation of the presidency of the Seminary, but so reluctant were the Trustees to give him up that they declined to accept his resignation and referred the matter to the Annual Conference, which granted him his request. For nine years he filled important stations, four of them in the city of New York. In 1852 he was elected Editor of Books and of the Ladies' Repository, at the Methodist Book Concern at Cincinnati, which position he continued to occupy until 1864, when he was elected to the Episcopal. He entered the Ministry in 1843. He had been twenty-one years in the ministry when chosen to the Episcopacy, and twenty-eight years at the time of his death. In 1849 the degree of Doctor of Divinity was confered upon him by the Wesleyan University. Bishop Clark was a voluminous writer, considering his other duties. In 1843 he published an Algebra which passed through several editions. He was a frequent contributor to the Quarterly Review. He was the author of a "Treatise on Mental Discipline," "Death Bed Scenes," "Life and Times of Bishop Hedding," "Man all Immortal," and perhaps of some others. Besides which he compiled and edited quite a number of valuable works during the term of his editorship at Cincinnati. Bishop Clark was an industrious student all his life, and scholarly accuracy marked all of his movements. He was an instructive and entertaining preacher. His sermons were addressed alike to the understanding and hearts of his hearers As a presiding officer he was dignified and courteous. The work of reconstructing the conferences in the South, after the close of the war, devolved, to a large extent, upon him. And wisely and well did he execute that delicate and difficult task. Though cut down in the vigor of his ripened manhood, if we measure his life by what he accomplished, rather than through the lapse of years, he lived to a good old age. His was eminently a life of usefulness. As an executive officer, he ranked high. He took broad and comprehensive views. His plans were states manlike Nothing narrow, or selfish, or bigoted, marked or marred his plans or his work. He has left an abiding impression on the large denmoination over whose interests he had been called to preside for the last seven years, and to which he had given all the strength of his manhood. As a presiding officer, he was prompt, dignified, and courteous. The news of his death will sadden more than a million of hearts all over this continent.

The First Victory.

In North Carolina, the other day, a Federal marshal, with a regiment of Federal troops, gallantly sailed forth and heroically captured sixteen persons, whom some one had accused of complicity in "KuKlux" outrages. It is chronicled as the first victory for "the government" under the Personal Government act, and even the Jacobin newspaper correspondent (one of the lying breed who manufacture outrages to order for the New York Tribune) is compelled to state that "no show of resistance was made"; that the sixteen were "well-known men of considerable property," and that "the general impression is that the arrests might as easily have been made without troops." Such is the contemptible revelation of the miserable pretext upon which the Congress of the United States has assumed to clothe Ulysses Grant with the absolute powers of a military dictator.

◆

NOTWITHSTANDING the fact that the order of the President to the army regarding the enforcement of the Ku-Klux law has been distributed more than two weeks, not a single case has been reported from that source to the War Department in return; and Governor Scott, of South Carolina, has also informed the Secretary of War that neither additional troops nor martial law are needed in that State. Hon Richard Busteed, Judge of the United States District Court of Alabama, in his charge to the grand jury, a few days ago, used the following language; "It gives me unfeigned satisfaction to be able to announce that there is but a a single case of alleged offence to be brought to your notice, a case of which a party is charged with having robbed the mails. This state of facts is exceedingly gratifying when we consider that a whole year has elapsed since the empaneling of the last grand jury for the United States in this district." This is very good testimony, and we find its cause in the fact that Alabama was carried last election by the Democracy from stem to stern.

◆

"BRICK POMEROY, of the New York Democrat, re-married, and presented his bride with $75,000. "Brick" has a solid financial foundation.

Let the Democracy stand by their time honored principles, as a band of brothers, and they will see that truth will triumph. It is only pursuing by false issues and false united men that will ensure defeat. Follow the ancient monuments and we can elect a ruler who will be a public servant, not a master, a dictator.—Warren Constitutionalist.

We refrain from commenting upon the montgomery county resolutions—which are quite lengthy—other than to say that some of them receive our cordial approbation, while others we regard of very doubtful policy and of decidelyd dangerous tendency to the cause of true Democracy.—Madison County Democrat.

THIS is no time for harshness bitterness, or personal recrimination. It is, however, pre-eminently a time for cool, dispassionate reflection. But let it never be forgotten that nothing can atone for the sacrifice of principal. Victory itself, obtained at such a cost, will turn to ashes on the lips like dead-sea apples.—Bucyrus Forum.

In regard to the platform, we feel more concern, owing to the fact that some democrats have expressed themselves willing to accept the usurpations of the Radicals as 'verities' and 'fixed facts,' not hereafter to be questioned. We hope there will be no departure from the vital principles of the Democratic party—that the Convention will not bow to the Gesler's cap of Imperial Radicalism.—Circleville Democrat and Watchman.

We think the resolutions not only go too far in the acceptance of the amendments, but also fall short of the occasion in failing to denounce the pernicious methods by which they were adopted. Those methods were, to a large extent, dishonest, and characterized by a reckless partizanship and defiance of the traditions of our Government, which, it quietly permitted to become precedents, will uproot all respect for the Constitution as the fundamental will of the people.—Landcaster Eagle.

Now that the war cloud has blown over, and the Democracy are again sighting the old ship of State, and restoring harmony, it is proposed that the party shall debase itself by declaring its purpose to acquiesce in the fraudulent and pretended Constitutional Amendments which were forced upon the country by intimidation and military dictation, against the wishes of a large majority or the American people. And this, that the consuming ambition of a few slippery political tricksters may be gratified.—Ashland Union.

Wonders certainly will never cease; and when Vallandigham and a Democratic Convention cooly and deliberately go back on Democratic principles and a past glorious record, and announce their determination to acquiesce in, and accept as a finality, the so-called 15th amendment to the Contsitution, which are the results of Radical treason against republicanism and common sense, and were forced upon an unwilling people by trickery and fraud, we may regard it as a sure indication that the millenium is not far off; or that there is no longer any honesty or love of right and justice among men. —Mercer County Standard.

Speaking for oursleves, and not aiming to commit the Democratic party of country, or any member thereof, to our views, we are emphatic in declaring our opposition to the 15th amendment. We believe the amendments were adopted by fraud and ought to die. But should they be declared valid, our sense of disapproval of negro voting would be none the less. We will not commit ourself to an acquiescene in the amendment, and shall look forward with hopeful anticipations for the time when a dispassionate people will remove from the Constitution the blotch placed there by Radicalism.—Marion Mirror.

The Columbus Statesman and the Cincinnati Commercial stated the Butler County Counvention indorsed the 'State' of Dayton pronunciamento. But the copy before us says it did no such thing, but upon the contrary passed sound resolves, taking position squarely upon the lives issues before the people, without fondling or dabbling with the "dead issues" so often knocked down, apologized for by the striker, and the set up agnin in the Dayton platform. We feel very much like thanking the Butler county Democracy for throwing themselves so quickly into the breach against the preconcerted effort to humiliate and Republicanise the Democratic party.—Greenville Democrat.

If an appeal to the reason, intelligence and virtue of the people will not arouse the people to a defense of their liberties, and accepting usurpations and acquiescing in them as "finalities," certainly only sink them deeper into the slough of despotism, while it prostitutes Democracy to the perpetuation of misrule. We are opposed to making a political hell-broth of Democracy by commingling it in the seething caldron of despotic usurpation, and thus consolidating and prepetuating all the loose and fragmentary elements of despotism. Better any thing than that! Better, infinitely better four more years of Butler, Grant, Sumner, Morton, Bingham and the devil, than this final merging of the Democratic party in the horrid abyss with the reigning despotism, which would forever prevent the restoration of the Federal Union, and subject us to eternal calamities.—Butler County Democrat.

◆

MINISTER WASHBURNE confirms the murder of the Archbishop of Paris and sixty-nine priests by the Commune soldiery. Sixty-two hostages were also murdered in cold blood. If is no wonder that the Versailles troops, when they gained an entrance into Paris, showed no quarters to the Reds.

Colfax's illness was brought about by smoking too strong cigars. We are happy to annonce that he is rapidly recovering his wonted health.

From Paris.

VERSAILLES, May 30.

Paris is tranquil, and trade already shows sign of reviving. The soldiers have been feted by the inhabitants. Arrests of insurgents continue.

The insurgents previous to May 22' when the Versailles troops entered Paris are estimated at 12,000 killed and wounded and 25,000 prisoners, and since May 22, at 10,000 killed wounded and 20,000 prisoners. The prisoners have all been sent to Versailles.

Gen. Douai officially reports having lost 50 officers and 600 men during engagements in which his troops have participated since the Versaillist army entered Paris.

Since their entrance into Paris the Versailles troops have lost 3,000 killed and wounded, and the authorities have collected 862,000 rifles.

◆

Texas has, 3,800,000 cattle, consisting of 950,000 beeves, 950,000 cows, and 1,900,000 young cattle. The plains on which these cattle roam contain about 152,000,000 acres of ground. The principal pasturages are on the Neuces, Rio Grande, Gaudaloupe, San Antonio, Colorado, Leon, Brazos, Trinity, Sabine and Red rivers.

◆

A series of banterings a few days since between a couple of farmers in South Mason, Ky., resulted in the following contract: Major Peed proposes to furnish James Robinson fifty well fatted hog in November of each year for five years, at $5 per hundred. We did not learn what they were to average. Various opinions are expressed as to which of the parties has the best of the trade.

THE "great war Governor," O. P. Morton, received a severe rebuke in the Senate, previons to its adjournment, by a brother Republican Senator. Morton, the story runs, wanted to have the session continued for the transaction of important executive business, but Conkling insisted upon abruptly terminating it. So Morton, the "pretender" of the Senate, has found his match at last.

◆

MOST of the prominent Radicals have during the vacation of Congress, secured a place upon a commission of some sort, in the South, far West, or Europe, so as to afford them delightful pleasure trips without cost to themselves. Our kind and benificent Government takes special care that wards and pets, black and white, shall have provided them not only the necessaries but also the luxuries of life. The farmer and laborer sweats and saves to foot the bill, while Radical revelry feels no care.

◆

THERE are matters in the Montgomery county resolutions which, it in very safe to say, will not rceive the approval the State Convention, and which should not receive its endorsements,—They have faults of omission and commission. They evince a desire to sail with the wind, and as near the water as possible without getting wet. The Democracy everywhere believe that the Constitution was altered by fraud and force, and do not intend to be mealy-mouthed in their expression of the outrage, whatever they may agree upon as to how the amendments should be treated in the future, for the sake of saving if possible, what is left of constitutional liberty.—Cin. Enquirer.

The Milligan Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30,—The jury in the case of Milligan vs Hovey came into court this morning with the following verdict:

"We the jury find the defendants guilty, and assess the damage of the plaintiff at $5."

Under the ruling of the court as to he statute of limitations passed in 1863, the plaintiff could only ask for actual damages for less than a month's imprisonment, from which he was relieved by the supreme court deciding that his trial by a military commission was illegal.

If an application should be made for a new trial and denied, and if the court upon entering the verdict of the jury should decide that it carries the costs of the suit with it, then the defendants will appeal the case upon the ground that verdicts for damages in the United States courts for less than $50 throw the costs upon the plaintiff. As this suit was comenced in a state court and from thence transfered to a United States court, a nice point arises: whether the rule of the state or federal court shall govern. It then state courts a verdict for any amount carries the costs with it.

◆

POLITICAL gossip is very abundant. The freshest items Greeley's bid for the Presidency, his Presidential exploiting and electioneering tour and the discussion of his chance; the World wishes him success but says if it thought there was the slightest chance of his election it should probably be in no haste to exchange King Log for King Stork. Carolina has published an address advising full vote for the proposed Costitutional Convention, and urging the Democrats to cartfully abstain from all violence, and make extraordinary efforts to preserve perfect peace, order and harmony, while they make a slight effort to "remove the curse and blast that now darken their hope and destroy their substance." Under the head o "The bars Down" the Raliegh (N. C.) Sentinel states that eleven colored Republicans and two whites publish cards in the Carolina Spectator withdrawing from the Radical party. The Lutherford Vindicator announces "daily accessions to the Conservative ranks of honest Republicanism." Jeff. Davis in his speech at Augusta said he "had shaken hands with politics. I am now engaged upon matters of life insurance. [Laughter an applause.] I would like to insure all your lives for a hundred years," [Laughter and applause.] He also said "there is no organization in the South—there never was— whose purpose resistance to the Goverment. [A voice—"That's so."] Though we were compelled to submit to the presence of power, yet our manhood and our self-respect can be preserved. Peace is what we desire and peace we will have."

THE Republican editors swear that the Democracy have stolen their platform "Shoo fly."

We are now prepared to sell clothing at such low prices that it will pay you to come to the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5 Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind., as our entire new spring stock has arrived, and as fast as we can make room for more, they are coming in. We have enlarged our store and are now prepared to sell goods lower than ever.

Iowa, Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The Starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is Burlington, on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western terminii.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and trade choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, 55 miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the only direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph. Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You both pass over a road second to no other in speed, safety, or any Pullman luxury of Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as 400,000 acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward, to "take the Burlington Route."

SONG ECHO

A New School Book, by H. S. Perkins. Price, $7.50 per dozen. Contains over two hundred new and beautiful Songs, Duets, etc., by Will S. Hays, Websters, Thomas, etc. Every thing is new, fresh, and sparkling. Contents and specimen pages sent free. Sample copies mailed free of postage to teachers for 65c Liberal terms for introduction.

Address,
April 27, 2-m.

FIFTY DOLLARS WORTH OF MUSIC FOR $3.

Subscribers to Peters Musical Monthly are getting their music for less than two cents a piece.—Those who have not seen this Musical Magazine should send 30c for a sample copy. The music is by Hays, Thomas, Kinkel, Persley and other popular writers. Two back numbers for 40 cents. Four back numbers for 75 cts.

J. L. PETERS,
599 Broadway, New York

DANIEL VOLLMER,

PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST

CORNER CALHOUN & BERRY STS.,

FORT WAYNE IND'A.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorus and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system.

The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or

$40.00 PER SET COMPLETE.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors, 40 full page Steel Engrvings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 260 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each vol ume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only

- Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
- Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
- Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
- Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
- Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will, hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 1 of the Oil Chromos, 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.,

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply as address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND, VT.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs.

Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and renumerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood. Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called.

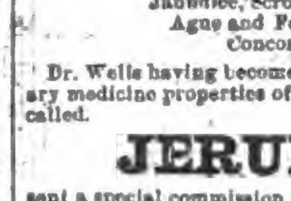
JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y Sole Agent for the United States.

Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.



Thea-Nectar

IS A PURE

BLACK TEA

with the Green Tea Flavor Warranted to suit all tastes For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

WANTED AGENTS [$20 per day] to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under feed, makes the 'lock stitch' [alike on both sides] and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the Market. Address JOHNSON CLARK & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, Cincinnati Ohio.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1 Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. PATTEN, Treas. Springfield Mass.

FRUIT HOUSE PRICE CURRENT

IMMENSE RECEIPTS OF ALL GOODS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Best Teas Reduced to $1,25 per lb.

This is the lowest it has been in ten years. We are able to do this from the fact that we purchase direct from the importers, and sell direct to the consumer, thereby saving the profits of the speculators, jobbers and wholesale merchants which are 10 to 30 cents per pound.

Young Hyson, per lb.	60c 80c $1.00, best $1 25
Imperial and Gunpowder, per lb.	1.00, best 1.25
Japan and Oolong, per lb.	90c best 1.10

COFFEE.

Rio and Laguayra, per lb.	16c, and 18c, best 20c

Roasted Coffee, 23c. Old Government, 25c.

SUGARS.

Coffee 'A' white per lb.	12½c
Brown, per pound	8c, 8c and 10c

MEAT.

Smoked Sides	11	cents
Smoked Shoulders	9	"
Pickled Pork	10	"
Lard	12½	"

TOBACCOS.

Navy, 10s and per ½ lb.	.50	"
Flounders, per lb.	.60	"
Best Smoking, per lb.	.30	"
Second quality do., per lb.	.25	"
Shorts, 35c, or 3 lbs for	$1.00	"
Fine-cut, per lb, 60c best 95	.95

MISCELLANEOUS.

Coffee Essence, 7 boxes	.25	"
Soap 8c, 5c and 8c per bar.		"
Blueing 2 boxes	.5	"
Saleratus, 3 papers	.25	"

DRIED FRUITS.

Turkish Prunes, per lb.	12½	cents
Apples, per lb. ...7c	12½	"
Peaches, per lb.	12½	"
Cherries, per lb. ...7c, and	12	"
Oranges, per dozen	30	"
Lemons per dozen	25	"
Filberts per quart	.15	"
Brazils, per quart	.15	"
Cigars $2 and $3 per box
Dime box Matches	.5	"

LIQUORS.

New whisky, Rye or Bourbon, per gal	90c
Whisky one year old	$1.40
Whisky two year old	1.75
Sherry and port wine, imported and pure, for medical use, per gallon	1,75

All kind of liquors on hand.

FISH

Spring catch, white fish	$7.50
Last fall, white fish	6.00
Mackerel, kitts	1.50 and 1.75
Old fish, half barrel	1.00

Codfish 4 cents per pound

CANNED FRUITS

Peaches per can	.20c
Pineapples, per can	.25c
Oysters, per can	.10c
Damsons, per can	.25c
Blackberries, per can	.20c
Egg plums, per can	.30c
Green Gages, per can	.40c

We are agents for the celebrated HOME BITTERS, the best tonic ever got ton up. It is placed at the low price of 75c per bottle—usual price $1.00.—This brings it within the reach of all. We give any one the privilege of sampling the goods—no charge. So please call and take a drink.

ALL GOODS WARRANTED SATISFACTORY, OR MONEY REFUNDED,

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

18 West Berry Street.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberger

IS PREPRED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

I desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own persanal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. We buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents,
Muslin, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20, cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward.
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $2.
Farmer's tweed 25, 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, laces, laces in great varitey, carpet chain and cotton yarn Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 29, '71.

It has the delicate and refreshing fragrance of genuine Farina Cologne Water, and is indispensable to the Toilet of every Lady or Gentleman. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in PERFUMERY.

COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.

$288 IN 16 DAYS

Made by one Agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Lines to last forever. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 75 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St, N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNGS Disease. HOARSENESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.

CAUTION. Don't let worthless articles be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets. JOHN Q. KELLOG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent. Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries, Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line alway on hand. Prices low and goods the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 2d 1y

Root & Company IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

Popular Dry Goods House

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do themselves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing our usual large and attractive assortment of

Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales,

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.,

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotten Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 24 1y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

AT

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA GUARD and VEST CHAINS, ALSO A LARGE LOT OF

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CULTERY,

Musical Instruments Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Opposite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods, No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them goods as they may need.

FOR CASH OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account, to come and settle, as he is determined to close out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTS.

Feb. 21 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the [illegible] Exception from any one or more of the branches [illegible] ticular district requiring such [illegible] tory evidence of good moral character [illegible] Teachers must not commence teaching without license. Applicants are [illegible] proved grade [illegible] Superintendent.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

THE Woman Question—Is he married.

Lots of boys were ducking in the creek yesterday.

Water sorry [illegible] most sought after by editors. The latest dates.

HOGS are doctored the right way—killed first, and cured afterwards.

A GOOD long shower would be quite a relief to the crops in this section.

DAVENPORT is still dealing cooling beverages to the thirsty [illegible] weather.

THE young lady, named Frickinger, whom we stated was insane, died last Tuesday.

A GRAND ball will be given at Leo June 16th, and the dancing will commence at "early candle light."

"This is a sweeping catastrophe," as the man said when his wife knocked him down with a broom.

THE base ball club, of this place, play a match game with the Huntertown club one day next week.

THE Commissioners' Court is in session and considerable is to be performed before they will adjourn.

"MAMMA,' said a little boy who had been sent to dry a towel before the fire, "is it dry when it is brown?'

A WELL dressed young man, very drunk, applied at a private residence, in Fort Wayne, Sunday morning, for a chance to sleep in the stable.

A LITTLE three year old remarked the other day, that if he had the railroad tax, he would drive them in the floor.

THE fine rains at the close of last week cheered hearts and prospects of the farmers. All crops are looking well.

A ONE horse circus is to exhibit in Waterloo, in a few days. They are generally bores and our people would do well to stay at home.

PONGEES, fan and mouchoir should all be held in a lady's right hand when promenading. A pocket-book and a kid glove might also be tasteful if the paw is wide enough.

WHEN young Fort Wayne ladies visit the shoe stores in company with their beaux, they always call for No. 2's. Next day they go alone and exchange them for No. 5's, which fit a little easier.

PORK is down, and there is no demand at even the low prices asked. These rates, however, are only applicable to the porker that fell into the rear of Hare's Shoe Store.

MR. MANSFIELD, the senior of the firm of Mansfield & Scanlan, contractors on the Eel River Railroad, arrived in town last night with about twenty men, who, this morning went to work.

AN exchange says: 'A LaPorte lady whose jaw became immovable from an injury, has had it sawed off and new hinges put in, and now none of the rest of the family can get a word in edge-ways."

THANKS.—Our thanks are due Mr. John McCune, for a big lot of the largest and sweetest strawberries we have seen this year. How delicious they were—the memory of their existence makes our mouth water.

THE news from Paris is of the most sickening character. The government troops have full possession of the city, and are shooting the insurgents by the hundred. The streets have literally ran with blood.

It appears as if nearly everybody in the town went to the depot Wednesday morning and yet the streets were just as much, or more, crowded than usual. Our town is increasing in population so fast that we would hardly miss a thousand people.

THE latest recipt for making Ice Cream—which we publish for the benefit of our readers without comment—is this. 'Pick out the pretiest girl you can see, stir her gently in the corner, and ask her to give you a kiss. You will then have a nice scream."

THE editor having been captured by the Editorial Excursionists, which passed through our place yesterday, is the 'devils' apology for so few locals and so many errors. We cannot but admire their judgment, in having at least one good looking man.

PRESS of office work, in the absence of the chief, prevented our attending the Sabbath School Convention, yesterday and to-day. We hope some friend will furnish us, at an early day, with a copy of the proceedings of the convention, which will appear in our next issue.

FARMERS, before coming to town to do your trading consult the advertising columns of the COURIER, and save twenty-five per cent. The business man who can't afford to spend a few dollars in advertising his business can't afford to sell goods at a bargain. Advertising is the staff of life.

It is said that the average heat of last summer was more intense than that of any of the preceding fifty years; and the astronomers who went abroad to observe the large eclipse of the sun state that we may expect hotter weather this summer than that of last.

"WE want four hundred new subscribers," says a cotemporary, "in the next sixty days." Well, if "wanting" gets them, we want about two hundred ourself in the next sixty days. Won't some of our friends make a slight exertion to increase our list.

A COUNTRY paper tells of a beautiful, amiable, facinating, and immensely wealthy young lady in a village in the country who carefully conceals the knowledge of her wealth, wears sheep clothes, and works in a milliner shop, waiting for an interesting young man to woo and win her "for herself alone.' There will not be a milliner left in that village in three months.

OUR VISIT TO OHIO.

Stealing in upon the hours of business came the desire to visit the [illegible] of our childhood, after an absence of several years, and during the past fortnight we have visited the scenes of our innocent juvenile feats and achievements, such as getting thrashed at school, and having the dose repeated at home, going to the circus and getting [illegible] teams and other harmless [illegible] tifying amusements, not down on the programme. And to-day away down over the hills to the eastward, and far into the blue beyond, cove between the mountains, at whose feet lie beautiful, fertile plains, beaming with rich crops of grain and verdure is situated the spot that our infancy knew. Waynesburg, a pleasant, thriving village, with but a thousand inhabitants, gradually increasing in wealth, and caring but little for those beautiful attractions that mark the progress and spirit of the times.

We were present at the ceremonies of decorating the soldiers graves, on memorial day, a beautiful custom which seems to be growing less popular at each annual return. Gen. Shane delivered an eloquent address, and we were pleased to notice that Col. Jones and Major Glessner added largely, especially the former, to the magnitude of the occasion. Perhaps these gentlemen will hardly appreciate our remarks but with an unselfishness only equaled by our generosity, we in communion with those who starved themselves to death, feel that Waynesburg contributed largely to the glorious military record which Ohio sustains to-day, and whether in the ranks or in authority, we would not detract one iota from their brilliant achievements. There is a "grand army of the Potomac" at this place. People sometimes make a mistake and call it the Grand Army of the Republic but that would rather lead one to infer that it had a political complexion, which would be quite wrong, you know. Other than the natural attractions which abound the place, the only prominent feature is a political one. Here Radicalism reigns supreme, and to the refined intelligent mind, the picture is a sad one. The mass of the people, led on by bold bad men are made to contribute to the abridgement of their own privileges and interests and until the people themselves break assunder this mighty power that binds them as slaves to partyism their terrible fate is beyond conjecture. But the Democracy is on the alert, and are rapidly gaining ground.—The re-nomination of Grant for the next President, it is thought will materially assist in the reconstruction of this township and releive them from the thraldom that now enchains them to their leaders. Let us have peace.

THE State of Michigan contains 5,144 inland lakes, covering an area of 1,114 miles, beside a water front on the great lakes of more than 1,300 miles.

A New York gentleman has purchased an own sister to Mambrino Bertie for $2,500. She is by Mambrino Patchen, own brother to Lady Thorne by Mambrino Chief; second dam, Young Flaxy by Telegraph; third dam, old Flaxy by Ohio Bellfounder.

THE latest style of 'doing up the back hair' adopted by the Indianapolis ladies is to stick a hair pin in the back of their heads and then coil the long tresses a round that. Of course it causes considerable pain, but then you see it's fashionable? Nothing like style.

President Collins, of the Eel River R. R was in town last week, and finally adjusted the balance of the right-of-way, west of this place.

Major Thiel, the chief Engineer of the Eel River R. R., we noticed in town one day this week, looking after the interests of the road, and his subordinates. He says track laying will be commenced, at Columbia City, by the 20th inst.

FIRST CLASS.—We stopped at the Avlington House, Alliance, Ohio, and partook of a splendid meal now furnished by the popular host, F. M. Keer, Esq. This house formerly went under the name of the Nixton House, but it has been so much improved, that the old name would hardly do it justice. Matt Johnson, the gentlemanly clerk, will show you every attention, and be delighted to contribute to your comfort.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.—Last night about eight o'clock a fire occurred in F. F. Boltz's grocery store in Fort Wayne, and while the citizens and firemen were engaged extinguishing the flames, saving property, and looking after their comrades; oil in the cellar became ignited and in an instant, a terrific blast of fire from the burning fluid with flying missiles, killed one man named Huselman, and mortally injuring and burning others—in all thirty-six. A number of the unfortunates we personally and otherwise know, and to them and their families, we extend our tenderest sympathies and heartfelt commiseration.

A LUNATICALLY inclined French woman proposes to bequeath $10,000 to Mr Bergh's Cruelty to Animals Society in New York. The courts will probably rectifiy the effects of this sort of mania when the will comes up for probate. The mere proposition to expend money in schemes of sentimental kindness to brutes, when men and women are suffering on every street for the necessaries of life, should be accepted as prima facie evidence of insanity.

SUMMER is now fairly upon us, though we have in fact been experiencing summer weather for some time past, the mercury rising as high as 92° in the shade. The season has now so far advanced that even in the northernmost parts of the country the danger to fruit trees and crops from frost and cold storms is entirely past. The reports from various States indicate that a fair yield of fruit may be expected.

AN old lady took a drink of lye from a jug which she thought contained cider; and being uncertain whether her taste was perverted or she had the wrong jug, gave her husband a swig of the same to get his opinion: their throats soon began to burn, and they took a good dose of oil to allay the unpleasant sensation; the oil and lye combined, and the couple soon relieved themselves of a quantity of very nice soft-soap. Any who do not believe this story may try it.

EEL RIVER RAIL ROAD.

The engineers are at work preparing estimates for the work to be done on this road, and a large force is ready to go to work as soon as these estimates are furnished to the contractors. Messrs. Mansfield & Scanlan have a contract for the grading and bridging some sixteen miles west, and commenced work yesterday [illegible] Considering the light grading to be done it will be ready for the ties in a short time, and we may look for its early completion. We hope that that work will commence on the line from this place east, and we believe that with a proper effort upon the part of the people, this result can be secured.

SPECIAL VISITS.—During our visit east we called at the [illegible] office, at Canton, Ohio, and found our friend, McGrgor dealing out Democratic thunderbolts in his usual able and forcible manner. Mac has a good office, and is doing a noble work for the Democracy, and we look for old Molly Stark to come all sound at the next Presidential election. We also made a brief call at the Repository and Republican office, quite an extensive establishment, over which persided so long, that master printer, John Saxton, Esq., the oldest editor and publisher in the country, whose demise we noticed a few weeks ago. This paper advocates the other side of the question, and a hard job it has, too.

"THE LOCAL." is the name of a new paper at Alliance now operated by those clever gentlemen, Capt. McGee & Gillespie They are shaking out quite a lively paper and it is rapidly gaining favor. The other paper enjoyed the prestige for a while, but as soon as Mac appeared with his crisp, spicy items, a change took place, and the Local is the paper.

We spent just a moment at he Minerva Commercial, but the time was sufficient to convince us that Watson meant business, and knew how to get up a good paper, and that the people of Minerva and vicinity appreciated the same fact.

We found our friend Cune at Upper Sandusky, in the enjoyment of the Republican and post office, the last of which is the least. Mr. C. has surmounted many obstacles and proven himself worthy of the confidence of the people by his able and unflinching support of the miserable dogmas of his party. However in the language of the immortal "J. N." he is right from his standpoint, and would not dare to impugn any but a conscionable motive to his actions.

We met Bro. Bruner, of the Union, whom we found as courtious and affable as ever. The Union is a No. 1 office, furnished to perfection and doing a large business. Mr. B. seems to take well with the people and is meeting with great encouragement. But the best office we saw on our visit and what we regard as the best in the State of Ohio without an exception is the Forum, at Bucyrus Ohio, under the genius of that excellent gentleman, John R Clymer, Esq., a gifted and accomplished editor. The Forum now holds an inviable existence in the journalism of that State, and well it may. We cannot give the many features of this establishment, now, but still hold to the assertion that it has no superior in the country.

That Little Lamb Again.

A beautiful young damsel, who delighted in the rare and euphoneous appellation of Mary, possessed a diminutive creature of the genus lam kinus, whose capillary appendage was as white as particles of congealcd moisture commonly called snow.—Everywhere that mary peregrinated, the little quadruped was inclined to accompany her He followed her to the Literary Institution one day, a proceeding diametrically opposed to the rules thereof, for it incited the members of the youthful generation to loud cachinations and frolicsome infantile gambols, to see one of the genus lam kinus where only the genus home were accustomed to congregate. Then the pedagogue unanimously excluded and excommunicated him, but still he lingered in the vicinity of those hallowed precints, in patient waiting until his visual organs were gladdened by the appearance of the aforesaid Mary. Then without delay he propelled himself rapidly toward her, and trustingly laid his phrenological developements upon the prolongation of her shoulder, as if to say: "Put me in my little bed."

ANOTHER coal oil explosion, the same old story of trying to make a fire, at Columbia City last week. A little girl twelve years old burned to death. The Post says:

On last Wednesday evening our town was startled by the cry of fire, and large columns of smoke issuing from the residence occupied by Mr William Youtz confirmed the alarm, and told that the fire king was abroad. Upon going to the scene, we were met by a sight that surpassed anything it has ever been our unfortunate lot to see, and one whose horrible memories will follow us many days, so sickening was the picture. We have seen strong men fall, on the field of battle, hurried into eternity, bloody and broken, but the sight was mild in comparison to the seared and blackened form of poor, dear little Ida Wunderlich, as she lay a disfigured heap, just as she had been borne from the red chamber of death by the strong arms of Mr. Youtz, whose home has been swept away by the remorseless flames.

The poor little sufferer was taken to the Tremont House, and all that medical skill could accomplish was done to alleviate her misery. So badly was she burned that her most intimate friends did not recognize her, and from her own poor, scorched lips was first learned her name. No hand could save her. The cruel demon had placed the seal of dissolution on her form and after lingering in the most intense agony nearly three hours, death kindly came to her relief.

FOSTER, the street car murderer, was a wild boy, and his wealthy and religious farther turned him adrift to prey on society He had not been seen or heard of for months by his family, until they learned through the papers that he had committed a murder. Then the old man became deeply interested in rescuing his son from the imminent gallows. If he had done his duty sooner, the victim might still be alive, and the son out of danger. Ought there not to be some means of fixing the proper responsibility upon a man who thus rears his child in idleness and allows him to run into crime?

Green Grocers—Those who do the credit business.

Baltimore Railway.

The Baltimore [illegible] the proceedings of the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of this railway, at which President John W. Garrett made a speech in which he said that "great enthusiasm existed throughout the northwest to secure in the interests of those east [illegible] the advantages of the Pittsburg, Baltimore and Chicago line—as a great competing route against the high charges and greater distances to New York—to Baltimore, their natural and most economical port on the [illegible]. Under the [illegible] ation pro[illegible] steps would be taken to decide upon the route, and secure the early construction of the road."

The good people of the little benighted town of Albion are "pushing things" in behalf of the southern route of the Baltimore and Ohio railway. We are glad to note this evidence of their life, and if we cannot get the road we prefer it going through Albion over any other place.—And after they get a railroad we hope they will get a newspaper. Our best wishes are for Albion. They need light there and nothing short of a rail road and a newspaper will answer the purpose. Hurrah for Albion When it gets railroad connection with Syracuse the good people there may consider themselves "out of the woods."

This important railway, connecting Chicago with Baltimore and giving the great west another trans-Atlantic outlook to Liverpool, has fought its way to Pittsburgh, and its chief engineer, Mr. Steel, has been engaged in prospecting for a route thence through Ohio and Indiana to accomplish the great enterprise of the company. He went from Defiance, Ohio, via Albion, Noble county, Ind., Syracuse, Bremen, on to Chicago, and is now on his inspecting tour east via LaPorte, South Bend, Mishwaka, Elkhart, Goshen, LaGrange, Angola, Bryan, Ohio, to Fostoria, &c. He was met with a cordial welcome by the citizens along both routes and expresses himself highly pleased at the present and future prospects of the whole county and its adaptability for railroad purposes. Our business men turned out last Monday night enmasse and held a regular tete a tete with this distinguished professional gentleman at the Violett House, the popular landlord of which threw open his spacious rooms for the accommodation of the public. The interview was highly satisfactory to our citizens, and the next morning Mr. Steel, per arrangement, was conveyed on his prospecting tour to LaGrange. Both routes will be surveyed, and the one most compatible with the interests of the company will be adopted. With this arrangement we are content.—Goshen Democrat.

Auburn is also much interested in this road and we hope every one will do their part and give all their assistence to this line. Other places are waking up and putting forth their best efforts, and if we do not make a good showing our chances will decrease in proportion.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.—Send to the American Publishing Company, Rutland Vt., for their beautiful Specimen book, and make ten dollars the first time you show the book. Read their advertisement in another column, concerning the Parlor Album, and you will get full particulars.
The Parlor Album contains more beautiful embellishments than any other work extant. The Specimen Book is sent free on receipt of postage.

THE FIRST IN THE FIELD.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Mar. 9. ROTHSCHILDS & BRO.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	135 @ 138
" Red	128
Oats	48
Rye	60
Corn	45
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	8@12
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Fine	45
Medium	40
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	8c
Beans per lb	03c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	03c

STATE OF INDIANA } DeKalb County. }

In the Common Pleas Court, September term 1871

Bernard Trentman,
August Trentman,
vs
Horatio W. McKinney. } Complaint.

Now comes D. D. Moody and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, Horatio W. McKinney is not a resident of the State of Indiana,

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of September, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said court affixed at Auburn, this 25 day of May A. D. 1871.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
F. M. BIDDLE.
April 29, '70. 1-y

Heustis & Hamilton
WHOLESALE
GROCERS
NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.
Fort Wayne, Ind'a.
March 9, '71.

A five-year-old son of David Mung, who lives near Union City, made a bon-fire of his fathers' barn last Monday.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a Decree to me directed from the Clerk of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, in a cause wherein Gilbert [illegible] is Plaintiff and Levi R. Powell is Defendant, requiring me to make the sum of eighty-six Dollars and forty three cents, with interest on said Decree and costs, I will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on Saturday, June 17th A. D. 1871.

between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m. of said day at the Court House in DeKalb County, Indiana, [illegible] section [illegible] township [illegible] (37) [illegible] range twelve (12) east in DeKalb County, Indiana. [illegible] sufficient to discharge said Decree, interest and cost.

Said sale will be made without any relief from valuation and appraisement laws.

JEREMIAH PLUM, Sheriff.

D. D. MOODY, Att'y for Plaintiff.

Auburn, Ind., May 22nd, 1871. $7 35.

DEAFNESS, CATARRH, SCROFULA. A lady who had suffered for years from Deafness, Catarrh and Scrofula, was cured by a simple remedy. [illegible] sympathy and gratitude prompt her to send the receipt free of charge to any one similarly afflicted. Address Mrs. [illegible] Jersey city, N. J.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Elizabeth Daily,
Andrew Daily,
vs
Nancy Klink,
Angeline Klink, Complaint No.
Henry Klink,
Jacob Klink,
Sarah Jane Growcock
James Growcock
Adam Slaughterback &
Cathrine Slaughterback,

Now comes the Plaintiff, by M. C. Peterson, their Attorney, and files their complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant Angeline Klink, Catharine Slaughterback, and Adam Slaughterback, are not residents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendants that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county, and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 20th day of May, A. D. 1871

J. L. LANNING, Clerk.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want an agent, male or female, in every town in this State, to whom we will pay a salary of from $50 to $200 per month and expenses, and will give greeable and honorable employment for at least one year. This is no humbug as any one can ascertain by addressing C. W. ARMSTONG & Co., No 1 & 2 Seitz New Block, Detroit, Mich. No stamp required. No commission agents need apply.

Notice to Builders.

Bids will be received by I. M. Thomas, Township Trustee, for the erection of a School House, in District No. 2, Union Township, DeKalb County, Ind. Said School House to be built of stone and brick; to be 22 feet wide, 30 feet long, and 12 feet high. All the material will be furnished on the ground.

The letting of the contract will take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1871 to the lowest responsible bidder, at my office in Auburn.

I. M. THOMAS Trustee

April 6, 1871.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA, } ss. DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August Term, 1871.

John L. Short,
vs.
Edward W. Shepard. } Complaint No. 64.

Now comes the plaintiff, by D. D. Moody, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said defendant, E. W. Shepard, whose given name is unknown to the plaintiff herein, is not a resident of the State of Indiana.—

Notice is therefore hereby given said defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said County and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 2d day of May A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER
& BOND,
BUILDING CONTRACTORS!
AND DEALERS IN BUILDING STONE
OF EVERY VARIETY,
MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES
IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.
MANTELS
IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.
MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron
MANTELS, GRATES,
FRAMES and
SUMMER FRONTS,
MARBLE SLATE and
SANDSTONE, HEARTHS.
SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.
TERRA COTTA O RK,
Vases, Chimney Tops
STONE WATER TABLES,
Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,
SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,
Cement Plaster, &c
Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workman only employed,
SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BON D
April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc,
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business only on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE.
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.

A clrgyman was lately depicting before a deeply interested audience the alarming increase of intemperance, when he astonished his hearers by exclaiming: "A young man in my neighborhood died very suddenly last Sunday while I was preaching the Gospel in a beastly state of intoxication."

NEW system. NEW
GOODS,
NEW PRICES!!
Ready Pay and Low Prices!
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
SUCCESSORS TO
O. T. CLARK & CO.
Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade! comprises everything desirable in the line of
Dry Goods
CLOTHING,
HATS AND CAPS!
Boots & Shoes,
GROCERIES,
Crockery, Notions,
And an endless variety of House-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the
BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!
For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy
Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce
Of every description, for which we pay
The Highest Market Price.
BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.
May 4, 1871.

CALL AND SEE
THE Great Spring Stock!
OF
Boots and Shoes
Just received by
W. W. HUMES,
AT
Wagoner's Old Stand,
MAIN St, AUBURN, IND.
He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant stocks of Boots and Shoes for
Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses
Ever before Exhibited
PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE.
IN POINT OF
orkmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish.
I DFFY COMPETITION.
And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.
Call and Examine for Yourselues,
W. W. HUMES.
April, 4, '70.

500 VOLUMES In One
AGENTS WANTED
FOR
The Libary of Poetry and Song.
Being Choice Selections from the Best Poets
ENGLISH, SCOTCH, IRISH AND AMERICAN.
With an Introduction
BY WILLIAM CULLES BRYANT.
Under whose critical supervision the volume was compiled.
The handsomest and cheapest subscription book extant. Over 800 pages, beautifully printed, choicely illustrated, handsomely bound. A library of over 500 volumes in one book, whose contents, of no ephemeral nature or interest, will never grow old or stale. It can be, and will be, read and re-read with pleasure by old and young, as long as its leaves hold together.
"A perfect surprise. Scarcely anything at all a favorite, or at all worthy of place here, is neglected. It is a book for every household."—N. Y. Mail.
"We know of no similar collection in the English language which, in copiousness and felicity of selection and arrangement, can at all compare with it"—N. Y. Times,
Terms liberal. Selling very rapidly. Send for Circular and Terms to J. B. FORD & CO., 27 Park Place, N. Y.

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.
TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.
Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.
Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.
Prescriptions carefully Compounded. 1y

ALL PERSONS
Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, Throat, Bronchies, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint, should apply in person or by letter, to DR. E. GARD. Office 120 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box 833, Fort Wayne Ind. Jan, 5 tf

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.
ONE OF THE LARGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co. 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.
We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of
MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!
We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and
PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!
Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.
I. LAUFERTY & SON.
South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,
Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!
We told you that on the 28th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully nouncement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes to-morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.
A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.
DRESS GOODS!
5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 25c per yard. 5,000 yards of children's palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at [illegible] a yard.
ALPACAS. ALPACAS.
We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 50c to $1.00.
Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New York, as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.
PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!
We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.
1,000 pairs of stoc ings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.
FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. AYNE, ND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES!
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS M RKLEYS are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots!
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WAN
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place: No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK CAHOUN ST, FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY S[illegible]

Sam Stackpole's Adventure.

"[illegible] candy adventure, did you ever?" said Stackpole to me one day, when I called at his house to take the census of his family.

I shook my head and he proceeded:

I speculate it was rayther a wonderful affair, and if sally there would tell it you would appreciate it, certain. I [illegible] at that time, and was in love up to my eyes. But her old daddy was opposed to me, out and out. And he was a stupendous man—the crossest, ugliest old man that ever wore spectacles; and I've often wondered how Sally could be such a charming little creature, with such a crusty old felllow for a father. She was a magnum bonum gal, sure, at that time; a little faded now, you see; but that is to be expected.—Beauty is but knee deep but ugliness goes to the bone.

"Well, one day I went to town and bought a whole heap of fancy doings ribbons, beads, goose-grease for the hair, electro and so forth. I was determined to coax her up. and putting my purchases snugly in a bundle, I locomoted towardher daddy's house, true as a rifle.

"It was rather late when I arriv' and old Scraggs was biling' some merlasses candy for sally peddel next day—there being a show—Sally and her mother having retired.

"The fust thing I done, however, arter entering, and old Scraggs had stared at me a few, was to sot right down in a pot of hot merlasses he'd put on a cheer to cool, which made me jump up and howl amazing. Gingerbread! how it burnt! But as he didn't see the accident, I squatted on sall's bandbox which contained her Sunday bonnet—not noticing—and went to rubbing like sixty-six.

"Well, arter I'd sot there a spell, groaning for myself, and wonderin, how much damage I had done, the old man gave another me such terrific look, and said:

"Sam Stackpole, what have you come here aftar, say?

"Mr. Scragg, says I, not darin' to stir for fear he would discover my predicament, I have come here on very important business. (Oh, Lordy! how that merlasses smarted!) And if you'l jist keep your ebenezer down about five minutes, I will endeavor to inform you with a degree of accuracy that I'm so preimmently and conspicuously developed.

"The old felllow didn't understand that ar powerful language, and in course he did not say nothin,' so I kept as easy as I possibly could, and went on:

"Perhaps,' says I, you've noticed that I have been paying numerous attentions to your daughter, and am gratified to state with infinite popularity. Now ef, you will give Sally to me, I will vote for you for Governor, and leave my country if you ain't elected.

"Well, arter I'd delivered myself in that ar benevolent style, what do think the codger's reply was? Why, instead of saying' 'Take Sally, and welcome,' he actually pointed to the door, and told me to scatter. I vow I got out of patience then, sure, and didn't care what occurred—if Sally's bonnet was smashed.

"Mr. Scraggs,' sez I, 'I should be very happy to oblige you, but the facts is, I sat down right here, and can't leave nohow, unless you cut a hole in my trowsers.

"When the old man seed how I was stuck fast as I sot, he just catched up the whole pot full of hot candy off the fire and emptied it all over my head anp shoulders, true as I'm alive! Jehu! how the stuff made me cavort and holler! But I was so mad, that I grabbed a great gob and let him have it, biff! right between the eyes.

"There, take that,' sez I, 'you old flapeared piece of deformity? and then I started for the door, direct, I just got it open, ready to dart, when old Mrs. Scraggs burst into a loud laugh and Sally spoke for the first time.

"Sam Stackpole, sez she, 'hold! my bandbox and your pantaloons are annexed!'

"Jerusalem!' sez I, and I leaped. I must have been awful skeered, for I landed at least twenty feet outside the house, and run like a prairie fire. I never looked behind me till next mornin', and when I did the kiver of the bandbox was a stickin' fast to my trowsers!

"That was my merlasses candy adventure, Squire, and right hot work it was. But I married Sally at last. The old man gin in arter a while, and now you can reckon up the family in your sinsus, soon as you please.

In the Wrong Box.

In Berkshire county, Mass., a few days ago, five young scamps, known as "bloods," drove to an elegant mansion, mistaken it for a hotel, ordered dinner, demanded to see the fishing grounds, and stormed around generally. When they came back from fishing they swore some when their order for brandy was answered with the information that there was none in the house; called Miss Jennie, the host's daughter, Betty and bridget, when she went in with the desert, as her father insisted she should, and asked "if she had ever been to tunn, or seen the steam keers?" After dinner they called for their team, grumbled at their bad luck at not seeing Oaks, after they had heard of his droll stories, but I suppose you can tell us what our "bill is Old Avoirdupois?" "You are quite welcome to what you have had," was the reply, "as this is not a hotel, and I am William Oaks, as I could have told you sometime ago, had you inquired for the master of the house." They prepared to depart, after profuse apologies, but were still further mortified, as Miss Jennie just coming down stairs in an elegant silk suit, "Old Avoirdupois" called her in and introduced her with his old-fashioned courtly grace, as "my daughter, gentlemen! The [illegible] of her old father's house and the bride of his heart."

THE "five-year rotation" adopted in England for light loamy lands is: First, [illegible]; second, barley; third and fourth, clover; fifth, wheat. The advantages of this system are that land gets a through cleaning, and a [illegible] for the barley; and a young sod is held to be, when broken up by a single plowing, a good preparation for sound seed-bed for the [illegible].

State Items.

[illegible] Union City, made a bon-fire of his fathers' barn last Monday.

Corydon is the home of a man whose autograph has been mistaken for the draft of a patentable improvement in subsoil plows.

The infant son of Peter Likens, who resides near Winchester, while sitting on the floor playing, as usual, suddenly fell over on its face—dead.

At Arcola, on Tuesday, an old man named McCarthy attempted to cross the railroad-track just as the express train was rushing by. He was run down and himself and horses killed.

Ruth Rosenbarger, fourteen years old, daughter of John Rosenbarger, of Darlington, Montgomery county, poured coal oil on a fire last Tuesday. Result—explosion and death within three hours.

Blakely, who is in jail at Evansville, for shooting Donahoe, is already reported to have killed ten men besides Donahoe. By the time his trial is concluded the number will probably have increased a half dozen.

In the neighborhood of West Liberty a curious disease is prevailing among cows. A large number have died. It is stated that just after the birth of a calf the cow, within twenty-four hours, sickens and dies before the end of the second day. In that neighborhood there has recently been scarcely an exception to the rule.—Our informant, Squire Tunnell, knew of seven deaths in one neighborhood.—Kokomo Tribune.

Humorous.

Woman's rights women may yet aspire to positions in the navy; Lot's wife was an old salt, you know.

If boys can parse sentences easily at school, it does not follow that they will make good judges.

What's the difference between a chilly man and a warm dog? One wears a great coat and the other pants.

The foreman of a New Orleans jury indorsed a verdict for manslaughter thus: "Verdic Gilty with muna sluter e m thewa."

"Halloh, there, Betsy, what o'clock is it and where's the chicken pie? 'It's eight sir.'

'Astonishing cure for consumption,' as the old lady said when she sprinkled snuff on her boarders' hash.

Laws, like sausages, cease to inquire respect in proportion as we know how they are made.

Why are hens not immortal? Because they have their necks twirled in this.

A man who has no bills against him belongs to the highest order of no-billity.

An apothecary sent in a bill to a widow which ran thus: "To curing your husband till he died!"

Popping the question is a good deal like champagne—if it doesn't pop itself, there is something wrong about it.

A Californian has offered premiums to the amount of twenty dollars, to be divided to the five girls, under fifteen years of age, who can cut and make the five best calico dresses to be exhibited at the next State Fair.

Two honest and obstinate Lewis County N. Y., farmers have a lawsuit about a patch of land, worth perhaps ten dollars which has lately been tried the fifth time. The fees and costs incurred thus far amount to several thousand dollars.

H horse that trots a mile to sulky in 2:15 is exciting San Francisco. The animal was rescued from a butcher's cart.—Ex-Govenor Starford has paid $3,900 for him.

A great Catholic revival is in progress in Trinidad, in consequence of reported miracles by an image of the virgin.

The Non-Episcopal Methodist conference, by a decided vote, refused to authorize the ordination of females to the Ministry.

LEARNING will accumulate wonderfully if you add a little every day.

Wednesday being the Queen's birthday, it was celebrated throughotu the Dominion as a general holiday.

"TELL me, angelic host, ye messengers of love, shall swindled printers here below have no redress above?" The shining angel band replied: "To us is knowledge given, delinquent on the printer's books can never enter heaven."

An Indianapolis gentleman's claim for divorce is based on the ground that when he married, four weeks ago, his wife's hair was black, but now it is red enough to entitle her to the front rank in a torch-light procession.

"Johnny," said one of the boys to a bereaved friend who had just lost his father, "yer behaved well at the funeral." "Oh, pshaw," said Johnny, with the air of one whose merits were only half recognized, "you should have seen me at the grave."

A Yankee in England being annoyed by the constant boasting as to the superiority of English girls, finally silenced laudation by declaring that "they had a gal in Boston only eleven years old, who could chew gum in seven differnt languges with her eyes shut."

A Singular Habit of a Horse

Mr Jacob Pitzer, of the town of Mission, LaSalle county, Ill., has a mare Fanny, eleven years old, that he works daily on the farm. He has owned her three years past and has known her twice that length of time, and says that she was never known to lie down in the barn or elsewhere—except to roll when turned loose out of doors. She has been slyly watched a great number of nights to see how she slept aftr having performed unusual hard work, but she has never been caught lying down; yet she is often found standing erect on her hid legs, kneeling down before, her head straight out in front, with her chin or lower jaw lying on the floor or ground. In this position she is supposed to sleep and rest, instead of lying down as others do. She is in good condition, works hard, feels or acts as though she felt well, and the skin of her knees is hard and callous. Mr. P. calls her his [illegible], or [illegible] horse.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Hay House, Fort Wayne, Ind.
Feb. 22, O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER,
MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT
FITTING SHIRTS
TH EY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF
Mens' Furnishing Goods!
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA
SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!
CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.
MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE
GEO. HENSLER,
—OF—
BUTLER INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butle the largest and best selected stock of
HARDWARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usully kept in a first class HardwareStore.
GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman
MERCHANT TAILOR
First-Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, - - IND

Eagle Mills!
AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,
Auburn, April 19, '71.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc,
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business only on the
Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE.
NOTIONS, &c., &c,
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of
MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!
HATS, CAPS and
Furnishing Goods,
ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling
STRICTLY for CASH
we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, he advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the
PALACE OF FASHION
for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!
Fort Wayne Indiana,
Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.	Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Colored " " " "	Japenese, plain " "
Japenese " striped	" " brocaded
" Checked	" Watere

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.	Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Plain " " "	Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Wash " " "	Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c..

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of handsome lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours

Black Briliantines

The handsomeest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings, &c., White, Marselilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallencienne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.
FORT WAYNE IND.

For Fruit and Fine Family
Groceries and Provisions,
GO TO
JNO. BUTT
One door north of Post Office.
AND
B 4 U
BUY
T
And Sugar,
EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES AND BE CONVINCED THAT BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH IS TRUE ECONOMY.
Waterloo, Nov. 19, 1870. 2-46 6m

McDOUGAL'S
CARPET STORE
—
A FULL LINE OF CARPETS
AND House Furnishing
GOODS,
All of which will be sold at very low prices.
JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO. of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, has a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same number of thread on the under or upper and under side, [illegible]. Our Family Machine is especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequaled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

Mrs. El. SLATTNE.
Mrs. J. A. SARNS.

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW Wagon Shop
In
Auburn Indiana.
JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS
Carriages,
CUTTERS,
Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,
102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENEREAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS—all the doubtful curious things you should know. Private Circular send Ladies for stamp.

See Here
FARMERS.
Have you got good
FANNING MILLS?
If not, get one of
J. B. TAYLOR'S
CELEBRATED
Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been tried 14 years past, and not found wanting, [illegible] and expert, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of [illegible]. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-69. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICITED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.
Waterloo City, March 31, 1869. -8

PARIS HAS FALLEN!
So Has
THE HIGH PRICES,
WITH
S. LAUFFERTY!
DRY GOOS,
Ready Made Clothing,
Hats and Caps,
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES
QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for
Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool'
Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!
AT
SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!
JOHN L. DAVIS,
OF THE
Pioneer Hardware Store
AUBURN - - INDIANA.

ould respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of,

Stoves,
Cutlery,
Hardware,
Buildig Matrial,
Agriculturl Implements,
HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cisterns and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufac tures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c. We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23 1871.

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. II. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 15, 1871. No. 24.

THE AUBURN COURIER,

Published Every Thursday,

[illegible]

One year ... $2.00

BUSINESS CARDS.

SPENCER & BRENTON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Harmond Co. [illegible] opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. RICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly [illegible]

W. D. HOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW [illegible] first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 2-45

[illegible]

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, [illegible] Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. [illegible] street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-26

[illegible] & MORLAN,

A[illegible] Office over [illegible] 2-28

BEST & M'CLELLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, [illegible] practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. [illegible] W. H. M'CLELLAN.

[illegible] C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN [illegible] Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber at the [illegible] at all times. 2-32

W. H. DILLS,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office over [illegible]

JAS. E. GRAHAM. [illegible] GOTSHALL, Justice of the Peace. Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, and [illegible] FOR [illegible] No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in [illegible]

E. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. [illegible] &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,

HOMŒOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who [illegible] should apply to Dr. H. Lehmann. All communications strictly confidential. [illegible] Union [illegible], Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-28

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us. GUY PLUM, W. M.

JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.

W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited. A. HALL, N. G.

J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. RUSH, W. C.

W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,

HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays [illegible] Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block [illegible] House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. [illegible]

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lanferty's store. All work warranted.

[illegible] HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINAFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC, [illegible] Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good [illegible] and stabling attached.

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURELY VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

EUREKA

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agts., San Francisco, Cal., and [illegible]

[illegible]

Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., [illegible] of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. [illegible] provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison [illegible]

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

[illegible] at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism [illegible] Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

[illegible] INDIGESTION, [illegible] Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, [illegible]

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver [illegible]

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. [illegible]

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. [illegible]

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R. R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870, Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1.35 A.M.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rochester	2.48 "	7.10 A.M.	10.05 A.M.	3.00 P.M.
Alliance	5.05 "	9.40 "	12.05 P.M.	4.25 "
Orrville	6.44 "	11.45 "	2.00 "	7.40 "
Mansfield	9.05 "	1.58 P.M.	4.45 "	[illegible]
A.	9.35 "	4.30 "	5.32 "	[illegible]
Crestline	10.05 "	5.0 "	7.25 "	11.00 "
L.	[illegible]	5.35 "	7.45 "	11.10 "
Forest	11.27 "	7.35 "	9.30 "	12.34 A.M.
Lima	12.26 P.M.	9.00 "	10.40 "	1.35 "
Ft. Wayne	2.30 "	11.45 "	1.25 A.M.	3.25 "
Plymouth	4.50 "	2.26 P.M.	3.57 "	4.57 "
Chicago	7.50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Going East.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5.50 A.M.	9.00 A.M.	5.35 P.M.	9.00 P.M.
Plymouth	9.50 "	12.05 P.M.	9.08 "	[illegible]
Ft. Wayne	12.50 "	2.35 "	11.30 "	[illegible]
Lima	3.25 "	4.06 "	1.35 A.M.	[illegible]
Forest	4.45 "	5.08 "	[illegible]	7.07 "
A.	6.20 "	6.30 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crestline	6.?0 A.M.	6.50 "	4.30 "	[illegible]
Mansfield	6.40 "	7.17 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Orrville	9.15 "	9.05 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Alliance	11.30 "	10.4? "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rochester	2.35 P.M.	12.55 A.M.	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pittsburgh	3.40 "	1.55 "	12.10 P.M.	[illegible]

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 4, 2, 3, and 5 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 8, daily; No. 6, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp	Mixed.	Mail
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 A.M.	9 30 A.M.	4 15 P.M.
Academie	7 15	9 50	4 30
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	5 15
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 33	9 59	5 22
New Era	7 38	10 11	5 25
Auburn	8 05	10 [illegible]	5 42
Waterloo	8 15	11 25	5 50
Summit	8 30	11 50	6 05
Pleasant Lake	8 42	12 15	6 15
Angola	8 5?	12 55	[illegible]
Jonesville		3 30
Jackson	[illegible] 40	[illegible]	9 15 P.M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	Exp	Mixed.	Mail
Jackson ......Leave	8 15 P.M.	[illegible]	6 00 A.M.
Jonesville		10 30
Angola	8 22	[illegible]	8 47
Pleasant Lake	8 40	[illegible]	[illegible]
Summit	8 50	3 13	9 23
Waterloo	9 13	3 43	9 40
Auburn	9 40	4 08	9 55
New Era	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 13	4 40	10 20
Huntertown	10 20	4 48	10 26
Academie	10 37	5 [illegible]	10 37
Ft. Wayne	10 55	5 [illegible]	10 55

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with [illegible] M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt.

I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, May 23d, 1870, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	1:40 p m.
Waterloo	1:15 "	2:32 "	1:53 "
Sedan	x1:25 "	x2:45 "	2:06 "
Corunna	x1:30 "	x2:49 "	2:15 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:38 p m	12:55 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:43 "	1:01 "
Waterloo	2:50 "	11:50 "	1:15 "
Butler	x3:05 "	x12:05 a m	1:40 "

For full details, see the Company's posters and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.

CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.

[illegible], Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY AND

SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of

Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery [illegible] we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.

March 4, '71.

Come and See Me!

HERE I [illegible]

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here [illegible] would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that he will continue to keep on hand the finest [illegible]

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots.

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. [illegible] keep on [illegible]

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Wooden clothes pins are an article of export from Massachusetts. Three hundred thousand dozen of them have been sent from Boston to different parts of Europe within two months. Wooden pails and washboards are also exported largely. The town of Winchendon is the headquarters of the woodenware manufacture in this country.

THE OLD BARN.

[illegible]
Shingles [illegible]
Bed in the upper [illegible]
Wanting boards in the floors,
Beams [illegible] thick with cobwebs,
[illegible] yellow and gray,
[illegible] in helpless innocence,
Over the [illegible]

[illegible]
Now the [illegible]
Winds of a stormy day—
Scattering the fragrant hay seed,
[illegible] the straws away;
[illegible]
Spreading the [illegible]
Changing the dark old [illegible]
Into a flowery dell.

O, how I loved the shadows,
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
And watch the swallows at play,
Admired the knots in the boarding,
And rolled in the billows of hay.

Palace of king couldn't match it,
The Vatican loses its charm,
[illegible]
[illegible]
And I'd rather scent the clover,
Piled in the barn's roomy mows,
Than lie in the breath of the highlands,
Fanned from Appenine [illegible]!

A Brave Woman and a Smart Dog.

A lady living on Broadway, near the corner of Beacon street, Chelsea, was in her chamber changing her dress yesterday forenoon, when she heard a step in the dining room below. A large Newfoundland dog, which had been lying on the floor in her room, apparently asleep, started up at the sound and went down stairs. As soon as he reached the lower floor he gave an angry bark that meant business. The lady [illegible] on a dress and went down, when she saw a man, an ill-looking fellow, who had just taken hold of a valise in the front hall and about the same time had been seized by the dog, who had him firmly by the arm. On the lady's demanding of the fellow why he was there, he told her gruffly to call off her dog. She glanced at the table in the dining-room and saw the silver had disappeared, and said to the man, 'Not until you have produced my silver.'

After an attempted denial, the fellow produced a handful of spoons and forks from his pocket, and again told the lady to call off the dog. 'Not until you put back the rest of the silver,' said the lady. He reluctantly pulled the rest of the silver from another pocket. The lady, after advising the thief to come in the night the next time, took off the dog, and told him to smell the fellow, so that he would know him when when he met him again, which he did with perfect intelligence. She then ordered the fellow to walk slowly out of the front door, and he willingly obeyed, evidently very much impressed by his interview with the lady and her dog. The lady was entirely alone in the house, and she managed the affair so well, with the aid of her dog, that she only has occasion to regret that she could not give an alarm and secure the thief. The dog is scarcely a year old, but his behavior yesterday shows that he is a worthy namesake of the great Prussian war minister, Von Boon [illegible] he bears.—Boston Herald.

The Arkansas Traveler.

The following is an extract from a letter from Hot Springs, Arkansas:

After throwing myself outside of the usual amount of wild turkey, venison and sweet potatoes to make up a first-class Arkansas dinner, I set out for a walk in the country. While sitting here upon the [illegible] road but the very person I had been looking for since I had been in the State of Arkansas, viz: the celebrated 'Arkansas Traveler.' As he came marched up [illegible] cart, I had ample time to take a look at his turnout, which consisted of one ox harnessed with every conceivable sort of ropes and straps in shafts to a cart, the body of which is about as large as a dry goods box. I stopped him and he said his load consisted of pork and taters. I remarked to him that I supposed the wagon containing the pork would be along soon when without saying a word he raised the cloth from the basket and remarked,

'Thar are three as fine hogs as in that'ar basket as was ever seen.'

The idea to a Wabasher of three entire hogs in a three peck basket bringing to market! The breed of hogs here they call the hazel-splitter. I asked him if he could play on the violin. He asked me if I meant the fiddle. I told him I did. He [illegible] and at that moment I thought I saw bowie knives for two. But instead, seeing that I was his friend, he merely remarked that he guessed I was a stranger in this county, for if he could only play the fiddle, he would be elected to any office he wanted. As soon as he said this, he was invited to take a drink.

Story of the Little Boy.

A good joke is told of a little five year old fellow, who, having disobeyed his father, was about to incur the penalty—a switching. The father deliberately prepared [illegible] while his son stood a sad and silent spectator. As the parent approached to the unpleasant duty, the boy started at a brisk run toward a neighboring hill. The father followed, and for a time the youngster increased the distance between them, but gradually his strength began to fail, and when he reached the hill and began to ascend he soon lost his vantage ground. Nearer and nearer the irate father approached, and just at the top of the hill was reached, and he came within arm's length of the little fugitive, who was ready to fall from exhaustion, the boy quickly raised a [illegible], dropped upon the ground, and with an indescribable cast of countenance exclaimed:

'Papa, that—makes a fellow—blow—don't it?' This 'changing of the subject' was so extremely [illegible] that the father [illegible] his hopeful son exhibited and the rod was not used.

Anecdote of Girard the Banker.

[illegible]

"Sir?"

'At your service,' said Girard; 'I have the honor to be yours.'

'Yes, Sir.'

[illegible] settle his accounts [illegible]

'Yes, sir, his accounts were settled promptly and cheerfully.'

[illegible]

[illegible] ed two new ships, and his [illegible]

[illegible] I have the honor to be, Sir, with the highest consideration and respect, your very Humble and Obedient Servant.'

How he Became Deaf.

A Vermont landlord, famous for being deaf just when he wanted to be, when called upon his infirmity one day, told his amused guests the following story:

When a young man, he worked on a farm for a stingy old farmer, in an adjoining town. On leaving him a balance of two dollars was due George for wages. Having called repeatedly for his money, the old man had some excuse for not paying. A sow of the old man's had a litter of pigs consisting of four; one of them, which is generally the case, being a small one, or as they call them, [illegible]. George told the old man that he would take a pig for his money, the old man said he might take a small one. George jumped into the pen and seized the largest pig. The old man shouted:

'Take the small one!'

'Let him squeal,' said George, 'I can hold him.'

Old man excited:

'Take the small one!'

'I'll risk his biting,' replied George.

Old man desperate, and as loud as he could bellow:

'Take the small one!'

'Let him squeal; I can hold him,' answered George.

'Take him along, [illegible] can't make you hear anything.'

George carried off the pig in triumph.

Profits of Farming.

At a discussion of the New York Farmers' Club in reference to the cash money profits in farming, it seemed to be generally conceded that the [illegible] yield seven per cent. on the capital invested. We were somewhat surprised [illegible] Viewed in this light, farming is the best and safest investment that can be made of capital. Take for instance $30,000, let it be judiciously invested in a moderate amount of land and all the stock and implements necessary to its successful cultivation. The proceeds from such an investment will support a family in a degree of comfort and even luxury, that would cost six or seven thousand dollars a year in New York, and where is the safe, honorable [illegible] pursuit, that yields six thousand a year on a twenty thousand dollar investment? The profits of farming, except in rare instances, will be found to diminish as we extend our operations beyond what is requisite for the comfortable support of a family, and this may be as well done on three hundred as one thousand acres of land, and this is a strong argument for the subdivision of the great landed estates.

Mr. Greeley, on his farm keeps a running account with his hens, double entry. When a hen lays an egg she turns around the bases, and when she strikes the home base, where the book-keeper [illegible] sings out 'Tally one,' or 'Tally [illegible],' as the case may be, because some of them are repeaters, and the book-keeper [illegible] credit, and charges her [illegible] this way Horace can tell [illegible] shirking, and how much [illegible] hen. He says that his experience is that roosters are a glaring fraud, putting on style around and never laying an egg once in two weeks.

ANOTHER terrible coal mine catastrophe occurred at Pittston, Pa., on Saturday of last week. The timbers in the upper part of the shaft ignited which cut off the supply of fresh air to the miners below. There were 38 miners at work at the time the accident occurred, [illegible] and the remainder inaccessible when the fire was extinguised. A large proportion of those rescued alive have since died.— The horrors of the situation cannot be described.

A Montreal young man has written to the papers that he thinks it should be provided that an action for the breach of promise of marriage should not lie unless the betrothal had been formally acknowledged by the passing of a gift between the two parties, in the presence of two or more witnesses.

[illegible]

[illegible] It is sleeker, of [illegible]

And the air rang with the loud laugh of the girls.

"Come, let us go in and examine her," said Mary, as they ascended the [illegible] "I am thinking [illegible] some fun for us."

The girls went into dressing room, where they found the new scholar. She was a mild, intelligent looking child, but [illegible] though tidily clad. The [illegible] around her, whispering and [illegible] each other, while the [illegible] and blushing, [illegible] the room without venturing to raise her eyes from the floor.

When they entered school, they found the little girl was far in advance of those of her age in her studies, and was placed in classes with older [illegible]. This seemed, on the whole, to make those girls who were disposed to treat her [illegible] dislike her [illegible] and she, being of a retiring disposition, [illegible] their [illegible] had no friends but went and returned from school alone.

"And so you really think," said Mary Lark, as she went up to the little girl a few weeks after she entered school, "that you are going to get the medal? It will correspond nicely with your cloak."

And she caught hold of the cape, and held it [illegible] from her, while the girls [illegible] joined in her loud laugh.

"Calico Cloak get the medal! I guess she will! I should like to see Mr. Brown giving it to her!" said another girl, as she caught hold of her arm, and peeped under the child's bonnet.

The little girl struggled to release herself, and when she was free, ran home as fast as she could go.

"Oh, mother," she said, as she entered her mother's humble kitchen, "do answer Uncle William's letter, and tell him we will come to New York to live! I don't like to live in Bridgeville. The girls call me 'Calico Cloak,' and [illegible] and you don't know, mother, [illegible] unkindly they [illegible] me."

"[illegible]," said her mother, "you [illegible] to meet some who will [illegible] unkindly on account of your poverty, [illegible] be [illegible] do right my child, and [illegible] fully come [illegible] or."

[illegible] age the child [illegible] that she had [illegible] severe trials [illegible] one so young.

"[illegible] mother they are all unkind to me, [illegible] 'there isn't one who [illegible]'"

[illegible] the child buried her face in [illegible] and sobbed aloud.

In Bridgeville Academy there were a few selfish, unprincipled girls, and the others joined them in teasing the little 'Calico Cloak,' as they called her, from thoughtless-ness, and from a love of sport. But they knew not how deeply each sportive word pierced the heart of the little stranger, and how many bitter tears she shed in secret [illegible] unkindness.

Mrs. Lee, learning that the schoolmates [illegible] continued their unjust treatment towards her child, resolved to accept her brother's invitation although he was a poor man, and become a member of his family, hoping that while there, the child could continue her studies, and, perhaps, through his influence, [illegible] happier life among her schoolmates. Accordingly at the end of the term, she left Bridgeville, and removed to the western part of New York. Although Annie had been a member of the school but one term, yet she gained the medal, and it was worn from the academy beneath the despised garment.

Weeks, months, and years glided to the students of Bridgeville Academy, and the little 'Calico Cloak' was forgotten. Those who were at school with her, had left to enter upon the business of life.

Twelve years after Mrs. Lee and her daughter left town, a Mr. Maynard, a young clergyman, came into Bridgeville, and was settled as the pastor of the village church. It was reported in the sewing circle, the week following his ordination, that it was expected that he would bring his bride into town in a few weeks. There was a great curiosity to see her, and especially, after it was reported that she was a talented young authoress.

[illegible] weeks after, Mr. Maynard gratified their curiosity by walking to church with his young wife leaning on his arm. She was a lady of great intellectual beauty, and every body, (as they always are, at first,) was deeply interested in the young minister and his wife.

The following week, the ladies flocked to see her, and she promised to meet with them at the next gathering of the sewing circle.

The day arrived, and, although it was [illegible], Deacon Brown's parlor was filled with smiling faces. The deacon's carriage was sent to the parsonage after Mrs. Maynard, and in due time, it arrived, bringing the lady [illegible]

[illegible]

"[illegible] How are you [illegible]

[illegible]

"Have you [illegible] third, after a [illegible]

"[illegible] with my mother. [illegible] a little cottage, which [illegible] spot now occupied by [illegible] on the [illegible]

"Widow Lee!" [illegible] too. I well [illegible] for the cottage but I do not [illegible] name."

"[illegible] I attended school with you one term at the academy," replied Mrs. Maynard, "you were Miss [illegible], were you not?"

"That was my name," [illegible] the lady, as a smile passed over her features at being so readily recognized; "but I am really quite [illegible] my memory has proved [illegible]"

"I was known in the [illegible] as the little 'Calico Cloak.' [illegible] can remember me by that name."

The smile faded from Mrs. Britton's face, and a deep blush overspread her features, which, in a moment after, was seen deepening upon the faces of other present.

There was a silence for some minutes, when Mrs. Maynard looked up, found she had [illegible] disturbance among the ladies of her own age, by making herself known.

"Oh! I remember very well when the little 'Calico Cloak' went to the academy," said an old lady, as she looked up over her glasses, "and I think, if my memory serves me right, some of the ladies present owe Mrs. Maynard an apology."

"I had no intention whatever, ladies," replied Mrs. Maynard, "to reprove any one [illegible] by making myself known [illegible] it may seem to some that [illegible] my intention, I will add a few [illegible] ladies will [illegible] the little 'Calico cloak;' but [illegible] the cruel [illegible] word pierced the little heart that beat beneath it. And, as I again hear the old academy bell ring, it brings back fresh to my mind the sorrows of my childhood. But let no lady mistake me, by supposing I cherish an unkind feeling towards any one; I know that, what ever the [illegible] may have been, you are now [illegible] wounds [illegible] learn a lesson [illegible] and teach them to treat kindly the poor and despised. A calico cloak may cover a heart as warm with affection, and as [illegible] to sorrow, as one that beats beneath a velvet covering. Whenever you see a child who shows a disposition to despise the poor, tell it the story of the 'Calico cloak;' it will carry its own moral with it."

"That is the shortest but the best sermon I ever heard," said the old lady, again, as she put her hands [illegible] under her glasses—"and I do believe its moral [illegible] will be lost upon any of us."

The old lady was right. The story went from one to another, until it found its way into the old academy. At that very time, a little boy was attending school there, whose mother was struggling with her needle to give him an education. The boys often made sport of his patched knees and elbows, and he would run sobbing to his mother. But, when the story of the 'calico cloak' reached their ears, the little boy, (for he [illegible] a noble-hearted fellow,) became very popular in school [illegible] children, from that time, were very kind to "Little Patchy," as he had always been called.

When Mrs. Maynard heard the story of "Little Patchy," she felt that she was [illegible] for what she had suffered in childhood.—[illegible]

WOOL.

The Ohio Cultivator says [illegible]: 'There never has been since 1860 such a complete drain on the staple in the [illegible] as at the present time. Medium fleeces are very scarce in all the seaboard and interior markets, and there is a general tendency upward in prices. Combing prices are also higher, in truth there has been a clean sweeping of such domestic and foreign wools. We do not venture to prophesy as to prices for next clip, but at present everything looks encouraging to wool growers."

THE great telegraphic feat of direct communication between England and India, without any retransmission, has just been accomplished. For the first time, such communication was established by the transmission of a message from Kurrachee to London, which was really the first message from India to England instantaneously. Subsequently communication was opened to Bombay. London and Bombay interchanged signals perfectly, and a commercial message was sent from London to Bombay direct and answered instantaneously. The distance by the India European line is 6,000 miles, and this is the greatest telegraphic feat on record.

A man was [illegible] Niagara [illegible] and there is talk [illegible] tion of [illegible]

What's the Matter with that Nose?

Snyder kept beer [illegible] years ago [illegible] in Kensington. Snyder was a [illegible] ous [illegible] of very irascible temper, very sudden and quick in quarrel, getting mad in a minute. Nevertheless his saloon was a great resort for 'boys,' partly [illegible] and partly because the 'boys' liked to chafe "old Snyder," as they called him; for although his bark was terrible, experience had taught them that he would not bite.

[illegible] was [illegible] his [illegible] he 'jerked the beer' that day, that he was 'gone out fishing mit der boys.' The next day one of the 'boys' [illegible] [illegible] beer, and discovered Snyder's nose, which was a big one at any time, but which was [illegible] [illegible]

"Why, Snyder, [illegible] with your nose?"

"I been out fishing mit der boys," replied Snyder, trying [illegible] to [illegible] his proboscis [illegible] can been but like [illegible] burns my nose."

And Snyder [illegible] behind the bar.

It entered at once into the mischievous fellow in front of the bar to play a trick upon Snyder, he went out, and called a half dozen of his cronies [illegible] whom he arranged that they should drop in at the saloon, one after another, and ask "Snyder, what's the matter with that nose?" to see how long he would stand it. The men who [illegible] one after another, seating themselves at the table, they called for beer. Snyder brought it to them, and the [illegible] [illegible] as soon as he saw him—

"Why, Snyder, what's the matter with your nose?"

"I yust tell your friend, I been out fishing mit der boys, und the sun he burnt—two lager—dat seems all right."

Another of the boys came rushing in [illegible]

"Hallo, boys; you're ahead of me this time; guess I'm in though. Here, Snyder, bring me a glass of lager and a pretzel (here he appeared to catch a sudden glimpse of Snyder's nose, [illegible] out laughing.)

"Ha! ha! Why, Snyder, what—ha! ha!—what's the matter with that nose?"

Snyder, of course, couldn't see any fun in having it laughed at, and he says, in a tone sternly emphatic:

"I've been out fishing mit der boys on de Schoolkill. The sun [illegible] like [illegible] I burns my [illegible] Now, dat ish more as I don't got to say. Vot gind of peesness [illegible] is all right. I burnt my nose, don't it?"

"Burn your nose—burn all the hair off your head, for what I care, you needn't get mad about it."

It was evident Snyder wouldn't stand more than one tweak at his nose, for he was tramping around the bar and [illegible] like an exasperated old bear [illegible]

Another of his tormentors walked in. Some one sings out to him, "Have a glass of beer, Billy?"

"Don't care about any beer," says Billy, "but you may give me one of your [illegible] ho! ho! he! he! ah! h-h-h! why—ha! ha! ha—why, Snyder—who wha—ha-a! ha! ha! What's the matter with that nose?"

Snyder was absolutely fearful to behold by this time. His face was purple with rage, all except his nose, which glowed like a ball of fire. Leaning his ponderous figure far over the bar, and raising his arm aloft to emphasize his words with it, he fairly roared:

"I've been out fishing mit der boys. The sun [illegible] I burn my nose. Now you [illegible] dose nose, you yust take dat nose und wr-wr-wring your [illegible] American [illegible] That's the kind of man vot I is!"

A Physician's Opinion About a Sick Baby.

Baby was much worse; it had not only sucked its thumbs, but wriggled its toes. The doctor, with a grave face entered the sick room as Biddy rubbed her [illegible] and Mr. Phillips stood by wiping his eyes with the drapery of his scanty attire.

"Oh, doctor, doctor! will it die? Only save it, and you may take all I have," cried Mrs. Phillips, wringing her hands. "I'll get down on my knees and thank you forever."

"Keep your sitting, marm, keep your sitting," said the doctor, taking a large pinch of snuff.

"Don't keep us in suspense. Only look at his precious arm! What is it? For the love of heaven [illegible] let me know [illegible]"

"Well, marm, if I speak out, you promise not to blame me?" said the doctor gravely.

"No, no!"

"Marm," said he, with a face still more elongated, "its my opinion, as a man and a physician, that the child has been bitten by four bed-bugs, or else it has been bitten in four places by one insect of that description."

"Mr. Gray," cried the father, "do you mean to insult us?"

"[illegible]"

"No [illegible]," yelled Mrs. Phillips. "It's a [illegible] bed-bugs [illegible] bed on that little angel cherub. Get out of this house, [illegible] instant, you [illegible] bond!"

[illegible]

How DeKalb [illegible] in the Year 1900.

[illegible]

Can any one realize the exceedingly probable fact that in 1900—twenty-nine years from now—the population of the United States will [illegible] [illegible] without making allowance for [illegible] north and south that will [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the most trustworthy statistician now [illegible] tells us that we shall have a population of [illegible] in 1900. [illegible] may as well consider what [illegible] them in their maturity and old age.

Seventy-five millions of people in the United States [illegible] wastes of the great plains by irrigation; the development of [illegible] tions of agricultural and [illegible] ple; the development of a net [illegible] and Minnesota; the growth of the Pacific States into commonwealths as rich and populous as New York and Pennsylvania. It means that New York will [illegible] Island [illegible] millions, to say nothing of the outlying suburbs in New Jersey and across the East river; that Chicago [illegible] tion, and that San Francisco will have half a million of inhabitants. The national debt will have become a tradition, and [illegible] three to four hundred millions [illegible] by taxation.—Such are the glowing visions which are excited by the [illegible] and [illegible] figures of Mr. Ruggles. If some of our readers are inclined to be "Bearish" in their tendencies, and inclined to get the blues over our future, we advise them to indulge in the line of speculation suggested by the [illegible]

A Man Sent to prison for Speaking Disrespectfully of Moses.

It isn't pleasant to read that in Australia, Mr. William L. Jones has been sent to prison for two years for speaking disrespectfully of the Old Testament and calling Moses a [illegible] murderer [illegible] old [illegible]. This freedom of speech is decided to be "blasphemy by the Australian tribunal, and under such circumstances, it wouldn't be exactly safe for Bishop Colenso to [illegible] It is very odd that in this age of enlightenment and toleration a man should not be at liberty to say what he pleases of a quite historical character like Moses. Would it also be libelous to attack Abraham [illegible] wife, to Solomon and his [illegible] Does the legal provision extend to the cosmogony of the old Testament? Where, in fact, does it stop? It might be stated that [illegible] represently [illegible] ving [illegible] save him from the painful consequences of [illegible] law-givers and [illegible] under its protection! Why not send Mr. Darwin to [illegible] his monkey theory? How [illegible] before the State Constable [illegible] after the radical club in Boston. Two hundred years ago [illegible] Common. Since then, the world has discovered, or at least the radical [illegible] of it has [illegible] or gains [illegible] wouldn't hang Quakers [illegible] now, and why should they lock up Mr. Jones because he [illegible]

[illegible]—A writer in the [illegible] says: I believe that experience has proved [illegible] that the [illegible] ground for a series of years. The more the soil is enriched to [illegible] ulants, the better will [illegible] both in quality and quantity. [illegible] principle of rotation [illegible] [illegible] knows can [illegible] his testimony.

[illegible] County, N. Y. [illegible] that they will not [illegible] company of any young man who uses tobacco in any form, unless [illegible] sixty days [illegible]

Auburn Office

The Courier.

AUBURN, IND. JUNE 15, 1871

THE EDITORIAL EXCURSION.

We can realize the position of a man who [illegible] as an expert in the use of [illegible] language, who when he discovered that his load of potatoes had been magnificently distributed, by the accidental removal of the tail board, along the side of a hill, over which he was going, exclaimed "There's no use talking; I can't do that subject justice," and he swore—not a word. In looking over the many features of the excursion, we are at a loss where to begin, and candidly admit that we can't do the subject justice.

All along the route, at every point where a stop was made, it was an untiring effort upon the part of the citizens of each place to please and entertain the visitors in their most hospitable manner, and were we to particularize, it would require more time and space than we are able to give at this writing. The excursionists were gathered from different parts of [illegible], Kentucky, Ohio and Indiana, and made a very fair representation of the editorial fraternity generally, especially the Indiana.

The party started in Fort Wayne on Tuesday evening, and were entertained at the [illegible] in a fine style.—Next morning they boarded the cars for Jackson, where they were banqueted at the Hibbard House, the like of which we may never see again. A delegation from Saginaw met them here and they were escorted over the road to that enterprising city, in the evening. The next day was mainly spent in viewing the [illegible] and in a grand boat ride on the [illegible]. In the afternoon another banquet was given them at the [illegible] House, [illegible] by the [illegible] and [illegible] the occasion. It was a matter of surprise, to all that in this comparatively new country, were located [illegible] with great facilities for their development. One thing seemed to be apparent on every hand—the citizens of the Saginaw valley were alive, wide awake, enterprising set of individuals, without any of that [illegible] that seems to be the [illegible] of other sections. Go up to this country, if you want to get a correct idea of the word enterprise, liberality, [illegible] and other words of [illegible]. They will demonstrate it there to you, and you can't help it. Oh, give us this glorious spirit, that is full of vigor and activity, this lively appreciation of every thing that is great, and true and noble; yes, give us liberty, or give us some of the soul stirring scenes to animate the beautiful Saginaw Valley. The return was just as pleasant as going with one exception, we missed the train at Jackson, and a good lunch on board at that. The latter was what flattened us. We would like to speak of those with us and those we met, but we have not the time.

The Ohio Democracy.

The Democracy of Ohio met in State Convention on Thursday last. It was largely attended. Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton presided. The resolutions presented by Congressman Morgan and seconded by Mr. Vallandigham, embody the new departure principles consisted through the Dayton platform. There was some opposition to their adoption, but they were finally carried by a vote of 385 to 130.—The ticket nominated is as follows: For Governor, George W. McCook; Lieutenant Governor, Samuel F. Hunt; Attorney General, Edward S. Wallace; Auditor of State, Joseph B. Cockerill; Treasurer of State, Dr. Gustave Brachl; Supreme Judge, George W. Geddes; Member Board of Public Works, Arthur Hughes; School Commissioner, Wm. W. Ross; Clerk of Supreme Court, Charles Patterson.

One Term.

The New York Sun says only two Presidents have been re-elected during the last [illegible], and [illegible] to make their [illegible] a necessity for their party. When Jackson was re-elected he was in the midst of a fight with the Nullifiers and the United States Bank. His withdrawal at that crisis would have been regarded as the triumph of Calhoun and Biddle. Lincoln was re-elected during the red heat of the rebellion. His withdrawal in such an exigency would have encouraged Davis [illegible] and [illegible]. [illegible]

In [illegible] is an [illegible] very [illegible] Greeley's "What I Know About Farming." [illegible] will soon be able to buy his farm with the profits of the business.

[From the Laporte Argus]

The Southern Prison [illegible].

Jeffersonville, May 29, '71.

Editors of the Argus:—Thinking perhaps that some news from this place concerning the "muddle" into which the Board of Directors for the Southern Prison had got into, would be of some interest to your readers, I will endeavor to give a brief synopsis of the trouble. To begin with, at the last session of our General Assembly Levi Sparks and John Kirk were elected as Directors, and Mr. W. W. Curry, a Republican, holding over, constituted the Board, as was supposed. In the meantime Mr. Sparks, who has been the Mayor of our City for several years, was re-elected to that position at our late city election, and was duly qualified on the [illegible] inst. No sooner was this been done when the Radicals went post haste to Indianapolis and informed Gov. Baker of the fact, whereupon that functionary immediately consulted the Hon. S. E. Perkins as to whether Mr. Sparks could hold both offices under our constitution. Judge Perkins prepared a very elaborate opinion, deciding in the first place that Sparks was ineligible and could not accept the office of Prison Director, because of his being Mayor; and, secondly, that both offices being lucrative, he had made himself [illegible] and accepted the office of Mayor, thereby vacating the directorship. The Board had called a meeting on the 22d inst., and Messrs. Sparks, Kirk and Curry had no sooner met than Mr. R. S. Heiskell, ex-director, "went in" and presented a commission from "Old Honesty" as the successor of Mr. Sparks. Sparks and Kirk both, refused to recognize the claims of Heiskell. Since then the Board, consisting of Sparks and Kirk, (Mr. Curry refusing to put in an appearance) elected Col. James Keigwin as Warden, after having preferred charges and sustained them against the present incumbent, Col. Shuler.

The whole matter is likely to become a protracted litigated question. I will give a more enlarged account of the matter as it develops. L........

Gov. Baker has ordered the Radical papers of Indiana to suppress the sobriquet of "Old Honesty." He intimates that he hasn't the courage to look an honest man in the face so long as he is appropriating five thousand dollars of the people's money to pay a fifteen hundred dollar rent. This would never have been a matter of conscience with Gov. Baker if the Democratic Legislature had not ventilated the matter. The next Radical State platform will go in for a "system of rigid economy," the extra allowance for the benefit of Gov. Baker excepted. Nothing like "rigid economy" in a platform, as long as it does not disturb the stealings of Radical officials.

The Bucyrus Forum in speaking of the Ohio State ticket, says:

"Hon. Geo. W. McCook of Steubenville, O., the brightest ornament of the celebrated McCook family, a brilliant orator, powerful lawyer and classical scholar, a brave soldier in war and wise statesman in peace, is our candidate for Governor.

He served with much distinction in the Mexican war, was Reporter for the Supreme Court, and afterward was elected by the Democracy of the state to the office of Attorney General, which he filled with distinguished ability. No better nomination for Governor could have been made under any circumstances. Full of enthusiasm himself, he will arouse the Democracy to the highest point of enthusiasm before the election."

The Philadelphia Evening Herald says: "We can scarcely credit the rumor, yet it has obtained circulation and it is thought by many to have some foundation, that secretary Stanton cut his throat. It is, of course, denied by his friends, but, on the other hand, it is asserted that when the undertaker came to put the body into the coffin he found it already prepared, with a bandage tied around the neck. It is also stated that his life was heavily insured, and that no application has yet been made for the insurance money."

Jeff Davis and Horace Greeley are both stumping the south. Greeley mingles Ku-Klux with what he knows about farming, and Davis dilates upon the Lost Cause and Life Insurance. From their several stand points, both would be happy, and the people, too, if Greeley did not put through him such outrageous oaths. In one of his agricultural speeches, the air was turned blue with some of his heavy adjectives on a certain kind of turnip, which grows head downward.

Jefferson Davis is called upon Horace Greeley at Memphis and was received by the philosopher and tourist with the utmost warmth and cordiality. The interview appeared to be very agreeable on both sides. Davis assured Greeley that he would devote his [illegible] to Life Insurance and his agricultural prospects for President.

It looks very much as if Gen. Grant had secured the services of Jeff Davis to make speeches for his benefit.—The ex-rebel President is just now pitching into the Democratic party. Since Greeley was the first man North to go Davis' bail, he is rewarding the Radical party for encouragement in the hour of need. Well, the Radicals can have Jeff if they want him.

ADVANCE OF THE MONARCH!
THE UNICORN OF HOLY WRIT
IS COMING!
WAIT FOR IT! Prepare for it!
SEE IT!
Keep Your Eye on Place and Date
AUBURN, FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1871.

SHELDENBURGER'S
EUROPEAN MENAGERIE
GREAT GRECIAN CIRCUS.
The Grandest Concentration of Novelties [illegible]
FIRST TOUR IN AMERICA [illegible]
First Class in all its Departments
Mammoth Menagerie & Faultless Circus.
RHINOCEROS!
Or UNICORN OF HOLY WRIT.
[illegible] WEIGHS OVER EIGHT THOUSAND POUNDS. [illegible]
EIGHT MASSIVE HORSES [illegible]
SIGNIOR BALIZE'S
Den of Performing Animals!
Lions and Tigers,
THE OTHER CAGES CONTAINS
[illegible]

Especial Note.
The Menagerie is entirely distinct from the Circus, [illegible]
THE EQUESTRIAN MELANGE!
Of the great European Combination will be both BRILLIANT & DIVERSIFIED
Presenting a Host of Novelties by a CORPS OF 25 [illegible] regardless of expense.
Read the
Names of the Equestrian Constellation!
[illegible] MADAME [illegible] MR. JAMES WARD,
LITTLE MARY BROWN,
[illegible] surpasses any Equestrienne in point of Grace and Daring now before the public.
MADAME BROWN, MLLE JOSEPHINE, MR. JAS. DE MORREST, MR. RICHARD BALL, MONS. LA ROYCE, SIGNIOR PALLOTINI, [illegible]
And a Host of Auxiliaries.
THE GRAND STREET PARADE
Will take place daily at 10 A. M., headed by the Car of Apollo [illegible]
The European Military Brass Band,
[illegible] followed by the Elephant in his Royal Trappings, the Camels,
The Massive Rhinoceros Den!
[illegible]
2 Exhibitions Each Day,
AFTERNOON & NIGHT.
Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M. Circus performance begins one hour later.
ADMISSION 50 CENTS
CHILDREN under 9 25 CENTS
The Exhibitions will be given under a Mammoth Pavilion capable of accommodating 4,000 spectators. The Pavilion will be brilliantly illuminated in the Evening.
SEATS FOR EVERYBODY.
[illegible]
REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE.
[illegible]

Will Exhibit at
Butler, Thursday, June 22d, Auburn, Friday, June 23d, Albion, Saturday 24th.
REMEMBER THE NAME,
Sheldenburger's
THE SHOW WITH THE Monster Rhinoceros!
See the GRAND STREET DISPLAY, it will give you an idea of the [illegible] the establishment, [illegible] save your money and stay at home.

[illegible] Chicago [illegible] Mississippi [illegible] Iowa [illegible] Missouri [illegible] Council Bluffs [illegible] Union Pacific [illegible]

SONG OF FIFTY DOLLARS
FOR $3.
[illegible]

DANIEL VOLLMER,
PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST
Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.
FORT WAYNE, INDA.
VOLLMER'S Elixir of
PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.
[illegible]

PARLOR ALBUM
[illegible]
DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK
[illegible]
AGENTS WANTED.
[illegible]
American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

Reduction of Prices
TO CONFORM TO
Reduction of Duties
GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS
By Getting up Clubs
[illegible]
THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET, NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!
WHAT IS IT?
[illegible]
JERUBEBA.
[illegible]
Dr. Wells' Extract of Jurubeba
[illegible] JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent for the United States.
Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

Thea-Nectar
IS A PURE
BLACK TEA
with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea [illegible] New York. P. O. Box 5506. [illegible]

[illegible]

SCHOOL TEACHERS
[illegible] ZIEGLER & McCURDY, [illegible]

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard [illegible]

ALL PERSONS
[illegible] Eye, Ear, Nose, [illegible] Dr. R. GARD, office 130 Calhoun St., near Cathedral. P. O. Box [illegible], Fort Wayne Ind.

FRUIT HOUSE PRICE CURRENT IMMENSE RECEIPTS OF ALL GOODS
AT REDUCED PRICES.
Best Teas Reduced to $1,25 per lb.
This is the lowest it has been in ten years. We are able to do this from the fact that we purchase direct from the importers, and sell direct to the consumer, thereby saving the profits of the speculators, jobbers and wholesale merchants which are 15 to 20 cents per pound.

TEAS.

Young Hyson, per lb	90c 80c $1.00, best $1.25
Imperial and Gunpowder, per lb	1.00, best 1.25
Japan and Oolong, per lb	90c best 1.10

COFFEE.

Rio and Laguayra, per lb	18c, and 19c, best 20c.
Roasted Coffee 25c	Old Government 35

SUGARS.

Coffee 'A' white, per lb	12½
Brown, per pound	8c, 9c and 10

MEAT.

Smoked Sides	11 cents
Smoked Shoulders	9
Pickled Pork	10 "
Lard	12½ "

TOBACCOS.

Navy 10; and per ½ lb	50 "
Flounders, per lb	50 "
Best Smoking, per lb	30 "
Second quality, per lb	25 "
Sports, 25c, or 5 lbs for	$1.00 "
Fine cut, per lb, 60, best 90	95 "

MISCELLANEOUS.

Coffee Essence, 7 boxes	25 "
Soap 5c, 6c and 8c per bar	"
Blacking, 3 boxes	5 "
Saleratus, 3 papers	25 "

FISH.

Spring catch, white fish	$7.50
Last fall, white fish	7.00
Mackerel, kitts	1.50 and 1.75
Old fish, half barrel	1.00
Codfish, 8 cents per pound

DRIED FRUITS.

Turkish Prunes, per lb	12½ cents
Apples, per lb 7c	12½ "
Peaches, per lb	12½ "
Cherries, per lb 7c, and	12 "
Oranges, per dozen	30 "
Lemons per dozen	25 "
Filberts per quart	15 "
Brazils, per quart	15 "
Cigars $2 and $3 per box
Dime box Matches	5 "

LIQUORS.

New whisky, Rye or Bourbon, per gal	90c
Whisky one year old	$1.40
Whisky two years old	1.75
Sherry and port wine, imported and pure, for medical use, per gallon	1.75
All kind of liquors on hand.

CANNED FRUITS.

Peaches per can	20c
Pineapples, per can	25c
Oysters, per can	10c
Damsons, per can	25c
Blackberries, per can	20c
Egg plums, per can	30
Green Gages, per can	40c

We are agents for the celebrated HOME BITTERS, the best tonic ever got ten up. It is placed at the low price of 75c. per bottle—usual price $1.00.—This brings it within the reach of all. We give any one the privilege of sampling the goods—no charge. So please call and take a drink.

ALL GOODS WARRANTED SATISFACTORY, OR MONEY REFUNDED,

At the FRUIT HOUSE.
18 West Berry Street.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!
OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,
Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.
Mrs. R. Newberger
IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL AT HER
Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium
Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles
HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS
[illegible] desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. [illegible] buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at
THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!
The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!
For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at
J. & P. Pierr's.
WE OFFER FOR SALE
A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of muslins and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20, cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $3.
Farmer's tweed 20, 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 35, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, laces, laces in great variety, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.
April 20, '71.

[illegible]
COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.
[illegible] PERFUMERY.

$200 IN 16 DAYS
Made by one Agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Lines to last forever, Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 13 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St., N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

[illegible] LLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.
These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNGS Disease.
HOARSENESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.
CAUTION. Don't let worthless [illegible] you, be sure you get only [illegible] Carbolic Tablets.
JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y. Sole Agent.
Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,
DEALER IN
Groceries,
Provisions,
Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,
STONE WARE GLASS WARE
Highest Price given for Produce.
Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.
Every thing in the Grocery line lway on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.
T. B. TOTTEN
Feb. 23 1y

Root & Company
IN FULL BLAST!
Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at
Root & Company's
Popular Dry Goods House
KNOWN AS THE
New York Store!
90 COLUMBIA st,
Fort Wayne Indiana.

FACT
Parties at home or from out of town will [illegible] when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to
Root & Company's
POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE
90 Columbia st.
We are now showing [illegible] assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk, New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Collor of Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.
NEW GOODS FOR SUITS
Also all the new and handsome styles of
PARASOLS.
Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas,
Children, Parasols
Also a magnificent line of
Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens, New Embroideries, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.
N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitors.
SPECIAL.
We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.
Root and Company
NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,
FORT WAYNE, IND.
Feb. 24 1y

HEADQUARTERS!
FOR
WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS
AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,
—AT—
J. ABRIGHT'S,
Opposite the Court House.
I have also just received new patterns in Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated
JEWELRY
New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.
[illegible]
SILVER WARE
DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CUTLERY,
Musical Instruments
Watches & Clocks,
Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.
J. ABRIGHT.
Opposite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE
HAT FACTORY!
JAMES HARPER & Co.,
MANUFACTURERS OF
SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,
AND DEALERS IN
Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,
No. 6 Phoenix Block, Calhoun Street,
Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTZ
Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his
Old Stand
ON MAIN STREET,
Opposite Court Square
AUBURN, INDIANA
Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers and sell them such goods as they may need.
FOR CASH
OR
GOOD TRADE!
[illegible]
Credit Business!
[illegible] READY PAY, and small profits.
[illegible]
CHARLEY KLOTZ.
Feb. 21 1y.

Teachers, Attention!
[illegible] Auburn, in the Seminary Building [illegible]
J. A. BARNS.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

[illegible]

The Wool trade lively.

Rare cherries are getting plenty.

The waving grain is coloring fast.

[illegible] day.

Remember the first-class managerie at Butler and Auburn, next week.

The Sunday School Convention last week at this place, was largely attended.

[illegible] the [illegible] in this city one week from to-day.

An excursion train to Jackson to the horse fair, will leave here to-morrow morning.

Personal.—Hon. E. W. Fosdick, State Senator, from this district and W. H. Hubbell, Esq., were in town last Tuesday.

Mr. Mansfield, of the firm of Mansfield & Bonslett, contractors, in company with his old Scottish friend, Mr. [illegible], left for Detroit, Tuesday.

Farmers are making preparations to enter the harvest season in good style. A great deal of machinery is being brought into requisition.

The nights continue cool and days warm—good weather for fever and ague. A good rain with warm nights is what our crops want.

Many people who buy butter would prefer that the extra salt used by many farmers should be fed to the cows instead of used for thickening the butter.

At fashionable weddings the brides now adorn themselves with clematis, white lilies, white lilacs, and lillies of the valley, as well as orange blossoms.

A western editor, who doesn't know much about farming any way, suggest, that for garden-making a cast-iron back, with a hinge in it, would be an improvement on the spinal column now in use.

"Pa, is Pennsylvania the father of all the other States?" "Certainly not my child; why do you ask that question?" Because I see all the newspapers call it Pa."

Some of our farmers are fearing an attack of the rust on the wheat crop. That wheat must be placed in the granery before some of them will be convinced to the contrary.

Locusts are committing some havoc in the west part of Laporte county. They have formed a partnership with the potato bugs and expect to do an extensive business.

We are obliged to our popular butcher for a fine link of his celebrated Boglona sausage. It is warranted free from hair and dog meat, and is sweet, fresh and clean. Thanks, S. U. T.

Dr. Livingstone has gone to Ljjjjjjjjjl as was reported. The latest news from him states that he was at Txyxyxyxy. He was in a destitute condition, having no change to note and no notes to change.

If a milkmaid, four feet ten inches in height, while setting on a three legged stool took four pints of milk from every fifteen cows, what was the size of the field in which the animals grazed, and what was the girl's age?

School children who read the newspapers are found to be better acquainted with geography, spelling and the meaning of words, grammar, and more generally intelligent than those who do not. This is a significant but undoubted fact

There is some prospect that the long talked of Eel River Railroad from Auburn to Logansport will be built.—Exchange.

One would think so to see the large gangs of workmen all along the line, preparing and shaping it for the ties.

[illegible]

If you want a cool, refreshing drink of soda water, go to Davenport's artic fountain, and get something good.

It has been discovered that the potato bug eschews tobacco, and that an able-bodied male citizen who chews can exterminate the Colorado population of a quarter acre of ground every morning before breakfast, by vigorous expectoration, if he chews.

Girls always love those boys best who are the kindest, best natured, most considerate and "man like" in their behavior; and who are not coarse, profane, and loafish in their talk. The boys who are by their school or playmates loved the most make the best men.

The dull season for farmers and laboring men. Temporary depression, [illegible] they are securing means to purchase. Agriculture is the basis of all safe trade—the crops are generally good—and the prospects of a bountiful harvest were never more favorable.

J. A. Barnes, Esq., formerly editor of the Air Line, was appointed School Examiner by the County Commissioners, at their session last week. We hope he will meet with the same degree of success that his predecessor, Mr. W. H. McIntyre, Esq., has realized. Mr. M. has filled the position with great ability and impartiality, and in retiring leaves a host of friends to compliment him on the [illegible] discharge of his duties.

Baltimore Railway.—The Baltimore Sun gives the proceedings of the monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of this railway, at which President John W. Garrett made a speech in which he said that "great enthusiasm existed throughout the north-west to secure in the interests of these vast regions the advantages of the Pittsburg, Baltimore and Chicago line—as a grand competing route against the high charges and greater distances to New York—to Baltimore, their natural and most economical port on the Atlantic. Under the organization proposed, immediate and effective steps would be taken to decide upon the route, and secure the early completion of the road."

Base Ball.—The Wabaleve club of this place visited [illegible] and by good playing succeeded in defeating the Eureka of that place by a score of 41 to 38. The game passed off pleasantly, and the boys are loud in their praise of the courteous treatment so generously extended by the boys of Huntertown. It is expected a return game will be played here about the 23d inst.

Reception.—The Fort Wayne Sentinel [illegible] to the welcome [illegible] to the editorial excursion. A handsome design it was, with Franklin in the center and the type and press on either side, cost [illegible] $150. You did the thing handsomely, gentlemen, and we accord you all praise.

Just received, and for sale all kinds of fruit jars, glass, earthen and stone jars.—Come and see before buying elsewhere. Also a large stock of looking glasses.

T. B. Totten.

A Waterhaul.—The wife of Mr. Miller residing at Fairfield Center, this county, after a lingering illness, died in such a manner as to create a suspicion among the neighbors, after her burial, that she was foully dealt with. She had been a sufferer from disease a long time, when she suddenly went into spasms and died in great agony. This result being so different from others of a similar affliction Coroner Metcalf was called and the affair investigated. After all the evidence relative to her last hours was adduced, the Coroner concluded that there was no ground for the charge, and the case was dismissed without exhuming the body.

Not Envious.

One or two small items appeared in the column of the Courier during our absence, of the past two weeks, that seem to have disturbed the equilibrium of our neighbor at Waterloo, considerably. We have no desire to say anything derogatory to the good name of Waterloo, or any other place in the county, and we propose to keep steadily on in this line in the future.

We are aware that some little local feeling exists between these two places but the Courier has studiously avoided any participation in the matter, whatever, and if the items referred to be regarded by the citizens of that place as against them, then we are sorry, and shall take every precaution to prevent a re-currence in the future. In one's absence things will occur over which they have no controll. We are ever ready and willing to make the Courier subservient to the interests of every section of our county, and no one place shall be favored and complimented at the expense of another. To this end we invite every one to send us items of interest occuring in the county, which we will cheerfully prepare and insert without charge.

DeKalb County S. S. Association.

This body met at the M. E. Church, in Auburn, June 8th, for the purpose of holding their annual convention.

Thirty-eight schools submitted reports, the greater number of them being represented by delegates. Those reporting show an average of 271 teachers and officers, and 2,437 scholars; and as a result of their year's work, report 140 conversions, 38,553 Sunday School papers distributed, 21,007 verses of scripture recited, and $456 80 contributed for benevolent purposes. Only a few of the schools report libraries, the greater number having abandoned them and substituted papers in their stead. Revs. J. B. Fowler, D. Bander, E. M. Baker, Sawyer, S. B. Ward, W. B. Sandes, W. A. Lamport and Overmeyer were present and participated in the exercises, Rev. Lamport acting as Assistant Secretary. Mr. Jacobs of Indianapolis was expected to be present to act as chief lecturer and instructor, but failed to put in an appearance. Rev. S. B. Ward was then appointed to fill his place, and did it to the complete satisfaction of all present. His practical illustration of the method of conducting a Sunday School was particularly instructive and entertaining. Rev. J. B. Fowler also delivered a very interesting address on the religious responsibility of Sunday School teachers.

Corunna was decided upon as the place for holding the next annual meeting of the Association on the first Tuesday after the first Sunday in June, 1872.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Capt. M. B. Miller, of Richland tp.

Vice President—G. R. Clark, Butler; Edward Freeman, Jackson; Samuel Lawhead, Concord, A. Kinmont, Newville; S. P. Wartenbee, Stafford; Jno. Plowe, Wilmington; Frank W. Willis, Union, A. Britton, Richland; John Treesh, Fairfield; Joel R. Thomson, Smithfield; Jeremiah Lewis, Franklin; A. S. Carskoor, Troy.

Permanent Secretary, R. Wes McBride, Waterloo 1st Assistant, Jno. Otis, Auburn; 2d, C. P. Houser, Sedan.

Treasurer, Rev. S. B. Ward, Auburn.

Executive Committee—Rev. J. B. Fowler, Jas. I. Best, E. Eickle, Dwight Moody and W. Griswold

F. W. Willis was elected delegate to the State S. S. Convention, to be held in Terre Haute, June 13, 14 and 15.

A class of little girls from Butler township, assisted by Mr. Frank Bacon, sang some very beautiful Sunday School Songs for the entertainment of the convention.

The thanks of the Convention were by a unanimous vote tendered to the citizens of Auburn, for the hospitable manner in which they entertained those attending the convention from abroad.

It is earnestly recommended that all the Sunday Schools in the county furnish the Vice President of their respective townships, or to the Permanent Secretary, at least ten days before the next annual meeting, full reports of their schools.

R. Wes McBride, Per. Sec'y.

The meeting of the Northeastern Indiana Medical Association in this city yesterday comprising the counties of Noble, LaGrange, Steuben and DeKalb, was well attended—there being about sixty members of the profession present—and a very interesting and instructive session held.—We have not time to give particulars this morning, but will publish the proceedings next week.

The address of Prof. Allen, in the evening, was a rare combination of science wit, and oratory, and the very large audience in attendance, was not only instructed, but highly amused. The Doctor unfortunately, or fortunately, left his written speech in Chicago, and gave us an off hand dissertation which showed him to be a man of profound learning, possessing a great diversity of talent, and of infinite jest.

The next meeting of the Society will be held at [illegible].

The July number of "Peterson's Magazine" is on our table, and is unusually good, even for this unrivalled monthly. The principal embellishment is a spirited steel engraving, "Ahead of the Field," illustrating an old fashioned love story. The fashion-plate is colored, and richly colored. "Peterson" be it known, is celebrated for the surpassing style and beauty of its Paris fashion-plates. The stories are all original, and by our very best writers. Address Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

Godey's Lady's Book for July.—The Music Lesson—steel plate—graces this number along with a colored fashion plate and an interesting wood engraving of "The Peddler." Godey has presented his patrons this month, the commencement of his forty-second year, with a novel slipper pattern. The ease with which it can be worked gives promise of its becoming a fashionable slipper for gentlemen.

Scribner's Monthly for July leads off with a splendidly illustrated article, by J. T. Headley, on "Philadelphia." The next article is a very interesting account of Mr. W. H. Halleck's "Jaunt in Japan." A most curious article is R. W. Wright's "Samson's Riddle Solved—the Lion-cup versus the Lion-cub," by which the learned writer appears to have actually discovered the solution of Samson's celebrated riddle, which has puzzled the world for three thousand years. Scribner & Co., New York.

Commissioners' Proceedings.

Petition by G. W. [illegible] and others for vacation of road in Fairfield township Viewers appointed, R. Bixby, Geo. Beery and John Hauser.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Concord Tp. reported favorably.

Petition by C. Walter for ditch, in Wilmington Tp. Viewers appointed R. F. Blair, A. W. Allen and D. M. Murray.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Richland Tp. reported favorably.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Smithfield Tp., reported favorably.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Jackson Tp., reported, remonstrance filed, and re-viewers appointed, John Embery, G. C. Clark and James Harvey.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Jackson Tp., reported, remonstrance filed, and re-viewers appointed, [illegible], A. Spurgeon and A. Robinson.

Petition for vacation of a road in Butler Tp. Viewers appointed, C. Sheets, J. McClellan and Wm. Grube.

Petition by Joseph Suryeak and others for the location of a road in Butler Tp. Viewers appointed, C. Sheets, J. McClellan and Wm. Grube.

Petition by Sarah Clark and Adam Richey, for a ditch in Franklin Tp. Viewers appointed, G. B. Mattingre, John Conrad and Stout.

Petition by Samuel Hawver for a ditch in Butler Tp. Viewers appointed C. Sheets J. McClellan and John Brandon.

Petitions by W. Textrow and others for bridge over Cedar Creek in Richland Tp Commissioner Ensley to visit the place and make arrangements.

Petition by C. A. O. McClellan and J. Plum for bridge across Cedar Creek, in Union Tp. Commissioners Ensley appointed to attend to the matter.

Petition by James Gaff and J. J. Imhoff for vacation of private road. Viewers reported adversely, report set aside and re-viewers appointed, G. W. Young, S. Greenanager and Simon Oachs.

Petition by H. H. Houser and others for a bridge across Cedar Creek, in Butler Tp. Commissioner Ensley appointed to make arrangements.

Report of the Superintendent of County Asylum approved and placed on file.

Petition by J. H. Shoudel and others to change road in Smithfield Tp. Viewers appointed, A. Iden, John Camp and Fred Ensley.

Petition by E. R. Shomaker and others to restrain cattle &c. from running at large. Petition continued until next session for further deliberation.

The viewers appointed to locate road in Smithfield Tp., submitted report which was approved

Petition by R. M. and W. C. Lockhar, for a ditch in Franklin Tp. Viewers appointed, R. G. Daniels, Cyrus Bowman and James D. Kelly.

Commissioners ordered that an additional tax be levied sufficient to make up the deficency in the capital stock to the Fort Wayne Jackson & Saginaw R. R., in Union and Wilmington townships.

J. H. Ford was continued as county physician until further orders by the Board.

J. A. Barnes was appointed as County School Examiner for the term of three years.

License to sell liquors was granted John Hebel, W. H. Wilsey and Samuel Alleman

Ordered by the Board that the sum of seventy cents be levied on each one hundred dollars valuation for county purposes for 1871.

Annual Exhibit of Receipts and Expenditures, of the County of DeKalb, State of Indiana, for the Fiscal Year Ending May 31, 1871, as Taken From the Books of the Auditor of Said County.

KIND OF FUND.

Indebtedness of County, May 31st 1871	[illegible]	[illegible]
County Revenue	[illegible]	[illegible]
Special School Revenue	[illegible]	[illegible]
Township "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Road "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Dog "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Common School Tax Revenue	[illegible]	[illegible]
Municipal "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Rail Road "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Refunded Taxes	[illegible]	[illegible]
County officers		[illegible]
Bridges		[illegible]
Poor		[illegible]
Volunteers		[illegible]
Stationery	[illegible]	[illegible]
Printing	[illegible]	[illegible]
Insane		[illegible]
Elections		[illegible]
Courts		[illegible]
Criminals		[illegible]
Roads		[illegible]
County Bridging		[illegible]
Assessing Revenue		[illegible]
Judge and Prosecutors Salary	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]		[illegible]
Jurors Fees		[illegible]
Inquests		[illegible]
House of Refuge		[illegible]
Deaf and Dumb		[illegible]
Redemption of Land	[illegible]	[illegible]
Enumeration		[illegible]
Agricultural Fund	[illegible]	[illegible]
Balance in Treasury, June 1st, 1871		[illegible]

By deducting [illegible] balance in Treasury from the Railroad Tax, [illegible] leaves an actual indebtedness of the county [illegible].

Witness my hand [illegible] of DeKalb County, Indiana, this 14th day of June, 1871.

W. McINTYRE, Auditor.

Treasurers Report for the Month of May, A. D. 1871.

To the Hon. Board of Commissioners of DeKalb County, Indiana.

The undersigned Treasurer of said county, respectfully report to your honors the amount of money in his hands belonging to each district fund on the 31st day of May, 1871, as follows:

[illegible]	[illegible]
Congressional School Interest	[illegible]
Liquor License	[illegible]
Common School Fund	[illegible]
Congressional Principal	[illegible]
County Revenue	[illegible]
Road	[illegible]
Township Revenue	[illegible]
Special School Revenue	[illegible]
Common School Tax Revenue	[illegible]
Agricultural fund	[illegible]
Dog Tax Revenue	[illegible]
Municipal	[illegible]
Redemption of Land	[illegible]
Rail Road Tax Fund	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. D. Ryan, Treasurer of DeKalb County.

Attest: [illegible]

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

F. D. Ryan, being duly sworn, says that the statements made in the within report are true in substance and in fact as he verily believes.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 7th day of June, 1871.

W. McINTYRE, Auditor.

Surveyors Coming.

The surveyors now taking the preliminary survey on the line for the extension of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad through this place, will be here to-day. We learn that the line as now staked, will cross the St. Joe River, about one mile south of Newville. They are pushing the survey along quite as rapidly as is consistent with the importance of the work, and we understand that each day adds new developments in favor of this line. With this road and the Eel River, in running order clear through we don't see why Auburn may not become a place of considerable importance.

SHELDENBERGER'S EUROPEAN [illegible]

Those who live in towns and cities [illegible] not considering [illegible] relieve the tedium of the common routine of life, often complain of the dearth of amusements. They have lectures, concerts, theaters, and all kinds of shows, both moral and vulgar, and yet they pine for amusements. What do such persons think of those who live in the country [illegible] in the winter evening [illegible] which they can [illegible] called? [illegible] who blames them for spending a little money once or twice a year in taking their families to the Circus or Menagerie? [illegible] the performances of the Circus and feats of the Acrobats a source of real enjoyment, and [illegible] it?

The [illegible] opportunity to gratify the [illegible] crowd of [illegible] and will doubtless call out a large crowd, to see the performances and the cages of the wild animals.

Sheldenberger's European Menagerie now stands unrivalled as the most Complete aggregation of zoological wonders that has visited America, and while other one horse institutions of this kind go through the country advertising Rhinoceros, giraffes, and other animals [illegible] or had, by which means they [illegible] share of the public patronage, [illegible] genuine and really meritorious kind, yet people stand aloof knowing that from their past bitter experience, all is not gold that glitters. This may be the case with some when this mammoth establishment exhibits in this place on the [illegible] inst., not being fooled once by attending they are fooled again by not attending. As far as we can learn and we have no desire to misrepresent in a matter of this nature, where this colossal show has exhibited the papers speak very highly of the character of the entertainment and from this we draw our conclusions that the entertainment will pay the investment necessary to see it.

While other shows of this kind advertise a Rhinoceros to draw the people, this one [illegible] the only [illegible] exhibition of this largest living specimen of the animal now in the country.

He is a monster creature, weighing [illegible] thousand pounds, equal to four [illegible].

Should the Managers fail to show this animal they will return the price of admission.

This huge beast was captured in the jungles of India by a large party of native hunters, accompanied by Mr. [illegible] Scorill, the agent of [illegible] Sheldenberger, proprietor of the European Menagerie and Grecian Circus.

About one o'clock, the two native scouts in advance signalled Mr. Scorill and his companions to stop; they then reported that about a half-a-mile ahead there, and insight one of the largest Black Rhinoceroses they had ever seen.

Mr. Scorill at length came within a safe seeing distance of the monster quadruped, and, to use his own word "he was spell-bound by the colossal proportions of the creature that lay slumbering before him, notwithstanding the fact that he had hunted in the jungles and wilds of almost every part of the world, and, consequently, accustomed to sights of a thrilling and extraordinary nature." They had just emerged from the morass on to a piece of hard ground, about a hundred acres in extent, beyond which another morass presented itself, where, protected from the sun's rays by large reeds, wallowing in a bed of mud, the thick-skinned monster was taking his siesta. Cautions and immediate action was now necessary. The two natives who acted as scouts to the expedition, and were most skillful of all their companions in the use of the lasso, now proceeded along the the earth like a couple of snakes, with their lasso ready for immediate service. Mr. Scorill in the mean time waited impatiently for the elephants and the rest of his people to come up. At length they arrived, and, on reaching the hard ground, the elephants, by pricking them with the spear, were made to utter the tremendous roars of which they are capable—like the mutterings of "deep m outhed thunder." As the elephants roared, the leviathan Rhinoceros sprang to his feet, while his small black eyes took in the situation at a glance. He turned to to make good his retreat, but it was too late. The lasso whirled through the air and encircled his neck, and the hunter, with the end in his hand, [illegible] which had been attached to the [illegible] this purpose. He quickly had all [illegible] done, the Rhinoceros [illegible] he had turned to flee; but as [illegible] too soon, for away he went, with a bound, running as far as the rope allowed him, when, finding himself trapped, he [illegible] way to the [illegible] the dirt high into the air, bellowing, snorting, rolling; and then, springing to his feet again, it seemed as if he had determined to make his enemies pay dearly for his capture, for he at once turned back upon his pursuers. So suddenly was this done that a few of the Indian hunters who were close on him were taken at a disadvantage and had to make precipitous and ignominious retreat; but the Unicorn was too quick for them, and three of the men fell victims to his infuriated anger. The Rhinoceros, now besides himself with rage, made directly for the elephants, choosing the side of these animals as the most vulnerable part for his attack—for, fastened as they were, the [illegible] could not use their trunks and tusks with their usual advantage. Mr. Scorill, seeing this, immediately placed three hunters in the way of the [illegible] animal, in order to divert his attack from the elephants, and they soon became a sacrifice to his irresistible wrath. He then charged upon the elephant nearest to him, and [illegible] the natives tried to [illegible] could not be done without shooting the [illegible] and this it was not policy to do, inasmuch as the sole object of the expedition was to capture him alive, and [illegible] without wounds [illegible] penetrated the [illegible] least a dozen of times, and, from loss of blood and inability to defend [illegible] an easy victim. In the mean time, [illegible] of the natives, while the [illegible] carrying everything with [illegible] stepped quietly behind him, and placed a heavy rope in such a way that when he moved back he would place his four feet within the cordon, which was so arranged that it could be tightened on him in a [illegible]. This trap being in readiness, a volley of musketry was fired and the [illegible] startled for a moment, left his bloody work and stepped back—that instant the rope tightened and the Rhinoceros was fairly caught, and, by the united strength of forty men, he was pulled to ground, and his feet were securely lashed together with leather thongs.

Summer is now fairly upon us, though we have in fact been experiencing summer weather for some time past, the mercury rising as high as 92° in the shade.—The season has now so far advanced that even in the northernmost part the country the danger to fruit-trees and vines from frosts and cold storms is entirely past. The reports from various States indicate that a fair yield of fruit may be expected.

Snake Dodge.—As the train drew up to [illegible] they alighted, and proceeded leisurely up Main Street. The detective followed at a [illegible] distance, and upon the [illegible] of the aforesaid place of [illegible] all three of them finally drew [illegible] of the point from which they started [illegible]. Now, there was nothing very [illegible] in this, but [illegible] Thompson, an extra hand on the Ft. W. J. & S. R. R., was implicated as being one of the party. [illegible]

As the train neared our place the detectives were informed that a sister of the brother was on the train and that she intended to get off here. It was afterward [illegible] the fellow might be "grabbed." Acting on this, they watched the place with the [illegible] result.

In the [illegible] Thompson, who had slept in an extra passenger coach during the previous night at the station, [illegible] himself in the water closet in the car. The train moved off [illegible] the [illegible] fugitive from his would be captors. The girl returned on the next down train to Fort Wayne, and as for the fugitive, [illegible] but we do know, that the girl [illegible] they will never see him again.

We learn since that he was captured in [illegible].

[illegible]

Our friend, Montgomery, of the [illegible] makes several mistakes in the last issue of his usually good paper and we take the liberty of setting him right again. He says:

"As an evidence of what the people are becoming more honest politically it is only necessary to say, that the Democrat, a vulgar sheet controlled by Brick Pomeroy, in New York, has 'gone dead' for want of support. No one has tears to shed over its demise, unless it be a few hot-headed Democrats that belong to the corrupt Tammany ring. Decent people will rejoice."

The New-York Democrat, with which Brick Pomeroy has [illegible] for the last two years, has "gone dead" but "Pomeroy's Democrat" still lives, and has the largest circulation of any weekly paper in New York. Come, Mont. give Brick some credit for being not only a temperate man, but the only [illegible] in that city that has [illegible] into the Canada through [illegible].

And still another.

The Democratic [illegible] Pew and [illegible] are [illegible] on the fact that we don't [illegible] any thing [illegible].

The [illegible] is a Republican [illegible] is very bad for the [illegible] have a penchant for [illegible], and unless Mr. Pomeroy changes "action" pretty [illegible] will have to put the [illegible].

[illegible]

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
[illegible]	[illegible]
GRAIN—
Wheat [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Rye	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
Corn	[illegible]
BUTTER—
[illegible]	[illegible]
SEEDS—
Clover	[illegible]
Timothy	[illegible]
Flax	[illegible]
WOOL—
[illegible]	[illegible]

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

[illegible]

J. L. DANNER, Clerk.

[illegible]

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this [illegible] day of [illegible], A. D. 1871.

J. L. DANNER, Clerk.

Deafness, Catarrh, Scrofula. A lady who had suffered for years from [illegible]

NEW system NEW

GOODS,

NEW PRICES!!

Ready Pay and Low Prices!

[illegible]

W. T. CLARK & CO.

[illegible]

Spring and Summer Goods!

[illegible]

Dry Goods,

CLOTHING,

HATS AND CAPS!

Boots & Shoes,

GROCERIES,

Crockery, Notions,

[illegible]

BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!

[illegible]

Wheat,

Corn,

Oats,

And Country Produce

[illegible]

The Highest Market Price.

[illegible]

CALL AND SEE

THE

Great Spring Stock!

OF

Boots and Shoes

W. W. [illegible]

AT

Wagoner's Old Stand,

MAIN St., AUBURN, IND.

[illegible]

Men, Boys, Ladies and Misses

[illegible]

Prices Low and Reasonable.

[illegible]

Wednesday and [illegible]

I DEFY COMPETITION.

[illegible]

W. W. [illegible]

F. L. Davenport's

Drugs & Medicines

[illegible] Books, Stationery,

WALL PAPER,

FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES,

[illegible]

T. [illegible]

[illegible]

No. 5, Keystone Block,

Fort Wayne [illegible]

[illegible]

Hough & Hamilton

WHOLESALE

GROCERS

NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

Dry Goods. Dry Goods

ONE OF THE LARGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF

NEW DRESS GOODS,

Shawls,

Percales,

Prints,

and Domestics

To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.

Pleasure to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them

GEO. DEWALD & CO.

Successors to Townley, Dewald, Reed & Co., 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS

FOR

CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!

CLOTHING.

We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Men's and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with a fine Stock of

MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!

We have engaged Professor [illegible], the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys wear, in the latest styles and

PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!

Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when visiting our city.

I. LAUFERTY & SON,

South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets,

Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!

Of 500 Pieces Prints.

WHO IS BEAT?

NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.

They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!

We told you that on the 20th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints two weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyful announcement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, [illegible], to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not ask you 9c calico for 8c. So much for calico.

A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the "next" [illegible] bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. [illegible] of muslins 12½c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.

DRESS GOODS!

2,000 yards of handsome Poplins at 25c per yard. 3,000 yards of children's [illegible] plaids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 25c a yard.

ALPACAS. ALPACAS.

[illegible] We think the best in Alpacas. Black [illegible]

[illegible] stock of Marseilles to be found west of New Yourk. [illegible]

SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.

PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!

We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.

1,000 pairs of stockings sold at 10c, worth 20c. Large lot of Cottonades at 25c per yard. Quantity of Sewing Threads, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies Linen Suits. White Linen Suits. Victoria Lawn by the yard. [illegible] Eng. Cambric, Nainsooks. A full line of Shawls. Give us a call.

FRANK & THANHOUSER.

NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN INDIANA

HEADQUARTERS FOR

BOOTS & SHOES!

WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT

Wholesale and Retail!

[illegible]

BUY IN LARGE QUANTITIES

DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURERS!

[illegible]

WE KEEP ALWAYS

LATEST STYLES in the MARKET

OUR [illegible] MARKLEY [illegible]

Buy First-Class Goods!

[illegible]

Are the Only House

In the City who make it a business to manufacture

MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS

Home Made Boots

GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WAY

BOOTS & SHOES

Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK [illegible] FORT WAYNE INDIANA.

MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

A gentleman was dining with a [illegible] when a most dreadful storm arose. The host insisted upon his guest's acceptance of a lodging for the night. [illegible] was missed from the parlor. In half an hour he reappeared, [illegible] asked the host, viewing the singular object, which looked like a dog about the ears, and a weeping willow about the body.

"I" said he, quietly shaking off the water, "I have been at home to tell my wife that, as it was such a bad night, I should not return."

Prevention of Rust.—Dr. Grace Calvert states that iron immersed for a few minutes in a solution of carbonate of potash or soda will not rust for years, though exposed continually to a damp atmosphere. It was believed long ago by soap and alkali merchants that the caustic alkalies (soda and potash) protected iron and steel from rust, but that the components of those salts preserved the same property as they do in a caustic state now. It does not seem to matter whether the solution be made with fresh or sea water.

Prince Arthur of England met with a painful accident on the 19th ult., just before the State ball at Buckingham Palace. While leaning against a window in the billiard room at Buckingham Palace, the [illegible] of which were loose, the [illegible] and the Prince fell eight feet. He was partially stunned, but was attended by surgeons, who found that no serious injury [illegible].

J. W[illegible] proposes, in the [illegible] Farmer, a plan for what he calls a "symmetrising rack and manger," which consists simply in placing the box so high that the colt can only reach the food by arching the neck and raising the head nearly as high as possible. By this means he claims that a great improvement can be made in the style and symmetry of horses designed for the saddle, the coach, or the road.

Minister Washburne telegraphed on the 31st ult. that order has once more been restored in Paris. As far as ascertained, American citizens and property escaped uninjured. He says it is difficult to tell who is the coming man, or the form of government likely to be adopted. There will, he says, be a desperate struggle among the different interests.

In reference to the item that a writing desk of Benjamin Franklin was lately sold in New port for ten cents, the Mercury says: "This hoax has had its run. The desk referred to has been in the Mercury office many years, and was formerly used in Judge Joslin's school, and Benjamin Franklin never used it or saw it. We had no further use for it, and it was sold and used for a peanut stand."

A tremendous fall of rain has occurred in Kentucky lately. The country is flooded in every direction. Telegraph lines are washed down, railroad bridges swept away, and immense damage has been done to property.

That [illegible] young woman of Boston who [illegible] while visiting her country cousins a month ago, finds the management of her new false teeth exceedingly troublesome.

Senator Ames, of Mississippi, has gone to Lowell, where it is reported, Mrs. Ames, is engaged in preparing a wardrobe of very diminutive and elegant apparel, to have in readiness for Gen. Butler's first grandchild.

Work will be commenced on the Fort Wayne and pacific branch of the New York and Western railroad across Jasper county, in a few days, or as soon as the right of way is secured.

An illiterate farmer, wishing to enter some animals at an agricultural exhibition, wrote to the secretary as follows: "Also enter me for the best Jackass; I am sure of taking the premium."

"What [illegible]?" asked a Yale professor. "[illegible]," answered a promising pupil. The young man has been granted a twelve months' vacation, to attend spelling school.

A chambermaid advertises in the New York Times for a situation "in a first-class family," and adds "None but first-class families need apply."

"[illegible]" "Thank you, ma'am, I belong to the temperance society, and can't take anything."

The stroke of the whip leaves marks in the flesh; but the stroke of the tongue [illegible] the bones.

There were [illegible] in New York on the 31st of May. Five [illegible].

Susie [illegible], of Guilford, when six years old, paid a gold watch for a lamb and its increase until she was twenty-one. [illegible] has been sued in consequence.

[illegible] would spend the same amount of time in the kitchen, kindly and patiently instructing Bridget in the duties, that she spends in the parlor gossiping with her neighbors about Bridget's faults and short comings, a marked improvement would soon be visible in domestic affairs.

The Yankees are smart, and it requires great adroitness to get the start of them; but the Chinese can do it occasionally. Last year they made up half a million pounds of willow leaf into green tea at Shanghai, mixed it with genuine tea, and sent it off to market. Of course this country got its full share of that description of tea.

A posthumous scrap of Artemus Ward's writings is a letter to a menagerie agent who sent him some tickets: "Thanks for the tickets. This act of kindness, so nobly conceived and delicately consummated, assures me that all is not dark and hollow in this world, and that the human heart, when connected with a menagerie, is capable of lofty impulses."

State News.

The wheat harvest will commence in Gibson county this week.

The Germans of Lafayette will hold a peace jubilee on the 4th of July.

[illegible]

[illegible], an old citizen of Lafayette, died suddenly on Saturday morning, of heart disease.

Big Hank, one of the [illegible] burglars who went through [illegible], in Elkhart county, is in prison in Chicago.

[illegible], of Elkhart, had three ribs broken, besides sustaining other injuries by the fall of a derrick, last Tuesday.

Warsaw is making an effort to secure the location of a college at that place.

The Lawrence County Medical Association meets at Mitchell on the 8th.

A county temperance alliance was organized [illegible].

The residence of H. Humrichouser, of [illegible], was [illegible] last Monday night, the burglars securing about $1.50.

[illegible], son of Jesse Kline, was drowned in a mill-pond at [illegible], Kosciusko county, a few days ago.

The dwelling [illegible], of Green township, Morgan county, was struck by lightning last Tuesday, and [illegible] injured.

The potato bug is, it seems, to be re-inforced by another pest. It is reported that [illegible] of seven year locusts are appearing in the county—especially in Clinton township.—[illegible] Ledger.

Farmers [illegible] weeks ago expressed their fears that the wheat crop in this county would fall short, now concede the fact that it will be a good crop, the rust not having [illegible].—[illegible] Democrat.

Dr. Andrew Foster, resident of Laporte county, committed suicide at Buchanan [illegible], by shooting himself in the breast with a pistol. The remains were brought to [illegible] for interment.

The Washington Democrat says the publisher of that paper "lost his coat tail [illegible] up-and-[illegible]," but don't [illegible] readers which party stood up and did the kicking down.

The Cotswold [illegible] buck exhibited by Samuel Henderson, of [illegible], Johnson county, at the last State Fair, securing the first premium, was lately [illegible].

The Bloomfield Tribune calls the Terre Haute Gazette [illegible]." Since the Gazette assumed its [illegible] of party trammels, the editor has been called a variety of hard names, but heretofore nothing quite so [illegible].

The recent purchaser of an old house in Stafford County, [illegible] containing specie, in taking down the chimney, and has retired.

The Baltimore City Council has unanimously voted $1,000 to the widow of a policeman who was murdered while endeavoring to arrest [illegible] laws.

A wedding has recently taken place in South Norwalk which was brought about in a romantic manner. A young lady in trimming hats wrote her name and address on the inside lining. A New Yorker bought a hat with the above result.

[illegible]

The reason why editors have their manners spoiled, is because they receive so many evil communications.

Why is the first chicken of a brood like the mainmast of a vessel? Because it is a little forward of the main hatch.

An [illegible] make a man rise early in the morning. A six months' baby can beat it [illegible].

A curate having been [illegible] by his bishop for [illegible] pleaded, '[illegible].' 'Very well,' returned the bishop, 'that puts a new face on the affair.'

'I wish you had been Eve,' said an urchin to a stingy old aunt [illegible]. 'Why so?' '[illegible], you would have eaten all the apple instead of dividing it.'

An old lady gave this rather [illegible] great man: "One should [illegible] clothes, don't drink spirits, kiss the Bible without spelling the words, and eat [illegible] a day without grumbling."

'You must not play in the street with the boys now, [illegible]

[illegible] cent reply [illegible]

A sailor, whose sweetheart had a very [illegible] said the good-natured sailor; 'I'm always getting smacked.'

A little [illegible] worsted slippers for her father, said to a young [illegible] her: 'You are very lucky, you are; you papa has got only one [illegible].'

Los Angeles, California, raises oranges twelve inches in diameter.

The census returns show a decrease of [illegible]

A deed was recently registered in Massachusetts that bore the names of ninety-eight [illegible], who were legal heirs to an estate.

The [illegible] wife in Rondout is to send the ugliest article [illegible] a letter after her, politely informing the [illegible] decamp for parts unknown. Cornelius [illegible] the practice there a few days ago.

On Saturday morning last a little girl [illegible] months old, daughter of William Downs of Alexandria, Va., while in a pet, held her breath, as children frequently do, but [illegible]. Previous to [illegible] all appearances perfectly well.

In an Ohio school celebration, the Superintendant announced a title of a song as '[illegible].' When the audience found that it was 'Write Me a letter from Home' he thought it prudent to disappear.

TARIFF OFF!

Owing to the fact that Congress has

Reduced the Tariff

on

Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.

[illegible]

SMITH & HARE'S

As we do business only on the

Cash System,

We are enabled to sell

GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS

[illegible]

CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
[illegible]
NOTIONS, &c., &c.,

[illegible]

All we ask is to give us a trial.

SMITH & HARE.

O. D. HURD,

DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
[illegible]
Mouldings,
AND
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of [illegible],
West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

MODERWELL & FOWLER

MAKE A SPECIALTY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT

FITTING SHIRTS

[illegible] HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF

Mens' Furnishing Goods!

[illegible]
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN
[illegible]

SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE.

CORNER [illegible]
FORT WAYNE, IND.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

BUTLER, INDIANA

[illegible]

HARDWARE

[illegible]

[illegible] ments, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket [illegible] Revolvers, [illegible] and [illegible]

Chains and Belting

Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept [illegible]

GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING,

[illegible]

HATS AND CAPS,

Furnishing Goods.

[illegible]

Retailed at Wholesale Prices
For Cash.

No. 46 Calhoun St., FORT WAYNE, IND., [illegible]

M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fleddermann

MERCHANT TAILOR

[illegible]

First-Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY.

No. 25 [illegible] Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, IND

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, [illegible]

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, [illegible] kinds of custom work [illegible] manner.

[illegible]

FLOUR,

[illegible]

MEAL,

[illegible]

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,

Auburn, April 19, '71.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, the advantage of which we give our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better quality, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One-Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1. up.
Colored " "
Japanese Striped
" Checked
Irish Poplins, in all colors
Japanese, plain
" brocaded
" Watered

Every Lady should call and see our $2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japanese Robes in every shade. White, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses, drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

There London Poplins, for [illegible]
Plain " "
Wash " " "
Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Scoth Ginghams, great variety.
Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the city and the best brand, imported of handsome lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any [illegible]. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours.

Black Brilliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks to [illegible] shade, Fringe and Gimps to match and [illegible] Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

[illegible] patterns, plain, checked and striped [illegible] Mainsooks.

[illegible] Brilliants, Bishop and [illegible] Embroideries, puffings, Edgings, &c.

White, Marseilles, Quilts from [illegible] 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Linens full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and [illegible], the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Cluny, Mechlin, Vallenciennes, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

FOR
Fresh and Fine Family
Groceries and Provisions,
GO TO

JNO. BUTT

[illegible]

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

And Sugar,

EXAMINE OUR GOODS AND PRICES
AND BE CONVINCED THAT
BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH
IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 10, 1870. [illegible]

McDougal's

CARPET STORE

A FULL LINE OF

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,
75 Columbia street

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO. of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other, using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk. Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing. Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequalled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. E. SLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS.

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop
In
Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor,

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS
Carriages,
CUTTERS,
Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

103 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENEREAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY, as to bring Patients from every State. [illegible] so called; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here

FARMERS.

Have you got good

FANNING MILLS?

If not, get one of

J. B. TAYLOR'S

CELEBRATED

Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been tried 14 years past, and not found wanting, in any respect, for cleaning wheat, oats, barley, rye, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of grain. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at O. F. Clark & Co.'s store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICTIED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Waterloo City, March 31, 1869.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

[illegible]ould respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Buildig Matrial,

Agriculturl Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware, Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing, Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, &c.

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and Defy Competition.

JOHN L. DAVIS

March 23 1871

Auditors Office

THE AUBURN COURIER.

[illegible] LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

VOL. I. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 22, 1871. No. 23.

THE AUBURN COURIER

[illegible] every Thursday [illegible]

One year [illegible] $2.00

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

AUBURN, IND., JUNE 22, 1871.

[illegible]

Local Notices, [illegible] cents per line, first insertion; [illegible] each additional insertion.

Business Cards.

SPENCER & BRENTON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office on Calhoun street, between Main and Columbia, up stairs, opposite Foellinger's Store.

JOHN W. RICKEL,
ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly [illegible]

D. D. MOODY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind., will practice in any of the Courts of the State. Office first door to right, Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. 3-43

[illegible] & MADDEN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business intrusted to their care. [illegible] street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-29

McBRIDE & MORLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson, Boyer & Co.'s store. 2-28

BEST & McCLELLAN,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street. [illegible] C. & G. McCLELLAN.

R. H. & W. C. LOCKHART,
DEALERS IN LUMBER, of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind. We buy and ship Lumber [illegible] 2-25

W. H. DILLS,
ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' [illegible]

JAS. E. [illegible] | [illegible] GOTSHALL,
Justice of the Peace. | Notary Public.

GERMAN & GOTSHALL,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents [illegible]

[illegible] No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made [illegible]

E. ELDRIDGE,
PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court-House. [illegible] Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

DR. LEHMANN,
HOMŒOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who [illegible] to Dr. H. Lehmann. All consultations strictly confidential. Office and Residence, Union Street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-26

MASONIC.
DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited [illegible] GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.
CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings. J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,
MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

[illegible]
WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors. JOHN F. BUSH, W. C.
W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,
HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. Casebeer, corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office first door to the left—Union Hall, Auburn, Ind. Residence, West Seventh street, near depot.

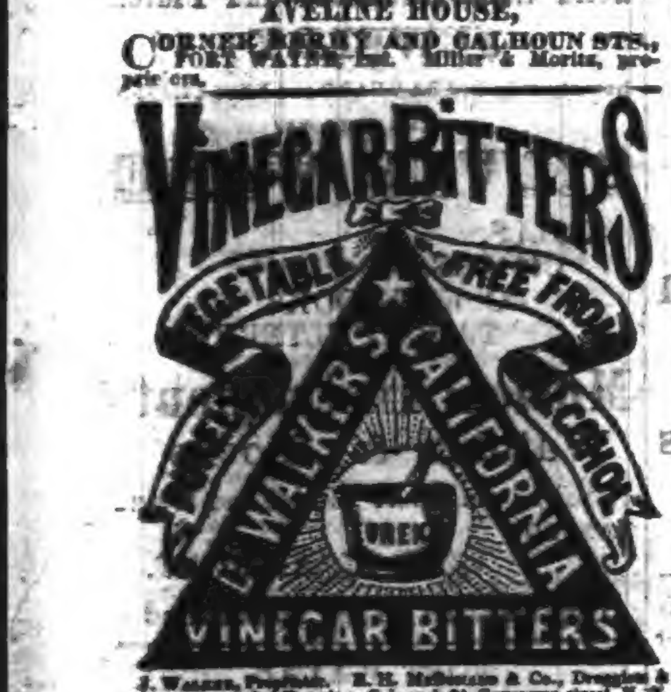
DR. R. ELSON,
RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,
CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. Good Stabling.

GUY PLUM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC [illegible] Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,
SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good [illegible]

AVELINE HOUSE,
CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., FORT WAYNE, Ind. Miller & Moritz, proprietors.



J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDonald & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 34 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, [illegible] of the Chest, [illegible] Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No System of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago R.R.

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS	FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh	1.30 a. m
Rochester	2.41 "	7.10 a. m	10.55 a. m	3.00 p. m
Alliance	4.50 "	8.45 "	12.55 p. m	6.08 "
Orrville	6.28 "	11.45 "	3.00 "	[illegible]
Mansfield	8.?? "	1.55 p. m	4.42 "	[illegible]
A	8.55 "	4.20 "	5.40 "	10.21 "
Crestline	9.20 "	5.00 "	7.10 "	11.00 "
L		5.35 a. m	7.40 "	11.20 "
Forest	11.3? "	7.?? "	9.?? "	1.?? a. m
Lima	11.?? p. m	8.50 "	10.50 "	2.55 "
Ft. Wayne	1.45 "	11.60 "	1.25 a. m	6.00 "
Plymouth	3.50 "	2.25 p. m	3.45 "	8.26 "
Chicago	6.?? "	[illegible]	[illegible]	12.10 p. m

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago	5.50 a. m	9.20 a. m	5.35 p. m	9.00 p. m
Plymouth	9.45	11.53	9.05 "	12.30 a. m
Ft. Wayne	12.50 p. m	2.15 p. m	11.30	3.15 "
Lima	3.07 "	3.50 "	1.37 a. m	5.35 "
Forest	4.27 "	4.50 "	2.50 "	6.?? "
A	6.00 "	6.15 "	4.30 "	7.55 "
Crestline	12.45	6.35 "	4.50 "	8.?? "
Mansfield	1.23 "	7.05 "	5.00 "	10.42 "
Orrville	3.15 "	9.00 "	[illegible]	11.55 "
Alliance	5.50 "	10.?? "	8.50 "	1.45 p. m
Rochester	8.25 p. m	12.27 a. m	11.05 "	[illegible]
Pittsburgh	9.35 "	1.35 "	12.10 p. m	5.30 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 2, 3, 5, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R.R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp	Mixed.	Mail.
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 a m	9 20 a m	4 50 p m
Academie	7 15	[illegible]	5 05
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	5 18
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 33	9 60	5 22
New Era	7 43	10 11	5 33
Auburn	8 01	10 40	5 50
Waterloo	8 16	11 25	5 56
Summit	8 30	11 50	6 05
Pleasant Lake	8 43	12 15 p m	6 18
Angola	8 57	12 55	6 33
Jonesville	[illegible]	2 50
Jackson Arr	11 40	[illegible]	9 15 p m

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson Leave	3 15 p m	6 15 a m	6 50 a m
Jonesville		10 30
Angola	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pleasant Lake	8 41	2 53	9 11
Summit	8 50	3 13	9 22
Waterloo	9 18	3 43	9 40
Auburn	9 40	4 08	9 55
New Era	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 13	4 40	10 20
Huntertown	10 18	[illegible]	10 26
Academie	10 33	[illegible]	10 37
Ft. Wayne Arr	10 55	5 25 p m	10 45

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the Mich. Air Line Road. At Jonesville with the L. S. & M. S. R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

I. O. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R.R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, June 1st, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	12:57 p m.
Waterloo	1:15	2:32 "	1:13 "
Sedan	x1:??	x2:45 "	1:20 "
Corunna	x1:2? "	x2:49 "	1:25 "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:38 p m	2:40 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:42 "	2:45 "
Waterloo	2:50 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Butler	x3:05 "	[illegible]	[illegible]

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time; and twenty-five minutes faster than Chicago time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
CHAS. F. HATCH, Gen. Supt. Cleveland, O.
J. B. CARY, Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY AND SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc. together with a number of first-class livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March 4, '71.

Come and See Me!

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 17 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest and largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Texas papers tell of a man who, after being buried five days by the caving in of a well, was rescued alive, and ate, drank, and smoked, and said he was all right, and a few hours after began to sink, and died without a struggle.

THE NEGLECTED POET.

A poet sat musing
[illegible]
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.
The cold wind was high,
And his coal fire low,
[illegible]
[illegible]
As silently o'er it
Each little coal drew
Its hood of gray ashes
And bade him adieu!
And sad was his musing
That night on his stool,
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.

The snow was descending
He heard now and then,
Again,
And still now and then,
A little flake's foot
[illegible]
[illegible]
It wished them all gone!
'Twas so like the voices
Of triumph and scorn,
[illegible]
On the [illegible] forlorn!
And sad was his musing
That night on his stool,
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.

In sickness and sorrow
He suffered alone,
Unknown.
He bore all alone,
And often he turned
On his pillow to lean
[illegible]
Where the tear-drop's been!
But ah! it was [illegible]
So thoroughly o'er,
At last he lay quiet
And worried no more!
And sad was his musing,
That night on his stool,
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.

His sweet songs had moved them,
Moved millions to tears,
Through years,
To joy and to tears,
But there, in his garret
So cheerless and dim,
None ever came near,
To shed one for him!
All coldly they passed him,
To sneer and reprove;
For he had no money,
And they had no love!
And sad was his musing
That night on his stool,
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.

Yet still he [illegible]
To [illegible] great heart,
Apart,
To tune his great heart
In unison with
The solemn [illegible]
That ever sounds up
From Time's sounding shore—
To brood over nightly,
Brood over each morrow,
Each poor brother's measures
Of sadness and sorrow,
And sad was his musing
That night on his stool,
Poor fool!
On his three-legged stool.

A WAIF.

A little waif drifted into our sanctum a few days ago—a bright-eyed, illy-clad, dirty-faced little girl with a mouth like a rose bud.

'Well, little one,' said we, 'what shall we do for you?'

'Please sir I would like some old papers; just as many as you can give me for that,' and she extended a five cent piece, half shyly and a little reluctantly too.

The little mischief. She had done the same thing in our office at least twice before and had received the papers and the money with the injunction to buy some little [illegible] with it for herself.

'Now what would you do with all this money—five cents—just think of it!—if we give it to you this time?

'I think I will buy a fan, sir.'

A sensible girl, truly—it was an awful hot day.

'Well, then. But whose little girl are you?'

'Mrs. ——Ma does washing.'

'But she don't have to work very hard to take care of you?'

'Oh, there are six of us, and she does work very hard, I'm sure.'

'But where is papa?'

'He's gone away. He left us a good while ago. He never done anything for us. He drinks.'

The old, old story. Drunkenness, idleness, destitution, abuse; a faithful, toiling wife; six children without any strong and responsible arm to protect and lift them up and compel the world to respect them.

There are dozens of these little waifs in the city, with dirty faces and eyes like stars, with bare feet and soiled clothing, and scanty enough at that, but with keen intelligence and winning presence. How attractive they would be, and how proud they would be, if the head of the household provided for them as soberness and industry provide for others.—Jackson Patriot.

Incidents and Accidents.

A little daughter of W. Hangon, of Vicksburgh, Mich., died a few weeks ago from the bite of a potato bug.

The Council Bluffs (Iowa) Times says: "One of the saddest visitations we have heard of in a long time, to one family, transpired in the household of Daniel Dooley, of this city. One of his children died on the 5th of May, the second on the 15th, the third on the 18th, and the fourth on the 23d."

A Louisville girl, whose lover had disgraced himself by some unlawful deed, told the unfortunate youth that she could never [illegible] his character. He [illegible]

In 1843 Dr. Woolsey, President of Yale college, lost one daughter and two sons in one month. Nine years after, in 1852, in one month he lost his wife and one daughter. Nine years after that, in 1861, he buried another son and daughter within one month. Although not superstitious he looked forward to 1870 with apprehension. The nine years elapsed, and he was called upon to mourn the loss of two daughters and his brother and sister.

Miss Emma Hammond, of Joshua Tp., Fulton County, Ill., about eleven months since, stepped upon a needle which broke off in her foot. She never felt any inconvenience from it until a few weeks since, when it began to work its way clear through the foot, and coming out at the top. It was much corroded.

A Terror for a Timid Lawyer—An Unsatisfactory Customer.

From the story 'Ghosts and [illegible]' in Blackwood's Magazine, we take a little sketch that is worthy of Dickens. Mr. Finney, the principal character, is visited by a lawyer and friend, for the purpose of eliciting some information from him in regard to a suit:

'Good evening, sir,' said the lawyer, blandly, as [illegible]

'Evenin',' said Finney, without rising but staring like the sphynx, and inserting a huge wedge of soap like cheese into his mouth.

'And a lovely evening it is,' continued the lawyer, cheerfully.

'Aint been out,' replied the carpenter, thickly, through the cheese.

'You're Mr. Finney, I think?' said my companion.

'Hievery man 'as 'is himpressions,' said Mr. Finney, washing down the cheese with a mouthful of beer, and bringing his winkless eye upon us. 'Sometimes they're kreck—sometimes not kreck.'

'Quite true,' smiled my friend, humoring, 'but I know you're Mr. Finney.'

'Why do you ask, then?'

'Only for form's sake, my dear sir.'

'Oh! and he went on munching and staring, like a cow chewing the cud.

'Mr. Thomas Finney, I may say,' continued the lawyer.

'Oh, you know that too, do you?'

'Oh yes, my dear sir, I know that too.'

'Then you didn't want to ask me the question, I expect?'

'No; but I know more about you than you think, Mr. Finney.'

'P'raps you're a hextra clever man?'

'I hope so; it's my business to be clever.'

'P'raps you know more nor there is to know.'

'Oh, no, no!' laughed the lawyer, as though much tickled with Mr. Finney; 'but I assure you we know nothing that isn't to your credit.'

'Don't you though?'

'No indeed, we don't. You've had your misfortunes, of course.'

'Of course, of course.'

'But you've got over them all.'

'There's no more a comin', I suppose?'

'My dear sir, let us be serious; I am here as a lawyer.'

'That's one misfortune I ain't got over, then.'

'Ah, Mr. Finney, I see you're an incorrigible joker, like all you dramatic gentlemen. Will you answer an honest man a plain question, joking apart, now?'

'Oos a-jokin'? I ain't nor this 'ere gent, as I know on, and I'm not awear as you're said hanfing hextry comic. I ain't larfed, as I knows on. 'Oos a jokin'?'

'Will you answer a question, then?'

'I hain't on-hoath, I suppose?'

'Certainly not; this is a private question [illegible] I only want to see if you can tell me something I know something about already,' said the lawyer, 'outdistinguishing himself.'

'Ah, see! it's k'naundrum; but I give it up. Never could make nothing of them.'

The lawyer looked at me in despair.

'I think you had better ask the question straightforwardly,' I said; 'there is no reason why Mr. Finney should object to answer it.'

Mr. Finney looked perfectly wooden and placid, and frowned at his bread and cheese.

'Well, then, straightforwardly, Mr. Finney, are you a married man?'

'Well, then, straykforwingly, I can't tell you.'

'That's odd; were you ever married?'

'Yes, I was.'

'A widower, perhaps?'

'Maybap.'

'You don't know?'

'I don't know, and I don't bruise my boots, and I ain't a-going to Bedsorville, and watle more I don't care; and now, please to tell me wot this ere lark is? Wot are you a-mining a [illegible]

'Oo are you, you white faced [illegible]?' The [illegible] was as calm as ever, though the words were strong. 'I ain't agoin' to sit here barglin' with you all night; my time's hup—it is. Oo are you?'—and he rose.

An Enormous Pigeon Roost.

The propensity of wild pigeons to congregate in multitudes at given points, is well known, and many tremendous stories have been told of them, the details of which were thought to make a heavy draft on public credulity. We have now, however, authentic information from a gentleman of the highest reputation, who passed last week in the section of Wisconsin we are about to describe, of a 'roost' so enormous in extent that it throws all the other accounts into the shade.

Commencing near Kilbourne City, the breeding ground extends [illegible] townships in length and probably twenty [illegible] ty miles. The forests within these limits are made up exclusively of oak and evergreens of a variety of species. It is a sandy district, embracing perhaps the poorest soil in the State, and apparently destitute of food for even moderate flocks of birds. Yet almost continuously, every the whole area, every tree and shrub is so loaded with nests as to be past computation in numbers. On single pines, from eighty to a hundred were counted, when the job had to be given up as impracticable.

Our informant, Col. Henry Herndon, gives some curious details of his experience on this breeding ground, and of the habits of the pigeon when aggregated in such multitudes. The nesting place it [illegible], as would naturally be supposed, selected for any abundance of food, for the pigeon can readily pass to and from the [illegible] really entice the [illegible] and the multitude [illegible] they [illegible]

[illegible] The old birds left the roost during the [illegible] day, the [illegible] remaining [illegible] in their absence. Only one egg was [illegible] found in a nest. The [illegible] young in a short time after are ruthlessly thrust out to take care of themselves, and develop so rapidly that a few days suffice to give them full maturity. Probably the entire changes are [illegible] with each brood as the process of hatching goes on continuously. Millions of the young perish, but it makes no appreciable difference in the number. [illegible] owls, crows, hawks, and all the species of native carnivora, who feed to repletion, without making any sensible reduction of the aggregate. Scores of hunters catch their thousands daily in nets—and bands of Indians are busy in drying and preparing other thousands as a supply for next winter's use. But all the shooting, netting, knocking from the trees with poles, and every form of destructive agency, fails to make any sensible impression.

The scene in the night time is described as most remarkable. Innumerable flocks get benighted while off feeding, and as they return, the roar of their wings through the forest is overpowering. They pile upon each other literally in heaps, breaking the overburdened brambles, and precipitating multitudes from their perches upon the ground. The wild screaming of the birds, the flapping of wings, and the chattering that fill the air as late as midnight is truly appalling, while the odor arising from the countless dead and the droppings produce a stench almost intolerable.

The "flock," if that term is comprehensive enough, is moving northward, and will probably reach Lake Superior in June when the 'season' will close by a return south, which generally takes place by way of Michigan. They probably annually make a great circuit, like the buffalo, from north to south, and return. Any one curious to see this spectacle should take the cars to Kilbourne City, and follow up the east side of the Wisconsin river. The thousands sent to market are caught at points far distant from the breeding grounds, so that the real locality is not generally known.—Chicago Evening Post.

Miscellaneous Items.

Eleven white girls married colored men in Boston last year.

John Wise, the aeronaut has written an article in favor of the construction of copper balloons.

The Pennsylvania Legislature has passed a law fining a person five dollars for attempting to "dead beat" railroads.

For fifteen years, daily, almost without exception, a Stamford, Conn., man has sat on a fence near the depot, and watched every railroad train as it passed.

At Topeka, Kansas, recently, Associate Justice Miller decided that suicide did not vitiate a life policy if the insured was insane when he committed the act.

Henpeck—My love, I'm happy to inform you I've insured my life! Mrs. H.—Then you ought to be ashamed of such a selfish action. Insure your own life, indeed!—it doesn't matter about mine, I suppose.

[illegible] of [illegible] over their blossoms on one side only one year, on the other side the next year, for six successive years, and then interrupts the regularity by blossoming all over on the seventh year.

'Are these people all indigent?' asked an elegant young lady who was passing through the wards of the poor house in [illegible] 'Oh, no, miss, nothing of the kind,' answered the matron, who misapplied the term, 'they are only poor.'

The [illegible] simultaneous flowering of plants lie from five to ten degrees of latitude further south in America than in Europe. So we learn from a paper read not long since before the Imperial Academy of Science at Vienna.

An ingenious German has gained a great reputation in New York by his success in training coach horses to a grand gait. He [illegible] tance, and the people could not see how he did it, until it was found that he put magnifying goggles upon his horses, which made cobblestones look like boulders, and they acquired a grand tread by trying to step over them.

There is said to be a merchant in New York, wealthy, talented, and of high social position, who for the last fifteen years has regularly, at the end of every six months, gone to some hotel in the city and had a week's debauch, shutting himself in a room and never leaving it till his drunken madness is over. Then he is overwhelmed with shame and remorse, and is a sober man till another six months rolls around, and the same unnatural paroxysm again conquers him.

A man recently died in Indiana from a wound received at the battle of Queenstown, Canada, in 1812. An ounce musket ball which had remained imbedded in the bones of his face over fifty-eight years ulcerated its way into his mouth and was spit out. From this cause inflammation arose, which, extending, terminated fatally.

MATRIMONIAL navigation is rough at times. When the gal gets her nose elevated and puts on style, then Jonathan has the blues. When he tacks near any other dimity, she feels like sinking him with a broadside; and settle up old scores and talk about the little house around the corner and imitate a pair of assorted geese, just exactly.

LOUIE'S PICNIC.

BY S. ANNIE FROST.

"I wish you would stay another week, Louie. We have planned such a pleasant picnic for the Fourth. Won't you stay over the Fourth of July?"

"It is exactly on the Fourth of July that I must be at home, Amy."

"Oh, dear! I thought there was no such word as must in your vocabulary. I have often envied you your perfect freedom from control. Young, and rich, with an elderly lady for a companion who must do as you say, not control you! You are to be envied."

"Would you give your mother and father, Edgar, Will, and Blanche, and all your relatives, for my freedom, Amy? Stand all alone in the world, without a person living to whom you can say, 'Advise me, govern me; I belong to you?'"

"Well, no, not exactly. But, as you are alone, and can do just as you please, why will you not stay for our picnic?"

"I must go home to attend a picnic of my own."

"You mean thing! A picnic at Mausley and I not invited!"

"You would not come. I shall have two hundred guests, and probably not a dozen pairs of shoes amongst them."

"Oh, a charity feast! Do you know, Louie, it is a matter of comment in our set, the large sums you spend in charity? Father says it must take nearly half your income."

"Just half. Not my half."

"Not yours? What do you mean?"

"It is a long story, and a sad one, Amy."

"I like long stories. Everybody is in bed but you and me, and it is too hot to sleep; tell me the story, Louie."

"You never saw my sister Clarice?"

"No, but papa has spoken sometimes of her great beauty and her splendid voice. I thought she was dead!"

"I don't know."

"Was she not older than you?"

"Ten years. Our father and mother died when I was but three years old, and Clarice and I were taken at once to grandfather's. I had a nurse, of course, and she had a governess; but O Amy, I can never tell you what Clarice was to me! Sister, little mother, guide companion, everything an elder, loving sister could be to young one. Even after she finished her education, and became a belle in society, she was never neglectful of Louie. We did not live in New York in those days, but in New Orleans. Grandfather was very fond of music, and of patronizing musicians; but, with all his love of art, he looked upon professional performers as a distinct class. His consternation was very great, therefore, when Clarice fell in love with a tenor singer in an Italian opera troupe, a gentleman in manners, of good birth, but a professional singer. Finding there was a really strong attachment, however, he consented to the marriage upon condition that Signor Buonotti left the stage. This was settled, and there was a brilliant wedding. Your father has told you of Clarice's voice. Child as I was, I can yet remember what a glorious voice it was. Nobody thought it strange, therefore, that any [illegible] cultivating it, and developing its full perfection. For two years nobody suspected his motive, and it came upon grandfather like a thunderbolt when he announced his intention of taking Clarice to Italy to finish her musical studies previous to making her appearance as an opera singer.

"There were terrible scenes. Clarice, the gentlest and most submissive of wives, though she must obey Paulo, and grandfather finally was obliged to yield, refusing even to see her face again if she once made a public appearance. They sailed for Europe, and we heard nothing more for a year. Grandfather would not allow me to write or receive letters, and it was through the papers that we learned that Clarice made her debut in Paris and failed there. I can easily understand how one so timid and shy would lose all voice and confidence before an audience. We knew no more. Grandfather never spoke of Clarice, and when he died, willed his entire large fortune to me. I was but seventeen, and could do nothing for four long years. As soon as I was free, I advertised both in America and Europe for Clarice. We had moved from New Orleans to Mausley six months before grandfather died, and, indeed, some of his physicians thought the northern winter caused his death.

"No news of Clarice has ever reached me, but I take one-half my income every year, her half, to distribute in charity, and at Christmas and Fourth of July I have festival for poor children. This one will be the sixth. In the winter, I hire a hall in the city, give them a dinner, and distribute clothing, blankets, orders for coal, and toys; in the summer, the children come to Mausley; it is only half an hour ride on the cars from New York, and they get a good run in the free country air, a dinner and tea, flowers and fruit, and new sunbonnets and straw hats."

"But don't they injure the grounds?"

"Oh, yes! but the gardeners put that all right. My agent in New York attends to all the business for me; inviting my guest, chartering the train, buying the provisions, and such details, and I see that all right at Mausley. So, you see, I must go home on Monday, to be ready on Thursday."

"Tell me, Louie, who are invited Sunday-school children?"

"Some, but not all. Any child in the street who look as if the country was an unknown Paradise, is invited to be at the depot at six o'clock on the morning of the Fourth, and is returned there at six in the evening."

"And you intend to have these festivals every year?"

"If I do not find Clarice. It is her money, but only the interest. I have a deed of gift of the principal drawn up if she returns while I live."

"May I go home with you on Monday?"

"I would gladly have you; but the picnic?"

"I had rather attend yours."

"You will find me rather a preoccupied hostess, Amy, dear, for it keeps Mrs. Tyson and me busy to superintend the preparations for an early dinner, and a sort of afternoon feast of fruit, ice-cream, and cake, that answers for an early tea. Hams to boil, chickens to roast and dissect, pies to bake, vegetables to cook."

"But can't I help?"

"Indeed you can. Even with all the extra help I hire, Mrs. Tyson and I find plenty to keep our hands busy."

"Then, I may go?"

"I can't tell how glad I shall be to have you, Amy."

"I'll ask mother about it the first thing in the morning. You promised to come here again?"

The morning of the Fourth was all that could be desired by either Louie or her guests. The early morning sun, peeping upon the wide porch at Mausley, saw a group of three, dressed in cool, light muslins, their faces shaded by wide-brimmed hats, looking down the road that led to the little station where the train stopped for Mausley passengers.

Mrs. Tyson, an elderly widow lady, friend and constant companion of the orphan heiress, looked quiet as much pleased and excited as Louie and Amy, though the later, being but eighteen, testified her impatience by balancing on her tiptoes, and occasionally running to the gate to see if there were any signs of the procession.

"Louie," she said, returning from one of these excursions, "do you have an oration?"

"Not one."

"No speeches or hymn-singing?"

"No. Mr. Rynall, the gentleman I told you of, who kindly acts in the city as agent, tells the children how far they my ramble, warns them to come to the barn when they hear a horn, and I talk to them as I see opportunity. That is all."

"Here they come! O Louie, what a procession of ragamuffins!"

"I told you what to expect. Now, Amy, you stand by one of these baskets of buns, Mrs. Tyson will take another, and I the third. As they pass in the gate, give each child two, for many of them have had no breakfast."

A ragged set, indeed, it was that filled by the three ladies; some dropping a courtesy or dipping a bow, some taking the buns in a sort of amazed silence, some saying "Thank ye, mum!" but all around-eyed—wondering what was to come next. It was not long before happy voices filled the air. A great meadow for a play-ground, and a pile of strong toys in one corner, was an unwonted treat. Hoops, grace sticks, balls, kites, in a profusion that the [illegible] little eyes had never feasted on such before out of a toy-shop window.

The morning sped away. Some quarrelling, much profane language, some bruises, were inevitable, but the majority were happy. Groups of little girls clustered together while Amy taught them the art of making daisy wreaths, dandelion chains and cowslip balls. Others, shy and pleased, made bouquets of the wild flowers. Amy was everywhere. She taught them tag and Copenhagen, she made a class to learn how to play graces, she tossed the balls higher than the boys, and out ran the girls on the gravel path with hoops.

Dinner-time found the [illegible] procession a noisy, romping but generally good natured crowd, and the great barn with its long, beautifully spread table, was filled with hungry children. If "My eye!" "Oh, cricky!" "Goodee!" and "I'll be blowed!" were not strictly elegant words, they were at least expressions, and there were no [illegible] to complain of lack of appetite.

"Louie," said Amy, coming to the busy hostess, after all seemed supplied for a time, "would you box my ears if I told you there is a child here so like you she startled me?"

"Where?"

"On the steps. She is a little mite, about four years old, but wonderfully like you; she says her name is Louisa, too."

"O Amy!"

"There, don't faint! I thought of the same thing that has made you so white. Come and see the child."

She was still seated on the step at the great barn-door, eating cold chicken and bread and butter, when they came to her. Very plainly dressed, but with clean, whole garments and at her throat a little ruffle fastened by a small coral pin.

"Amy, see! I would know that pin anywhere. It was our mother's. I've found Clarice. Little one, tell me, where do you live?"

The child only said: "Louisa."

"Is your name Louisa?"

She nodded again, but was joined at the moment by a boy of eleven or twelve, a lad who ought to have been a model for Murillo—dark-skinned, dark-eyed, and Italian in face and feature.

He smiled too, saying, in rather broken English: "Paulo and Louisa Buonotti, signorina. Only a few weeks in New York from Naples."

"Where is your mother?" asked Louie, in Italian.

The boy's face brightened at once.

"Mamma is in New York, and she [illegible] for money to go to New Orleans to find grandfather. We should have gone before, but it took all the money to get to New York after papa died."

"O Amy, I must go to her now. We can catch the two o'clock train and return at four. You will take my place here?"

"Yes, yes! Go, dress at once, while I order the carriage to take you to the station."

"Paulo," said Louie, drawing the boy in the house, "did you ever hear of your Aunt Louie?"

"Ah, yes! Mamma gave little sister her name."

"I am your Aunt Louie."

"She is a little girl."

"She was, Paulo, when your mamma last saw her. Tell me your mamma's first name."

"Clarice."

"I knew it. We will go home now, Paulo, and bring mamma out here to live with me."

"Here! In this beautiful place! Oh, it will be like going to Italy!"

"Shall we go now? [illegible] is good with the lady, who came with me, and will not miss us until we are here again. Shall we find your mamma?"

"Oh, come, come! Oh, signorina, will she die of joy? She has talked of you so much, and sometimes she says I should die of joy to see Louie."

The boy's confidence won, he told Louie, in his musical Italian, a sad story of want and suffering, and even, his great black eyes flashing, the tales of cruelty from the disappointed father to the patient mother. They had lived in poverty's hardest homes, till his mother, when left a widow, had sold clothing and some few paltry trinkets, and come home as a steerage passenger. Thinking her relatives still in New Orleans, she had intended to go there, if possible, as soon as she could by work or charity defray the expense. Louie's tears flowed fast, but the boy was radiant with delight.

It was in a very poor part of the town that Louie found the house. Paulo gave the address to the hack-driver, but the house was a small boarding-house, not a den of poverty, as she had feared. Her heart seemed to be suffocating her as Paulo opened a door, and she looked upon a lady in deep mourning, as like the gay young sister she remembered as possible.

"Paulo, where is your sister?" she cried.

"At Aunt Louie's. Oh, mamma, the kind lady that gave the party is Aunt Louie! She is here."

But Louie was sitting on the floor in the narrow entry, crying like a baby. The lady in mourning bent over her.

"Can you be little Louie?" she asked.

"Clarice! Is it, indeed, Clarice?"

It was, indeed, Clarice.

"I little thought," she said as they were speeding back to Mausley, "that when I let the children [illegible] landlady's little ones to a country visit for the day, where they were going. It was hard struggle with my [illegible] for I understood [illegible] but they [illegible] pride has had to give way to my poverty so often," she added, sadly, "that once more seemed of little account."

"Oh, think if you had gone to New Orleans!"

"I scarcely knew [illegible] Louie. I did not know one [illegible] or was dead, and I hoped he would do something for my children. With your love, I can face the future more bravely."

"There we are [illegible] and yours, Clarice," said Louie, drawing her sister into the spacious drawing-room, told her of their grandfather's will and her own [illegible]

Can I describe the end of the picnic? How the children were feasted, what treasures of clothing, toys and flowers they took home [illegible] delight when she found the beautiful day was to be repeated for her, and that mamma and Paulo too were to live at Mausley.

[illegible] continued, for Clarice highly approved of the previous appropriation of her income, and intends to join Louie in future festivals of the same character.

A RADICAL [illegible] a sly dig [illegible] president. This is only a fair specimen of the feeling which is constantly being exhibited by the leading [illegible] nor Republican newspapers [illegible] whole country. Only a small number of them openly favor Grant's renomination. But so firm is the hold of the office holders and plundering official rings upon the Radical party that there is no longer a doubt of their ability to control the nomination. Bitter and nauseating as the pill may be, Republicans may as well make up their minds to swallow it. Their only escape from the sad results of such political quackery, will be through an open alliance with the national Democracy.—Laporte Argus.

The Philadelphia surgeons, like other sensible people, are opposed to high heeled shoes. Dr. Wm. H. Pancoast remarked the other day, after performing a painful operation on an interesting little girl whose feet had been ruined by wearing wrongly constructed shoes. "This is but the beginning of a large harvest of such cases."

The latest instance of generosity and munificence comes from New Orleans. The finder of a twenty-five thousand-dollar check returned it to its proper owner—a prominent broker of Carondelet street—and was rewarded with abundance of thanks in words.

The Courier.

AUBURN, IND. JUNE 22, 1871

Our views on the new Departure.

The Ligonier Banner, Waterloo Press, and other Republican journals have asserted that the COURIER is the only paper in Northern Indiana that opposes the "New Departure." They do us great injustice as we have not expressed an opinion on the subject.

It is true that an article appeared at the head of the editorial page of the COURIER, which would lead them to think so at first, but by looking at the last paragraph they will easily discover that this article should have preceded others of similar import in the same issue. It should have been credited to Pomeroy's Democrat as it was taken entire from that paper. The fact of our being the only paper taking this course would not influence us to deviate from what we thought to be right and proper, as we are not publishing a paper after the style and diction of others.

However we are not arrayed against the new plank in the Democratic platform, adopted in Ohio as follows:

RESOLVED, by the Democracy of Ohio, First. That, denouncing the extraordinary means by which they were brought about, we recognize as accomplished facts the three amendments in fact to the Constitution, recently declared adopted, and the same as no longer political issues before the country.

It is just simply saying that in spite of all our efforts and protests, and by the most outrageous and flagrant means the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, were made a part of the Constitution; that they are now accomplished beyond our reach, and outside of the pale of political agitation, and that the Democratic party, being an organization of the present and the future, as well as of the past, leaves the accomplished things of the past to press more vigorously after the things which are before it. We cannot afford to waste our energies in combatting matters which we cannot better, while the country is drifting so rapidly to financial ruin and a centralized despotism.

Our moral President.

The other Sunday at Long Branch, President Grant, being too much fatigued from his previous day's journey to and from New York to attend church, appeared on the road with his family in a magnificent carriage (presented to him by admiring friends) drawn by two high-stepping bays (also a present), with four colored servants, two on the driver's seat and two behind, all dressed in gorgeous butternut-colored livery (presented by a New York tailor). A remarkable exhibition of Republican simplicity in President of the United States, reminding the beholders of the better days of the Republic!

Such examples as there are being imitated by lesser lights in the Destruction Party. We noticed on the late excursion a Mr. Jacobs, the the Governor's private Secretary, and Pseudo proprietor of the Indianapolis Journal could not travel without a negro nurse, and always demanded about three times the accommodations of hotels that other parties enjoyed. Some men are affable and approachable notwithstanding the high position which they hold politically and socially and others again are dignified beyond measure with a corporals commission. These high notions generally come to grief.

An Important Fact for Conservatives to Consider.

Conservative Republicans have no longer an excuse for voting with the Radical destructionists. They have differed with the Democracy upon matters connected with the war and with the results of the war as embodied in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, but the Democracy have now met them half way, by declaring that these amendments are accomplished facts and no longer in the range of politics, so that all the differences of a vital character upon the questions are settled. Upon all other questions they can muster under the Democratic banner.

All Conservative Republicans are opposed to Grant's extravagant and personal government, and so are the Democracy.

They are opposed to Grant's San Domingo job, and so are the Democracy.

They are opposed to the High and Prohibitory Tariffs of the Radicals, and so are Democracy.

They are in favor of paying the public debt as we agreed to pay it—gold where gold is stipulated, and paper where paper is named, and so are the Democracy.

They are in favor of taxing the capital of the bondholder, and so are the Democracy.

Come, then, with us, and assist in the political regeneration of the country.

The poor Indians are becoming civilized. Five wives of the Cut-over-the-top, chief of the Kansas, have applied for a divorce.

Mr. Greely assured his Texas friends, as the result of his own agricultural experience, that farming must infallibly pay if it is conducted in a profitable manner.

DIGHAM

Accidentally shot by himself.

Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, Ohio's greatest Statesman, came to his death last Saturday morning, by the accidental discharge of a pistol in his own hands.

No one was present with Mr. Vallandigham when the accident occurred but ex-Lieut. Gov. McBurney, who has been associated with him in the defence of McGehan. McBurney had expressed some doubts as to the theory that Meyers had shot himself, and Mr. Vallandigham picked up a pistol from the table, saying he would show him in half a second. Two pistols were on the table, one unloaded, and he by mistake took up the loaded one. He put it in his pocket and withdrew it, keeping the muzzle next to his body. Just as it was leaving his pocket it was discharged, the ball entering, it is said, near the same place Meyers was shot. He at once ejaculated, 'Oh, murder!' and said he had taken the wrong pistol. While the examination was going on he watched the surgeons at work with eager eyes, and even assisted them in them in their search for the ball."

He lingered until eighteen minutes before ten o'clock Saturday morning. His wife was at Cleveland, on her way to New Jersey to attend the funeral of her brother, when she received the news of her husbands death. The Fort Wayne Gazette says:

"Men of all shades of political opinion will, doubtless, deplore the accident, described on the telegraphic page, which terminated the life of the Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, on Saturday evening. Mr. Vallandigham was a man of more than ordinary ability. He was born at New Lisbon, Ohio, in 1822, and graduated, we believe, at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania. At all events, he was a man of scholarly and literary attainments, and when he could be drawn aside from the pursuit of law and politics, could give an attractive literary address. After leaving college, he was for some time a school teacher, and finally settled down the practice of law, in which he was very successful. He was a member of the Thirty-fifth, Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh Congresses."

Mack, of the Chicago Republican, says of him:

"In the cheap and unreasoning claptrap of the day, it is common to speak of Mr. Vallandigham as a "rebel," a "traitor," or a "secessionist." Now, no man can attribute any one of these epithets to him without confessing himself a fool. Mr. Vallandigham was as sincerely desirous of the preservation of the Union as any other living man; but he had educated himself into the belief, first, that coercion was unconstitutional, and secondly, that successful coercion was physically and morally impossible. Hence he was for compromise,—concession—arbitration—anything rather than war. And although he lived to see the war successful, I know very well that he died in the belief that it was both unwise and unnecessary. Neither fact nor reasoning could ever change his opinion on this subject.

Not so.

We had hoped that the Republican journals would display some degree of honesty in their comments upon the Ohio Democratic Platform, but it seems such is not the case; nor are we much disappointed. These papers are profuse in their declarations that the Democracy approve of the defeated 13th 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution and the mode by which they are declared adopted. The Democracy do not approve of these amendments; neither do they indorse the means by which they were adopted. They simply acquiesce, just as they should be compelled, after a consuming fire had swept our city, to acknowledge the fact. What the Democracy now propose, is to place the government in honest hands, and bring it back as it was in the earlier days of the Republic.

The Result in New Hampshire

The gallant Democracy of the Granite State, on Saturday, after an exciting contest of four days in the Legislature, reaped the full fruits of their splendid victory in March last, by the election by the Legislature in Joint Convention of Hon. James A. Weston, as Governor of the State. The Radicals resorted to every parliamentary means to stave off the inevitable hour but it was of no avail. There was hearty cooperation between the Democrats and Labor Reformers, and the result is a decided victory of the taxpayers over the tax-grabbers.

THE Nashville Union in a review of the political situation remarks that "with the lights before us we can but feel encouraged at the prospects of a Democratic triumph in the next Presidential canvass. Let the Democracy everywhere begin the work of organization. The great political contest of 1872 is to settle the question of Constitutional Government or military despotism. There will henceforth be no division among Democrats about a platform. The bugle note has been sounded. Let the rally begin."

SEWARD is in Bombay, and the Anglo-India aristocracy are making the most of the Great American Traveler. Seward responds with an address eulogizing India, the Hindoos, and everything else thereabouts. Seward is enjoying himself, and can ring his little bell as usual, but not to arrest an American citizen in any part of the United States.

We publish this morning a very well written article suggesting the name of Honorable William S. Groesbeck, of Ohio, as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency and presenting the high qualifications he possesses in an eminent degree for that high position. The names of other eminent citizens have been mentioned in connection with the Presidential nomination by the Democratic party. Without enumerating all, we will give the names of some other candidates who have been presented by their friends as qualified for and would grace the place as it was in the early days of the Republic: Messrs. Pendleton and Thurman of Ohio; Gratz Brown and Frank Blair of Missouri; Judge David Davis of Illinois; Packard, Hancock, and Cass, of Pensylvania; Sandford E. Church and Governor Hoffman, of New York; John W. Garrett, of Maryland; Governor English, of Connecticut, and John Quincy Adams, of Massachusetts. We might increase the list, but we mention only those who have been named prominently for the place.

Indiana presents a candidate who is not only a favorite with the Democracy, but is respected by his political opponents for his integrity, and the ability and purity that have characterized the discharge of every official trust that has been committed to him, and his high character in every regard to fill with credit to himself and honor to the country a place that has been graced by a Washington, a Jefferson, a Madison and a Jackson. While the gentlemen we have named, who have been mentioned in connection with the nomination for the presidency by the Democratic party, possess qualifications for the place, either of whom we could cheerfully support if made the candidate, yet we think among all of those who have been named in connection with the candidacy, there is not one who comes up to the standard of qualifications that Honorable Thomas A. Hendricks presents, and who would administer the Government as he, not one who, as chief Magistrate, would contribute in prosperity, progress, wealth and power of the country—an administration that would command respect at home and honor abroad.

We give the presentation of the qualification of Mr. Groesbeck for the Presidency, and we shall treat all candidates with the same courtesy, because we think it due to the gentlemen who have been or may be named in that connection, and for the additional reason that the people should know the character and fitness of all who are or may be presented as candidates. We know that Mr. Hendricks is the choice of the Indiana Democracy, and we believe that no other gentleman named for the place will be so acceptable as he to the Western people generally, and in the race of 1872 we want a Western man, one who in addition to being throughly identified by the same broad and comprehensive views that characterize the Western people, will at the same time command the respect of the whole country.—State Sentinel.

[From the Fort Wayne Sentinel.]

Ohio Democracy

The telegraph informs us that the Ohio Democracy, yesterday, in Convention assembled, with Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton as chairman, adopted a platform which embodies the following: An acceptance of the situation, which has no controversy on the XIII, XIV and XV. amendments, yet demanding a strict construction of them; opposition to all attempts to centralize power, and a demand for universal amnesty, and in connection therewith bayonet rule and the Ku Klux bill are denounced. The platform favors a strict revenue tariff, strict economy and civil service reform; the payment of bonds in currency, unless the contract otherwise provided; the conversion of greenbacks into [illegible] per cent. bonds, to be redeemed in greenbacks on demand. It is opposed to so-called protection, land grants and the national banking system, rejecting repudiation. This platform is in harmony with the general sentiment of the Democratic party under the present state of the country. It would be [illegible] perhaps fatal to opposition against what was seemingly become inevitable, and the next best thing is to leave the graves of the departed to remain quiet, while an active, vigilant effort is put forth for the preservation of the living. This has been the determination of the Ohio Democracy, and right heartily does her sister State respond approval.

Not only in a foundation of principles have the Democracy of Ohio been wise as well as fortunate, but also in the selection of candidates. Gen. Geo. McCook, the standard bearer for Governor, is a man who inspires confidence and respect. While a gallant soldier, he is the statesman as well, against whom no word of reproach can be uttered. That he will be elected; that he will carry Ohio safely through the campaign to victory, few doubt who are acquainted with the characteristics of that people. Victory in Ohio has been inaugurated, and there now is left but the interim between this and the ides of October, a joyful end to the country, a most beneficial result.

The other candidates are men eminently fitted for the trusts imposed, and give strength to the ticket in the localities from which they are selected. The names are as follows: Lieutenant Governor, S. L. Hunt; Attorney General E. S. Wallace; Auditor, Jno. R. Cockrill; Treasurer, Dr. Dreongel; Supreme Judge, G. W. Geddis; member Board of Public Works, Arthur Hughes.

The Florida Ku Klux outrages have been analyzed, and turn out to be some little personal fracases growing out of the expulsion under the process of the courts of divers foil squatters from property seized and for a time held by that old pest, the Freedmen's Bureau, as abandoned lands. Being routed out, the squatters bawled "outrage" manfully; but the case was too plain for profitable use, and so the Radical leaders have given it up, and the threatened howl is deferred, to a more convenient season. Things are working, but badly for the Radical party. Its day is numbered; consequently its "Let us have Peace" humbug is exploded.

Nillson is said to have a fortune of over half a million to which she will doubtless add a hundred thousand more during the present year.

NOTICE to whom it may concern, is hereby given that Thomas S. Gross, Engineer, [illegible] Swineford and Abie L. Hollopeter, Commissioners appointed by the Board of Trustees, of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana, will on the 14th day of July, A. D. 1871 at 9 o'clock a. m. [illegible] at the south-east corner of lot number sixty-four in [illegible] and assess the damages [illegible] according to the ownership of lots or parts of lots, [illegible] the opening of a [illegible] alley [illegible] lots twenty-nine, [illegible] sixty-four, [illegible] plat. Five feet of [illegible] to be taken off [illegible] east side of said lot [illegible] and five feet [illegible] said alley is to be taken [illegible] and of said lots, sixty-three and [illegible] L. Davis owns forty-four feet, off the north [illegible] said lot sixty-four, Christopher S. Hare owns twenty-two feet off the south side of said lot [illegible] Edward Eldridge owns twenty-two feet of the north side of said lot sixty-three, James W. [illegible] owns twenty-six feet off the south side of said lot sixty-three, [illegible]

By order of Board of Trustees, of the town of Auburn.

NOTICE TO TRUSTEES.

Ordered by the Board that the Auditor of this county notify [illegible] Trustees [illegible] the poor [illegible] at the expense of the county [illegible] who are liable to require aid and assistance [illegible] must be taken to the County [illegible] missions will allow bills for [illegible] ed upon and after the receipt of [illegible] several Trustees without a special permit or order from one of the Commissioners [illegible] which writing will state the amount the Trustees are to appropriate [illegible] pany the Trustees ordered at the time of its jurisdiction to the [illegible]

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

Auburn, Ind. June 12th 1871.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, Indiana, administrator of the Estate of [illegible] Craig, late of DeKalb County, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

ALL PERSONS

Being afflicted with disease of the Eye, Ear, Nose, Mouth, Throat, Bronchial Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Urinary Organs, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, [illegible] Gravel, nervous debility arising from errors of youth, (both sex), and all private diseases, with their various complicated female complaint, should apply in person or by letter, to DR. H. CARD. Office 180 Calhoun Street, Fort Wayne Ind.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

[illegible] Kent vs. [illegible] Kent } Complaint for Divorce.

Now comes the Plaintiff by [illegible], her attorney, and files her complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 14th day of June, A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH L. LANNING, Clerk.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Isaac Middleton vs. Alice Middleton.

Now comes the plaintiff, by Wm. H. Dills, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant, that unless she be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in her absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 14th day of June, A. D. 1871.

J. L. LANNING, Clerk.

F. E. Davenport,

DEALER IN

Drugs & Medicines

School Books, Stationery,

WALL PAPER,

FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.

BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.

TERMS INVARIABLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.

Customers [illegible] articles, it is impossible here to enumerate.

Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.

Prescriptions carefully Compounded.

T. M. BIDDLE,

DRUGGIST,

AND DEALER IN MEDICINES, PAINTS, [illegible]

No. 5, Keystone Block,

Fort Wayne, Indiana.

[illegible]

WHITE LEAD.

Call and see them. T. M. BIDDLE.

April 28, '70. 1-y

The Sun.

CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.

The Dollar Weekly Sun.

A Newspaper of the Present Times.

Intended for People Now on Earth.

Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!

ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.

Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.

SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR,

of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.

THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.

A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.

TERMS TO CLUBS.

THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Four Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Eight Dollars.

Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club). Fifteen Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-three Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club). Thirty-five Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Fifty Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club). Sixty Dollars.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed. Eight Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club). Sixteen Dollars.

SEND YOUR MONEY

in Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address

I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,

Sun office, New York City.

THE B. & M. R. R. Leads.

The starting points of this Railroad are Chicago and Peoria. The central point is Burlington, on the Mississippi. It traverses [illegible] the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri, its trunk forks into three branches, for it has three western terminii.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where, crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific [illegible] last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections twice a day, for St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

[illegible] the Burlington Route."

DANIEL VOLLMER

PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST

FORT WAYNE IND.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of

PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND

PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark with Phosphorus [illegible] This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, [illegible] The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the [illegible]

May 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or

$40.00 Per Set Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive [illegible] have examined the several portions of the work it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains [illegible] Chromo Lithographs in Oil Colors, 40 full-page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, [illegible] descriptions of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, [illegible] pages, of Webster's large Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only.

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.

Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.

Vol. III. American Domesticated Birds and Animals.

Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.

Vol. V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced [illegible] and all other persons of respectability should apply at once. Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing [illegible] 40 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with [illegible] specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we cannot afford [illegible] to persons applying for an agency who will make [illegible] send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address,

American Publishing Co.,

RUTLAND VT.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs!

Send for our New Price List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.

31 & 33 VESEY STREET,

P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or Obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine or Abdominal Organs, Poverty or a want of Blood, Intermittent or Remittent Fevers, Inflammation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abscess, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever, or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicinal properties of the South American plant, called, sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time been using in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

JURUBEBA

Dr. wells' Extract of Jurubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as a Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic temperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N.Y. Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

AGENTS WANTED for

KNOTS UNTIED

Or Ways and By-Ways in the Hidden Life of AMERICAN DETECTIVES. 30,000 SOLD IN 30 DAYS.

Extra terms and premiums offered to agents, with a choice of Territory. Send for circulars.

J. B. BURR & HYDE, Hartford, Conn.

Thea-Nectar

IS A PURE

BLACK TEA

with the Green Tea Flavor. Warranted to suit all tastes. For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., 8 Church St., New York. P. O. Box 5506. Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

WANTED AGENTS ($20 per day) to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under feed, makes the "lock stitch" (alike on both sides) and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the market. Address JOHNSON, CLARK & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Magic Comb

will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1. Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. PATON Treas. Springfield, Mass.

$375 A MONTH—Expenses paid—Male or Female Agents—Horse and outfit furnished. Address, SACO NOVELTY CO., Saco, Me.

TEACHERS OR STUDENTS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 130 Race Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Agents Wanted

for "Convent Life Unveiled," by Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling and startling.

E. P. NICHOLS, Chicago, Ill.

$10 FROM 50 Cts.

12 samples sent, postage paid, for 50cts that retail readily for $10. R. L. WOLCOTT, 181 Chatham Sq., N.Y.

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

FRUIT HOUSE PRICE CURRENT

IMMENSE RECEIPTS OF ALL GOODS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Best Teas Reduced to $1,25 per lb.

This is the lowest it has been in ten years. We are able to do this from the fact that we purchase direct from the importers, and sell direct to the consumer, thereby saving the profits of the speculators, jobbers and wholesale merchants which are 10 to 20 cents per pound.

Young Hyson, per lb..........[illegible], best $[illegible]
Imperial and Gunpowder, per lb..........1.00, best 1.25
Japan and Oolong, per lb..........90c best [illegible]

COFFEE.

Rio and Laguyra, per lb..........16c, and 18c, best 20c
Roasted Coffee, 23c. "Old Government," 25c.

SUGARS.

Coffee 'A' white per lb..........12½
Brown, per pound..........8c, 9c and 10

MEAT.

Smoked Sides..........11 cents
Smoked Shoulders..........9 "
Pickled Pork..........10 "
Lard..........12½ "

TOBACCOS.

Navy, 10c and per lb..........50 "
Flounders, per lb..........50 "
Best Smoking, per lb..........50 "
Second quality..........25 "
Shorts, 35c, or 3 lbs for $1.00
Fine cut, per lb, 60c best..........95

MISCELLANEOUS.

Coffee Essence, 2 for..........25 "
Soap 3c. 5c and [illegible] bar
Blueing 2 boxes..........5 "
Saleratus, 2 papers..........25 "

FISH.

Spring catch, white fish..........$7.50
Last fall, white fish..........6.00
Mackerel, kitts..........1.50 and 1.75
Old fish, half barrel..........1.00
Codfish 4 cents per pound

DRIED FRUITS.

Turkish Prunes, per lb..........12½ cents
Apples, per lb..........7c..........12½ "
Peaches, per lb..........12½ "
Cherries, per lb..........7c, and 12 "
Oranges, per dozen..........[illegible] "
Lemons per dozen..........27 "
Filberts per quart..........15 "
Brazils per quart..........15 "
Cigars $2 and $3 per box
Dime box Matches..........5

LIQUORS.

New whisky, Rye or Bourbon, per gal 90c
Whisky one year old..........$1.40
Whisky two year old..........1.75
Sherry and port wine, imported and pure, for medical use, per gallon..........1.75
All kind of liquors on hand.

CANNED FRUITS

Peaches per can..........20c
Pineapples, per can..........25c
Oysters, per can..........10
Damsons, per can..........25
Blackberries, per can..........20
Egg plums, per can..........30
Green Gages, per can..........40

We are agents for the celebrated HOME BITTERS, the best tonic ever got ton up. It is placed at the low price of 75c per bottle—usual price $1.00.—This brings it within the reach of all. We give any one the privilege of sampling the goods—no charge. So please call and take a drink.

ALL GOODS WARRANTED SATISFACTORY, OR MONEY REFUNDED.

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

18 West Berry Street.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberge

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INDUCEMENTS [illegible]

[illegible] desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities [illegible] years in this business, [illegible] buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.

A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.

Muslins, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.

The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.

Chene poplin 30 cents

Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward

Best quality Spool thread, only 5 cents.

Untrimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.

Trimmed bonnets, $2.

Farmer's tweed 25, 30, 35 and 40 cents.

Good Worsted for 35, 50 and 65 cents.

Ruches, edges, handkerchiefs, laces, laces in great variety, carpet chain and cotton yarn. Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 29, '71.

COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.

[illegible] the Toilet of every Lady or Gentleman. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in PERFUMERY.

$288 IN 16 DAYS

Made by one agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Clothes Lines to last forever. Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 13 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St, N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNGS Disease. HOARSENESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.

CAUTION.

Don't be deceived by worthless imitations that may be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Wells' Carbolic Tablets. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N.Y. Sole Agent. Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries, Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE.

Highest Price given for Produce,

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound.

Every thing in the Grocery line always on hand. Prices low and goods of the best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 24 1y

Root & Company

IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

"Popular Dry Goods House,"

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town, will get to themselves justice when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing unusual large and attractive assortment of Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Colored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS,

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Children Parasols.

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens, New Embroideries, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND.

Feb. 24 1y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated

JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

Also a large stock of

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS
TABLE CUTLERY

Musical Instruments

Watches & Clocks

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Opposite Court House, Auburn, Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HAMPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need,

FOR CASH OR GOOD TRADE!

as he has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account come and settle, as he is determined to adjust, out standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same, by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ

Feb. 24 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months and the particular district requiring such exception. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, where previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully

J. A. BARNS.

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY.

[illegible]

To-day is one of the longest in the year.

Many of our farmers are busy in the harvest field.

F[illegible], last Saturday, the [illegible].

Go and see the monster Rhinoceros, at the menagerie to-morrow.

A fine shower fell last Saturday, which done the corn a power of good.

Remember the circus and menagerie exhibits [illegible].

The prospect is good for an excellent crop of raspberries and blackberries.

No wonder the female sex is so obstinate. The Latin word for women is "Mulier."

The Ligonier Banner office advertises for a good practical printer. A good chance for some one.

A Ligonier merchant purchased a roll of butter in the centre of which was a [illegible] Tri[illegible]

The wheat in Scott County has been so badly damaged by the fly and rust that it is said not more than half a crop will be re[illegible]

[illegible] C. Dewald, Esq., our agreeable and good looking young friend, of Fort Wayne, gave us a brief call yesterday.

[illegible] a large crowd will assemble to-morrow to see the grand Menagerie and circus, and if reports are true they will be well repaid.

Removed.—Mrs. Martin has removed her millinery store [illegible] over Abright's [illegible] will be pleased to wait upon her numerous customers.

Match Game.—The Eurekas, of Huntertown, will play the Wa[illegible] this place, to-morrow, in the forenoon, we believe, so as to give all a chance to go to the menagerie.

Bower Dance.—A beautiful green bower is being prepared for a grand dance to-morrow, at [illegible] and from the interest manifested, it will no doubt be a fine affair. All are invited.

W. G. Alexander, of the Fort Wayne Gazette, gave us a call last Tuesday. Alex has at last found his legitimate calling, and being popular and good looking, like ourself, will no doubt meet with great success as he deserves.

Five wives, in full cry are after one Simon T. Taylor, through Northern Indiana.—Chicago Republican.

They will find him at Fort Wayne, over the Post-office. Ah, Simon, you rascal.

"Michigan Bill," now in "durance vile," for taking a horse, not his own, seems determined to keep posted in regard to affairs, outside of his present sphere of action. He takes two daily papers and the Courier.

W. J. L. Davis is making quite extensive improvements on his residence, and of a very substantial character. Mr. C. Klotz, has also transmogrified an old house into a nice new one, during the last few weeks.

The largest cask of white lead ever brought into Fort Wayne is now on exhibition, at T. M. Biddle's drug store. He keeps the finest and best article in the country and sells as low as any other house in the city. Remember this when you go to the city.

T. B. Totten is rushing his new brick residence forward to completion quite rapidly. The west end is increasing quite [illegible] new buildings, and we doubt not it will soon become one of the most beautiful portions of our palce

The Goshen Democrat speaks of a little green worm making its appearence among the fruit trees in that vicinity, which, multiplies exceeding fast, and threatens not only to destry the fruit crop, but the trees also.

F. E. Davenport, our popular druggist, has been making preparations to meet the demand in the way of soda water that may be made by the large crowd visiting our place to-morrow. If you want a good cold drink give him a call.

We see by the Fort Wayne papers that Ira Thompson, who was so narrowly rescued, by his sister, from arrest, as we stated in our last, is now languishing in "durance vile," at Fort Wayne, he not being able to give the necessary bail. Ira wasn't sharp.

Almost Ready.—The new business room, of Smith & Hare's, on Main street, is almost ready for occupation, and is one of the finest and best arranged store rooms in the county. We are now to have a first-class grocery store in every particular.

Improved.—Mr. G. W. Gordon has purchased Griswold's Picture Gallery, and having improved it in many ways is now ready to respond to the call of all those wanting a good picture of themselves.—Mr. G. has taken some very fine pictures, and never fails to give satisfaction.

Nice Cherries.—Mr. Isaac Roth, our popular druggist, has placed upon our table, a fine lot of English Cherries, grown on his premises. From the number on a stem the yield must have been very prolific, [illegible] as nice eating as any [illegible] Please accept our thanks, Isaac.

The Muncie Democrat one of the sterling papers of Indiana, has been enlarged and improved and now appears in quarto form. The accomplished and gentlemanly Shaffer is around, you can bet,—he always is—he never missed a drink during the whole excursion. A grand trio—Shaffer, Jackson and Shaw-bay-gun-ska!

Notice to Ladies.—An exchange says: One of the fashions of the season is to read over all the advertisements in the papers, and see if the stores are keeping up with the seasons and styles. If you miss any familiar names from the list of advertisers, you can know that they are not keeping up with the times, and [illegible] keeping out of sight.

W. G. B[illegible], Esq., the gentlemanly agent of the Cincinnati Mutual Life Insurance Co., is in town looking up insurance, and we know that he represents a good company. As life insurance is now regarded as a great blessing, no doubt many of our citizens will be availing themselves of its advantages, and William is the man.

DeKalb Ahead.—Last Tuesday the grain harvest commenced in this county, and by the close of the week [illegible] of fields had their abundant [illegible] in shock. We think that places DeKalb ahead in this part of the State. We notice that the Fort Wayne Gazette says that [illegible] instead of an eight acre field of wheat was cut, &c.

Handsome Bouquet.—One of the fair [illegible], Miss Georgia Lowry, presented [illegible] beautiful bouquet of roses, and we recognize the courtesy with hat in hand, and our most bewitching bow. These little acts of kindness are treasured up with every appreciation.—Thanks Miss Georgia; we'll take one for you.

Base Ball.—The [illegible] club of Waterloo, came down last Monday to play our Junior club, and though their nine was not complete, they played six innings, by adding two players from Auburn. The game [illegible] until the third inning, [illegible] retired, after which each side played with eight boys. The score stood 23 for Auburn, 10 for Waterloo.

Harvest.—Harvesting has begun in earnest. Owing to the fact that the grass is backward, haying and harvesting will in all probability get somewhat mixed and run into each other, and the reapers and mowers will be cutting their way through [illegible] fields at the same time. This will make things, with our farmers, decidedly interesting. The grass and grain are now running a race with each other and contending for the privilege of being ripe first Columbia City has no [illegible] engine, no [illegible], nothing to put out a fire.—Exchange.

Neither has Auburn, and should a fire break out, we can amuse ourselves by setting down and witnessing the beautiful spectacle, with the consolation that there are no facilities for putting it out. We call the attention of the town board to the matter of a public cistern and hope that they will regard it as the most important improvement our place should have—and that immediately.

Mason City Iowa,

June 22d, 1871.

Mr. Editor:—Please insert the following in your columns:

Gone, gone, gone, but I don't know where. If any person knows any thing about a young man by the name of Wm. H. Campbell, brother to Chas. W. Campbell, they will receive my warmest thanks by writing to Mason City Iowa and letting me know all about him. I haven't heard from him for almost two years. William is 24 years old next November 1871. All other papers please copy.

Work on the Eel River Railroad is progressing rapidly. A very large force of men and teams are now on the line between here and Auburn. The grading between here and Springfield is also being finished up rapidly. Tracklaying will commence shortly.—Col. City Post.

Our energetic contractors, Messrs. Mansfield & Scanlan, are rushing things lively up this way. With their experience and perseverance, together with the large force at work, we will find the grade ready for the ties much sooner than was at first expected.

Prison Furniture.—While at Jackson, the other day, we were shown through the State Prison, where about seven hundred convicts are employed in the manufacture of furniture and other articles. With the extensive and varied machinery they are enabled to turn out as good work as any in the country, and at a much less cost.—Mr. J. [illegible] the large store room, opposite the Rainier House, to repletion, with a very fine stock of this furniture, which is rapidly finding a ready sale. Mr. P. is a gentleman whose representation can be depended upon, and those wishing to purchase in his line will do well to give him a call.

A story has been going around that a girl in a hat store wrote her name on the inside, and said hat was purchased by a rich gentleman in New York, who wrote her a letter, the affair resulting in their marriage. Here is another version of the same story. The hat was bought by an elderly gentleman in the same town. One day a gust of wind took it off his head, and in recapturing it, he accidently turned down the lining, and saw the name, with the accompanying sentiment, "I am thine—wilt thou be mine?" With an ejaculation that sounded something like "D—d fool," he retired to his home. When Martha returned that day, she was taken to a retired part of the cottage and warmed up with a strap She hasn't taken any real comfort in sitting down since. The gentleman who got the hat was her father.

Awful.—A brakeman named Jones, employed on a freight train of the Lake Shore Railway, accidentally fell, early this morning between the cars while the the train was moving, between Kingsville and Madison. He fell upon the track, and the remainder of the train ran over his legs, tearing them off and mangling his body. While lying on the track he heard a passenger train approaching. Expecting he would not be seen, and that the cars would run over him, he drew a knife from his pocket, opened the blade, and stabbed himself twenty-two times about the breast and left arm. He had tried to penetrate his heart and produce death sooner, but was too weak to guide his blows. The engineer of the train saw him in time to stop the cars. He was taken to Madison, where he died soon after.

A Perfect Horse.—One who is considered as authority in horse matters, states that a perfect horse is one about fifteen and a half or sixteen hands; a lengthy, arched neck; sharp pointed ears; a large, full hazel eye; broad between them; not too long a face, but a straight one; a large open nostril; a strong under jaw to masticate his food well; a good round body; a big full chest; large around the girth, denoting plenty of lung power; thin withers, and an animal standing erect on his forelegs. Such animals, it should be the object of breeders to produce, and this requires both judgment and care.

BALTIMORE & OHIO RAIL ROAD.

The corps of engineers engaged in surveying the above road, reached this place last Thursday evening. They have averaged, so far, about three miles per day, and expect to keep up this average until they get through. The party is under the superintendence of Geo. Crocker, Esq., a gentleman of experience and ability, having been engaged in the survey of the North Pacific Railroad from Duluth west. He is assisted by C. G. D[illegible], R. J. McCaffery, S. G. Patton and others, all of whom understand the business thoroughly. Dr. Rakestraw is the agreeable commissarial, and endeavors to make everything pleasant and lovely for the boys. We were not [illegible] enough to undertake an interview relative to the advantages of this route, but we know that everything is working in our favor, and we have every confidence that this survey will give us the road. We should not relax one effort, however, in the consumation of this great object, but second every move that will tend to establish this great thoroughfare on this line. Messrs. Carter and [illegible], of [illegible], were here last week looking up the interests of the line, and they feel quite sanguine of our final success. With this road in operation what will Auburn be a few years hence, compared to what it is now? With a proper appreciation of these great interests we may realize more than we can now conjecture. Let us not lose a single chance in encouraging this great enterprise.

Our capital friend W. B. Vickers, thus discourses of Auburn, in his report of the Editorial excursion:

Our first stop, after leaving Fort Wayne, was at Auburn, where Tom Mays propels a good Democratic paper, and where a brand new brass band belched forth a hearty welcome from the roof of a frieght car. At Auburn, too, the train was boarded by a jolly, well preserved old gentleman, an ex-lake captain, who spread over an entire seat in the smoking car and commenced spinning yarns as soon as he sat down:

"Well, boys," said the old cove, "I'm glad to see you enjoyin' yourselves. I've had pretty high times on the lakes years ago, but railroads was too much for us—we run down at the heel, and sold out as fast as we got a chance. The last boat I run we sold in Toledo in the fall of '62, an' that reminds me of a good joke a chap played on me there. I'll tell you about it if you say so?"

"Go ahead—let's have it."

"Well, you see it was an all-fired nice boat I was on, but we wanted to sell at any price, and when we got hold of a buyer we held on the best we knew how.—One day a slick looking chap came along, whistlin' careless like, with his hands in his pockets, and wanted to know if the boat wasn't for sale? I told him it was; told him it was a good vessel, and he could buy it cheap and on his own terms.'

"You don't say so!" says he.

"Fact, says I. We are going to sell for what we can get."

"Let me see the vessel," says he.

"So I showed him through, and he was as much interested as I ever see a man.—He poked his nose into every nook and corner, and asked a thousand questions about the machinery, and wanted me to take him out on the lake to see how the engines worked, and a'l that sort of thing. I told him I could'nt do that, but would guarantee every thing to be in good running order."

"Well," says he, "I guess she'll suit me, ef I can buy her on my own terms. You see I've been runnin' a little grocery up here at Kendallville, sellin' gingerbread, an' pop, an' peanuts to the boys, but times is dull, and if you say so I'll trade my grocery for your boat, even up, unsight unseen."

Here the crowd roared, and the captain laughed as heartily as anybody till his breath failed him, and his mouth got full of cinders, which nearly choked him to death. Presently he found his voice and continued:

"Yes, boys, Sol got away with the old man, that time. But he can't do it again. He's in the newspaper now, down at Indianapolis. I always thought he would come to something like that if he kept on."

Avoid the Law.—Persons who are ordinarily frugal and economical, displaying good judgment and self control often lose all these virtues upon becoming involved in legal complications. Their pugnacity gets the better of them, and they drive onward like a "steam engine in trowsers," reckless of results, bent only on running down their antagonists. They will devote more time and attention to the righting of some trivial wrong, real or imaginary, than they would give to some vast business enterprise. Parties are about going to law in Connecticut concerning the ownership of a loaf of bread, lost while in transit by an Express company.

Going to law is like setting sail in a balloon—it is impossible to tell, where or when one will bring up. The wisest course is to keep out of the courts; to resolve to do almost anything rather than become involved in legal complications.—Consult those who have acquired wealth, and nine out of ten will tell you that they have always been governed by such a resolution.

True Progress Defined.—True progress consists in keeping up with the spirit of the age and grappling with passing events rather than with those which have passed. It is folly to do with the hand that which can be done quicker and better with machinery; or to return to the mode of cultivating the land which was in vogue a century ago. It is equal folly for the merchant or any other business man to depend entirely upon his own exertions to build up a trade, when he can do so much by advertising and printing at a small outlay of money.

Caution.—We caution our readers against giving their notes for any amount to any stranger, as whole or part payment for patent plows, cultivators, or anything else. The country is filled with precious rascal patents, and taking notes apparently plain enough, but which, when once signed, are so manipulated as to make the signer liable for two hundred dollars when he intended to make himself responsible for only a small amount. "Beware of Pickpockets" is no more appropriate for a crowded depot, than, "Beware of Sharpers would be for a farmer's gate post.

Deserted.—We learned the story from the lips of the wife and mother as she visited the post office the other morning in hopes of receiving a line from him who had deserted her and a little child [illegible] and left for parts unknown. And as she recounted the wrongs and sufferings she had endured, it was with difficulty that she repressed the great scalding tears as they rapidly filled her eyes, and the faint attempt at smiling showed how nobly she tried to gulph down her sorrows, and look at the hard fate in store for her. Her husband, Wm. Thompson, succumbing to evil associates, became dissipated, and finally was persuaded to leave his family in indigent circumstances [illegible] he left, however, [illegible] means in getting his wife to sign a deed for two town lots, which he sold. He claimed that he was going west to purchase land with the proceeds, but six weeks have passed and not a word has been received. Of course, there is a possibility that he may be acting in good faith, but those [illegible] the wife well rid of what might have proved the bane of her life.

For the Ladies.—All kinds of pearl ornaments will be extensively worn this summer, with Etruscan setting preferred.

For half-dress the round skirt, dipping slightly at the back, is to be fashionable style for ladies at watering places.

New traveling sets are made of white linen lawn, with pointed collar, bow, cuffs and hankerchief of buff grass linen, embroidered in black and crimson [illegible] wool.

Chambery gauze and light tissues of that description are reviving the unbecoming "bayadere" stripes, which had a brief success twelve years ago. It is said they are to reappear again in the fall.

Very pretty silk parasols are lined with a perforated gilt top fitted in the handle. In addition to this there is a ring with a chain attached, for holding the hankerchief.

Armure silks are all the rage for summer dresses. They are imported in all the lovely neutral ecru, and are most uniformly employed in two shades of the same colors, or in connection with a solid silk of a different shade of the same color.

Natural spring flowers, in rare, varied, and beautiful hues, with refreshing scent now take the place of the dry artificials in the jardinieres. Handsome bouquets in the windows, and before the mirrors, are very stylish. Calla lilies are most fashionable for center pieces in bouquets.

The season for serenading has commenced, and the fellow who sang

"My heart and lute is all the store
That I can bring to thee," while reclining under the old man's window, is informed that the daughter has concluded that the attempt to support a family on the receipts of such a store would be futile. The old man is wrathy, and we earnestly hope that the singist will not disturb any member of that family again until he can make a better showing of worldy treasure.

With regard to articles of merchandise we find that iron is firm, but india-rubber is a little yielding. Chloroform is still a drug in the market and milliners are difficult to move. Oysters, yesterday, were opened quietly, and ultimately went down still lower. Lead is heavy, but tin is eagerly sought for. A prospectus has been issued of a new aquarium company, but the tendency is to throw cold water upon it. The tobacco loan still remains popular, borrowers of cigars being easily found.

The First in the Field.—We have been making large additions to our retail department, and our stock is now all new and complete. Our entire stock of Clothing is new and fresh, as it has all been very recently purchased, and for cash only. We can sell you clothing lower than any other house in Fort Wayne. Don't fail to visit the Red Front Clothing House, No. 5, Keystone Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mar. 9. Rothschilds & Bro.

Beauty.—The greatest collection of beauty ever published in the United States is afforded in the Parlor Album. This album embraces the finest specimens of chromo lithographs, steel engravings and fine wood engravings ever afforded the public. The American Publishing Co. of Rutland, Vt., desire an agent in [illegible] of the Parlor Album.

AUBURN MARKETS.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	135 @ 140
" Red	[illegible]
Oats	50
Rye	[illegible]
Corn	[illegible]
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	[illegible]
Inferior, White	[illegible]
SEEDS—
Clover	6.00
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Tub washed	[illegible]
Fleece washed	[illegible]
Unwashed	[illegible]
HIDES—
Green	[illegible]
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	[illegible]
Eggs	[illegible]
Tallow, per lb	[illegible]
Beans per lb	[illegible]
Sheep Pelts	[illegible] @ 1.25
Rags	[illegible]

The Fastest Train in the World.

The new express train from Plymouth to London will probably be the fastest train in the world during part of its journey which lies over the Bristol and Exeter and Great Western railways. Leaving Exeter at 10:30, it is timed to reach Paddington at 2:45, including a stoppage of five minutes at Bristol and the inevitable and vexatious ten Minutes at Swindon, and the journey of [illegible] miles will occupy four hours and a quarter. The Irish limited mail, hitherto considered the fastest train, occupies six hours and thirty-five minutes between London and Holyhead, being at the rate of 170 miles in only four hours and a quarter. The fastest train on the great Northern line is between London and Peterborough, seventy six miles, which is done in one hour and thirty-seven minutes; but the Great Western accelerated express will run from Swindon to London seventy-seven miles, in one hour and twenty-seven minutes. The 11:45 train from Paddington will perform the journey to Plymouth in only five minutes more than the new up express.

The longest piece of bent glass ever made in this country has just been finished at Newark, N. J. The plate is for the First National Bank of Paterson. It is 72 inches in length. The curvature is six inches from the plane.

SHELDENBURGER'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE.

ADVANCE OF THE MONARCH!
THE UNICORN OF HOLY WRIT
IS COMING!
WAIT FOR IT!
SEE IT!
Keep Your Eye on Place and Date.
AUBURN, FRIDAY, JUNE 23, 1871.

SHELDENBURGER'S
EUROPEAN MENAGERIE
AND
GREAT GRECIAN CIRCUS.

The Grandest Concentration of Novelties [illegible] presented to the American Public, FIRST TOUR IN AMERICA. [illegible], Mr. Eugene Sheldenburger for the past [illegible] years, proprietor of the European Menagerie and Circus, has confined his Traveling Tours exclusively to the Old World, where his reputation as a caterer to the amusement [illegible] place, stands simply unapproachable. This [illegible] initial visit to the New World he can only [illegible] American Public that his Exhibition is

First Class in all its Departments

Containing [illegible]

Mammoth Menagerie & Faultless Circus.

Foremost among the many novelties of the Grand Zoological Collection is the Only Full Grown Living

RHINOCEROS!
Or UNICORN OF HOLY WRIT,

That has ever been captured. This Leviathan who WEIGHS OVER EIGHT THOUSAND POUNDS, was captured in the Jungles of India by Mr. George [illegible], the Agent of Mr. Sheldenburger, and cost by the time he landed in New York on March 1st of the present year, Over $21,000 in Gold. The greatest difficulty occurred in getting a Den built strong enough to hold the monster, and yet so arranged as to be readily transported through the country. The cage that contains him is a magnificent specimen of mechanism, and was built by Castor, Carriage and Wagon Builder, of Philadelphia. It requires to transport this Huge Beast and Den.

[illegible] MASSIVE HORSES.

[illegible] The Elephant, "[illegible]," A Pair of Bactrian Camels, A Gnu, or Horned Horse, A Royal Bengal Tiger.

SIGNIOR BALIZE'S
Den of Performing Animals!
Lions and Tigers,

Which will be entered at each Exhibition by this intrepid Lion King.

THE OTHER CAGES CONTAIN

Asiatic and African Lions, African Lioness, Brazilian Tigers, [illegible] Leopards, Chetah, Leopard, Water Buffalo, Striped Hyena, Spotted Hyena, Black Bear, [illegible] South African Ostrich, South American Puma, African Panther, Grey Wolf, Black Wolf, Ocelot, Porcupine, Spotted Axis Deer, African Stein Bock, South American Ibex, Peruvian Lama, Nyl Ghau, Civit Cat, Opossum, South American Sloth, Sacred Cow; over 100 different species of the Monkey Tribe; Birds of every clime, such as Golden and Silver Pheasants, Birds of Paradise, Macaws, Parrots, White Peacock, African Pelicans, South American Cranes, Paroquetts, etc., etc., besides a host of smaller Animals too numerous to particularize.

Especial Note.

The Menagerie is entirely distinct from the Circus, giving those parties who wish to witness the Rhinoceros and Menagerie, and not the Circus, ample time to do so and retire before the Equestrian Exercises begin.

THE EQUESTRIAN MELANGE!

[illegible] Combination will be both BRILLIANT & DIVERSIFIED

Presenting a Host of Novelties and a CORPS OF ARTISTS unequaled in their [illegible] whom has been engaged [illegible] regardless of expense.

Read the Names of the Equestrian Constellation!

Mr. HARRY CARDONA, [illegible]
Mr. [illegible], Mr. JAMES WARD,

LITTLE MARY BROWN,

The most remarkable Equestrienne of any age. This Little Lady, but Nine Years of Age, surpasses any Equestrienne in point of Grace [illegible] before the public.

MADAME BROWN, M'LLE JOSEPHINE,
BARRELL BROTHERS, Mr. JAS. DE MOREST,
MONS LA CLERQ, Mr. MORRIS CONNER,
Mr. RICHARD BALL, MONS LA MOYNE,
Mr. EUGENE LA TORT, [illegible]

And a Host of Auxiliaries.

THE GRAND STREET PARADE

Will take place daily at 10 A. M. [illegible] containing

The European Military Brass Band,

(A Musical Organization that stands in the front rank of musical ability) followed by the Elephant [illegible] Camels.

The Massive Rhinoceros Den!

All the Performing Horses and Ponies, and a long line of gorgeously decorated Animal Dens. Don't fail to see this Great Street Display, it will give you an idea of the solidity of the Establishment. Take our word for it, it will pay.

2 Exhibitions Each Day,
AFTERNOON & NIGHT.

Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M. Circus performance begins one hour later.

ADMISSION ....50 CENTS
CHILDREN under 9....25 CENTS

The Exhibitions will be given under a Mammoth Pavilion capable of accommodating [illegible] spectators. The Pavilion will be brilliantly illuminated in the Evening.

SEATS FOR EVERYBODY.

Gentlemanly Ushers and Animal Keepers constantly in attendance.

REMEMBER THE DAY AND DATE.

[illegible] Colossal [illegible] Aggregation.

Will Exhibit at
Butler, Thursday, June 22d, Auburn, Friday, June 23d, Albion, Saturday 24th.

REMEMBER THE NAME,
Sheldenburger!
THE SHOW WITH THE Monster Rhinoceros!

See the GRAND STREET DISPLAY, it will give you an idea of the solidity of the establishment, and then if not convinced that our assertions are correct, save your money and stay at home.

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.

NEW system, NEW

ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF

NEW DRESS GOODS,

Shawls,

Percales,

Prints,

and Domestics

To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.

Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.

GEO. DEWALD & CO.

Successors to Townley, Dewald, Bond & Co., 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE!
CLOTHING.

We offer extraordinary inducements to close cash buyers in the way of Mens' and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Valises, together with our Stock of

MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!

We have engaged Professor Fasen, the renounded Cutter, from Paris, and lately with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens and Boys, wear, in the latest styles and

PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!

Don't fail to call and look through our large stock, when next visiting our city.

I. LAUFERTY & SON,

South-east Corner Columbia & Calhoun Streets, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints,

WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!

We told you that on the 28th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints [illegible] we have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully [illegible] the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes to-morrow, to sell Prints [illegible] at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in mind that we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not give you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.

A big bombshell came into our camp and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next two weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 8c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.

DRESS GOODS!

5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at [illegible] per yard. 5,000 yards of children's palids, at 22c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at 15[illegible] a yard

ALPACAS. ALPACAS.

We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 20c to $2,00. Best [illegible] to be found west of New York as low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.

PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!

We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.

1,000 pairs of stocings sold at 20c, worth 50. Large lot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A full line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks. A full line of Shawls. Give us a call.

FRANK & THANHOUSER.

NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft. WAYNE, IND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTITES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES!
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots.
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WANT OF
BOOTS & SHOES

Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK CALHOUN ST, FORT WAYNE INDIANA.

MARKLEY SHRADER & CO.

What I Don't Know of Farming.

In selling stock by live weight, it is a good plan to feed each one about three pails of water and what other stuff can be got down 'em just before driving to the scales. If the buyer has [illegible] much money on Change he will know what "watered stock" means.

In holding the plow, I always prefer to hold it in the house, seated in a rocking-chair, with my family clustered around me.

In planting hay, I always plant the longest I can find, as short hay bends a person's back too much in cutting it.

In raising wheat, I always raise it by the barrel, at a mill not far away, as it saves buying seed, plowing, sowing, cradling and threshing. I generally raise it on a note.

In traveling through the country I notice that farmers do not sufficiently regard the health of their cattle. My barn is arranged on a plan of my own. It is open on all sides, so that no creature may have to stand out in a storm because I am asleep or away. This also saves lumber. All around the barn are benches on which my animals can sit down when tired of standing, or when waiting for something or other to turn up. The sheriff says my cattle always sell when my neighbors' don't, and I do not doubt it.

In subsoiling a piece of ground, I always "plant" a mortgage on it the Winter previous. It raises the biggest kind of a crop, especially when you let the interest get behind. I hardly ever [illegible] turn out [illegible] expected.

In raising hogs, I think that many farmers are altogether too slack for their interests. Now, suppose that I want to raise a hog, I go at it in a careful, scientific way. A good many farmers raise their hogs with the first club that come handy, but this has a tendency to make the animal discouraged and discontented.

I have my own ideas about training horses. If ever I get hold of a horse inclined to run away, I always borrow a buggy of some of my neighbors, put him into it, turn him into a lot, and let him run. He generally gets sick of the fun by the time the buggy is gone, but if he don't, hitch him to any of the wheels that may be left, keep and him traveling. The owner of the buggy always expresses astonishment at my system, but the evidence of its success [illegible] before him, and he cannot dispute the pieces.

If ever I get holt of a kicking cow, I always let Mrs. Quad sit down first to milk, and I take my station by her to see what foot the animal kicks with, and how hard she hits. My wife has a remarkably clear memory, and after coming to she can generally give me any little particular which I failed to note owing to distance. I then get the cow into the stable, draw her up with a windlass, until she is just evenly balanced. Then I get a bag and fill it with bricks, hung within easy kicking distance, and stand off for developments. Every time she comes down she hits the bricks, and when she goes up I have another thing to apply to her in front, and after she has gone through with this oscillation two or three times, she never kicks any more, at least not until she looks around for bricks.

* * *

The latest Enoch Arden affair is that of a young English mechanic, in middle station, who thirteen years ago, when but twenty years old, won the affections of a young lady of gentle blood several years his junior, and eloped with her to this country. They found work in plenty, and humble but happy lodging, until, in an hour of unfortunate prosperity, they removed to more pretentious quarters, and mingled with a set which cared only for amusement and fashionable entertainments, at whatever cost. The young woman at first shrank from participation in what jarred unpleasantly upon her inexperienced nature, but she soon yielded to the intoxication of hops, theatres, and being a very handsome woman, to the abundant and freely rendered attentions of other gentlemen than her husband, which so enraged him that he took to drink, and finally departed altogether, leaving a note saying that he would never see her again. For three years she mourned him sincerely, but finally believing him dead, and renewing her taste for fast living, she courted a wealthy merchant whose wife was dying with consumption, and by the time her body was fairly cold, married him. After a time he died, and she with an ample fortune, wandered off to Europe on a two years' pleasure trip with a married but impecunious dragist for whom she had formed an attachment. During this time her first husband was in China, poisoning himself with opium to kill the painful recollection; but a short time ago his desire to see her was so strong that he came to New York, though his presence is unknown to her who has made him a wreck.

A Mystery of the Lake.

Accounts from Kalamazoo, Mich., dated June 6, say that a great mystery surrounds a tragedy which occurred at the head of Gull Lake, on Sunday night last. A man named Richard Gates, who has been running a steam saw mill near Mr. Thomas' place, just in the edge of Barry county, took a flat-bottom skiff and went out into the lake with his wife, leaving at his house near the shore their three children. About twilight the children came down to the beach and hailed their parents, and wished to ride, but Mr. Gates refused their request, and bade them go home and light the lamps and they would soon follow home. The children did so, and the two in the boat then went across the point, and were seen by the children for some minutes, until it became too dark to distinguish any object on the lake. All night the children waited at home for the return of their parents, but in vain; in the morning the boat was found along the shore, bottom side up. There had been no storm and the lake was quiet all night. Nothing can be found of their bodies. Whether it was accidental drowning, or murder and suicide, no one can at tell at present.

NEW system, NEW

GOODS,

NEW PRICES!!

Ready Pay and Low Prices!

BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.

SUCCESSORS TO

O. T. CLARK & CO.

Having concluded to sell goods cheaper than they have [illegible] offered before in this market, they have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay. Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!

Comprises everything desirable in the line of

Dry Goods

CLOTHING,

HATS AND CAPS!

Boots & Shoes,

GROCERIES,

Crockery, Notions,

And an endless variety of House-Keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!

For cash we only pay. We continue to buy

Wheat,

Corn,

Oats,

And Country Produce

Of every description, for which we pay

The Highest Market Price.

BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.

May 4, 1871.

SUTERMEISTER,

BECKER

& BOND,

BUILDING CONTRACTORS!

AND DEALERS IN

BUILDING STONE

OF EVERY VARIETY

MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES

IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE.

MANTELS

IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron

MANTELS, GRATES,

FRAMES and

SUMMER FRONTS,

MARBLE SLATE and

SANDSTONE, HEARTHS.

SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.

TERRA COTTA WORK,

Vases, Chimney Tops

STONE WATER TABLES,

Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,

SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,

Cement Plaster, &c

Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workmen only employed.

SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND

April 29, '70. FORT WAYNE IND.

CALL AND SEE

THE

Great Spring Stock!

OF

Boots and Shoes

Just received by

W. W. HUMES,

AT

Wagoner's Old Stand,

MAIN St, AUBURN, IND.

He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and best stocks of Boots and Shoes for

Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses

Ever before Exhibited

PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE

IN POINT OF

Workmanship and Variety,

Style and Finish

I DEFY COMPETITION.

And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.

Call and Examine for Yourselves.

W. W. HUMES.

April, 4, '70.

Heustis & Hamilton

WHOLESALE

GROCERS

NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

March 9, '71.

TARIFF OFF!

Owing to the fact that Congress has

Reduced the Tariff

ON

Teas,

Coffee,

Sugar, etc.

The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at

SMITH & HARE'S

As we Commence this on the

Cash System

We are enabled to sell

GROCERIES

AND

PROVISIONS

Low.

CROCKERY,

GLASSWARE,

WOODENWARE,

NOTIONS, &c., &c.,

Cheaper than any other house in the county.

All we ask is to give us a trial.

SMITH & HARE.

O. D. HURD,

MANUFACTURER OF

DOORS, BLINDS,

SASH,

Stair Rail,

Moulding,

AND

Newell's Balusters & Brackets

North of the Canal,

West of Gas House, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

MODERWELL & FOWLER

MAKE A SPECIALITY OF SHIRTS, CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT

FITTING SHIRTS

THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF

Mens' Furnishing Goods!

IN [illegible] VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA

SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!

CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS

FORT WAYNE IND.

MODERWELL & FOWLER.

Hard WarE

GEO. HENSLER,

OF

BUTLER INDIANA

Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of

HARDWARE!

Ever brought to this county—among which may be found

Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,

Chains and Belting

Of all [illegible] and [illegible] every article of goods usually kept in first class Hardwarestore.

GEO. HENSLER.

M. E. WOODWARD,

Merchant Tailor,

And General Manufacturer of

CLOTHING

FOR [illegible] TRADE. ALSO DEALER IN

HATS AND CAPS,

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods,

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS

Retailed at Wholesale Prices

For Cash,

No. 40 Calhoun St. FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.

M. E. WOODWARD.

John G. Fledderman

MERCHANT TAILOR

First - Class Piece Goods,

ALWAYS ON HAND.

GENTS'

Furnishing Goods!

OF EVERY VARIETY,

No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.

FORT WAYNE, IND

Eagle Mills!

AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work, speedily and in the best manner.

FLOUR,

BRAN,

MEAL,

CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,

Auburn, April 19, '71.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. By buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, the advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place.

Great One - Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1 up.
Colored " " " "
Japenese " striped
" " Checked

Irish Poplins in all colors.
Japenese, plain
" brocaded
" Waleds.

Every Lady should call and see our

$2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chero London Poplins, for suits.
Plain " " "
Wash " " "

Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Scotch Ginghams, great variety.
Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c. &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of handsome lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpacca dress before looking at ours.

Black Brilliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city.

Trimings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe, and Gimps to match Black Guipure laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaonnets. Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks " dotted and Corded Saisses. Muslin, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings &c. White, Marseilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00. Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Lines, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Valenciehne, real and imitation, Laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

For

Fresh and Fine Family

Groceries and

Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

And Sugar,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK, AND PRICES

AND BE CONVINCED THAT

BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH

IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 19, 1870.

McDOUGAL'S

CARPET STORE

A FULL LINE OF

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,

75 Columbia street.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO. of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every variety of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk. Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Braiding, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequaled.

The undersigned having for some time past, used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. ED. BLAINE.

MRS. J. A. BARNS.

G. L. Segner, Agent,

Waterloo, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop

In

Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS

Carriages,

CUTTERS,

Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

103 Washington St., Chicago,

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENEREAL DISEASES AND NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circulars [illegible].

See Here

FARMERS,

Have you got good

FANNING MILLS?

If not, get one of

J. B. TAYLOR'S

CELEBRATED

Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been 14 years past, and not found wanting in any respect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of grain. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1869 and 1870. Clean and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get 20c. less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co's store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICITED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Waterloo City, March 31, 1869.

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

QUICK SALES & SMALL

PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,

Oats,

Co n,

Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - INDIANA.

ould respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of,

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Buildig Matrial,

Agricultul Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics Tools, Brushes, whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws,, Rip, Back, Panel and Hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, & c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at bottom prices, and Defy Competition.

JOHN L. DAVIS.

March 23-1871

THE AUBURN COURIER.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND TO THE COLLECTION OF LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Vol. 1. Auburn, DeKalb County, Indiana, June 22, 1871. No. 26.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

Published Every Thursday,

Editor and Proprietor.

OFFICE—Corner of Main and Seventh Sts.

One year [illegible] $2.00
Six months [illegible] 1.00

SPENCER & [illegible]TON,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Fort Wayne, Ind. Office [illegible] Main and Columbia, up stairs, [illegible] store.

JOHN W. BICKEL,

ATTORNEY AT LAW AND NOTARY PUBLIC, Auburn, Indiana. Will attend promptly to all business [illegible] 2-38

D. D. MOODY,

ATTORNEY AT LAW, Auburn, Ind. [illegible] 2-38

PINCHIN & MADDEN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW AND NOTARIES Public, Insurance and Real Estate Agents, will promptly attend to all business [illegible] their care. Office [illegible] North street, Butler, P. O., DeKalb county, Ind. 2-26

McBRIDE & NORLAN,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Waterloo City, Ind., will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office over Patterson [illegible]'s store. 2-26

[illegible]

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, will practice in any of the courts of the State. Office, Wayne street, [illegible]
JAS. I. [illegible] M'CLELLAN.

R. M. & W. C. LOCKHART,

DEALERS IN LUMBER of Every Description, Waterloo City, Ind., Manufacture and ship Lumber at the going cash rates, at all times. 2-26

[illegible] H. [illegible]

ATTORNEY AT LAW. Office over Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

JAS. E. GRAHAM, M. Y. B. GOTSHALL,
Justice of the Peace. Notary Public.

GRAHAM & GOTSHALL,

ATTORNEYS AT LAW, Real Estate and Insurance Agents, [illegible]
AGENTS FOR
Blanchard's Collecting and Advertising Bureau,
No. 7 East Main street, Fort Wayne, Ind. Collections made in all parts of the United States.

R. ELDRIDGE,

PROPRIETOR RESTAURANT, opposite Court House. [illegible] Game, Oysters, &c., at all times.

[illegible] LOHMANN,

HOMŒOPATHIC PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, and Practical Accoucheur. Patients who suffer with [illegible] to Dr. H. Lohmann. All consultations strictly confidential.
Office and Residence, Union street, Waterloo City, Indiana. 2-26

MASONIC.

DEKALB LODGE, NO. 214.—Regular Communications Tuesday evenings, on or before the full moon of each month. Visitors cordially invited to meet with us.
GUY PLUM, W. M.
JNO. A. COWAN, Secretary.

I. O. O. F.

CEDAR ENCAMPMENT, NO. 65.—Regular meetings second and fourth Friday evenings of each month. Visitors cordially invited to attend our meetings.
J. L. DAVIS, C. P.
W. W. GRISWOLD, Secretary.

AUBURN LODGE, No. 116,

MEETS WEDNESDAY EVENINGS. Visiting brethren cordially invited.
A. HALL, N. G.
J. L. DAVIS, Secretary.

I. O. G. T.

WAY LODGE, NO. 238, meets every Saturday night of each week. Cordial invitation extended to visitors.
JOHN [illegible], W. C.
[illegible], Sec.

J. B. CASEBEER, M. D. | JARED SPOONER, M. D.

DRS. CASEBEER & SPOONER,

HAVING associated themselves for the practice of Medicine and Surgery, will attend promptly to all professional calls. Special office days, Wednesdays and Saturdays. Office formerly occupied by Dr. [illegible], corner of Ninth and [illegible] streets, one block west of the Weaver House.

J. A. COWAN, M. D.,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, will attend promptly to all calls pertaining to his profession. Office [illegible] Auburn, Ind. [illegible]

DR. R. ELSON,

RESIDENT DENTIST. Office over Lauferty's store. All work warranted.

WEAVER HOUSE,

CORNER MAIN AND NINTH STREETS, opposite the Court House. S. C. SWINEFORD, Proprietor. [illegible]

[illegible]

ATTORNEY AT LAW and NOTARY PUBLIC. Office in the Court House. Special attention paid to the collection of claims. Also, Agent for Home Insurance Company.

WATERLOO HOUSE,

SOUTH SIDE OF RAILROAD, WATERLOO, Ind. S. W. Dickinson, proprietor. Good [illegible]

AVELINE HOUSE,

CORNER BERRY AND CALHOUN STS., Fort Wayne, Ind. [illegible], proprietor.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE, FREE FROM ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & Co., Druggists & Gen. Agents, San Francisco, Cal., and 32 Commerce street, N. Y.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

They are not a vile Fancy Drink, Made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and Gen. Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.

[illegible]

ON and after Dec. 4th, 1870 Trains will leave stations daily, (Sundays excepted) as follow:

Going West.

STATIONS FAST EX.	MAIL.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Pittsburgh 1,35 A M
Rochester 2,42 "	7,10 A. M	10,55 A. M	3,00 P. M
Alliance ...4,55 "	8,45 "	12,05 P.	[illegible]
Orrville ...[illegible]	11,45 "	3,00 "	[illegible]
Mansfield [illegible]	[illegible]	4,49 "	8,33 "
A. 8,55 "	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Crestline.. 9,20 "	5,00 "	7,10 "	11,00 "
L.	5,55 A M	7,45 "	11,30 "
Forest ......11 37 "	7,33 "	9,29 "	1,26 A. M.
Lima ....11,32 P "	8,50 "	10,50 "	[illegible]
Ft Wayne 1,45 "	11,40 "	1,25 A. M.	[illegible]
Plymouth 3,39 "	2,25 P. M	3,45 "	8,35 "
Chicago... [illegible] "	6,00 "	7,20 "	12,10 p m

Going East.

STATIONS	MAIL.	FAST EX.	PAC. EX.	NIGHT EX.
Chicago...	5,50 A. M	9,20 A. M.	5,35 P. M.	9,30 P. M.
Plymouth	9,46 "	[illegible]	9,05 "	12,30 A. M.
Ft Wayne	12,40 P. M	2,15 P. M.	11,30	[illegible]
Lima	[illegible]	3,38 "	[illegible]	[illegible]
Forest	4,27 "	4,58 "	2,50 "	[illegible]
A	6,00 "	6,15 "	4,20 "	8,55 "
Crestline..	12,45	6,35 "	4,30	[illegible]
Mansfield.	1,29 "	7,05 "	5,00 "	11,[illegible] "
Orrville.....	3,45 "	9,00 "	6,57 "	11,5[illegible] "
Alliance...	5,50 "	10,25 "	8,50 "	7,45 P. M
Rochester	8,25 P. M.	12,27 A. M.	11,05 "	[illegible]
Pittsburgh	9,35 "	1,25 "	12,10 P. M.	5,30 "

No. 1, daily except Monday; Nos. 5, 3, 8, and 2 daily except Sunday; Nos. 7 and 6, daily; No. 4, daily except Saturday and Sunday.

F. R. MYERS,
General Passenger and Ticket Agent

Ft. Wayne, Jackson & Saginaw R. R.

Now completed and running through trains between Jackson and Ft. Wayne. The following Time Card went into effect on Tuesday, May 16, 1871. Trains run by Jackson time.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Exp.	Mixed.	Mail.
Fort Wayne, leave	7 00 a m	9 20 a m	4 50 p m
Academie	7 15	9 38
Huntertown	7 27	9 51	[illegible]
Stoners (Gravel pit)	7 33	9 59	[illegible]
New Era	7 43	10 11	[illegible]
Auburn	8 01	10 49	[illegible]
Waterloo............	8 15	11 25	[illegible]
Summit..............	8 30	11 50	[illegible]
Pleasant Lake......	8 43	12 15 p m	[illegible]
Angola	8 57	12 55	[illegible]
Jonesville........		3 50	[illegible]
Jackson ....Arr	11 40	11 40	9 18 p m

GOING SOUTH.

Jackson ......Leave	8 15 p m	8 15 a m	6 50 a m
Jonesville........		10 30
Angola............	8 23	2 28 p m	8 57
Pleasant Lake......	8 41	2 53	9 11
Summit............	8 50	3 13	9 23
Waterloo..........	9 18	3 43	9 40
Auburn...........	9 40	4 06	9 55
New Era..........	10 00	4 28	10 11
Stoners (Gravel pit)	10 15	4 40	10 20
Huntertown........	10 20	4 48	10 26
Academie..........	10 32	5 05	10 37
Ft. Wayne......Arr	10 55	5 25 p m	6 55

Connections are made at Jackson with trains on the M. C. R. R., J. L. & S. R. R., G. R. V. R. R., and the [illegible] Line Road. At Jonesville with the [illegible] R. R. At Waterloo with the L. S. & M. S. Air Line. At Ft. Wayne with the T. W. & W., P. Ft. W. & C., and Cincinnati and Muncie Road.

A. REESE, Ass't Supt

I. C. Thomas, Agent Auburn.

Lake Shore & Mich. Southern R. R.

Air Line Division

ON and after Monday, June 1st, 1871, Passenger Trains will leave Waterloo City and other Stations as follows, daily except Sundays:

GOING WEST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n.
Butler	x1:01 p m	x2:17 a m.	12:57 p m.
Waterloo	1:10 "	2:32 "	1:13 "
Sedan	x1:25 "	[illegible] "	1:20 "
Corunna	x1:20 "	x2:49 "	[illegible] "

GOING EAST.

	Special Ex.	Pacific Ex.	Accom'd'n
Corunna	x2:40 p m	x11:36 p m	2:40 p m
Sedan	x2:44 "	x11:43 "	2:45 "
Waterloo	[illegible]	11:[illegible] "	2:53 "
Butler	[illegible]	x12:[illegible] a m	[illegible]

For full details, see the Company's posters, and Time Tables at the depot and other public places.

Trains are run by Cleveland Time, which is twenty minutes faster than the local time and twenty-five minutes faster than [illegible] time.

H. M. WRIGHT, Supt. Air Line Div., Toledo.
CHAS. F. HATCH. Gen. Supt., Cleveland, O.
J. W. CARY, Gen. Ticket Agent.

AUBURN LIVERY AND SALE STABLE!

RAINIER & RYAN, Pro's.

Having on hand everything in the line of Carriages, Buggies, Wagons, etc.

together with a number of first-class Livery Horses, we respectfully solicit the patronage of the public, promising to use our best endeavors to give general satisfaction. Prices to suit the times.
March [illegible], '71.

Come and See Me!

—:0:—

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, that I continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be [illegible]

Repairing Done

in the best style, on short notice. I also [illegible] assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

THE Democracy of Iowa met in State convention, June 7th and adopted a platform similar to that of Ohio and Pennsylvania, and nominated J. C. Knapp, of Van Beuren county, for Governor.

[illegible]

Of all the beautiful pictures
That hang on Memory's wall,
Is one of a dim old forest,
That seemeth best of all;
Not for its gnarled oaks olden,
Dark with the mistletoe;
Not for the violets golden,
That sprinkle the vale below;

Not for the milk-white lilies
That lean from the fragrant hedge,
Coquetting all day with the sunbeams,
And stealing their golden edge;
Not for the vines on the upland,
Where the bright red berries rest;
Nor the pinks, nor the pale, sweet cowslip,
It seemeth to me the best.

I once had a little brother,
With eyes that were dark and deep;
In the lap of that olden forest
He lieth in peace asleep.
Light as the down of the thistle,
Free from the winds that blow,
We roved there the beautiful summers—
The summers of long ago;
But his feet on the hills grew weary,
And, one of the autumn eves
I made for my little brother
A bed of the yellow leaves.

Sweetly his pale arms folded
My neck in a meek embrace,
As the light of immortal beauty
Silently covered his face;
And when the arrows of sunset
Lodged in the tree-tops bright
He fell, in his saint-like beauty,
Asleep by the gates of light.
Therefore, of all the pictures
That hang on memory's wall,
The one of the dim old forest
Seemeth best of all.

GUNN THE INSURANCE AGENT.

How he Followed a Victim.

His name was Benjamin P. Gunn, and he was agent for an insurance company. He came around to my office fourteen times in one morning to see if he could not persuade me to take out a life insurance policy in his company.

He used to waylay me in the street, at church, in my own house, and bore me about that policy.

If I went to the opera, Gunn would buy the next seat to me and sit there the whole evening talking about sudden death and the advantages of the ten year plan.

If I got into a street car, this Mr. Gunn would come rushing in at the next street corner, and sit by my side and drag out a lot of mortality tables, and begin to explain how I could beat the company out of a fortune. If I sat down to a dinner at a restaurant, up would come Gunn, and seizing a chair next to me, he would tell a cheering anecdote about a man who insured in his company for $50,000 only last week, and was buried yesterday. If I attended the funeral of a departed friend, and wept as they threw the earth upon his coffin, I could hear a whisper, and turning around, there would be the indomitable Benjamin P. Gunn, bursting to say—

'Poor Smith! I knew him well. Insured for ten thousand in our company. Widow in comfortable circumstances. Let me take your name. Shall I?'

He followed me everywhere, until at last I got so sick of Gunn's prosecutions that I left town suddenly one evening, and hid myself in a secluded country village, hoping to get rid of him.

At the end of two weeks I returned, reaching home in the morning. I hardly got to bed before there was a ring at the door bell. He says you are the man. Mr. Gunn then observed that he expected my return, and thought he would call around about that insurance policy. He said he had the doctor with him, and if I would come down he would take my name and have me examined immediately. I was too indignant to reply. I shut the window and went to bed again.

After breakfast in the morning I opened the front door, and there was Gunn sitting on the steps, with his doctor, waiting for me. He had been there all night. As I came out they seized and tried to undress me there on the pavement, in order [illegible] and locked myself up in the garret, with orders to admit nobody to the house until I came down stairs.

But Gunn wouldn't be baffled. He actually rented the house next door, and stationed himself in the garret adjoining mine. When he got fixed he spent his time pounding on the partition and crying: 'Hallo! Alder!—Alder! I say! how about that policy?' And then he would tell me some more anecdotes about men who were cut off immediately after paying the first premium. But I paid no attention to him, and made no noise. Then he was silent for a while.

Suddenly one morning the door of my garret was wrenched off, and upon looking up I saw Gunn with doctor and a crowbar, and a lot of dead rates, coming down the ladder at me. I fled from the house to the Presbyterian church close by, and paid the sexton twenty dollars to let me climb up to the point of the steeple and sit astride of the ball. I promised him twenty more if he would exclude everybody from that steeple for a week.

Once safely on the ball, three hundred feet from the earth, I made myself comfortable with the thought that I had Gunn at a disadvantage, and I determined to beat him finally, if I had to stay there a month.

About an hour afterward, while I was looking at the suburb view to the west, I heard a rustling on the other side of the steeple. I looked around, and there was Benjamin P. Gunn creeping up the side of the steeple in a balloon, in which was the doctor and a tabular estimate of the losses of the company from the Tontine system. As soon as Gunn reached the ball he threw the grappling iron into the shingles of the steeple, and asked me at what age my father died, and if any of my aunts ever had liver complaint or consumption.

Without waiting to reply, I slid down and took the first train for the Mississippi Valley. In two weeks I was in Mexico.—I determined to go to the interior, and seek some wild spot, in some elevated region where no Gunn ever dare come.

I got on a mule and paid a guide to lead me to the summit. We arrived at the crater of the mountain at noon, and toiled upward for about four hours. Just before reaching the top I heard the sound of voices, and upon rounding a point of rocks, who should I see but Benjamin P. Gunn, [illegible] explaining the endowment plan to the guide a few yards off, examining him to see if he was healthy.

Mr. Gunn arose and said he was glad to see me, because now he could talk about the policy [illegible] without fear of interruption. In a paroxysm of rage I pushed him back into the crater, and he fell a thousand feet below with a heavy thud. As he struck the bottom I heard a voice screaming out something about "non-forfeiture," but there was a sudden convulsion on the mountain, a cloud of smoke, and I heard no more.

I know it was wrong. [illegible] I had no right to kill Gunn in that manner, but he forced me to do it in self-defense. I hope his awful fate will be a warning to other insurance agents who remain among us.

A Punning Judge.

Lippincott's Magazine has the following account of the facetious sayings of Judge Richard Peters, of Philadelphia:

It was as a punster that Peters was most widely known, great as was his reputation in more important respects. Men love to laugh, and he who induces them to do so is much surer of a kindly place in their recollections than any mover of their other emotions.

There can be no doubt that the sign which Peters hung from his office window on beginning his professional career, 'Richard Peters, Attorney-at-law. Business done here at half-price: N. B.—Half done,'—a capital sign, by the way, for all half-price places—had the effect of tickling more fees out of passing pockets than could have been secured by more serious means.

Peters was colleagued on the bench with Justice Washington, of the Supreme Court, a quiet, severe man, of whom he used to say that Bro. Washington was the strict Judge, while he was the dis-trict Judge. Justice Washington was in the habit of delivering the opinions of the Court, and was, moreover, noted for a very vigorous [illegible]—two facts which caused his associate to call him the mouthpiece of the Court.

A superlative spinner of naval yarns, on returning from a cruise, assured a festive assemblage, of whom the Judge was one that he had [illegible] a soap island which he elaborately described. When he had finished, the Judge blandly requested to be informed if the making of that island did'nt require a great deal of lie?

At an agricultural dinner he entertained a countryman of more candor than courtesy by telling extraordinary stories; and when he paused, the man shouted, "Tell us some more of your 'tarnal lies!"

A neighbor who kept a noisy pack of hounds, once complained of suffering from ague. 'Bless my soul!' he exclaimed, 'can't you cure it with all that bark?'

At the trial of some pirates in South Carolina, the District Judge acquitted them for want of a comma in the law: 'So for want of a comma,' said he, 'the doings of the rascals will never be brought to a full stop.'

One of the members of the State Legislature, when the Judge was Speaker there [illegible] slipped and fell on which, of course, the legislators burst into a laugh.

'Order, order, gentlemen; don't you see that a member is on the floor?' This rebuke of the Judge did not restore them to gravity.

Once when the Judge was standing near La Fayette, a young military officer in addressing the latter exclaimed,

'Sir, although we were not born to partake of your revolutionary hardships, yet, should our country be attacked, we will not fail to tread in the shoes of our forefathers.'

'No, no,' interrupted the Judge; 'that you can't do, for they fought barefooted.' [illegible] North Caro[illegible] [illegible] was the reply, 'for then I might sometimes see my purchase.'

Canal Travelling.

'Hallo, there, capting!' said a Brother Jonathan to the [illegible] packet on the Erie Canal, [illegible] charge for passage?'

'Three cents per [illegible] found,' said the captain.

'Waal, I guess I'll [illegible], capting,' seeing as how I'm kinder gin out walking so far.'

Accordingly he got on board as the steward was ringing for dinner. Jonathan sat down and began demolishing the 'fixins,' to the utter consternation of the captain, until he cleared the table of all that was eatable, when he got up and went on deck picking his teeth very comfortably.

'How far is it, capting, from here to where I got on board?'

'Nearly one and a half miles,' said the captain.

'Let's see,' said Jonathan, 'that would be just four and a half cents; but never mind, capting, I won't be small; here's five cents, which pays my fare to here. I guess I'll go ashore, now; I'm kinder rested some.'

A young man who will likely amuse himself on Saturday by jumping over a cow. About the time he got half over the cow took a notion to jump too. The result was that the young man turned the first half of a back summersault, but left the latter half on the grass.—Evansville Journal.

[illegible] the Robber.

'Halt! Your money or your life! Throw up your hands!' exclaimed a stranger, stepping out from a shadow, while accompanying the words might have been heard the sharp click of a pistol. The person addressed was a weary newspaper man wending his lonely way homeward in the outskirts of the city about 2 o'clock in the morning.

'Oh, yes, certainly. I'm in no hurry. Only walking for exercise. Just as soon hold up my hands as not. But not armed. Please turn that pistol a little to one side. It makes me nervous.'

'Hand over your cash.'

'Haven't nary a cent with me—You see they took all that away from me when they entered my name upon the books.'

'When did they take your money away?'

'Oh, yes, what, at the pest-house. You see I'm a small small-pox patient just out for exercise. They won't let me walk about in the daytime with my face in this condition, so I have to go it after dark, and late at night, when the streets are empty. By the way stranger, the wind is rather in your direction, and unless you ain't particular about it, it might be just as well to stand on the other side. I've got my silver watch, though. If you like it come and take it. You're at perfect liberty to search me, if you like, only don't point that pistol this way; it's uncomfortable. D'ye want the watch?'

'No, thank you,' said the robber, backing away around toward the other side: 'I couldn't take anything from a man so unfortunate as you are. Here—there's half a dollar for you, poor fellow. Go and get something to drink;' and he threw the coin toward him, still backing off 'As you're only walking for exercise, it won't incommode you—'

'Oh, not a particle. I'd just as soon walk with you, if you desire it. Either way, though, it's all the same to me—Thank you for your half—Won't you join me and drink to my recovery?'

'Well, you go round the block the other way, as I haven't hurt you, say nothing about having met me. I guess I'll go this way;' and then watching till the supposed small-pox patient had turned the corner he started off on a full-run in the opposite direction.

Mr. Newspaper Man proceeded on homeward undisturbed, and slept the sleep of one who enjoys the consciousness of having done a good thing, and four bits better off for having met a highwayman.

A Hint to Husbands.

Isn't it strange that some men, who will be kind and obliging to their neighbors, gentlemanly and polite to other ladies, will be so rude and cold and harsh at home, and perfect bears to their wives—crabbed, snappish, ungenerous and altogether unsocial and hateful? Does anybody know of any such men? Not that I wish to lay all the wrong doing and blame on man kind, or condemn them en masse—not at all. There are plenty of good, noble men, but not quite enough. When they are so strong, and have so much power to do good, and win love, and bless their homes, why won't they all do it?

'Circumstances alter cases.' Some men's wives are trying enough to wear out the patience of Job; but then, in the perversity of things, you will generally find a real bear of a man united to a frail, patient, forbearing and forgiving wife. She is your wife, Mr. Bear, and the mother of your children, and probably dependent on you for a home and means, and can't get away from you; so, of course, she is in your power, and you can treat her just as you choose. But if you expect her heart to bound with pleasure when she hears your footsteps, or to proffer you caresses, or to rejoice in your presence you are much mistaken. She is human—neither more nor less. Please reverse your situations and conditions. How much, and how long, would you bear such treatment as you give her? You will inevitably be measured and weighed, for just what you are, and there is no help for it.—Rural N. Y.

What a Chew of Tobacco Did for an Illinois Postmaster.

A 'chew' has sent a man to penitentiary. It seems that a registered letter which had been forwarded to Chicago from one of the country post-offices, was tampered with at some point on the route. Upon arriving at the place of destination, five $100 bills which ought to have been in the envelope were missing. The matter was put into the hands of a skillful detective for investigation. Upon soaking the envelope he discovered where it had been opened and resealed. He then examined the mucilage with a microscope, and discover that small particles of plug tobacco adhered to the paper.

At once the officer resolved to track through the various offices, and see who of the Government employees that handled letters chewed plug. For some time the case looked like a hopeless one. The postoffice clerks in the rural districts nearly all chewed the fine cut. Finally at the very office at which the letter was mailed the postmaster offered the official some plug, in response to a request for a 'chew,' and, as if the unfortunate official was bent upon his own crimination, he remarked that he had never chewed anything else but plug.'

Upon this statement the detective ran the risk and arrested the surprised countryman, not for chewing plug tobacco, but for robbing the United States mail. Upon searching the office the missing bills were found well folded up in an old fashioned daguerreotype case. The dishonest postmaster is filling an engagement at the Illinois penitentiary.

THE ADOPTED ORPHAN.

"It's very strange," mused Blanche Penroy, slowly weaving together the wreath of scarlet autumn leaves with which she was decorating her broad-brimmed straw hat. "I know so little about him; I have only known him ten days, and yet, when he spoke about leaving Elm Point, last night, it seemed as if all the sunshine were gone out of the world. Oh, Blanche! you naughty little Blanche," she added, leaning forward and apostrophising the fair face mirrored in the gentle stream at her feet, "Is it possible that you've allowed yourself to fall in love with that tall, dark-eyed fellow?"

The roses mounted up into the cheek as she wondered within herself whether or Gilbert Evering cared for her.

"I wish I knew," she uttered aloud.

"Knew what?" demanded a calm voice, and Mr. Evering seated himself on the log beside her—a straight, handsome man, with brilliant black eyes, regular features, and a deep color glowing through his olive skin.

Blanche demurely looked up at him. She was not to be taken by storm thus easily.

"I wish I knew whether it will rain to-morrow, for I want to wear my white India muslin at our picnic."

"Oh, the picnic! I had forgotten that when I spoke of leaving to-morrow. Of course, though, my presence or absence would make no very great difference."

Somehow that scarlet and brown spotted maple leaf required a great deal of extra adjustment in the ribbon of her hat.

"Blanche, shall I go or stay?"

"Just as you please."

"No, just as somebody else pleases. Yes or no. And I forewarn you that yes means a great deal."

"How much does it mean now?" questioned Blanche, half archly and half timorously.

"Everything."

"Then you may stay."

"My Blanche, my little white daisy," he whispered, bending his stately head over the slender hand that lay on the autumn leaves. And Blanche felt that in the golden stillness of that October dell she had turned over a new page in her life.

She was very happy, and all that day she seemed to be groping through the bright mystery of a dream. But with the morning came other feelings. Alas! that shadow should always follow sunshine in this world of ours.

"I am not disposed to be unreasonable, Blanche," said Gilbert in a whisper, as he arranged her white lace shawl for her amid the merry tumult of the picnic ground; "but I think that you have waltzed quite often enough with that puppy Birmingham."

"Jealous already Gilbert?" taunted the girl, flushed and rosy with the triumphs of her beauty, and the irresistible instincts of coquetry. She colored crimson

"Of course you please; only I warn you, Blanche, it's a choice between Birmingham and me. You dance with him at your own risk."

At that instant Walter Birmingham came up, and respectfully and "if he could have the pleasure of a polka with Miss Penroy."

And Blanche, defiant and willful, and a little piqued, answered.

"Yes."

And glided away with her plump hand on Birmingham's shoulder, Gilbert had no business to be so unreasonable.

His grave, stern face rather startled her as she came back to the rustic seat or twisted boughs, when the dance had been finished, and Birmingham had gone to bring her an iced lemonade.

"Gilbert, why do you look so cross?"

"Because I have reason. I am sorry that you pay so little attention to my wishes, Miss Penroy."

She drew herself up haughtily.

"You are beginning to dictate rather too early, sir."

"Have I not the right?"

"Nothing of the sort, Mr. Evering."

"Be it so, Blanche," he said, in a voice that betrayed how deep the arrow rankled in his bosom. "I give up the right now and forever."

Blanche was startled. She would have said more, but Birmingham was advancing toward her, and when next she had leisure to look around, Gilbert was gone from her side.

"What have I done?" she thought in dismay. "I'll see him this evening, and coax him into good humor once more. He surely can't be vexed at me for an idle word like that."

Ah, little Blanche, it is not the well considered sentence that does all the harm in this world; but it is the idle word.

"Such a charming day as we have had, Mrs. Train," said Blanche, as she came up the steps of the piazza, smiling and radiant as if the worm of remorse was not gnawing at her heart.

"That, of course," said the blooming matron, who was reading in an easy chair under the shadow of the vines. "But what sent Mr. Evering away in such a hurry?"

"Sent him away?"

"Yes—by the evening train. He came home, packed up his things, and drove away as if there was not a moment to lose. I am very sorry; we shall miss him so much."

Blanche went slowly up stairs and sat down by the window, looking out at the purple glow of the evening landscape as if it were a featureless blank. So he was gone away, and, by her own folly, she had lost the priceless treasure of Gilbert Evering's love.

"I cannot write to him, for I do not know his address," she said, with clasped hands and tearful eyes. "Well, it's my own fault, and I must abide by the consequences as best I may."

Blanche Penroy went from the summer lounging place a sadder and a wiser woman; and the November mists, drooping over the brick and mortar wilderness of her New York home, had never seemed half so dreary to her before as they seemed now.

"I shall be an old maid," thought Blanche as she walked up and down the fire-light darkness of her quiet drawing-room, with her dimpled hands clasped behind her waist.

"I never cared for any one as I cared for Gilbert; and I dare say I shall keep cats, and grow fond of green tea and scandal, and the sewing-circle. Ah, well-a-day! this kind of life cannot last forever."

She rang the bell with a very impatient jerk.

"Are there any letters, Sanderson?"

"One, ma'am; it came by evening post only a few moments since."

Blanche sat down by the fire, opened the letter, and commenced to read.

"Black edged, and black sealed! So poor Marchmont is gone at last!"

Penroy's distant cousin, formally and briefly announcing her death, which had taken place in one of the West India islands some months since but the melancholy news of which, as the letter ran, had been only just received. It was not entirely unexpected, as Mrs. Marchmont had for some years been slowly falling out of the world, a victim of hereditary consumption.

"Leaving one child—a son," slowly repeated Blanche, leaning her cheek on her hand, and looking down into the fiery quiver of the white hot coals. "Poor little fellow! He must feel nearly as desolate and alone as I do; only I have one advantage.

"I have a sufficiency of this world's goods, and this orphaned child must be thrown penniless and alone on his resources, for if I remember aright, Mrs. Marchmont forfeited all the wealth of her first marriage by her second alliance with that poverty-strickened lawyer, whose death plunged her into such bitter mourning. That was a true love-match, yet how much grief and trouble it brought with it, leaving one child, a son! Why should I not adopt the stray waif and make it a business of my life to cherish and comfort him? I have no objection existence here is one that Providence seems to have pointed out to me."

Once more she rang the bell, with a fresh color glowing in her cheeks, and a new light in her eyes.

"Bring me my writing desk immediately, Sanderson, and get ready to take a letter to the postoffice."

The old servant obeyed, wondering at his mistress's unwonted energy, and yet well pleased to see some of her old animation returning.

It was a very simple and unconscious letter that Blanche Penroy wrote to her "far-away" cousin's executors from the fullness of her heart.

"I shall never marry now," she wrote, "and it seems to become my plainly-indictated duty to undertake the care of the orphan child of my cousin, Mrs. Marchmont. With your approval, therefore, I intend to adopt him and endear as, as far as in my power to supply the place of his lost mother. You may at first deem me too young to undertake so grave a responsibility, but I was nineteen last month, and am very much older in thought and feeling than in years. Of course, at my death, the child will inherit the property which was left me by my dear deceased parent."

"I hope my cousin's executors are like the nice, white-headed old lawyers one reads about in novels," said Blanche to herself as she folded the little perfumed sheets of pink paper, "and not cross old fogies, talking of expediency and appropriateness, for I do so much want somebody to love and care for, and somehow I've a sort of premonition that this little fellow will be nice and rosy and loveable. Perhaps I'll teach him to call me 'Aunty.'"

Just a week subsequently a proper formal note was received from Messrs. Allis & Carpus, the deceased lady's executors, stating that they could see no valid objection to Miss Penroy's very laudable object, and in accordance with it, the child of the late Mrs. Marchmont would arrive at Miss Penroy's residence of the following Saturday.

"Saturday—and this is Friday," said Blanche, with a new brightness dancing in her hazel eyes. "Oh, I'm glad! shall be! Sanderson, tell Mrs. Brown to have the blue room fitted up immediately for Master Marchmont, and you had better go yourself to the depot with the carriage, at 5 o'clock to-morrow afternoon, to meet him."

"Yes m'am," replied Sanderson, somewhat stolidly. The apparition of a great unruly boy tramping with muddy boots on the velvet carpets, and haunting the house with ball and marbles and lung-splitting noises, did not possess the charm to Sanderson's eyes that it to his mistress. And even the patient Mrs. Brown remarked with a species of exasperation that—

"She did not see what put that freak into Miss Blanche's head."

Saturday was a day of hail and tempest, and by 5 o'clock the drawing-rooms were lighted, and the crimson silk curtains closely drawn to exclude the storm darkness without.

Six times within the last fifteen minutes had Blanche looked at her watch, as she stood by the fire waiting to hear approach of the carriage. She was dressed in a rich China blue silk dress, with pearl pin and ear drops, and a little point lace at her throat, and the clear rose that no other cheeks [illegible]. She was, unconsciously, very beautiful [illegible]

[illegible] said Sanderson [illegible] sound between [illegible]

[illegible] years old, tall, handsome young gentleman, something over six feet with a black moustache and merry hazel eyes, brimming over with mirth. [illegible] if she could hardly credit the evidence of her own senses.

"Gilbert."

"Exactly. You wanted to adopt me, and here I am."

[illegible]

"You are not Mrs. Marchmont's son?"

"I am—by her first marriage. Although [illegible] father's wealth comes to me, I am quite willing to be adopted—particularly as your are not married to Mr. Birmingham."

Blanche [illegible] laughter, [illegible] in which could best express her feeling, but Gilbert Evering drew her tenderly toward him.

"If you adopt me, dearest, it must be [illegible] much at the [illegible]

[illegible] boy, [illegible] to [illegible]

[illegible] Sanderson, who had been listening diligently at the [illegible] the stairs to inform Mrs. Brown that they were going to have [illegible]

[illegible]

The most common exhibition of the influence of music on animals, is perhaps witnessed in circuses and other equestrian entertainments, where the horse is affected in a lively and exhilarating manner by the performance of the band—often waltzing and prancing, and keeping perfect time with the music.

Dogs are affected by music but it is difficult to determine whether agreeably or otherwise. Many naturalists believe it to be disagreeable to them, an opinion which is strongly supported by the facts that, if left to their liberty, they generally take flight with howls as soon as [illegible] reaches their ears. They have been known to [illegible] compelled to [illegible] music for a considerable time. Other quadrupeds, and also owls, have been known to die from the effect of music.

Cats are said to [illegible] loudly on hearing the [illegible] less affected than dogs. On the other hand, it is well known that many kinds of birds are affected in a very agreeable manner, often approaching as near as possible the instrument or persons, and remaining as long as the music continues, and then flapping their wings as we should clap our hands in approbation of the performance.

[illegible] charmed by music, the hunters of the Tyrol and some parts of Germany often entice stags by singing, and [illegible] deer by playing [illegible] and [illegible] time to music.

Among reptiles, the lizard shows perhaps the most remarkable susceptibility to musical influence, lying [illegible] side, [illegible] every part of his body to the effect of the sonorous fluid which is so delightful to him. [illegible] soft voice [illegible] his favorite while hearing singing and noisy music [illegible]

Among the insects, spiders are found to be very fond of music. As soon as the sounds [illegible] they [illegible] point [illegible] the sound originates, and there remain motionless as long as it continues. Prisoners sometimes tame them by singing or whistling [illegible]

[illegible] remarkable instance of the influence of music on animals occurred at a menagerie in Paris, a few years ago, when a concert was [illegible] among [illegible] being placed out of their sight, they could not perceive whence the harmony came. The first sensation was that of surprise; at one moment they [illegible] the spectators [illegible] ran [illegible] and to [illegible] sound [illegible] meant; but at length, nothing animated, they gave themselves up to the impression which the music communicated. [illegible] seemed to produce a change of feeling, caused their gestures and cries to assume an expression in accordance with it. [illegible] it [illegible] notable [illegible] lost upon them, if it was incorrectly played, they would remain cold and unmoved.

Light employment—Building castles in the air.

It is more difficult to manage riches well than to acquire them.

A hard case—The house the poor snail is compelled to live in.

A codfish breakfast and an India rubber coat will keep a man dry all day.

[illegible] that the first piece of music performed by Adam must have been, "[illegible] at [illegible]."

The Courier.

AUBURN, IND. JUNE 29, 1871

THE Democracy of Allen county, Ohio, have indorsed the "New Departure."

Our contemporary says Vallandigham was a politician of small calibre. Every other paper in the country, without regard to party, concedes his ability to have been [illegible]. But [illegible] some people see through a glass darkly.

A general railroad law is before the Connecticut Legislature. It gives any number of persons, not less than 25, power to form a railroad company, and build and maintain a road under the provisions of this law and the general statutes.

THE tremendous news comes from Santo Domingo of a battle between Baez and Cabral, in which the latter was defeated with a loss of eighteen prisoners and the camp equipage. When Cabral found he was whipped he blew up a powder magazine and "nearly the whole of the town of San Juan was destroyed." Baez, during the action, remained at Azua, but has returned to the capital since. Trouble in the President's coveted isle is undoubtly brewing. He should send Wade forward immediately to marshal the bugs and tarantulas.

TEN thousand dollars a minute is a good salary for a man and that man not a prime minister, nor an emperor, but simply a horse jockey, yet that is what John Wells received on Thursday last. He rode Baron Rothschild's colt for the Derby at Epsom, and won it; whereupon the Baron overjoyed at his success (for it has been his darling ambition never hitherto gratified, to win the blue ribbon of the Turf), presented the rider with the stakes, amounting to six thousand pounds sterling, or over $32,000. As the race occupied a little over two and three-quarters minutes, it will be seen that the fortunate rider's time was worth about $200 a second.

WE clip the following remarks from an exchange: "It is strange how closely people read the papers. We never say anything that anybody doesn't like but what we soon hear of it, and everybody tells us of it. But if once in a while we happen to say a good thing, we never hear that—nobody seems to notice it. We may pay some man a hundred compliments, and give him a dozen puffs, yet he takes it as a tribute to his greatness and never thinks it does him any good. But if we happen to say something that this very man don't like' or something that he imagines reflects on him or his character, see how quickly he flies up and gets mad about it. All our sins are charged to us, but we never, apparently, get any credit for what we have done."

It is said that the son of the American Emperor, and the daughter of Russian Czar, are "engaged." Miss Beatrice is coming over this summer to see Fred. The two Emperors are anxious to get up a matrimonial alliance between the American Eagle and the Russian Bear. They had better hurry up their cakes, as the bull-pup Emperor may get knocked out of time, within the next eighteen months. Horace is after him with strawberry plants, filched from the patent-office. The people of this country have spoiled many a nice game. The [illegible] "all going again." The people of this country want just one more lick at tan-back royalty.

A New Polar Expedition.

The steamer Polaris, formerly the Periwinkle, has been fitted out for another expedition to the Arctic regions, and will soon start on her perilous journey. She is commanded by Capt. Hall, the well known Arctic explorer, assisted by Captain S. O. Buddington, an old whaler of thirty years' experience, and Mr. Wm. Morton, who accompanied Dr. Kane on his last expedition to the polar regions. The total number of persons in the expedition is twenty-nine, including an Esquimaux interpreter and his wife. The vessel is provisioned for four years. All the expenses are paid by the the United States government. The idea of sending an expedition to such a dangerous locality, when no practical benefit can ensue from its success, is strongly condemned by leading journals of all parties in this country.

Greeley vs. Grant.

The recent declaration of Horace Greeley that he will not decline the Presidential nomination if offered, and that no man should be nominated who is not in favor of the of the old Whig policy of one term for Presidents, is creating considerable excitement in Republican circles. Greeley is popular in many parts of the country, and it is feared that he is stubborn enough to run as an independent candidate if requested to do so. His advocacy of the one-term system is a side-blow at President Grant, who is not disposed to give up the honors and emoluments of his office without a struggle. Greeley, though eccentric, is honest, and is not to be bought with bribes—hence a determined effort to shove him aside will be made by the greedy army of office-holders who muster under the banner of Ulysses the First.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The present condition of the finances of the country will be traced by even the most superficial, as well as close observer, to the policy of the Administration—a policy which has resulted in aggregating the whole wealth and currency of the country in the hands of the National Banks, bondholders, officeholders, railway, manufacturing and other corporations, to the detriment of every legitimate business interest of the country. Every one will discover that the policy is fast reducing the middle and poorer classes to a condition of absolute want. Failures in business among Western merchants exhibit a large per cent. above those of any preceding year.

And yet, money in New York and the great commercial centers, was never more abundant, and the rates of interest are lower than during any preceding year since the Federal Union was established.

But parties engaged in legitimate business in the New York or elsewhere, would find it difficult to obtain money, even at high rates interest, if they were really in want of it. The offerings of the minimum rates of 2 and 3 per cent. per annum are to the rich only, who have themselves money to loan. The protective interests of the country, whose toil are their real sources of public wealth, cannot, in any emergency, obtain accommodations at Bank which, in numerous instances would obviate bankruptcy.

Capital holds labor by the throat. The tax-eaters have the tax-consumers in a vice. No proclamation of emancipation could afford relief to the laboring interests of the land. That interest itself can only break the galling fetters that bind it to the juggernaut car of the banker, bond-holder and monopolist, by awaking to a sense of its danger, and striking the blow that which again make it free. The cry of the administration is, "God help the rich—the poor can take care of themselves."

A Fearful Ku-Klux Outrage in Georgia, and in Church.

The Americus (Georgia) Republican has the following: A drunken negro stumbled into a colored prayer meeting, a few nights since, while the congregation were kneeling, and in hunting about for a seat fell heavily on a brother, who it seems, was oblivious to all earthly things, and who suddenly starting up, yelled "Ku-Klux!" and at one bound went through the window. In an instant the congregation was in the greatest confusion. The women shouted, screamed and prayed; the men yelled and faught, striking anything and any body near them. The lights were all put out during the melee, and the house was emptied as speedily as the affrighted darkies could disentangle themselves and get out, except the drunken wretch, who had been tramped upon and knocked about until he was nearly senseless. As soon as it became quiet he got up and made a dash for the door, and was soon hurrying homeward. On the way he met some gentlemen, to whom he said: "The damn Ku-Kluxers come down church jess now, and, and kilt about twenty-five, and whipped the wimmen, and driv us all out. They skint me all over with great knifes, and my bones ain't got a bit of meat on 'em. Dis poor deflicted chile is a dead nigger," and he went staggering homeward.

Another Remarkable Surgical Feat.

[From the Louisville Ledger.]

A few weeks ago we chronicled the particulars of frightful accident to little Freddy Giles, a bright lad of five or six years of age, at the Galt House. Freddy was playing upon the stairway in the hotel, and fell a distance of seventy feet, alighting upon a stone floor, and was picked up apparently a lifeless, shapeless mass. The lad fell the distance of seventy feet, striking in the fall the projecting corner of a staircase, breaking an inch board across the grain, and then further down breaking an oak baluster one inch in diameter, and finally landing upon the stone floor.

Nine separate and distinct fractures and a wound upon the head similar to the scalp wounds of the Indian's, were produced by this frightful fall The right arm was crushed into countless pieces above and below. Both legs were broken at and near the ankle joints, and innumerable contusions were received all over the body. Notwithstanding these terrible injuries, which were regarded almost without exception as necessarily fatal, the boy, under the skillful care of Dr. J. M. Kellar, assisted by other eminent surgeons, was returned to his friends as perfect as before the accident, and is to-day the pride and joy of a large circle of friends. We place this case on record as one of the most remarkable in the annals of surgery.

Two kinds of revenue stamps are to be substituted for those now in use, and they will be placed in circulation on the 1st of August. One is the sensitive stamps, on which the application of any kind of acid produces a complete change of color and appearance, and the other is a stamp printed in colors, which will defy reproduction by the photographers.

Josh Billings would make a successful agent for one of our life insurance companies. He has ideas on the subject—one of which he presents boldly: "A large life polercee don't egsactly make a korps smile on his widder, but it helps amazingly to get another feller to do it for him."

Office-Holders' Candidate For President, Ulysses S. Grant—Relations of Ulysses S. Whom the Other Officers Want to Renominate along with Him.

[From the N. Y. Sun, Republican.]

I. Jesse Root Grant, President's father, Postmaster at Covington, Ky.

II. Orvil L. Grant, President's brother, partner with the Collector of the Port at Chicago; expects something very good after the next election.

III. Frederick T. Dent, President's father-in-law, Claimant of Land at Carondelet, [illegible] by Wilson, late Commissioner of the Land Office; has not yet got the lands, but hopes to get him after the next election.

IV. Rev. M Cramer, President's brother-in-law, Minister to Denmark; ought to be made Minister to Berlin without waiting for the Presidential election.

V. Abel Rathbone Corbin, President's brother-in-law, negotiator of gold and real estate speculations, with Jas. Fisk, Jr., and Jay Gould; has made much yet, but hopes to after the next election.

VI. Brevet Brig-Gen. F. T. Dent, President's brother-in-law, Chief Usher at the Executive Mansion.

VII. Judge Louis Dent, President's brother-in-law, Counsel for Claimants before the President. Fees estimated at $40,000 a year; expects to make more after the next election.

VIII. George W. Dent, President's brother-in-law, Appraiser of Customs, San Francisco.

IX. John Dent, President's brother-in-law, only Indian Trader for New Mexico under Indian Bureau; place worth $100,000 a year.

X. Alex. Sharpe, President's brother-in-law, Marshall of the District of Columbia.

XI. Jas. F. Casey, President's brother-in-law, Collector of the Port of New Orleans, place worth $50,000 a year.

XII. James Longstreet, President's brother-in-law's cousin, Surveyor o the Port of New Orleans.

XIII. Silas Hudson, President's own cousin, Minister to Guatemala.

XIV. Nat. A. Parton, President's brother-in-law's third cousin, Collector of the Port of Galveston, Texas.

XV. Orlando H. Ross, President's own cousin, Clerk in the Third Auditor's office, Washington; hopes for something much better after the next election.

XVI. Dr. Anderson Dent, President's brother-in-law's third cousin, Clerk in the Register's office, Treasury Department, Washingto; trusts his merits will be better appreciated after the next election.

XVII. John Simpson, President's own cousin, Second Lieutenant Fourth Artillery; promotion hoped for after Mach 4, 1873.

XVIII. George B. Johnson, President's mother's second cousin, Assessor of Internal Revenue, Third District, Ohio; better things looked for.

XIX. B. L. Winans, President's cousin's husband, Postmaster of Newport, Ky.; ready for a higher place

XX. Miss E. A. Magruder, President's brother-in-law's second cousin, Clerk in Gen. Spinner's office, Treasury Department.

XXI. Oliver W. Rook, President's mother's grand nephew, Assistant District Attorney, Covington, Ky. woud not refuse to be District Attorney after the next election.

XXII. A. W. Dasey, President's brother-in-law's own brother, Appraiser of Customs, New Orleans; a good place and wants to keep it

The Alliance Local says on Monday evening last, Mr. Jno. Groner, proprietor of the Missouri House, was killed in a fracas with a man by the name of Daniel Smith. A quarrel had arisen between Smith and the porter of the house, when Mr. Groner interfered and during the affray received a severe blow upon the head, resulting in his death in a few moments. Shortly after the deed, Smith surrendered himself to the authorities. Great sympathy is expressed for the family connection of Smith, who were of the highest respectability, and are plunged into the deepest sorrow by the tragic affair.

Blundering Tally Keepers.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette telegraphs to that paper a queer story about the nomination of Gen. McCook as the democratic candidate for Govenor of Ohio. The Terre Haute Journal says the mistake asserted to have been made is similar to one that occurred in this State several years ago We give the dispatch in full.

There is trustworthy information from Columbus, Ohio, that at the late Democratic Convention General Ewing was nominated instead of McCook. Upon the final ballot, as announced, McCook had 225 and Ewing 191 Two persons of prominence in the party, who kept full and careful tally sheets, agree that Ewing really recieved 248 and McCook only 221. The mistake arose entirely from unintentional mistakes in counting up the delegations. By a blunder of one of the secretaries, the tally sheet from which the announcement was made was used twice, hence the difficulty in ascertaining the exact official count. The State Democratic Committee will meet in a few days to consider the matter.

A plot for the assassination of the Pope has been discovered. It was concocted in London, Florence and Paris, by members of the International Society. The assassination was planned to take place last Sunday.

A negro lad had a severe attack of rheumatism, which finally settled in his foot He bathed it, he rubbed it, and swathed it, but all to no purpose. Finally tearing away the bandage, he stuck it out and with a shake of his fist over it exclaimed: "Ache away, den, old feller, ache away; I shan't do nuffin more for you; dis child can stand it as long as you can."

THE democracy of the First district of Tennessee talk of running Andrew Johnson for their Representative in Congress.

Potato Bugs Killing Sheep.

A correspondent of the Michigan Farmer is of the opinion that sheep are killed by potato bugs. He says that, only a few days since he found seven lambs and an old sheep dead and one old sheep nearly dead, upon a piece of ground where potatoes were planted last year, but which were so completely destroyed by the bugs as not to be worth digging. The sheep, near dead, was taken home and examined, when several potato bugs were found [illegible] in the cud. These were picked out and a mild cathartic administered, when it recovered and is now apparently well. The rest of the flock were immediately driven to another field, since which no deaths have occurred notwithstanding several lambs have been dropped.

No other cause, he thinks, can be assigned, as the sheep were all apparently healthy and in good condition. His theory is that, as the sheep were troubled somewhat with ticks, they would, while biting them, become poisoned by the bugs which swarmed up on them.

It is hot in Washington. So it is in the place next to Washington.

Paper money is first mentioned in the Bible, where the dove brought the green back to Noah.

Wall street, New York, had a financial earthquake on Wednesday. Twenty prominent brokers were involved in the ruin.

The Prussian troops lately engaged in the war with France made their triumphant entry into Berlin last Friday. It was a grand affair.

One can tell that the so called new departure hurts the Republican party by the manner in which some of its members howl.

The jury failed to agree in the McGehan murder case at Lebanon, Ohio. It will be remembered that Vallandigham was one of McGehan's counsel.

Deeply were we affected, on reading the other day of a young lady who, being told that her lover was suddenly killed exclaimed," Oh! that splendid gold watch of his—give me that—give me something to remember him by." Touching simplicity.

THE following is from the will of a mariner of Bristol, England, proved 1765: "My executors to pay, out of the first moneys collected, to my beloved wife, it living, one shilling, which I give as a token of my love, that she may buy hazel-nuts, as I know she is better pleased with cracking them than she is with mending the holes in her stockings."

A voice from Nebraska is heard in Massachusetts, asking the people of that State to pause before nominating General Butler for Governor. As chief executive, the Nebraska Butler has not been a success, and the people of that State are impressed with the conviction that their Massachusetts neighbors are likely to have a similar experience.

NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT.

NOTICE to whom it may concern, is hereby given that Thomas D. Gross, Sepharus C. Swineford and Able L. Hollopeter, Commissioners appointed by the Board of Trustees, of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana, will on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1871 at 9 o'clock a. m., meet at the north-west corner of lot number sixty-four in the original plat of said town and assess the damages and benefits accruing to the owners of lots or parts of lots by the opening of a new alley ten feet in width, between lots twenty-nine, sixty-three and sixty-four, in said plat. Five feet of said alley is to be taken off the east side of said lot twenty-nine and five feet of said alley is to be taken off the west end of said lots, sixty-three and sixty-four, John L. Davis owns forty-four feet, off the north side of said lot sixty-four, Christopher S. Hare owns twenty-two feet off the south side of said lot sixty-four, Edward Eldridge owns twenty-two feet off the north side of said lot sixty-three, James W. Case owns twenty-six feet off the south side of said lot sixty-three, Jacob Smith, Cyrus Hare and Christopher S. Hare are the joint owners of eighteen feet of said lot sixty-three next on the north of the part of said lot owned by said Case, Jacob P. Arnold, E. Troutman and William Fishbox are the joint owners of said lot twenty-nine, all of said real estate being in the original plat of the town of Auburn, DeKalb County Indiana, and effected by said alley.

By order of Board of Trustees, of the town of Auburn.

RICHARD ELSON, Town Clerk.

NOTICE TO TRUSTEES.

Ordered by the Board that the Auditor of this county notify the several Township Trustees that all the poor who are now receiving aid and assistance at the expense of the county, and who are liable to require aid and assistance, for any length of time, must be taken to the County Asylum, as the Commissioners will allow bills for such assistance rendered upon and after the reciept of this notice by the several Trustees, without a special permit or order from some one of the Commissioners, in writing, which writing will state the amount, the Trustees are to appropriate in the direction asked for. And such writing from the Commissioners must accompany the Trustees ordered at the time of its jurisdiction to the Board for an allowing.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.

Auburn, Ind., June 12th 1871.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the undersigned has been appointed by the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of DeKalb County, State of Indiana, Administrator of the Estate of Eliza A. Craig, late of DeKalb County, deceased. Said estate is supposed to be solvent.

[illegible]

ALL PERSONS

Being afflicted with disease of the Eye Ear, Nose, mouth, Throat, Bronchiae, Tubes, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Blood vessels, Bladder, Bowels, Nerves, Old Sores, Blood and Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Piles, Consumption, Gravel, nervous debility arrising from errors of youth, (both sex,) and all private diseases. Also the various complicated female complaint. Should apply in person or by letter, to Dr. B. GARD. Office 130 Calhoun St., near Cathedral, P. O. Box 1685, Fort Wayne Ind Jan. 5

STATE OF INDIANA }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Susan A. Kent.
vs. } Complaint for Divorce.
Stephen E. Kent.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by A. F. Pierbin, her attorney, and files her complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless he be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in his absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 14th day of June, A. D. 1871.

JOSEPH R. LANNING, Clerk.

STATE OF INDIANA, }
DeKalb County. }

In the DeKalb Circuit Court, August term 1871.

Isaac Middleton
vs. }
Alice Middleton.

Now comes the plaintiff, by Wm. H. Dills, his attorney, and files his complaint herein, together with an affidavit that said Defendant is not a resident of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendant that unless she be and appear on the first day of the next term of the DeKalb Circuit Court, to be holden on the first Monday of August A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county, and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in her absence.

Witness my name, and the seal of said Court affixed at Auburn, this 14th day of June, A. D. 1871

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Nebraska, California, Kansas, and The B. & M. R. R. Lands.

The starting Points of this Route are at Chicago and Peoria. The central point is [illegible] on the Mississippi. It traverses Illinois and the whole breadth of Southern Iowa. Near the Missouri its trunk forks into three branches, [illegible] three western termini.

Its northern terminus is Council Bluffs, where crossing to Omaha, it connects with the Union Pacific for all places on the intra continental and Pacific slopes. Over-land travel and trade choose this reliable route more and more.

Its next terminus is Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, fifty-five miles west of the Missouri at Plattsmouth. This is the very direct avenue to the South Platte country, where the sales of railroad land last season, rose to half a million.

Its third terminus is at Hamburg, and Nebraska City. At Hamburg, it makes close connections, twice a day, for St. Joseph, Leavenworth, Kansas City, and the whole South-west.

In journeying, then, from the East to Kansas, via Burlington, you enjoy advantages you can secure on no other line. You [illegible] no other in speed, safety, or any [illegible] Modern travel; and while on your way, survey the garden of Illinois and Missouri, as well as [illegible] acres of prairie in South-western Iowa now in market at low prices and long credit.

Keep it then before the people bound westward to "take the Burlington Route."

DANIEL VOLLMER,

PHARMACEUTIST & CHEMIST

Corner Calhoun & Berry Sts.,

FORT WAYNE IND'A.

VOLLMER'S Elixir of

PYROPHOSPHATE OF IRON AND PERUVIAN BARK.

In this preparation are combined the valuable properties and virtues of Peruvian Bark, with Phosphorous and Iron, in the shape of Pyrophosphate of Iron This Elixir will be found of great advantage in Dyspepsia, Indigestion, weak and delicate Stomachs, and generally in weak and delicate states of the system.

The ingredients in this Elixir are skillfully blended into a delightful Cordial, making it the most agreeable and palatable combination to the taste, in use.

Mar. 30, '70.

PARLOR ALBUM

IN FIVE QUARTO VOLUMES.

PRICE $9,00 per Volume or $40.00 The Set Complete.

DESCRIPTION OF THE WORK

THE PARLOR ALBUM is doubtless the most extensive ART GALLERY ever published, and by those who have examined the several portions of the work, it has been pronounced "The Climax of Beauty." Each volume contains 20 full page Chromo Lithographs, in Oil Colors. 40 full page Steel Engravings, 40 full page engravings on wood, and 200 pages of reading matter, descriptive of the illustrations, the whole making each volume about one-half as thick, and same sized pages, of Webster's largest Dictionary. Each volume is complete in itself and will be sold separately, if desired. Sold by subscription only

Vol. I. Is devoted to wild American Birds.
Vol. II. Contains Wild American Animals.
Vol. III American Domesticated Birds and Animals
Vol. IV. Foreign Birds and Animals.
Vol V. Fishes, Reptiles and Insects.

This work will at once commend itself to the cultivated American people, and no library will hereafter be complete without this addition to its treasures while as a parlor amusement it is unequalled by American publications.

AGENTS WANTED.

We will give agents very liberal terms for selling the above described publications, and wish to appoint an agent in every town in the United States and British Provinces. Experienced book agents and all other persons of respectability should apply at once Any Young Man, or Young Lady, can, by devoting a short time during the day or evening, secure a complete set, free of expense, or, if preferred, we will allow large Commission in Cash.

We have prepared a most beautiful Specimen Book for Agents, containing 1 of the Oil Chromos, 20 steel engravings and 50 pages of descriptive reading, being selections from each volume, together with blank paper, specimens of binding, &c.

Our specimen Book has cost us quite largely, and we do not wish to send it to persons who do not intend to act as agents, but to any one who will make an effort to procure subscribers to the Work, we will send the Specimen Book, prepaid, on receipt of 40 cents to cover postage. Enclose stamp for reply and address.

American Publishing Co.
RUTLAND VT.

Reduction of Prices

TO CONFORM TO

Reduction of Duties

GREAT SAVING TO CONSUMERS

By Getting up Clubs.

☞Send for our New List and a Club form will accompany it, containing full directions—making a large saving to consumers and remunerative to club organizers.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEA CO.
31 & 33 VESEY STREET,
P.O. Box 5643. NEW YORK.

8 O'CLOCK.

JURUBEBA!

WHAT IS IT?

It is a sure and perfect remedy for all diseases of the Liver and Spleen, Enlargement or obstruction of Intestines, Urinary, Uterine, or Adominable Organs, Poverty or a Want of Blood, Intermittent or Remittent Fevers Inflamation of the Liver, Dropsy, Sluggish Circulation of the Blood, Abcesses, Tumors, Jaundice, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Ague and Fever or their Concomitants.

Dr. Wells having become aware of the extraordinary medicine properties of the South American plant, called

JERUBEBA.

sent a special commission to that country to procure it in its native purity, and having found its wonderful curative properties to even exceed the anticipations formed by its great reputation, has concluded to offer it to the public, and is happy to state that he has perfected arrangements for a regular monthly supply of this wonderful plant. He has spent much time experimenting and investigating as to the most efficient preparation from it, for popular use, and has for some time used in his own practice with most happy results the effectual medicine now presented to the public as

Dr. wells' Extract of Jerubeba

and he confidently recommends it to every family as a household remedy which should be freely taken as t Blood Purifier in all derangements of the system and to animate and fortify all weak and Lymphatic emperaments. JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St., N. Y Sole Agent for the United States. Price One Dollar per bottle. Send for Circular.

AGENTS WANTED for

KNOTS UNTIED

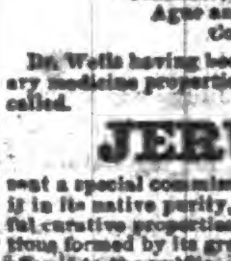
[illegible]

AMERICAN DETECTIVES.

60,000 SOLD IN 30 DAYS.

Extra terms and premiums offered to agents, with a choice of Territory. Send for circulars.

J. B. BURR & HYDE, Hartford, Conn.



Thea - Nectar

IS A PURE

BLACK TEA

with the Green Tea Flavor Warranted to suit all tastes For sale everywhere. And for sale wholesale only by the Great Atlantic and Pacific tea [illegible] New York. P. O. Box 5506.

Send for Thea-Nectar Circular.

WANTED AGENTS ($20 per day) to sell the celebrated Home Shuttle Sewing Machine. Has the under feed, makes the 'lock stitch' (alike on both sides) and is fully licensed. The best and cheapest family Sewing Machine in the Market. Address JOHNSON CLARK & Co., Boston, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., or St. Louis, Mo.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, Cincinnati Ohio.

The Magic Comb will change any colored hair or beard to a permanent black or brown. It contains no poison. One comb sent by mail for $1. Dealers supplied at reduced rates. Address Wm. PATTS Treas. Springfield Mass.

$375 A MONTH—Expenses paid—Male or Female Agents—Horse and outfit furnished. Address, SACO NOVELTY Co., Saco, Me.

TEACHERS OR STUDENTS

Wanting Employment, at from $50 to $100 per month, should address ZIEGLER & McCURDY, 139 Race Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Agents Wanted for "Convent Life Unveiled," by Edith O'Gorman, Escaped Nun, whose disclosures are thrilling and startling.

E. P. NICHOLS, Chicago, Ill.

$10 FROM 50 Cts.

12 samples sent, postage paid, for 50cts that retail readily for $10. R. L. WOLCOTT, 181 Chatham Sq., N. Y.

HISTORY OF THE WAR IN EUROPE

FRUIT HOUSE PRICE CURRENT

IMMENSE RECEIPTS OF ALL GOODS AT REDUCED PRICES.

Best Teas Reduced to $1,25 per lb.

This is the lowest it has been in ten years. We are able to do this from the fact that we purchase direct from the importers, and sell direct to the consumer, thereby saving the profits of the speculators, jobbers and wholesale merchants which are 10 to 30 cents per pound.

Young Hyson, per lb. ... 40c 80c $1.00, best $1 25
Imperial and Gunpowder, per lb. ... 1.00, best 1.5
Japan and Oolong, per lb. ... 80c best 1.

COFFEE.

Rio and Laguayra, per lb. ... 18c, and 18c, best 20.
Roasted Coffee, 25c. Old Government, 25c.

SUGARS.

Coffee 'A' white per lb. ... 12½c
Brown, per pound ... 8c, 9c and 10.

MEAT.
Smoked Sides	11 cents
Smoked Shoulders	9 "
Pickled Pork	10 "
Lard	12½ "
TOBACCOS.
Navy, 10 · and per ¼ lb.	50 "
Flounders, per lb	50 "
Best Smoking, per lb	70 "
Second quality do., per lb.	25 "
Shorts, 35c, or 3 lbs for	$1.00 "
Fine-cut, per lb, 60; best 95	95
MISCELLANEOUS.
Coffee Essence, 7 boxes	25 "
Soap 3c. 5c and 8c per bar.
Blueing 2 boxes	5 "
Saleratus, 3 papers	25 "

DRIED FRUITS.
Turkish Prunes, per lb	12½ cents
Apples, per lb ... 7c	12½ "
Peaches, per lb	12½ "
Cherries, per lb ... 7c. and	12 "
Oranges, per dozen	50 "
Lemons per dozen	25 "
Filberts per quart	15 "
Brazils, per quart	35 "
Cigars $2 and $3 per box
Dime box Matches	5 "
LIQUORS.
New whisky, Rye or Bourbon, per gal	90c
Whisky one year old	$1.40
Whisky two year old	1.75
Sherry and port wine, imported and pure, for medical use, per gallon	1,75
All kind of liquors on hand.

FISH
Spring catch, white fish	$7.50
Last fall, white fish	5.00
Mackerel, kitts ... 1.50 and	1.75
Old fish, half barrel	1.00
Codfish 4 cents per pound

CANNED FRUITS
Peaches per can	20c
Pineapples, per can	25c
Oysters, per can	10c
Damsons, per can	25
Blackberries, per can	20
Egg plums, per can	30
Green Gages, per can	40c

We are agents for the celebrated HOME BITTERS, the best tonic ever got ton up. It is placed at the low price of 75c per bottle—usual price $1.00.—This brings it within the reach of all. We give any one the privilege of sampling the goods—no charge. So please call and take a drink.

ALL GOODS WARRANTED SATISFACTORY, OR MONEY REFUNDED,

At the FRUIT HOUSE.

18 West Berry Street.

UPDEGRAFF'S OLD STAND!

OPPOSITE MAYER HOUSE,

Newly Furnished, Enlarged, and Finely Lighted.

Mrs. R. Newberge

IS PREPARED TO RECEIVE HER FRIENDS AND THE PUBLIC IN GENERAL, AT HER

Grand Millinery & Fancy goods Emporium

Extensive Arrival of the Latest Styles

HEAVY INVOICES RECEIVED DAILY BY EXPRESS

We desire to speak only the truth in our advertisements. Our Specialty—Our own personal experience in the largest cities for the past 16 years in this business. We buy our Goods selected by ourselves. We sell the finest, latest and tastiest novelties at

THE MOST REASONABLE PRICES!

The Public is invited to call and Examine our Magnificent Stock.

LOOK HERE!

For Great Bargains in Dry Goods and Millinery Goods, call at

J. & P. Pierr's.

WE OFFER FOR SALE

A splendid line of prints at 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
A big lot of merino and empress cloth in all colors, 50 cents.
Muslin, 5, 6, 8 and 10 cents.
The best kind bleached muslin, 12 cents.
Chene poplin 20. cents
Double fold alpaca, 20, 25 and upward
Best quality spool thread, only 5 cents.
Nice trimmed hats, only 50 cents, other stores $1.
Trimmed bonnets, $3.
Farmer's tweed 25 30, 35 and 40 cents.
Good corsets for 25, 50 and 75 cents.
Gloves, mitts, hankerchiefs, laces laces in great varitey, carpet chain and cotton yarn
Flowers, laces, ribbons, extremely low.

April 20, '71.

It has the delicate and refreshing fragrance of genuine Farina Cologne Water, and is indispensable to the

COLGATE'S EAU-DE-COLOGNE TOILET SOAP.

Toilet of every Lady or Gentleman. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in PERFUMERY.

$288 IN 16 DAYS

Made by one Agent. Do you want a situation as salesman at or near home to make $5 to $20 per day selling our new 7 strand White Wire Lines to last forever, Sample free. Address Hudson River Wire Works, 18 Maiden Lane, cor. Water St., N. Y. or 16 Dearborn St., Chicago.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS.

These Tablets present the Acid in Combination with other efficient remedies, in a popular form, for the cure of all THROAT and LUNGS Disease. HOARSENESS and ULCERATION of the THROAT are immediately relieved, and statements are constantly being sent to the proprietor of relief in cases of Throat difficulties of years standing.

CAUTION. Don't let worthless parties be palmed off on you, be sure you get only Well' Carbolic Tablets JOHN Q. KELLOGG, Platt St. N. Y. Sole Agent. Sold by Druggists. Price 25 cents a box.

T. B. TOTTEN,

DEALER IN

Groceries, Provisions,

Lamps, Mirrors, Crockery,

STONE WARE GLASS WARE

Highest Price given for Produce.

Motto Sixteen Ounces to the Pound

Every thing in the Grocery line kept on hand. Prices low and goods of best quality.

T. B. TOTTEN

Feb. 20 1y.

Root & Company

IN FULL BLAST!

Fresh Attractive Spring Goods Received Daily at

Root & Company's

Popular Dry Goods House

KNOWN AS THE

New York Store!

90 COLUMBIA st.,

Fort Wayne Indiana

FACT

Parties at home or from out of town will not do themselves justice, when making their Spring purchases of Dry Goods, if they do not pay a visit to

Root & Company's

POPULAR DRY GOODS HOUSE

90 Columbia st.

We are now showing a very large and attractive assortment of

Spring Dress Goods, Rich Black Silk
New Spring Silks, Japanese Silks, French and Colored Alpacas, White Piques and Percales.

NEW GOODS FOR SUITS

Also all the new and handsome styles of

PARASOLS.

Silk Sun Umbrellas, Scotch Gingham Umbrellas, Chidrens Parasols

Also a magnificent line of

Housekeeping Goods, Cloths and Cassimeres, White Goods and Linens New Embroiders, Paisley Shawls, Spring and Summer Shawls, Silk Garments, etc., etc.

N. B.—Get posted on the lowest prices on all kinds of Bleached and Brown Muslins, Sheetings, Pillow Casings, Tickings, Toilet Quilts, Table Linens, Napkins, Bed Spreads, Curtain Goods, Carpet Chain, Cotton Yarns, Hosiery, Gloves, Notions, etc., and you will find our prices lower than competitiors.

SPECIAL.

We send samples by mail to any address, also deliver packages at any of the Railroad Depots free of charge.

Root and Company

NO. 90, COLUMBIA St.,

FORT WAYNE, IND

Feb. 23 1y

HEADQUARTERS!

FOR

WALTHAM, ELGIN and SWISS

AND OTHER KINDS OF WATCHES,

—AT—

J. ABRIGHT'S,

Opposite the Court House.

I have also just received new patterns in

Solid Gold, Enameled and Plated

JEWELRY

New styles in OPERA, GUARD and VEST CHAINS.

Also a Large Stock of

SILVER WARE

DOLLS,
CLOCKS,
POCKET BOOKS,
TABLE CUTLERY,

Musical Instruments

Watches & Clocks,

Repaired on short notice and WARRANTED.

J. ABRIGHT.

Opposite Court House, Auburn Ind.

FORT WAYNE

HAT FACTORY!

JAMES HARPER & Co.,

MANUFACTURERS OF

SILK AND CASSIMERE HATS,

AND DEALERS IN

Hats, Caps, Furs and Straw Goods,

No. 3 Phoenix Block, Calhoun St.,

Fort Wayne - Ind.

MR. C. KLOTS

Would respectfully announce to the citizens of Auburn and vicinity that he is still doing business at his

Old Stand

ON MAIN STREET,

Opposite Court Square

AUBURN, INDIANA

Where he may be found at all times ready to accommodate customers, and sell them such goods as they may need

FOR CASH

OR

GOOD TRADE!

He has concluded not to do any more

Credit Business!

But sells for READY PAY, and small profits.

Would also request all those knowing themselves to be indebted to him, either by note or account to come and settle, as he is determined to collect all standing debts.

Thankful for past patronage he hopes still to receive a share of the same by strict attention to business.

CHARLEY KLOTZ.

Feb. 23 1y.

Teachers, Attention!

Examination regularly on the 1st Saturday of each month, at Auburn, in the Seminary Building. Exception from any one or more of the eight branches limits a license to six months and the particular district requiring such exception. Satisfactory evidence of good moral character required. Teachers must not commence teaching without a license. Applicants are expected to show an improved grade on a second examination, when previous grade is low, or be subject to rejection.

Respectfully J. A. BARNS

The Auburn Courier

OFFICIAL PAPER of the COUNTY

Local and Miscellaneous.

THE Fourth of July is coming.

The [illegible] are talking about [illegible].

New family grocery store just opened in Ward's building.

For bargains in Groceries, go to Smith & Hare's.

Don't forget the bower dance on the fourth of July. Remember no drunkenness allowed about the house.

PERSONAL.—G. W. McFarland, Esq., our fellow-townsman returned last week from a visit in the far west.

Young ladies bathe in the feeder.—Ft. Wayne Journal.

If this is a fact, no one would know it much sooner than Tom Taylor.

PERSONAL.—Major Thiel, chief engineer of the Eel River Railroad, we noticed in town yesterday. He reports the tracklaying, grading &c., progressing finely.

WHISKY is the latest specific for the Colorados. A quart of it will get a dozen so drunk that they fall off the vines and break their necks.

Look out for sun stroke. A wet sponge or handkerchief, of simple green leaves worn in the hat, are said to be preventatives of sunstroke.

DRUMMERS from New York and Philadelphia business houses have commenced making their usual summer rounds, in large numbers.

BIRTH.—Yesterday to the wife of our quondam friend, Henry Long, of the Kendalville Standard of a son. Tally one for the printers.

THE human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire "Why wasn't it done the other why?"

FIRE.—Last Sunday morning a large new barn, of J. R. Moody, Esq., of Butler township was burned. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Loss about $1,000.

LIGHTNING.—Last Friday evening during the storm a fine cow valued at seventy five dollars, the property of Wesley Work of Butler Townspip, was killed by lightning.

Who can eat six dry crackers in a minute? This question was the cause of a man losing a dollar the other day. He 'stuck' on the last cracker by seven seconds.

A WORD &C.—Alexander of the Fort Wayne Gazette, had better stay away from Waterloo. They have a rope, that formerly swung from the railroad sign, hid away some where.

LAGRANGE COUNTY.—Last week a young man shot and killed a young lady—reason, she would not marry him. Let young ladies beware how they trifle with men's feelings.

WOOL.—By the Fort Wayne papers, claims are laid to a large wool trade in their city, by Messrs Bash & Co. That is all right; but from the bulk shipped them from our town, we would think the most of it was obtained, her and yet there is more to spare.

A COUNTRY exchange tells a good one of a young, snapy produce buyer, who, seeing a team turn a corner rushed out to get its eggs and things, when to his astonishment it turned out to be a funeral procession. Only a slight mistake—that's all.

OVER.—The glory of the strawberry season has departed. Raspberries will next take their turn, to be followed by black berries and peaches. The cherries are here, and all kinds, excepting the 'red sour,' in abundance. As a whole, we are likely to have a fair abundance of healthful small fruits.

LEFT.—The Fort Wayne Gazette of Tuesday says that our chief was left standing at the depot, in that city, by the Denver train—that he ran to catch it, but the engine beat him.

We are glad to hear it, for the manner in which he has been recently traveling, we thought he could out run anything. Hope he will stay at home now, if he isn't still "standing" at the depot.

A WRITER, who talks like an experienced man, says, an editor may write articles for years right along, which meet with your decided approbation, but you will give him no special praise for it. If he happens to write a few lines which you do not approve, you will get into a terrible rage, and declare you will never forgive him for it.

A DASTARDLY attempt was made by some wretches to wreck the express train of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R. near Columbia City last week. The switch was turned to throw the train into a freight, on the side track. Fortunately a freight train came ahead of the express, and was completely wrecked only two persons being injured. The object was the robbing of the express.

An old lady took a drink of lye from a jug which she thought contained cider; and being uncertain whether her taste was perverted or she had the wrong jug, gave her husband a swig of the same to get his opinion; their throats soon began to burn, and they took a good dose of oil to allay the unpleasant sensation; the oil and lye combined, and the couple soon relieved themselves of a quantity of very nice soft-soap. Any who do not believe this story may try it.

TIME OF CUTTING WHEAT.—The best time for cutting wheat is when the grain has acquired the consistency of stiff dough and can be kneaded between the thumb and forefinger. Grain so cut is plump and heavy. Left until it is entirely ripe it shrinks, and there is more loss from shattering of the seed and from broken heads. Moreover, it has been proven by repeated experiments that wheat cut before it is fully ripe will yield 50 per cent. more flour than the same grain will produce when dead ripe.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Since our report which we made some weeks ago, we have noticed the following additional buildings erected and contemplated, by our worthy citizens:

F. D. Ryan, two story brick residence, I. N. Thomas, two story frame, Mrs. Williams, two story frame, M. Huston, two story frame, H. C. Peterson, two story frame, Mrs. Judge Mott, two story frame, Mrs. Judge Mott one and a half story frame, T. B. Totten, two story brick, J. B. Lohmiller, two story frame, addition, A. J. Little, two story frame, Rev. B. B. Ward, one and a half story frame, G. R. Hoffman one and a half story frame, L. Hobenich, two story addition, Sherer, two story frame, Jno. Gross, two story frame, J. L. Davis, one and a half story, addition, Guy Plum, one and a half story, and others whom we may have omitted. As to barns, sidewalks and other improvements, their number is too numerous to mention. And still the demand for houses, instead of being supplied is greater than at any previous time.

Here we will remark that the example of Rev. Mr. Ward and Mrs. Judge Mott, in erecting residences for tenants, is the most commendable, and will have most profitable. Fifty or more such beautiful cottages as theirs, could be rented or engaged before the work on them would be completed.

A genuine article of strained honey, at SMITH & HARE'S, 18c per pound.

HARRY WARD, formerly of this place, but now a Boot and Shoeist of Kendalville, is in town visiting his parents.

TREASURER Ryan returned yesterday from Indianapolis, having made a settlement with the State Treasurer, under the new fee and salary law.

THE editor left for the west, last Monday, and has not been heard of since. We incline to the opinion that he has gone to Nebraska to help eat a buffalo, with a lot of other scalawags.

FINE black suits can be bought at the Red Front Clothing House from $12 to $14 all finer goods in proportion. Remember the place go see and be convinced before you buy.

BALTIMORE AND OHIO R. R.—The Chicago Times says that a corps of engineers are locating the extension on the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road from Pittsburgh to Chicago, on a line twenty miles north of Fort Wayne.

CELEBRATION AT NEW ERA.—A grand celebration, in honour of the Fourth, will be given at New Era, or Butler Center, and arrangements are being made for a large attendance. Music, orations, and amusements are anounced as the order of the day. A good time for everybody.

WE took a short ride on the engine "Waterloo," so excellently managed by our friend Judson, and it was nice to see how smoothly and easily she done her work. The "Auburn," which was somewhat crippled by a collision, in Jackson the other week, is again on the line, and a good one she is too, well worthy of the name she bears.

NEW GOODS.—Our popular Merchant, S. Lauferty, has just received a large stock of goods from the east, which are now displayed in great profusion to the satisfaction of all. Mr. S. knowing the demand of the times, has made an excellent selection, and now offers dry goods at popular prices. Go and see the handsome display.

EEL RIVER R. R.—Track laying has commenced on this road, at Columbia City, will be pushed through as fast as the grading is completed. Between this place and Columbia City about five hundred men are at work; and with the increase of men, expected, the track will be ready for the iron by the middle of August.

THE FOURTH.

BOWER DANCE.—This affair seemed to be more enjoyed, by the young folks, than was the circus. It was well managed, and passed off to the satisfaction of all. Another one will be given at the same place on the Fourth, the only attraction presented for that day in Auburn. Everybody is invited.

INJURED.—While Sheriff Plum was driving a colt in his bugy, last Monday, he met a scalawag with a herd (he says) of bulls, one of which had a board fastened on his head, which caused the colt to become unmanagable, whereby the Sheriff was thrown from his buggy against a fence and severely injured. Such ornaments should be a finable offense.

BROKEN.—Among the many injuries, bumps, thumps, brusies etc., that occured at the ball play, last Monday, Col. W. W. Griswold's broken finger, on the fourth inning was the greatest, yet he heroically stood his ground and came out first best in the play. This is the second time the Butler boys have broken that same finger.

APOLOGY.—Our devil thinks the editor of the Fort Wayne Gazette ought to make another apology for the low and vicious manner in which he attacked the character of a dead Statesman, and thereby stamped the name of traitor on more than one half the voters in the United States.—For shame to thus insult the dead! The time to call democrats traitors, has passed and those who in their frenzy do so, may be taught better.

NEW FIRM.—We have before us the card of Beeler & Co., a new establishment for the manufacture of pure cider and wine vinegar, at Fort Wayne. Our popular friends, M. L. Bulger and S. J Beeler, Esqs. are members of this firm, the simple announcement of which is sufficient to insure the entire success of the enterprise. Responsible, energetic and accommodating [illegible] they are sure to reap a harvest due their labors and we wish them an abundant one.

REMOVAL.—Messrs. Smith & Hare the popular grocery men have removed to their new brick building two doors north of the Weaver House. Should any one desire to see the best arranged building for the purpose, let them call and view this. The workmanship is also No. 1. The foundation work was done by Reisch, brick work by Geo. Picker, plastering by Stafford, carpentering by Baldock & Altenburg, and the painting and graining by [illegible]

HAVING a buyer in New York all the time buying goods for cash only, the Red Front Clothing House can substantiate all it advertises and sell goods lower than other Houses can buy them for.

NOVELTY EXTRA.—The circus and menagerie was a very common affair, and did not leave a lasting impression as to its magnificence. Its getting to be so now that one circus is the duplicate of all others travelling, and not a bad dupe at that. The attendance in the day time was quite large but the rain in the evening sent a great many home, and the audience was quite slim.

The general auction and side show outfits were well represented, but were not very liberally patronized.

AT ANGOLA.—There being no general celebration in this county, many of our citizens will doubtless take advantage of the attractions out side. Angola presents a programme for the day in the way of an old fashioned celebration, which will no doubt prove interesting, and as reduced fare will be given on the railroad they will certainly be favored with a large crowd.

CEDAR LAKE.—This pleasant village also announces a grand time on that day, and with the various amusements now in vogue promises to entertain all in a good old way.

THE WOOL MARKET.

There has been a greater activity in the wool market, the present season, than for many years before. We say if has been because the great rush has subsided and the market in Ohio settled into a moderately active condition and with an uncommon firmness at good round figures. The present clip has nearly all been sold at prices ranging from 45 to 50 cents, and the remaining are reaching 53c fo straight lots.

HOW TO STOP USING TOBACCO.—In a recently published pamphlet, Rev. Mr. Trask gives the following advice to tobacco chewers:

1. Make the best of your will. Drop tobacco; and resolve never to use it again in any form.
2. Go to an apothecary and buy ten cents worth of gentian root, coarsely ground.
3. Take as much of it after each meal or oftener, as amounts to a common quid of 'fine cut,' or 'cavendish.'
4. Continue this a few weeks and you will come off conquerer; then thank God and thank us.

BASE BALL.

The Wahalotas Defeated the Quicksteps.

The game was played on the Wahalota grounds, was witnessed by about three hundred spectators. The day was beautiful and everything indicated a fine game. The Quicksteps winning the toss, sent the Wahalotas to the bat. The score was as follows:

WAHALOTAS.	O	R	QUICKSTEPS.	O	R
Bacon, c.	3	8	Sloats, c.	3	7
W. Little, s. s.	4	8	Carr, p.	3	6
G. L. Ralston, 1b	1	9	Haines s. s.	2	6
Peterson, p.	4	8	Hornberger 1b	3	5
J. Ralston 2d. b.	3	8	Otis 2b.	4	5
Griswold 3d. b.	1	10	Greenamyre 3b	5	4
Hall, c. f.	3	9	J. Brown l. f.	2	7
Long, l. f.	3	7	Jer. Brown c. f.	2	6
M. Little, r. f.	5	6	Maxwell r. f.	3	4
	27	73		27	50

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Wahalotas	4	0	10	12	0	25	4	0	13	73
Quicksteps	5	17	8	0	7	1	4	4	4	50

Umpire, J. W. McKAY, of Auburn.
Scorers, Thos. A. Bowers, of Butler, Wm. H. Dills of Auburn.
Time of game 3 hours and 40 minutes.

ALL the clothing men are crying clothing is going up since the advance in war, but the popular Red Front Clothing House are selling goods cheaper than ever. We purchased our winter goods in May when they were very low, and will give our customers the advantage. Come and see us, at No. 5 Keystone Block Fort Wayne Ind.

FAMILY RECORD.—This is a magnificent Engraving, 20 by 24 inches, the original of which was drawn with a pen by Prof. R. H. Trumbull.

As a work of art, it is seldom that we meet with anything more meritorious of its class, than the beautifully-wrought Family Record, executed entirely with a pen, by Mr. R. H. Trumbull, of Chicago. Recently Mr. Trumbull has, at great expense, succeeded in having it transferred to stone, which will enable him to furnish fac simile copies to all such as may desire them. For sale by S. L. Yandes, at the Post Office, price $2 per copy.

Which do You Prefer?

'If you prefer the keg of lager or the bottle of wine to me,' said Mary, 'just take them to the magistrate and get married to them.'

'What do you mean?' said John.

'Just what I say. I don't want a young man to come here evenings chewing cloves to cover his breath, and hide his habits of drinking. If you like lager more than you love me, just marry it at once, and don't divide your affections between a woman and wine—or a woman and lager; love and liquor have no affinity.'

'Why, Mary, how you talk!' exclaimed John.

'Yes, I mean what I say; unless you sign the pledge and keep it, you had better not call here again.'

John did sign the pledge, and he kept it and he married Mary.—Ex.

SMITH & HARE are getting on an immense stock of Crockery & Glassware.

AN exchange remarks that Dead Heads is a term often applied to editors and reporters meaning that they are admitted to the exhibition, or whatever it may be, for their good looks, or because they belong to the profession, and many of the unthinking believe them a favored class of persons and have the right to go where they may like, without coming under the requirements of other persons; Suppose an entertainment be given and the editor is dead headed to the amount of four tickets, which sell at twenty-five cents apiece, [illegible] dollar. The entertainment must be puffed, and a person must be hired to write it, compositors to set it, and a proof reader to read the proof, and for the [illegible] pays out of his own pocket for those four tickets over four dollars.—That is a fact, to say nothing of the space it occupies in the paper, which were he paid advertising rates for, would make as much more. Hence, where any one else can get in for twenty-five cents, he must pay about two dollars, and wear the beautiful title of 'dead-head' to boot. It is a fine thing, isn't it?

Miscellaneous Items.

Fortune tellers—Bank clerks.

Irma de Murska, [illegible] Patti, threatened a visit to America.

Philadelphia has twenty two miles of whisky shops.

Half a million sewing machines were manufactured in the United States last year.

Mr. Snowball Frost is appropriately engaged in the dissemination of ice cream, in Nashville. His complexion, by a remarkable coincidence, hasn't any sort of relation to his name.

Believing in the doctrine that 'like cures like,' a Kentuckian 'rescued' out of the hogs that had died of cholera, and fed the meat to others suffering with the disease. They all recovered, so the story goes.

Some one wrote to Mr. Greeley inquiring if guano was good to put on potatoes. He said it might do for those whose tastes had become vitiated with tobacco and rum but he prefered gravy and butter.

A Bostonian papa wants his doctor to take ten per cent. off the bill for attending his little boy, because, he ingeniously urges, the young one gave the measles to all the neighbors' children, and so increased the physician's business.

San Francisco enters a dog with one body and two heads, each of which acts independently of the other, and barks on its own responsibility! The tail shows no partiality, but wags whenever either head barks.

Which was right? Here are two accounts of the destruction of the Column Vendome. One says it was broken into three pieces—the other that it was shattered into ten thousand fragments. There's a little discrepancy of 9,997, that's all.

Sam Dickenson, an eminent South Carolinian of very dark complexion, avers that Massa Greeley told him the South would never have peace until the 'low whites who had gone down since the war, were expelled.' That looks like disloyalty.

About three thousand public schools have been established under the present common school system in Mississippi during the past six months, with upward of eighty thousand pupils under the tution of nearly four thousand teachers.

A physician of twenty-five years' experience, in Louisville, expresses his utter disbelief in the existence of what is known as hydrophobia. He asks any reliable physician, who has ever seen an instance of it, to make a written statement of the facts.

A Michigan deaf-mute boy, who is at school, has recently written a letter to a friend at home, in which, referring to recreation rather than labors, he quaintly says: 'I am working with plant the corn nor potatoes. I can somewhat to plough. Mr. How teaches me to learn plough. The pulpills will vacation next June of 16.'

Brigham Young wears his hair in ringlets—the old sinner; and he got royally drunk on his last birthday, so it is said. Imagine the jolly old codger singing 'Champagne Charley—hic—is my name,' to his seventy wives and three hundred children, and boisterously assuring them that he 'won't go home til morning.'

At one of the 'labor conventions' held in Washington during the strike, Mr. Green made a speech exhorting his hearers to 'work in the interests of harmony and peace.' Whereupon an able bodied striker sprang to his feet with the exclamation, 'Yes, sah! dat's what we want hominy and peas! but d—n if we can git it wid a dollar an' a half a day.'

A citizen of a Western State was boasting that in his town there wasn't either a doctor, a lawyer, or a town clergyman, and only one rum seller. 'How many inhabitants are there altogether?' asked a bystander. 'Well,' was the reply, 'ther's only my family and brother Jake's and Jake is the rum-seller.'

Mark twain will lecture next season on a new branch of the suffrage question.—He thinks that if the women are in need of the ballot for their own protection, there is much more reason for giving like means of self-defense to the 'poor little male juvenile.' Wherefor he is preparing an 'Appeal in behalf of extending the suffrage to boys.' It ought to be the most popular thing of the season, in the lecture line.

Wendell Phillips doesn't like Greely; but there is nothing strange about that, for Wendall never had faith in or respect for but one man, and that one's name is Wendell Phillips. But here is his first shot at the 'Tribune' philosopher: 'If the Republicans are to take a new departure from Grant—the real meaning and intent of the Greely movement—we trust it will be to some one higher up, not downward to the lower level of Mr. Greeley's platform.'

CALL for Arbuckle's Roasted Coffee, at SMITH & HARE'S.

Interesting Facts.

Glass windows were used for light in 1180.

Chimney first put up to houses in 1236.

Tallow candles for lights, 1290.

Spectacles invented by an Italian in 1240.

Bread made with yeast in 1650.

Cotton planted in the United States in 1759.

Fire ingines invented in 1665.

Sterotyping invented in Scotland in 1785.

Telegraph invented by Morse in 1832.

The first daguerrotype made in France in 1839.

Spark extinguisher and smoke discharge for Railway trains in Ohio in 1860.

Paper made from linen, 1302.

Woolen cloth made in England, 1341.

Art of printing from movable type 1440.

Watches first made in Germany, 1447

Telescopes invented by Porta and Janson 1590.

Tea first brought from China to Europe in 1501.

Circulation of blood discovered by Hervey in 1610.

Newspaper first established in 1629.

Pendulum clocks first invented in 1630.

Barometer invented by Torricelli in 1635.

Steam engine invented in 1649.

WHEN you want tobacco, go to SMITH & HARE'S.

[illegible] the Wahalotas, Quicksteps and Eurekas?

Over [illegible] changed [illegible] on the result of the ball game last Monday.

THE Wahalotas and Quicksteps play their second game, Friday July 7th, at Butler.

BASE BALL.—The Eurekas of Huntertown played the Wahalotas of this place, last Friday, on the grounds of the Wahalotas. Score Wahalotas 55, Eurekas 32.

HALF FARE.—The Ft. W. J. & S. Railroad, will carry persons at half fare, next Tuesday, 4th of July. See posters.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.—Send to the American Publishing Company, Rutland Vt., for their beautiful Specimen book, and make ten dollars the first time you show the book. Read their advertisement in another column, concerning the Parlor Album, and you will get full particulars. The Parlor Album contains more beautiful embellishments than any other work extant. The Specimen Book is sent free on receipt of postage.

NOTICE.

STATE OF INDIANA,
DeKalb County,

In the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, September term, 1871.

John A. Garver, vs William Henry, Jane Henry and Vinal Arnott, Administrator of the Estate of Charles Nelson deceased. } Complaint No. 50.

Now comes the Plaintiff, by J. E. Rose, his attorney, and files his complaint herein together with an affidavit that said defendants, William Henry and Jane Henry are not residents of the State of Indiana.

Notice is therefore hereby given said Defendants that unless they be and appear on the first day of the next Term of the DeKalb Common Pleas Court, to be holden on the third Monday of September, A. D. 1871, at the Court House in Auburn, in said county and State, and answer or demur to said complaint, the same will be heard and determined in their absence.

Witness my name, and the Seal of said Court, affixed at Auburn, this 21st day of June, A. D. 1871.

J. R. LANNING, Clerk.

Dr. B. GARD,
Eclectic Physician
No. 230 Calhoun St., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Positively cures disease after others have failed and the patient despaired of recovery; Medicines pleasant and harmless. Consultation either by letter or in person, free. Medicines sent to any part of the world, by mail or express.

AUBURN MARKET.

FLOUR—
Red Wheat, per barrel	$7
GRAIN—
Wheat, White, per bushel	135 @ 140
" Red	137
Oats	50
Rye	40
Corn	45
BUTTER—
Fresh Roll, Yellow, per lb	12@14
Inferior, White	[illegible]
SEEDS—
Clover	4.50
Timothy	3.75
Flax	1.75
WOOL—
Tub washed	[illegible]
Fleece washed	[illegible]
Unwashed	[illegible]
HIDES—
Green	07c
Dry	10c
SUNDRIES—
Potatoes	50c
Eggs	10c
Tallow, per lb	9c
Beans per lb	00c
Sheep Pelts	25 @ 1.25
Rags	[illegible]

F. E. Davenport,
DEALER IN
Drugs & Medicines
School Books, Stationery,
WALL PAPER,
FANCY and TOILET ARTICLES.
BRUSHES, FINE SOAPS, SPONGES &c.

TERMS INVARIBLY CASH, and prices made accordingly.

Customers will find my Stock complete, comprising many articles, it is impossible here to enumerate, and sold at moderate prices.

Pure Port Wine, for sacramental and Medical purposes.

Prescriptions carefully Compounded. ly

T. M. BIDDLE,
DRUGGIST,
AND DEALER IN MEDICINES,
PAINTS,
OILS,
GLASS, &c., &c.
No. 6, Keystone Block
Fort Wayne Indiana.
THE ONLY SILVER MEDAL IN FORT WAYNE FOR THE BEST WHITE LEAD.
Call and see them.
F. M. BIDDLE.
April 29, '70. 1-y

The Sun.
CHARLES A. DANA, Editor.
The Dollar Weekly Sun.
A Newspaper of the Present Times.

Intended for People Now on Earth. Including Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, Workers, Thinkers, and all Manner of Honest Folks, and the Wives, Sons, and Daughters of all such.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR A YEAR!
ONE HUNDRED COPIES FOR $50.

Or less than One Cent a Copy. Let there be a $50 Club at every Post Office.

SEMI-WEEKLY SUN, $2 A YEAR,

of the same size and general character as THE WEEKLY, but with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading, and furnishing the news to its subscribers with greater freshness, because it comes twice a week instead of once only.

THE DAILY SUN, $6 A YEAR.

A preeminently readable newspaper, with the largest circulation in the world. Free, independent, and fearless in politics. All the news from everywhere. Two cents a copy; by mail, 50 cents a month, or $6 a year.

TERMS TO CLUBS.
THE DOLLAR WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Four Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Eight Dollars.

Twenty copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to the getter up of club), Fifteen Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, to one address (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-three Dollars.

Fifty copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Semi-Weekly one year to getter up of club), Thirty-five Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, to one address (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Fifty Dollars.

One hundred copies, one year, separately addressed (and the Daily for one year to the getter up of club), Sixty Dollars.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY SUN.

Five copies, one year, separately addressed, Eight Dollars.

Ten copies, one year, separately addressed (and an extra copy to getter up of club), Sixteen Dollars.

SEND YOUR MONEY

in Post Office orders, checks, or drafts on New York, wherever convenient. If not, then register the letters containing money. Address

I. W. ENGLAND, Publisher,
Sun office, New York City.

Eagle Mills!
AUBURN, INDIANA.

The undersigned having purchased the above named mills, formerly known as the "Auburn Union Mill," and obtained the services of a first-class miller, is prepared to do all kinds of custom work promptly and to the best satisfaction.

FLOUR,
BRAN,
MEAL,
CHOP, &c., &c.

Kept on hand for sale, and will be delivered at any part of the town upon orders being left at the Mill or Post Office.

W. W. GRISWOLD,
Auburn, April 19, '71.

John G. Fledderman
MERCHANT TAILOR
First-Class Piece Goods,
ALWAYS ON HAND.
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods!
OF EVERY VARIETY.
No. 25, East Main Street, near the Post Office.
FORT WAYNE, - - IND

M. E. WOODWARD,
Merchant Tailor,
And General Manufacturer of
CLOTHING
FOR RETAIL TRADE, ALSO DEALER IN
HATS AND CAPS,
GENTS'
Furnishing Goods,
AN IMMENSE STOCK OF ALL KINDS
Retailed at Wholesale Prices For Cash,
No. 46 Calhoun St. FORT WAYNE, IND., next door to Ward's China House.
M. E. WOODWARD.

Hard WarE
GEO. HENSLER,
—OF—
BUTLER INDIANA
Has just received at his Hardware Store, in Butler the largest and best selected stock of
HARDWARE!
Ever brought to this county—among which may be found
Carriage Trimmings, Farming Implements, Carpenter Tools, Iron, Steel Nails, Glass, Table and Pocket, Cutlery, Revolvers, Oils and Paints,
Chains and Belting
Of all kinds, and in fact every article of goods usually kept in a first class Hardware Store.
GEO. HENSLER.

MODERWELL & FOWLER,
MAKE A SPECIALITY OF THEIR CELEBRATED, WELL MADE, AND PERFECT
FITTING SHIRTS
THEY ALSO HAVE THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT OF
Mens' Furnishing Goods!
IN EVERY VARIETY, TO BE FOUND IN NORTHERN INDIANA
SHIRTS MADE TO MEASURE!
CORNER CALHOUN AND BERRY STREETS
FORT WAYNE IND.
MODERWELL & FOWLER.

O. D. HURD,
MANUFACTURER OF DOORS, BLINDS,
SASH,
Stair Rail,
Moulding,
AND
Newell's Balusters & Brackets
North of the Canal,
West of Gas House. Fort Wayne, Ind
Feb. 23, O. D. HURD.

Cash System
We are enabled to sell
GROCERIES
AND PROVISIONS
LAMPS,
CROCKERY,
GLASSWARE,
WOODENWARE,
NOTIONS, &c., &c.
Cheaper than any other house in the county.
All we ask is to give us a trial.
SMITH & HARE.

TARIFF OFF!
Owing to the fact that Congress has
Reduced the Tariff
ON
Teas,
Coffee,
Sugar, etc.
The people will find the price of such articles greatly reduced at
SMITH & HARE'S
As we do business only on the

Dry Goods. Dry Goods.

ONE OF THE LAGEST AND BEST STOCKS OF
NEW DRESS GOODS,
Shawls,
Percales,
Prints,
and Domestics
To be found in Fort Wayne Ind., or any other Fort Wayne.
Pleasant to show our goods, perfectly delightful to see them.
GEO. DEWALD & CO.
Successors to Towsley, Dewald, Bond & Co. 107 Columbia Street.

THE HEADQUARTERS
FOR
CHEAP AND FAHIONABLE
CLOTHING.

We offer extraordinary inducements to cose cash buyers in the way of Mens and Boys, Clothing, Hats and Caps, Trunks, Vaises, together with our Stock of

MENS' FURNISHING GOODS!

We have engaged Professor Fason, the renownded Cutter, from Paris, and ate y with Brooks Bros., New York, and are now prepared to make to order Garments of every description for Mens' and Boys, wear, in the atest styes and

PRICES THAT DEFY COMPETITION!

Don't fai to ca and ook through our arge stock, when next visiting our city.

I. LAUFERTY & SON,
South-east Corner Co umbia & Cahoun Streets, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Another Fresh Stock!
Of 500 Pieces Prints.
WHO IS BEAT?
NOT FRANK & THANHOUSER.
They Can't be Beat in Selling Dry Goods!

We told you that on the 28th of March we would sell our entire stock of Prints [illegible] o weeks, at 8c a yard. We have kept our promise, and will make you this joyfully [illegible] nouncement, that we have concluded, on the receipt of our fresh stock, which comes [illegible] morrow, to sell Prints for two weeks longer, at Eight Cents a Yard. Bear in [illegible] t we will sell you Prints for 8c which are really worth a shilling. We do not [illegible] you 5c calico for 8c. So much for calico.

A big bombshell came into our store and smashed things down so, that we will startle you with other glad news, but will sell you, for the next wo weeks, several bales of Augusta Brown Muslins, heavy quality, at 5c worth 10c, and no humbug. Bleached muslins 12½ c per yard. Better than Lonsdale.

DRESS GOODS!

5,000 yards of handsome Poplins, at 35c per yard. 5,000 yards of children's palids, at 25c per yard. A beautiful line of dress goods (plaids) at [illegible] a yard

ALPACAS. ALPACAS.

We take the lead in Alpacas. Black colored from 40c to $1.00 [illegible] Best stock of Marseilles to be found west of New Y low as 20c a yard. BLACK SILKS are cheaper this year than ever before.

PARASOLS! PARASOLS!!

We have opened the largest stock of Parasols ever brought to this place.

1,000 pairs of stocings sold at 21c, worth 50. Large ot of Cottonades at 20c per yard. Cassimeres, Jeans, Tweeds, Linens &c. A fu line of Ladies' Linen Suits. White Lawn Suits. Victoria Line by the yard. Puffing, Ruffling, Cambric, Nainsooks A full lin of Shawls. Give us a call.

FRANK & THANHOUSER.
NO. 7 KEYSTONE BLOCK, Ft AYNE, ND.

NORTHERN INDI'A.
HEADQUARTERS FOR
BOOTS & SHOES!
WE SELL BOOTS & SHOES AT
Wholesale and Retail!
BUY IN LARGE QUANTIES
DIRECT FROM MANUFACTURES!
WE KEEP ALL THE
LATEST STYLES in the MARKET
OUR MESSRS MARKLEYS' are Practical Shoe Men. We
Buy First-Class Goods!
and we are enabled to sell as low as other Houses sell inferior qualities at. We
Are the Only House
In the City who make it a business to manufacture
MENS, BOYS AND YOUTHS'
Home Made Boots
GIVE US A CALL WHEN IN WAN
BOOTS & SHOES
Remember the place, No. 4 KEY STONE BLOCK CAHOUN ST, FORT WAYNE INDIANA.
MARKLEY SHRADER & CO

How Parson Blake Subdued His Horse.

"Well," said Reuben, the story-teller, "father always wanted a horse, because the folks in Greene live scattered and he had so far to go to attend funerals and [illegible] visit schools [illegible] you [illegible] as if he could afford to buy one. But one day he was coming from Hildreth and a stranger asked him to ride. Father said, 'That's a handsome horse you are driving. I should like to own such a horse myself.' 'What will you give me for him?' said the man. 'Do you want to sell?' says father. 'Yes, I do, and I'll sell cheap, too,' says he. 'Oh, well,' says father, 'it's no use talking for I haven't the money to buy with.' 'Make me an offer,' says he. 'Well, just to put an end to the talk,' says father," I will give you [illegible] dollars for the horse.' 'You may have him,' says the man, as quick as a flash, [illegible] you'll repent of your bargains [illegible] 'What ails him?' says father. 'Ails him? He's got the "old nick" in him, that's what ails him,' says he. 'If he has a will to go, he'll go, but if he takes a notion to stop, all creation can't start him. I've [illegible] beat that horse till the sweat run off [illegible] in streams. I've burnt shavings under him. I might have beat him to death and roasted him [illegible] and he wouldn't have budged an inch.' 'I'll take the horse,' says father. What's his name?' 'Poppet,' says the man; 'I shall call him George,' said father.

"Well father brought him home and we boys were mightily pleased, and [illegible] and [illegible] him well, and father said, 'Talk to him, boys, and let him know you feel friendly' so we coaxed him and petted him' and the next morning father harnessed him and got into the wagon. But George wouldn't [illegible] a step. Father got out and patted him, and we boys brought him apples and clover tops and once and a while father would say, 'Get up Georgie,' but he didn't but he didn't strike the horse a blow. By-and-by, he says: 'This is going to take time. Well, Georgie, we will see which has the most patience, you or I.' [illegible] the wagon and took out his skeletons"—

"Skeletons? said Poppet, inquiringly.

"Of sermons, you know. Ministers always carry round a little book to put down things they think of when they are off walking or riding. Father says he's planned out many a sermon [illegible] hoeing in the garden."

"I saw him writing one down, sitting on a potato hill," said Levi.

"Well don't keep interrupting me, or I never shall get through. Father sat full two hours before he was ready to start; but when he did, there was no more trouble for that day. The next morning it was the same thing over again, only Georgie gave in a little sooner.

"All the while it seemed as if father couldn't do enough for the horse. He was round the stable, feeding him and fussing over him, and talking to him in his pleasant, gentle way, (folks say father can get [illegible] David Downing, across the street, any time, by just speaking to him) and the third morning when he had fed and curried and harnessed him with his own hands, somehow there was a different look in the horse's eyes. But when father was ready to go, Georgie put his feet together and laid his ears back, and wouldn't stir. Well, Dove was playing about the yard, and she brought her stool and stood up by the horse's head. Dove tell Pop what you said to Georgie that morning."

"I gave him an awful talking to," said the little girl. "I told him it was perfectly 'ediculous' for him to act so; that he'd come to live where everybody loved everybody; that he was a minister's horse and ought to set a good sample to all the other horses, and God wouldn't love him if he wasn't a good horse. That's what I told him. Then I kissed him on the nose."

"And [illegible] George do?"

"Why, he heard every word I said, and when I got through he felt so ashamed of himself, he couldn't hold up his head; so he just dropped it, till it most touched the ground, and he looked as sheepish as if he had been stealing a hundred sheep."

"Yes" said Reuben, "and when father told him to go, he was off like a shot. He has never made any trouble since. That's the way father cured a balky horse. And that night, when he was unharnessed, he rubbed his head against father shoulder, and told him as plain as a horse could speak, that he was sorry. He's tried to make it up to father ever since, for the trouble he made him. We boys [illegible] him, [illegible] He's full of tricks. He'll come galloping up, almost [illegible] sure of him' he'll wheel and be off to [illegible] Hull [illegible] but father has only to stand at the bars and call his name and he walks up as quiet as an old sheep. Why, I've seen him [illegible] himself between the shafts [illegible] many times to save father trouble. Father wouldn't take two hundred dollars for the horse to-day, and it doesn't cost much to keep him, for he eats anything you give him. Sis very often brings out some of her dinner to him."

"He likes to eat out of a plate," said Dove, "it makes him think he's [illegible]"

Talleyrand used to be worried about his autograph, and to one of his persecutors he thus wrote: "Will you [illegible] dinner on Wednesday next, at [illegible] o'clock? I have invited a number of exceedingly clever persons, and do not like to be [illegible]"

Uncle Sam—a down-east farmer, known far and wide by his patriotic title—had a neighbor who was in the habit of [illegible] on Sunday, but after a while the Sabbath breaker joined the church. One day our friend met the minister to whose church he belonged. "Well, Uncle Sam," said he, "do you see any difference in Mr. P since he joined the church?" "Oh, Yes," said Uncle Sam, "a great difference. Before, when he went out [illegible] he carried his ax on his shoulder, but now he carries it under his coat."

Perfectly Awful.

It is surprising how much misery is caused in this world by the thoughtless fun of some of the best hearted people in it. Often and often a person, whose heart is running over with innocent merriment, will perpetrate a joke in a thoughtless moment, which causes some dear friend pain, and throws a cloud over their lives forever. These remarks are caused by a sad case which happened recently in this city. The boys of the Second Ward school had raised a subscription and bought a foot-ball [illegible] made of India rubber, and was inflated with air. A small brass tube used to inflate it, through a [illegible] in the side, which closes mechanically when the tube is withdrawn. A day or two ago, the boys were resting from their play, and examining their ball, when one of them a pale, delicate looking philosophical little fellow, offered to bet that he could put the ball in his mouth. They all laughed at the idea, as the ball was as big as his head, but he persisted, and they took up the bet. He very quietly inserted the tube, exhausted the air, and rolling the ball tightly up in a small compass, easily placed it in his mouth to the great astonishment of his companions. While they gazed, one of them, filled with mischief, inserted the tube in the aperture in the ball, which was just visible, and inflated the foot-ball to its fullest extent! They screamed with laughter at the odd appearance of their puny playfellow and in their boisterous appreciation of the joke, they lost the key! And now, for that piece of thoughtless merriment, that poor little boy must drag on through a weary life with a face the size of a peck measure, and no place to put his bread and butter in. Boys, you cannot be to careful about playing [illegible] seem to be the most innocent jokes on your playfellows.

An Extraordinary Execution.

A gentleman of Jonesburg, Mo., recently returned from Texas, relates an extraordinary occurrence which took place a short time since in the Indian Nation. A Choctaw Indian, having committed a willfull murder, was arrested, tried and sentenced to be shot to death. He asked for twenty days in which to prepare and visit his friends, giving his word of honor as a "brave" to return at the appointed time, and was allowed to go forth without a guard or bail.

At the expiration of the twenty days according to appointment, the hour for the execution arrived, and the Indian, true to his word at the very hour and minute galloped up to the place where the sentence was to be carried out, in company with three of his sisters and three brothers, all appearing as cheerful as though they had come to a dance or a frolic. The coffin was then brought on the ground, but some one remarked that it was too small, upon which one of the doomed Indian's brothers told him to lie down in it and measure, which he cheerfully did and laughingly said, "It fits all right." The crowd meanwhile appeared to be in the most cheerful spirits, and cracked jokes and laughed.

At last, when all was ready, the doomed man was ordered to sit on the ground. A handkerchief was then placed over his eyes by his sister While the sheriff held one hand, one of the condemned Indian's brothers held the other on each side of him. The Deputy Sheriff then stood in an old house, about ten steps in front of the condemned, with a rifle. From some cause the rifle went off accidentally the bullet passing up through the roof on the house. The Indian, believing he was shot, drew himself up and shuddered, but did not speak or move from the spot. A black mark was then made over the Indian's heart, with spittle and powder, by his brother while the Deputy Sheriff reloaded his rifle, and at a signal he took a steady aim, fired and pierced the centre of the mark. The Indian, with a few struggles, fell back dead, with the brother and the Sheriff still holding his hands. No one seemed to be in the least affected except the doomed Indian's mother, who shed tears, but was told to "shut up" by her son that all was over.

Haste and Health.

It is not at all wholesome to be in a hurry. Locomotives have been reported to have moved a mile in a minute for short distances. But locomotives have often come to grief by such great rapidity. Multitudes in their haste to get rich are ruined every year. The men who do things maturely, slowly, deliberaelty, are the men who oftenest succeed in life. People who [illegible] habits [illegible] generally have to [illegible] twice over. The tortoise beat the hare at last. Slow men seldom knock their brains out against a post. Foot-races are injurious to health, as are all forms of competitive exercise; steady labor in the field is the best gymnasium in the world. Either labor or exercise carried to exhaustion or prostration, or even to great triedness, expressed by 'fagged out,' always does more harm than the previous exercise has done good. All running up-stairs running to catch up with a vehicle or cars, are extremely injurious to every age and sex, and condition of life. It ought to be the most pressing necessity which should induce a person over fifty to run fifty yards. Those live longest who are deliberate, whose actions are measured, who never embark in any enterprise without 'sleeping over it,' and who perform all the every day acts of life with calmness. Quakers are a proverbially calm, quiet people, and Quakers are a thrifty folk, the world over.—Dr. Hall.

The epicurian who made a dessert of the fruits of an enterprise picked his teeth with a point of a joke.

Scene in Chicago—"Is Mrs. Smith at home?" "No; but walk in. She has just stepped out to get a divorce, and will be back in a few moments."

"Why don't you take your seat at the bar?" asked a lawyer of a client the other day. "My father always advised me to keep out of bad company," replied the other.

"My dear" said a husband to his wife, "I'm going to start a coffee plantation." "How'll you get the land?" "Oh, there is no trouble about that; I always have plenty of coffee grounds in my cup."

NEW system, NEW

GOODS,

NEW PRICES!!

Ready Pay and Low Prices!

BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.

successors to

G. E. CLARK & CO.

Having concluded to [illegible] have ever been offered [illegible] have adopted the EXCLUSIVELY READY PAY system, and their prompt paying customers will not be called on to foot the bills of those who never pay! Our stock of New Goods for the Spring and Summer Trade!

Comprises everything desirable in the line of

Dry Goods

CLOTHING,

HATS AND CAPS!

Boots & Shoes,

GROCERIES,

Crockery, Notions,

And an endless variety of House-keeping Goods of every description, all of which we will sell at the

BOTTOM OF THE MARKET!

For cash or ready pay. We continue to buy

Wheat,
Corn,
Oats,
And Country Produce

Of every description, for which we pay

The Highest Market Price.

BOOZER, BLATTNER & CO.

May 4, 1871.

SUTERMEISTER,
BECKER,
& BOND,

BUILDING CONTRACTORS!

And Dealers in

BUILDING STONE

OF EVERY VARIETY

MONUMENTS and TOMBSTONES

IN ITALIAN AND AMERICAN MARBLE AND SCOTCH GRANITE,

MANTELS

IN AMERICAN AND ITALIAN MARBLE.

MARBLEIZED Slate & Iron

MANTELS, GRATES, FRAMES and SUMMER FRONTS, MARBLE SLATE and SANDSTONE HEARTHS.

SOAP STONE AND FIRE BRICK LININGS.

TERRA COTTA WORK.

Vases, Chimney Tops

STONE WATER TABLES,

Caps, Sills, Flagging, Curbing,

SEWER AND DRAIN PIPES,

Cement Plaster, &c

Prices low and work warranted. Skillful workmen only employed.

SUTERMEISTER, BECKER & BOND

FORT WAYNE IND.

April 29, '71.

CALL AND SEE

THE

Great Spring Stock!

OF

Boots and Shoes

Just received by

W. W. HUMES,

at

Wagoner's Old Stand,

MAIN St. AUBURN, IND.

He has now on hand and is daily receiving one of the largest and most elegant stocks of Boots and Shoes for

Mens, Boys, Ladies and Misses

Ever before Exhibited

PRICES LOW AND REASONABLE.

IN POINT OF

Workmanship and Variety,
Style and Finish

I DEFY COMPETITION.

And I am determined to offer the citizens bargains in the Best Goods.

Call and Examine for Yourselves

W. W. HUMES.

April 1, '70.

Heustis & Hamilton

WHOLESALE

GROCERS

NOS. 83 & 85 COLUMBIA St.

Fort Wayne, Ind'a.

March 3, '71.

A WORD TO OUR FRIENDS!

MONEY SAVED IS

MONEY MADE.

We take pleasure in announcing the arrival of the cheapest and most complete Spring stock of

MEN AND BOYS' CLOTHING!

HATS, CAPS and

Furnishing Goods,

ever displayed in Fort Wayne. Buying and selling

STRICTLY for CASH

we are enabled to sell at least twenty per cent. cheaper than our opposition, the advantage of which will be given our friends. Look out for lively business at the

PALACE OF FASHION

for the next 60 days

We mean just what we say, and guarantee to sell more goods, of a better class, and for less money, than any house west of the Alleghanies. Remember Business Place,

F. E. Davenport,

Great One-Price Clothing House!

Fort Wayne Indiana,

Corner Calhoun and Columbia Streets.

NEW GOODS NEW GOODS!

We have now on hand and are daily receiving the finest assortment of Staple and Fancy Goods, Millinery and Fancy Goods in the State.

Our Dress Goods Department will contain

Black Silks from $1 up.
Colored " "
Japenese " striped
" " Checked

Irish Poplins, in all colors.
Japenese, plain
" " brocaded
" " Watere

Every Lady should call and see our

$2.00 Gros Grain silk.

Japenese Robes in every shade, white, pink, buff, blue, green, ashes of roses drab, slate, lavender, brown and black, in plain brocaded and watered.

Chere Londen Poplins, for suits.
Plain " " "
Wash " " "

Plaids, the finest assortment in the city.
Scotch Ginghams, great variety.
Percales, Lawns, Organdies &c., &c.

Colored Alpaccas,

In white, pink, buff, blue, green, lilac lavender, ashes of roses, brown, in short any color for evening and street wear.

Black Alpaccas! Black Alpaccas!!

We keep the best assortment in the City and the best brand, imported of hand some lustre finished on both sides and will sell them from 5 to 25c. less per yard than any house in the city. Nobody should buy an alpaca dress before looking at ours.

Black Brilliantines

The handsomest black dress goods made handsomer than a silk. We have the only line in the city. Trimmings Satins and Silks, of every shade, Fringe and Gimps to match Black Guipure Laces the best assortment and very cheap.

WHITE GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Satin Striped Piques in 50 different patterns, plain, checked and striped Jaconets, Plain, checked and striped Mainsooks, dotted and Corded Saisses, Masalia, Brilliants, Bishop and Victoria Lawns 1-4 Organdies Tarletans, Embroideries, puffings, Edgings, &c., White, Marsellilles, Quilts from 1.50 to 10.00, Towling, Napkins, Damasks, Linen, a full assortment.

Shawls, Silk, Sacques and Lace Points, the finest assortment in the city.

Millinery & Fancy Goods Department,

Will consist of everything new and stylish.

Hats, Bonnets, Ribbons, Sashes, Bows, Collars, Handkerchief, Jewelry, real and imitation, Laces, of every description, Point Applique, Thread, Maltese, Clung, Mechlin, Vallenciennes, real and imitation, laces, the only full assortment in the City.

In domestics we keep all the Best Brands and will sell them at New York prices.

C. ORFF & Co.

FORT WAYNE IND.

FOR

Fresh and Fine Family

Groceries and

Provisions,

GO TO

JNO. BUTT

One door north of Post Office.

AND

B 4 U

BUY

T

And Sugar,

EXAMINE OUR STOCK AND PRICES AND BE CONVINCED THAT

BUYING AND SELLING FOR CASH

IS TRUE ECONOMY.

Waterloo, Nov. 16, 1870. 2-46 6m

McDOUGAL'S

CARPET STORE

A FULL LINE OF

CARPETS

AND

House Furnishing

GOODS,

All of which will be sold at very low prices.

JNO. McDOUGAL,

75 Columbia street.

THE HOWE.

The OLDEST and the latest improved SEWING MACHINE in the world. Manufactured by THE HOWE MACHINE CO. of Bridgeport, Conn., adapted to every varicty of sewing. Unequaled in beauty, excellence, and durability.

It is the most simple in construction and the easiest to understand and operate of any SEWING MACHINE ever yet placed in market. Some new and valuable improvements have recently been added, which renders our NEW AND IMPROVED MACHINE superior to any we have made heretofore, and all that could be reasonable be desired. The Howe Sewing Machine, both family and Manufacturing, use a much smaller needle for the same size of thread than any other using the same size or number of thread on the under or upper and under side, and sew equally with cotton, linen and silk. Our Family Machines are especially adapted to all household sewing—Shirt making, Cloak and Vest making, Seaming, Quilting, Tucking, Gathering, Hemming, Felling, Binding and Cording. The Hemmer, Braider and Corder are unequaled.

The undersigned having for some time past used the Howe Machine, sold by Mr. Geo. L. Segner, would state that we are well pleased with the working of the machine in every respect.

MRS. E. BLATTNE.
MRS. J. A. BARNS

G. L. Segner, Agent,
Waterloo, Ind.

NEW

Wagon Shop

In

Auburn Indiana.

JOHN W. SHAFFER, Proprietor.

Would inform the public that having permanently located in Auburn, he is prepared to do all kinds of work in his line, such as

WAGONS

Carriages,

CUTTERS,

Bob Sleds, &c.

Mr. Shaffer has been engaged in business 22 years, works in the shop himself, and employs none but the best workmen, and uses only the best material.

All work Warranted

All in need of any thing in his line should give him a call at his shop on Main street, Auburn, Ind.

J. W. SHAFFER.

DR. A. E. OLIN,

102 Washington St., Chicago.

So successfully treats simple and complicated VENERAL DISEASES and NERVOUS DEBILITY as to bring Patients from every State. No matter who failed; tell him your private troubles; he cures cases given up by others. Send stamp for MEDICAL ESSAYS;—all the doubtful curious inquisitive should know. Private Circular sent Ladies for stamp.

See Here

FARMERS.

Have you got good

FANNING MILLS?

If not, get one of

J. B. TAYLOR'S

CELEBRATED

Excelsior Mills.

These mills have been tested [illegible] 14 years past, and not found wanting, in any respect, for cleaning wheat, corn, barley, oats, beans, peas, grass seed, flax seed, and all kinds of grain. We challenge the world for competition. These mills have taken the first premium at the Michigan and Indiana State Fairs, in 1864-65-67-68. Come and get a good Mill, and don't bring dirty wheat to market and get less per bushel.

Orders left at O. T. Clark & Co's store will be promptly filled.

ORDERS SOLICITED

and filled for any part of the country. Over 500 in use, in DeKalb and adjoining counties.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Waterloo City, March [illegible]

PARIS HAS FALLEN!

So Has

THE HIGH PRICES,

WITH

S. LAUFFERTY!

DRY GOODS,

Ready Made Clothing,

Hats and Caps,

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

QUICK SALES & SMALL PROFITS.

Highest Market Price paid for

Wheat,
Oats,
Corn,
Wool

Don't mistake the place--One door south of Davis' Hardware Store, Auburn, Ind.

Hardware for the Million!

AT

SPECIAL PAYMENT PRICES!

JOHN L. DAVIS,

OF THE

Pioneer Hardware Store

AUBURN - - INDIANA.

Would respectfully announce to his many friends that his stock of Hardware is now the largest and most complete in the county, consisting of:

Stoves,

Cutlery,

Hardware,

Buildig Matrial,

Agriculturl Implements,

HOUSE FURNISHING GOODS &C.,

Which he is now offering at prices to suit the times. I keep a good assortment of Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Stoves, Hard and Tin Copper, Brass and Iron ware, Paints Oils, Glass, Nails, and Iron, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Agricultural and Mechanics' Too's, Brushes whips, Files, Muley, Cross-cut and circular Saws, Rip, Back, Panel and hand Saws, Belts, Screws, Cutlery and plated ware Cistern and well pumps, Leather and Rubber Belting, Hemp and Lead Packing Babbit and Metals, Rope, Twine, Brooms and Cordage, Clothes Wringers and Washing Machines. We aim to keep none but first-class goods, and buy direct from the Manufacturers.

Our Stove Department,

Is more complete than ever; it comprises those made by well known manufactures. We have also the best Reapers and Mowers, Plows and other farming machinery, now made, always on exhibition, and farmers generally are invited to examine them.

Our Tin Shop is in the best of hands, and can turn out the best of work at Bottom prices.

Our stock of GENERAL HARDWARE not mentioned, is large.

JOB WORK AND REPAIING

Done promptly and on reasonable terms.

Highest market price paid for old rags, Copper, Brass and Castings, & c

We invite our numerous customers and friends to examine our new stock which we promise at "bottom" prices, and DEFY COMPETITION.

JOHN L. DAVIS

Auditors Office

The Courier.

AUBURN, IND., JULY 6, 1871.

The Democratic Record.

There never was a party in this or any other country that had greater reason to be proud of its record than the Democracy. Through the long years during which it held sway and controlled the affairs of government, it never lost the confidence of the people. So far as financial administration was concerned, it was ever characterized by economy and just regard for the rights and interests of the people. In proportion to the population, the extent of territory, and the amount of labor performed, it may be questioned whether any government in the world was ever more economically carried on than that of the United States until the time Mr. Lincoln became President. The Democracy were beaten on questions connected with the negro and slavery. These questions dominated over all financial issues. It is unnecessary here to inquire whether the popular judgment was right or wrong; we are dealing with the simple fact, and, now that these questions are settled, we can confidently call the attention of the country once more to the history of the Democratic party on all points touching the National Treasury, and a comparison of it with the expenditures and corruptions of the party in power.

No Republican, having a reputation for honesty and intelligence, will deny that there has been an alarming increase in official debauchery within the last ten years. Something of an increase might have been expected from a civil war of such magnitude, but it was not to be expected that it would continue steadily to extend after the close of the war and attain such fearful proportions as to bring down upon it the maledictions of the press even of the party in power. Judged by the testimony of the ruling party, the President of the United States must be looked upon as an incompetent and venal rogue, and the Congress of the nation as a body of men whose pockets are stuffed with bribes, and who are utterly contemptuous of the interests of the people. In all the bitter political contests through which the country has passed, neither the Whig or Republican press has presumed to charge upon the Democratic party such wholesale corruption, in dealing with financial questions, as is now daily charged by the Republican press upon Grant and the late Congress.

We are aware that one of the most discouraging obstacles in the way of bringing about a reform in the administration of our National and State governments, is the seemingly settled conviction that politicians have control of the country, and that those of both parties are thoroughly demoralized and incapable of honesty when intrusted with civil office. This conviction has been industriously cultivated by the Radical press, which, while denouncing and exposing its corruptions, sedulously attempts to teach that no hope can be reasonably entertained that the Democratic party would bring more of integrity and statesmanship to the work of administration. In reply to this we can point to the record which the Democratic party made in the management of our National finances, and to the fact that the traditions of the party, as well as the virtue there is in a charge, would urge the Democracy to performance of the pledges they may make with regard to an honest, economical administration of the Government, should they again be placed in the ascendancy, and nothing surer is indicated by the signs of the times. It is a fact which cannot be successfully controverted, that the national expeditures under Democratic administrations, making all proper allowances for the increase in population, the cumbersome machinery made necessary to collect the revenue to meet demands created by an enormous public debt, and all rightful expeditures growing out of the war, were much less, in proportion to the work performed, than they have been under Republican rule.

There is an extravagance and prodigality practiced by the Radical party which is absolutely criminal, and should be sufficient to procure, beyond reversal, its condemnation and overthrow. Official debauchery prevails, not because the people regard it with favor, but because turbulent times and partisan passion have brought demagogues and unscrupulous politicians to the surface, giving them power. They have control of the political machinery of the Republican party, and their grasp can only be loosened by its overthrow and the elevation once more of the Democratic party to the control of national affairs.

The papers are just now publishing a letter claimed to have been written by Queen Victoria to President Ulysses. It begins as follows:

> "We herewith send for your Excellency's acceptance, ten thousand cigars of [illegible] quality, and also a greyhound pup, sired by the [illegible] "Master McGrath," freight and charges paid. Accept these as sincere but feeble tributes of our esteem."

The New York Sun says: "Whether Queen Victoria wrote this letter or not, it shows a familiarity with modern history that would do credit to the most experienced author living.

The Elections to Take Place this Year.

With one or two exceptions, the elections to take place this year are of a local character, yet the issues exciting notice in national politics will have their influence. The approach of the Presidential election, and the active and earnest efforts of the office-holders to re-elect Grant, will, in no slight manner, tell on the results next fall at the polls.

In Indiana there will be no election, but our people will watch with intense interests the fortunes of our political neighbors.

The first election which comes off will be in Kentucky, on the first Monday in August. A full ticket is to be chosen, and despite the fact that the negroes vote for the first time there is no probability that the immense Democratic majority of last year can be overcome.

California will come next. Her election takes place the first Tuesday in september. The Democratic State Convention was held on the 20th inst., and the Republican Convention will be held to-day. A full State ticket and three Congressman are to be elected. Governor Haight is a candidate for re-election, and although there is a sharp competition among the Democrats, it is thought he will be successful. Mr. Booth will probably be selected by the Republicans to run against him.

Maine will also elect a Governor and State officers in september. The Republicans will probably renominate Governor Perham, and the contest promises to be a lively one,

In Ohio, besides the State tickets which are familiar to our readers, a United States Senator is to be chosen by the Legislature. The contest in Ohio will be close and spirited, but we believe, this year, the Democracy will win.

Iowa elects a Governer and State officers in October. A strong ticket was put in nomination last week, by the Democrats on a progressive platform.

Minnesota elects State officers in October, but no nominations have yet been made.

In New Jersey a Governor is to be chosen, and almost every prominent citizen in the State has been named as a candidate on one side or the other. Masschusetts closes the list, and is to elect a Governor. It is said that B. F. Butler is seeking the Republican nomination.

Murder in LaGrange Co.

Miss Anna Dwight, a schoolmistress, was mudered yesterday at Stone Lake shool-house, about 10 miles from Lagrange Center in Van Buren township by a young man named Chauncey Barnes, of Elkhart county. Barnes left his father's house on yesterday morning, walked to White Pigeon, four miles distant, hired a horse and buggy there, and, taking a woman whose name and character are not yet known went to the school-house where Miss Dwight was teaching. Miss D. was at the time, enjoying the noon recreation with the school children on the margin of the lake near by, when Barnes and the woman drove up. The woman called Miss D. to the buggy side, when Barnes alighted and asked her to walk with him, as he wished to speak to her privately. She consented, and they went a short distance and sat down a on log and conversed a few minutes, when Barnes was seen to rise, draw a revolver from his pocket, and fired two shots at her. She fell at the first fire. He then presented the pistol at his own head and fired several times. Two children ran, frightened, to a neighbor near by, who ran immediately to the spot, found Miss Dwight dead, and the young man re-loading his pistol. He and the woman were promptly placed in custody and Surgeon Elliot, of White Pigeon, sent for. The doctor reports four wounds on the head of the young man, two of which entered the brain, and would eventually prove fatal. An examination of the parties was had before Justice Galloway, and the young man committed to jail and the woman held to bail in the sum of $1,000, Charles Dwight, the father of the murdered girl going his bail. The young man was brought to jail last night, and is this morning resting comfortably. The physicians here are not so certain as to the seriousness of his wounds. Great excitement prevails in the vicinity of the homicide. The neighbors prepared to finish the work the young man attempted on himself, but Mr. Dwight protested against it, and better judgment prevailed. There is, though some comment on the fact of the father of the murdered girl bailing the woman. The only supposed cause is the rejection of Barnes as a suitor, a short time ago, and the acceptance by Miss Dwight of the attentions of another person. The pistol used is a small six shooter. Barnes has been clerking in a grocery store at White Pigeon Mich., lately, and has borne a good character, His father is a farmer in Elkhart county.

The Buffalo (N. Y.) Express, which was burned out the other day has a new office and new type, and is now running on its daily round in improved appearance.

"Developement of species," said an old bill discounter, "don't talk to me about developement of species. The only thing worth studying is the development of species!"

Five young men who last July were engaged in tarring and feathering a man and a young woman in Cohocton, Steuben county, New York, have just been tried and sentenced to the county jail for six months.

A San Francisco reporter notes that some Japanese, recently arrived, assumed at once full American costume, and says they appear perfectly at home except when going up and down stairs, "which gets them badly."

GRANT AND CAMERON.

How refreshing it appears, to see Radical papers pitch into Senator Cameron, the unadulterated Simon, like a thousand of building material, and at the same time [illegible] over to hug Ulysses! Simon is a slippery fellow; worse than that, a scoundrel! "The Republican party should discard him," says a cotemporary,—but it will not do any such thing. How can it, when the same papers that abuse Simon worship his boon companion in sentiment and action, Gen. Grant! Cameron and Grant—One is the throne, the other the power behind it! And it is, indeed, supremely ridiculous to see Republican papers denouncing Cameron, while at the same time, they feel disposed to magnify the virtues of Ulysses! It is a trite old saying, true, undoubtly, as it is familiar, that "birds of a feather flock together." The plumed Ulysses sees in the favors of his Pennsylvania friend, the colors best suited to his liking, and of course clings to him. Cameron retains the magnetism; for where there is a chance to deceive, swindle, steal and rob, Cameron is the chief among ten thousand, and the one altogether ugly. And the classic Simon, not of old but of Pennsylvania, you will find Ulysses, the hero of Long Branch. Then, to condemn the one without bespattering the other, is a feat only attainable by Republican editors, who have become adepts in the art or science of inconsistency.

To make Mr. Cameron Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations—an exhalted position—and that, too, over Senator Sumner, does not speak well for the party, since we have Republican authority for saying that "no Republican who has any sense or any respect for political decency, unless it be some poor axe-grinder from Pennsylvania, will ever be caught voting for Simon Cameron for Vice President, country has had quite enough of the Simon Cameron stamp of men, with 'their ways that are dark." Shouldn't wonder, and we think the elections coming off this fall will designate the fact, that the people are heartly sick and tired of the corruption of the Radical party, and the deception it has produced to place such men as Cameron in power. To shelve old scamps like Cameron, his fellows in interest and thought must also be shelved, and that is just what the people intend to do. It would be all folly to make a point against Simon, as long as Mr. Grant is President. No one is better convinced of this, than the Radical masses and, it is to break the power of Cameron and others of his ilk, that so formidable an opposition to the renomination of Mr Grant, comes from those who were at one time his greatest admirers.

Cameron is not a great man. In point of inteligence and statesmanship he bears no comparison to any of our public men; but where he excells is in his shrewdness— that style of shrewdness which puts money in his purse. Strip Quilp of his disagreeable features and we have Cameron, with the same fascinating influence over President Grant that the 'scoundrel portrayed by Dickens had over the grandfather of poor little Nell. While one might be innocent of wrong, united with the other, no combination could prove more disastrous to the people. To head off Cameron, to restrain that reeking mass of political corruption from infecting the body politics, the "Doxology" must be sung over the Presidential ambition of Mr. Grant. It is indeed strange that our Republican neighbors who kiss the Sphinx should overlook the connection with its keeper, who takes in the dimes.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

Not One Cheer for Grant.

Gen. Grant's name was mentioned only once at the great Greeley meeting on Monday evening, and that was by Mr. Greeley himself. The word was kindly spoken, but it was received in total silence; not a cheer was given, through the vast assemblage was composed of Republicans. What a contrast between this cold indifference toward the President, notwithstanding all the offices he has to bestow, and the enthusiasm with which the simple Farmer of Chappaqua was received and welcomed!

President Grant no longer has a following among the Republicans of New York, except among the office-holpers, and they are not for him except for the time being. His inconceivable stupidity in breaking the Republican party to pieces; his corruption in appointing men to office who had given him presents; his quartering his own worthless relations upon the Treasury; his betrayal of the Cubans to the Spanish slave traders in consequence of money paid to Sidney Webster; and his elevation of a convicted bribe-taker to high office in the State Department, have disgusted honest Republicans with him. His administration is the most indecent ever witnessed in the this country. May its like never be seen again.—N. Y. Sun.

The next Presidential race, bids fair to be a criterion by which the intelligence of voters can be judged. That Horace Greeley, will be a candidate, there is no doubt. That Grant, will also be a candidate is no matter of inference. The mission of "the Morrion," to Kentucky, says I am going down to Ku-Klux land, in order to secure votes for my lord and master. Greeley has been a workingman for a number of years, and by every means that is known to human energy has built up a name—one familiar to the children not yet free from their bib and tuckers; and upon this notoriety, popularity, or what it may be, intends entering the maelstrom of politics. How many other intend whirling their ambition into line we know not, but it behooves the Democracy to look about, select some reliable, and sincere Democratic statesman, and with him make a new regime, free from the corruption of past Administrations, but more particularly from the incompetency of the present one.—Fort Wayne Sentinel.

A young man in Madison township Putnam county, hung his vest, the pocket of which contained sixty dollars in greenbacks, near a brushheap, which he afterward set fire to. He was in Greencastle next day, inquiring whether the government would make good his loss.

"And What did Horace Greeley Say?"

He said: "The carpet baggers who plunder and prey upon the negroes and poor whites while pretending to be anxious for their souls are the greatest existing obstacles to Republican ascendancy in the South, and so I denounce them."

The New York Evening Post is as severe on its Radical contemporaries. It says: "They carefully print the details of every insignificant quarrel in the southern states under startling head lines, as 'ku-klux outrages' and as carefully exclude all news that looks like peace and order, or even ridicule it."

The property owned by President Grant at Long Branch is very valuable. It was a present to him, disguised as a sale, the property being conveyed at nominal figures in order to promote the views of certain New York speculators.

Edward N. Nevins, the forger of the Erie Railway passenger tickets for conveying Coburn's and Mace's friends to Erie, where the fight was to have come off, was, on Friday, sentenced to State Prison for five years.

A LONDON journal asserts that it has information that there is an understanding between the Government of Germany, Russia and Austria to preserve the peace of Europe.

THE coopers around Boston are discussing the evils connected with their business. Unsatisfactory remuneration is the principal trouble, but their customers will stave off any advance.

The State.

Only one man in Wabash county pays an income tax.

Marion enjoyed the sensation of the 'first colored juror" in the circuit court last week.

Moses Maynard, of Monroe township, Madison county, is one hundred and two years old.

When in doubt on the subject they open the street lamps in Evansville to see whether they are lighted.

The Washington Democrat says the Wheat crop in Daviess county will equal if it does not surpass, the immense crop of 1869.

A family near Putnamville was poisoned a few days ago by eating new potatoes, the vines of which had been plentifully sprinkled with Paris green used as bug exterminator, antidotes were administered and their lives saved.

Come and See Me!

Having been in the Boot & Shoe business here for 11 years, would inform the people of DeKalb County, Ind., that we continue to keep on hand the finest largest stock of

Boots AND Shoes

IN NORTHERN INDIANA.

From the finest serge down to the Coarsest

Stoga Boots,

Our custom made work, is made by the most skillful workmen, which we will

Warrant!

and sell as low as Boots & Shoes can be sold.

Repairing Done

n the best style, on short notice. I also keep on hand a fine assortment of

Leather & Findings

Please call and see for yourself, in the

NEW BRICK BLOCK

Opposite Court House,

AUBURN, IND. C. S. HARE.

Dr. B. GARD,

Eclectic Physician

No. 120 Calhoun St., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Positively cures disease after others have failed and the patient dispaired of recovery! Medicines pleasant and harmless. Consultation either by letter or in person, free. Medicines sent to any part of the world, by mail or express.

NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT.

